When the provisions of S. 497 are compared with the provisions of S. 498 of the Cr. P. Code and when the principle of interpretation that the two provisions should not be so read as to come into conflict with each other is borne in mind the High Court or the Court of Sessions will be found to be invested by S. 498 with jurisdiction in the matter of granting or refusing bail as a Court of superior appellate or revisional jurisdiction. The powers of the High Court or the Court of Session given by S. 498, Cr. P. C., are not controlled by the statutory limitation laid down in S. 497 of refusing to release an accused person on bail if there appear reasonable grounds for believing that he has been guilty of an offence punishable with transportation for life. The powers in S. 498 are not fettered by any rules defining the limits within which they would be exercised as the powers under S. 497 are. Though the exercise of the powers under S. 498 are entirely left to the discretion of the High Court without any fetters being imposed on the exercise of that discretion the High Court would not act arbitrarily and its exercise of the discretion must be based on judicial grounds. Where it was found (1) that the offence was not of kind where there may be danger of repetition thereof while the applicants are on bail as would be the case on a charge involving personal violence (2) that the defence counsel would constantly need the help of the accused persons to explain Hindi accounts and intricate Hundi transactions (3) that the trial would last for several months and (4) that the accused are willing to furnish substantial security the accused are entitled to be let on bail. (Wazir Hasan, J.C.) BISHAMBHAR NATH TANDON v. EMPEROR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 503 : 110. L. J. 527 : 1 O. W. N. 281 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1132 : 81 I. C. 956 : 1924 Oudh 435.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 498.

—S. 498—Bail—Amount deposited in Court—Sentence of fine—Appropriation of deposit.

Where money had been deposited in Court as bail, the Magistrate is bound to return the amount on the appearance of the accused to the person who made the deposit. It has no jurisdiction to attach this money in order to realise out of it the fine imposed on the accused. 19 A. L. J. 887 foll. (Neave, A. J. C.) RAGHUNANDAN v. EMPEROR. 11 O. L. J. 296 : 1924 Oudh 396.

—S. 498—Case disposed of by High Court—Power to grant bail.

A non-chartered High Court has no power under the Cr. P. Code or under its inherent powers to grant bail to a prisoner whose case has already been disposed of, merely because he wishes to appeal to His Majesty in Council.

Quære: whether a chartered High Court stands on a different footing. (Kennedy, J. C. and Madgavkar, A. J. C.) PITUMAL v. EMPEROR.

81 I. C. 160 : 25 Cr. L. J. 672.

—S. 512—Incapable of giving evidence—Meaning of—Inability to remember details—Procedure.

A witness who had been examined under S. 512 appeared in court at the trial but could not remember the details of the occurrence. Held, he could not be considered as incapable of giving evidence within the meaning of the section. What the court should do in such a case is to refresh the memory of the witness by reading out his deposition and then ask him if he remembered the details of the occurrence. (Scott-Smith, J.) BHIKA v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 95 : 76 I. C. 31 : 1924 Lah. 605.

—S. 513—Surety for appearance—Agreement to indemnify surety—Bail.

Sureties on a bail bond are required in order that the failure of the principal to appear may be at the peril of others besides himself and the whole object of that provision is defeated if the principal and surety are allowed to relieve the latter of the peril by a contract to indemnify him. Such a contract is illegal and unenforceable. (Halifax, A. J. C.) JODHRAJ v. BISANLAL.

20 N. L. R. 166 : 82 I. C. 1036 : 1925 Nag. 59.

—S. 514—Bond for good behaviour—Conviction under S. 323, I. P. C.—Forfeiture—Recovery of amount. 1924 Lah. 262

—S. 514—Forfeiture of security—Initiation of proceedings—Expiry period.

76 I. C. 826 : 25 Cr. L. J. 266

—S. 514—Forfeiture of bond—Liability—Extent of.

On a person being arrested under S. 55, Cr. P. Code, the usual security bonds were executed for his appearance. Some time after the person was suspected of having committed some other offence and the surety was directed to produce him. On failure to do so, his bond was forfeited. Held, the bond was only with respect to the offence for which the person was arrested under S. 55 and not any subsequent offence committed and as such the order of forfeiture was wrong. (Martineau, J.) MANA v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 131 : 76 I. C. 227 : 1924 Lah. 622.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 517.

—S. 514—Security for good behaviour—Subsequent conviction—No order forfeiting security—Subsequent action.

If a Criminal Court knowing that a person charged before it is under security to be of good behaviour, in sentencing him takes no steps to confiscate the security, it is not competent to that court or any other court in a subsequent and separate proceeding to take such steps. (Moti Sagar, J.) MUNSHI v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 4 : 75 I. C. 692 : 1924 Lah. 680 (2).

—S. 517—Conviction for importing opium—Currency notes on the accused's person—Confiscation.

The essential of S. 517 is that property or document must be proved to have been used in the commission of the offence. Where currency notes were found on the person of a man convicted for importing opium into British India in contravention of the Opium Act, but where it was held that no irresistible inference was possible that they represented payment of the imported opium.

Held, that they should not be confiscated. (Mears, C. J.) GOVIND RAM, In re.

1924 A. 618.

—S. 517—Property forming the subject of dispute—Confiscation of—Power of Court—Conflicting claims.

Before the amendment of S. 517 of the Criminal Procedure Code in 1923 a Criminal Court had no power to order confiscation of properties forming the subject of the offence or in respect of which an offence appeared to have been committed. Where rival claims are put forward to the property by different parties, the proper procedure would be to keep the property in court pending the decision of a Civil Court as regards the title to it. (Sanderson, C. J. and Chotzner, J.) RAM KHALAWAN AHIR v. TULSI TELINI.

28 C. W. N. 1094 : 1924 Cal. 1040.

—S. 517—Restoration order—Bona fide purchaser—Remedy. NAINA MAL v. EMPEROR.

1924 A. 189.

—S. 517—Theft—Acquittal of accused—Property given to accused—Order reversed by Dt. Magistrate—Legality of.

The trying Magistrate acquitted the accused who was charged with theft of a drum and directed the drum to be restored to the accused. The District Magistrate set aside the order and directed the drum to be delivered to complainant. Held, that the District Magistrate had no jurisdiction to pass the order in question. 42 B 664 foll. (Daniels, J.) DEBI RAM v. EMPEROR.

22 A. L. J. 505 : L. R. 5 A. 91 (Cr.) :

46 All. 623 : 81 I. C. 992 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1168 :

1924 All. 675 (2).

—Ss. 517 and 520—Order for delivery of property not proved to have been taken at the dacoity or to belong to the complainant—Procedure.

Where property produced before a criminal court is not proved to have been taken at an alleged dacoity or to belong to the complainant, the court ought to deliver it to the person who produced it leaving the complainant to his remedy in the civil court. (Broadway, J.) SULEMAN v. EMPEROR.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 517.

6 Lah. L. J. 213 :
1924 Lah. 588.

———Ss. 517 and 520—Order for disposal of property—Power of Appellate Court—Application by accused who was acquitted on appeal.
1924 Lah. 75.

———S. 520—Appellate Court—Powers to order restoration. ONKAR v. EMPEROR.
L. R. 5 A. 14 (Cr.) : 1924 A. 213.

———S. 520—District and Sessions Judge—If a Court of Appeal, confirmation, reference or revision—Order of Second Class Magistrate—Appeal to Sub-Divisional Magistrate—Order if can be varied by Sessions Judge.

In a case of theft, a Second Class Magistrate convicted the accused and directed the subject-matter to be handed over to the complainant. On appeal the Sub-divisional Magistrate acquitted the accused but declined to interfere with the order directing return of the property. The Sessions Judge on appeal directed the subject-matter of the offence to be handed over to the accused. Held, the order of the Sessions Judge was unauthorised by S. 520 or any other section of the Criminal Procedure Code as he was not a court of appeal, confirmation, reference or revision with respect to the orders of the Second Class Magistrate or Sub-divisional Magistrate. (Devadoss, J.) SOMU PILLAI v. KRISHNA PILLAI.
20 L. W. 521 : 1924 M. W. N. 806 :
25 Cr. L. J. 1247 :
1924 Mad. 499 : 47 M. L. J. 481.

———S. 520—Trespass—Conviction—Finding as to cultivation of land by accused—Order for delivery of possession—Legality of.

Where the accused had been legally ejected but subsequently remained in possession of the land asserting the bare defence that he would not give up actual possession, his plea is a plea of guilty to a charge of trespass. The accused was a tenant under a Zamindar. On a complaint by the agent of the Zamindar that the accused had resisted him in ploughing a field from which the accused has been ejected some time before, the Court found that the accused had previous to that occasion cultivated the land and sentenced the accused under S. 447, I. P. C. Held, that there was no finding of criminal trespass on the occasion in respect of which the complaint was made and no order for possession in favour of the complainant could be made under S. 522, Cr. P. Code. (Boys, J.) GOVIND RAM v. NAMBAT.
L. R. 5 A. 147 (Cr.) : 1924 All. 762.

———S. 522—Power of Appellate Court to order restoration—No order by trial Court—Powers of High Court.
1924 A. 212.

———S. 526—Case sent to particular Magistrate at the request of complainant—Ground for transfer.

Where at the request of the complainant, his case is sent to a particular Magistrate for trial, the accused will be justified in asking for a transfer from that Court. (Moti Sagar, J.) GHARSI, MAL v. DEBI SAHAL.
25 Cr. L. J. 989 :
81 I. C. 637 : 1925 Lah. 121.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 526.

———S. 526—Criminal case—Transfer, grounds for—Apprehension of accused.

In cases where an application for transfer is made the law has regard not so much perhaps to the motives which might be supposed to bias the judge as to the susceptibilities of the litigant parties. If there is a real fear of injustice in the mind of the accused, having regard to the ordinary standard of honesty and fair dealing the case should be transferred, 35 A. 5 : 19 A. 64 : 33 C. 1183, 1188 Ref. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) ANANT WASUDEO, v. EMPEROR.
7 N. L. J. 155 :
1924 Nag. 243.

———S. 526—Cross examining complainant's witnesses—Disallowing questions—If ground for transfer.

The mere fact that a trial Magistrate frequently cross-examined the witnesses of the complainant or disallowed questions as irrelevant is no ground for transfer of the case. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) ABDUL AZIZ v. GANESH PRASAD.
25 Cr. L. J. 1185 (2) : 82 I. C. 49 (2) :
1925 Oudh 52.

———S. 526—Expression of opinion in connected miscellaneous proceeding—If ground for transfer.

While proceedings under Ss. 147 and 325, I. P. C. were pending in a court, proceedings under S. 144, Cr. P. Code, were instituted and based on the police report the same magistrate passed an order against the accused. Held, it was no valid ground for granting a transfer. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) JANG BAHADUR v. EMPEROR.
11 O. L. J. 54 : 77 I. C. 721 : 25 Cr. L. J. 433 :
1924 Oudh 338.

———S. 526—Passing remark about another case if justifies transfer.

Where a Magistrate passed certain remarks regarding accused's guilt in another case before him while convicting him in one case, the other case should be transferred from his file. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) CHOUDHRI ZAHIRUDDIN v. EMPEROR.
11 O. L. J. 556 : 1924 Oudh 433.

———S. 526—Prior expression of opinion—If a good ground for transfer.

A case having once been dismissed on the report of the police by a Magistrate was resurrected in the form of a complaint at the suggestion of the Revenue Assistant. The Magistrate subsequently noted that as he had expressed an opinion on the case he thought it better he should not try it. Held, that this was a good ground for transfer. Applications for transfer giving good reasons, if the allegations be correct, why a case should be transferred require to be seriously dealt with and should not be casually brushed aside as fazul. (Harrison, J.) BADAN SINGH v. EMPEROR.
1924 Lah. 257 (1).

———S. 526—Reasonable apprehension—Test of—Medical certificate—Rejection of.

In granting application for transfer the Court has to find out if there is a reasonable apprehension in the mind of the accused that otherwise he will not have a fair trial. Even if the acts complained of can be explained away, if their effect on a person of the intelligence of the accused is to cause apprehension, it is a good ground for transfer.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 526.

Medical certificates by qualified doctors should be accepted as true, unless there is reason to believe they are not genuine. (Moti Sagar, J.) AHMAD DIN v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 638 : 81 I. C. 126 : 1925 Lah. 101.

—S. 526—Refusal to admit document in evidence—Ordering party to deposit expenses for summons—If grounds for transfer—Complainant—Locus standi.

The fact that a Magistrate erroneously refused to admit a document in evidence or asked a party to deposit the probable expenses for summoning a person as witness is no ground for transferring the case.

Quære: if the complainant in a case has a locus standi to apply for transfer of the case. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) NAND KISHORE MISRA v. KALKA MISRA. 1924 P.H. C. C. 196 : 77 I. C. 810 : 5 Pat. L.J. 487 : 25 Cr. L. J. 458 : 1924 P. 695.

—S. 526—Transfer of a criminal case—Application by Crown—Procedure—Grounds for.

Where a criminal appeal is pending against a conviction in a Sessions Court, the Crown is as much a party before the Sessions Judge as the accused person. Any motion that has to be made before the Sessions Judge should be through the Government Pleader and not by an official or demi-official letter from the District Magistrate as representing the Crown. It is not a sufficient ground for a transfer of a criminal case that the presiding Judge belongs to the Hindu or Moslem faith and cannot be expected to deal impartially with a communal dispute. (Mookerjee, J.) BHAGWAN DAS v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 1103.

—S. 526—Transfer of criminal case—Grounds for—Complaint of murder before Sub-Divisional Magistrate—Speech by Deputy Commissioner in favour of accused.

A complaint of murder had been preferred against the accused before the Sub-Divisional Magistrate. Subsequently during the pendency of the complaint, the Deputy Commissioner of the District made a speech in the presence of all the Magistrates of the District including the Sub-Divisional Magistrate in question that the rumours were baseless, that the accused was innocent, and that baseless charges had been imputed from malicious motives. Held, that under the circumstances the apprehension on the part of the complainant that he could not get justice at the hands of the Magistrate was reasonable and that there was sufficient ground for transferring the case from the file of the Sub-Divisional Magistrate. (Kendall, A. J. C.) RUP NARAIN BAKKAL v. ABDUL HAMID KHAN. 11 O. L. J. 657 : 82 I. C. 768 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 782 : 25 C. L. J. 1374 : 1925 Oudh 90.

—S. 526—Transfer of criminal case—Grounds for—Reasonable apprehension on the part of the accused.

It is difficult to lay down any hard and fast rule under which transfer should be made, for the circumstances of one case might differ from those of the other ; but the principle underlying the decisions of the various cases go to establish that if there are circumstances in a case which raise a reasonable apprehension in the mind of an accused person that he would not receive fair dealing at his trial, the case should be transferred to a calmer atmosphere. 55 A. 5 ; 1 Pat. L. T. 522 ; 24 I. C. 951, Ref. (Jwala Prasad, J.) BINODE BEHARY BANERJEE v. EMPEROR. 5 Pat. L. T. 63 : 2 Pat. L.R. 69 (r.) : 81 I. C. 78 : 25 Cr. L. J. 590 : 1925 P. 115.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 528.

—S. 526—Transfer of criminal case—Reasonable apprehension.

Where an application is made for the transfer of a criminal case from the file of a Magistrate on the ground that he is biased in favour of the complainant, the Court has to consider whether the apprehension of the accused is reasonable and in so doing the court will try and place itself in the position of the accused person and look at the matter from his point of view. The matter does not depend on the way in which the Judge would regard it himself. (Sanderson, C. J. and Cuming, J.) PULIN BEHARY DEY v. ASHUTOSH GHOSE. 39 C. L. J. 380 : 25 Cr. L. J. 944 : 81 I. C. 560 : 1924 Rang. 981.

—S. 526—Transfer of criminal case—Son appearing in the Court of his father.

As there is no rule against a pleader appearing in the Court of his father, such a ground alone cannot be considered a valid ground for transfer of the case. (Pullan, A. J. C.) PEARY LAL v. PUTTAN. 10 O. & A. L. R. 784.

—S. 526—Transfer—Reasonable apprehension—Prejudice against police sub-inspector.

Under the new Code, when an application for adjournment is made with a view to apply for a transfer it is the duty of the Criminal Court to postpone the case at once. S. 526, sub clause 8, is imperative and it omits the former expression "before the accused is called on for his defence." When the District Magistrate has already formed a very strong opinion on the conduct of the Sub-Inspector as disclosed by a prior judgment, it would be unfair and unjust to the accused that the case against him should be tried by the same District Magistrate. (Sulaiman, J.) SARTAJ SINGH v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 430 : L. R. 5 A. 57 (Cr.) : 1924 A. 533.

—S. 528—Transfer of case by additional Presidency Magistrate—Power of Chief Presidency Magistrate to retransfer the case.

Under S. 528, Cr. P. Code, the Chief Presidency Magistrate has power to transfer to his own file a case which had been transferred to the Fourth Presidency Magistrate for disposal by the Additional Chief Presidency Magistrate who took cognizance of the offence 14 M. 399 foll. (Greaves and Duval, JJ.) MOHINI MOHAN ROY v. PINAM CHAND SETHIA. 28 C. W. N. 903 : 39 C. L. J. 595 : 51 Cal. 820 : 1924 Cal. 911.

—S. 528, (5)—Order of transfer of a criminal case—Reasons not given—Effect of.

Where an order of transfer of a criminal case is made under S. 528, cl. (5), of the Criminal Procedure Code without giving any reasons therefor as required by the section, the order is bad and is liable to be set aside. (Spencer, J.) VENKATA REDDI, In re.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 530.

20 C.L. W. 384 :

(1924) M. W. N. 873 (1).

—S. 530—Summary trial by a Magistrate not authorised—Effect.

Where a Magistrate not empowered by law to do so tries a case summarily, the proceedings are void under S. 530, Cr. P. Code. (Dalal J. C.) BHIKHAR v. EMPEROR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1196.

—S. 530—Trial by a Magistrate not having jurisdiction to try offence disclosed on evidence—Conviction for minor offences—Whether void.

Where a Magistrate has power to try the offence of which he has convicted the accused his proceedings will not be void merely because the facts disclose a more serious offence which is beyond his jurisdiction unless a clear rule of law has been disregarded. Held also that if a Magistrate intentionally ignores circumstances of aggravation which show that an offence beyond his jurisdiction was in fact committed as well as for an offence within his jurisdiction his action would be improper but his proceedings would not be void. 24 M. 675. 13 Bom. 501 Foll. (Brown, J.) DAWSON v. EMPEROR.

2 Rang. 455 : 1925 Rang. 45.

—S. 531—Commitment to Sessions—Power of High Court to quash—Want of territorial jurisdiction.

Where an accused person has been committed for trial to a Sessions Court which had no territorial jurisdiction at the place where the alleged offence was committed, the High Court can quash the committal. An order of committal to a Sessions Court is an order under S. 531, Cr. P. Code. It is not clear that the provisions of S. 531, Cr. P. Code, contemplate a case in which there has been an order by a court which had no territorial jurisdiction at all; such as in a case in which jurisdiction could only properly have been exercised by some court outside the territorial limits of the jurisdiction of a provincial High Court. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) MT. BHAGWATIA v. EMPEROR. 3 Pat. 417.

—S. 535—Failure to frame charge—Prejudice. 76 I. C. 568 : 25 Cr. L. . 0

—S. 537—Absence of sanction under S. 195—If a mere irregularity. See CR. P. CODE, S. 195 (4). 81 I. C. 209.

—S. 537—Charge—Defect in form—Prejudice.

A charge under S. 457 of I. P. C. "committing house trespass with intent to commit adultery or any other offence punishable with imprisonment" is improper as regards the latter part of it. But when the prosecution evidence was confined to the intent to commit adultery alone, the accused cannot be said to have been prejudiced and the defect is cured by S. 537. (Greaves and Duval, JJ.) BALARAM KUNDU v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 1186 (2);
82 I. C. 50 (2) : 1925 Cal. 160.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 540.

—S. 537—Failure to examine complainant—Error—No failure of justice.

25 Cr. L. J. 273 : 76 I. C. 865 : 1924 Rang. 87.

—S. 537—Sentence awarded before judgment recorded—Effect. See CR. P. CODE, Ss. 367 AND 537. 81 I. C. 193 (1).

—S. 537—Security proceedings—Omission to serve preliminary order—Effect.

The omission to serve on the accused a copy of the preliminary order is at the most only a defect curable under S. 537. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) NARAIN SAO v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 682 : 81 I. C. 170 : 1925 Nag. 33 (2).

—S. 537—Trial with less than requisite number of assessors—Defect if cured.

S. 537, Cr. P. C., does not cure the defect in a trial where a case triable with assessors is tried with less than the required number of them. The errors in such a case is a substantive error of law and not of procedure only. (Prideaux and Kinkhede, A. J. Cs.) JAIRAM KUNBI v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 459 : 77 I. C. 811 : 1924 Nag. 287.

—S. 537 (a)—Scope of.

S. 537 (a) does not apply to cases of disregard or disobedience of the whole of some mandatory provision of the Code but applies only to cases of failure to comply with some part of such a provision in the course of a general compliance with the whole. (Hallifax, A. J. Cr.) GANGADHAR v. BHANGI SAO. 81 I. C. 976 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1152.

—S. 539-B—Inspection by Magistrate—Non-compliance with terms of the section—Illegality.

The provision in the second clause of S. 539-B, Cr. P. Code, is mandatory and failure to comply with this express direction of the law is an illegality and not an irregularity which could be cured if there was no prejudice to the accused. (Newbould and Mukerjee, JJ.) HRIDOY GOVINDA SUR v. EMPEROR.

40 C. L. J. 149 : 82 I. C. 767 (1);
25 Cr. L. J. 1375 : 1924 Cal. 1035.

—S. 540—Power of Magistrate to examine Court witnesses after the close of the case.

Although it is true that proper discretion has to be exercised under S. 540, Cr. P. Code, still the terms of the section are extremely wide and any court may at any stage of any enquiry, trial or other proceedings summon any person as a witness, if his evidence appears to it essential to the just decision of the case. This power can be exercised even after the close of the case for the prosecution and the defence. (Odgers, J.) PERUMAL, In re.

(1924) M. W. N. 302 : 34 M. L. T. (H.C.) 165 :
77 I. C. 290 : 25 Cr. L. J. 354 : 19 L. W. 272 :
1924 Mad. 581 (2) : 46 M. L. J. 325.

—S. 540—Reception of evidence—Duty of Court. MAUNG PO HMYIN v. EMPEROR.

76 I. C. 649 : 25 Cr. L. J. 217.

—S. 540—Scope of—Examination of witnesses after reserving judgment. NATABAR GHOSH v. ADVA NATH BISWAS. 75 I. C. 541.

CRIM. P. CODE (1898), S. 545.

—S. 545—Compensation—If can be directed to be paid.

Where a person is dealt with under S. 562, and no fine is imposed on him, the court has no power to direct him to pay compensation to the other party. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) MUNREY MIRZA v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1116 (1) : 81 I. C. 940 (1) : 1925 Oudh 116 (1).

—S. 546 A—Non-cognizable offence—Costs of complainant—If can be awarded.

Costs of the complainant cannot be awarded where the offence is not a non-cognizable one. (Kendall, A. J. C.) NUR-UD-DIN v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1161 (1) : 81 I. C. 985 (1) : 1925 Oudh 109 (1).

—S. 556—Local inspection—Procedure in cases of.

In cases when a court makes a local inspection, the Magistrate should record the result thereof and ask the parties if they desire to adduce evidence and hear arguments about the same. When after delivering judgment, the court makes a note of the result of such inspection, the procedure is irregular, but this is not sufficient to vitiate the trial unless the accused is prejudiced thereby. (Greaves and Chotzner, J.J.) BHOLA NATH NANDI v. KEDAR NANDI. 25 Cr. L. J. 705 (2) : 81 I. C. 193 (2) : 1925 Cal. 353.

—S. 556—Sanctioning or directing prosecution—If incapacitates.

A Court which sanctions or directs a prosecution is not thereby rendered incompetent to try the offence or to hear an appeal against a conviction for it. There might of course be special circumstances in a case which render it improper that the Judge or Magistrate who sanctioned or directed the prosecution should hear the appeal against the conviction obtained in that prosecution. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) PANDIA MAHAR, In re. 1924 Nag. 23.

—S. 557—Pleader when can act as a Magistrate.

76 I. C. 1031 (1) : 25 Cr. L. J. 311 (1).

—Ss. 561-A and 89—Application for restoration of property attached—Application made beyond prescribed period—Power of Court to order restitution.

The Court could not pass an order under S. 561-A, Cr. P. Code, which would conflict with the provision of S. 86 of the Cr. P. Code, in the exercise of its inherent power. A Court has no jurisdiction to make an order for the restoration of the property where the application is made beyond the period prescribed in S. 89, Cr. P. Code. (Shah, A. C. J. and Fawcett, J.) GURU-NATH NARAYAN BETGER, In re. 26 Bom. L. R. 719 : 82 I. C. 365 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1293 : 1924 Bom. 485.

—S. 562—Orders under—Second Class Magistrate if can pass.

It is incompetent to a Second Class Magistrate to pass orders under S. 562, Cr. P. Code, himself. He should submit the case to a First Class Magistrate or Sub-divisional Magistrate for orders with his report if he is of opinion that the case is a fit one for the exercise of powers under that section. (Motisar, J.) EMPEROR v. JAWALI, 5 Lah. 36. 25 Cr. L. J. 1124 : 81 I. C. 948 : 1923 Lah. 454.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

—S. 562—Powers under—When to exercise.

In exercising the special powers under S. 562, the danger to the public and to the accused himself have to be guarded against. If the offence indicates not mere thoughtlessness but criminality also, such as a combination of design, ingratitude and a general character of craft and deceit, resort should not be had to the powers under the section. (Kennedy, A. J. C.) DARVALAL v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1224 (2) : 81 I. C. 152 (2) : 1925 Sind 75.

—S. 562—Proper procedure, in cases of conviction and release on security.

In a case where the Magistrate ordered the appellant to be released on security, under S. 562, and where the appellant failed to furnish security it was held that such a situation should not be allowed to arise and if it arises the proper course is for the Magistrate to pass sentence according to law. Held, also that the Magistrate should satisfy himself that security can be given, before passing the order.

Held, further that S. 123, Cr. P. Code specifically applies only to Ss. 106 and 118 and not to S. 562. (Carr, J.) NASUMBAH v. EMPEROR. 2 Rang. 360 : 1925 Rang. 42.

CRIMINAL TRIAL—Amendment of proceedings—Notice to parties affected by.

It is an elementary right of a party when criminal proceedings started against him are amended that he should have notice thereof, and in the absence of such notice, the trial is vitiated. (Greaves and Panton, J.J.) JANAKI NATH KUNDU PAL v. MONMOHAN DE. 25 Cr. L. J. 674 : 81 I. C. 162 : 1925 Cal. 263.

—Appeal—Acquittal—Interference by High Court—Defamation—No Justification—Interference justified. See PENAL CODE, S. 499, EXN. 9. 28 C. W. N. 579.

—Approver—Evidence of—Weight. 1924 Oudh 65.

—Charge—Date and place of occurrence to be proved.

In a case of assault where the charge mentions a certain date and place at which it occurred the prosecution must prove the same. It is not open to the judge to convict the accused for an assault which took place at a different place or time. (Broadway, J.) JALALUDDIN v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 471 : 77 I. C. 823 : 1924 Lah. 616.

—Complaint—Several accused—Withdrawal against same—Effect of.

The withdrawal of a complaint against one of several accused has not the effect of withdrawing the complaint against the rest of the accused as well. 9 O. L. J. 54 foll. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) NANDA v. EMPEROR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 357. 1 O. W. N. 120.

—Confession—If can be accepted in part.

It cannot be said that a court is not justified in holding that a confession as a whole may be true, although a particular detail is false especially when the detail refers only to the motive. Courts of law cannot pick out different statements made by an accused and piece them together so as to make a new statement. (Pipon, J. C.) MOTI RAM v. EMPEROR. 75 I. C. 152 : 24 Cr. L. J. 904.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

— in cases involving question of intention, if the facts are such as would cause a man of ordinary prudence and ability to infer a guilty intent the accused should rebut such inference.

Case which involves a question of intention really rests upon the facts which are found. If those facts are such that a person of ordinary prudence and ability would come to the conclusion that they point to a guilty intent on the part of the accused it is for the accused to rebut that guilty intention: and if he does not so rebut it, the guilty intent is as much found against him as his physical acts. 37 All. 395 foll. (Boys, J.) MANNI AND OTHERS v. THE KING EMPEROR. 1924 A. 764 : L. R. 5 A. 127 (Cr.)

— Cross cases—Joint trial—If bad.

The trial of cross cases simultaneously but separately does not vitiate the trial unless there was prejudice. (Kulwanj Sahay, J.) SHAFAYET KHAN v. EMPEROR. 81 I. C. 794 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1018 — Cross cases—Simultaneous trial—Procedure improper.

As a result of a fight between two parties, both of them instituted criminal cases in court, having made reports at the Police Station soon after the occurrence on 21-11-22. The Police sent in two reports on the two complaints and the parties were asked to prove their respective versions of the two cases. The hearing of the two cases was taken up simultaneously by the magistrate and the evidence adduced in one case was considered in dealing with the case brought by the other party. One of the cases was dismissed under S. 204, Cr. P. Code, and in the other a charge was framed. Held, that the procedure was irregular. The case should not have been heard at one and the same time and the magistrate was wrong in considering the evidence in one case for the purpose of coming to a conclusion in the other. The order passed under S. 403, Cr. P. Code, must be set aside and the Magistrate should first finish the case in which a charge had been framed and after that case is finished, he should pass orders in the other. (Ghose and Cuming, JJ.) GARIBULLA AKANDA v. SADAR AKANDA. 25 Cr. L. J. 941 : 81 I. C. 557 : 39 C. L. J. 331 : 1924 Cal. 813.

— Cross cases—Cases instituted on police report and private complaints—Accused in each case being complainants in the other—Police case not to be given precedence—Simultaneous trial desirable. See CR. P. CODE, S. 344.

28 C. W. N. 487.

— Conviction and sentence—Leave to appeal to his Majesty in Council—Important question of law—Stay of execution of sentence. See LETTERS PATENT (CAL.) CL. 41. 39 C. L. J. 1.

— Charge—Offences under Ss. 430 and 114, I. P. C.—No acts alleged prior to offence—Prejudice.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

The charge against an accused was that he abetted by being present, in committing the offence of mischief under Ss. 430 and 114, I. P. C. No acts were alleged on his part prior to the commission of the offence and evidence was let in at the trial that he was present at the place when the offence was committed and instigated others to do it. Held, the charge has defective as he had no notice of the matter with which he was charged. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) ANNAVI v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 262 : 82 I. C. 262 : 21 L. W. 19.

— Charge—Particulars not given Oates v. Emperor. 25 Cr. L. J. 177 : 76 I. C. 417 : 1924 Cal. 103.

— Circumstantial evidence—Guilt—Proof of. 1924 Lah. 62.

— Conviction—Error—Reference to repealed enactment. 25 Cr. L. J. 336 : 77 I. C. 192 : 1924 Oudh 32.

— Defence—Necessity for—Prosecution story found to be false—Effect. See PENAL CODE, Ss. 148, 149.

2 Pat. L. R. 217 (Cr.).

— Defence—Weakness of—Not to be used to support case for prosecution—Duty of prosecution to establish guilt.

Per Wazir Hasan, J. C.—It is a well established principle of law that the prosecution must not only establish the guilt of the accused but that it should be established beyond any reasonable doubt. The weakness of the defence must not be allowed to bolster up a weak case for the prosecution. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A.J.Cs.) HIRA LAL v. EMPEROR.

27 O. C. 188 : 1925 Oudh 78.

— Evidence—Disbelief in essential details vitiates conviction based upon part of the same story.

Where the prosecution cannot be believed in its essential details conviction cannot be based upon a part of the story of the prosecution. Where the greater portion of the prosecution evidence is disbelieved, a Court cannot reconstruct a story and convict the accused on the story wholly inconsistent with that told by witnesses. (Foster, J.) JOHARMAL MAHWARI v. THE KING EMPEROR.

5 Pat. L. T. 635 : 1924 P. 813 : 81 I. C. 212 : 25 Cr. L. J. 257.

— Duty of counsel—Admission of guilt—Duty of Court.

25 Cr. L. J. 817 : 81 I. C. 353 : 1924 Cal. 257.

— Evidence—Duty of prosecution to adduce all available evidence.

77 I. C. 819 (2) : 25 Cr. L. J. 467 (2).

— Evidence—Map—Preparation of—For use in a Criminal trial—Precautions, necessary for.

A person who prepares a map for use in a criminal case ought not to put upon it anything more than what he sees himself. Particulars derived from witnesses examined on the spot should not be noted on the body of the map but on a separate sheet of paper annexed to the map.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

as an index thereto. (Sanderson, C. J. and Chotzner, J.) EMPEROR v. ABINASH CHANDRA BOSE. 28 C. W. N. 995: 1924 Cal. 1029.

—Evidence—Appreciation—Benefit of the doubt.

The doctrine that the accused in a criminal case should be given the benefit of the doubt applies only to a real and reasonable doubt in the mind of the Judge. (Walsh and Ryves, JJ.) LAKHAN v. EMPEROR. L. R. 5 A. 101 (Cr.): 1924 All. 511.

—Evidence—Expert evidence—Chemical examiner's report—Weight due to.

Where in a trial for murder there was strong direct evidence of the place of a certain murder but no blood was detected by the chemical examination of the earth, leaves and grass taken from alleged place of occurrence. Held, that the value of the report of the chemical Examiner was merely negative and it was not sufficient to rebut the strong direct evidence as to the place of occurrence. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) HASSENULLA SHEIKH v. EMPEROR. 28 C. W. N. 561: 1924 Cal. 625.

—Evidence—Medical evidence—Duty of Magistrate to act on expert medical evidence and not on his own personal investigation into medical books. See PENAL CODE, S. 499.

28 C. W. N. 579.

—Evidence—Production of documents as containing his evidence—Admissibility—Value of evidence as to identification in a parade only hearsay.

In a dacoity case, the prosecution supported the case on the evidence of certain witnesses who professed to have recognised the appellants at the scene, and the Magistrate was called upon to prove the identification and the methods adopted, who submitted his evidence by referring to certain documents which are described as exhibits, with a view to be treated as evidence in the case. Held (quashing the conviction) that such a method of recording testimony would be applied to all the witnesses, reduce the trial to a mere travesty, and is opposed to the first principles of evidence. Held, further that the statement given by a witness at an identification parade, might be used as corroborative evidence of his evidence in court and if otherwise, the evidence of identification, furnished by a parade can only be hearsay, except as to the fact that a witness knew the accused by sight. (Broadway and Fforde, JJ.) LAL SINGH v. THE CROWN. 5 Lah. 396: 1925 Lah. 19.

—Evidence—Admissions made by counsel for prosecution and defence—Acquittal—Appeal by crown.

The accused were tried on a charge under S. 82 of the companies Act but the court acting on admissions made by counsel for the prosecution and the defence acquitted the accused. On an appeal by the Crown. Held, that though the court could not decide a criminal case on admissions made by counsel, yet the High Court would not remand the case for retrial so as to supplement the deficiencies of the prosecution. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, JJ.) EMPEROR v. JASWANT RAI & Co. 5 Lah. 404: 1925 Lah. 85.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

—Evidence—Appreciation of—Police investigation unfair and tainted—Effect of.

When a police investigation with respect to any particular accused person is tainted, a court will have great hesitation in believing the prosecution evidence as it is very difficult to know where an investigating officer who has been detected in fabricating false evidence will stop in such fabrication. (Dalal, J. C.) HASNUKHAN v. EMPEROR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1133.

—Examination of witnesses—Right of accused to cross examine prosecution witnesses before charge.

No magistrate or Court can refuse to allow an accused person to cross-examine prosecution witnesses, before charge is framed, and where the magistrate refused to allow the accused to do so, his procedure is most irregular and in contravention of law. (Wallace, J.) MUTHIA CHETTY, In re. 19 L. W. 391: 25 Cr. L. J. 556: 81 I. C. 44 (1): 1924 Mad. 735.

—First information report—Use of.

1924 A. 164.

—First information report—Prosecution if bound by.

The prosecution is bound to produce in court the First Information report made to the police, but it is not bound to refrain from leading evidence that the report is not accurate. To hold that the prosecution is bound by it is to recognize the recording officer as possessing an authority which he does not have. (Campbell, J.) RAJA v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 465: 77 I. C. 817: 1924 Lah. 591.

—Joint trial separate trials—Evidence taken in one used in another. NARAIN SINGH v. EMPEROR. 1924 Lah. 228.

—Joint trial—Objection as to—When to be taken.

An objection as to joint trial being prejudicial to the accused ought to be taken at an early stage and not after all witnesses have been examined and the trial is practically over. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) AMJAD ALI v. EMPEROR. 5 Pat. L. T. 129: 2 Pat. L. R. 79 (Cr.): 75 I. C. 723: 25 Cr. L. J. 35: 1924 P. 498.

—Jury trial—Evidence—How taken.—Reading over deposition given before.—If proper 1924 Lah. 17: 77 I. C. 425 (2): 25 Cr. L. J. 377 (2).

—Jury—Weight due to prosecution witness.—Factions—Effect of. 1924 Cal. 317.

—Jury charge to—Rediculing defence story.—Opinion of judge.

In a charge to the jury, the judge should not be dogmatic as to the view of evidence or ridicule the defence story. Even when he expresses his opinion, he must warn them that it is not binding on them but that they are to form their own opinion. He must not make an appeal or exhortation to the jury. He is not bound to comment on all facts, but must direct their attention to the salient features.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

Where the High Court finds the misdirection in the charge, was such as to vitiate the verdict, it can either order re-trial or dispose of the case on the evidence. Misdirection by itself does not justify the trial being set aside. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) TOPENDAS v. EMPEROR 25 Cr. L. J. 761 : 81 I. C. 249 : 1925 S. 116.

—Jury—Misdirection—Failure to read evidence—Benefit of doubt.

Failure to read material portions of the evidence in the charge to the jury is not a misdirection, justifying the reversal of the verdict. So also the omission to direct the jury to give the benefit of the doubt to the accused. (Baker, J. C.) RAHIMBEG v. EMPEROR. 7 N. L. J. 208.

—Murder—Conviction for—Retracted confession—Approver.

Where there is a conflict between the retracted confession of one of the accused and the evidence of an approver and they are the main heads of evidence on a charge of murder, the court will not convict the accused on the strength of that evidence without corroboration from outside testimony. (Neave and Kendall, JJ.) PARAMESHWAR v. EMPEROR. 11 O. L. J. 325 : 82 I. C. 135 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1207 : 1924 Oudh 369.

—Order directing—detention of property of stranger—Propriety of. 1924 Cal. 455.

—Previous conviction—Not to be let in till the end. MAUNG E. GYI v. EMPEROR. 1924 Rang. 91.

—Private Prosecutor—Locus standi.
5 Pat. L. T. 404 : 2 Pat. L. R. 165 (Cr.) :
2 Pat. L. R. 187 (Cr.) : 25 Cr. L. J. 446 :
77 I. C. 734 : 1924 Pat. 283.

—Prosecution evidence not believed as to main portions—Conviction on the rest.

Where in a criminal trial, the prosecution evidence is disbelieved in the main, it is unsafe to base a conviction or to rely upon portions of the same or reconstruct a story out of the balance which is not disbelieved. (Foster, J.) JOHARMAL MARWARI v. EMPEROR. 5 Pat. L. T. 635 : 25 Cr. L. J. 724 : 81 I. C. 212 : 1924 P. 813.

—Public prosecutor—Duty of.

There should be on the part of the Public Prosecutor no unseemly eagerness for or grasping at conviction. He is not to aggravate the case against the prisoner but has to perform his duties with that calmness and impartiality which should ever characterise the public prosecutor. He has to aid the Court in discovering the truth and also in the discharge of its duty to do justice as between the Crown and the accused. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) ANANT WASUDEO v. EMPEROR. 7 N. L. J. 155 : 1924 Nag. 243.

—Punishment—Daily fine.

It is bad in law to impose a daily fine in anticipation of the commission of an offence, for at the time the charge was laid against him no such offence had been committed. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) PARCHAM SAO v. EMPEROR. 82 I. C. 717 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1357.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

—Quashing of proceedings—Power of High Court.

Though the High Court has power to quash a Criminal proceeding in its early stages before evidence is recorded, the High Court would exercise this power only very sparingly in exceptional cases. (Newbould, Ghose and Cuming, JJ.) NRIPENDRA BHUSAN RAY v. GOBINDA BANDHU MAJUMDAR. 39 C. L. J. 236. 82 I. C. 266 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1258 : 1924 Cal. 1018.

—Sentence—Considerations—Public interest.

Appeals to the compassion of a Court on sentimental grounds have certainly been legitimately allowed as extenuating circumstances to warrant a lighter sentence, but the public interest in a case and its sensational character should be definitely excluded from consideration. (Pipon, J. C.) BODHRAJ v. EMPEROR. 76 I. C. 105 : 25 Cr. L. J. 105.

—Sentence—Conviction under two sections—Concurrent sentences.

Where a Magistrate convicts under two sections and intends to pass concurrent sentences, it is a very common though somewhat slovenly method of expressing the conviction to say, "I pass sentence under Ss. 326 and 148" or whatever the sections may be. Such a sentence must be interpreted as meaning that the Magistrate passed concurrent sentences under each section. (Daniels, J.) SOHAN AHIR v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 263 : L. R. 5 A. 88 (Cr.) : 25 Cr. L. J. 992 : 81 I. C. 640 : 1924 A. 492.

—Sentence—Previous convictions—Effect of.

Greater discretion should be exercised by the mofussil courts in making the penalty fit the crime and the practice of committing petty offenders to the Sessions Court after three or four convictions should cease. Even if such persons are committed there is no necessity for the sessions judge to inflict a vindictive sentence. A sentence of five years rigorous imprisonment for stealing purse containing Rs. 1-2-0 is highly excessive. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) EMPEROR v. GALA MANA. 26 Bom. L. R. 434 : 1924 Bom. 453.

—Sentence—Suspension of—Grant of bail.

When an appellate court or a court hearing a revision admits the appellant or the applicant to bail or orders that a fine should not be paid up till the disposal of the case, he thereby orders the suspension of the sentence. (Mukerjee, J.) BHAGWAN DAS v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 1103.

—Separate conviction—Offences under Railways Act and Penal Code—Propriety of.

Where a number of accused are charged of rioting and also forcibly molesting railway passengers, separate convictions under S. 127, Railways Act and S. 147, Penal Code, are justified. (Moti Sagar, J.) ALLAH DITTA v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 435 : 77 I. C. 723 : 1924 Lah. 585.

—Sessions case—Shorthand notes of proceedings. 25 Cr. L. J. 817 : 81 I. C. 353 : 1924 Cal. 257.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

—Spy—Evidence of—Corroboration.

The evidence given by a spy requires the same amount of corroboration as that of an accomplice (Wazir Hasan, J. C. and Pullan, A. J. C.)
SURAT BAHADUR v. EMPEROR.

11 O. L. J. 640 : 1 O. W. N. 362 :
25 Cr. L. J. 1162 : 81 I. C. 986 :
1925 Oudh 158.

—Statement before Police—Retractions—Value of.

A statement made by a witness to the Police but subsequently retracted is not safe to rely on in a criminal trial. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) GANPAT v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 356 : 77 I. C. 292 :
1924 Nag. 281

—Statement by accused—Probation value.

A person accused of a crime is not bound to speak the truth and cannot be pinned to any particular statement he may have made. (Broadway and Campbell, J. J.) KAKAR SINGH v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 733 : 81 I. C. 717 (2) :
1924 Lah. 733.

—Stay of—Pending civil suit—Suit for recovery of money—Cheating.

On an application for stay of a criminal case instituted against the petitioner under S. 420, I. P. C. it appeared that the complainant borrowed Rs. 200 from the petitioner on 31-5-1921. The complainant failed to repay this sum, according to the petitioner, and therefore he instituted a suit for the money lent which was due on a hand note. After the institution of this suit, the opposite party, complainant made a complaint to the effect that he had gone to the petitioner and repaid his debt but the petitioner had failed to return to him the pronote and therefore he had been cheated. Held, that the question in the civil suit was the same as had to be decided in the criminal case, viz., whether in fact the opposite party paid the petitioner and if so whether the hand note had been returned or not. This was a case in which the criminal proceedings should be stayed and it should be left for the civil court first to decide whether the complainant's plea of payment and refusal of the hand note is a genuine plea or not. (Adami, J.) BANAMBAR CHHOTORA v. NATHA BEHERA.

2 Pat. L. R. 201 (Cr.) : 1925 Pat. 193 (1).

—Summons case tried as warrant case—Cross-examination of prosecution witness on recall not allowed—Prejudice.

A summons case was erroneously begun to be tried as a warrant case and charge framed. The prosecution were recalled for cross examination when the mistake was discovered, whereupon the court cancelled the charge and refused cross examination. Held, the procedure was wrong and had prejudiced the accused. (Pullan, A. J. C.) RAM RATAN v. RAM SAGAR.

82 I. C. 279 (2).

—Test identification note—Admissibility.

A test identification note made by a Magistrate is not admissible in evidence as evidence of identification without examining the Magistrate as a witness. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) BHAGAWAT JHA v. EMPEROR.

81 I. C. 45 :
25 Cr. L. J. 557.

CUSTOM.

—Identification of accused—Necessity for—First information—Police-officer refreshing memory.

The charge against the petitioners was that they formed an unlawful assembly and had entered the field of occurrence where the complainant's part, were getting their paddy seedlings uprooted. There was no allegation of any assault at all against the petitioners. The story was that the defence party had assembled some Pathans from Kothi to help them in their attempt to take possession of the land and two of the petitioners were alleged to have been two of these Pathans. As a matter of fact one of them was not a Pathan. In the first information given in the case the names of the two petitioners were not mentioned. The witnesses examined gave ambiguous or evasive answers when questioned whether they had named these two petitioners to the police as having been present. The police sub-inspector was asked whether the witnesses had named the two petitioners to him and said that he could not remember. When asked to refresh his memory from the diaries he refused to do so and the Magistrate did not compel him to look into those diaries for the purpose of answering the question as he ought to have done. Held, that the evidence of identification of the two petitioners was absolutely unsatisfactory and the case should be sent back for rehearing. (Adami, J.) SYED SULTAN HUSAIN v. EMPEROR.

2 Pat. L. R. 202.
—Unsoundness of mind of—Plea—Inquiry into the fact of unsoundness—Burden of proof. See CR. P. CODE, S. 465. 51 C. 827.

—Witness—Costs of summoning—Party if can be ordered to pay.

All criminal proceedings being at the instance of the crown, expenses of summoning witnesses must be borne by the crown. It is open to a Court to refuse to summon a witness on the ground the application to summon him was frivolous or vexatious, but having once decided to summon him the court has no power to direct the applicant to deposit into court the expenses. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) NAND KISHORE MISRA v. KALKA MISRA.

1924 P. B. C. C. 196 : 77 I. C. 810 :
5 Pat. L. J. 487 : 5 Cr. L. J. 458 : 1924 P. 695.

CRIMINAL TRIBES ACT, S. 22—Conviction under Solitary confinement if can be ordered

46 A. 114 : 1924 A. 819.

CUSTOM—Abadi—Right of tenant to transfer house site—Custom—Right of landlord to enter.

According to the general custom prevalent in the North Western Provinces, a person agriculturist or agricultural 'tenant' who is allowed by a Zamindar to build a house for his occupation in the abadi, obtains, if there is no special contract to the contrary, a mere right to use that house for himself and his family so long as he maintains the house, that is, prevents it from falling down and so long as he does not abandon the house by leaving the village. As such occupier of a house in the abadi occupying under the Zamindar, he has, unless he has obtained by special grant from the Zamindar an interest which he can sell, no interest which he can sell by private sale or which can be sold in execution of a decree against him.

CUSTO M.

except in the materials of the bulding. (Wazir Husan, A. J. C.) MT AZMAT UN NISSA v. GANESH PRASAD. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1305 : 11 O. L. J. 515 : 1 O. L. J. 750.

———Adoption—Daughter's son — Eligibility for.

An adoption of the daughter's son is valid although the theory no doubt exists that to qualify for adoption a man must be the son of a woman, whom the adoptive father could have married. In this part of the Punjab, which adjoins the United Provinces the nomination of an heir on lines resembling the Kritrima Hindu adoption is unknown, that is to say even amongst people governed by agricultural custom the adoption that takes place is the full Hindu adoption by which a man is transplanted from his natural family to his new family and is entirely cut off from his past. (Harrison, and Zafar Ali JJ.) KIRPA v RABI DATT. 5 Lah. 134 : 78 I. C. 74 : 6 Lah. L. J. 35 : 1924 Lah. 457.

———Adoption—Collateral—Succession—Onus—Ross of Sultanah in Panipat Tahsil of Karnal District. 76 I. C. 754 (2).

———Adoption — Effect of— Female heirs— Position of.

Under the customary law of the Punjab, adoption or appointment of heir is intended to make provision for succession. It is not necessarily equivalent to a gift of all the property to such person. The female heirs of such an appointed heir will be in no better position than the female heirs of a natural son. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, JJ.) NATHAL v. MT. DHAN KUAR. 79 I. C. 115.

———Adoption—Eligibility for— Hindu Rajputs—Adoption of agnate—Onus of proof.

As the adoption of an agnate is allowed by the Hindu law as well as by the custom prevailing generally among Hindus in the Province of Punjab, the initial onus is on the plaintiff prove that the custom did not exist in his tribe of Hindu Rajputs of the Salohar gol of Mauzah saloh in Una Tahsil of the Hoshiarpur District. A statement made in the Riwayatnam of 1913 in answer to a question that no custom of adoption existed at all among Rajputs in Una Tahsil being (1) unsupported by instances (2) opposed to the general custom, (3) at variance with the Statement made in the Riwayatnam of 1869 and (4) contradicted by the answer given to question No. 69, was of no value and cannot have the effect of throwing the onus on to the defendant. 84 P. R. 1917 : 4 Lah. 99 : 2 Lah. 366 Re. (Matineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) POHLO v. NANWARDHAN. 1925 Lah. 206 : 5 Lah. 409.

———Adoption—Jats—Sister's son—If could be taken in adoption.

Under the Punjab customary law among the Jats of the village of Lakraya in the Jhajjar Tahsil the adoption of a sister's son is valid. (Harrison and Campbell, JJ.) HIRA v. SHIBBU. 6 Lah. L. J. 442.

———Adoption—Kashmiri Brahmins—Upanayanam performed—Validity.

Kashmiri Brahmins in Amritsar are governed in matters of adoption by custom and not by Hindu Law. The adoption of a boy of 15 or 16 whose upanayanam had been performed is valid.

CUSTOM.

Evidence to show that the community had recognized the validity of the adoption for 15 years and that the boy had performed the funeral of his adoptive parents is admissible to prove its validity. (Sir John Edge.) DURGA DEVI v. SHAMBHU NATH. 22 A. L. J. 394 :

26 Bom. L. R. 557 : 5 Lah. 200 .
34 M. L. T. 93 (P. C.) : 1924 P. C. 113 :
80 I. C. 965 : 29 C. W. N. 106.

———Adoption—Proof. MEHAN SINGH v. KEHAR SINGH. 75 I. C. 317 : Lah. L. J. 39.

———Adoption—Proof—Grand-daughter's son.

The burden of proving the validity of an adoption of a non-agnate like a son's daughter's son when near agnates are existing, is on the person setting up the adoption. There is no custom validating such an adoption among the Jats of Lehli Kburd, in the Hoshiarpur District, (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Lumsder, J.) BURSINGH v. DALIP SINGH, 1924 Lah. 532.

———Adoption—Rights of adopted son in natural family. NUR DIN v. ROSHAN DIN. 1924 Lah. 300.

———Adoption—Rai Brahmins of Mohra Bhattan—Adoption of uncle's daughter's son.

In the Punjab, the Hindu Law of adoption is in many respects modified by custom. Among the Rai Brahmins of Mohra Bhattan Tahsil, the adoption of uncle's daughter's son is recognized as valid. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) BASHU RAM v. PIARA CHAND. 75 I. C. 938.

———Adoption—Sister's son — Hindu Jats—Hoshiarpur District. NAMAN v. BATAN SINGH. 1924 Lah. 37.

———Agricultural tenant allowed to build a house on a site in the village—His power to use and transfer the house—Onus.

Where an agricultural tenant is allowed to build a house on a site belonging to a Zamindari situate in an Abadi which, though included in a Municipal area, still retains the characteristics of a village, he has, in the absence of proof of some contract or custom to the contrary, only the right to use the house so long as he maintains it, without any right to transfer it.

Held also, that it is really on the agricultural tenant to show the existence of a custom under which he could transfer his house, and not for the zamindar to prove a custom of forfeiture or escheat if the house were transferred. 20 All. 248 ; 2 O. L. J. 305 followed. (Kendall, A. J. C.) BHIKHAIT LAL v. HADI ALI 10 O. & A. L. R. 1159 : 82 I. C. 810 : 11 O. L. J. 738 : 1 O. W. N. 520.

———Ala malik and adna malik—Position of—Death of adna malik—No heirs—If land reverts to ala malik.

In some parts of the Punjab ala maliks are the real proprietors, the adna maliks having only rights of occupancy. In other parts, the latter are the real proprietors the former having a claim to a percentage of the revenue. The ala maliks cannot succeed to the adna maliks if he dies without heirs, unless there is a custom to that effect. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) KHURSHID ALAM v. CHAUDHRI PHANGO.

CUSTOM.

5 Lah. 382 : 79 I. C. 91 : 1925 Lah. 34.

— Alienation—Ancestral land—Burden of proof on those seeking to set aside alienation.

The plaintiff respondents sued for a declaration that a gift of certain land, dated 22nd July 1918, by Mussammat Sobhi, widow of Kaula, to her daughter Mussammat Bishni, should not affect the reversionary rights of the plaintiff.

In the kaifiyat deh of 1888 the proprietors of Patti Sudh Singh where the land in suit is situated, stated that Kuman, Sukhia and Dhuman were their ancestors, and that Dhuman's branch held one plough and Kuman and Sukhia half a plough each. Kaula was the descendant of Sukhia and the plaintiffs were the descendants of Kuman and Dhuman.

The kaifiyat deh showed that Phanu was another proprietor in this Patti and that his share in the land was proportionate to two and a half ploughs. Held, that it was not legitimate from these facts to draw the inference that the father of Kuman Sukhia and Dhuman must have held the land. (Scott-Smith and Forde, JJ.) MT BASANTI v. KABUL SINGH.

6 L. L. J. 127 : 80 I. C. 329 : 1924 Lah. 465.

— Alienation—Ancestral land—Rajputs of Ganachur—Onus.

The powers of alienating ancestral land possessed by the Rajputs of Ganachur are restricted and in the presence of near collaterals they cannot alienate in favour of more distant ones. In all such cases of alienation, the onus is on the alienee to prove the validity of the alienation. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) KYAS MUHAMMAD v. BANNA

78 I. C. 183 : 1925 Lah. 110

— Alienation—Ancestral property—Tiruvanas of Shahapur District

Under the customary law of the Punjab, Tiruvanas of Shahapur have absolute powers of alienation over ancestral property. (Abdul Raouf and Moti Sagar, JJ.) SHER MUHAMMAD KHAN v. DOST MUHAMMAD KHAN.

78 I. C. 451.

— Alienation—Ancestral land—Son's right.

76 I. C. 592 : 5 Lah. 212.

— Alienation—Awans of Talgang Tahsil—Power of disposal over ancestral property by gift or will.

Ancestral property can be gifted without any restriction by sonless Awans of the Talgang Tahsil; consequently it can also be willed away. Such a presumption was, however, rebutted by an entry in the riwaj-i-an of 1901. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Le Rossignol, J.) MT RAGHI v. BAZA, — Alienation—Brahmins—Borrowing money for trade.

5 Lah. 34 : 1924 Lah. 452.

In the case of the Punjab Brahmins who have taken to agriculture only recently and not a sole source of living, there is no rule which prohibits an alienation of ancestral land for raising funds to carry on a trade. The case of Jats is different. (Martineau, J.) RAM KISHEN v. KHALI.

1924 Lah. 685.

CUSTOM.

— Alienation—Consent of reversioners—Effect.

Where a widow alienates ancestral property with the consent of a near reversioner, it does not preclude a more remote reversioner from challenging the alienation, as he does not derive his right from the nearer reversioner. (Le Rossignol and Harrison, JJ.) SINGH RAM v. BHAGWANA.

1924 Lah. 656.

— Alienation—Consent of reversioners—Sons of reversioners when bound

1924 Lah. 213 (2).

— Alienation—Exchange—Suits to set aside—Barden of proof. MAGINA SINGH v. MOTA SINGH.

1924 Lah. 335 (2).

— Alienation—Gift to daughter by a Sonless proprietor of a portion of his ancestral holding. GUJARS Hoshiarpur Tahsil.

A sonless Gujar of the village of Basi Kikran in the Tahsil of Hoshiarpur made a gift of 15 Kanals and odd of land out of his ancestral holding to his daughter in 1911. In the Riwaj-i-an of the Hoshiarpur Tahsil of 1914 there was an entry forbidding any Gift among gujars of property moveable or immoveable to a daughter but it was not supported by instances and was admittedly wrong, so far as the restraint on alienation of moveable property was concerned. Held that the burden of proving that the gift in question in the case was valid was a light one and the onus had been discharged. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Malin, J.) UMRA v. MT RAH — Alienation—Gift—Sister and Collaterals—Jats of Issan Mahar.

5 Lah. 473.

1924 Lah. 195.

— Alienation—Lohars of Jagadhari—Powers of male proprietors.

The male proprietors among the Lohars of Jagadhari are not governed by agricultural custom and in the absence of proof to the contrary, have unlimited powers of alienation. (Martineau, J.) GHULAM SABIR v. TABA HUSSAIN.

1924 Lah. 552.

— Alienation—Limited owner—Reversioner. NAWAZ KHAN v. MT. LORA JAN.

1924 Lah. 187.

— Alienation—Necessity—Marriage of daughter—Reasonable expenditure—Scale of.

It is a well-recognized custom that a daughter should be given some jewellery on the occasion of her marriage, and it is also necessary that the guests who come to the bride's house on that occasion should be properly treated and entertained. As to what would be a reasonable expenditure by a widow, one test is to consider what would be reasonable for a marriage if the husband were living. The same amount would be reasonable on the part of the widow after death if the circumstances of the estate remained the same. (Moti Sagar, J.) MUNSHI v. GHANAYA.

6 L. L. J. 133 :

80 I. C. 332 : 1924 Lah. 500.

— Alienation—Necessity—Money borrowed for the purposes of subsistence.

1924 Lah. 41.

— Alienation—Necessity—Proof of—Vendor a spendthrift.

CUSTOM

In the case of alienation of ancestral property by a person of bad character who is a spendthrift, the onus is heavily on the alienee to prove necessity not only with regard to the debts due to him but those due to other persons also. (Abdul Raouf, J.) NATHU RAM v. KARTA RAM.

1925 Lah. 132 (1) : 6 Lah. L. J. 462.

——— Alienation — Proprietors — Consent of — Necessity for. 1924 Lah. 246.

——— Alienation — Occupancy rights — Suit to challenge — When maintainable

A collateral of an occupancy tenant impeaching an alienation by the latter of his occupancy rights must prove that he is entitled to succeed on the death of the occupancy tenant and that had the subject-matter been proprietary rights he could have maintained the suit. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Lumsden, J.) MT. SARDHI v. RALLA.

1925 Lah. 157 (1)

——— Alienation — Setting aside — Suit by remote reversioner.

The rule that where a nearer reversioner is precluded from suing or colludes with the alienor a more remote reversioner is entitled to maintain an action to set aside an alienation of ancestral property has no application to a case where the alienor has 3 sons who are minors and who are nearer in order of succession to the plaintiffs. (Abdul Raouf and Moti Sagar, JJ.) GIRDHARI v. MAM CHAND.

6 Lah. L. J. 224 :

79 I. C. 442 : 1924 Lah. 646.

——— Alienation — Setting aside — Minor reversioner — Suit on behalf of, for declaration — Limitation — Punj. Lim. (Custom) — Act (I of 1920).

Though it is open to the court to grant a declaratory decree in a suit to contest an unnecessary alienation if the suit is brought honestly on behalf of a minor reversioner to protect his interest, it would not be proper to pass such a decree in a case where the minor is merely a figure-head and the real plaintiff is the alienor himself, who has caused the suit to be instituted for the purpose of undoing his own acts. Where a minor reversioner brings a suit to contest the sale of ancestral properties by a sonless proprietor a decree cannot be passed in favour of the plaintiff if the suit brought by the next major reversioner in his own name would have been barred by limitation. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) DAD v. LAL.

6 Lah. L. J. 334 : 5 Lah. 389 : 82 I. C. 626 : 1925 Lah. 24.

——— Alienation — Rights of grazing.

According to the Wajibularz the area in question was specially set apart for the sole use of the Labanas, it being clearly laid down that they and they alone could exercise these rights. The proprietors even appear to have been excluded from using this land for grazing purposes. Held, this amounted to an easement and speaking broadly, easements are generally inalienable apart from the property to which they are appurtenant. As the right to graze, etc., in these lands was specifically given to a definite set of persons every member of that set has a right to defend his rights against any infringements of them. The plaintiffs, are vitally interested in maintaining the exclusive right of Labanas to exercise these rights and have therefore a locus standi to sue in respect of such infringement. The right to use the land for grazing purposes cannot be alienated by one of the owners of the right, for by doing so he introduces (as in the present case) a foreign element in the class of persons to whom the right was specifically restricted. (Broadway, J.) KIRPA v. GULABA.

CUSTOM.

5 Lah. L. J. 546 : 80 I. C. 503 : 1924 Lah. 223 (2).

——— Alienation — Sonless proprietor — Ancestral land. 1924 Lah. 102.

——— Alienation — Will by sonless proprietor — Khot Sarang of Talagang Tahsil, Attock District, MT. RAKHI v. BAZA. 75 I. C. 659.

——— Ancestral land — Burden of proof — Deserted site — Nature of rights.

Where the inhabitants of a village left the village and went away elsewhere, deserting the village-site and the lands and after 25 years some of their descendants came and occupied the same it must be held to be their self-acquisition and not ancestral land. This rule applies even if the descendants came and occupied what their ancestors owned. The onus of proving land to be ancestral is on the person who sets it up. (Lumsden, J.) RAM SARAN DAS v. HARPHUL.

1924 Lah. 677.

——— Ancestral land — Houses — Appanages.

Where a person owns ancestral lands and a house in the Punjab, the house is to be considered an appanage to the lands. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) KYAS MAHAMMAD v. BANNA.

1925 Lah. 110.

——— Ancestral property — Attachment — If reversioner can sue for declaration of invalidity.

The attachment of ancestral property does not affect injuriously the rights of a reversioner who has only a contingent interest and hence he cannot sue for a declaration that the property was not liable to attachment. (Broadway and Zafar Ali, JJ.) SHIB DEO SINGH v. UTTAM SINGH.

1925 Lah. 84.

——— Ancestral property — Descent through females — If alters nature of.

The fact that ancestral property descends through a female such as a daughter does not alter the nature of the property. It remains still ancestral in the hands of her descendants. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Lumsden, J.) MT. HUSAIN BIBI v. HAYAT.

1924 Lah. 565.

——— Ancestral property — Joshi Brahmins of Mallor Salauran — Ghar Shanhar thasil Hoshiarpur — Whether succession governed by custom or Hindu Law.

The plaintiffs appellants claimed their right to succeed J on his death, on the strength of custom and r which they as collaterals excluded J's daughters.

Held, that the onus of proving the existence of such a custom lay on the appellants and that the evidence in the record did not give a single instance of a daughter having been excluded.

CUSTOM.

by collaterals so far Mauza Saila kalan was concerned. (Broadway and Moti Sagar, JJ.) ANANT RAM v. RAM RATTAN. 5 Lah. 547.

— — — Ancestral property—Land purchased from collateral.

Land ceases to be ancestral if it comes to a person otherwise than by descent or by reason merely of connection with the common ancestor. Hence land purchased from a collateral is not ancestral in the hands of the vendee. (Broadway, J.) GHANIA v. PHUMAN SINGH. 79 I. C. 170.

— — — Ancestral property—What is.

Land ceases to be ancestral if it comes into the hands of an owner otherwise than by descent or by reason merely of his connection with the common ancestor. (Moti Sagar, J.) NAGINA SINGH v. JIWAN SINGH. 79 I. C. 107 : 1925 Lah. 87.

— — — Ancestral property—Property inherited from maternal grandfather.

Land inherited through a daughter is regarded by custom as, ancestral property in the hands of the daughter's son so that his sons may control his disposition of that property. 32 P. R. 1895 foll.

Rossignol, J.—The principle underlying the Punjab custom of agnatic succession is the retention of the land first in the family and then in the tribe. In the case of endogamous tribes, the postulates are satisfied whether the succession is through a male or female for in either case the land remains if not in the family at any rate, within the tribe, and it is especially among such tribes that a daughter is allowed to succeed as an heir even in the presence of agnates. In such cases a daughter and her heirs cannot be conceded wider powers of disposal than lineal heirs in the male line. (Shadi Lal, C. J. Scott-Smith, Le Rossignol, Broadway and Abdul Raoof, JJ.) MT. ATTAR KUAR v. NIKKOO. 6 Lah. L. J. 216 : 5 Lah. 336 : 80 I. C. 534 : 1924 Lah. 538.

— — — Ancestral property—Gift to daughter—Reverter—Onus of proof.

Landed property gifted to a woman by her father reverts to the line of the father when she dies without male issue, as its character of ancestral property is retained throughout. The onus of proving that there is no reverter lies on the person who sets it up. (Piton, J. C.) GHULAM KHAN v. GHULAM HAIDER KHAN. 75 I. C. 214.

— — — Ancestral property—Presumption—Self-acquisition to be proved.

The evidence in a case showed that the village was originally founded by the common ancestor of the parties. Held, unless it could be shown the lands went out of the hands of the family and again later acquired by one of the claimants or his predecessor-in-title, it must be presumed to be ancestral land. (Abdul Raoof, J.) MAULA DAD v. ALI. 5 Lah. L. J. 449 : 76 I. C. 147 : 1924 Lah. 263 (1).

— — — Applicability of—Inheritance—Pathans of village Kutal, Karnal district—Value of government notification including a tribe as agricultural.

CUSTOM.

In matters of inheritance, Pathans of the village of Kutal in the Tashil and district of Karnal are governed by Mahomedan law and not by custom. A notification by Government that a particular tribe is an agricultural tribe does not raise any presumption that it is governed by custom and not by personal law. 16 P. R. 1900 followed. (Zafa Ali, J.) KHAN MOHAMAD KHAN v. MT. NURJAHAN BEGAM. 6 Lah. L. J. 340 : 82 I. C. 609 : 1924 Lah. 731.

— — — Essentials of—Rights of passage by boat—Legality of custom.

The essential characteristics of custom are that it must be of immemorial existence, it must be reasonable, it must be certain and it must be continuous. Every custom must have been in existence preceding the memory of man and if the proof was carried back as far as living memory would go it should be presumed that the right claimed had existed from time of legal memory. Want of continuity or interruption or disturbance raises a strong presumption as to its non-existence. The reasonableness of custom is so very necessary that if it be against reason, it has no force in law. The commencement must be based on a reasonable cause for if an alleged custom is unreasonable in its origin, no usage or continuance can make it good; but by this, all that is meant is that it is sufficient if no good legal reason can be assigned against it. As to the element of certainty not only should its nature be certain, but there should be certainty in respect of the locality where it exists and also in respect of the persons affected by it.

A Customary right of boat passage may exist over the water of another by virtue of a custom, such rights existing by custom are to be distinguished from public rights of boat passage which arise from dedication or grant and from private rights of boat passage which are easements properly so called. A customary right of boat passage is one which may be enjoyed by any member of a body or class of persons, or may exist only for the benefit of a limited section of the public and it cannot be used under a claim of right by any person who is not a member of that body or class in whose favour it exists. Such customary rights may exist in favour of the inhabitants of one particular village or more villages than one sufficiently well defined. (Mukerji, J.) KRISHNA KUMAR DEB v. ATUL CHANDRA GROSE. 39 C. L. J. 61 : 1924 Cal. 998.

— — — Evidence of—immemorial user—Proof of

The length of time during which user or enjoyment of rights alleged to exist by custom, that is to say, the existence of a custom must be shown depends upon the circumstances of each case. General proof of the existence of a custom, as far back as living witnesses can remember, is treated in the absence of any sufficient rebutting evidence as proving the existence of the custom from time immemorial. Evidence of the existence of an alleged custom for a period of 20 years may be sufficient to warrant a Court in finding as to the existence of the custom from time immemorial. (Dalal, J. C.) MANNA LAL v. THAKUR JAI INDAR BAHADUR SINGH. 26 O. C. 386 : 76 I. C. 774 : 1924 Oudh 157.

CUSTOM.

—Evidence of—Custom set up to be precisely proved—Proof of different Custom. NATHUNNI RAI v. SIR RAMESHWAR SINGH BAHADUR. 1924 Pat. 147.

—Gift—Gift to two donees without defining shares—Tenants-in-common. MUSA v. GUL MAHOMED. 1924 Lah. 289.

—Gift—Collaterals—Jats of Hoshiarpur.

The powers of alienation possessed by the Jats of Hoshiarpur district are extensive and a gift of land in favour of a near agnate for services rendered is valid by custom. (Martineau, J.) POHLO v. DALIP SINGH. 78 I. C. 995.

—Hindu Jats of chunni Kurd, Kharar Tasil—Adoption of a daughter's son in the presence of Collaterals—Validity—Onus.

The adoption of a daughter's son by a sonless Hindu Jat proprietor of chunni Kurd must have the sanction of custom and the onus of establishing that custom is upon the person who asserts that he is competent to adopt a daughter's son in presence of near agnates irrespective of their assent, the presumption at the outset being against that power. N Ralla v. Budda (Full Bench) 50 P. R. 1893 followed. 50 P. R. (1871) Hari Singh v. Gulaba (129 P. R. 1882 Bhup Singh v. Nehal Singh dissented from. (Campbell and Zafar Ali, JJ.) HARI SINGH v. RATTAN SINGH. 5 Lah. 519.

—Heirship—Persons of the same caste and Got—Inference. 1924 A. I. 225 (1).

—Istribant—What is.

According to the custom of istribant in certain families in Upper India, if a deceased Hindu has children by a number of wives, his property is divided according to the number of wives irrespective of the number of children and in such cases a uterine relation how low soever excludes a mere consanguine relation how high soever. But this does not apply as between persons of different degrees. (Wazir Hasan, J.C. and Neave, A. J. C.) BRURAJ BUX SINGH v. BHAWANI BUX SINGH. 1 O. W. N. 231; 11 O. L. J. 586; 1925 Oudh 173.

—Landlord and tenant—Custom entitling tenant to sell materials as well as sites of houses belonging to zemindar.

Though it is not impossible for a custom to exist in an agricultural village under which the ryots may be entitled to sell not only the materials of their houses but also the site thereof which belongs to the Zemindar, such a custom can, however be recognised only when there is absolutely clear evidence to that effect. (Mukerji, J.) ALI HUSAIN v. SYED MAZAHIR HUSAIN.

L. R. 5 A. 115 (Rev.) : 79 I. C. 134 : 1924 All. 477.

—Local and family custom—Difference—Former must be pleaded with particulars as to area. Custom not to be extended by analogy.

A local custom is one binding on all persons in the local area within which it prevails, and differs entirely from a family custom, binding only on members of the family as to rules of descent and so forth. It is one which must be pleaded with particularity as to the local limits of the area of which it is alleged to be the custom, and the evidence must be evidence as to the prevalence of the custom in that area. Except so far as analogy may serve to explain anything that is in itself obscure, the custom of other localities are not relevant. 1 Cal. 186; 9 B. L. R. 274 and Marquis of Anglesey v. Lord Hatherton, 10 M. and W. 218, Ref. (Lord Sumner) KUMAR SATYA NARAIN SINGH v. RAJA SATYA NIRANJAN CHAKRAVARTHI. 3 Pat. 183; 28 C. W. N. 351 : 34 M. L. T. (P.C.) 27; 5 Pat. L. T. 171 : 79 I. C. 825; 51 I. A. 37; 1924 P. C. 5.

CUSTOM.

—Marwari Silawates—Females if excluded from inheritance.

Among Marwari Silawates there is custom in derogation of the Mahomedan Law by which they are governed excluding females from inheritance. (Kennedy, J.C. and Raymond, A.J.C.) USMAN v. ASAT. 78 I. C. 23.

—Mercantile usage—Proof of.

To prove a mercantile usage, the proof needs not either the antiquity, the uniformity or the notoriety of the custom which becomes a local law. The usage may still be in course of growth; it may require evidence for its support in each case but in the result it is sufficient if it appears to be so well known and acquiesced in that it may reasonably be presumed to have been an ingredient tacitly imported by the parties into their contract. The custom in order to be legal must be certain, immemorial, reasonable, and such as to render it fair to presume that, both the parties had knowledge of it and acquiesced in it. (Madgovcar, A. J. C.) GOVERDHANDAS v. ROWJI HIRJI & CO. 76 I. C. 62.

—Numerous instances before courts—Further Proof—Judicial decisions.

Where a custom or usage is repeatedly brought to the notice of the courts of a country, the latter may hold that it has been introduced into the law without the necessity of proof in each individual case.

Judicial decisions recognising the existence of a disputed custom in a particular community of one place are relevant as evidence of its existence among the same community at another place. (Baker, O. J. C.) MT. SANO v. PURAN SINGH. 78 I. C. 461; 1925 Nag. 174.

—Personal law—When to apply.

Among parties generally following customary law, if no definite rule of custom can be discovered on a given point, the gap can be filled up as a last resort by falling back on the personal law. (Abdul Raof and Campbell, JJ.) MT. TABI v. SAUDAGAR SINGH.

1924 Lah. 698.

—Pre-emption—Entry in wajib-ul-arz—Rebuttal of—No such custom in neighbouring mahal—Effect of.

An entry in the wajib ul-arz of the existence of a customary right to pre-empt with regard to a village is not rebutted by another entry in the wajib ul-arz with regard to another neighbouring mahal carved out of the same original village recognising full rights of transfer. The latter entry may only be the result of the original custom having been abrogated in that mahal. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) INDAD HUSAIN v. HAIDER BEG. 82 I. C. 196.

CUSTOM.

—Pre-emption—Mohala in a town—District, Karnai—Sub divisions of a town.

1924 Lah. 161.

—Pre-emption—Multan City.

The custom of a pre-emption does obtain in the sub-division Husain Agabi of the City of Multan. 24 & 57 P. R. 1906 Ref. (Harrison and Jafar Ali, JJ.) AHMAD, SHAH v. THE CHURCH MISSIONARY TRUST ASSOCIATION, LONDON. 1924 Lah. 700.

—Pre-emption—Town of Chhapal.

There is no custom of pre-emption in the town of Chhapal, Amritsar District. (Le Rossignol, J.) GHASITA SINGH v. BELI RAM.

81 I. C. 740 (1) : 1925 Lah. 88.

—Proof of—Disqualification from inheritance—Opinion evidence—Value of.

In order to prove a custom excluding females from inheritance instances must be cited in which females set up rights which were denied. The mere fact that they did not claim rights is not enough. Where under the personal law of the parties i.e., Mahomedan Law, females have rights of inheritance, custom in derogation of it must be proved by clear and unambiguous evidence. The opinion of members of a community cannot by itself amount to a proof of the custom. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) USMAN v. ASAT.

78 I. C. 23.

—Proof of—Family custom—English and Indian Law.

In proving family customs in India, the rules of English Law as to particular customs are inapplicable, 12 M. I. A. 91 ; 45 I. A. 14 referred to. (Sir John Edge.) MT. DURGA DEVI v. SHAMBHU NATH.

L. R. 5 P. C. 83 :

(1924) M. W. N. 434 : 20 L. W. 216 : 1 O. W. N. 569 : 46 M. L. J. 661 (P. C.).

—Proof—Oral evidence. MT. CHANNI BIBI v. AHMAD KHAN.

1924 Lah. 265.

—Punjab Will—Mahomedzais of Charsadda Tahsil—Disinheritance of sons—Effect.

Where a will among the Muhammadzais of Charsadda Tahsil, Peshawar District, completely disinherits the son, it is invalid under the customary law. (Pipon, J. C.) MAZIYUDDIN v. HASSAN KHAN.

75 I. C. 397.

—Right to bury dead in another's land—It can be acquired.

1 R. 702 : 76 I. C. 588 :

1924 Rang. 61.

—Shamilat—Nature of—Sale of proprietary land—Effect on Shamilat.

Rights of proprietors in the Shamilat of a village are not merely accessory to the land held by them and where the latter is sold the onus is on the purchaser to show Shamilat also was included. (Scott Smith and Fford, JJ.) GOBIND RAM v. ALI MUHAMMAD.

79 I. C. 84 : 1925 Lah. 99.

CUSTOM.

—Sikh Jats—Paternal uncle and grandmother.

Under the customary law, among the Sikh jats of Lahore District, a paternal uncle has priority over the grandmother for purposes of inheritance. (Abdul Raof and Campbell, JJ.) MT. TABI v. SAUDAGAR SINGH.

78 I. C. 932.

—Shamilat—Grazing rights—Cultivation—Permissibility of—Suit for declaration—Form of decree.

Where the plaintiffs, the inhabitants of a village enjoyed the right of grazing their cattle, took away fuel and cut grass in the shamilat deb till 1924 and the defendants who were proprietors of the land had the right of cultivation, the plaintiffs are entitled to have sufficient pasturage left for their cattle and an injunction restraining defendants from bringing the whole of the land under cultivation. The decree should state that the defendants' right of cultivation would extend only to so much of the land as will leave plaintiffs a sufficient amount of area for grazing purposes. (Moti Sagar and Martineau, JJ.) KANSHI RAM v. MAHOMED ABDUL RAHMAN KHAN.

6 Lah. L. J. 336.

—Succession—Ancestral property—Proof of.

Where it was clearly established by the production of the complete pedigree-table that the common ancestor of the parties, had founded the village, that the land in dispute was held at one time by the grandfather of the alienor. Held that unless it could be shown that the land had, at any time, gone out of the hands of the family and had been re-acquired by the alienor himself or some of his ancestors, the presumption is irresistible that the property must have come to them as descendants and therefore must be taken to be ancestral. (Abdul Raof, J.) MAULA DAD v. ALI.

5 Lah. L. J. 449 : 76 I. C. 147 : 1924 Lah. 263 (1).

—Succession—Ancestral—Presumption—Equal shares. MT. MARYAN BIBI v. GHULAM MAHOMED.

1924 Lah. 175 : 5 Lah. L. J. 446.

—Succession—Awans of Manza Nammal—Mianwali Dt.—Preference of whole blood to half blood—Murderer if entitled to succeed to property as heir.

In the case of collateral succession in a contest among the whole blood and the half blood, the court may presume until the contrary is proved, that when the property of the common ancestor was distributed per capita (pagzand) the whole blood and half blood succeed together, but where brothers of the whole blood subsequently form separate groups and so regulate succession among themselves as to alter the original rule of distribution, the presumption will cease to operate. Held that the presumption had not been rebutted among the Awans of Nammal, Mianwali Dt. It is contrary to public policy to allow a murderer to derive from his crime the benefit of succeeding to the property of his victim or to allow a murderer to oust a mere distant heir from possession of property to which his victim, if alive, would have succeeded. 74 P. R. 1900; 3 Lah. 103; 3 Lah. 242 Ref. (Abdul Raof and Campbell, JJ.) SHER KHAN v. MUHAMMAD KHAN. 5 Lah. 117 : 1924 Lah. 505.

CUSTOM.

———Succession—Cognates—Daughter's son—Rights of.

In the absence of all agnates of a childless proprietor any cognate is entitled to succeed in preference to the proprietary body of the village. A daughter's son is hence entitled to succeed in preference to a trespasser, (Abdul Raof and Martineau, JJ.) MT. CHAMBELI v. BISHNA. 78 I. C. 778.

———Succession—Collaterals—Sister—Competition—Preference—Khotis or pind dad khan—Jhelum District. 1924 Lah. 321.

———Succession—Co-widows—Survivorship on death of one widow—Unchastity—Effect of.

On the death of a childless male proprietor leaving behind him two or more widows, they succeed as joint tenants and on the death of one, the survivor takes by survivorship. Consequently the unchastity of the surviving widow does not affect her right. (Le Rossignol and Harrison, JJ.) MT. BHOTI v. RIHHEE. 5 Lah. 237 : 1925 Lah. 32.

———Succession—Kalasra Jat of Dogar Kalasra in the Surwan Tahsil, Mussafargarh District—Whether daughters lose the right of succession by marriage outside the family—Onus—Riwaj-i-am.

The question in dispute was whether a daughter of a sonless proprietor (Kalasra Jats) who had married a man in another family was entitled to her father's estate on her mother's death. The plaintiff—appellants who were the reversioners contended that she lost the right of succession by her marriage and relied upon certain entries in the Riwaj-i-am.

Held, in accordance with Beg v. Allah Ditta, (45 P. R. 1917 (P. C.)) there was a presumption in favour of the correctness of the entry in the Riwaj-i-am of 1880, and that the onus of proving the custom lay on the plaintiffs.

Held also, that the plaintiffs had discharged the onus by proving that by custom among Kalasra Jats of Dogar Kalasra, a daughter loses her right of succession by marrying outside the family in the presence of her father's agnate relation. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) ALLAH WASAYA ZOHRAN. 5 Lah. 535.

———Succession—Jats—Sisters—Collaterals. 1924 Lah. 232.

———Succession—Joshi Brahmins of Hoshiarpur—Daughters. MT. BAL KAUR v. MT. DEOKI. 75 I. C. 109 : 6 Lah. L. J. 69.

———Succession—Kalwan Jats—Daughters if exclude collaterals.

According to the custom obtaining among Kalwan Jats of Mauza Wazirpur, Sialkot District, a collateral of the 6th degree does not exclude a daughter in her succession to her father's ancestral property. (Moti Sagar, J.) MT. JIWAN v. WADHAWA. 1924 Lah. 537.

CUSTOM.

———Succession—Makwal Jats of Isan mabar Muzaffargarh District. 1924 Lah. 195.

———Succession—Stepmother—Rights of, as against sons Riwaj-i-am—Burden of—Proof.

On a question of custom as regards succession among Gujars of the Jeelam District the entry in the Riwaj-i-am was to the effect that a step-mother would succeed equally with a son. Held, that the burden lay upon the son to prove that this was not the custom and that he had not discharged the onus. It lies upon the plaintiff to dislodge the presumption arising in favour of such a custom by citing instances to the contrary. (Abdul Raof and Moti Sagar, JJ.) MAULA BUX v. MT. TILLO. 5 Lah. 274 : 1924 Lah. 556.

———(Punjab)—Succession—Kassabs of Dera Baba Nanak in Gurdaspur District—Adoption.

Kassabs of Dera Baba Nanak in Gurdaspur District follow Mahomedan Law and not custom in matters of succession, and no custom of adoption is recognised in the Kassab tribe. (Martineau and Campbell, JJ.) BARKAT ALI KHAN v. MUSSAMMAT KARAM BIBI. 1923 Lah. 228.

———(Punjab)—Succession—Pagwand and Chandwand—Partitioned estate follows its own system of law.

When a separate entity created by division or partition, comes into being, the full range of the succession to that entity is determined by whatever system is in fact proved to be in operation in that simple family. But where partition was a definite, an accomplished and a long recognised fact, it cannot be ignored. And accordingly the ambit of that system is confined to searching for the full-blood and half-blood within the divided and separated area. In that search it is not permissible to undo the distribution and search for the collaterals as if under the succession to the owner of the undivided property. That the portion allotted to a group should belong as an entirety to the members, who, for the time being, form or represent the group until the group is extinct, is no departure from the ordinary rule as to the devolution of shares. As to the re-distribution of the portion, and devolution of the shares into which the portion is re-distributed among the members of a group, that is a matter which concerns them alone, until the group is extinct, exactly as in the case of the share of an individual and his descendants qua other sharers and their descendants. On this view, there is not really, at any time, a competition between half-blood and whole-blood, for the sons have been separated once for all, at the original distribution, into several groups, such that all members of each are related inter se by the whole blood, and so far, each group resembles a single family. It is quite intelligible that when by reason of matters subsequent to a pagwand distribution the sons of several wives have arrived at a condition not distinguishable from the result of a chandawand distribution among groups of sons, the same customary rule should apply in cases of collateral succession, as applies when there has been a chundawand distribution. But the basis of the preference of the whole blood, when it exists in such a case, clearly is the association of the uterine brothers into distinct groups, the pagwand distribution notwithstanding. (Lord Shaw) NABI BAKSH v. AHMAD KHAN. 1924 M. W. N. 425 :

CUSTOM.

34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 106 : 5 Lah. 278 :
20 L. W. 599 : 80 I. C. 158 : 1924 P. C. 117.

— — — Succession—Rajputs of — Rohtak District—Self-acquisitions. 1924 Lah. 93.

— — — Succession—Sister—Khattars of Attock District. MT. CHANNI BIBI v. AHMAD KHAN. 1924 Lah. 265.

— — — Village sites—Development into town—Proprietorship.

Where a village has developed into a town, the ownership of sites is in the person who possesses the house on the site. In considering whether the village has become a town, the fact that it has been administratively included within the limits of a Municipality though not conclusive is strong evidence showing an alteration in its character. (Pipon, J. C.) ALI KHAN v. MALIK MAIDAN. 78 I. C. 552.

— — — Wajib-ul-arz—Entries in—Value of—Inheritance—Family custom—One single instance contra—Effect.

To prove a custom excluding daughters from inheritance, an entry in the wajib-ul-arz, entries in the Khowat going back to four generations and an unbroken series of instances in the family in question were proved, but there was one instance to the contrary. Held the custom had been proved. (Pullan, A. J. C.) MAJID HUSAIN v. MT. SAFDARI BEGAM. 81 I. C. 1033 : 1925 Oudh 55.

— — — Widow—Alienation—Suit to contest—Who can maintain.

Under the customary law a remote reversioner can sue challenging an alienation by a limited owner when the immediate reversioners are also holders of life estates. (Le Rossignol, J.) JAWAHARA v. DATTA RAM. 79 I. C. 497 : 1925 Lah. 156.

— — — Widow—Alienation—Consent of some reversioners—Effect.

Where some reversioners consent to an alienation by a widow, it does not bar the other reversioners from suing to set aside the same. Such consent does not in any way increase her ordinary powers of alienation. (Pipon, J. C.) ZABTA KHAN v. SAID HABIB. 75 I. C. 246.

— — — Widow by remarriage in the same family does not forfeit her rights in deceased husband's estate—Hindu Widows Remarriage Act applies to Sikh Jats in the Punjab.

Among the Sikh Jats in the Punjab a widow does not forfeit her life-estate in her deceased husband's property by reason of her remarriage in Rarewa form with her husband's brother whether he be the sole surviving brother or there are other brothers as well of the deceased. The custom would appear to be founded on the just and equitable notion that by the marriage with the deceased husband's brother a widow still continues to be a member of the same family. She is considered to have done the right and proper thing in a community where the notion of polyandry prevails and the widow is theoretically recognised not only as the wife of her deceased husband but as the wife of all his brothers (86 P. R. 1901, Ref.) Widow marriage was recognised by custom in the Jat community before Act XV of 1856 (Hindu Widows Remarriage Act) and the custom was also prevalent in this community before this Act that the widow by marrying the brother of her deceased husband did not forfeit her right to the estate she inherited from the latter and the provisions of Act XV of 1856 could not be taken to override this custom, by virtue of S. 7 of the Act IV of 1872 (Punjab Laws Act). (Kennedy J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) SANT SINGH v. RARIBAI. 1924 Sindh 17 :

DAMAGES.

— — — Will—Kahuts of Korchasham—Bequest to daughter.

Ancestral land cannot be bequeathed to a daughter while there are sons existing among the Kahuts of monya Korchasham in the Jhelum District. (Martineau and Moti Sagor, J.J.) GHULAM HUSSAIN v. NUR. 76 I. C. 123 : 1925 Lah. 71.

— — — Widow — Power of alienation. MT. DURGO v. PREM SINGH. 1924 Lah. 196 (2).

DAMAGES — Breach of contract—Illegality of contract—Damages and return of earnest money — Claiming the latter alone in appeal, when a fresh suit would be time barred.

In a suit for damages, for breach of contract, and return of earnest money the trial court dismissed the plf.'s claim on the ground of illegality, and the plaintiff, without amending the plaint for return of deposit money in the trial court, raised it for the first time in appeal, when a fresh suit for the same would have been time-barred. Held, relying on, Janardhan K. Gore Lal v. Shib Pershad Ram (43 Cal. 95) that a claim in appeal inconsistent with the relief asked for in the plaint, when a fresh suit for the new claim would be time barred on the day when it was made, should not be allowed to be amended, (2) where an executory contract is made for an illegal sale of goods, and if the contract remains unperformed, it is open to a party to repudiate the illegal contract and to recover any moneys deposited thereunder. T. P. Petherperumal Chetty v. R. Muniandy Servai, 4 L.B.R. 266; 35 Cal. 551, folld. (Levtaigne and Carr, J.J.) HIRJEE DEVRAJ & Co. v. MAUNG NUYN SHEIN.

2 Rang. 414 : 1925 Rang. 49.

— — — Contract, breach of.

Where vendor reasonably fixed the final date by which the vendee was required to complete the sale he can claim the market rate on that date and not on any later date. (Fawcett, J.) SHAM-SUDDIN TAJBHAI v. DAYABHAI MAGANLAL.

48 Bom. 368 : 26 Bom. L. R. 105 :
1924 Bom. 367

— — — Contract—Breach—Termination of contract.

A party to a contract cannot put an end to it simply by committing a breach of it. (Lord Atkinson.) SRI RAJA VATSAVAYA VENKATA SUBHADRAYANMA v. SRI POOSAPATI VENKATAPATHI RAJU. 20 L. W. 298 : 26 Bom. L.R. 786; 80 I.C. 807; (1924) M.W.N. 607; 35 M. L. T. 210 : L. R. 5 P. C. 147 : 26 C. W. N. 57 : 47 M. L. J. 93 (P. C.

DAMAGES.

———Contract of marriage—Breach—Measure of damages—Costs.

The defendant agreed to give his daughter, in marriage to the second plaintiff, the brother of the first plaintiff, but eventually got her married to a third person. In an action for damages for breach of promise of marriage, held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to recover money actually thrown away and also damages to credit and reputation by reason of the refusal.

7 H. C. R. 122, followed. 39 Bom. 682, 714 not followed.

Where the Court finds that the plaintiffs have grossly and intentionally exaggerated their claim for damages and decrees only a small portion of the claim, the defendants are liable to pay only a proportionate share of the Court-fees paid by plaintiffs. (Schwabe, C. J.) KANDASWAMI NAIDU v. KANNIAH NAIDU.

(1924) M. W. N. 373 : 20 L. W. 60 : 78 I. C. 573 : 1924 Mad. 692 : 46 M. L. J. 366.

———Contract of marriage—Breach—Minor—Contract made by parents—Suit by minor for damages, maintainable. See CONTRACT ACT, S. 11. 26 Bom. L. R. 1035.

———Contract for sale of goods—Breach by buyer—Measure of damages—Delay in resale—Fall of market—Loss if recoverable. See CONTRACT ACT, S. 73. 26 Bom. L. R. 921.

———Divorce—Wife's adultery—Liability of co-respondent—Measure of damages—Practice.

In a husband's suit for divorce on the ground of the wife's adultery with the co-respondent, the Court can, if the adultery is proved, award damages against the co-respondent. But the damages in divorce are not punitive. The means of the co-respondent are an irrelevant consideration except in so far as they were of assistance to him in seducing the wife. It is not the intention that a man should make a profit out of the dishonour of his wife. The only question is what the petitioner had lost in his wife.

When damages have been assessed, in the absence of an order to the contrary, they must be brought into Court and dealt with according to the well established principles. The sum may be ordered to be paid out to the plaintiff, but this is an exceptional course. The money may also be settled on the wife or her children. (Schwabe, C.J., Coultis Trotter and Ramesam, JJ.) JAMES RALPH FREER v. JOHNSON.

19 L. W. 374 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 163 : 78 I. C. 120 : 1924 Mad. 446 : 46 M. L. J. 282.

———Foreign currency—Decree in Indian coinage—Date of conversion. See FOREIGN EXCHANGE. 51 Cal. 320.

———Husband and wife—Adultery of wife—Excommunication by caste—Re-admission—Action against seducer.

A wife committed adultery, for which she was excommunicated. Her husband lived with her even after that and so he too was excommunicated and had to spend money for getting re-admitted to caste. He then sued the seducer for damages for the loss suffered by him as well as for injury to reputation and feelings. Held, he was entitled to maintain the suit. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) GOKUL TELI v. BANIA CHAMAR.

DAMAGES.

1924 Nag. 157.

———Suit for—Loss of goods from a wagon—Wagon sealed but not locked—Wilful neglect on the part of Railway Company.

Where a Railway Company sealed the wagon carrying goods on one side but the seal was found broken and it did not appear how the property disappeared,

Held, that the putting of seal only and not of a lock did not amount to wilful neglect on the part of the Railway Company. (Dalal, J. C.) FIRM OF BHOGI RAM BAHADUR RAM v. B. N. W. RY.

1 O. W. N. 766.

———Malicious prosecution—Malice—Proof of—Indirect motive—Advantage in civil dispute—Advice of Counsel—Effect of—Quantum of damages—Interference on appeal. See MALICIOUS PROSECUTION. 46 M. L. J. 352.

———Negligence—Dry cleaning of dress—Liability of person taking goods.

Where a washerman receives a costly dress for dry cleaning and returns it in a torn condition caused by the use of sulphuric acid, Held, that there was evidence of negligence and the washerman was liable in damages. A clause in the contract to the effect that the property would not be claimed if it got torn during the cleaning was held not to safeguard the defendant against any tearing due to negligent or deliberately improper treatment. (Lentaigne, J.) HOLLANDIA PINMEN v. OPPENHEIMER.

3 Bur. L. J. 203 : 1924 Rang 356.

———Railway—Injury to person and property—Negligence—Criminal acts of strangers.

Although a Railway Company does not insure the safety of persons whom it undertakes to carry, the duty which it owes to such persons is of a highly onerous nature. For a Railway Company must needs take all such steps as skill, prudence and foresight can devise to keep passengers free from personal injury while travelling on its system. It must take care that its employees are honest and efficient and that the material equipment of the line is of proper quality, and, so far as a skilful mechanic can detect, in good working order. If a Railway Company neglects to take such steps, or to provide the best available apparatus to secure the safety of persons whom it has agreed to carry, it fails to fulfil the obligation which is imposed upon it by the law, and becomes liable to compensate passengers travelling on its system in respect of any personal injury which they may suffer by reason of such neglect. A Railway Company is under an obligation not only to protect passengers from dangers of which the Railway Company is aware, but also to take steps to forestall the risk of personal injury from any other cause to which it ought to anticipate that passengers may be exposed. The precautions taken must be commensurate with the anticipated risk, and exceptional measures may be necessary to obviate abnormal dangers. In considering whether or not in any particular case a Railway Company has exercised due care to preserve its passengers from personal injury, one must endeavour to view the circumstances prevailing at or shortly before the accident in their true perspective. It is easy enough to be wise after the event. Subsequent investigation, specially if conducted by skilful persons, may bring to light a number of untoward incidents which, coupled with the fact that the disaster took place, may tend to the conclusion that special precautions ought to have been taken to prevent its occurrence. But the question to be determined is whether the same inference ought to have been drawn before the accident occurred by the Railway Company having regard to the information which was then at its disposal. (Page, J.) JEWAN RAM KHETTRY v. E. I. Ry. Co. 51 Cal 861 : 1925 Cal. 108.

DAMAGES.

— Wrongful attachment—Trespass to goods—Malice—Reasonable and probable cause—Right to damages.

A judgment-creditor who attaches property which does not belong to his judgment-debtor but to a third person, commits a trespass for which he is responsible in damages, even though he may have acted without malice and mistakenly. 8 B. H. C. R. 177 : 3 Beng R. 413, Ref. 32 M. 170 : 35 M. 598 : 45 M. 227, Ref. (Beasley, J.) K. A. ASSAN MAHOMED v. KADERSA ROWTHER. 2 Rang. 181 : 1924 Rang. 302.

DECREE—Construction—Compromise decree—Execution.

In a suit on a mortgage a compromise decree was made by which the decree-holders were entitled to receive from the judgment-debtor Rs. 4,000 on account of principal and Rs. 400 on account of costs. The aggregate sum of Rs. 4,400 must be paid by annual instalments which were specified in the schedule. The decree then proceeded as follows:—"The defendants will pay to the plaintiffs Rs. 4,400 on account of the claim and costs as per instalments mentioned below. If default is made in payment of any one instalment, the plaintiffs will then be entitled to realise the whole amount due for all instalments at one and the same time by taking out execution. The properties mortgaged shall remain charged under the mortgage until the amount due for the 1st instalment has been paid." Nothing was paid under the decree. The decree-holder applied for an order absolute and the judgment-debtor contended that the remedy of the decree-holder was not by execution but by way of a regular suit to enforce the consent decree. Held, that the decree in question was not a money-decree but a mortgage-decree which could be executed against the mortgaged property without a fresh suit. When a consent decree has been made, as was made in this case, before execution is taken out, an order absolute should be obtained by the decree-holder on notice, so as to allow the judgment-debtor an opportunity to show cause, if possible, why the decree should not be made final. 34 C. 886 : 43 B. 631, Fol. 35 C. 61 : 24 C. L. J. 523, ref. (Mookerjee and Newbold, JJ.) KASHI CHANDRA CHAKRAVARTHI v. PRIYANATH BAKSHI. 28 C. W. N. 550 : 1924 Cal. 645.

— Construction—Father's debt—Decree against son—Nature of—Personal liability.

DECREE.

A compromise decree was passed against a son on a debt due by his deceased father. In execution the decree-holder sought to proceed against the properties of the son. Held, the decree was merely against the estate of the father represented by the son and execution could proceed against that alone. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) KUNWAR JANG BAHADUR v. LALA GUR PRASAD. 80 I. C. 600 : 1925 Oudh 113.

— Construction—Compromise decree—Provision for sale of property—Whether a preliminary decree—Executability.

Under a compromise decree in a suit on a mortgage it was agreed that the defendant was to pay a certain sum to the plaintiff by a certain date and in default the plaintiff was to recover the said sum and interest by selling the property mortgaged and other properties as well. Default having been made plaintiff sought to execute the decree and the defendant pleaded that the decree was a preliminary decree and was inexecutable without a final decree. Held, that the decree was a compromise decree and was executable without a final decree being passed. 27 C. W. N. 621, Fol. (Schwabe, C.J. and Waller, J.) SIVA SUBRAMANIAM PILLAI v. RUKKUMUTHU MOOPPAN.

19 L. W. 502 : (1924) M. W. N. 454 : 79 I. C. 418 : 1924 Mad. 645.

— Construction—Mistake discovered in execution—Duty of Court.

A suit for dower debt was brought by a widow against certain heirs of her husband but the plaintiff did not state the exact shares in which defendants were liable. But there was no dispute as regards the shares of the liability and the Court granted the relief as prayed for. In execution it was objected that the decree had made each defendant liable for the amount. Held, that the Court was bound to construe the decree in the light of the admitted fact that both parties were fighting over a dower decree and that the defendants were not jointly and severally liable. (Walsh, C. J. and Ryves, J.) MAHOMED ASHIQ ALI v. MT. HAJRA BIBI. L. R. 5 A. 467 : 82 I. C. 627 : 1924 All. 690.

— Construction—Decree clear and unambiguous—Courts if can go behind—Judgment, etc.

When a decree to be construed is clear and unambiguous it is not competent to the Court to go behind the decree and refer to the judgment or to any surrounding circumstances. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) KOKAN v. SOHAN.

1924 Lah. 696.

— Construction—Mortgage suit—Compromise decree—No personal liability—Payment in instalment—If only declaratory.

In a suit on a mortgage a compromise decree was passed according to which the money was to be paid in instalments, a charge being retained over the hypotheca, but it expressly excluded personal liability. Held, it was not a mere declaratory decree, but a final decree which could be executed if the instalment was not paid. (Raymond and Madgockar, A. J. C.) MURAD v. DAYARAM. 78 I. C. 49 : 1926 Sindh 156.

DECREE.

—Construction—Provision for payment within specified time—Payment into Court by a third person—If legal and proper—Benefit of deposit.

In 1907, the widow of a deceased Hindu for herself and as guardian of her son Banemiya and her daughter Putlabai sold his land to one Poonamchand who in 1911 resold it to the appellant Banemiya and Putlabai subsequently in 1914 instituted a suit to set aside the sale, and the Court decreed in 1918, that upon their paying into Court within 6 months, a certain sum of money they should get possession of their shares in the property in partition, but that if they failed to pay, the suit was to stand dismissed with costs. Prior to that in 1915, one Dattatraya had obtained a mortgage from Banemiya and he paid the decretal amount into Court 4 days before the expiration of 6 months to save the suit from being dismissed. In the meantime Banemiya had sold the remaining interest in the property to the respondent. On 4th October 1918, Dattatraya's mortgage having been discharged, he applied to the Court to withdraw the deposit. The respondent opposed the application and claimed payment of it out himself. The Subordinate Judge allowed Dattatraya's application. The High Court at Bombay on appeal set aside this order holding that when this deposit money was produced by Dattatraya, it was paid in to the credit of the proceedings, and could only be dealt with on an application in the regular course by one of the parties and that the respondent was a person in whose favour the plaintiffs in the suit had created a legal interest entitling him to apply to benefit by the deposit.

Held, by the Privy Council affirming the judgment of the High Court, that (1) the mortgagee, having acquired the rights of the mortgagors in the mortgaged property had an absolute right for the protection of his security to make the deposit in Court under the decree; (2) the benefit of such deposit enured to all parties having an interest in the performance of the condition imposed by the decree. (Lord Salvesen.) MAHOMED RAHIMTULLA HAJEE JOOSAB v. ESMAIL ALLARAKHIA.

26 Bom. L. R. 549 : L. R. 5 P. C. 105 :

(1924) M. W. N. 422 : 34 M. L. T. 99 :

48 Bom. 404 : 80 I. C. 411 : 1 O. W. N. 313 :

10 O. and A. L. R. 753 : 1924 P. C. 133 :

46 M. L. J. 567 (P. C.).

—Construction—Reciprocal reliefs.

77 I. C. 776.

—Construction—Time for depositing decree amount—Last day a holiday—Deposit on next day.

Where the last day allowed to the plff. for depositing the price in a pre-emption suit expired on a holiday, the plff. complies with the decree by depositing the amount on the next Court day. 41 A. 47 overruled. 3 A. 850; 18 C. 631, Foll. (Piggott Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MAHOMED JAN v. SHIAM LAL.

22 A. L. J. 110 : 46 A. 328 : L. R. 5 A. 88 : 78 I. C. 1014 : 1924 All. 218 —Effect of—Decree not put into execution—Lapse of time—Declaration.

1924 Pat. 165.

—Execution—Assets of deceased in the hands of defendants.

DECREE.

Where the sale by the widow in favour of the vendor was set aside at the instance of the rever-sioner, the decree in a suit for return of purchase money by the vendee having been passed against such assets of the deceased vendor as had come into the hands of his representatives (defendants), if an attempt is made to execute the decree against inalienable property the defendant will be at liberty to object to such execution. (Stuart, J.) KALI DIN v. MADHO. 1923 All. 169.

—Execution.

77 I. C. 167.

—Execution—Executability of agreement embodied in decree outside the scope of the suit—Power of Court to enforce decree as a whole—C. P. Code, S. 151.

In a suit for specific performance of a contract of sale with regard to a certain share in a village, a compromise was entered into under the terms of which the plaintiff was to purchase not only the share sued for but also another share not forming the subject-matter of the suit. A decree was passed on foot of the compromise, the decree-holder, in execution sought to enforce only a portion of the decree which related to the sale of one share but the Court below refused to execute the decree partially.

Held, that the compromise must be read as a whole and one portion could not be separated from the other and each part of the agreement was to be treated as consideration for the other. Consequently the order of the lower Court was correct.

Apart from all considerations of law and equity there is the inherent power of the Court under Section 151 of the Code of Civil Procedure to prevent the abuse of the process of the Court. By acting as the decree-holder desires the Court to act, the Court should be doing injustice and allowing the decree-holder to take advantage of a certain portion of the decree through the process of the Court and thereby to do damage to the judgment-debtor. If the decree-holder desired to execute the decree he must get both the sale deeds executed under the conditions and by making payments as laid down in the decree. (Dalal, J. C. and Neave, A.J.C.) MAHOMED YASIN ALI KHAN v. ALI BAHADUR.

10 O. L. J. 443.

79 I. C. 685 : 1924 Oudh 230.

—Execution—Who can execute.

After decree it is open to any party to a suit to whose interest it is that further proceedings be taken, to initiate the supplementary proceedings but in the ordinary case it is the plaintiff who moves (Lord Phillimore.) LACHMI NARAYAN MARWARI v. BALMAKUND MARWARI.

20 L. W. 491 : 35 M. L. T. (P.C.) 143 :

L. R. 5 P. C. 171 : 26 Bom. L. R. 1129 :

22 A. L. J. 990 : 5 Pat. L. T. 623 :

40 C. L. J. 439 : 1 O. W. N. 629 :

10 O. & A. L. R. 1033 : 51 I. A. 321 :

81 I. C. 747 : 1924 P. C. 198 :

47 M. L. J. 441.

—Joint possession under—Disturbance of—Remedy.

Where joint possession awarded under a decree is disturbed, the aggrieved party can maintain a suit for its restoration. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) JUGAN v. AMANSINGH.

1924 Nag. 345.

DECREE.

— Re-construction of—Nature of evidence to be let in.

Where a decree has been burnt, and the decree-holder wants to execute it, he must prove the contents of the decree which can be only by means of secondary evidence. Statements of persons who merely heard judgment pronounced are not admissible in evidence. What is required is an oral account of the contents of the judgment or decree by some one who had read the one or the other. (Maccoll, A.J.C.) MAUNG CHIT U. v. MAUNG THA U. 77 I. C. 258.

— Setting aside—Decree without jurisdiction—Pecuniary jurisdiction exceeded—Effect of.

When a suit is filed in a civil court the pecuniary jurisdiction of the court is primarily determined by the valuation which the plaintiff puts upon the subject-matter of the suit. Of course it is open to a deft. when he appears to answer the suit, to raise the plea that the suit has not been properly valued and to show, if he can, that the court in which the suit has been brought has no jurisdiction to try it. But if no such plea is taken by a defendant when he has had the opportunity of raising it, it cannot be said that the court has acted without jurisdiction. Consequently where without objection to the pecuniary jurisdiction by the parties a court has tried and decided a suit, it is not open to one of the parties to subsequently sue to set aside the decree on the ground of want of jurisdiction. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) KHUDAJATUL KUBRA v. AMINA KHATUN. 46 A. 250 : L.R. 5 A. 142 : 22 A. L.J. 122; 80 I. C. 413 : 1924 A. 388.

— Setting aside—Consent decree—Effect of order setting aside.

Where a consent decree passed in a suit was set aside by a subsequent suit on the ground of fraud, the parties are remitted to their original rights and the court is bound to proceed with the hearing of the original suit. (Das and Ross, JJ.) ASHARFI LAL MAHTA v. SURAJMAYA MISHRAIN. 1924 P. H. C. C. 258 : 82 I. C. 181 : 1924 P. 758 (1).

— Setting aside—Ex parte—Suppression of summons—Incomplete statement in plaint.

76 I. C. 767 (2).

— Setting aside—Fraud—Decree obtained by insolvent concealing adjudication—Remedy by suit.

Where an insolvent after his adjudication obtains a decree on a debt concealing the fact of his insolvency and adjudication, the decree is liable to be vacated in a subsequent suit for the purpose. (Macleod, C. J.) ANDREW ROZARIO v. MAHOMED IBRAHIM. 26 Bom. L. R. 695 : 1924 Bom. 460.

— Setting aside—Fraud—Suppression of evidence—False claim. 1924 Cal. 395.

— Setting aside—Fraud—Nature of. MUTHAN v. BABU MOHENDRA NATH SINGH. 1924 Rang. 119.

— Setting aside—Fraud—Non-service of summons. 5 Pat. L. T. 66.

DEED.

— Setting aside—Grounds for—Perjury.

1924 Bom. 100.

— Setting aside—inconsistent relief.

75 I. C. 165.

— Setting aside—Minor—Negligence of guardian—Omission to defend—App al.

Mere failure on the part of a guardian-ad-litem of a minor to defend a suit or to appeal against the decree passed against a minor is not of itself a sufficient ground for holding that there was gross negligence on his part. If the plaintiff has a good case against the minor, there is no reason why the guardian-ad-litem should incur additional expense in defending the suit. It would be gross negligence not to defend the suit if there was any valid ground of defence available to the minor. (Scott-Smith, A. C. J.) NAMAH SINGH v. GURBAKSH SINGH. 6 Lah. L. J. 346.

— Setting aside—Minor—Negligence of guardian—Non-production of material document.

Mere non-production by a guardian of a minor of a document and the omission to file it in evidence in the prior suit does not justify the Court in setting aside the decree passed in the prior suit in a fresh suit instituted for the purpose by the minor. (Devadoss, J.) THUMALAPALLI ANJANEYULU v. P. CHINA SUBBIAH.

(1924) M. W. N. 758 : 82 I. C. 952 :

20 L. W. 529 : 1924 Mad. 860.

— Setting aside decree—Non-service of summons. 75 I. C. 343 (2) : 5 Pat. L. T. 37.

DECEASED BROTHER'S WIDOW'S REMARRIAGE ACT (1921) 1 EDW. 7 C. 47—Deceased Wife's Sister's Marriage Act, 1907—Marriage with deceased brother's widow before the Act—Act if retrospective—Rejection of application for letters of administration—Fresh application.

The applicant for letters of administration, an English Lady, had married after the death of her first husband, his brother and on the death of the latter applied for letters of administration of his estate. The marriage being illegal under the then existing state of the English Law, letters were refused. Subsequently the Deceased Brother's Widow's Marriage Act was passed in 1921 and the lady again applied for letters of administration. Held, that the Deceased Brother's Marriage Act, 1921, was retrospective in effect so far as it declared that in English law the marriage between a man and his deceased brother's widow whenever and wherever they took place, should not be regarded as illegal simply on the ground of affinity and that as the legal status of the applicant had completely altered, she was entitled to apply for letters of administration. (Bucknill, J.) ADELAIDE CHRISTIANA LISH v. LISH.

1924 P. H. C. C. 138 : 2 Pat. L. R. 125 : 1924 P. 624.

DEED—Construction—Assignment or fresh mortgage—Stamp duty—Liability for.

In determining whether an instrument is liable to duty as a transfer only or the full duty of a mortgage, the Court will look at the substance of the transaction and not merely at the form of the instrument. But it may be taken as a general rule that the introduction of a new proviso for the redemption in the assignment of a mortgage is not by itself sufficient to constitute a new mortgage. In the absence however, of a statutory provision like that embodied in S. 27 of the Conveyancing Act, 1881, which prescribes the forms of statutory transfer of mortgage, there is no reason why a document should not be of a mixed character, namely, a transfer of a mortgage as also a new mortgage. (Mookerjee and Rankin, J.J.) BANK OF BENGAL v. WILLIAM ARRATOON LUCAS. 51 Cal. 185: 28 C. W. N. 497: 81 I. C. 471: 1924 Cal. 578.

DEED.

———Construction—Benefit to party.

In considering whether a particular interpretation is beneficial or not to a party, circumstances not appearing on the face of the deed may be taken into account. (Lord Blanesburgh.) MA SA BON v. MA GA TWE 20 L. W. 884: 1924 P. C. 233.

———Construction—Boundaries and area—Conflict between—Land found to be of less area. NARAIN DAS v. JAWAHIR SINGH. 1924 Lah. 714.

———Construction—Charge—Creation of Allowance in perpetuity—Zamindari property.

A Zamindar sold his Zamindari property in 1864 and after the sale was completed the vendee agreed out of his own free will and consent to pay Rs. 48 per annum to the vendor and his descendants. The vendor and his descendants were to perform the village work. The annuity was to continue so long as there were descendants of the vendor in existence and the vendee was bound to pay the sum till then. In the Khewat of 1867 the allowance was entered as nankar. Held, that on the plain construction of the document no charge had been created on the properties sold and the court is not bound by a contemporaneous but incorrect construction. (Ashtworth, A. J. C.) CHHOTAN LAL v. IQBAL NARAIN. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1203.

———Construction—Circumstances.

Surrounding circumstances such as are clearly required to show in what manner the language of the documents was related to existing facts are to be taken into consideration. Foll. 27 I. A. 58. (Lord Blanesburgh.) RAJA BAHADUR NARASINGERI GAJANA GERJI v. RAJA PANUGANTI PARTHASARATHI ROYANIM GARU.

20 L. W. 701: 1 O. W. N. 684: 51 I. A. 305: 10 O. & A. L. R. 1172: 82 I. C. 993:

40 C. L. J. 481: 27 Bom. L. R. 4:

47 Mad. 729: 47 M. L. J. 809: 1924 P. C. 226.

———Construction—Surrounding circumstances—Evidence of—When relevant.

In the construction of written or printed documents, it is legitimate in order to ascertain their meaning, if that be doubtful, to have regard to the circumstances surrounding their creation and the subject-matter to which it was designed and intended they should apply. (Lord Atkinson.) SRI RAJA VATSAVAYA VENKATA SUBHADRAYAMMA v. SRI POOSAPATHI VENKATAPATHI RAJU.

20 L. W. 298: 26 Bom. L. R. 786:

(1924) M. W. N. 607: 35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 210:

L. R. 5 P. C. 147: 29 C. W. N. 57:

80 I. C. 807: 1924 P. C. 162:

47 M. L. J. 93 (P. C.).

DEED.

———Construction—Conflict between area and boundaries. 1924 P. 226.

———Construction—Description of property—Conflicting description. 1924 P. 200.

———Construction—Rule of. 1924 Lah. 196 (2).

———Constructions—Conduct of parties relevant to explain a deed capable of several meanings.

The conduct of the parties to a contract reduced into writing may not vary or alter it, but their conduct may help to explain or elucidate a contract open to different meanings. (Mr. Ameer Ali) MA THAUNG v. MA THAN. 51 Cal. 374: 19 L. W. 477: 51 I. A. 1: 3 Bur. L. J. 333: 80 I. C. 1031: 1924 P. C. 88: 46 M. L. J. 618.

———Construction—Fixed rent. 76 I. C. 324.

———Construction of—General words following specific words—Ejusdem generis—Applicability of doctrine.

The doctrine of ejusdem generis applies where there is specific mention of a distinct category followed by general words in mercantile documents. (Rutledge, J.) A. V. JOSEPH, In re.

2 Rang. 272: 3 Bur. L. J. 265: 82 I. C. 702: 1924 R. 348.

———Construction—Gift to adopted son—Failure of adoption—Effect.

A deed of gift stated that to perpetuate the donor's line he was adopting a boy, that he would be clothed with all the rights of a natural son and that the property was given in full ownership to him—Held, the gift was not to him as a persona designata and would fail if the adoption failed. (MacLeod, C. J. and Crump, J.) KALLYANTAI v. SHIVAPPA. 1924 Bom. 516.

———Construction—Gift to adopted son—Adoption invalid—Effect.

6 Lah. L. J. 82: 1924 Lah. 103.

———Construction—Gift or will.

A document which is throughout called a will which begins by reciting that the executant's death was drawing near and that he was weak and unable to go to the Registration Office indicates the intention of a testamentary disposition and the mere recital in one place that during his life, one property was to go to a certain person, does not make it a deed of gift. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) ZUGLAI v. RATAN. 1924 Nag. 236.

———Construction—Gift or will—No disposal of any immediate interest in property. See PROB. AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, S. 3.

46 M. L. J. 288.

———Construction—Gift or will. MT. DURGO v. PREM SINGH. 1924 Lah. 196 (2).

———Construction—Heirs and representatives—Meaning of. 76 I. C. 922: 10 O. L. J. 513.

———Construction—Intention of the parties—Ambiguity.

Where the document is not itself ambiguous the intention of the parties should not be taken into consideration and the mere delivery of a document of title does not constitute a transfer of the right to the property. There are certain well recognised rules relating to the mode of transfer of interest in immovable properties and transfer of such interest can be effected in no other way. (Suhrawardy and Graham, JJ.) PROHLAND CHANDRA DAS v. BISWAS NATH BERA.

DEED.

82 I. C. 411 : 40 C. L. J. 79.

—Construction—Lease—Payments under specified—Whatever else is payable—Principle of ejusdem generis.

Where in a lease deed the payments to be made are specifically dealt with and afterwards a general clause to the effect that whatever else is payable by law is to be paid, the general clause is taken to be referable to the subject matter specifically referred to before. (Suhrawardy and Page, JJ.) SRISH CHANDRA PAL CHOWDHURY v. DEBENDRA NATH SINHA ROY.

79 I. C. 369.

—Construction—Interpretation of similar documents—Value of decisions.

Per Piggott, J.—Any ruling as to the interpretation of a document can only be applied in its entirety to a document absolutely identical in language, and in a case the general circumstances of which are substantially the same. Where these conditions are not satisfied, a party relying upon previous rulings of the court and putting them forward as guides to the correct interpretation of the particular document on which the case under appeal actually turns, can do nothing more than ask the court to take into consideration the general principles which have been applied by other Judges in similar cases and to derive from them whatever assistance it can towards arriving at a correct conclusion. (Piggott, Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) ALKHU RAI v. LACHHMAN UPADHYA.

46 A. 274 : L. R. 5 A. 145 : 22 A. L. J. 137 : 80 I. C. 550 : 1924 All. 324 (F. B.).

—Construction—Lease or sale—Tests of—Right of pre-emption. See PRE-EMPTION.

10 O. L. J. 399.

—Construction—Lease for 11 months at monthly rent—Seven days notice for ejectment fixed—Effect.

Where a lease was given for 11 months at a fixed monthly rent and it was mentioned there that the tenant should quit on seven days' notice it does not become a monthly tenancy. The stipulation for the monthly payment of rent has no effect upon the condition by which the land lord could put an end to the tenancy at any time by means of a week's notice. (Campbell, J.) BURE KHAN v. GHULAM MUHAMMAD.

75 I. C. 1034.

—Construction—Letter of credit—Liability of banker—Object of instrument—Facilitating negotiation and not a guarantee. See BANKER AND CUSTOMER.

51 C. 43.

—Construction—"Malik"—Gift to wife. MR. MAHOMMADI v. KARAM BAKSH.

1924 Lah. 347.

—Construction—Maintenance or Guzara—Right of alienation—Effect.

A maintenance grant is generally construed to be only for the life of the grantee even though there are expressions like "for perpetuity" or "for ever." But when the grantee is expressly given powers of alienation it must be construed to confer an absolute estate. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) TEJA SINGH v. MOTI SINGH.

DEED.

1 O. W. N. 423 : 81 C. 918 : 10 O. & A. R. 1004 : 1925 Oudh 125.

—Construction—Months—How calculated.

When in a vernacular document "months" is used it means not a Lunar month as in English law, but a calendar month. (Baker, J. C.) HARBHAGAT v. NARAYANAN RAO.

1924 Nag. 208.

—Construction—Mortgage by conditional sale referring to earlier one with possession, stipulating that both would be redeemed together—Both should be read together.

Two mortgages were executed on the same property, the latter provided among other things "That just as the mortgaged property is liable for the money due under the mortgage deed, dated the 15th May 1869, similarly the same property is and shall be liable for the money due under this deed; that if I, the executant, pay in one lump sum within five years from to-day in a fallow season in the month of Jeth, the money due under this deed and the mortgage money of the mortgage deed as well as other amounts due, the mortgage property shall be redeemed; otherwise the consideration of this deed and the mortgage money of the deed of mortgage shall be deemed to be the consideration money and this deed shall be deemed to be the sale deed."

Held, that the mortgage deed of the 15th May 1869, and later mortgage deed of the 24th June 1878, must be read together and that the parties intended that the mortgagees should be treated as having held the mortgaged property from the 15th May 1869, as a mortgagee in possession under a mortgage in the form of a mortgage by conditional sale. (Sir John Edge.) MIRZA ABID HUSAIN v. KANIZ FATIMA.

46 A. 269 :

22 A. L. J. 284 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 281 :

34 M. L. T. (P.C.) 78 : 19 L.W. 703 :

29 C. W. N. 214 : 80 I. C. 1019 : (1924) M. W. N. 657 : 27 O. C. 72 : 11 O. L. J. 427 : 1 O. W. N. 33 : 1924 P. C. 102.

—Construction—Mortgage by conditional sale—Further charge—Redemption postponed.

A mortgage by conditional sale was followed by a loan of some more money which was to be included in the mortgage and to be repaid with it. Both were to be paid at the same time and not separately. Held, it was a deed of further charge and was to be consolidated with the mortgage. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) GAYA SINGH v. SURAJBALI SINGH.

1924 All. 332.

—Construction—Mortgage—No provision for payment of interest—Redemption.

1924 Lah. 273.

—Construction—Principles—Clear words of grant—Custom varying—Proof.

Clear and unambiguous terms of a document conferring an absolute and irrevocable right on a grantee can be abandoned or controlled only by clear evidence of custom ancient, invariable, unambiguous and having acquired the force of

DEED.

law. (Jwala Prasad and Macpherson, JJ.)
GOPAL OJHA v. RAMADHAR SINGH.

82 I. C. 204 : 1925 Pat. 228.

———Construction—Property title to which is subject matter of suit—Trust deed in respect of—Management of property, conduct of suit etc., vested in trustee for preservation of the property—borrowing for purposes of suit—Powers of trustee and settlor—Creditor's right to lien on property gained by litigation.

R who was about to institute a suit to establish his title to the absolute interest in a zemindari subject to the life interest in C created by the will of the deceased zemindar, executed a deed of trust by which he appointed V (the original trustee) trustee of all the property in which he R, claimed to have a vested estate in remainder as heir of the deceased Maharajah in trust to administer the fifteen-sixteenths of the same for his, the settlor's benefit, and one-sixteenth of the same for the benefit of respondents 5 and 6. Powers were, by the trust-deed, conferred upon the trustee and upon the settlor respectively. The words conferring them were as follows—"Therefore you (the trustee) should not only manage the trust property subject to the arrangements I may make regarding the consideration for your trouble, etc. and other matters but also full authority is given to you to conduct suits, etc. either jointly with me or separately, and to manage it in such a way as you may think fit for the preservation of the properties." Held on a construction of the deed, that the trustee would have been acting within his express powers if having money of his own at his command he thought proper to advance it or some of it, to finance the contemplated litigation directed to secure and preserve the trust property for the purpose of the trust, by establishing that the settlor was the lawful heir of the deceased Maharajah, and in the event of that suit being successful would have been entitled to a lien on the property gained, for the sum advanced. Held, further that if the trustee not having money of his own available, borrowed money from a third party for the purposes above-mentioned and actually used it to promote these purposes, then, in case the litigation were successful, the person who advanced the money would be entitled to stand towards the trust property in the place of the trustee and be entitled to a similar lien on that property, while if the settlor, with the assent and concurrence of the trustee, borrowed money absolutely necessary to finance the suit from a third party for the purposes above-mentioned and so applied it, then, in the event of the litigation being successful, the person who advanced the money would be equally entitled, standing in the shoes of the settlor to a lien on the property preserved for the trust by his outlay. (Lord Atkinson.) SRI RAJA VATSAVAYA VENKATA SUBHADRAYAMMA v. SRI POOSAPATHI VENKATAPATHI RAJU.

20 L. W. 298 : 26

Bom. L. R. 786 : 35 M. L. T. 210 : 80 I. C. 807 :
L. R. 5 P.C. 147 : 29 C. W. N. 57 :
(1924) M. W. N. 607. 1924 P. C. 162 :
47 M. L. J. 93 (P.C.).

DEED.

———Construction—Recitals in—Evidentiary value.

It is well established that recitals in a deed cannot by themselves be relied upon for the purpose of proving the assertions of fact which they contain. The recital is clear evidence of the representation and if the circumstances are such as to justify a reasonable belief that an enquiry would have confirmed its truth, then when proof of actual enquiry has become impossible, the recital coupled with such circumstances would be sufficient evidence to support the deed. 44 C. 186 at p. 196 referred to. (Kendall and Pallan, A. J. Cs.) MT. RAJ KUNWARI v. MT. RANI MAHRAJ KUNWAR.

82 I. C. 832 : 1 O. W. N. 710.

———Construction—Relation of principal and agent—How created. MURARI PREMJI GOKULDA v. MULJI RANCHHOD KED & Co. 48 Bom. 20:
77 I. C. 266 : 1924 Bom. 232.

———Construction—Reservation—General rule.

If apt words are not used and if reservations are not made then it does not lie in the mouth of the grantor or contend that the grant is not so extensive as on an ordinary interpretation of the words used in the grant, it would seem to be (Ghose and Panton, JJ.) HARIPADA BANDOPADYA v. EQUITABLE COAL CO., LTD. 1923 Cal. 335.

———Construction—Sale of building sites—Intended pathway—Right of vendees.

The owner of a block of vacant land sold a portion thereof as a building site to A. In the conveyance in favour of A the parcel of land sold to him was described as bounded on its southern side by a pathway intended to be set apart by the vendor. Shortly after the sale to A, the vendor conveyed the remainder of the block including the site of the intended pathway to B, who refused to allow A a right of way over his land. Held, that A was entitled to a right of way on B's land along the intended pathway and that neither the vendor nor anybody claiming under him could dispute A's right of way. Espley v. Wilks, (1872) L. R. 7 Ex. 298 relied on. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) KUPPAKKAL v. MATHAN CHETTIAR. 1924 Mad. 834 : 82 I. C. 430:
47 M. L. J. 477.

———Construction—Sale—Discharge of debts binding upon property sold—If and when condition precedent to passing of property—Minor—Sale, in favour of—Validity—Tests—Transfer of Property Act—S. 55 (5) (d)—Buyer's duty under—Basis of—Implied contract.

A sale deed was executed in favour of a minor, one of the terms of the deed being that the vendee's father should discharge certain debts binding upon the property sold. The portion of the deed relating to this point was as follows:—"the debts shall be discharged and the minor may hold and enjoy the undermentioned lands exclusively with power to alienate by way of gift, exchange sale, etc."

DEED.

Held, on a construction of the deed, that the discharge of the debts was not a condition precedent to the vesting of the property in the minor; that even otherwise the discharge of the debts by the vendee himself was a sufficient compliance with the conditions; and that the sale was not void on the ground that it was in favour of a minor.

The minor is not a contracting party. On the other hand, it is his father who undertakes to discharge the encumbrances; the sale cannot therefore be treated as void.

The duty that is incumbent upon the buyer under S. 55 (5) (d) of the Transfer of Property Act is not a duty that arises from an implied contract; it is a statutory obligation imposed on the vendee. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) GANGI AMMAL v. GOVINDA PADAYACHI, (1924) M. W. N. 324 ;

34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 149 ; 19 L. W. 644 ; 1924 Mad. 544 ; 46 M. L. J. 464.

—Construction—Sale or mortgage.

Where a document calls itself a sale deed and under which in lieu of a debt due, land is sold for a period of 50 years, it is in reality a mortgage and can be redeemed even before that period. (B. B. Ghose, J.) DURGA CHARAN MAJI v. PORESH BEWA, 76 I. C. 336 ; 1925 Cal. 105.

—Construction—Sale certificate—Conflict between boundaries and area — Rights of purchaser.

Ordinarily when a piece of land is sold with definite boundaries, unless it is clear from the circumstances surrounding the sale that a smaller extent than what is covered by the boundaries was intended to be sold, the rule of interpretation is that boundaries must prevail as against the measurement. Held, on a construction of the sale certificate in the case, that the whole of the lands within the specified boundaries was meant to be sold notwithstanding an inaccurate statement of the extent. (Krishnan and Waller, J.) SUBBAYA CHAKKILIAN v. MUTHIAH GOUNDAN.

19 L. W. 245 ; (1924) M. W. N. 203 ; 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 315 ; 78 I. C. 414 ; 1924 Mad. 493 ; 46 M. L. J. 182.

—Construction—Sale certificate—Specification of area—Evidence of subsequent conduct.

Where the terms of a grant are ambiguous, evidence of subsequent conduct is admissible to prove the intention of the parties. A char mahal which had been diminished by diluvion was sold at auction by the Collector. The area was notified. Held, that the specification of the area did not limit the rights of the purchaser or prevent him from claiming an accretion to the estate. (N. R. Chatterjee and Chitner, J.) KUMAR SHANKER ROY CHOWDHRY v. SECY. OF STATE FOR INDIA, 40 C. L. J. 322. 29 C. W. N. 166.

—Construction—Security bond—Erroneous acceptance of bond different from what order required—Liability of sureties.

Pending appeal a judgment-debtor was released on sureties being furnished. The surety bond actually bound over the surety to produce him in Court when required and nothing more, the same being due to an oversight. Held, the bond having been accepted by the decree-holder without objection, the surety cannot be proceeded against except to the extent of producing the debtor in court. (Sulaiman, J.) THAKUR MAHIPAL SINGH v. ATHAL SINGH, 30 I. C. 446 ; 1925 A. 5.

DEED.

—Construction—Security bond—Attachment before judgment—Suit dismissed by first Court—Appeal allowed—Right of decree-holder to proceed against security. See C.P. CODE, O 38, R. 5. 47 M. L. J. 523.

—Construction—Title of deed is not conclusive of rights of parties.

The mere fact that the document of title held by the grantees is called a patta, and that they executed a kabuliyat in similar terms is not conclusive of the question of whether they were mere lease-holders, i.e., farmers of revenue or were true proprietors paying a jamabundi to the overlord. (Lord Dunedin.) NAYAK VAJESINGH v. SECY. OF STATE FOR INDIA.

(1924) M. W. N. 694 ; 26 Bom. L. R. 1143 ; 22 A. L. J. 951 ; L. R. 5 P. C. 199 ; 40 C. L. J. 473 ; 82 I. C. 779 ; 48 Bom. 613 ; 51 I. A. 357 ; 21 L. W. 28 ; 1924 P. C. 216 ; 47 M. L. J. 574.

—Construction—Valuation for stamp duty—Weight due to. 75 I. C. 402.

—Construction—"With absolute rights"—Maintenance grant.

In maintenance deeds the words "with absolute rights, etc.," need not be construed in a manner different from the way in which they would be construed if those words occurred in other documents. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) NARAYANASWAMI DEVARAYAR v. THANGAVELU PADAYACHI.

(1924) M. W. N. 571 ; 82 I. C. 67 ; 1924 Mad. 800.

—Construction—Will—Postobit—Revocation. 1924 Bom. 135.

—Construction—Zamindar relinquishing his right to trees of occupancy tenant—Effect of—Successor—Right of.

A Zamindar in consideration of the good work done by his occupancy tenant gave up his interest in the trees planted by the latter and to be planted by him in future and addressed a letter to his estate officers not to interfere with the same. No claim was ever made by the Zamindar or his successors against the tenant for many years. In a suit by a succeeding Zamindar, held the document purported to relinquish all rights in perpetuity and bound his successors also. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) MAHARAJ RAI v. JANKI KUER, 1924 P. 655.

—Material alteration—Bill of exchange or promote—Proof of material alteration—Burden of proof.

An alteration which is not material does not affect the operation of the instrument by whomsoever it is made. Again if an alteration is made with the consent of all parties it does not avoid the instrument which takes effect as altered. In the case of promissory notes and bills of exchange there is no presumption that any alterations notified in them were made before they were executed. A writing which is intended to be under hand only can be altered by erasure, or interlineation or otherwise, before it is signed, but it lies upon the party who puts the instrument in suit to explain the alteration and show when it was made. An alteration in a material part of an instrument under hand made by or with the consent of one party, thereto but without the consent of the other party, makes the instrument void to this extent that the party responsible for the alteration cannot enforce the instrument against a party not responsible. (Kishkato, O. A. J. C.) KANHAYALAL v. SITA RAM.

DEED.

20 N. L. R. 76 :

81 I. C. 647 : 1924 Nag. 250.

—Recitals — Value of — Considerations guiding.

Recitals in deeds cannot by themselves be relied on for the purpose of proving assertions of fact which they contain but when a long period has elapsed between the date of the document and the challenging of it in a court of law, and when all those who could have given evidence on the relevant points have grown old or passed away, a recital consistent with the probabilities and circumstances of a case assumes greater importance and cannot lightly be set aside. (Moti Sagar, J.) TARA CHAND v. RAHMAN SHAH.

1924 Lab. 689.

DEFAMATION—Liability for—Civil and Criminal law—Privilege—Statement made in the course of Judicial proceedings—Qualified privilege—Evidence Act, S. 105.

The liability of the defendant in a civil suit for damages for defamation in respect of statements made by him as witness or accused in a prior judicial proceeding must be determined, in the absence of specific statutory provisions by the rules of justice equity and good conscience, which have been understood to be the rules of the English Common Law. Consequently statements made by the defendant in his application for transfer of a criminal case in which he was accused are absolutely privileged and no action for damages for defamation is maintainable even though the statements were made maliciously. In cases of qualified privilege the burden lies on the defendant in a suit for damages for defamation to prove that the occasion was privileged. S. 105 of the Evidence Act applies only to criminal prosecution for defamation and has no application to a civil suit for damages. (Lontaine and Carr, JJ.) MA MYA SHWE v. MAUNG MAUNG.

2 Rang. 333 : 1925 Rang. 15.

—Police report—False statements in—Qualified privilege—Extent of. See EVIDENCE ACT, S. 125.

22 A. L. J. 597.

—Slander—Privilege—Communication to person in authority—Malice—Presumption—Damages.

Communications addressed in good faith to persons in a public position for the purpose of giving them information to be used for the redress of grievances, the punishment of crime or the security of public morals are privileged, provided the subject-matter is within the competence of the person addressed. Where however it is found that information was given by defendant to a

DEED, s. 3.

Magistrate, that the plff. was in the habit of unlawfully cutting the crops on his neighbour's fields and causing damages to neighbours in various other ways and that the information was false and unfounded. Held, that malice in law should be presumed and that the privilege disappeared. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) BINDESWARI PRASAD TEWARI v. HANUMAN PRASAD TIWARI.

22 A. L. J. 65 : L. R. 5 A. 95 :

79 I. C. 640 : 1924 All. 445.

DECCAN AGRICULTURISTS' RELIEF ACT, S. 2—Agriculturist—Test of—Joint family. MULJI PURUSHOTTAM v. GOVERDHANDAS.

76 I. C. 148.

—S. 2—Agriculturist — Test of—Joint family.

NARAYAN BAPU LAL v. SONU SINGH.

76 I. C. 659.

—S. 2—Agriculturist — Definition of—Limitations.

The definition of "agriculturist" in S. 2 of the Dekhan Agriculturists Relief Act is not limited to the judgment debtor being an agriculturist at the date of the suit or of the decree, but includes any stage of the proceedings. (Kennedy, J. C., Raymond and Bilaram, A.J.Cs.) HIRIOMAL v. HAZARI SINGH.

78 I. C. 583 : 1925 Sind 49.

—(XVII OF 1879), Ss. 2, 10-A and 20—Applicability of—Who is an agriculturist—Transaction entered into before the Act came into force.

Where the Deccan Agriculturists Relief Act is extended to a particular district, S. 10-A of the Act applies to transactions entered into before that date by an agriculturist provided the question arises after the extension of the Act. Where the provisions of Ss. 2 and 20 of the Deccan Agriculturists Relief Act, 1879, are extended to a particular district, a person who by himself or by his servants or by his tenants earns his livelihood wholly or principally by agriculture carried on within the limits of the district or ordinarily engages personally in agricultural labour within those limits is an agriculturist within the meaning of S. 2 of the Act. (Marten, Pratt, Coyajee, Shah and Crump, JJ.) GANPAT CHANDRABHAN v. TULSI RAMCHANDRA.

48 Bom. 214 : 81 I. C. 284 :

26 Bom. L. R. 118 : 1924 Bom. 219.

—S. 3—Agricultural income—Jaghirdar—Income derived from assessment of lands.

The Deccan Agriculturists Relief Act never intended that a Jaghirdar relying entirely upon the income derived from the assessment which would be recovered by the village officers from occupants or tenants, should be considered as an agriculturist earning his livelihood from agriculture within the meaning of the Act. Consequently if a part of his income is derived from assessment that is not agricultural income. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) MUKUNDKRISHNA GOVIND KRISHNA v. MOHANLAL.

26 Bom. L. R. 620 : 1924 Bom. 514.

—Ss. 3 (Y) & (z) & 15 (b)—Consent decree—Execution—Instalment—If can be ordered.

In the case of suits falling under clauses (y) and (z) of S. 3 Deccan Agr. Relief Act, an agriculturist if the decree is a consent decree can apply to the court for an order under S. 15-B to grant instalments in execution not provided for in the decree. But the executing court cannot reduce the actual amount payable or rate of interest fixed. (Kennedy, J. C. and Madgorkar, A. J. C.) SANGATMAL LILAKAM v. JAN MAHOMED.

DEED, S. 3.

79 I. C. 553.

—Ss. 3 (w), 7 & 12—Suit against agriculturists—Plea of status not raised—Ex parte decree—If open to attack in the execution.

When the defendants in a suit fail to set up they are agriculturists and an ex parte decree is passed against them, they cannot in execution raise the plea and challenge the decree. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) LAWRENCE PHILLIPS & CO. v. NAZARETH.

78 I. C. 806 : 1925 S. 86.

—S. 15-B—Instalments—Ex parte decree—Subsequent order for instalments.

Where an ex parte decree has been passed it is open to the defendant to show in execution proceedings that he was an agriculturist at the date of the decree and claim instalments. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) RUDRAPPA SANVIRAPPA v. CHANBASAPPA MALLAPPA.

26 Bom. L. R. 153 :

80 I. C. 162 : 1924 Bom. 305.

—S. 18-D—Suit under—Existence of mortgage in dispute.

A suit for accounts or for redemption under S. 18-D of the Bombay Dekhan Agriculturists Relief Act will not lie where the existence of the mortgage is in dispute between the parties. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) KRISHNAJI SONJI GAWADE v. SADANAD MAHADEV THAKUR.

26 Bom. L. R. 341 : 80 I. C. 763 : 1924 Bom. 417.

—Ss. 57, 61 and 63-A—Document passed by agriculturists—Formalities—Registration—Rules under the Act, Rule 23.

The Kabuliyat in question was passed in 1917 by three agriculturists. It was written and executed before the Sub-Registrar of the place as required by the Deccan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879. It was executed in favour of the plaintiffs who were represented by their vahiavadar before the Sub-Registrar. The vahiavadar alone signed the declaration required by Rule 23 framed under S. 61 of the Act. In a suit on the document, it was objected that the document was not validly registered as the persons in whose favour it was passed did not appear at the time of execution before the sub-registrar. Held, that the document was validly registered. Under S. 57 of the Deccan Agriculturists' Relief Act the persons in question were not all bound to appear before the Sub-Registrar. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) SHRIPATHI LAXMAN v. BALVANTRAO.

26 Bom. L. R. 149 : 80 I. C. 274 :

1924 Bom. 345.

DELAY—Defence to suit for specific performance—Nature of plea—When allowed. See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

82 I. C. 105.

DIVORCE—Adultery of wife—Liability of Co-respondent for damages. See DAMAGES.

46 M. L. J. 282.

—Decree for judicial separation and permanent alimony—Resumption of co-habitation—Effect.

DIVORCE, S. 2.

Where subsequent to a decree for judicial separation and permanent alimony, the parties resume cohabitation, the decree is annulled thereby and does not revive on subsequent separation. (Beasley, J.) ELLEN MA NOO v. WILLIAM PO THIT.

2 Rang. 163 : 1924 Rang. 314.

—Grounds for—Adultery—Proof of unknown respondent—Named Co-respondent—Non-access—Proof of—Domicile in India.

Unless it is shown that the parties to a divorce petition are domiciled in British India, the Indian Divorce Act gives the High Court no jurisdiction to hear the petition. That is an allegation which ought to be contained in every divorce petition. Where there is no evidence of adultery except the submission of the respondent that she had a miscarriage after she had become pregnant by some one other than her husband, a decree for divorce cannot stand.

Per Marten, J. :—Where petition for divorce is founded solely on an allegation of adultery with the co-respondent which was held not proved, the petition must be dismissed. Where a petition for divorce is founded on adultery with some person or persons unknown, the ordinary practice is that leave to dispense with a named co-respondent must first be given by the Court before relief can be granted on such a petition. It is permissible for spouses to deny sexual intercourse when in fact they are living together but the Court will scrutinize that evidence with great care. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) HEWSON v. HEWSON.

26 Bom. L. R. 467 : 1924 Bom. 397.

DIVORCE ACT (IV OF 1869) S. 2—Christianity—Person professing—Meeting—Ex-communication by sect or church to which a Christian belongs—Effect—Hindu Law—Marriage—Dissolution—Conversion of either party to Christianity—Effect—Native Converts Marriage Dissolution Act XXI of 1886. PARKIAM SOLOMON v. CHELLIAH PILLAI.

1924 Mad. 18.

—Ss. 2 and 7—Persons domiciled in England—Power of Indian Courts to grant divorce.

76 I. C. 597.

—Ss. 2, 3, 7 and 10—Divorce—Jurisdiction of Indian Courts—Residence—Domicile—Powers of Indian Legislature—Divorce Act not ultra vires.

The Indian Legislature when enacting the Indian Divorce Act of 1869 conferred jurisdiction on Courts in India to dissolve marriages between persons not domiciled in India but who satisfy the conditions laid down in the Act. Bona fide residence in India confers jurisdiction on Indian Courts in the matter of divorce. The Indian Legislature had power under the Indian Councils Act of 1861 to confer such jurisdiction.

The expression "resides" in S. 2 of the Indian Divorce Act was used in its ordinary sense and was not intended to mean domiciled. "Residence" and not "domicile" is the test of jurisdiction in a suit for divorce under the Indian Divorce Act. Keys v. Keys (1921) P. 204 : 3 C. W. N. 250 : 40 C. 215 : 64 P. R. 1900 : 47 P. R. 1911, Ref. (Shadi Lal, C.J., Scott-Smith, Le Rossignol, Harrison and Fforde, JJ.) LEE v. LEE.

15 Lah. 47, 81 I. C. 686 : 1924 Lah. 513

DIVORCE, S. 7.

—S. 7—Domicile of choice—Residence and intention

A domicile of choice can only be acquired by residence coupled with an intention of permanent or definite residence. Mere residence by itself will not be sufficient. It takes far less to revile a domicile of origin than to acquire a domicile of choice. Where the domicile of the petitioner was English.

Held, the Rangoon High Court had no jurisdiction to grant divorce. (Robinson, C. J., May Oung, and Bursley, JJ.) JONES v. JONES. 1 Rang. 705 : 79 I. C. 719 : 1924 Rang. 193.

—S. 16—Kachin Christian—Apostasy after marriage—Living with Shan woman treating first wife as lesser wife—Cruelty.

A Kachin Christian after marriage apostasized and openly lived with a Shan woman and refused to allow his Christian wife to live in the house except in the capacity of a lesser wife. Held, it amounted in law to cruelty and when coupled with adultery was good ground for divorce. (Young, O. C. J., May Oung and Park, JJ.) NANG MUN v. LABYA NAW. 3 Bur. L. J. 9.

80 I. C. 79 : 1924 Rang. 262.

—S. 17—Divorce—Christians at the time of marriage—Reversion of husband to animism—Cruelty—Taking of second wife—Discretion.

The parties to a divorce proceeding were Kachins and Christians at the time of marriage. They were married according to Christian rites. Subsequently the husband proceeded to live with a Shan woman named Ma Tin. The petitioner (wife) went and stayed with the husband for nine days and the petitioner and Ma Tin quarrelled and the petitioner was assaulted and ill-treated. She however continued to live in the house and finding that she was expected to live as the lesser wife and being unable to bear the indignity, she left the house for good. It was found that there had been desertion by her husband prior to her return to his house.

Held (1), that the prior desertion by the husband had been condoned by her return to his house; that the mere change of religion subsequent to the marriage was not a ground for divorce nor was mere change of religion coupled with adultery; and that the husband must have changed his religion and gone through a form of marriage with some other woman to furnish a ground for divorce. Where the husband refuses to allow his wife except under the orders of his mistress and the wife lives apart, it amounts to desertion by the husband. (Young, O. C. J., May Oung and Carr, JJ.) MAUNG MUN v. LABYA NAW. 2 Rang. 193.

—Ss. 18 and 19—Suit for nullity—Lunacy—Effect of—Proof required.

Where a person wants to have a marriage declared null and void on the ground of lunacy, it is not sufficient for him to prove that he was eccentric or deficient to a certain extent merely in his mental capability but it must be shown his whole mental being was so affected that he was incapable of appreciating not necessarily the nature of the act but its validity. (Kennedy, J. C.) G. E. G. R. v. E. M. R. 79 I. C. 535 : 1925 S. 95.

EASEMENT.

EASEMENT—Abandonment of—Right of way—Non-user—Lapse of time—Presumption.

It is not so much the duration of the cesser as the nature of the act done by the grantee of the easement, or of the adverse act acquiesced in by him and the intention in him which either the one or the other indicates, which are material in considering the question whether or not an easement has been abandoned. The presumption of abandonment cannot be made from the mere non-user. There must be other circumstances in the case to raise that presumption. A mere suspension of the exercise of the right is not sufficient to prove an intention to abandon it. But a long continued suspension may render it necessary for the person claiming the right to show that some indication was given, during the period that he ceased to use the right, of his intention to preserve it. The question of abandonment of a right is one of intention to be decided on the facts of each particular case. It may be taken as settled law that, while mere non-user is not sufficient to amount to abandonment, it is a fact to be taken into consideration with the other facts and circumstances of the case, and it is from all these facts that the Court has to decide whether or not the clear intention to abandon can be inferred, or is indicated. (Robinson, C. J. and Brown, J.) CHRISTOPHER v. J. A. COHEN. 3 Bur. L. J. 297 : 2 Rang. 534 : 1925 Rang. 137.

—Implied grant—Portion of property conveyed—Effect.

Where a portion of a property is sold away to another, the vendee will acquire all those easements over the portion reserved which are necessary for the reasonable enjoyment of the tenement granted. The doctrine of implied grant of easements upon severance of tenements is in accord with justice, equity and good conscience. (Moti Sugar, J.) FAIZ MAHAMMAD v. LATIF.

1924 Lah. 724 (2).

—Light and air—Obstruction—When actionable—Infringement of right—Easement of necessity—Right of way.

In the case of ancient lights the easement which has been acquired is not measured by the quantity of light which was enjoyed during the period of prescription and there can be no infringement of that right unless it is shown that the obstruction is such as would amount to a nuisance.

It often happens that property is so situated that, unless the owner is permitted to make use of his neighbour's land, the property would be unusable and worthless. In cases of this kind the law generally steps in and provides the owner of the otherwise useless property with the easement he wants, because of the necessity he has for it. But it is not in every case in which the property is useless without an easement that the law provides the owner with an easement of necessity, for such easements must arise under an implied grant of the right and if a grant of the easement cannot be implied, no easement of necessity is given by the law; the easement is not supposed to be given by the law, like a natural right, but by the owner of the land wherein it is exercised. Held, that in the case on hand the questions to be considered in determining whether plaintiff had made out a right to an easement of necessity were (1) whether it was absolutely necessary for the plaintiff to enter on the defendant's land to effect repairs to his wall, (2) whether on the date of the sale of the house to the plaintiff his vendors were the owners of the land on which the easement was sought to be imposed. (Plumer, O. C. J. and Ramaswami Aiyangar, J.) RUDRAPPA v. SOMASEKHARIAH.

EASEMENT.

2 Mys. L. J. 226.

——— Natural right—Trees—Damages caused by shade—Liability. 1923 Nag. 69.

——— Novel right—Right to rear fish in another's tank.

The right of one person to rear fish in another's tank seems to be quite a novel right which a Court of law cannot recognize. (Newbould & Ghose, JJ.) CHAND MIA MUNSHI v. TURAKIA.

28 C. W. N. 516.

80 I. C. 805 : 1924 Cal. 667.

——— Obstruction to light and air—Injunction if proper relief.

There can be no doubt that any act by the defendants which results in obstructing the free access of the light and air to which the plaintiff is entitled is prima facie an injury of a serious character for which compensation in money would hardly be an adequate relief. In cases of this nature injunction is the rule and damages the exception. 9 I. C. 417 Foll. (Moti Sagar, J.) JAWAHAR SINGH v. SEWA SINGH.

5 Lah. L. J. 487 : 79 I. C. 572 : 1924 Lah. 97.

——— Origin of—Lost grant—Presumption from long user—Way of necessity—Inconvenience. 1924 Cal. 363.

——— Quasi easements—What are—Joint wall—Right of lateral support.

Where joint property is divided it carries under the law such easements as are necessary for the reasonable use and enjoyment of the premises allotted. One such is the right of support and it is applicable to the case of a partying wall which belongs entirely to one of the owners but is subject to an easement or right in the other to have it maintained as a dividing wall between the two tenements. Nature of quasi easements discussed. (Suhrawardy and Chotsner, JJ.) BHOLA NATH DUTTA v. RADHANATH BISWAS.

51 Cal 789 : 78 I. C. 908 : 1924 Cal. 844.

——— Right of burial on another's land—Not to be recognized.

By prescription a right to bury the dead in land belonging to other persons cannot be acquired. (Martineau, J.) MANGAT RAM v. SIRAJUL HASAN.

6 L. L. J. 130 : 78 I. C. 152 : 1924 Lah. 492.

——— Right to drain water on lower lands. MOKSODALI v. MA HLI.

1924 Rang. 86.

——— Right of way—Prescription—Proof of claim. 1924 Cal. 359 (2).

——— Right of way—Modes of acquisition—Nature of right.

An easement of way must be a definite right of way over the servient tenant. It can be acquired either by prescription by open user for a period of 20 years or independently of the Easements Act by the presumption of a lost grant. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) WASUDEO v. SHANKAR.

EASEMENTS ACT, S. 13.

7 N. L. J. 232.

EASEMENTS ACT, S. 7 (III. i)—Infringement of a natural right, by the occupier on lower level raising bunds to keep out water.

Where two adjoining occupiers erected continuous bunds to keep out flood water, for the protection of their lands, and on account of the neglect of one of them, the other raised a higher bund, to keep out the natural drainage as well as excess water coming through the breach, the party in default sued for an injunction restraining the other from raising the bund, Held, (1) that the plffs. not having caused more than the natural flow of water on the defendant's land, it is proper to direct the defendant to restore his bund to its original level.

(2) The owner of the higher land is entitled to let the water run off into the lower land, by whatever means nature intended, that it should, and his right is infringed by any means which prevent the water so doing which is recognised by Ill. (i) to S. 7 of Indian Easements Act. Banoo Kohamed Husain v. Manssoolal Dowlat Chand. 3 B. L. T. 77 followed. (Lentaigne and Carr, JJ.) MA HLI v. MOKSODALI.

2 Rang. 450 :

3 Bur. L. J. 217 : 1925 Rang. 58.

——— S. 13 (b) — Easement of necessity—Existence of vents—Continuous and non-continuous—Distinction. MORLA GANGULU v. THATA JAGANNADHAM.

76 I. C. 331.

——— Ss. 13 (b) and 19—Scope of—Use of door—Injunction—Right of way.

S. 13 (b) of the Easements Act relates to a continuous easement which a right of way is not, and under S. 19 it is only when the dominant heritage is transferred the easement passes to the transferee. That section has no application where no easement at all existed while the two tenements belonged to the same person before the sale of one of them. The mere fact that the defendant has expressed his willingness to permit the use of the door of his house whenever there was proper occasion, does not justify the court in granting an injunction that the defendant should not prevent the members of his community and other desirable persons occupying the house from using the doorway. (Martineau, J.) GANGA RAM v. SITA RAM.

6 Lah. L. J. 176 : 1924 Lah. 488.

——— S. 13 (b)—Sale of portion of land—Irrigation facilities—Easement of necessity.

Where a portion of land is sold, an easement apparent, continuous and necessary for enjoying the portions severed from the transferor's land will pass to the transferee unless a contrary intention is expressed in the instrument of the transfer. Where the lands sold are wet lands, and prior to the transfer they were irrigated by a channel passing over the lands still remaining with the transferor, unless there is a stipulation to the contrary at the time of the transfer, the transferee is entitled to the same facilities for irrigation that used to be attached before. Where such a right is claimed it is no answer to say that some other irrigation supply may be obtained. 45 M. L. J. 724 foll. (Spencer, O. C. J.) SOURIRAJA NAIDU v. RAJAGOPALAN. 20 L. W. 245 : (1924, M. W. N. 678 : 81 I. C. 833 : 47 M. L. J. 302.

EASEMENTS ACT, S. 13.

———S. 13 (f)—Right of Easement—Rain water and sewage water—Continuous Easement.

The plaintiff claimed an easement in respect of the flow of rain water from his courtyard and sewage water coming from a latrine. It was found that both the rain water and the sewage water joined and then flowed into a masonry drain passing through defendant's house. Held, that the drain was a continuous easement in so far as the flow of the rain water was concerned, no act of man being needed for the purpose. But so far as the flow of water from the latrine went, it required the act of man and to that extent the easement to the flow of such water was not a continuous easement. (Mukerjee, J.) SAJID-UN-NISA BIBI v. HIDAYAT HUSAIN. 22 A. L. J. 425. L. R. 5 A. 291 : 60 I. C. 898 : 1924 All. 7+8.

———S. 15—Government Land—Acquisition of easement—Period.

In order to establish a right of easement over land belonging to Government, a plaintiff must prove user of the kind mentioned in S. 15, Easements Act for a period of at least 62 years. If he fails to establish that, he cannot establish an easement against a person who is merely in occupation of that land, for a less period. It is not possible to have an easement over piece of land against A and not against B. (Ryves, J.) NARAIN DAS v. BEHARI KAHAR. 1924 All. 724.

———S. 18—Customary easement—Right of way—Zemindar's right to close. 1924 All. 159.

———S. 28—Ancient window—Light and air—Extent of.

The owner of the servient tenement could reduce the access of light and air to the window of a dominant owner provided he did not so diminish it as to make it less than what the owner of the dominant tenement required for the ordinary purposes of inhabitation or business according to the ordinary notions of mankind having regard to the locality and surroundings. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) GUR PRASAD MUKERJI v. BISHUN DAT. L. R. 5 A. 262 : 79 I. C. 349. 1924 All. 816.

———Ss. 33 and 35—Easement—Right to free air and light—Windows—Injury to right when actionable.

Where the easement disturbed is a right to the free passage of light passing to the openings in a house, no damage is considered substantial within the meaning of Sections 33 and 35 of the Easements Act unless it materially diminishes the value of the dominant heritage and interferes materially with the physical comfort of the plaintiff or prevents him from carrying on his accustomed business in the dominant heritage as beneficially as he might have done previously to the disturbance.

The plaintiff has, therefore, no absolute right to protect his window against obstruction. He has a right to the access of sufficient light and air through his window, but if there is already a sufficient access of light and air to his house through other openings therein and the obstruction caused to the window does not materially or in any measure interfere with the sufficiency of the access of such light and air, the plaintiff is not entitled to any relief. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) DURGA PRASAD v. LACHMI NARAIN. 22 A. L. J. 314 : L. R. 5 A. 221 : 78 I. C. 563. 1924 A. 394.

EJECTMENT.

———S. 52—License, if transferable.

A license is ordinarily only a personal right and carries with it the incident of non-transferability. The mere fact that the license had become irrevocable by the erection of buildings does not necessarily imply that the licensee acquired a right to transfer the license or the building. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) KALLU SHAH v. RAHEEM BAKSH. L. R. 5 A. 582 : 1924 All. 825.

———S. 59—Erection of buildings by licensee—Revocation of license by transferee.

Where a licensee erects buildings of a permanent character on the land, it is not open to a transferee from the grantor of the license to revoke it. 28 A. 741 : 13 A. L. J. 1 Ref. (Neave, J.) GAURI SHANKAR v. MITHAI. L. R. S. A. 5 A. 400 : 1924 All. 750.

———Ss. 59 and 60—License—Revocation—Transfer of property—Compensation—Right to.

Where a license to erect a hut is given and in pursuance thereof such structure is erected, a subsequent transfer of the property does not operate as a revocation of the license unless it is incompatible with the retention of the license by the licensee. The transferee can neither revoke the license nor claim compensation if in pursuance of the license a work of a permanent character has been erected. (Predeaux, A. J. C.) VITHALDAS v. GOMA. 20 N. L. E. 60 : 79 I. C. 173. 1924 Nag. 254.

———S. 60—License when revocable—Licensee whether liable to ejectment on denying licensee's title. MT. DURGA v. BABU RAM. 75 I. C. 596.

EJECTMENT—Suit for—Identification of land.

A suit in ejectment should not be dismissed simply because the whole of the suit land is not identified as pleaded in the plaint.

In a suit to eject the defendant from a certain area constituting a single number the portion in which the defendant had acquired occupancy rights was identifiable merely by a reference to the old map of the village. Held, that the result of the suit should be decreed. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) THAKUR PRASAD v. KOLAHAL TELI. L. R. 5 A. 43 (1) (Rev.). 77 I. C. 905.

———Proof of title—Effect.

———Suit for—Proof of title.

In an ejectment suit, the plaintiff should succeed on the strength of his own title and not be the weakness of the case of the defendant. (Mukerjee and Sukhrawardy, JJ.) LUKHAN CHANDRA MONDAL v. TAKIM DHALI. 80 I. C. 357.

89 C. L. J. 90 : 28 C. W. N. 1033 : 1924 Cal. 558.

EJECTMENT.

——— Suit for—Tenants in possession—Parties to suit.

It cannot be said as an abstract proposition of law that where land was in the occupation of tenants, the landlord has no right to maintain a suit for possession against a trespasser or if land is in the occupation of the trespasser's tenants he cannot bring a like suit against him alone. The question whether a suit for possession is maintainable by a landlord against a rival claimant depends very much on the status of the tenants. The tenants of the latter need not be made parties in the suit, (Suhrawardy and Chotzner, JJ.) KALI PROSANNA BHADURI v. RANI HEMANTA KUMARI DEBI.

1924 Cal 977.

——— Title—Legatee from Hindu widow having a limited interest in husband's property—Not entitled to eject trespasser. See HINDU LAW, Widow,

46 M. L. J. 560.

——— Title—Proof of — Onus — Gora lands — Possession—Evidence of.

In a suit in ejectment, the onus is on the plaintiff and he must make out both that he had title to the land in suit and that he was in possession within 12 years of the date when the suit was instituted and if he fails to prove his possession then, notwithstanding his title it being admitted that defendant was in possession at the date of suit his suit must fail. But the nature and quality of the proof required to satisfy the burden cast upon the plaintiff may vary in different classes of cases. For example where the land is jungle land or land under water where no evidence of actual user in the ordinary sense can be expected to be adduced, then no doubt the presumption that possession follows title may be called in aid to supplement the absence of evidence upon the question of possession because mere non-user does not in itself deprive a party of his title to his land. It is necessary both that he should have lost his possession and that somebody else should have come into possession and remained there adversely to him. In the case of gora lands (periodically cultivated once in four or five years) although proof of certain acts of user might reasonably be expected, the evidence upon the point must necessarily be more difficult to procure than in the case of lands continually under cultivation. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) RAMNATH SARANJI v. GOBARDHAN PANDEY.

3 Pat. 258 :

81 I. C. 669 : 1924 P. 629.

——— Title—Proof of—Weakness of defendant's title—Not to be considered.

In a suit for ejectment the plaintiff must succeed on the strength of his own title and is not assisted by any weakness, real or apparent, in the case for the defendant. (Mookerjee and Suhrawardy, JJ.) LAKSHAN CHANDRA MANDAL v. TAKIM DHALLI.

39 C. L. J. 90 : 28 C. W. N. 1033 :

80 I. C. 357 : 1924 Cal. 558.

——— Title—Proof of—Defence of permanent tenancy—Onus.

When a plaintiff seeks to eject a defendant from possession on the ground that the latter is his tenant, whose tenancy has been terminated, he must prove not only that the defendant is his tenant as alleged, if that is denied but also his right to eject. In order to prove his right to eject he must necessarily show that the tenancy is a terminable one and has been validly terminated. This onus is unaffected by any defence of permanent occupancy that the defendant may set up but fails to prove. The plaintiff in a suit for ejectment must first prove his title to eject before the onus is shifted to the defendant to prove that he has a permanent right of occupancy. 1923 M. W. N. 755 Ref. (Spencer and Kumaraswami Sastri, JJ.) BOLLAPRAGADA SUBBARAYADU v. NARASIMHA RAO.

EQUITY.

(1924) M. W. N. 553 :

82 I. C. 623 : 1924 Mad. 907 : 45 M. L. J. 558.

——— Trespasser—Possessory title.

A person who ejects another from land in his possession forcibly and without any shadow of a title can himself be ejected by the latter even if the latter's title is defective. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) MAROTI KUNHI v. SITARAM.

78 I. C. 722 :

1925 Nag. 32.

ELECTION—Remedies—Suit against one set of persons—Subsequent suit against another set of persons on the same cause of action—When barred. See ESTOPPEL.

47 M. L. J. 85.

ELECTRICITY ACT (IX OF 1910) Sch I, Cl (6) (2) (c)—Seals of cut out not in good order—Discontinuance of electric supply.

6 Lah. L. J. 86 : 75 I. C. 456 : 1924 Lah. 142.

——— S. 22, and Sch. Cl. (VI) Paras 4 & 5 — Transfer of electric connection — Written requisition—Substitution of new connection for old one.

A written requisition is necessary not merely where a consumer asks for supply of electricity in the first instance, but also where he is claiming the supply as a substitute for the existing supply. The fact that it was the practice of the Electric company not to insist upon such written requisitions cannot alter the law. (Shah, A. C. J. and Fawcett, J.) BHAGVANJI SANKLESHVAR v. THE AHMEDABAD ELECTRICITY CO. LTD.

26 Bom. L. R. 1206 : 1925 B. 120.

ENCUMBERED ESTATES ACT—Estates in involved condition—Income not sufficient to pay interest on the debt—Government's policy.

Though it is open to a proprietor to sell a portion of the Estate, there is no reason why the estate should be protected under the Encumbered Estates Act, if the debts can be paid by a sale.

The present policy of Government is to release all estates, the scheme of which are not satisfactory. It is impossible to protect under the Encumbered Estates Act any new estates unless satisfactory schemes can be framed for the payment of their debts. (Foley, J.) MADAN MOHAN SINGH. In re.

2 Pat. L. R. 225 (Cr.)

EQUITY—Grantor derogating—Applicability to B. T. Act. MT. SHEORAJI KUAR v. DHANI MIAN.

75 I. C. 790 : 3 Pat. 1 : 1924 P. 1.

——— Parties in pari delicto—Help of court.

Where a person transfers his property to another for an illegal purpose and such purpose is not carried out, he or his heirs cannot get the property back without proving that the purpose never got beyond the stage of intention. The onus of proving it is on them, the maxim in pari delicto potior est conditio possidentis applying. (Baker, J.) MAN SINGH v. KARAN SINGH.

ESTOPPEL.

1924 Nag. 200.

ESTOPPEL—Admission made under a mistake of law.

An admission made by a thekadar in a previous case that he was an ex-proprietory tenant made on a misunderstanding of the law cannot create an estoppel against him. (Fremantle, S.M. and Burn, J.M.) SARJU RAM v. BHAROSA RAM.

L. R. 5 A. 43 (2) (Rev.).

— — — Compromise — Title — Recognition of — Proceedings under S. 145.

76 I. C. 527.

— — — Conduct. MATHURO PRASAD v. ANANDI KUNWAR,

1924 A. 63.

— — — By conduct — Tenant-in-chief — Disappearance — Omission of sub-tenant to get himself recorded as tenant — Effect of — Conduct of zemindar.

The tenant-in-chief of a holding disappeared and the recorded sub-tenant took no steps to have his name recorded as tenant-in-chief and thereby led the zemindar into a sense of security. Held, that the subtenant could not thereafter take advantage of his own neglect to correct the papers. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) JAGDEO SINGH v. KAWALPAT CHAUBE.

L. R. 5 A. 9 (Rev.).

— — — Contract — Consideration — Undertaking by parties.

An undertaking may operate as an estoppel though in the absence of consideration it cannot amount to a contract. Situations may arise in which a contract should be held to be an estoppel, as in cases where only an inadequate right of action would exist in favour of the injured party if estoppel were not allowed. In such a case estoppel may sometimes be available to prevent fraud. (Newbould and Ghose, J.J.) SHAILESH CHANDRA GUHA v. BECHAI GOPE.

40 C. L. J. 67 : 1925 Cal. 94.

— — — Contract for Sale of land — Conveyance not executed — Acceptance of advance whether creates title to purchaser.

Where there is a contract for sale no decree for possession can be given unless the title is completed by a registered deed and an agreement between parties to sell the land cannot act as an estoppel so as to do away with the necessity for a registered deed of transfer where the statute expressly requires it Dharam Chand v. Marji Sahu 16 C.L.J. 436 ; Ma-hara Mohan Saha v. Ramkumar Saha 20 C. W. N. 370 foll. Duckworth, J.) MAUNG POYIN v. MAUNG TET TER.

2 Rang. 459 : 1925 Rang. 68

— — — Execution sale — Purchaser — Bound by the same estoppel as the Judgment debtor.

The purchaser at the execution sale acquires the right, title and interest of the judgment-debtor and does not consequently occupy a position of greater advantage than the judgment-debtor does in the application of the doctrine of estoppel. (Mookerjee and Cuming, J.J.) NANDI LAL AGRANI v. JOGENDRA CHANDRA DUTTA.

ESTOPPEL.

28 C. W. N. 403 : 39 C. L. J. 222 : 82 I. C. 297 : 1924 Cal. 881.

— — — Execution proceedings — Endorsement of agent not to sell — Effect.

An endorsement by an agent of a decree holder on a notice of sale that a property need not be sold does not estop the decree holder from executing the decree against the property. (Jackson, J.) PARTHASRATHY APPA RAO v. MAHAMMAD ABDUL WAHEB.

82 I. C. 434 : 1925 Mad. 270.

— — — Election of remedies — Suit against one person when a bar to a suit against another on the same cause of action.

Where a plaintiff has the choice of suing two persons on the same cause of action, it may happen that if he elected to sue only one of them and obtained a decree against him, he would be estopped from suing the other. But if he obtained a decree on a mortgage under the belief that his mortgagor acted in a personal capacity but afterwards finds he was acting in a fiduciary capacity, he is not debarred from suing the right person.

Per Ramesam, J. — A wrong suit followed by a wrong decree never bars a correct suit. (Ramesam and Jackson, J.J.) ANMAKANNU AYI v. MURUGAYYA ODAYAR.

20 L. W. 207 : 47 Mad. 850 : (1924) M.W.N. 623 : 1924 Mad. 716 : 47 M. L. J. 85.

— — — Family arrangement — Person taking benefit under — Not entitled to impeach it subsequently. See HINDU LAW, FAMILY ARRANGEMENT.

5 Pat. L. T. 375.

— — — Foreign judgment — No service of summons — Execution of decree — Submitting to decree — Effect — Suit to declare sale null and void — Maintainability. See FOREIGN JUDGMENT.

26 Bom. L. R. 392.

— — — Gift — Donee if can question ownership.

The donee of property is not estopped from contending that the property does not belong to his donor but was all along his own property. (Martineau, J.) RADHA KISHEN v. MOOL CHAND.

76 I. C. 128 : 1925 Lah. 27.

— — — Inconsistent pleas — Different litigation — Party estopped from setting up inconsistent pleas.

It is an elementary rule that a party litigant cannot be permitted to assume inconsistent positions in court, to play fast and loose, to blow hot and cold, to approbate and reprobate, to the detriment of his opponent. 5 C. L. J. 95 : 27 C. L. J. 535 : 35 C. L. J. 58. Rel. This wholesome doctrine applies not only to successive stages of the same suit, but also to another suit than the one in which the position was taken up, provided that the second suit grows out of the judgment in the first. (Mookerjee and Suhrawardy, J.J.) DWIJENDRA NARAYAN ROY v. JAGES CHANDRA DE. 39 C. L. J. 40 : 79 I. C. 520 : 1924 Cal. 600.

— — — Inconsistent pleadings — Claim as mortgagee — Subsequent claim as tenant-in-chief.

ESTOPPEL.

Where the defendant, a mortgagee from an occupancy tenant pleaded that his status was that of a mortgagee in a suit in ejectment, he could not later on in a subsequent litigation allege that at the time of the former ejectment suit he was himself a tenant-in-chief and had acquired occupancy rights by reason of his occupation for twelve years. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAM PRATAP PANDEY v. SHEO LAL.

L. R. 5 A. 243 (Rev).

———If can validate void transaction.

The plea of estoppel being rule of equity, cannot have the effect of validating a void contract. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. C.) DWARAKA PRASAD v. NAZIR AHMED.

11 O. L. J. 219 : 78 I. C. 850 : 1925 Oudh 16.

———If can override specific provision of law.

The general law of estoppel cannot be allowed to override specific provision of law such as that contained in O. 21, R. 2 (3), C. P. Code. (Kennedy J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MOTOMMAL v. TEOMMAL.

79 I. C. 89 : 1925 S. 140.

———Jurisdiction of Court—Small cause suit filed on the original side—Trial without objection—Plaintiff not entitled to object to Jurisdiction afterwards. See JURISDICTION.

10 O & A. L. R. 1326.

———Landlord and tenant—Standing by—What amounts to—Execution of buildings.

1924 Cal. 156.

———Landlord and tenant—Ejectment—See AGRA TENANCY ACT. S. 34. L. R. 5 All. 311 (Rev.)

———Landlord and tenant—When applies.

A tenant by acquiescing in the payment of enhanced rent is not precluded from raising any objection under Sec. 29 of the Act. A claim for rent is a recurring claim and it is open to the tenant at any time to take an objection on the ground that the claim contravenes the provisions of the law. (Dawson Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) W. H. MEYRICK v. DEEPA PANDAI.

3 Pat. 825.

———Lessor and lessee—Status of parties.

39 C. L. J. 337.

———Misrepresentation—Effect of—Proof of detriment it essential.

Where the plaintiff was not induced to take any action, on the strength of a misrepresentation by the defendant, and the interest of the plaintiff did not suffer by such representation. Held, that estoppel did not arise. (Fremantle, S. M.) LALTA PD. v. RAGHUNANDAN.

L. R. 5 All. 321 (Rev.)

———Nature of—When not allowed.

1924 Mad. 177.

———Plea—Nature of—When to be raised.

Estoppel is a plea of mixed fact and law and must be raised in the trial court. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) HIRALAL v. TULSIRAM.

80 I. C. 946 :

1925 Nag. 77.

———Possession taken under a deed or with subsequent denial—Partly estopped from impeaching deed or will.

EVIDENCE.

If a man obtains possession of land claiming under a deed or will, he cannot afterwards set up another title to the land against the will or deed though it did not operate to pass the land in question, and if he remains in possession till 12 years have elapsed and the title of his testator's heir is extinguished, he cannot claim by possession an interest in the property different from that which he could have taken if the property had passed by the will or deed. (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) JAGESHWAR v. PANDURANG.

7. N. L. J. 82 : 78 I. C. 840 : 1924 Nag. 73.

———By record—What constitutes — One of many points alone relied on by appellate court.

When a case is taken from one court to another on appeal and is finally disposed of on a particular ground, that alone is a matter of estoppel by record, though in the court below many other grounds might have been relied upon. (Rankin, and Mukerjee, JJ.) CHITPORE GOLABARI CO. LTD. v. GIRDHARI LAL SEROGI.

78 I. C. 353.

———Receipt of rent by successor in office—No knowledge of nature of lease—Election. See T. P. ACT, S. 35.

78 I. C. 191.

———Scope of—Clear proof essential.

The estoppel must be very strictly interpreted and any point in doubt must be decided against the estoppel. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Le Rossignol, J.) NIHAL SINGH v. NARAIN SINGH.

6 Lah. L. J. 45 : 80 I. C. 525 : 1924 Lah. 469.

———Truth known to parties—Effect.

75 I. C. 1022.

EVIDENCE.— Admissibility — Objection to—Waiver—Objection on appeal. MT. BIBI KANIZ ZAINAB v. SYED MOBARAK HUSSAIN.

1924 P. 284.

———Account Books —Items entered by Munim before whom money was not paid.

75 I. C. 812.

———Admissibility—Suit different—Evidence in—Admission of, despite objection by defendant—Legality—Judgment based on such evidence—Setting aside of.

Where on the application of the plaintiff the Court below used the evidence in another suit as evidence in the suit tried by it, though the application was opposed by the defendant, and passed a decree against him. Held, that the procedure was opposed to law and vitiated the whole trial. The decree was accordingly set aside and the suit remanded for fresh trial to be disposed of according to law. (Ramesam and Reilly, JJ.) PERIGI VENKOBACHARLU v. RADHABAYAMMA.

47 M. L. J. 640.

———Admissibility—Admission of indebtedness by mortgage—Money decree—Purchaser—If bound.

An admission of indebtedness by the mortgagor to the mortgagee is admissible as evidence against the purchaser in execution of a money decree against the former, as he is his representative in interest. (Sulaiman and Gokul Prasad, JJ.) BIRBAL v. BEHARI.

76 I. C. 815.

EVIDENCE.

—Admissibility—Objection to—Appeal.

Where a certain document is admitted in evidence without any objection in the trial Court, its admissibility cannot be questioned afterwards on appeal. (Daniels, J.) BEHAR LAL v. AMIN CHAND. L.R. 5 A 298; 79 I. C. 1029; 1924 All. 918.

—Admissibility—Failure to object in trial Court—Effect.

If no objection is taken in the trial court to the admissibility of evidence on the ground of improper proof, such objection cannot be raised in appeal. (Baker, J. C.) THE ROHILKHUND AND KUMAON RY. CO. v. ZIHRE SYED ALVI. 1924 Nag. 358.

—Admissibility—Omission to object—Effect.

Where a certain piece of evidence is not legally admissible, the omission to object to it, does not make it admissible. (Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) JAGADISH CHANDRA DE v. HARIHAR DE. 40 C. L. 39; 78 I. C. 219; 1924 Cal. 1042.

—Admissibility—Statement of age of witness in a deposition.

Statements of ages of witnesses at the head of depositions do not furnish evidence on the subject. 26 A. 108 ref. (Mookerjee and Sukrawarthy, JJ.) LAKSHAN CHANDRA MANDAL v. TAKIM DHALL. 39 C. L. J. 90; 80 I. C. 357; 28 C. W. N. 1033; 1924 Cal. 558.

—Agreement to pay dowry. MT. HAFIZAN BIBI v. MT. SUBA BIBI. 76 I. C. 948.

—Appreciation. NABA KUMAR DAS v. RUDRA NARAYAN JANA. L. R. 5 P. C. 25; 28 C. W. N. 559; 77 I. C. 141; 10 O. & A. L. R. 521.

—Approver—Corroboration—Accused seen in the company of approver before the offence—Lists of discovered articles—Production of stolen articles.

Evidence to the effect that the approver was seen in the company of the accused a few days before the dacoity cannot be regarded as material corroboration of the evidence of the approver to the effect that they joined him in the dacoity. Lists of articles discovered made by certain persons though admissible to refresh the memory of persons who made them are not themselves evidence to corroborate the evidence of the approver. It is necessary to prove that certain properties were produced by an accused person and that property was identified at the trial as having been stolen in the course of the dacoity. (Scott, Smith, A.C.J.) HEZARA SINGH v. EMPEROR. 6 Lah. L. J. 370; 82 I. C. 707; 25 Cr. L. J. 1347; 1924 Lah. 727.

—Confession—Extra judicial confession—Oral evidence as to—Weight of.

It cannot be said that in no case can an extra judicial confession, not reduced to writing, be held to be proved unless the court has before it the exact words used by the prisoner. The duty of the court, before which an extra-judicial confession, not incorporated in a document is relied upon, is to scrutinize the whole of the material before it, and then to decide whether there is sufficient evidence to prove the confession. A mere general statement to the effect that the prisoner had confessed is too uncertain a foundation to sustain a finding against him. The trial court ought to ascertain as far as possible, the very words spoken by an accused who is said to have confessed. There may be cases in which the evidence gives the substance, though not the actual words of the statement made by the accused and if that evidence is reliable, there is no rule of law which precludes the court from holding that the confession has been proved. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Fforde, J.) NUR ALI v. EMPEROR. 5 Lah. 140; 6 Lah. L. J. 208; 25 Cr. L. J. 914; 81 I. C. 530; 1924 Lah. 498.

EVIDENCE.

—Conjectures not to be basis of judgment.

Conjectures do not take the place of evidence and a court of justice cannot base its decision on mere conjectures. (Kinkhede, A. J.) TULSIRAM v. TUKARAM. 1924 Nag. 363.

—Credibility—False entry in a register.

Where the question was as to the date of death of one L and the plaintiff appellants produced in support of their assertion, that L died on a certain day, an alleged private register in which the crucial entry was apparently interpolated among faded brown entries and was seen in bright blue ink.

Held, that the register was not of such a character as to enable the court to pronounce affirmatively that the entry in question was made at the date alleged. (Lord Shaw.) RAMAKRISHNA RAO GARU v. SRIRAMULU. 1924 P. C. 136; 46 M. L. J. 541.

—Credibility—Trial judge's opinion of witness when open to criticism in appeal. MA THAN THAN v. MA PWA THAN. 76 I. C. 63; 46 M. L. J. 334.

—Decree in favour of co-sharer—Partition between co-sharers and opponent. NARESH NARAYAN ROY v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. 77 I. C. 1048.

—Evidence—Witness—Credibility—Low status of witness is not sufficient to discredit him.

The mere fact, that the attesting witnesses to a will did not appear to be men of any status, is not sufficient to discredit their evidence, when nothing is suggested which would be sufficient to discredit them. (Lord Carson.) WAMAN GANESH v. SARUBAI. 19 L. W. 699; (1924) M. W. N. 445; 80 I. C. 641; 7 N. L. J. 126; 1924 P. C. 106.

—Handwriting—Court—Duty of—Signature—Dissimilarity.

A court of law ought not in the absence of any evidence, take upon itself the duty of comparing handwriting and pronounce judgment based merely on its own inspection. This is specially so in the case of signatures, where much depends on the position of the person, the way the paper was held, pen, ink and various other circumstances (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) GALSTAUN v. SONATAN PAL. 78 I.C. 668

EVIDENCE.

—Handwriting—Comparison of signature—Value of.

Comparison of handwriting is a hazardous and inconclusive proof and in the absence of expert evidence regarding the same should not ordinarily be the basis of a decision. (Sanderson, C.J. and Chakravarty, J.) AMBIKA CHARAN BARNAL v. NAKRESWARI DAS. 29 C. W. N. 75 : 1925 Cal. 145.

—Hearsay—Loss of document—Proof.

To prove that a document had been lost, a party produced a registration copy and stated that another person had stated the original had been lost in a fire. That person was alive but was not examined. Held the statement was only hearsay evidence and was no proof of the loss. (Devadoss, J.) KHELICHERLA KANDALA APPALACHARYULU v. VENKATRAMANUJACHARYULU. 21 L. W. 67 : 47 M. L. J. 906.

—Identification parade—Evidence when admissible.

A witness's evidence of identification given in court should only be accepted if he identified the same persons whom he had previously picked out in the identification parade in jail. (Scott Smith, J.) MOHNI v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1272 : 82 I. C. 280 : 1925 Lah. 137 (2).

—Identification parade—Lapse of time—Effect.

Evidence of identification of persons previously unknown after a number of months that certain persons took part in an attack is unreliable, unless there was a regular identification parade in which the witnesses picked out those persons from among others, especially where it is not stated that such persons bear any distinguishing marks by which they can be recognised. (Marineau, J.) MAKHAN SINGH v. THE CROWN. 1924 Lah. 722.

—Maps and surveys—Value of.

Maps and surveys made for revenue purposes are official documents prepared by competent persons with due publicity and after notice to parties interested. They are admissible as valuable evidence of the state of things at the time they were made. They are not conclusive but in the absence of evidence to the contrary are of much weight. (Suhrawardy and Chotener, JJ.) KALI PROSARNA BHADURI v. HEMANTA KUMARI DEBI. 1924 Cal. 977.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 3—Matters before it—Meaning of—Proof—What is.

The expression "matters before it" in S. 3, Evidence Act includes matters which do not fall within the definition of "evidence" as given in that section. Proof in strictness marks merely the effect of evidence. Difference of proof required in Civil and Criminal cases pointed out. (Kinkhede, A.J.C.) BHAIRON PRASAD v. LAXMI NARAYAN DAS. 1924 Nag. 385.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 11.

—Ss. 6, 7, 8 and 34—Account books—Absence of entry if relevant.

The absence of an entry in an account book is a relevant fact, under either S. 7 or S. 8 or S. 11 of the Evidence Act, 10 Cal. 1024 Diss. 4 C. W. N. 207 Foll. (Hallifax, A.J.C.) KASAM v. FIRM OF HAJI JAMAL. 1924 Nag. 22.

—S. 8—Agent acting nefariously—Presumption.

It is a matter of common knowledge that brokers sometimes for the purposes of gain do resort to the nefarious system of entering into a transaction unauthorisedly in the expectation of its subsequent ratification, but it is a far cry that because an agent had been shown to be guilty of shady practice once, his evidence as to the circumstances under which the contract in suit was entered into should be entirely discarded. (Raymond, A.J.C.) TYEBALLY ABDUL HUSSAIN v. MRS. JAMES, FINLAY & Co. 1924 S. 105 (2) : 80 I. C. 969 : 17 S. L. R. 15

—S. 8—Raped girl—Statement to persons immediately after occurrence—If admissible.

A statement made by a girl in reply to inquiries made by by-standers that she had been ravished by the accused is admissible under S. 8. It is a strong piece of corroborating evidence also. (Kinkhede, A.J.C.) SOOSALMAL BANIA v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 124 : 82 I. C. 142 : 1925 Nag. 74.

—S. 11—Self serving statements are admissible where they make relevant fact highly probable or improbable or where they are res gestae (Contra Mullick, J.)—Evidence Act, S. 21.

Where the question is whether a person is a benamidar or real owner of property :

Per Dawson Miller, C.J.—Even self-serving statements made by the person are admissible under S. 11 if they render fact in issue highly probable or highly improbable.

Per Mullick, J.—Admissions made by the person in his own favour are not admissible.

Per Foster, J.—Where the statements are made by the person in the course of his instructions to his local agent who assists him in acquiring the property they are admissible as res gestae (Dawson Miller, C.J. Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHEO PRASAD. 1925 Pat. 68 : 5 Pat. L. T. (Sup.) 1.

—Ss 11, 13 and 32 -- Documents between third parties—Recitals of boundaries—Admissibility in evidence.

A mere description of boundaries given in a document between third parties is inadmissible in evidence under Ss. 11 and 13 of the Evidence Act. Nor could the description of boundaries be said to be a statement against the proprietary interest of the person making it so as to bring it within the provisions of section 32 of Evidence Act. 14 C. L. J. 467 diss. (Greaves and Chakravarti, JJ.) PRAMATHA NATH CHOWDHURI v. KRISHNA CHANDRA BHATTACHARJEE. 28 C. W. N. 1092 : 1924 Cal. 1067.

—Ss. 11, 33 and 145 -- Prior depositions -- Admissibility -- Evidence of third parties—Contradiction of.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 13.

Neither under S. 11 nor under S. 145 of the Evidence Act is the prior deposition of a third party admissible to contradict the evidence or impeach the credit of a witness in a case. 25 C. 213; 16 B. 125 Ref. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) BOBBA BHAVANNA v. BOBBA RAMANNA. (1924) M. W. N. 270; 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 355; 78 I. C. 176; 19 L. W. 205; 1924 Mad. 537.

———S. 13—Assertion of right—Claim of permanent tenancy by tenant—Rituals in Kotala executed by tenant—Admissibility of. See LANDLORD AND TENANT, PERMANENT TENANCY. 39 C. L. J. 226.

———Ss. 13, 32 and 35—Family custom—Proof of—Opinions of living person—Statements of deceased persons—Custom—Misapprehension of law.

Where a supposed custom has followed the ordinary law as laid down by the Courts, though it was wrongly assumed to be the ordinary law the supposed custom which did not modify the understood general law and which had, therefore, not independently the force of law, cannot be recognised by courts as a custom having the force of law, even after it is established that the supposed ordinary law which it was alleged to have followed was not the ordinary law. 43 I. C. 871, 875 foll. Opinions of living persons as to the usages of a family will be admissible though grounded on statements of deceased persons. 23 A. 37 Ref. Statements made by deceased persons as to the usage after the controversy has arisen are inadmissible in evidence. Statements made by persons are not instances within the meaning of S. 13 cl. (b) of the Evidence Act but the whole litigation ending with the judgment may be an instance. Entries in settlement khewats even if not within S. 102 of the B. T. Act are relevant under S. 35 of the Evidence Act. (N.R. Chaitarjee and Chotzner, JJ.) SRI PROLAP CHANDRA DEO v. SRI RAJA JAGADISH CHANDRA DEO. 82 I. C. 886; 40 C. L. J. 331.

———S. 13—Judgments in previous case—Evidence in proof of title.

Judgments in a previous case in which a member of the family had brought a similar suit for possession and obtained a decree were held admissible and relevant on the question of the plaintiff's title to the property. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) INDARPAL SINGH v. GHAKUR DIN SINGH. 10 O. L. J. 646; 78 I. C. 895; 27 O. C. 77; 1924 Oudh 266.

———S. 13—Judgment not inter partes—Admissibility in evidence—Weight due to.

The judgment in a previous suit to which one of the parties in the subsequent suit was not a party may be admissible in evidence for certain purposes in the subsequent suit. The legal effect of the judgment as between the parties to the previous suit has to be determined from the judgment itself and when determined it becomes not conclusive as between the parties to the subsequent suit but a fact to be weighed in the balance like any other fact. (Sanderson, C. J. and Richardson, J.) GOPI SUNDARI DAS v. KHEROD GO-LINDA CHOWDHURY. 28 C. W. N. 942; 82 I. C. 99; 1925 Cal. 194.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 21.

———S. 13—Judgment—Possession case—Proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. C.—Relevancy of—Suit for possession.

Where in a suit for possession of properties, the judgment in prior proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. C., between the same parties is adduced in evidence, the judgment is admissible for the purpose of showing that the present parties were parties to those proceedings and that a particular party was maintained in possession as a result of the proceedings. (Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) HASIM ALI v. ABIAL KHAN. 40 C. L. J. 30; 82 I. C. 392; 1924 Cal. 1046.

———Ss. 13 and 50—Mutation application—Legitimacy. 1924 Oudh 19.

———Ss. 13 (6) & 21 (3)—Admissions—Admissibility in favour of persons making them—Direct evidence not available.

An admission may be proved on behalf of the person making it under section 21, Clause (3) of the Evidence Act if it is relevant otherwise than as an admission. In the case of a house said to have been built over half a century ago, direct evidence as to who constructed it may not be easily available; and old documents mentioning by whom it was built may be admissible in evidence under Section 11, Clause (2), and Section 13, Clause (b) of the Indian Evidence Act for what they may be worth. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) RAGHUNATH v. BINDESHWARI NANDAN. L. R. 5 A. 231; 82 I. C. 582; 1924 All. 526.

———Ss. 14, 25 and 54—Offences under Ss. 400 and 401, Penal Code—Evidence of previous offences—Self exculpatory statements—Admissibility of. 75 I. C. 67 and 70.

———Ss. 17, 18—Admissions—Effect of.

An admission operates merely to shift the onus and raises only a rebuttable presumption. (Pri-daux and Kinkhede, A. J. C.) JUMILAL v. MT. HALKI. 1924 Nag. 387.

———S. 17—Erroneous admission. (Gokal Prasad, J.) MANGRU RAI v. SHIVANAND LAL. 77 I. C. 875.

———S. 18—Admission. 1924 Oudh 19.

———Ss. 20 and 31—Admission by person nominated by parties—Admissibility.

The parties to a suit and their pleaders filed a statement to the effect that a certain pleader should hear the whole case and they would accept any statement he might make. Held, that a statement made by the pleader so nominated was as conclusive and effectual as an admission made by the parties in their pleadings. The agreement amounted to an adjustment of the suit and the parties could not be allowed to resile from it. 42 M. 625; 21 A. L. J. 209 Ref. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) HIMANCHAL SINGH v. JATWAR SINGH. L. R. 5 A. 439; 80 I. C. 16; 46 All. 710; 1924 A. 570.

———S. 21—Purchaser at execution sale—Position of.

The purchaser at an ordinary execution sale is in privity with and the representative in interest of the judgment debtor within the meaning of S. 24, Evidence Act. (Baker, J. C.) HARBHAGAT v. NARAYANA RAO.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 24.

1924 Nag. 208.

———S. 24 Confession—Retraction of—Value of corroboration.

It cannot be laid down as an absolute rule of law that a confession made and subsequently retracted by a prisoner cannot be accepted as evidence of his guilt without independent corroborative evidence. The weight to be given to it must depend on the circumstances under which the confession was given and retracted including the reasons given for retracting. There is no statutory bar to a conviction on such evidence, but a confession must not be regarded in the same light as an admission in a civil court.

A retracted confession may be impugned on the ground it was not made voluntarily or was not true. (Pipon, J. C.) MOTI RAM v. EMPEROR.

75 I. C. 152 : 24 Cr. L. J. 904.

———S. 24 — Confession to panchayatdars—Admissibility. MULIMAYANDI THEVAN v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 269 : 76 I. C. 829.

1924 Mad. 230.

———S. 25—Confession to police can be used to contradict judicial confession. 6 Lah. L. J. 54 :

75 I. C. 693 : 25 Cr. L. J. 5.

———S. 25—Kotwar in C. P.—If police-officer.

The widest and most comprehensive extension of the term "police-officer" cannot make it include a Kotwar in the Central Provinces. He is popularly regarded as a subordinate police-officer and even that idea arises mainly from the fact that it is his duty to make, or rather to carry, frequent reports to the police. But the making of reports to a department of the government does not constitute a person who makes them, a member of that department even in the popular sense and therefore a confession made before him is admissible in evidence, 17 B. 4-5 : 26 Cal. 569 and 1 Cal. 207 Cons. (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A.J.C.) SUKHWARIA CHAMARIN v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 147 : 76 I. C. 291 : 1924 Nag. 29.

———S. 25—Abkari officers—If within section.

Abkari officers are not police-officers for the purpose of S. 25, Evidence Act. (Kennedy and Bilaram, A.J.Cs.) TILLIBAI v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 1223 : 82 I. C. 151 :

1925 S. 70.

———S. 25—Village headman in Burma—If a police-officer

A village headman in Burma who is authorized to arrest without warrant is not a police-officer so as to make a confession made to him inadmissible. But the weight to be attached to it will depend on the circumstances of the case and the part he has taken in investigating the crime. (Young, O. C. J. Heald and May Oung, JJ.) NGA MYIN v. EMPEROR.

2 R. 31 : 3 Bur. L. J. 11 :

81 I. C. 540 : 25 Cr. L. J. 924

———S. 26—Confession made in the presence of the Police—Administrator in Portuguese territory—Admissibility.

A confession made by an accused person before the Administrator in Portuguese territory, who is not a Magistrate is excluded by S. 26 of the Indian Evidence Act. It is immaterial that the Police-officer in whose presence the confession was made was not himself the person in charge of the investigation of the case. (Maclean, C. J. and Fawcett, J.) EMPEROR v. MHABLI RAMA SAIL.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 30.

26 Bom. L. R. 706 : 1924 Bom. 480.

———Ss. 26, 27—"In custody"—Meaning of.

As soon as an accused or suspected person comes into the hands of a Police-officer, he is, in the absence of clear and unmistakable evidence to the contrary, no longer at liberty and is therefore in custody within the meaning of Ss. 26 and 27, Evidence Act (May Oung, J.) MAUNG LAY v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 381 : 77 I. C. 429 :

1924 Rang. 173.

———Ss. 30 and 133—Accomplice—Confession retracted—Value of evidence.

A retracted confession is not the testimony of an accomplice within the meaning of S. 133 of the Evidence Act. A confession made by one accused person affecting himself and others, with whom he is jointly tried, may under S. 30 of the Evidence Act, be taken into consideration as against the said others. A retracted confession should practically carry no weight as against the person other than the maker, because it is not made on oath, it is not tested by cross-examination and its truth is denied by the maker himself who has lied on one or other of the occasions and the very fullest corroboration would be necessary in such a case, far more than would be demanded for the sworn testimony of an accomplice on oath. (Newbould and Mukerjee, JJ.) MOYEZ SARDAR v. EMPEROR.

40 C. L. J. 551 : 1925 Cal. 406.

———S. 30—Confession—co-accused—Admissibility of statement.

76 I. C. 1025 :

25 Cr. L. J. 305.

———S. 30—Evidence of accomplice—Corroboration—Necessity for—Admissibility against co-accused.

If prima facie evidence of the existence of a conspiracy is given and accepted, the evidence of statements made by any one of the conspirators in furtherance of the common object is admissible against all. The conviction of an accused based solely on the confession of another accused cannot stand and there must be independent evidence entirely outside, if the confession before it can be used. (Coutts Trotter, C. J.) LILARAM GANGANMULL, In re.

20 L. W. 202 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1041 :

81 I. C. 817 : 1924 Mad. 805.

———S. 30—Confession—Co-accused—Admissibility.

Merely because a confession by one of the accused is not a complete and detailed confession up to hilt, it cannot be rejected against the co-accused. (Haish and Ryves, JJ.) LAKHAN v. EMPEROR.

L. R. 5 A. 101 (Cr.) : 1924 All. 511.

———S. 30—Co-accused—Confession—Evidentiary value of.

The confession of a person accused of an offence can be taken into consideration and used as evidence not only against himself but against any person tried jointly with him for the same offence. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) MT. RADHI v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 13 : 75 I. C. 701 : 1924 Nag. 27.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 30.

—S. 30—Confession during enquiry under S. 476, Cr. P. Code, if within the section.

Where a person against whom enquiry is made under S. 476, Cr. P. Code, makes a confession, it is a confession within the meaning of S. 30 of the Evidence Act. (Macleod, C. J. and Fawcett, J.) EMPEROR v. ANNAI VENKATESH.

26 Bom. L. R. 614 : 1924 Bom. 445.

—S. 30—Confession of a—Accused—When admissible.

S. 30 renders admissible an incriminatory statement made by one accused as against the other only when it substantially implicates the former and not when it is an exculpatory statement. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) TOPANDAS v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 761 : 81 I. C. 249 : 1925 S. 116.

—S. 30—Co-accused—Confession of—When admissible.

In order that a confession of an accused should be used against his co-accused, he must have implicated himself by such confession to the same extent as the co-accused. (Kotwal and Kinkhede, A. J. C.) SHEIKH SHEROO v. EMPEROR.

81 I. C. 891 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1067.

—S. 30—Retracted confession—Evidentiary value.

A retracted confession can be acted on without corroboration if the court thinks it was voluntarily made. (Kincaid, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MAHOMED v. EMPEROR.

81 I. J. 62.

—S. 32—Dacoity—Offender captured in a seriously wounded state—Dying declaration.

One of the dacoits engaged in a dacoity was captured in a seriously wounded state and before his death he made a dying declaration as to the circumstances of the dacoity before the Magistrate and also as to the circumstances causing his death. Held, that the statement of the declarant was admissible to prove his own participation in the dacoity but was not admissible against the other accused. (Daniels, J.) DANNU SINGH v. EMPEROR.

L. R. 5 A. 201 (Cr.).

—S. 32—Dying declaration—Mode of proof.

6 Lah. L. J. 115 : 1924 Lah. 12.

—S. 32—Dying declaration—Murder—Signs made by writing as to cause of death—Admissibility.

Where in a case of murder the throat of the victim had been cut so as to prevent him from talking, questions put to the deceased and the signs made by him in answer might be taken together and properly regarded as verbal statements made by a person as to the cause of his death within the meaning of S. 32 of the Evidence Act and are admissible in evidence under that section. 7 A. 385 ; 49 C. 600 followed. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, J.) RANGA v. EMPEROR.

5 Lah. 305 : 1924 Lah. 581.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 32.

—S. 32—Evidence as to date of birth—Horoscopes—Admissibility of.

In considering the evidence as to the date of the birth of a plaintiff, horoscopes tendered in evidence are not proof by themselves but they could be used for refreshing the memory or as statements of a deceased person under S. 32 of the Evidence Act (Dalal and Simpson, A. J. C.) AMBIKA PRASAD v. LAL BAHADUR.

11 O. L. J. 164 : 1924 Oudh 353.

—S. 32—Plaint in prior suit—Plaintiff alive—Admissibility—Extent.

A plaint for rent filed by a landlord is admissible to prove that the landlord did sue for rent on the allegations made therein but not to prove statements therein so long as the landlord was alive and the conditions in S. 32, Evidence Act are not satisfied. The distinction between the admissibility of a document as evidence of a transaction and the admissibility of a document in proof of a statement contained therein is of a refined but of a fundamental character and is yet frequently overlooked. (Mookerjee and Suhrwardy, J.) LUKHAN CHANDRA MONDAL v. TAKM DHALI.

39 C. L. J. 90 : 80 I. C. 357 : 28 C. W. N. 1033 : 1924 Cal. 538.

—S. 32—Statement in will that X left a certain house—If admissible to prove adverse possession.

Statements of deceased persons under S. 32, Evidence Act, are admissible in evidence only if certain conditions specified therein are fulfilled. To prove adverse possession against a certain person a statement in the will of another that the former left the place more than 20 years before is not admissible under S. 32. (Kincaid, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MT. BHAGBHARI v. MT. KHATUN.

80 I. C. 118.

—S. 32—Prior Statement—Plaint filed in previous litigation—Admissibility of.

In the absence of the conditions prescribed by S. 32 of the Evidence Act a plaint filed in a prior litigation is not admissible to prove a statement by a superior landlord. (Mookerjee and Suhrwardy, J.) LAKSHAN CHANDRA MANDAL v. TAKIM DHALI.

39 C. L. J. 90 : 28 C. W. N. 1033 : 80 I. C. 357 : 1924 Cal. 558.

—S. 32—Statements against interest—Attestation of a mortgage-deed—Admissibility.

On the death of a member of a joint Hindu family, the other members sued the widow of the deceased for possession of certain properties on the ground that she had no right to them her husband having died an undivided member. The widow set up a division and relied inter alia, on a mortgage executed by her deceased husband and attested by the plaintiffs containing a recital to the effect that the mortgagor was in possession of the properties. Held, that the attestation by the co-sharers was an acknowledgment that they had no right in the property alienated and that it was admissible in evidence as a statement against interest under S. 32 of the Evidence Act. (Odgers and Hughes, J.) GNANAMUTHU NADAN v. VEILU KANDA NADATHI.

19 L. W. 494 : (1924) M. W. N. 451 : 79 I. C. 2 : 1924 Mad. 542.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 32.

—Ss. 32 (2) and 67—Deed—Execution—Proof of—Statement of writer. MT. LAHIRI v. BALA. 77 I. C. 798.

—S. 32 (2)—Entries in purohit's books—Admissibility of—Date of death—Hindu widow—Suit for recovery of possession.

The appellants (plaintiffs) sued the respondents (defendants) in the Court of the Subordinate Judge for the recovery of possession of certain ancestral property after the death of the widow. The respondents pleaded that the suit was barred by limitation the widow having according to them died in 1895 more than 12 years prior to action brought and not as alleged by the appellants in 1898. The principal evidence in support of the appellants' case was a private register purporting to be kept by the purohit and his son in the ordinary course of their business giving the dates of the anniversaries of his various clients and among them of the said widow as 14th December 1898. The Subordinate Judge in his findings held that though the entry wrongly gave the family name of the deceased widow as Katikaneni instead of Malraju, and appeared to be in a different ink than that of other adjacent entries, both the book and the entry constituted genuine records. On appeal the High Court upon inspection of the book held the book and the entry to be unreliable and reversed the judgment and decree of the Subordinate Judge.

• Held, by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council that the register was not of such a character as to enable them to pronounce affirmatively that the entry in question was made in 1898 and in the ordinary course of the business of the purohit. (Lord Shaw.) MALRAJU VENKATA RAMA KRISHNA RAO GARU v. KOPPURAVURI SRI RAMULU.

26 Bom. L. R. 563 : 20 L. W. 1 (P.C.) : 46 M. L. J. 541.

—S. 32 (3)—Executant of promissory note—Statement as to receipt of consideration—Admissibility.

A statement by the executant of a promissory note that certain sum was due to him on account of the pronote is admissible under S. 32 (3), Evidence Act—Quære if it is not admissible under S. 32 (2). (Stuart and Mukherji, JJ.) KALYAN RAI v. JAGANNATH.

78 I. C. 1033 (1) 1925 All. 130.

—S. 32 (3)—Recitals in consent decree—Admissibility.

The recitals in a consent decree which do not embody statements of the parties as to their rights in the subject matter of litigation are not statements within the meaning of S. 32, Evidence Act, and are hence inadmissible. (Bookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) JAGADISH CHANDER DE v. HARIHAR DE.

78 I. C. 219.

—S. 32 (5)—Relationship—Evidence relating to—Statements of deceased persons—Family pedigree—Admissibility of.

Family bards have special means of knowledge regarding the facts of the relationship between the different members of the families of their yajmans. Consequently statements made by them as regards the relationship between members of the family would be admissible in evidence under

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 33.

S. 32 (5) of the Evidence Act. A family pedigree may be a pedigree kept by a member of the family or by another person on its behalf and it can be admitted in evidence, if it is written by a family bard for the purpose of keeping a record of the family events for his use and the use of the family. Such a record can be admitted even though not signed by the person making it. 46 B. 753 : 30 A. 510 : 37 A. 600 Rel. (Kanhaiya Lal and Mookerji, JJ.) ANANDI v. NAND LAL.

22 A. L. J. 657 : L. R. 5 A. 485 :

46 All. 665 : 1924 All. 575.

—S. 32 (5)—Declaration by a son as to his parentage—Admissibility of.

A statement made by a person in a mortgage deed as regards his paternity before any dispute arose is admissible in evidence under S. 32 (5) of the Evidence Act inasmuch as the son when he grew up would have had means of knowledge that his father was a particular person. (Delal, J. C.) SANTU v. TARA. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1226.

—S. 33—Conditions before admitting evidence. NGA NYO v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 257 : 76 I. C. 817 : 1924 R. 209.

—S. 33—Statement made before committing magistrate—Witness shy and speechless in Session—If ground for transferring it to Sessions record.

Where evidence was given before a committing magistrate but in the Sessions court the witness proves shy and speechless, S. 33 does not apply to the case and the evidence cannot ipso facto be treated as evidence at the Sessions. The proper procedure would be to give the prosecution the right to put leading questions under S. 154 and obtain the admission or denial of the truth of the evidence. (Pipon, J. C.) MOTI RAM v. EMPEROR.

75 I. C. 152 : 24 Cr. L. J. 904.

—S. 33—Statements by living persons in previous judicial proceedings—Admissibility of—Objection to—Waiver.

Even though the conditions required by S. 33 of the Evidence Act are not fulfilled it is open to the Court acting on the consent of the parties to admit in evidence in a subsequent judicial proceeding statements made by living witnesses in a prior judicial proceeding between the same parties. Any irregularity in the admission of such evidence is cured by the consent of the parties. Objections to the admissibility of evidence will not be entertained for the first time in Second Appeal unless such objections have been raised either in the trial Court or at any rate in the Lower Appellate Court. 24 Bom. 591 ; 43 M. 609 followed. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) RADHA KISHAN v. KEDAR NATH.

22 A. L. J. 761 : L. R. 5 A. 536 : 46 A. 813 :

80 I. C. 874 : 1924 All. 845.

—S. 33—Warrant of attachment—Report as to how process served affected execution—If admissible.

Entries or reports as to how a process server effected the execution of a warrant entrusted to him are inadmissible against persons disputing the attachment. (Lentaigne, J.) HLA BAN U v. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR.

1925 Rang. 89 : 3 Bur. L. J. 287.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 34.

———S. 34—Entries in Settlement Records—Evidentiary value of.

Where in the absence of a deed of mortgage, it was sought to be inferred by copies of certain extracts from the Settlement records relating to the said transactions. Held, that such entries could be used as evidence thereof. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) BULAK DASANDHI v. DY. COMMISSIONER OF PYZABAD. L. R. 5 O. 161 (Rev.).

———S. 34—Sum on accounts—Claim denied proof of items.

Where a claim based on entries in account books is entirely denied, plaintiff must prove the various items of his account by independent evidence, as the entries cannot in themselves charge any person with liability. (Campbell, J.) GANESHI LAL v. THE FIRM OF MANGAT RAM ATMA RAM, 76 I. C. 157.

———S. 35—Applicability of—Documents not made in the course of official duty—Entries in—Returns made by Zamindar—Admissibility against tenant.

In a proceeding under S. 105 of the B. T. Act for enhancement of rent, the tenant relied on a presumption in favour of fixity of rent arising from payment at a uniform rate under S. 50 (2) of the B. T. Act. The Court below held the presumption rebutted by relying on an entry from the books of the collectorate made on the footing of a return submitted by the predecessor of the present Zemindar under Reg. VIII of 1793 and Reg. VII of 1799 to prove the fact that a certain taluk did not exist. Held, that the entry even if admissible in evidence was of very slender evidentiary value to prove the non-existence of the taluk. As it did not appear that either the tenant or his predecessor in interest was a party to the statement or that he was interested to see to its accuracy when it was made, its evidentiary value was slight and it did not suffice to rebut the presumption arising in favour of the tenant. Per Mukerji, J. The entry from the books of the collectorate not having been shown to have been made by a person in the discharge of an official duty or in the performance of a duty enjoined specially by law, it was inadmissible in evidence. (Walmley and Mukerji, JJ.) TARAK CHANDRA CHUCKERBUTTY v. PRASANNA KUMAR SAHA.

28 C. W. N. 679 : 39 C. L. J. 389 : 78 I. C. 719 : 1924 Cal. 654.

———Ss. 35 and 79—Official Register—Entries in death register kept at police station—Presumption of correctness—Certified copy—Admissibility.

Entries in a death register kept at a police station in accordance with the police regulations made under S. 12 of the Police Act (V of 1861) are legally admissible in evidence under S. 35 of the Evidence Act, even though the entries are made in chronological order and not in the prescribed form. 46 C. 152 : 22 O. C. 124 foll. A certified copy of the entry in the Register given by an authorised officer must be presumed to be correct under S. 79 of the Evidence Act. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiyalal, JJ.) SHIB DEO MISRA v. RAM PRASAD, 22 A. L. J. 690 : 46 All. 637 : 1925 All. 79.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 41.

———S. 35—Revenue register No. VII, entry in—Relevancy—Presumption. MAUNG HLAING v. MAUNG CHITSU. 76 I. C. 449.

———S. 35—Siyaha—Entries in—Admissibility.

Entries in the Siyaha are made by the Patwari in the ordinary course of business and are good evidence as to the rent having been collected by a particular person. (Freemantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAGHUNATH v. KHUMAN.

L. R. 5 A. 150 (Rev.).

———S. 35—Revenue registers—Extracts from—Admissibility. 1924 Rang. 135.

———S. 35—Thak map—Revenue survey maps—Weight due to—Signature of revenue surveyor.

There are three main kinds of thak maps in existence (a) eye sketches, in which no actual measurements were made; (b) maps in which rough magnetic bearings were used and rough linear measurements made, and (c) maps made from careful magnetic bearings and careful linear measurements. If the revenue survey map, which was carefully and accurately prepared by competent officers and the thakbast map do not agree it is quite impossible to rely on the thakbast map, unless indeed the demarcation pillars, put down on the ground by the thakbast authorities are still in existence, and they correspond with the boundary pillars as shown in the map or the field book and the materials collected by the thakbast authorities furnish sufficient data. The revenue survey map prevails over the thakbast map. The signature of the revenue surveyor on the thakmap does not mean that if the thak map is reduced to the same scale as the revenue survey map, then the two boundaries will necessarily agree but merely that the surveyor has satisfied himself that the boundary accepted and intended by the demarcation staff has been correctly picked up on the ground, and correctly surveyed on the revenue map.

The procedure followed by the Revenue authorities in preparing the thak and revenue survey maps pointed out. (Das and Macpherson, JJ.) SHASHI BHUSAN BANERJI v. RAMJAS AGARWALA.

3 Pat. 85 : 1924 Pat. 402.

———S. 36—Document referred to in a statement—Documents not produced—Admissibility of the statement. NARESH NARAYAN ROY v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. 77 I. C. 1048.

———S. 41—Insolvency Court refusing to adjudicate person bankrupt—Partnership—Membership disputed—Legal character—If a Judgment in rem—Powers of review—Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, S. 8—Limitation Act, if applies—Time for review—If can be extended—Madras High Court Appellate Side Rules, Appendix, II, R. 41—Applicability—Insolvency appeals.

An order of an insolvency Court refusing to adjudicate a person insolvent on the ground he was not a member of a firm which had been declared insolvent is not a final order which conferred upon or took away from him any legal character within the meaning of S. 41 of the Evidence Act and hence it is not a judgment in rem. Being a partner in a firm is not a legal character as contemplated by the section.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 42.

An application under S. 8 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act to review an order made by the High Court in its insolvency jurisdiction can be entertained even when it is presented out of time as the Court can under S. 5 of the Limitation Act extend the period, if it is satisfied by the applicant that he had sufficient cause for not making the application within the prescribed period.

R. 41 of Appx. II of the Madras High Court Appellate Side Rules applies to insolvency appeals and in a case of special difficulty and importance, the Court hearing the appeal can allow a higher fee than would ordinarily be admissible.

Quære if the Limitation applies to all applications under S. 8 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act? (Schwabe, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF RANGOON. 19 L. W. 316 :

34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 99 : (1924) M. W. N. 458 : 1924 Mad. 662 : 46 M. L. J. 580.

— S. 42—Question of status—Judgment inter partes—Weight of.

When a question of status is in issue, judgment and orders between the parties in mutation cases succession certificate cases, rent suits, suits for possession, etc. are admissible in evidence. They are of high evidentiary value and constitute proof sufficient to shift the burden. (Prideaux and Kinkhede, A. J. Cs.) JUMILAL v. MT. HALKI 1924 Nag. 387.

— S. 43—Judgment between third parties.

A judgment between the plaintiff and third parties is not admissible though the facts found therein may support plaintiff's title disputed in the present suit. (Dawson Miller, C. J., Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHEO PRASAD. 1925 Pat. 68 : 5 Pat. L. T. (Supp.) 1.

— S. 43—Judgment of Criminal Court—Relevancy of in action for damages.

In an action for damages caused to the plaintiff by fire negligently started on his land by the defendant, the fact that a criminal Court had found that the fire was accidental is not evidence and the judgment of the Criminal Court is inadmissible in evidence. (Lentaigne, J.) MAUNG FIM v. MA THE NGWE. 1925 Rang. 143 : 2 Rang. 549.

— S. 44—Judgment—Validity of adoption—Evidence of. 1924 P. 298.

— S. 45—Expert opinion—When evidence.

The report of a finger print expert is inadmissible in evidence unless he is called in as a witness and subjected to cross-examination in open court. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) PITAIN v. BABOOSINGH. 1924 Nag. 183.

— Ss. 58, 91 and 92—Partition admitted—Unregistered deeds—If admissible. MAUNG PO KIN v. MAUNG SHWE BYA. 1924 Rang. 155.

— Ss. 60 and 63 (5)—Scope of—Secondary evidence—Attesting witness—Oral evidence of.

S. 60 says that oral evidence must be direct Section 63 Cl (5) of the Evidence Act does not overrule the general principle of law that hearsay evidence is ordinarily not admissible. Consequently the evidence of an attesting witness to a document that he has seen the document signed or heard its contents read out or explained to him is not admissible to prove the contents of the document. No person who has not seen the contents of a document can give oral evidence of its contents so as to constitute secondary evidence within the meaning of section 63 Cl. (5) of the Evidence Act. A person who professes to give secondary evidence of the contents of a document must himself have read the document. Otherwise he would be giving not direct but hearsay evidence. (Young and Baguley, JJ.) KALENTHAR AMMAL v. MA MI. 3 Bur. L. J. 172 : 2 Rang. 400 : 1924 Rang. 363.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 63.

— S. 60—Statement by person as to what another reported—Evidence.

A statement made by an accused person immediately after a murder of what the deceased told him is relevant as showing his state of mind, but to amount to proof of what the deceased said it must be the evidence of a witness who says he heard it. (Broadway and Campbell, JJ.) KAKAR SINGH v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1005 (2) : 81 I. C. 717 (2) : 1924 Lah. 733.

— S. 63—Certified copy—If secondary evidence of execution of document.

A certified copy of a document is sufficient secondary evidence of the existence, conditions and contents of it, but not of its execution. (Dalal, J.) KARIMULLAH v. GUDAR KOERI. 82 I. C. 306.

— S. 63 (3)—Copy of will prepared by Sub-Registrar—If admissible as secondary evidence.

Where in connection with disputes regarding the registration of a will, a copy was prepared by the Sub-Registrar and sent to the Registrar the same is admissible as secondary evidence, if the original is not forthcoming. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) BAYA v. BHURAIO. 1924 Nag. 375.

— Ss. 63, 64 and 65—No objection taken in the trial Court as to admissibility of a document which is a copy of a copy—Whether can be raised on appeal.

Where the Plaintiff relied upon a copy of copy, in support of a claim to Dharkhast land, and objection as to its admissibility was not taken in the trial court, and that the contents could not be held to have been proved by the production of such a copy. Held, that the rules as regards production and proof of documents, as contained in the Evidence Act, can be dispensed with by consent of parties, and when the parties agree to treat a document as evidence, it is not open to one side or the other to object to such a document in appeal. (Devadoss, J.) LATCHAYYA v. SEETARAMAYYA. 20 L. W. 719.

— S. 63 (5)—Mortgage deed—Original not forthcoming—Attestor not acquainted with language in which the original was written—Secondary evidence.

It is only a witness who has himself seen a document that is entitled to give evidence of it under S. 63 (5) of the Evidence Act but this does not imply that the witness should have known the language in which the document was written. It is enough if the contents of the document in question were either explained, translated or read out to him in such a way that he was able to remember them. 12 A.L.J. 239 overruled. (Hulsh, A. C. J. and Sulaiman, J.) MEHI LAL v. RAMJI DAS. 22 A. L. J. 864 : 80 I. C. 939 : L. R. 5 A 720 : 10 O & A. L. R. 1038 : 1924 All. 792.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 63.

— S. 65—Document lost—Certified copy—Custody proved—Admissibility.

Where the original of a document could not be traced, but a certified copy taken at a time when it had been filed in a court of law is produced, and its custody is satisfactorily proved, secondary evidence is admissible and there is also a presumption of genuineness. (Mookerjee and Suhrwardy, JJ.) LUKHAN CHANDRA MONDAL v. TAKIM DHALI. 39 C. L. J. 90 : 80 I. C. 357 : 28 C. W. N. 1033 : 1924 Cal. 558.

— S. 65—Secondary evidence of the contents of a deed—Admissibility—Loss of original deed not proved—Evidence admitted without objection in trial court—Objection in appellate court—Sustainability of.

Secondary evidence of the contents of a deed alleged to have been lost or destroyed by fire was given in the trial without any objection being taken by the other side. On appeal it was urged as an objection to the admissibility of the secondary evidence that the loss of the original had not been proved. Held, that the objection not having been taken at the trial court, the party who tendered the secondary evidence was misled into omitting to prove the loss of the original and that the objection could not be taken on appeal. (Young, J.) MA THE NU v. MG. NI TA. 3 Bur. L. J. 193 : 1925 Rang. 113 (1).

— S. 65—Secondary evidence—Extract from register of applications.

An extract from the Register of applications in respect of minors and lunatics is not admissible as secondary evidence of a statement as to the date of birth made in an application for appointment of guardian. (Das and Ross, JJ.) GOKULCHAND v. BALDEN NARAIN. 5 Pat. L. T. 403.

— Ss. 65 and 74—Income-tax returns—Certified copy given to persons other than assessee—Admissibility of.

The issue of a certified copy of income-tax returns to a person not entitled to inspect is forbidden by S. 54 of the Income Tax Act and consequently such a copy is inadmissible in evidence as secondary evidence of a public document. (Carr, J.) ANWAR ALI v. FAZAL AHMED. 3 Bur. L. J. 194 : 2 Rang. 391 : 1925 Rang. 84.

— S. 65 (g)—Mutation records—Entries in—Abstract admissible to prove alienability.

An extract from mutation records is admissible in evidence under S. 65 (g), Evidence Act, to prove that alienations of the lands in dispute have taken place in the past. (Abdul Raoof and Moti Sagar, JJ.) SHER MUHAMMAD KHAN v. DOST MCHAMMAD KHAN. 78 I. C. 451.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 69.

— S. 66—Presumption from long and uninterrupted possession—Parabark how far evidence of mortgage.

In a suit for redemption by the plaintiff, which was opposed by the defendant on the ground of setting up a title of their own, the lower court admitted the claim on the strength of entries made in Parabark and overwhelming evidence. Held, reversing the decision that Parabarks produced has not come up from proper custody, and is not original but a copy, and under S. 66 (2) of Evidence Act should not be applied against a mortgagee and notice to produce must be given before secondary evidence can be given and that there was no real secondary evidence of either the original mortgage or the subsequent advance. (Duckworth, J.) MAUNG PO NI AND ONE v. MA SHWE KYIE AND THREE. 2 Rang. 397 : 1925 Rang. 7.

— Ss. 67 to 73—Scope of.

Ss. 67 to 73 of the Evidence Act govern cases both of primary and secondary evidence. (Dalal, J.) K. RIMULLAH v. GUDAR KOERI. 82 I. C. 306.

— S. 68—Document required by law to be attested—Proof of.

The direction in S. 68 of the Evidence Act is mandatory and there is no distinction drawn by the section between documents which are the basis of a suit and those whose production is required for a collateral purpose, so far as their admissibility is in question. (Dalal, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) AWADH RAM SINGH v. MAHBUB KHAN. 10 O. L. J. 525 : 79 I. C. 725 : 1924 Oudh 255.

— S. 68—One of the two witnesses not called, no presumption against mortgagee.

76 I. C. 772.

— Ss. 68 and 71—Application and scope of—Proof of mortgage—Secondary evidence.

In order to prove a mortgage an attesting witness must be called for the purpose of proving its execution under S. 68 of the Evidence Act. A certified copy is sufficient secondary evidence under S. 63 of the existence condition and contents of the deed but not of its execution.

S. 67 follows the mention of primary and secondary evidence, and would govern presumably both kinds of evidence. S. 68 of the Act applies both to primary and secondary evidence.

When a mortgagee suppresses an original document and wins over the attesting witnesses it will be impossible to prove a deed of mortgage if the provisions of S. 68 are insisted upon. This difficulty can be overcome by S. 71. If the witnesses deny execution either through collusion, or absence of recollection it is open to the plaintiff to prove execution by other evidence. (Dalal, J.) SHEIKKARIMULLAH v. GUDAR KOFRI AND OTHERS. L. R. 5 A. 686 : 1925 All. 56.

— Ss. 69 and 71—Mortgage—Attestation—Proof of—Admission before Registrar.

A mortgage has to be proved in cases where the mortgagor does not admit execution. If no attesting witness can be found S. 69 applies, but if found and he denies execution, S. 71 comes into play.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 70.

Where the fact of execution has been admitted before the Registrar, the court of fact can consider it, but not the High Court in second appeal. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) BALIRAM v. KAMALIA 1924 Nag. 367.

—Ss. 70 and 69—Mortgage—Attestation—Proof of—Admission in pleadings—Execution it includes attestation. 76 I. C. 73.

—S. 71—Attestation denied—What is to be proved. 1924 A. 149.

—S. 73—Finger impression—Power of Court to direct accused to give—Admissibility 1924 Rang. 115.

—S. 73—Thumb impression of accused—Right to take—Examination of accused—Cr. P. Code, S. 342.

A Court has power under S. 73 of the Evidence Act to direct an accused person to make finger impressions and such impressions, being relevant, under S. 45 of the said Act, are admissible in evidence, as is also the evidence of the finger print experts concerning them. Per Young, O. C. J.—S. 342, Cr. P. Code, relates only to oral questioning of the accused and does not prohibit a direction to him to make a finger impression, any more than it prohibits a direction to him to face a witness in order that he may be identified. (Young, O. C. J., Heald, and May Gung, JJ.) EMPEROR v. TUN HIAING. 1 Rang. 759 (F.B.).

—S. 74—Public document—Delivery of possession by Court officer.

Delivery of possession in execution of a decree is an act of a tribunal and a report made to the Court by an officer of the Court that its order has been carried out which report is preserved as one of the Court Records is a public document within the meaning of section 74 of the Evidence Act. (Neave, A. J. C.) BALKU v. EMPEROR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 344 : 81 I. C. 533 : 25 Gr. L. J. 917 : 1925 Oudh 183.

—S. 74—Settlement Record—History of district—Public document—Proof.

The history of a district attached to a Settlement Record being compiled under the direction of a Settlement Officer is a public document and is provable by the production of a certified copy. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) MUHAMMAD KHAN v. SULTAN AZAM. 1924 Lah. 689.

—S. 86—Compliance with, mandatory—Statement of persons recorded in a native state—Certificate of Resident.

The certificate required by law under S. 86 of the Evidence Act cannot be dispensed with merely because it can be obtained at any time. The mere fact that copies of depositions of a court of a native state were forwarded by the Resident in due course does not make them admissible without his certificate. (Scott Smith and Fford, JJ.) MURLI DAS v. ACHUT DAS. 5 Lah. 105 : 1924 Lah. 493.

—S. 90—Document more than 30 years old—Before T. P. Act—Absence of signature—Presumption.

A deed more than 30 years old and executed before the Transfer of Property Act, even if not signed by the executant but only by some scribe at his instance will be presumed to be genuine. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) GAYA SINGH v. SURAJBALI SINGH. 1924 All. 832.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 91.

—S. 90—Ancient document—Presumption—Period how counted. 6 Lah. L. J. 97 : 75 I. C. 57 : 1924 Lah. 145.

—S. 90—Genuineness—Presumption—Computation of period.

In applying the presumption under S. 90, the period of 30 years is to be reckoned from the date on which it having been tendered in evidence its genuineness becomes the subject of proof and not from the date it was filed in court. (Phillips, J.) GOSALA KONDA REDDI v. PULCHERIA PICHIREDDI. 82 I. C. 487.

—S. 90—Mortgage deed more than 30 years old—Custody of Mortgagee—Presumption of execution.

Where a mortgage deed more than 30 years old comes from the custody of the mortgagee, the presumption of proper execution readily arises and it is proof of the mortgage. (Mukerjee, J.) RAMACHARI v. SADHO SAPAN TEWARI. 1924 All. 869.

—S. 90—Old document—Conduct of parties. 77 I. C. 472.

—S. 90—Old document—Presumption—Document more than 30 years old—Execution—Scribe—Authority of.

The presumption permitted by S. 90 of the Evidence Act in the case of a document purporting to be 30 years old, that it was duly executed by the party by whom it purported to be executed includes the presumption that when the signature of the executant purports to have been made by the pen of the scribe, the latter was duly authorised to sign for him, 13 A. L. J. 921 ; 15 A. L. J. 121 overruled. (Walsh, A. C. J., Sulaiman, Mukerjee, Dalal and Neave, JJ.) Haji SHEIKH BODHA v. SUKHRAM SINGH. 22 A. L. J. 857 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 981 : 1925 A. 1.

—S. 90—Payment of consideration not satisfactory—Document cannot be said to be unreal when 35 years old.

If one is dealing with a document some thirty-five years old the mere fact that the proof of consideration is not at all satisfactory, is by itself a slender ground for holding that the document known to have come into existence was entirely unreal. (Rankin and Ghose, JJ.) SAILAJA NATH RAY CHAUDHURY v. RAJA RESHME CASE LAW. 51 Cal. 135 : 39 C. L. J. 380 : 81 I. C. 498 : 1924 Cal. 693.

—S. 91—Contract of Sale—Conveyance not registered—Evidence of prior Contract of sale admissible. See T. P. Act, S. 54.

3 Bur. L. J. 78.

—S. 91—Deposition of a witness—Omission to read over same to him as required by O 18, R. 5, C. P. Code—Prosecution for perjury—Oral evidence of contents of deposition inadmissible. See C. P. CODE, O. 18, R. 5. 51 C. 236.

—S. 91—Oral evidence inadmissible to prove a mortgage without registration.

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 91.

Where there is no registered document to prove the mortgage, there is no question of secondary or other documentary evidence. A mortgage which ought to have been by a registered instrument cannot be proved by other forms of evidence such as entries in the Revenue Registers and oral evidence, although the fact of the entries is no doubt a relevant fact under S. 28 of the Evidence Act but evidence of it in proof of the mortgage is inadmissible under S. 91 of the Evidence Act. Miza U. & others v. Nga Fyan, 2 U. B. R. Referred. (Godfrey, J.) MAUNG TUN v. MAUNG KHAN. 2 Rang. 441 : 3 Bur. L. J. 231 : 1925 Rang. 61.

———S. 91—Partition—Absence of registration—Oral evidence—Part performance—Effect. NAND LAL MAHTON v. DHANUKDHARI MAHTON. 1924 P. 244 : 76 I. C. 42 : 2 Pat. L. R. 37.

———S. 91—Scope—Proof of fact of partition. NARSINGH DAS v. UTTAM CHAND. 76 I. C. 852.

———S. 91—Receipt for money—Oral evidence—Admissibility of.

A written receipt was produced to support a plea of discharge. The court below found the receipt to be not genuine but found on oral evidence that the payment had been proved. Held, that oral evidence was admissible to prove the payment. A receipt is not a contract or a grant or a disposition of property within the meaning of S. 91 of the Evidence Act and it does not preclude other evidence of payment. (Pullan, A. J. C.) SARDAR SINGH v. IQBAL NARAIN. 80 I. C. 57 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 727.

———S. 91—Unregistered lease—Inadmissible in evidence—Other evidence of its terms prohibited by s. 91 of the Evidence Act. See REGISTRATION ACT, S. 17 (2). 1924 P. H. C. C. 185.

———S. 92—Bill of lading—Oral evidence to alter terms—Admissibility.

Where a Bill of Lading evidences a contract of shipping no evidence of any oral agreement varying its terms is admissible. (Fawcett, J. C.) THE STANDARD OIL CO. v. HARIDAS VELH. 79 I. C. 456.

———S. 92—Contract—Construction—Commercial usage—Evidence of, when admissible in construing the Contract. See CONTRACT—CONSTRUCTION. 51 C. 43.

———S. 92—Bond—Consideration for—Evidence to show other circumstances than those recited in the bond.

Where in a suit on a bond the defendant pleads no consideration for the bond and evidence is offered to show that the money due under the bond was meant to be the premium for a lease agreed to be executed by the creditor but which in fact was never executed, held that the evidence was not excluded by section 92 of the Evidence Act. (Mukerjee and Dalal, J.J.) BALDEO PRASAD v. RUM AUTAR. 92 A. L. J. 850 : L. R. 5 A. 731 : 82 I. C. 847 : 1924 A. 865 (1).

EVIDENCE ACT, S. 92.

———S. 92—Conduct of parties to show contract was not intended to be acted upon—If admissible. NARENDRA LAL KHAN v. BHOLA NATH. 77 I. C. 154.

———S. 92—Contract—Terms not reduced to writing—Oral evidence—Admissibility.

Where all the terms of a contract have not been reduced to writing oral evidence is admissible to prove the terms not embodied in the written instrument. (Young and Carr J.J.) COALFIELDS OF BURMA, LTD. v. H. H. JOH SON. 2 Rang. 575 : 3 Bur. L. J. 326 : 1925 Rang. 128.

———S. 92—Date for performing contract—Extension of—Oral evidence—Admissibility.

Where a date is fixed in the contract for performing the contract, oral evidence to extend the period is not so absolutely repugnant to the express terms of the contract as to make it inadmissible. But the onus of proving a date different from that specified is heavier than in a case where the terms of a contract are silent on the point. (Madgavkar, A. J. C.) GOVERDHANDAS v. ROWJI HIRJI & Co. 76 I. C. 62.

———S. 92—Evidence of subsequent conduct to prove contemporaneous agreement not admitted. 77 I. C. 523 : 5 Lah. L. J. 439.

———S. 92—Evidence varying terms as to interest, not allowed.

Evidence of subsequent oral agreement not to charge compound interest is inadmissible to vary the original contract which is a registered one. (Chatterjee and Cuming, J.J.) JAGENDRA NATH BANERJEE v. KHODA BUKSHA BISWAS. 1924 Cal. 380.

———S. 92—Extrinsic evidence—Patent ambiguity—Admissibility of evidence.

A mortgage document was very inartistically drawn up. It was ungrammatical and could not be read literally so as to give any clear meaning. In order to give the construction contended for by one party or the other some words had either to be supplied or removed. Held, that there was a patent ambiguity in the document and no evidence could be given to supply the defect. (Daniels and Neave, J.J.) RAM GANESH RAI v. RUP NARAIN RAI. 80 I. C. 944 : L. R. 5 A. 542.

———S. 92—Exclusion of evidence.

The view that there has been introduced into the law of India such a radical change in the laws of evidence as would have the effect of excluding from the class of mortgages many transactions which before the Evidence Act would have been held to be within that clause is not correct. (Lord Blanesburgh) RAJA BAHADUR NARASINGERRI GYANAGERJI v. RAJA PANUGANTI PARTHASARATHI RAYANIM GARU. 20 L. W. 701 : 1 O. W. N. 684 : 51 I. A. 305 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1172 : 82 I. C. 993 : 40 C. L. J. 481 : 27 Bom. L. R. 4 : 47 Mad. 729 : 1924 P. C. 226 : 47 M. L. J. 809.

———S. 92—Gift—Evidence to prove that it was a gift for consideration—Inadmissible. See MAHOMEDAN LAW, GIFT. 6 Lah. L. J. 221.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 92.

—S. 92—Guarantee of promisor—Oral evidence.

Where a promissory note is endorsed on the back by a person who is neither the maker nor the holder oral evidence can be let in to prove a contract of guarantee. (Billaram, A. J. C.) THAKURSEY HANSRAJ v. KISHENDAS REWACHAND.

76 I. C. 242 : 1925 Sindh 9.

—S. 92—Oral agreement varying rate—If admissible—Conduct of parties.

Where a mortgage deed provides for compound interest oral evidence cannot be let in to prove there was a contemporaneous agreement to realise only simple interest. Even the fact that only simple interest was levied all along does not affect the question. (Newbold and Ghosh, JJ.) ABDUL AZIZ MIA v. AMANMAL BATHRA.

78 I. C. 742 : 1925 Cal. 276.

—S. 92—Oral agreement—Mortgagee and future purchaser of equity of redemption—Admissibility in evidence.

Oral evidence is admissible to prove an agreement between the mortgagee and the would-be purchaser of the equity of redemption as regards the terms on which the mortgagee would release or assign his interest. The agreement between the purchaser and the mortgagee would amount to a contract which might be said to be contingent on the would-be purchaser's purchasing the equity of redemption. (Newbold and Ghosh, JJ.) SHAILESH CHANDRA GUHA v. BEC HAI GOPE.

40 C. L. J. 67 : 1925 Cal. 94.

—S. 92—Oral evidence allowed.

In a suit on a joint and several promissory note payable on demand executed by A. and B., A. can give oral evidence to prove that he joined in the loan only as security for B. But he cannot give oral evidence to prove contemporaneous oral agreement with plaintiffs, whereby plaintiffs agreed to recover the amount under the note in the first instance from B. (Rupchand Billaram, A. J. C.) CENTRAL BANK OF INDIA, LTD. v. NADIRSHAH R. MEHTA.

1924 S. 13.

—S. 92—Sale-deed—Oral—Evidence—Admissibility as between parties on the same side. MAUNG TUN GYAW v. MAUNG MO THWE.

77 I. C. 923

—S. 92—Recitals in documents—Oral evidence to contradict—Admissibility.

77 I. C. 195

—S. 92—Sale of goods—Entry mentioning ship by which goods are to arrive—Oral evidence relating to time.

An entry in certain account books evidenced a contract to sell goods and they were described as arriving by a certain ship. Held, oral evidence could not be let in to show that there was an agreement to deliver goods within a fixed time. (Raymond and Billaram, A. J. C.) FIRM OF JIWANJI & CO. v. FIRM OF MAHTABRAI.

1924 S. 127.

—S. 92—(proviso 1)—Promissory note—Evidence that executant signed only as surety if admissible.

When several persons have signed a promote jointly and severally it is not permissible for one of them to let in evidence that he signed only as a surety but if the promisee himself knew at the time of taking his signature that he signed only as surety, then proviso 1 to S. 92 of the Evidence Act would operate to let in the evidence. (Young, J.) MAUNG SEIN v. MA SAW.

EVIDENCE ACT OF 1872.

3 Bur. L. J. 112 : 82 I. C. 816 : 1924 R. 360.

—S. 92 (2)—Oral agreement written contract—Extrinsic evidence—Admissibility of.

Under S. 92, proviso (2) the existence of any separate oral agreement as to any matter on which a document is silent and which is not inconsistent with its terms, may be proved. This proviso applies where the document is of an informal character. (Drake Brockman, J.C.) JODHRAJ v. BYRAM.

7 N. L. J. 25.

—S. 92, (Proviso 3)—Admissibility of oral evidence to vary terms of contract in writing—Suit on a promote—Surety denying liability until settlement.

The plaintiff brought a suit on a promote, executed by P N in respect of which P H stood surety without mentioning the terms of the contract in the plaint. P H contended that he was not a party to the contract and that his liability on the promote could only be determined after the settlement or account with the executant, which was upheld. Held, on appeal, (1 that under S. 92 (3) of the evidence Act, the oral evidence as to the surety's part in the transaction is admissible to supplement the terms of the contract, and that the written and the oral agreements together constituted a condition precedent to the attaching of any liability under the promote which was taken as a security and that it is not open to the plaintiff to treat the promote as a separate contract and to enforce it without taking the whole contract into account. Simon v. Husein Mohamed Sheriff, 19 M 368 followed. (Carr, J.) J. M. MANECKJEE v. MAUNG MO HAN.

2 Rang. 482 : 1925 Rang. 83.

—S. 92 (proviso 3)—Promissory note—Oral agreement to set off—If admissible.

Where in a suit on a promissory note, the defendant pleads an oral agreement at the time to set off moneys due to the executant under some other account, the agreement is contrary to the nature of the document and is not admissible in evidence. The case of a condition precedent to the performance of a contract in writing is different and evidence to prove such an oral agreement is admissible. (Raymond and Billaram, A. J. C.) RAM SINGH v. IBRAHIM.

78 I. C. 418 : 1925 S. 136.

—S. 92—(proviso 3)—Promissory note—Suit based on Admission of execution Plea of want of consideration.

1924 A. 70.

—S. 92 (Proviso 4)—Lease in writing and registered—Subsequent oral agreement to surrender—Proof of.

Where the agreement of lease on which plff's. suit is based is in writing and registered, it is not open to the defendant to prove by oral evidence that the lease was surrendered under a later oral agreement of the parties. Evidence of subsequent acts and conduct cannot also be adduced for the purpose of proving a surrender on the same principle on which such evidence is held inadmissible to prove that a transaction is not what it purports to be. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) DODDA SUBBA SETTY v. MUTTAYYA GEWDA. 2 Mys. L. J. 124.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 94.

—S. 94—Award—Construction—Oral evidence to explain meaning—If admissible.

When a court is executing an award it is only in cases where the words are ambiguous or capable of more than one interpretation that oral evidence can be given as to their meaning. (Harrison, J.) KESHO RAM v. THAKUR DAS. 78 I. C. 80.

—S. 97—Sale certificate—Two irreconcilable descriptions—Decree can be looked into.

Where in a sale certificate there are two descriptions of the property which cannot be reconciled, it is open to the court to look at the decree and decide which governs the sale. (Daniels, J.) MUKHTAR AHMAD v. KABIR AHMAD. 1924 A. 856.

—S. 101—Acquisition of permanent occupancy interest—Burden of proof on tenant.

When a tenant of lands in India in a suit by his landlord to eject him from them, sets up a defence that he has a right of permanent tenancy in the lands, the onus of proving that he has such a right is upon the tenant, and proof of long occupation at a fixed rent does not satisfy that onus. 16 Cal 223 P. C. and 43 Mad 567 P. C. Ref. (Sir John Edge) NAINAPILLAI MARACAVAR v. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR. 47 Mad. 337 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 464 : 28 C. W. N. 809 :

51 I. A. 83 : 22 A. L. J. 130 : 34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 10 : 1924 M. W. N. 293 : L. R. 5 P. C. 33 : 83 I. C. 226 : 19 L. W. 259 : 1924 P. C. 65 : 46 M. L. J. 546.

—S. 101—Burden of proof immaterial when evidence adduced. 76 I. C. 891.

—S. 101—Consideration—Registered deed—Proof of consideration not received by him. MANGLI v. BIDHA LAL.

76 I. C. 916 : 6 Lah. L. J. 457.

—S. 101—Execution—Onus of proof. 77 I. C. 516.

—S. 101—Objectors to award must prove the objection—Civ. Pro. Code, Sch. II, Para 15.

Any party wishing to set aside an award on the ground that the arbitrators in arriving at an unfair award either refused to hear somebody or heard the matter without giving notice of the hearing, undertakes the burden of satisfying the court that this is what really happened. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) GOBIND SINGH v. BHIRGUNATH SINGH. L. R. 5 A. 465 : 82 I. C. 16 : 10 O. and A. L. R. 820 : 46 All. 686 : 1924 A. 788 : 22 M. L. J. 676.

—S. 105—Exception—Prosecution for an offence—Burden of proof.

77 I. C. 819 (2) : 25 Cr. J. 467 (2).

—S. 105—Scope of—Plea not taken by accused—Facts proved by prosecution—Effect.

S. 105 says nothing about pleas but places the burden of proof in certain circumstances on the accused. But if the prosecution has already performed the task for him by letting in evidence circumstances from which such a plea necessarily follows, it is the duty of the court to give him the benefit of it. (Hallifax and Kotwal, A. J. C.) MANGAL GANDA v. EMPEROR.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 112.

25 Cr. L. J. 1077 : 81 I. C. 901 : 1925 Nag. 37.

—S. 106—Special means of knowledge—Tenancy—Relationship of master and servant.

In a suit for damages caused to the plaintiff by fire started on the first defendant's premises by the second defendant, the plaintiff alleged that the second defendant was the servant of the first defendant and that he was liable. The first defendant pleaded that the second defendant was his tenant and that he was not responsible for the actions of the latter. Held that the relationship between the first and second defendant was one peculiarly within the knowledge of the former and where he fails to give the fullest information about it, an inference adverse to him may be drawn under S. 106 of the Evidence Act. (Lontaigne, J.) MAUNG PAUN v. MA THE NGWE. 2 Rang. 549 : 1925 Rang. 143.

—S. 106 and 114—Servant giving a false account of the loss of goods entrusted to him—Presumption of Misappropriation. See I. P. C. S. 408. 2 Rang. 476.

—S. 110—Converse if true. 77 I. C. 506.

—S. 110—Occupation of site in town—Ownership—Presumption.

The occupation of a site in a town raises a presumption of ownership. (Pipon, J.) ALI KHAN v. MALIK MAIDAN. 78 I. C. 552.

—S. 110—Unregistered lease—Evidence of ownership.

An unregistered lease is admissible to show the relation of landlord and tenant and under S. 110 Evidence Act it is evidence of ownership (Priddaux, A. J. C.) ANNAJI v. LAXMAN. 1924 Nag. 199.

—S. 111—Husband and wife—Good faith—Proof of.

Where the husband stood in a position of active connivance to his wife and she entered into a transaction under his guidance, the burden of proving good faith is on him. To uphold the transaction, it must be shown she was given that care and advice which was due to her in her situation. (Wazir Hasan and Nave, A. J. C.) DWARAKA PRASAD v. NASIR AHMED. 11 O. L. J. 219 : 78 I. C. 850 : 1925 Oudh 16.

—S. 112—Legitimacy—Presumption—Conception during continuance of prior marriage—Birth after remarriage.

Where at the time of conception of a child its mother had been lawfully married to A. and subsequently on divorce she remarried B. and the child was born within three months of the remarriage. Held that the child must be treated as the legitimate offspring of B. in the absence of proof that B. had no access to the mother at the time when child would have been begotten. S. 112 of the Evidence Act refers to the point of time of the birth of a child and not to the time of its conception as the deciding factor in a case of disputed legitimacy 24 C. 216 not foll. (Krishnan, J.)

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 112.

PALANI v. SETHU. 20 L. W. 69 :

(1924) M. W. N. 502 : 47 Mad. 706 :

81 I. C. 456 : 1924 Mad. 677 : 47 M. L. J. 155.

—S. 112—Legitimacy—Presumption in favour of.

There is no general presumption in favour of legitimacy without laying the foundation for it under S. 112 Evidence Act or a presumption that a valid marriage had taken place between the parents. (Odgers, J.) CHOCKALINGAM PILLAI v. SWAMI BATTAR. 79 I. C. 623.

—S. 114—Co-owner waiving claim—Presumption. MT. BEGAM v. JAFAR HASAN. 1924 Loh. 312.

—S. 114—Possession of stolen property—Presumption of theft.

Where accused persons are found in possession of stolen property soon after the theft and they are unable to explain their possession, they can be held guilty of receiving stolen property knowing it to be stolen under S. 411, I. C. (Sulaiman, J.)
YAMIN v. EMPEROR. L. R. 5 A. 81 (Cr.) 1924 All. 701

—S. 114—Non-production of account books—Presumption. 76 I. C. 553.

—S. 114—Presumption in favour of marriage—When arises.

The presumption in favour of marriage arises from the fact either that the persons have lived together for a length of time or been recognised as husband and wife by a certain number of persons (Odgers, J.) CHOCKALINGAM PILLAI v. SWAMI BATTAR. 79 I. C. 623.

—S. 114—Official acts—Presumption of regularity—Wajib-ul-arz—Entry in.

A Wajib-ul-arz prepared during a settlement conducted under Regn. VII of 1823 as amended by Regulation IX of 1833 contained an entry about a mortgage. It was verified by one of the mortgagees and the general agent of the other mortgagees. Held that under the rules framed under the Regulation for the guidance of the settlement officers the verification must be deemed to have been made in acknowledgment of the correctness of the mortgage. The presumption was that the settlement court must have satisfied itself as to the authority of the general agents to make the acknowledgment and that the common course of business had been followed in the case. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.)
GANGA RAM v. LACHMAN SINGH. L. R. 5 A. 736. 1925 All. 176.

—S. 114, III. (a)—Presumption under—When arises. 76 I. C. 705 : 25 Cr. L. J. 241.

—S. 114, III. (b)—Approver—Corroboration of—Evidence of accomplice—sufficient.

The corroboration required to support the evidence of an approver is not satisfied by the evidence of an accomplice or a co-accused who makes a confession. (Kotval and Kinkheda, A. J. C.)
SHIKH SHEROF v. EMPEROR. 81 I. C. 898 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1067.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 115.

—S. 114, III. (b)—Section not imperative—Approver—Evidence of.

Illustration (b) to S. 114 is not imperative but courts always insist on the corroboration of an approver's evidence on material points (Kincaid, J. C. and Aston, A. J. C.) KAURUMAL v. EMPEROR. 81 I. C. 881 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1057.

—S. 114, III. (f)—Orders of court—Carrying out—Presumption.

Every Court is furnished with a machinery for giving effect to its orders and it would be unjust to think that the subordinate staff attached to each court fails in its duty of carrying out the orders of the Court. (Kinkheda, A. J. C.) BHAI-RON PRASAD v. LAXMI NARAIN DAS. 1924 Nag. 385.

—S. 115—Acceptance of rent—If creates under-proprietorship under Talukdar.

There is no peculiarity in the law of estoppel in India as distinguished from that of England; the law of India is compendiously set forth in S. 115 of the Indian Evidence Act. Taking of a rent each year under a mistaken belief may bar by estoppel the owner from any claim for mesne profits during the particular year or years for which such rent was received. It would estop the owner from maintaining that the person who paid the rent possessed the property with a liability to account or possessed on any other or further terms than on payment of the rent made and taken. In cases of estoppel the onus of establishing the facts and circumstances from which estoppel arises rests upon the person pleading it. (Lord Shaw.) MIRTA SEN SINGH v. MT. JANKI KUAR. 20 L. W. 566 (P. C.) :

26 Bom. L. R. 1134 : 40 C. L. J. 468 :

35 M. L. T. 247 (P. C.) : 46 A. 728 :

51 I. A. 326 : 10 W. N. 426 : 82 I. C. 946 :

1924 P. C. 213 : 47 M. L. J. 591.

—S. 115—Acquiescence. MT. KOKLA KUNWAR v. KALIAN MAL. 76 I. C. 585.

—S. 115—Alienation by Hindu father—Son not objecting to mutation—Estoppel.

Where the alienee from a Hindu father applied for mutation of names and the son on being examined in the proceedings did not object to the alienation, he is thereafter estopped from challenging the same, as he must be deemed to have represented that it was a valid transaction. (Daniels, J.) SHEO DAN SINGH v. HABIB ULLAH KHAN. 1924 All. 721

—S. 115—Attestation by interested near relatives—Presumption of knowledge of contents.

Mere attestation by a person does not necessarily import knowledge of the contents of the document attested but there may arise circumstances from which an inference may be deducible that the attesting witness was aware of the nature of the document he was attesting. Where a sale deed executed by a Mahomedan was attested by his mother and sister. Held, such close relatives would have been aware of the nature of the document to which they were asked to append their signature; And as it is not usual for Mahomedan purdanashin women to attest documents, the attestation in the present case was in all probability insisted upon by the purchaser to bind the ladies by the sale. (Raymond and Madgarkar, A. J. C.) AZIZULLAH KHAN v. GHULAM HUSSEIN.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 115.

1924 S. 97 : 80 I. C. 994 : 17 S. L. R. 63.

—S. 115—Conduct creates estoppel.

No actual verbal representation is necessary to give rise to estoppel. It is quite enough that the conduct of the party leads another to act in the belief that he asserts no claim to the property. 19 I. A. 203 Foll. (Raymond and Madgarkar, A. J. C.) AZIZULLAH KHAN v. GHULAM HUSSEIN.

17 S. L. R. 63 : 80 I. C. 994 : 1924 Sind 97.

—S. 115—Estoppel by conduct—Adoption—change of circumstances—Widow estopped from disputing adoption.

Where a Hindu widow adopted a boy and on adoption the boy's name and house name were changed, he took the name of his adoptive grandfather and the house name of the adoptive father, his upanayanam marriage and grahapravesam were performed at the instance of the widow, the boy performed the Shradhs of his adoptive ancestors, and he was excluded from all rights in the natural family. Held, that the widow was estopped from denying the validity of the adoption on the ground of want of consent of the sapindas. 34 A. 398 (P. C.) foll. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) VEDLA VENKATASUBBAMMA v. VEDLA VENKAMMA

19 L. W. 83 : 1924 M. W. N. 1 : 77 I. C. 214 : 1924 Mad 308

—S. 115—Estoppel—Building on land—Silence—Duty to speak—Negligent omission.

1924 Cal. 438

—S. 115—Estoppel by representation—Tenants-in-common—Conduct of one how far estops others.

It cannot be said that a Mahomedan tenant-in-common can be held to be represented by another Mahomedan tenant in common merely because their interests are identical. Per Mukerji, J. The rule of estoppel by substantial representation is based on broad principles. The rule applies with great force in the case of a Hindu family simply because of the constitution of it, but in other cases only if the facts are sufficient for its support. The object of this rule is this. The Court is to dispense justice and the rules of procedure should not be allowed to defeat the ends of justice. (Stuart and Mukerji, JJ.) KARIM BAKHSH v. WAHAB-UD-DIN.

46 A. 214 : L. R. 5 A. 5 (Rev.) : 22 A. L. J. 73 : 78 I. C. 1033 : 1924 All. 427.

—S. 115—Estoppel—Point of law—None.

There is no estoppel by reason of a misrepresentation on a point of law and a transaction which is invalid can be declared to be such at the instance of either party thereto. (Baker, J. C.) MT. KESARBAI v. JAMADAR.

20 N. L. R. 162 : 82 I. C. 126.

—S. 115—Estoppel—Rival claimants Truth of representation—Legal representatives and transferees of parties bound by estoppel.

A Hindu testator left his estate in favour of his wife by will but the will was disputed by a rival claimant. Subsequently the parties compromised the dispute and the rival claimant acknowledged the widow as legatee under the will and she in her turn allowed him to retain $\frac{2}{3}$ of the estate during her life time. Held that neither the rival claimants nor any transferee from him could dispute the validity of the will. (Dalal, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) SYED MD. HASAN v. SYED ALI HYDER.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 116.

10 O. & A. L. R. 1229 : 1 O. W. N. 803.

—S. 115—Compliance with Court's order.

The fact that the plaintiffs paid without demur the small ad valorem Court-fee in pursuance of the order of an earlier date does not debar them from questioning the validity or illegality of the Court demanding ad valorem Court fee when subsequently the Court demanded a much larger fee since a fresh cause of action accrued to the plaintiffs on the later date when additional Court-fee was demanded. (Jwala Prasad and Foster, JJ.) MANI LAL v. DURGA PRASAD.

5 Pat. L. T. 425 : 3 Pat. 930 : 80 I. C. 667 (2) : 1924 P. 673 : 1924 Pat. 254.

—S. 115—Mortgagor—If can plead want of title—Knowledge—Effect of.

A mortgagor is estopped from pleading in a suit on the mortgage that he had no title to the property at the date of the document. But if the mortgagee is proved to be well aware of the actual facts as regards the mortgagor's title to the property, the plea of estoppel is not available to him.

Whoever wants to get out of the estoppel must establish knowledge on the part of the mortgagee of the defect of title, and the burden of proof is on him. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) TULSIRAM v. TUKARAM

1924 Nag. 363.

—S. 115—Old coins—Stolen property—Accused if to explain possession.

In the case of coins which are in common use where the allegation is they were stolen and were identified to be the ones which were stolen, the onus is on the accused to explain how he came to possess them. (May Oung, J.) MAUNG LAY v. EMPEROR.

77 I. C. 429 : 25 Cr. L. J. 381 : 1924 Bang. 173.

—S. 115—Signing of award—Withdrawal of Suit in—Consequence—Estoppel.

Where the parties to an arbitration sign the award and as a result thereof one of them withdraws a suit which he would otherwise have prosecuted, the other party is estopped from contesting the validity of the award. (Baker, O. J. C.) MANOHAR LAL v. MT. AMANO.

77 I. C. 41.

—S. 116—Estoppel—Landlord and tenant—Third parties not affected.

75 I. C. 495.

—S. 116—Estoppel—Mortgagor and mortgagee—Mortgagee put into possession by mortgagor—Denial of title.

Where a mortgagee is put into possession by the mortgagor in pursuance of the contract of mortgage, he is estopped from denying the title of his mortgagor during the continuance of the mortgage. The principle of estoppel between the mortgagor and the mortgagee works in favour of and against both of them. The mortgagor is estopped from denying his own authority to mortgage the property. On the other hand the mortgagee is estopped from denying the authority of the mortgagor to mortgage his property, 36 Bom. 185 followed. (Hazir Hasan, J. C.) IBAD ASHRAF v. INAYAT ULLAH.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 116.

10 O & A. L. R. 697 : 1 O. W. N. 346 :
80 I. C. 62 : 11 O. L. J. 722.

S. 116—Payment of rent—Estoppel.

Where rent is paid, but not under circumstances which would establish a relationship as between the parties of landlord and tenant, the tenant is not estopped from showing that the person to whom he paid the rent is not the landlord. (Mukerjee, J.) ABDUL RAJJAK SIKDUR v. PROMADA SUNDARI DEVI.

80 I. C. 22.

S. 116—Estoppel—Tenant.

10 O & A. L. R. 64.

S. 116—Landlord and tenant—Estoppel—Denial of title—Admission through mistake or ignorance. Mr. LAXMIBAI v. DEVI. 1924 Nag. 62.

S. 116—Tenant not let into possession—Estoppel—Possession prior to lease—Effect.

A tenant who has executed a lease but has not been let into possession by the lessor is estopped from denying his lessor's title in the absence of proof that he executed the lease in ignorance of the defect in the lessor's title or that the execution of the lease was procured by fraud, misrepresentation or coercion. The mere fact that the tenant was in possession prior to the execution of the terms does not prevent the doctrine of estoppel from being applied. (Broadway, J.) MELA RAM v. MT. BHOLI.

76 I. C. 47 :
1925 Lah. 60.

S. 116—Scope of—Title prior to tenancy—Title paramount—Eviction.

S. 116 Evidence Act, is no bar to a tenant showing that his landlord had no title at a date previous to the commencement of the tenancy or that since its commencement it has expired or has been defeated because the bar operates only during the continuance of the tenancy. In a case of eviction by title paramount actual and open surrender of possession to the intermediate landlord is not necessary 2 M. 556 Ref. (Wallace, J.) RAMASWAMI THEVAN v. ALAGA PILLAI.

79 I. C. 881 : 1925 Mad. 143.

S. 118—Minor—Evidence of.

A Judge can act on the evidence of a child of tender years if he is impressed by its intelligence and demeanour and the evidence given bears no marks of tutorage. (Shadi Lal, C.J. and Lumsden, J.) GHULAM HUSSAIN v. THE CROWN.

6 Lah. L. J. 474 : 1925 Lah. 94.

S. 125—Defamation—Police Report—Plea of justification—Privilege—Extent of.

Statements made in the course of a judicial proceeding are absolutely privileged. But information given or report made to the police does not come within this principle. The report may or may not lead to a judicial proceeding but it is a preliminary step taken before any judicial proceeding has been commenced. A report made at a police station, though not within the rule of absolute privilege which covers judicial proceedings, is prima facie privileged, that is to say, the person making it has a right to make it if he honestly believes it, and the person receiving it has a duty to receive. But qualified privilege, as the term indicates, provides only a qualified protection, and the person charged with defamation must prove that he used the privilege honestly, honestly believing the truth of what he said, or in other words, having reasonable grounds for making the statement; and the onus of establishing that lies upon him. Where the statement is made with reference to something in which the person making the complaint was himself involved as a party, it is impossible for him to have had an honest belief in its truth if it is shown to be untrue. Therefore in a case of qualified privilege, where the defendant sets up in defence that the allegation is true to his own knowledge, the defence of qualified privilege becomes impossible. (Walsh, C.J., Ryves and Dalal, JJ.) MAJHU v. LACHMAN PRASAD.

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 132.

L. R. 5 A. 478 : 46 A. 671 :
22 A. L. J. 597 : 1924 All. 535.

S. 126—Attorney and client—Duty of attorney to keep his client's instructions and documents secret—Extent of duty—Privilege of client.

An attorney cannot disclose any communication made to him in the course of his professional employment without the consent of both his clients, if he has been engaged by more than one person in the same matter. It may be that as between the two parties who engaged the same solicitor or attorney there can be no secrecy or privilege. At the same time as between a third party and any one of the two parties who engaged him his lips are sealed with respect to communications made to him in the course and for the purpose of his employment as a solicitor or attorney. If the engagement was given on behalf of two persons, whatever the position of the attorney may be with reference to these communications as between the two persons, he could not disclose these communications to any one beyond those persons without the consent of both. The obligations to keep undisclosed matters which ought not be disclosed has nothing to do with the question whether at the time when the communications were made there was any pending litigation or any prospect of it. (Shah, A. C. J., Kaji and Kincaid, JJ.) IN RE AN ATTORNEY.

26 Bom. L. R. 887 : 1925 Bom. 1.

S. 132—Witnesses for defence—Voluntary statements in court—Subsequent prosecution against witness.

"Compulsion" within the meaning of S. 132 of the Evidence Act is a question of fact. Where in a criminal trial for wrongful possession of cocaine, a witness for the defence made certain statements favourable to the accused with a view to convince the court of the innocence of the accused and subsequently a prosecution was launched against the witness for such statements which proved to be false. Held, that the statements were not excluded by S. 132 of the Evidence Act. 42 A. 257 ;

EVIDENCE ACT (I OF 1872), S. 133.

42 A. 92 Ref. (Walsh and Ryres, JJ.) EMPEROR
v. BANARSI. 46 A. 254 : L. R. 5 A. 73 (Cr.) :
77 I. C. 829 : 22 A.L.J. 144 : 25 Cr. L. J. 477.

—S. 133—Accomplice—Corroboration of testimony—Conviction.

It is the practice of all the courts to demand a certain amount of corroboration before they are prepared to accept the tainted evidence of an accomplice. The extent of the corroboration must vary according to the circumstances of the case, and although a conviction on the unsupported evidence of an accomplice is not illegal, it is safer as a rule, only to rely upon it when it has been corroborated by other evidence, either direct or circumstantial, which cannot be doubted. (Watson, R. M.) NARAYANA CHARI v. EMPEROR. 2 Mys. L. J. (B. and C.) 11.

—S. 133—Accomplice—Uncorroborated testimony—Conviction—Direction to jury.

There is no doubt that the uncorroborated evidence of an accomplice is admissible in law. But it has long been a rule of practice, for the Judge to warn the jury of the danger of convicting a prisoner on the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice or accomplices and, in the discretion of the Judge, to advise them not to convict upon such evidence; but the Judge should point out to the jury that it is within their legal province to convict upon such confirmed evidence. (Richardson and Suhrawardy, JJ.) EMPEROR v. JAMALDI FAKIR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1000 : 81 I.C. 712 : 51 Cal. 160 : 28 C. W. N. 536 : 1924 Cal. 701.

—S. 133—Approver—Conviction based on evidence given by—Legality.

There is no positive legal bar to taking an approver's evidence as a basis for a conviction, but unless some reliable corroboration on a material point were superadded to it, it would, in almost all cases, be unsafe to accept it as conclusive. (May Oung, J.) MAUNG LAY v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 381 : 77 I. C. 429 : 1924 Rang. 173.

—S. 133—Corroboration of accomplice—Extent of.

76 I. C. 698 : 25 Cr. L. J. 234.

—S. 138—Examination of witnesses—Interference by Court.

Generally it is not the province of the Court to examine witnesses and as a rule the Court should leave the witnesses to the pleaders to be dealt with as is provided for in Section 138 of the Evidence Act. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) JANKI v. THAKUR SHEO NARAIN SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 342 : 11 O. L. J. 333 : 1 O. W. N. 208 : 82 I. C. 154 (1) : 25 Cr. L. J. 1226 (1) : 1924 Oudh 371.

—S. 145—Documents tendered after evidence.

L. R. 5 P. C. 25 : 28 C. W. N. 589 : 77 I. C. 141 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 521.

—S. 157—Evidence before Committing Magistrate may be corroborated by statement during police investigation—Criminal P. C. S. 288.

The object and effect of section 288 of the Criminal Procedure Code is to place the deposition in the committal enquiry on exactly the same footing as the deposition in the Sessions

EXECUTING COURT.

Court. Such a deposition is "testimoney" within the meaning of S. 157 of the Evidence Act, which, a prior statement by the witness during the police investigation is admissible in evidence to corroborate. 1923 Mad. 20 and 27 Cal. 295 Foll. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, JJ.) MAM CHAND v. THE CROWN. 5 Lah. 324 : 82 I. C. 129 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1201 : 1924 Lah. 609.

—S. 157—Rape—Statement of victim to inquirers after offence—Admissibility.

A statement of a raped girl that she had been raped in answer to enquiries by persons who saw her weeping is admissible under S 157 Evidence Act. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) SO SALAL BANIA v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1214 : 82 I. C. 142 : 1925 Nag. 74.

—S. 167—Improper admission of evidence—Effect of.

Under S. 167 Evidence Act the improper admission of evidence is not ground of itself for reversal, if apart from it there is other evidence to support the decision. Ordinarily in such cases the case should be remanded to the trial court to exclude the evidence and give a fresh finding with reference to the rest of the evidence. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) KUMBA SANKARA CHENNA BASAPPA v. KILLI MARAPPA. 82 I.C. 283 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1275.

EXCESS PROFITS DUTY ACT (X OF 1919) S. 18

—Proceedings for the recovery of duty—Limitation Rules framed under the Act—Rule 24, 1924 Lah. 54.

EXECUTING COURT—Decree—Interpretation of—Power of executing court to question jurisdiction of court.

It is impossible for a court executing the decree to go beyond the decree and to enquire whether the Court was entitled to pass that decree in view of what was actually alleged by the plaintiff in the plaint. (Das and Ross, JJ.) HAKIM MAHOMED IDRIS v. LACHMAN DAS. 1924 P. H. C. C. 25 : 5 Pat. L. T. 368 : 78 I. C. 303 : 1924 Pat. 504.

—Decree—Legality of not to be questioned.

The first and fundamental rule of law is that an executing Court cannot go behind the decree. The effect of entertaining the objection as to the legality and correctness of the decree would be to re-open the decree, while, as a matter of fact the Court executing the decree must take the decree as it stands. It has no power to go behind the decree, the reason being that a decree though it may not be according to law is binding and conclusive between the parties if it is not appealed from, and it is for these reasons that the Court executing a decree cannot alter, vary, or add to, the terms of that decree. (Kin Kaid, O. A. J. C.) BEHARI SINGH v. NAWAL SINGH. 20 N. L. B. 24 : 78 I. C. 136 : 1924 Nag. 81.

—Decree—Validity of, not to be questioned.

It is not competent to the executing court to set aside a decree passed in an erroneously framed suit against a wrong party. (Greaves and Graham, JJ.) KUDRATULLA SARKAR v. UPENDRA KUMAR CHOUDHURY. 40 C. L. J. 254 : 1925 Cal. 208.

EXECUTING COURT.

Decree—Validity of, not to be impeached.

Where an order of the privy council has been drawn up and has become final, the courts in India are bound to respect it and carry the same into execution and the mistakes, in the order if any, could only be rectified by the Privy Council. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwantsahay, JJ.) SOMAR SINGH v. MT. PREMDEI KUER.

5 Pat. L. T. 21: 1924 P. 105: 3 Pat. 327 :
79 I. C. 794 : 1925 Pat. 40.

Duty of—Cannot go behind decree.

The executing court has to take the decree as it is and to enforce its provisions. It is bound by the terms of the decree and has no power to go behind it or to enter into questions beyond its scope. (Campbell, J.) FAQIR MUHAMMAD KHAN v. PIRDAD KHAN. 1924 Lah. 615.

Duty of, to execute decree as it stands—Minor—Decree against—Want of representation.

An executing Court has no jurisdiction to criticise or go behind the decree; all that concerns it is the execution of it. If the decree should be annulled as being obtained against a minor without proper representation, that is not the function of the executing court. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Le Rossignol, J.) THE LAHORE BANK, LTD. v. GHULAM JILANI. 5 Lah. 54 : 78 I. C. 460 : 1924 Lah. 448.

Duty of—Proper parties before Court.

It is the duty of an executing court to see that the parties to the execution were properly before the court, and in the case of a debtor whose property is in the Court of Wards, the manager must be impleaded. (Das and Ross, JJ.) SIDHESWARI PRASAD NARAYAN SINHA v. DALHIN RADHA DULARI KUER. 80 I. C. 716.

Powers of—Validity of decree.

An executing court cannot question the validity of the decree provided there is a valid decree in existence which can be executed. (Pearson and Graham, JJ.) SKINATH CHATTERJEE v. KIDAR NAMB KAI. 82 I. C. 255 : 1925 Cal. 276.

Powers of.

An executing court cannot go behind the decree (Jackson, J.) PARTHASARATHY APPA RAO v. MUHAMMAD ABDUL WAHEB. 82 I. C. 434 : 1925 Mad. 270.

Powers of—Amendment of decree.

An executing court has no power to go behind a decree or entertain any objection to its legality or correctness (Baker, O. J. C. and Pritchard, A. J. C.) GANPATRAO v. TULSABAI. 1924 Nag. 419.

Powers of.

An executing court must take the decree as it stands and cannot investigate the question whether the decree was obtained collusively or not. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) BEHARISINGH v. NEWAL SINGH. 20 N.L.R. 24 : 78 I. C. 136; 1924 Nag. 81.

Power to modify decree.

In execution, the Court may modify the decree by directing payments by instalments. 8 B. 303 Ref. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) SIDAGAVADA v. RAMCHANDRA BALAJI. 1924 Bom. 118.

EXECUTION.

Powers of—Objection to legality of decree—Excessive rate of interest—Contract Act, S. 74.

An Executing Court cannot go behind a decree. It must take the decree as it stands and has no power to entertain an objection to the legality of the decree. The terms of S. 74 of the Contract Act are not applicable to a decree and a decree-holder is entitled to recover interest at the rate prescribed in the decree. There is no difference in this respect between compromise decree and decrees on contest. (Daniels and Dalal, JJ.) RAGHUNANDAN PRASAD v. GHULAM ALAUDDIN BEG. 46 A. 571 : 79 I. C. 916.

22 A.L.J. 464 : L. R. 5 A. 356 : 1924 A.L. 689

Powers of—Award—Powers of—Penalty if can be relieved against.

A court when executing an award has no power to modify the award by granting relief against a clause which happens to be penal. (Harrison, J.) KESHO RAM v. THAKUR DAS. 78 I. C. 80.

EXECUTION—Court—Powers of—Construction of decree—Alienation from Hindu widow—Money decree against reversioners—Right to mesne profits.

An executing court has only to interpret the decree. It cannot go behind it or interpret it in a manner wholly repugnant to the tenor of the judgment.

Where a decree holds an alienation by a Hindu widow to be not binding on the estate but awards a money decree to him and in default possession is to remain with him, he is not entitled to mesne profits. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) MT. BANI v. NAKSOO. 1924 Nag. 378.

Application—Verification—By person other than decree-holder—Person verifying well acquainted with facts—Application valid. See C. P. CODE, O. 21, R. 11. 28 C. W. N. 687.

Death of judgment debtor—Effect.

Execution cannot proceed against a judgment debtor who is dead and whose representatives are not on record. (Baker, A. J. C.) RAMSWARUP v. RAGHUNANDAN. 1924 Mad. 165.

Decree satisfied—Court if can alter arrangement.

Where a money decree is satisfied by the debtor giving a lease of some property for a fixed period and thereupon the execution application is consigned to the record room, the court becomes functus officio and cannot thereafter direct a cancellation of the lease on the proportionate amount of the decree being paid. (Martineau, J.) HIRA SINGH v. MADHO. 1924 Lah. 634.

Estoppel—Party aware of proceedings—No objection raised—Effect.

Where a party is aware of execution proceedings against him and does not object to the same, he cannot challenge the validity of a sale on the ground that no notice was actually served on him (Oldfield and Devadoss, JJ.) NAGAPPA CHETTY v. MUTHURAMAN CHETTY. 78 I.C. 12: 1925 Mad. 159.

Failure of judgment debtor to raise objection to sale—Position of purchaser.

Where the judgment debtor fails to object at the time of sale that the property is not liable to sale under S. 60 (c), C. P. Code, he cannot in subsequent proceedings raise that objection. A stranger auction purchaser is justified in believing that the court had done what it ought to do under the Code. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MUKAT SINGH v. MISRA PARAS RAM. 1924 All. 726.

EXECUTION.

—Modes of—Arrest of Judgment-debtor—Power of Court to stay.

It is for the judgment-creditor to elect his remedies in execution, subject, of course, to such rules as there may be, governing a particular case. Consequently where the decree-holder applies for execution of the decree by arrest of the judgment-debtor the court has no power to stay execution against the person of the debtor on condition of his paying a portion of the decree amount within a certain time (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) SYED AGAJAN SAHIB v. ABDUL MAJID KHAN SAHIB. 19 L. W. 164 : (1924) M. W. N. 265; 77 I. C. 764 (1) : 1924 Mad. 512.

—Mortgage—Preliminary decree.

A preliminary decree in a mortgage suit is not capable of execution. (Das and Ross, JJ.) SIDHES WARI PRASAD NARAYAN SINGH v. DULHIN RADHA DALARI KUAR. 80 I. C. 716.

—Mortgage decree—Order in which properties are to be sold—Power of Court—Rights of decreeholder.

A mortgagee decreeholder is entitled to have all the properties mortgaged to him, put up for sale, but it is entirely in the discretion of the court to direct in which order the properties should be sold. All the properties must be advertised for sale and when they are actually brought into execution and become subject to sale it would be then for the court to decide on just and equitable principles which property ought to be first sold 15 C. W. N. 80 Ref. (Das and Ross, JJ.) BHAGWAN CHANDRA DAS v. RAI SAHIB DHARAM NARAIN DAS. 2 Pat. L. R. 242 : 3 Pat. 962 : 1924 P. 502.

—Mortgage decree—Sale of properties in particular order—Application for—Maintainability—Application to that effect refused in suit itself—Effect—Purchase of some items by A without notice—Usufructuary Mortgage of other items to B with notice—Order of sale in case of.

Of several items of property comprised in a mortgage, appellant purchased items 1 to 3 without notice of the mortgage and other items were usufructuarily mortgaged to persons who took with notice of the prior mortgage. In execution of the decree on the prior mortgage, appellant who was a party to the suit, applied that the other items might be sold first, and that those purchased by him might be sold only for the deficit, if any on the sale thereof. Held that the application was not liable to be dismissed on the sole ground that a similar application by him had been refused in the mortgage suit itself; that the decree-holder could not be prejudiced by the order of selling, and that in the circumstances of the case, the application should be granted (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) RAGHAVACHARIAR v. KRISHNA REDDI. 19 L. W. 23 : (1924) M. W. N. 134 : 1924 Mad. 509 : 46 M. L. J. 32.

EXECUTION SALE.

—Set off—Not pleaded in suit or recognised by decree—Not to be pleaded in execution proceedings.

Where the defendant in a suit had not pleaded any set-off in respect of the amount due to him from the plaintiff and the decree in the suit did not recognise the claim for set-off, it is not open to him to plead it in execution proceedings. (Kendall, A. J. C.) NATIONAL BANK OF UPPER INDIA LTD. v. GOPAL DAS. 10 O. & A. L. R. 399; 110 I. J. 517 : 100 W. N. 290 : 81 I. C. 651 (2) 1924 Oudh 434.

—Validity of decree—If open to question—Compromise decree—If different from decree after contest.

In the course of execution proceedings it is not open to a party to a decree to question the validity of a compromise decree which, until it is set aside, is binding just as much as if it had been passed after contest. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) KOTHANDARAMASWAMY NAIDU v. PAPPAMMAL 79 I. C. 891 : 1925 Mad. 218.

EXECUTION PROCEEDINGS—Dismissal for default of execution application—Rest ration. See C. P. CODE O. 9, R. 9. 47 M. L. J. 269.

EXECUTION SALE—Bona fide purchasers—Protection to. 1924 Mad. 144.

—Legality of—Property in the hands of Receiver—Leave of Court—Necessity for

The objection that properties were sold in execution without the consent of the court by which the Receiver was appointed is not such as would render the sale void : at most, it was merely an irregularity by which the judgment-debtor not having been prejudiced, the sale could not be set aside. (Richardson and Suhrawardy, JJ.) KARIMUNNESSA KHATUN v. FAZLAL KARIM. 40 C. L. J. 78 : 1923 Cal. 1055.

—Legality of—Property sold on different date from the date fixed—No notice to Judgment debtor—Sale a nullity.

In execution of a decree certain property had been ordered to be sold on 1-7-1922 which day being a holiday, the sale was adjourned. Subsequently in a suit by the sisters of the judgment-debtor claiming title to the property, an injunction was asked for restraining the sale of the property in execution. The injunction petition was posted to 7-7-1922 and the execution case was posted also to that date. On that date the injunction petition was dismissed and the property was put up for sale without any previous notice to the judgment debtor that the sale would be held on that date. Held that the sale was a nullity and not binding on the judgment debtor. (Greaves and Chakravarty, JJ.) MOTAHAR HOSSAIN v. MOHAMMAD YAKUB. 40 C. L. J. 311 : 1925 Cal. 201.

—Minor—Not properly represented—Effect on sale.

An execution sale held under a decree properly obtained against a minor is not a nullity owing to the improper representation of the minor during the execution proceedings 25 Bom. 337 : 35 C. 226 : 15 C. L. J. 3 : 44 A. 525, 49 C. 635 Ref. (Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) JINNAT ALI v. KAILAS CHANDRA CHOUDHURY. 39 C. L. J. 284 : 81 I. C. 870 (2). 1924 al. 847.

EXECUTION SALE.

———Objection to—When to be taken.

1924 Pat. 182.

———Purchaser—Rights of—Equities.

A purchaser at a sale in execution of a decree takes the property subject to all the equities of the judgment-debtor and he cannot take up the position of a bona fide purchaser for value without notice. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) GALSTAIN v. SONATAN PAL. 78 I. C. 668.

———Rent decree—No warranty of title—Suit for recovery of purchase money on the ground of want of saleable interest in the judgment-debtor.

There is no warranty of title in sales in execution of a rent decree and it is not open to the purchaser to maintain a suit for the recovery of the purchase money against the decree-holder and the judgment debtor on the ground that they had no saleable interest in the land. 22 C. W. N. 760 Ref. (Rankin and Ghose, JJ.) BANKU BEHARI DAS v. GURU DAS DHAR. 40 C. L. J. 157.

———Rights of purchaser—Mortgage decrees against same person—Sale of property—Decree on prior mortgage satisfied—Execution of second decree—Sale if free of prior incumbrances—Sale by Collector.

Two decrees were passed in favour of two mortgagees against the same mortgagor. The decree on the puisne mortgage ordered the sale of the property included in the prior mortgage decree. The puisne mortgagee satisfied the prior mortgage decree and claimed that the amount of the prior decree should be added to the decree on his own mortgage. This was refused and the decree on the puisne mortgage was sent to the Collector for execution. The puisne mortgage decree-holder applied to the Collector that the property should be sold free from the incumbrance. The property was sold and the proceeds brought into Court. Held that the property sold was free from the incumbrance created in favour of the prior mortgagee and the money realised must be credited towards the satisfaction of the decree on the prior mortgage and the balance towards the decree on the puisne mortgage. 16 All. 1; 37 B. 32 Ref. (Stuart and Mookerjee, JJ.) ABDUL SHAKUR v. MAHOMED MATIN. 22 A. L. J. 202; L. R. 5 A. 93; 78 I. C. 429. 46 A. 414; 1924 All. 307.

———Sale certificate—Construction—Ambiguity—Extrinsic evidence.

If a sale certificate is ambiguous the court is entitled to look into the surrounding circumstances and its conclusion upon those facts would be binding on the High Court in second appeal. If however there is no ambiguity the court cannot go into extrinsic evidence. (Das and Ross, JJ.) LACHMI PRASAD TEWARI v. BALUNANDAN SINGH. 1924 P. H. C. C. 271; 1924 P. 805.

———Validity of—Order releasing property from attachment—Order not communicated to officer holding sale.

By an order of court certain property which had been ordered to be put up for sale in execution was released from attachment but before the order could reach the officer holding the sale, the sale had been concluded Held, that the sale was invalid and ineffective. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) JITMAL v. HUMBERLAL. 20 N. L. R. 168; 1925 Nag. 60.

EXTRADITION ACT (XV OF 1903), S. 10.

EXECUTOR—Acceptance of office—If can subsequently renounce—Liabilities of. See WILL—EXECUTOR. 6 Lah. L. J. 454.

———Renunciation—Effect—If a necessary party to suit relating to estate—Executor de son tort—Position of.

It is a well established principle that an executor who has once acted cannot evade his liabilities by afterwards renouncing his duties and that any such renouncement is void. This principle applies also to an executor de son tort and having taken upon himself the duties of an executor in connection with the estate of the deceased he continues liable to be sued in the character of executor; he is a proper and necessary party to any proceedings in which the estate of the deceased is sought to be affected, and if he is not impleaded the estate is not bound. (Scott-Smith and Eforde, JJ.) KESAR SINGH v. INDAR SINGH. 76 I. C. 172; 6 Lah. L. J. 454; 1924 Lah. 543.

———Renunciation—Retraction of—Application for probate—English and Indian Law See PROB. AND ADMN. ACT, SS. 16 AND 17.

61 Cal. 745.

———Title of—Derived from will and not from probate—Representation of estate.

Every executor derives his title from the will and not from the probate. The probate is indeed the only proper evidence of the executor's appointment, but notwithstanding this, it is clear the executor represents the estate of the testator from the time of his death. There is clear provision to this effect in S. 179 of the Indian Succession Act which declares that the executor is the legal representative of the deceased for all purposes, and all the property of the deceased person vests in him as such. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MEGHRAJ v. KRISHNA CHANDRA. 46 A. 286; 22 A. L. J. 193; L. R. 5 A. 193; 78 I. C. 243; 1924 All. 365.

EXTRADITION—Applicability—Berar.

The Extradition Act does not apply to a case of extradition from Berar to the Hyderabad State, which is governed solely by the treaty between the State and the Government of India. (Baker, O. J. C.) DADIPRASAD v. DT. MAGISTRATE, YEOTMAL. 77 I. C. 234; 25 Cr. L. J. 346; 1924 Nag. 313.

EXTRADITION ACT (XV OF 1903) S. 7—Warrant of extradition—Validity.

A warrant of extradition signed by an officer who has not been empowered to do so is invalid. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) SADHAK GIR v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 687; 81 I. C. 175; 1925 P. 112.

———Ss. 10 (4) and 23—Person arrested by police without warrant—Detention by magistrate under S. 23 of the Extradition Act—Power of Magistrate to release on bail. See CR. P. CODE SS. 54 AND 497.

26 Bom. L. R. 984.

FACTORIES ACT (XII OF 1911), S. 18.

FACTORIES ACT (XII OF 1911) Ss. 18 (2) and 41 (g).—Order issued by inspector for fencing—Disobedience—Prosecution—Essentials of

The accused owned a factory for stamping metal in Bombay. On 30-7-1923 the Inspector of Factories visited the factory and made the following entry in the visit-book :—" Press guards or guards automatic in operation to be fitted within five months". Nothing was done within the time allowed. The Inspector again visited the factory on 7-1-1924 and made a note in his book to the effect that if the guards be not put up, prosecution will be instituted. The guards were not put up and one of the workmen sustained an injury. On 27-2-1924 the Inspector filed information against the owner and manager of the factory under S. 41 (b) for breach of S. 18 (3) of the Indian Factories Act, with respect to the guarding of power presses. The owner was convicted. Held that the conviction was illegal. A mere entry of the Inspector's order in his visit book even with the knowledge of the manager or the manager of the family is not an order issued under S. 18 (2) of the Factories Act. It must be shown that the order in writing was brought to the specific notice of the individual affected. The order should specifically state the measures to be taken by the manager and it should be served definitely on the manager. (Marlen and Fawcett, JJ.) EMPEROR v. NARAYEN ANANT.

26 Bom. L. R. 1245 : 1925 Bom. 143.

FAMILY ARRANGEMENT—Actings of parties—Document not registered—Effect.

Where disputes between the parties are settled by a family arrangement which has been acted upon for some time but the document which is compulsorily registerable is not registered, a court of equity will uphold such an arrangement, even though the legal forms have not been complied with. (Baker, J. C.) BAKARAM v. NARAYAN.

1924 Nag. 373.

— — — Compromise of disputed claim—Registration unnecessary. See REGISTRATION ACT, S. 17 (2) (ii).

L. R. 5 A. 736.

— — — Division of property—Unregistered deed—Parties put into possession—Part performance.

Where parties being members of a family, agreed not to go to law and not to fight out their disputes, but by a mutual arrangement, frequently described as a family arrangement, carry into execution their mutual promises so that the original contract by which they decided to terminate the disputes becomes an executed contract on both sides and nothing remains to be done, the parties continuing each in the enjoyment of the interest which the other agreed that he should take, the Courts in India, applying the rule of equity and good conscience, will not permit either party who has bound himself both by the contract and by its performance, to repudiate what he has done, and will also prohibit any person claiming under him from attempting the same thing. 45, All. 277 ; 40 All. 487 ; 24 C. W. N. 105 ; 42, Cal. 801, referred to. (Walsh, A. J.) C. and Ryves, J. KUNTI v. GAJRAJ TEWARI.

22 A. L. J. 779 : L. R. 5 A. 568 : 1924 All. 826

FOREIGN COURT.

— — — What is.

A family arrangement presupposes a claim by some member of the family to part of the family property which is settled by an arrangement between the members of the family recognising the claimant's real or supposed rights. (Baker, O. J. C.) LALLU PRASAD v. BABULAL.

1924 Nag. 214.

FISHERY—Grant of—Navigable river—Exclusive right—Proof of—Right to levy tolls—Sayer—Grant of, if conveys exclusive fishery.

Where at the time of the Decennial Settlement in Bengal the right of fishery over a Jalkar was recognised as valuable and the revenue derived by the zemindars in the form of a toll on fisherman was taken into account in fixing the jama and the revenue was left to the zemindars it cannot be said that it was intended by the East India Co. to affirm the right of exclusive fishery in the sense that the zemindars could refuse to let anybody fish or insist upon having the exclusive right of fishing.

The evidence upon which a person claims an exclusive right of fishing in navigable river must be plain and clear. It is no doubt in the power of the Government, in right of the Crown as successor to the East India Company to grant such exclusive right of fishing in a navigable river. Since about 1860, the policy of making such grants has been greatly doubted. But such grants were not uncommon in Bengal in earlier times and if proved, they are perfectly legal. But they have to be proved. Mere grant of rights to tolls are not rights of exclusive fishery. A mere mention in the revenue documents that certain classes of revenue are not being interfered with is not to be construed as granting exclusive right in navigable waters if other adequate and sufficient meaning can be found for them. Prima facie the waters of a navigable river are public juris and everybody has a right in India to fish in any navigable river whether tidal or not and it requires very strong and clear evidence to support a grant in exclusion of this right of the public.

Per Ghose, J. (Dubitante) : whether after the abolition of sayer, any zemindar has got any right to levy tolls or taxes with regard to the right of fishing by fishermen in a public navigable river. (Rankin and Ghose, JJ.) MIDNAPORE ZEMINDARY CO., LTD. v. TRILOKYA NATH HALDAR.

51 Cal. 110:

40 C. L. J. 238 : 81 I. C. 501 : 1924 Cal. 562.

FOREIGN COURT.—Submission to jurisdiction of—What amount to—Power of attorney empowering agent to represent principal in litigation in that Court—Execution of—Effect—Foreign judgment obtained on merit—Judgment delivered ex parte if and when a—Notice of suit to the defendant—Irregular in service of, not a ground for attaching decree—Decision of foreign Court as to sufficiency of service—Conviction of—Presumption.

The first defendant and his brother, who were trading in partnership in Ceylon executed a power of attorney to R, empowering him to represent the principals in litigations either as plaintiff or as defendant. Under the provisions of that power, R appointed G as his sub-agent during his absence from Ceylon. A suit was filed on promissory notes against the first defendant, and notice thereof was served on G as first defendant's agent. No appearance at all was put in on behalf of the first defendant, the case was allowed to proceed ex parte, and the suit was decreed.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

In a suit brought in British India against first defendant upon the judgment of the Ceylon Court. Held, (1) that the first defendant must, by reason of his having executed the power of attorney in favour of R be deemed to have submitted to the jurisdiction of the Court of Ceylon; (2) that the judgment sued upon though delivered ex parte, was one obtained on the merits; (3) that the decision of the Ceylon Court that the notice of the suit to the first defendant was sufficient must be taken to be correct in the absence of any evidence to the contrary; and (4) that, if there was any irregularity in the service of the notice, that point could not be raised in British Indian Courts as a ground for questioning the validity of the foreign judgment. (Phillips and Mudhavan Nair JJ.) JANOO HASSAN SAIT v. MAHOMED OHUTHU.

47 Mad. 877; 82 I. C. 425; 1925 Mad. 155;
47 M. L. J. 356.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE—Rate of—Suit on bills of exchange stated in foreign currency—Decree in rupees—Date of conversion into Indian currency.

Plaintiff obtained a decree for the value of eight bills of exchange, the value of six being stated in the dollar currency of the United States and the value of two in sterling. Held that the decretal amount in rupees was to be calculated in accordance with the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective dates when the bills matured for payment and not at the rate of exchange prevailing at the date when the decree was passed. In the absence of an agreement between the parties to the contrary, the decretal amount in the case of a bill is to be calculated in accordance with the rate of exchange prevailing on the date when the cause of action arose. The same rule is to be applied whether the cause of action is for a debt or for damages, and whether it sounds in contract or in tort. 48 C. 886. 890 Ref. (Page, J.) MULLER MACLEAN & Co. v. ATAULLA & Co.
51 Cal. 320; 81 I. C. 561; 1924 Cal. 778.

FOREIGN JUDGMENT—Defendant not served—Execution—Submission to decree—If defendant can afterwards challenge decree.

A decree was passed against a person in a foreign court though the defendant was not served with summons. It was transmitted to a British Indian Court for execution and then the defendant submitted to the decree. He later filed a suit for declaring the decree null and void and that the sale in execution of his property was also null and void. Held, having submitted to the execution proceedings, he cannot prejudice the rights of the auction-purchaser by means of such a suit. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) MALHAR NARAYAN v. VISHNU SONU GOVINDA.
26 Bom. L. R. 392; 1924 Bom. 351.

—Ex parte decree—Absent defendant—Decree not to be enforced.

FRAUD.

A decree passed ex parte by a foreign court against an absent person who at the time is a resident of the Mysore State and had not submitted himself to the jurisdiction of the foreign court, is a nullity which the court to which it is transferred may refuse to execute. 22 M. C. C. R. 186; 22 M. C. C. R. 188; 23 M. C. C. R. 299; 25 M. C. C. R. 269 Ref. The fact that the defendant was once represented by a lawyer does not show submission to jurisdiction. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) GURUMURTHIACHARI v. THIMMAIAH CHETTY.
2 Mys. L. J. 78.

FOREST ACT, Ss. 29 and 32—Protected forest declared to be reserved forest—Notification when it had ceased to be reserved forest—Effect of.

A particular area had formerly been "protected forest" within the meaning of chapter IV, Act VII of 1878; and in 1916 it had been removed from the category of "protected forest" and placed in the category of "reserved forest". Afterwards in 1922 by notification it ceased to be reserved forest. Held the effect of the notification was to restore the status of the land to what it was before, i.e., it again became "protected forest." Therefore the provisions of Sections 29 and 32 of the Forest Act would apply to it. (Stuart, J.) EMPEROR v. KAMLA PATI.
46 All. 128.
25 Cr. L. J. 999; 81 I. C. 711; 1924 All. 539.

—Ss. 39 and 41—"Timber and other forest produce"—Meaning of.

"Timber and other forest produce" in S. 41, Forest Act refers to what is described in S. 39. (Harrison, J.) LAL BADSHAH v. EMPEROR.
76 I. C. 104; 25 Cr. L. J. 104.

—S. 41—Rules under—Rr. 3 and 4—Removal of trees by licensee in excess of limit—Trees conveyed to wrong destination—Liability of forest officer.

The first accused was a forest contractor and the second accused was a forest officer. The first accused purchased and cut 44 sandalwood trees from Survey No. 32 and 9 trees from Survey Nos. 25 and 26. He obtained seven passes from the forest department giving him permission to remove 34 trees and 25 branches cut from Survey Nos. 25 and 26 under Rule 3 of the Rules under the Forest Act. The first accused with the knowledge and consent of the second accused removed the sandalwood trees he had cut in all the survey numbers and carried them away to a different destination from the one indicated in the passes. The wood was then cut off into chips. Held that the first accused was guilty of a breach of Rule No. 2 of the Rules framed under the Forest Act. It was not proved that the second accused was guilty because there was nothing to show that the trees removed under the passes exceeded the quantity and description of the forest produce mentioned in the passes and secondly because he had nothing to do with the destination to which the wood was carried. (Shah, A. C. J. and Kincaid, J.) EMPEROR v. PANDU.
26 Bom. L. R. 971; 1924 Bom. 439.

FRAUD—Execution sale—Judgment-debtor getting ex parte decree passed against him—Fictitious encumbrance in sale proclamation—Effect

FRAUD.

—Property sold for low price—Remedy of creditor. See C. P. CODE, O. 21, R. 90. 78 I. C. 108.

—Ex parte decree—Setting aside—What to prove.

An ex parte decree cannot be set aside on the ground of fraud so long as it is not established that, as a matter of fact, there was fraud in the service of notices and other processes of court by which the ex parte decree was obtained. (Mukerji, J.) PRITHURAM KALITA v. MAYARAM SARMA. 79 I. C. 330.

—Party if can rely on his own fraud—Plaintiff and defendant—Distinction between.

A plaintiff cannot rely on his own fraud to succeed in his suit, but a defendant who is resisting a claim stands on a different footing and is not precluded from setting up his own fraud. (Martineau, J.) RADHA KISHAN v. MOOL CHAND. 76 I. C. 128 : 1925 Lah. 27.

—Setting aside decree—On service of summons. 1924 P. 241

GAMBLING ACT (III OF 1887), Ss. 3, 4 and 5—Common gaming house—Proof—Independent evidence—Necessity for—Convictions under Ss. 3 and 4 if legal.

Where a warrant under S. 5 of the Public Gambling Act states definitely that the Superintendent of Police who issued it had received information which he considered reliable that the house in question was being used as a common gaming house, the presumption that official acts were regularly performed applies and independent evidence of this fact need not be produced at the trial.

The offences under S. 3 and S. 4 of the Gambling Act are different offences and a conviction under both the sections is legal. (Daniels, J. C.) CHOTAY LAL v. EMPEROR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 46 : 11 O. L. J. 347 : 25 Cr. L. J. 698 : 81 I. C. 186 : 1924 Oudh 403.

—Ss. 3 and 6—Amending Act I of 1917—Offence under—Instruments of gaming—Pieces of paper.

Accused wrote figures 1 to 10 on separate pieces of paper which he rolled up into a ball and placed in a jar which was then closed. At an appointed time in the afternoon the jar was opened and three balls were taken out of it at random and the numbers found on them were added up. Persons who had correctly guessed the last digit, received 9 times their stake, and those who correctly guessed the last two digits received 50 times. Bets were recorded up to the time of the opening of the jar. The 3 balls were then taken out, 2 of them were handed to the public and the third ball was retained by the accused who read out the figure written on it. The Magistrate of the district had issued a warrant under S. 5 of Act (III of 1887) and in accordance with that warrant the premises were searched. When they were searched a jar containing these balls of paper was found. Held that it was quite clear that these balls of paper were instruments of gaming. Without them the gaming could not possibly have been carried on. They were quite distinct from the slips of paper or books in which bets were entered. Such slips were not necessary for carrying on of the game but these balls of paper were. They were, therefore, implements of gaming found in a search duly authorised under the Act, and therefore the provisions of Section 6 applied. The finding of these balls in a jar in a house occupied by the accused raised a presumption of guilt and he was rightly convicted under S. 3 of Act III of 1876 as amended by Act I of 1917. (Mears, C. J., Lindsay and Ryves, JJ.) ATMA RAM v. EMPEROR.

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, S. 26.

22 A. L. J. 249 : L. R. 5 A. 83 (Cr.)

25 Cr. L. J. 902 : 46 All. 447 :

81 I. C. 438 : 1924 A. 338.

—S. 13—Public place—Definition of—Sata gambling.

The term "public place" is not defined by statute, and it may have different meanings for the purpose of different acts. Where it is not specifically defined, its value must be reasonably determined by the court and the circumstances in which it has been used. Where a place was used for sata gambling and the "place" consisted of an enclosure within a larger enclosure and the public street ran along one side of the larger enclosure held that the place was a public place within the meaning of S. 13 of the Gambling Act. (Boys, J.) TULSHI DAS v. EMPEROR.

22 A. L. J. 741 : L. R. 5 A. 149 (Cr.) :

46 A. 787 : 82 I. C. 476 :

25 Cr. L. J. 1308 : 1924 All. 768.

—S. 13—Public place what is—Question of fact.

To amount to a public place within the meaning of S. 13, the public must have lawful access to it. Mere proximity to a public thoroughfare is not a sure criterion. The access may be as a result of dedication or by consent of a private owner. The question in every case must be decided on the facts of each case and is essentially one of fact. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) SABINIYA v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1073 : 81 I. C. 897 : 1925 Nag. 123.

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (X OF 1897) S. 3 (25)—Immovable property—Security held by simple mortgagee if included.

The expression "benefits to arise out of land" in the Act was never intended to cover such a matter as the security held by a mortgagee under a simple mortgage bond, but such 'benefits' as the right to a ferry. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Boys, J.) UMRAN SINGH v. LAL SINGH. L. R. 5 All. 674.

—S. 24—Notification under S. 3 of Act III of 1907—Re-enactment of S. 3 in same terms in Act V of 1920—Notification if in force.

Where a notification was made under S. 3 of the Prov. Insolvency Act of 1907 investing certain officers with certain powers, the same remains in force without a fresh notification under the Act V of 1920, as S. 3 has been re-enacted word for word in the new Act. (Suhrawardy and Graham, JJ.) CHATTARBHUI MAHESHWRI v. HARLALL AGARWALLA.

80 I. C. 858 : 1925 Cal. 335.

—S. 26—Criminal trial—No two punishment for the same act.

76 I. C. 689 :

25 Cr. L. J. 225.

GENERAL CLAUSES ACT (BOM.) S. 21.

———(BOMBAY I OF 1904), S. 21—Any Bombay Act includes previous Acts.

The scheme of the Act is to distinguish between provisions which are intended to apply to all Bombay Acts and those which are intended to apply to Bombay Acts passed after 1904. The use of the words "any Bombay Act in S. 21" indicates that the section was intended to be of general application. (Shah, A. J. C. and Kemp, J.) BHAGCHAND DAGADUSHA v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. 48 Bom. 87 : 26 Bom. L. R. 1 : 1924 Bom. 1.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, S. 107—Election dispute—Order of election commissioner directing prosecution of petitioner for offence under S. 465, I. P. C.—No revision by High Court. See U. P. DIST. MUN. ACT, S. 23 (3). 22 A. L. J. 497.

———S. 107—Expunging of passage from judgment—Vakil—Locus standi.

A vakil has no locus standi to apply to the High Court to have expunged from the judgment in a case in which he appeared, passages misrepresenting his conduct. 35 M. L. J. 368 foll. (Oldfield and Devadoss, JJ.) DANDAYUDAPANI IYER v. THE DT. MUNSIF OF KALLAKURICHI (BALAJI RAO). 78 I. C. 6.

———S. 107—High Court—Powers of superintendence—When exercised.

The power of superintendence vested in the High Court, which is now embodied in S. 107 of the Government of India Act, was not intended to authorise the High Court, in the exercise of the authority so given, to interfere with and set right the orders of a subordinate Court on the ground that such order has proceeded on an error of law or an error of fact. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) ADYA SARAN SINGH v. JAGANNATH. 46 A. 323 : 22 A. L. J. 235 : L. R. 5 A. 49 (Rev.). 78 I. C. 391 : 1924 All. 561.

GOVT. OF INDIA ACT, S. 107—Powers of superintendence—High Court—Grounds for interference. 1924 A 69.

———S. 107—Stay of Criminal Proceeding—Pending Civil Court—Power of High Court. NAMBIYA PILLAI v. SUDALAI MUTHU NALAN. 76 I. C. 872 : 25 Cr. L. J. 280.

———Grant—Confiscation—Effect of—Regrant. NORUL HUG v. MAHARAJAH BIRENDRA KISHORE MANIKYA BAHADUR. 1924 Cal. 133.

GRANT—Construction—Khorposh grant—Grant by holder of impartible estate—Right to minerals.

Until the decision of the Privy Council in 10 A. 272 it was the settled law in India that the holder of an impartible estate had only a limited estate and except for special justifiable causes, had no power of alienation beyond his life time. The subsequent holder of the estate might have confirmed the grant and such confirmation operated as a confiscation and regrant, but the grantee could not claim to hold under the original grant upon the death of the grantor. Though this interpretation was reversed by the Privy Council the reversal of the previously accepted interpretation of the law did not displace its application to a grant of 1794 and 1819, the parties to which were bound by the law as then understood. The holder of a permanently settled estate can claim the minerals underground as against trespassers, whatever be the rights inter se as between him and the Government. 39 C. 696 foll. (Das and Ross, JJ.) DEBI SINGH v. CHRISTIAN. (1924) P. C. C. 201 : 1924 P. 776.

GUARDIAN AND WARD.

———Construction—Inam—Personal or to endowment—'Devadaya'—Property treated as private property—Effect of, See C. P. CODE, S. 92. 47 M. L. J. 714.

———Fishery—Exclusive right—Navigable river—Right of the public to fish—Grant by Crown in derogation of public right—Legality of—Presumption against. See FISHERY, 51 Cal. 110.

———Construction—Jaghir—Life estate. 1924 P. 298.

———Inam—Dharmadaya—What is. 48 Bom. 1 : 77 I. C. 100 : 28 C. W. N. 906.

———Construction—Permanency and heritability—If reasonable.

A grant of lands to two brothers and their descendants on payment of a fixed rent, with provision for forfeiture in case of non payment of rent for three years is a permanent, heritable grant and cannot be resumed. (Iwala Prasad and Macpherson, JJ.) GOPAL OJHA v. RAMADHAR SINGH. 82 I. C. 204 : 1925 Pat 228.

———Marwat—Incidents of—Transferability.

A Marwat grant is not resumable but at the same time it is not transerable either. (Simpson, A.J.C.) SIA RAM v. SALIK. L. R. 5 O. 13 (Rev.).

GROVE HOLDER—Guava trees—Scattered over a large area, and not interfering on with the agricultural nature of land.

Where Guava trees scattered over a large area, did not interfere, in any way with the agricultural nature of the land. Held, that the person who planted the trees did not acquire the status of a grove-holder. (Daniels, J.) HAZARI v. RAM DULAR. L. R. 5 All. 290 Rev.

GUARDIAN—Gross negligence—What is—Filing suit bona fide but without considering all legal aspects.

Under the law, a minor could file a suit in respect of an adverse order on a claim petition within one year of attaining majority. But where the guardian bona fide, files the suit within one year of the date of the order and the same is dismissed, he cannot be said to be guilty of gross negligence. (Phillips and Ve katasubba Rao, JJ.) SUBBIAH PANDARAM v. ARUNACHALA PANDARAM. 60 I. C. 992.

GUARDIAN AND WARD—Appointment of guardian for minor—Duty of Court—Minor adopted into another family—Selection of guardian—Control and supervision.

The state from the earliest times is supposed to be the guardian of the infants and the earliest regulations gave effect to this principle and made provisions for the custody of minors; and when the state assumes direct custody of an infant it undertakes to bring up the boy in the same manner as his natural father or guardian would have done, that is, in the traditions of the family to which after becoming a major he has to revert. Under the Guardians and Wards Act the District Judge exercises this function of the state and becomes the protector and guardian of the infant. He exercises this power by appointing guardians of persons and properties of infants. The minor's habits have to be looked into, his manners have to be shaped, his sentiments have to be reared up and his concerns also have to be looked after. Where a boy is adopted into another family, it is the duty of a tutor guardian of the boy to so train the boy as to dissociate himself from his natural family and own the adoptive father and mother as his own parents. He should have reared up sentiments such as the adoptive father wanted to imbibe him with. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) MANMOHINI DAS v. HARI PRASAD BOSE. 5 Pat. L. T. 415; 2 Pat. L. E. 200; 81 I. C. 1045; 1924 Pat. 755.

GUARDIAN AND WARD.

——— Personal liability of the guardian on the strength of a personal covenant "agreeing to pay"—Misrepresentation that money would be applied for minor's benefit.

In a hypothecation bond, executed by a guardian, containing a personal covenant, to the effect, "we have agreed to pay the guardian of the estates of M & N, (minors) . . . it was contended (1) that the guardians should be personally liable for the losses in the business, and (2) there was misrepresentation by the guardians by not applying the funds for the benefit of the minors.

Held, (1) that the wards in the document did not involve a personal covenant to repay by the executants, except as such guardians, (2) and that there was power to bind the estate, if the guardians employed the funds in the family business, though it may end in loss. 24 B. 166 Beath v. Ebury 1 Ch. A. 777, followed 40 I. C. 605 Not foll. (Odgers, J.) PATTUR NAGALUGAPPA v. PATTUR VENGANNA. 20 L. W. P. 746.

GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT—Father—If can be appointed guardian.

An order appointing a father guardian of his child under the Guardians and Wards Act is wholly ultra vires. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) CHHOTY LAL v. CHANDRA KUNWAR. 80 I. C. 71; 11 O. L. J. 537; 1 O. W. N. 330; 10 O. & A. L. R. 718.

——— Ss. 7 and 8—Appointment of guardians—Application for. MT. ISLAMAN v. MT. MAGBULAN. 1914 Oudh 126.

——— Ss. 11 and 19 (a)—Married female—Minor—Guardian—Marriage without consent of guardian—Right to apply in revision—Person no a party in the lower court.

Where a person was not made a party to the proceedings in the lower court for appointment of a guardian though he was certainly a person to whom notice should have been issued under S. 11 of the Guardian and Wards Act, he can apply to the High Court for revision of the order. 27 I. C. 121 Ref. S. 19 (a) of the Guardian and Wards Act prohibits the court from appointing a guardian of the person of a minor girl who is married and whose husband is not, in the opinion of the court, unfit to be the guardian of her person. (Martineau, J.) BALLU MAL v. HARDWARE MAL. 6 Lah. L. J. 219; 1924 Lah. 570.

GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, S. 19.

——— S. 17—Father as guardian, MT. MUKA BAR v. KARIM BAKSH. 75 I. C. 496.

——— S. 17—Appointment of guardian—Order—Appeal—Death of appellant—Right of others to continue the appeal. See C. P. CODE, O. 22, R. 1. 46 M. L. J. 179.

——— Ss. 18 and 30—Guardians and Wards Act (XL of 1858), S. 18, Hindu female—Daughter's estate—Sale by guardian without sanction of court—Suit by reversioners to declare alienation—Starting point—Limitation Act, Arts. 120 and 125.

Where a guardian is appointed under the Guardians and Wards Act her powers of dealing with the property of the infant must be regulated by the provisions of the statute. It is not open to any person dealing with such a guardian to support an unauthorized sale of a minor's property by calling in aid the personal law of the minor. Where a guardian has been appointed under Act XL of 1858 but a sale is made by her of the infant's property after the coming into force of Act VIII of 1890, the validity of the alienation is governed by the latter Act. Under S. 30 of that Act a disposal of the property of the infant by the guardian without the consent of the Court is voidable at the instance of any other person affected thereby. The alienation is not void. Where therefore the certificated guardian of a minor Hindu female having a daughter's interest in the property sells it without the permission of the court, the reversionary interest in the estate would be affected by the sale and it is open to the minor as well as the next reversioners to sue under S. 30 of the Guardians and Wards Act to avoid the sale. It is of no consequence that the lady did not choose to do so, the only effect of her omission being that it stands good so far as her interest is concerned. Not being entitled to immediate possession the male reversioners can ask for a declaration under the provisions of S. 42 of the Sp. Rel. Act. Such a suit comes within art. 110 of the Lim. Act and not under Art. 125 as it is not a suit to have an alienation made by a Hindu female declared to be void except for her life. The cause of action to the remote reversioner does not arise before he is born and the decision in 41 M. 659 is open to doubt. (Rankin and Ghose, JJ.) DAS RAM CHAUDHURY v. TIRTHA NATH DAS. 51 C. 101; 81 I. C. 522; 1924 Cal. 481.

——— S. 19 (a)—Married minor girl—Appointment of guardian—Fitness of husband.

A court cannot appoint a guardian of the person of a minor girl who is married and whose husband is not unfit to be the Guardian of her person. (Martineau, J.) BALLU MAL v. HARDWARE MALL. 79 I. C. 451.

——— S. 19 (b)—Mother—Question of fitness—Rights of other relations.

The principle underlying S. 17 (b) of the Guardians and Wards Act applies both to the father and mother and unless it is shown that she is unfit, the claims of other relations should not be considered. (Baker, O.J.C. and Halifax, A.J.C.) SUMITRI BAI v. MT. SUBHADRA BAI. 1924 Nag. 178.

GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, s. 19.

—S. 19 (c)—Mother appointed guardian of children—Declaration of estate being taken by Court of Wards. NAGANA GURLINGAYA v. COLLECTOR OF BELGAUM. 1924 Bom. 157.

—S. 25—Father's application for custody of child—No prior custody—Application if lies.

The fact that a child has never been in the custody of its father does not prevent the latter from applying under S. 25 for the custody of the child. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) CHHOTAY LAL v. CHANDRA KUNWAR. 11 O. L. J. 537 : 1 O. W. N. 330 : 80 I. C. 71 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 758.

—S. 27—Guardianship of minor child—Rights of father—Substitution of another guardian—Revocable authority—Duty of Court—Welfare of the minor.

On an application by a father to be appointed guardian of his minor daughter of seven years of age, the girl having lost her mother previously. Held, that the application was misconceived. The father was the natural guardian of his minor child and he cannot be appointed as guardian under the Guardian and Wards Act. The guardianship of the minor child was a sacred duty of which he could not divest himself. He can delegate the performance of the daily duty of looking after the child and for that purpose place the child in the custody of somebody else. If he does so, it then becomes a question under S. 25 of the Guardian and Wards Act for the court to decide, when he applies for the restoration of the custody, whether it is for the welfare of the minor. In certain cases the courts will interfere to prevent the revocation of the authority of the father. The court ought then to be satisfied that it is for the child's welfare. But a court dealing with such a matter ought to acquaint itself with the fundamental principles at stake. It is not true to say that a father is liable to be deprived of the society of his child or the control of his child, because he quarrelled with the mother or distrusted the mother's moral character. It would not be true to say so of a father who was leading an immoral life. An immoral father has just as good a right to his own children as a moral man, and in many cases he is just as likely to see that his children are properly brought up even if he does not himself live properly. The mere fact that a father has left an infant in the charge of two relatives in the mother's family, is no ground for depriving him of the custody of the child, if he wishes it restored to him. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Neave, J.) SUKHDEO RAI v. RAM CHANDAR RAI. 22 A. L. J. 680 : L. R. 5 A. 417.

10 O. and A. L. R. 803 : 46 All. 706 : 1924 A. 622.

—Ss. 28, 29, 30 and 31—Appointment of father as guardian of minor son by Court—Powers and duties of guardian controlled by the Act only—Mortgage executed by guardian on behalf of minor—Sanction of Court not legal—Mortgage, whether binding on minor.

Once a person, natural guardian or a stranger, is appointed guardian of a minor by order of the Court passed in accordance with the provisions of the Guardians and Wards Act, he is clothed with all the obligations imposed by that Act in dealing with the ward's property. It is not in his power to throw off those obligations by the exercise of his own volition and pose as a natural guardian and act in that status. Therefore, if the sanction accorded by the District Judge to a transaction of mortgage proposed by the guardian who happens to be a father on behalf of a minor son is held to be not legal, the transaction must fall through and cannot be upheld on the ground that it was entered into by the father and was for the benefit of the minor. Otherwise the whole object of the enactment contained in sections 28 to 31 of the Guardians and Wards Act will be stultified. (Wazir Hasan, and Neave, A. J. C.) RAMESHWAR BAKSH SINGH v. MT. RIDH KUER AND ANOTHER. 1 O. W. N. 775.

GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, s. 30.

—Ss. 29 and 31—Sale of minor's property—Sanction of court—Duty of court—Omission to recite necessity—Effect of.

It is the duty of the court to which an application is made for sale of a minor's property under S. 29 of the Guardians and Wards Act to satisfy itself by enquiry that the transaction is necessary and is for the minor's benefit and a creditor is entitled to rely upon an order of sanction as evidence that the court has satisfied itself on this point and that the transaction is a proper one. The fact that the necessity for the sale is not recited in the order granting the sanction is a mere irregularity and does not affect the validity of the sanction. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) BUDHOO v. SHEO CHARAN. 22 A. L. J. 851.

L. R. 5 A. 726 : 82 I. C. 328 : 1924 All. 875.

—Ss. 29, 30 and 31—Sale of minor's property—Sanction of court given subject to conditions—Non-performance of conditions—Sale void.

The District Judge is the proper authority to sell the property of a minor for whom a certificated guardian has been appointed. The certificated guardian could not sell the property of the minor without the sanction of the District Judge. If the District Judge laid down certain terms which could not be complied with by the intending transferee, his remedy was to go to the District Judge and to say that under the conditions imposed he could not take the transfer. The District Judge may or may not have varied the terms. But it is not open to the transferee to say that the conditions laid down were impossible for compliance and, therefore, he would take the minor's property without complying with the restrictive terms imposed. Where instead of mortgaging 40 acres as sanctioned by the District Judge the whole of the minor's property consisting of 109 acres was mortgaged, the transfer is not binding on the minor. (Kanhaiya Lal and Mookerjee, JJ.) SRI THAKUR KISHORE RAMANJI MAHARAJ v. DUBY RAM. 22 A. L. J. 155 : L. R. 5 A. 77 : 78 I. C. 226 : 1924 All. 474.

—S. 30—Minor—Guardian or property—Sanction of Court obtained for usufructuary mortgage—Guardian mortgaging the property for a larger sum as a simple mortgage—Decree on mortgage against minor represented by the guardian—Decree not binding on minor—C. P. Code, O. 32, R. 4—Suit by minor to set aside decree—Restitution.

GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, S. 81.

The certificated guardian of a minor obtained the sanction of the court to mortgage usufructually the property of the minor for Rs. 200 but in contravention thereof he executed a simple mortgage for Rs. 400 with a provision for interest. The mortgagee sued the minor on the mortgage represented by the certificated guardian and obtained a decree. Eventually the minor brought a suit to set aside the decree as not binding on him.

Held, (1) that the mortgage deed for Rs. 400 with interest was executed by the guardian without the sanction of the Court and was therefore not binding on the minor, (2) that the minor was not properly represented in the suit on the mortgage because the guardian's interest was adverse to the minor and the guardian could not put forward the plea that the mortgage was not binding on the minor, (3) that the minor was under no liability to pay back a sum of Rs. 200 the amount for which a mortgage was sanctioned by the Court inasmuch as there was no evidence that the minor was benefited thereby, and (4) that the decree in the mortgage suit was not binding on the minor. (Daniels and Dalal, JJ.) CHITANJ LAL v. SYED ILIAS ALI. 22 A. L. J. 493 : L. R. 5 A. 360 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 678.

46 All. 620 : 79 I. C. 556 : 1924 All. 751.

— S. 31, Sub S. (2), S. 48—Finality of order under S. 48 how far affected by violation of procedure prescribed by S. 31—Order not drawn up in form prescribed, effect—Order based on absence of jurisdiction—Effect—Payment of amount due under a pre-emption decree, whether a ground for permitting transfer on behalf of a minor—Transferee, whether affected by defects of procedure—Fitness of father to be appointed guardian ad litem—Non appearance of guardian in suit against minor—Inference—Minor how far bound by act of guardian—Omission of guardian to raise defence—Minor not precluded to raise that defence in a subsequent suit.

Although the provisions of sub-section (2) of S. 31 of the Guardians and Wards Act are mandatory yet the violation of the procedure prescribed by it for recording the order granting the permission cannot be made the ground of brushing aside the finality of the order as enacted by S. 48 of the Act. The only condition in which the finality prescribed by S. 48 can be avoided is to establish that the order granting the permission was a nullity.

An order passed by a Court in violation of such rules of procedure, however mandatory, as relate merely to the form of the order cannot be treated as nullity. The omission to follow such rules of procedure can amount to no more than a mere irregularity or immaterial irregularity. On the other hand an order passed by a Court in violation of such rules of procedure as the observance of which only invests the Court with jurisdiction to pass the order is a nullity.

Where a guardian applied to Court for permission to make a mortgage on behalf of a minor on the ground of the existence of a pre-emption decree in favour of the latter and his liability to pay therefor by a certain date and the District Judge after 7 days' passed the order "approved."

Held, that in view of the contents of the application and the interval between it and the order, it must be presumed that the Court was satisfied of the existence of the conditions for which alone permission can be granted under S. 31, sub-section (2). 11 C. L. J. 197 referred to.

GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, S. 81.

Held further, that sub-section (2) relates to the form of the order granting the sanction to enquire into the propriety of which a Court is debarred by the provisions of S. 48 of the Act, and further that the transferee cannot be made to suffer for the defects of procedure and for his protection the order of the Court is sufficient 11 C. 379 P. C. referred to.

Where a suit for recovery of arrears of revenue was brought against the minor under the guardianship of his father but the latter did not put in an appearance in consequence of which an ex parte decree was passed against minor and it further appeared that the revenue fell into arrears owing to the mismanagement of the father who was in possession and his interest clashed with that of the minor.

Held, that though the presumption as to the due observance of the procedure prescribed O. 32, R. 3, C. P. C., can be applied to the acts of the Court yet there is no legal bar to entering into the enquiry whether the father was or was not a fit person to be appointed guardian ad litem for the minor.

Held further, that in view of the provisions of sub-rule (3) of rule 4 of O. 32, C. P. C. that no person shall, without his consent, be appointed guardian ad litem, and the non-appearance of the guardian negativing any such consent, the minor cannot be said to have been properly represented in the suit.

Held also, that having regard to the general principles of equity as to how far a minor should be held bound by the act of his guardian and the particular circumstances of this case the sale of the minor's property in execution of the decree of the rent Court was not binding on him.

The omission of guardian to raise a defence on behalf of his ward which he might and ought to have raised cannot preclude the ward from raising that defence in a subsequent suit otherwise the minor would be made to suffer for the laches of his guardian. (Wazir Hasan, and Neave, A. J. C.) RAMESHWAR BAKHSI SINGH v. MUSAMMAT KIDH KUER. 1 O.W. N. 775.

— Ss. 31 (2) & 48—Permission of court to sell property of minor—Sale effected in pursuance of—When open to attack.

The provisions of S. 31 (2) of the Guardians and Wards Act are mandatory and not merely directory and an order which failed to recite the necessity for or the advantage of the transfer is not a legal order which could be pleaded as sufficient sanction for a sale by the guardian. A sanction given by the District Judge for the sale of a minor's property has no special sanctity in itself but is open to attack on the ground not only that it was otherwise improper and did not comply with every requirement of S. 31 (2). A sale effected in pursuance of such defective sanction is itself liable to be set aside by the minor or others interested in the estate. (Pullan, A. J. C.) RAM ADHIN SINGH v. RAM SUMER SINGH. 80 I. C. 679 :

10 O. & A. L. R. 420.

GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT (1890), S. 34.

—Ss. 34, 45 and 47—Accounts filed by guardian—Power of Court to investigate and order refund—Disobedience—Remedy of minor—Suit.

The Guardians and Wards Act has for its object the protection of the helpless minor and the control of the guardian charged with looking after his estate. In order to exercise that jurisdiction the court has been vested with disciplinary powers. The Court's power under S. 34 (c) and (d) to direct payment of the balance is not limited by such balance as the guardian chooses to show in the account which he exhibits. The court can amend the accounts by striking out objectionable items or it may reject the accounts on the ground that it is an untrue account of the guardian's liability and direct the guardian to submit a fresh account within a limited time. It is the duty of the Court and not the duty of the guardian to decide what is the balance due on a true and just account. If the guardian fails to pay the balance found by the court on a correct account, he becomes contumacious and can be dealt with under S. 45. 21 C. W. N. 68 diss. from. Where the District Court refuses to take action under S. 45 acting on the erroneous view that it has no power to compel the guardian to furnish fresh accounts and to pay the amount due after deleting objectionable items, the order of the District Court is not appealable under S. 47 but the High Court could interfere in revision and set it aside (Walsh, A. J. C. and Neave, J.) SITA RAM v. GOBINDI, 23 A. L. J. 585; 46 All. 458; 80 I. C. 593; 1924 All 593.

—Ss. 34 and 39—Appointment of guardian—Order when effective—Omission to furnish security—Removal. MT. KHUSAL DEVI v. SUKH DIAL, 1924 Lah 313.

—S. 39 (h)—Residence outside jurisdiction—Effect.

There is nothing to prevent a court from appointing as guardian a person who resides outside the jurisdiction of the court. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) MT. AHILYABAI v. MT. VITHABAI, 75 I. C. 595.

—S. 39—Appointment of guardian—Mahomedan minor—Appointment of sister's husband—Personal law.

Under S. 17 of the Guardian and Wards Act in appointing or declaring a guardian of a minor girl, the Court is to be guided by what appears under the circumstances to be the welfare of the minor but the proviso is that this should be done consistently with the law to which the minor is subject, in this instance, the Mahomedan law. There is the precept of the Mahomedan law that the custody of a minor may not be given to a married sister where there is a possibility of the married sister's husband taking the minor into marriage for himself. But if it is impossible to discover a suitable guardian the powers of the District Court would not be circumscribed by the tenets of Mahomedan law. The person who is appointed guardian by a Court must be a person to whom the Court can render every available assistance under the law. It will be a contradiction in terms to choose a guardian and then tell him that the Court was not prepared to help him for the protection of the person and property of the minor. If the guardian is considered fit by the Court he must receive every assistance within the power of the Court. If he is considered unfit, he must be removed and then the question will arise as to who should be appointed guardian. (Dalal, J. C.) GUNNA v. DARGAHL, 10 O. & A. L. R. 1281.

GOVT. OF INDIA ACT, S. 72.

—S. 43 (1)—Scope of—Court if can pass order against stranger—De facto Guardian—Order against—Validity of.

Under S. 43 (1), Guardian and Wards Act, it is only the conduct of proceedings of any guardian appointed or declared by Court which can be called in question. Where the minor was in the custody of a certain person and thereafter a court guardian was appointed, the court has no jurisdiction to call upon the former to deliver up jewels of the minor under S. 43 of the Act. 36 M. L. J. 189 distinguished 10 M. L. T. 483 followed. (Odgers, J.) KUPPAMMAL v. MUNIAPPA CHETTY, (1924) M. W. N. 892; 82 I. C. 488; 47 M. L. J. 655; 1924 Mad. 902.

—S. 46—Report of Collector—When evidence. NAGANA GURULINGAYA v. COLLECTOR OF BELGAUM, 1924 Bom. 157.

—Ss. 47 and 48—Order sanctioning sale—Review Appeal, if lies.

Where a District Judge sanctions the sale of a minor's property, he can in the interest of the minor review his order. The order is appealable under S. 47, G. and W. Act. (Baker, O. J. C. and Prideaux, A. J. C.) SONBA v. NARAYAN, 1924 Nag. 269.

—Ss. 47 and 48—Order fixing maintenance—Appeal.

No appeal lies from an order on a guardianship application fixing the amount to be paid by the guardian of the property for the maintenance and education of the ward. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) MT. TULSI v. MT. TULSI, 1925 Nag. 141.

—S. 47 (g)—Removing a guardian—Order fixing remuneration—If appealable—Revision.

Where on a guardian being removed, the Court granted him a lump sum for services rendered, there is no appeal against the order. Nor should it be interfered with in revision, as a court has jurisdiction to grant an allowance if it thinks fit. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) SURAJ NARAYAN SINGH v. BISHAMBAR NATH BHAN, 78 I. C. 138.

—S. 48—Order refusing to remove guardian—Finality of—Appeal. 1924 Mad. 327.

—S. 72—Lunatic—Legal heir—Appointment of guardian.

The provisions of S. 72 of the Guardians and Wards Act imposing a restriction to the appointment of the legal heir of a lunatic to be guardian of his person cannot be attended to in a case where only near relations could be appointed guardians of the person. (Dalal, J. C.) BALBIR v. CHHED LAL, 10 O. & A. L. R. 968.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, S. 72-D—Rules and standing orders, Rr. 15 and 94—Demand for grant—President of the Legislative Council—Decision if can be challenged in Civil Court—Injunction—Power of a High Court to issue—Jurisdiction.

HABEAS CORPUS.

The plaintiff, a member of the Bengal Legislative Council, brought a suit on the original side of the High Court and applied for an interim order that the first defendant, the President of the Legislative Council, may be restrained from putting a certain motion, being item 6 in the list of business, before the Bengal Legislative Council at its Sessions and for an interim order restraining the second and third defendants, the Ministers in charge of Education and Agriculture, from discharging any duties as ministers or receiving any payment of salary. Objection was taken to the jurisdiction of the Court on the ground that the legislature was supreme and that the Court could not interfere in any way with the conduct of business in the Legislative Councils. Held, that the proceedings of a subordinate legislature, like the Bengal Legislative Council, could be questioned in Courts; that the High Court was a superior Court of Record and prima facie no matter was deemed to be beyond the jurisdiction of the Court unless it was expressly shown to be so. By the word "jurisdiction" was meant the authority which the Court has to decide matters that are litigated before it, or to take cognizance of matters presented in a formal way for its decision. The President of the Bengal Legislative Council is appointed under the provisions of S. 72 C of the Government of India Act and is the holder of an office created by statute. Consequently if any person, whether an officer of State or a subordinate, has to justify an act alleged to be unlawful by reference to an act of the legislature, the legal justification can be enquired into by the High Court. A suit could therefore be brought against the President of the Legislative Council.

The present suit was in the nature of a quia timet bill. These quia timet bills are in the nature of writs of prevention to accomplish the ends of precautionary justice and are ordinarily applied to prevent wrongs or anticipated mischiefs and not merely to redress them when done. There are two necessary ingredients of for a quia timet action. There must, if no actual damage is proved, be proof of imminent danger, and there must also be proved that the apprehended damage will, if it comes, be very substantial and irreparable, (i.e.) it must be shown that if the damage does occur at any time, it will come in such a way and under such circumstances that it will be impossible for the plaintiff to protect himself against it, if relief is denied to him in a quia timet action. The power is entirely discretionary. In these matters the Court, in the exercise of its discretion is under an obligation to take large and liberal views, so that the rights of the subject may be preserved and the constitution safeguarded by such means as are in the power of the Court. (C. C. Ghose, J.) KUMAR SHANKAR ROY CHOWDHURI v. H. E. A. COTTON. 40 C. L. J. 515.

HABEAS CORPUS—Guardian de jure—Application by, in respect of child detained against his will—Considerations applicable to case of—Infant a boy over 14 or a girl over 16—Wishes of infant if must be given effect to in case of—Law in England and in India.

On an application by a de jure guardian for Habeas Corpus in respect of a child detained against his will, the question of the interests and the welfare of the infant is the dominant question and the Court must dispose of the application with reference to it. The word "welfare" must be taken in its widest sense. The moral and religious welfare must be considered as well as its physical well-being and due regard must be had to the ties of affection. If the infant is capable of forming an intelligent opinion and expresses its views, the Court is bound to take them into consideration. In weighing the question what is for the benefit of the child, this will form an important element and the degree of the child's mental development must to a certain extent weigh with the Courts in deciding how far its wishes shall be given effect to. In the same way, the age of the child is also an important factor. There is no inflexible rule in England that in the case of a boy over 14 and in the case of a girl over 16 the Court has no option in the matter and that the wishes of the infant must be given effect to. Even if such a rule obtained in England it was too artificial to be extended to India where different considerations might apply and different conditions prevail.

HABITUAL OFFENDERS' RESTRICTION ACT, S. 7.

On an application under S. 491, Criminal Procedure Code, by the mother of a minor girl who was a little over 17 and under 18 for the production of the minor by her step-sister with whom she was living, and for restraining her marriage with a person to whom the mother objected, held, on an application of the above principle that the proper order to be made was that the minor should be freed from all restraint and should be at liberty to go where she chose. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) SARASWATHI AMMAL v. DANAKOTTI AMMAL. 20 L. W. 902 : (1924) M. W. N. 870 : 1924 Mad 873 (2) : 47 M. L. J. 614.

HABITUAL OFFENDERS' RESTRICTION ACT—(BURMA ACT II OF 1919), S. 7—Requisites of a preliminary order, S. 4 (c)—S. 13 of the Act, Applicability—Provisions of Ss. 112 (f), 112, 117, 118, to be applied to Act II of 1919.

Where under S. 7 of the Act, P was restricted to a certain town by the Sub-divisional Magistrate, and it was contended, on revision that the proceedings were contrary to the security sections under the Procedure Code, and was contrary to S. 4, cl. (c) of the Act in question, and was prejudicial to the accused :—

Held, (1) that the order of the Magistrate did not comply with the provisions of proviso (a) to S. 4 of Act II of 1919 and that no order under S. 7 could be passed, when the substance of the information is not recorded under S. 112 of the Criminal Procedure Code before the passing of the preliminary order; (2) that the magistrate's order is not a proper order, as it contravened S. 112 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and (3) the procedure prescribed in the Code, with necessary modification must be followed when magistrates take action under the preventive jurisdiction vested in Act II of 1919, and (4) that the special procedure to be followed under S. 13, by magistrates cannot apply to the present case, and that R. 12 of the rules framed under the Act indicates the class of reason which would justify such a charge and that Act II of 1919 is not intended to apply to the present case, as action under the preventive sections was initiated at the instance of the private individual. (Lentaigue, J.) PARSODAN v. EMPEROR 2 Rang. 524 : 1925 Rang. 69

HIGH COURT.

HIGH COURT—Chief Justice—Powers of—If can constitute Bench for trying only an issue in a case. 1924 Cal. 186.

HIGHWAY—Right to access—Right of individuals—User—Obstruction when actionable.

The cases recognise a right of immediate access from private property to public highway as a private right distinct from the rights of the owner of that property to use the highway itself as one of the public. Consequently if there is an interference with such right it is open to the individual to sue for damages. 8 A. L. J. 19 ; 31 A. 444 ; 46 L. J. Ch. D. 69, 80 Rel. on (Meays, C. J. and Piggott, J.) HANUMAN PRASAD v. RAGHUNATH PRASAD. 22 A. L. J. 368 : L. R. 5 A. 393.

46 A. 573 : 82 I. C. 689 : 1924 A. 715 :

HINDU LAW—Adoption—Form of—Dattaka form—Jains—Rights of adopted son. 1924 Lah. 339.

—Adoption—Formalities of—Bairagi.

The mere fact of a boy being taken on his lap by a bairagi mahant and his being brought up by him does not constitute an adoption. (Burn, J.M.) TIRLOKE NATH v. NILKANT RAO.

L. R. 5 A. 181 (Rev.)

—Adoption—Who may be adopted—Daughter's son—Agarwala Vaishyas. Mr. BALLO v. RAM KISHAN 81 I. C. 490 : 1924 A. 49.

—Adoption—Who can be adopted—Boy of the same caste but of different sub-caste.

Though each of the four primary castes of the Hindus must adopt from its own limits there is nothing to prohibit the adoption of a boy belonging to a different sub-caste from that of the adoptive father. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) SHIB DEO MISRA v. RAM PRASAD. 46 A. 637 : 22 A. L. J. 690 : 1925 Ail. 79.

—Adoption—Who may be adopted—Only son.

The adoption of a married orphan who was the only son of his natural father is not valid under Hindu Law. (Zafar Ali, J.) CHHANGA v. JAI LAL 6 Lah. L. J. 174 : 78 I. C. 161 : 1924 Lah. 480 —Adoption—Daughter's son or sister's son—Custom among Maharashtra Brahmans.

Among the Maharashtra Brahman community of Nagpur the prohibition of the Hindu Law of the adoption of a daughter's son or of a sister's son has been abolished by custom. (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) JAGESHWAR v. PANDURANG. 7 N. L. J. 82 : 78 I. C. 840 : 1924 Nag. 73.

—Adoption—Sudras of the Madras Presidency—Who may be adopted—Married person.

Among the Sudras of the Madras Presidency the adoption of a person who is married at the time of adoption is valid. Case-law on the subject reviewed. (Ramesam and Reilly, JJ.) LINGAYYA CHETTY v. CHENGALAMMAL. 20 L. W. 959 : 1925 Mad. 272 : 47 M. L. J. 776.

—Adoption—Giving in—Remarried widow—Power of.

HINDU LAW.

On remarriage a widow's connection with the family of her husband ceases and she cannot thereafter validly give her son by her first husband in adoption. 23 Bom. L. R. 482, Rel. (Baker, J. C., Kollegal and Prideaux, A. J. C.) MT. SHEOKABAI v. GANPAT. 20 N. L. R. 57 : 79 I. C. 142 : 1925 Nag. 1.

—Adoption—Who can be adopted—Sister's son—Jats—Sudras.

Under the Hindu Law, the adoption of a sister's son is allowed among Sudras. This applies to the Jats also who are Sudras. (Harri-son and Campbell, JJ.) HIRA v. SHIBBU. 6 Lah. L. J. 442.

—Adoption—Age of boy to be adopted—Adoptee older than adoptor.

Under the Hindu Law an adopted son may be older than the adoptive father and this does not invalidate the adoption. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) BALABAI TUKARAM v. MAHADU KRISHNA 48 B. 387 : 80 I. C. 529 : 1924 Bom. 349.

—Adoption—Who can give—Gift by Hindu widow—Only son. 1924 Bom. 159.

—Adoption—Power to adopt—Death of grandson—Grandmother if can adopt.

Where a grandson succeeds direct to his grandfather and on his death his grandmother succeeds him, she can adopt a son to her husband. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) NAVAR GOVIND NAVATHE v. BALVANT HARI NAVATHE. 80 I. C. 435 : 48 Bom. 559 : 26 Bom. L. R. 528 : 1924 Bom. 437.

—Adoption—Proof. Mr. UTTAM DEI v. DINA NATH. 75 I. C. 774.

—Adoption—Rights of adopted son—Alienation by widow—Suit to recover possession.

In the case of a reversioner it is not essential for him to set aside any alienation by the widow, but he could sue to enforce his rights as a reversioner without setting aside the alienation within the period prescribed by the Limitation Act, after the death of the widow. The case of an adopted son stands on a different footing in this sense that his rights come into existence as soon as he is adopted by the widow, and the rights of the widow as the heir of her husband come to an end on adoption, while in the case of a reversioner his rights come into existence on the death of the widow. Subject to that important difference there is no essential difference in the position of the adopted son seeking to enforce his rights with reference to the property alienated by the widow before the adoption and the reversioner seeking to enforce his rights with regard to property alienated by the widow before her death. 19 Bom. 809 ; 33 Bom. 88 referred to. (Shah, A. C. J. and Fawcett, J.) HANAMGOWDA v. IRGOWDA. 48 Bom. 654 : 26 Bom. L. R. 829 : 1925 Bom. 9.

—Adoption—Rights of adopted son—Property acquired by succession—If divested.

Where after a person has succeeded to the property of his father, he is adopted into another family, he is not thereafter deprived of the rights to which he has already succeeded at the date of adoption. (Zafar Ali, J.) CHHANGA v. JAI LAL. 6 Lah. L. J. 174 : 78 I. C. 161 : 1924 Lah. 480.

HINDU LAW.

— Adoption—Rights of adopted son—Inheritance to maternal ancestors.

An adopted boy cannot inherit to the relations of the wife of the adoptive father who does not take part in adopting him; or in other words, he can only inherit to the adoptive mother's relations and not to the wife of the adoptive father who does not take part in the adoption. 18 M. 277; 23 M. 1; 37 M. 199, 222 referred to. (Devadoss, J.) VENKATASUBBIE v. SUNDARAMMA.

20 L. W. 925. 48 M. L. J. 126.

— Adoption—Widow—Consent of sapindas—Necessity for.

In Mysore the course of thought and the tenets of Hindu Law followed are more akin to those in the Madras School than anywhere else and the necessity for a widow to seek the consent of her husband's sapindas to make a valid adoption has been recognised by Courts. 16 M. C. C. R. 227, Ref. Consequently an adoption made by a Hindu widow without consulting her husband's sapindas is invalid. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) DODDA MOGA v. NARAYANA BHATTA.

2 Mys. L. J. 157.

— Adoption—Widow—Limits of her power—Grandmother inheriting to grandson.

Under the Hindu Law a grandmother who inherits the estate of her grandson directly as his next heir, can adopt to her husband. 26 B. 526; 46 B. 455, Ref. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) NARHAR GOVIND v. BALVANT HARI.

48 Bom. 559. 80 I. C. 435; 26 Bom. L. R. 528; 1924 Bom. 437.

— Adoption—Divesting—Vatan property.

Where on the death of a person vatan property of his vests in some of his male heirs, a subsequent adoption by his mother who was his heir under the Hindu Law does not divest the heir who has succeeded to the vatan of his property. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) ADIVEYA FAKIRGOWDA v. CHANMALL GOWDA.

26 Bom. L. R. 360; 81 I. C. 1018; 1924 Bom. 393.

— Adoption—Widow—Limits of power—Right of adopted son to come on record in pending litigation.

A widow has power to adopt several sons in succession, if the prior sons died leaving no issue or widow behind. Such adopted son has a right to come on the record in all pending litigations even though the widow had already been impleaded as legal representative in the place of the deceased. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) SHEIKH DALLU v. PANJAB.

78 I. C. 95; 1924 Nag. 344.

— Adoption by widow—In the Madras school, the consultation with daughter's son who is a major, next heir and otherwise competent to advice is necessary. Per Jackson, J.—It is not necessary.

Per Ramesam, J. (Jackson, J. contra):—In a case where daughter's son is next heir and is a major and otherwise competent to advice, he ought to be consulted by the adopting widow.

Jackson, J.:—The assent of the daughter's son, though good evidence of the absence of caprice or corruption actuating adoption, is not necessary for its validity. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) ANNE BRAHMAYYA v. C. RATTAYYA.

HINDU LAW.

20 L. W. 503; (1924) M. W. N. 844; 83 I. C. 59; 47 Mad. 716; 1925 Mad. 67.

— Adoption by widow—Consultation with reversioners.

A registered letter to a person, containing a request to assent to an adoption, the letter being never opened by him and returned, is not a valid consultation. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) ANNE BRAHMAYYA v. C. RATTAYYA.

47 Mad. 716; (1924) M. W. N. 844; 83 I. C. 59; 20 L. W. 503; 1925 Mad. 67.

— Adoption by widow—Consent of one only of two kinsmen.

Consent of one only of two kinsmen is not that of majority even where the other was asked and the consent of a remote kinsman cannot cure the defect. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) ANNE BRAHMAYYA v. C. RATTAYYA.

20 L. W. 503; 47 Mad. 716; (1924) M. W. N. 844; 83 I. C. 59; 1925 Mad. 67.

— Adoption by widow—Consent of sapindas is different from authority of husband in that the former should be exercised within a reasonable time and also should refer to the boy to be adopted.

There is an essential difference between the authority of the husband and the assent of a sapinda. The former is intended to be exercised only after the death of the husband. The latter is intended to be used within a reasonable time, after the consent is given. When the interval is short, the death of the sapinda may not matter; but a sapinda's assent is not to be pocketed by the widow and used long after it was given, when entirely different considerations as to the expediency of the adoption may apply. Again, the boy to be adopted ought also to be referred to the consideration of the sapinda whose consent to the adoption of "any boy at any time" is invalid. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) ANNE BRAHMAYYA v. RATTAYYA.

47 Mad. 716; (1924) M. W. N. 844; 83 I. C. 59; 20 L. W. 503; 1925 Mad. 67.

— Adoption by widow—Courts should examine the motives of the sapindas in giving consent—Object of helping widow to screen alienation by widow, from the attacks of nearer reversioners makes consent invalid—Consent obtained by promise of payment of some money is corrupt.

Courts are bound to examine the sapinda's motives in giving consent to an adoption. Consent given with the object of screening certain alienations made by the widow from the attacks of nearer kinsmen is invalid as also consent obtained by promise of payment of some money in return. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) ANNE BRAHMAYYA v. RATTAYYA.

47 Mad. 716; (1924) M. W. N. 844; 83 I. C. 59; 20 L. W. 503; 1925 Mad. 67.

— Adoption by widow—Refusal of assent, unaccompanied by reasons is not necessarily improper unless reasons were asked for and declined.

Any refusal unaccompanied by reasons is not necessarily an improper refusal. It is, of course improper if the sapinda were asked to state his reasons and 'declines' to state them, either at the time or later on, in the course of the judicial proceedings. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) ANNE BRAHMAYYA v. C. RATTAYYA. 47 Mad. 716 : (1924) M.W.N. 844 : 83 I. C. 59 : 20 L. W. 503 : 1925 Mad. 67.

HINDU LAW.

———Adoption—Suit for declaration of invalidity—Burden of proof.

Where a Hindu reversioner asks for a declaration that the defendant was not the validly adopted son of the last holder, the onus of proof is on the latter to establish the adoption. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) LAXMAN v. MT. BHULABAI. 78 I. C. 862.

———Adoption—Effect—Adopted son—Rights of—Alienations by widow—Effect on.

1924 Bom. 159.

———Adoption—Partition between co-widows prior to—If binding.

Where prior to an adoption, two widows of the deceased had divided the property among themselves, it is not binding on the adopted son, even if the property allotted to each widow is only just sufficient for maintenance. Adoption divests both of them of the estate vested in them. (Kotwal and Prideaux, A. J. C.) MT. ANNAPURNABAI v. RUPRAO. 1924 Nag. 319.

———Adoption—Mother succeeding as heir to son—Attaining ceremonial competence—Power to adopt.

A Hindu widow who succeeds to the estate of her son who dies a widower is competent to make an adoption even though the son had attained ceremonial competence at the time of his death. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) ANJIRABAI GULABRAO POWAR v. PANDURANG BALAKRISHNA POWAR. 48 Bom. 492 : 80 I. C. 185 : 26 Bom. L. R. 326 : 1924 Bom. 441.

———Applicability—High caste Hindus in the Punjab. 75 I. C. 109 : 6 Lah. L. J. 69.

———Applicability—High caste Hindus in the Punjab. MT. BALLO v. RAM KISHAN. 1924 A. 49.

———Applicability—Banias of Ambala District—Succession.

Banias of Ambala District are governed by Hindu Law and not agricultural custom in matters of succession. (Harrison and Zafar Ali, JJ.) LALCHAND v. MANOHRI. 78 I. C. 717 : 1925 Lah. 108.

———Applicability—Cutchi Memons.

Cutchi Memons are governed by Hindu Law in matters of succession and inheritance alone. (Raymond, A. J. C.) YUSUF MAHOMED v. ABUBACKER IBRAHIM. 78 I. C. 817 : 1925 S. 26.

———Applicability—Gonds—Inheritance—Sons—Rights of.

Gonds are Hindus and follow Hindu Law in matters relating to joint family, succession and survivorship, etc. Sons take interest by birth in the property of their father. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) RAMNATH v. SUKALSI. 1924 Nag. 380.

HINDU LAW.

———Applicability—Jains—Widow—Powers of.

Jains are Hindu dissenters and when their customs are set up they must be proved like other customs varying the ordinary law and when so proved effect must be given to them.

A Jain widow has absolute power of disposal over the estate inherited by her from her husband which was not ancestral. (Baker, O. J. C.) MT. SANO v. BABOO PURAN SINGH. 78 I. C. 461 : 1925 Nag. 174.

———Application of—Dancing girls—Prostitutes and outcastes—Law applicable—Caste Disabilities Removal Act.

The Hindu Law as now understood is the law of the Smritis and Smritis including the recognised customs administered and interpreted in the light of judicial decisions. That law is applicable to all persons in India who have not adopted some other personal law than that of their own.

The class of dancing girls and prostitutes have been recognised as a caste like the other four castes—whether they are to be regarded as a fifth caste or included in the residuary caste of Sudra as Manu would have it. They are, in matters of succession, governed by the Hindu Law.

Since the Caste Disabilities Removal Act (XXI of 1850), a convert or an outcaste from Hindu religion retains his right of inheritance whether the right accrues before or after the conversion to another religion or exclusion from caste. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) RAM PARGASH SINGH v. MT. DHAN BIBI. 1924 P.H.C.C. 85 : 5 Pat. L. T. 203 : 3 Pat. 152 : 78 I. C. 749 : 1924 P. 420.

———Conversion—Effect of—Joint family—Severance in status.

The conversion of a Hindu co-parcener to an alien faith has the effect of separating the convert ipso facto from the coparcenary. 9 M. I. A. 199, Ref. (Martineau, J.) MT. JAMNA BAI v. GONDA RAM. 6 Lah. L. J. 84 : 80 I. C. 519 : 1924 Lah. 479.

———Converts—Custom in contravention of general Hindu Law—Quantum of proof. MT. DURGA DEVI v. GUR NARAIN. 1924 Lah. 157.

———Conversion—Effect of—Rights of convert.

Conversion to Christianity does not of necessity involve any change of the rights or relations of the convert in matters with which Christianity has no concern, such as his rights and interests in and his powers over property, and he is at liberty to retain so much of the old law as is consistent with his change of status or to adopt the usage of any other class with which the new status allows him to associate himself. The Hindu Law, except so far as it may be inconsistent with the new religion adopted by the convert will continue generally applicable to him and his descendants, if they do not elect to abandon the Hindu Law. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) RAMJEE RAO v. ANANDAPPA. 2 Mys. L. J. 92.

———Custom—Exclusion of daughters—Burden of proof.

HINDU LAW.

The burden of proving a custom of succession under which daughters are excluded from inheritance lies upon the person setting it up. (N. R. Chatterjee and Persoi, JJ.) DHARANI KALITANI v. SISU RAMKALITA, 39 C. L. J. 100.

——— Damdupat — Rule of — Applicability — Court's power to award interest from date of suit.

The Hindu Law principle of Damdupat applies to money debts and mortgage debts. Where prior to the filing of the suit the amount of interest accrued exceeds the principal, then under the rule interest ceases to run but there is nothing to prevent the Court from awarding interest from the date of the suit under S. 34, C. P. Code. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) MOTI LAL RAMLAL v. RENU, 1924 Nag. 348.

——— Damdupat — Mortgage — Mortgagees forcing mortgagee out of possession — Rule inapplicable. See MORTGAGE, INTEREST.

26 Bom. L. R. 455.

——— Dancing girls — Law applicable to — Hindu Law of Succession and Inheritance. See HINDU LAW — APPLICABILITY. 1924 P. H. C. C. 85.

——— Debts — Antecedent debts — What is.

The obligation incurred by a Hindu father in order to be binding on his sons must have two attributes, i.e., it must have been incurred antecedently to the transaction in suit; and it must have been incurred wholly apart from the ownership of the joint estate or the security afforded or supposed to be available by such a joint estate.

When the prior mortgage is relied on as antecedent debt, the mortgagee must prove that there was necessity for the original transaction also. (Walmley and Suhrawardy, JJ.) DAMODAR PROSHAD PANDEY v. SURENDRA NATH, 78 I. C. 45.

——— Debt — Antecedent debts — What is.

In order to validate an alienation by the father on the ground it was for discharging an antecedent debt, antecedency in time and dissociation in fact have to be proved. Where a prior mortgage which is relied on as an antecedent debt was to pay off losses arising out of business transactions, it is an antecedent debt within the meaning of the decision in Sahu Ram's case. (Pipon, J. C.) SANT RAM v. GURDAS MAL, 75 I. C. 239.

——— Debt — Nature of — Antecedent debt — Mortgage debt.

Per Lindsay, J. — Antecedent debt means merely a debt which is antecedent in fact as well as in time, i.e., a debt truly independent of and not part of the transaction impeached.

Per Sulaiman, J. — A mortgage debt can be an antecedent debt just as much as simple money debt can be. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) GAURI SHANAR SINGH v. SHEO NANDAN MISRA, 46 A. 384; 22 A. L. J. 369; 78 I. C. 911.

L. R. 5 A. 306; 1924 A. 543.

——— Debts — Antecedent debt — Usufructuary mortgage.

The consideration for a usufructuary mortgage constitutes an antecedent debt which can support a subsequent alienation. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MUNNU LAL v. BISHAMBHAR NATH, 79 I. C. 85.

HINDU LAW.

——— Debts — Antecedent debts — Time-barred debt — Alienation by father — Necessity. See HINDU LAW, JOINT FAMILY, ALIENATION.

22 A. L. J. 601.

——— Debts — Antecedent debts — Joint family property — Father's alienation. 77 I. C. 640.

——— Debts — Antecedent debt — Joint family property — Father's alienation. 1924 Nag. 1.

——— Debts — Liability for — Failure by father to render accounts — Son's liability. 76 I. C. 907.

——— Debt — Decree debts — Decree against father. 76 I. C. 582.

——— Debts — Liability for — Son's liability — Mortgage by father. 1924 Lah. 263 (2).

——— Debts — Antecedent debts — Liability of sons.

To justify an alienation by a Hindu father as against his sons, the debts for which the alienation is made must not merely be antecedent in time but should also be dissociated in fact therefrom. (Dalal J. C. and Neare, A. J. C.) AWADH RAM SINGH v. MAHBUB KHAN, 10 O. L. J. 525. 79 I. C. 725; 1924 Oudh 255.

——— Debts — Father — Son's liability — Pious obligation — Time-barred debts.

A Hindu son is under no pious obligation to pay off the debts of his deceased father of which the recovery is barred by time. Consequently the sale of a minor's estate by a guardian for the payment of such a debt of the minor's father is not binding on the minor 33 M. 308; 41 B. 347. Ret. (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) CHITNAVIS v. NATHU SAO, 20 N. L. R. 106; 7 N. L. J. 170; 79 I. C. 1002; 1925 Nag. 2.

——— Debts — Pious obligation of sons.

The pious obligation of sons to pay their father's debt only arises on the death of the father. There is no such obligation on their part to pay whatever debts the father may incur. (MacLeod, C. J. and Crump, J.) SHIVRAO RAMRAO v. LAKMIBAI, 1924 Bom. 523.

——— Debts — Father — Son's liability.

It is now settled law that the son's pious obligation to discharge his father's debts arises even during his life time. (Phillips, J.) MAHBOOB SIR FRAJANTU SREE RAJA PARTHASARATHY APPA RAO v. SUBBA RAO, 35 M. L. T. (H.C.) 84; (1924) M. W. N. 517; 1924 Mad. 840; 47 M. L. J. 483.

——— Debts — Father — Son's liability — Execution proceedings — Sale of entire property.

A Hindu father governed by the Mitakshara law can by incurring a debt, so long as it is not for an immoral purpose, lay the estate including his son's share open to be taken in execution proceedings upon a decree for payment of that debt. The pious obligation of the son to pay the father's debt exists whether the father is alive or dead. 28 B. 383, 51 I. A. 129, 43 B. 612 Ref. (Shah, A.C.J. and Fawcett, J.) NARAYAN GANESH v. SAGUNABAI GANGADHAR, 26 Bom. L. R. 1200.

HINDU LAW.

——— Debts—Son's liability—Basis of.

Per Sulaiman, J.—The basis of the liability of Hindu sons for the liability of their father's debts is threefold. It may be based on the existence of a legal necessity or on the ground of the personal obligation of the sons to pay their father's debt or on the ground of the transfer being in lieu of an antecedent debt. Each of these is a distinct and separate basis. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) GAURI SHANKAR SINGH v. SHEO NANDAN MISHRA, 46 A. 384 : 22 A. L. J. 369 : 78 I. C. 911 : L. R. 5 A. 306 : 1924 A. 543.

——— Debts—Son's liability—Extent of.

A Hindu is now liable for his father's debts only to the extent of the share in the coparcenary property that came to him at a partition made after the debt has been incurred and to the extent of the property inherited from his father at his death whether the debt was incurred before or after partition. (Hallifax, A.J.C.) BHO PRASAD v. NAKSHED PRASAD, 1924 Nag. 410.

——— Antecedent debts—The family business resulting in loss and insolvency—Whether minor's interests are liable.

Where the father and major members of a joint family were adjudicated insolvents, and the attaching creditors proceeded against the undivided shares of the minor members. Held, The decision on Sant Prasad Singh v. Sheodut Singh, 2 Pat. 724 cannot be considered as an authority. "It is too late to contend that property over which a person has a disposing power which he may exercise for his own benefit does not include ancestral property which may be sold for the satisfaction of antecedent debts." 7 B. 438; 26 M. 214; 44 A. 126 followed. (Das and Ross, JJ.) AMOLAKCHAND v. MAN SUKA RAI MANGAN LAL, 3 Pat. 857 : 1925 P. 127.

——— Debts—Antecedent debts—Loan on security of family property.

A debt contracted on the security of joint family property is not an "antecedent debt." (Kotwal and Prideaux, A. J. Cs.) RAKHMAHAI v. VITHUSA, 78 I. C. 384.

——— Debts—Antecedent debts—Prior mortgage.

The view that the amount due on a prior usufructuary mortgage executed by Hindu father is not a good antecedent debt cannot now be upheld in view of the recent decision of the Privy Council in 21 A. L. J. 934. In order to be antecedent the previous debt need not necessarily be a simple debt but may also be a mortgage debt. (Sulaiman and Mukerjee, JJ.) SANMUKH PANDAY v. JAGARNATH PANDAY, 46 A. 531 : 22 A. L. J. 417 : L. R. 5 A. 289 : 1924 A. 708.

——— Debts—Father undertaking to indemnify third person—Debt created by decree against father—Liability of sons to pay decree out of ancestral property.

The liability imposed by the Court upon the father to indemnify the person, with whose property he had improperly interfered, creates a debt which may justly be recovered from the ancestral property in the hands of the son. 39 C. 862 followed. (1908) 32 Bom. 348, not followed. L. R. 44 I. A. 126 : 39 A. 437, and (1924) 1 O. W. N. 48 : L. R. 51 I. A. 129 : 46 A. 95 referred to.

HINDU LAW.

M and B were co-mortgagees of a certain property. The mortgagor redeemed the property from B alone who undertook to satisfy M's claim. M died, leaving three sons but B settled the claim with one of his sons only, S by transferring certain property and paying some cash. S undertook to indemnify B against any claim by his other two brothers. The brothers made a claim and obtained a decree. The heirs of B in consequence sued for the return of cash and obtained the decree, in execution whereof the property in the hands of the sons of S was attached. The latter brought a suit for a declaration that the property was not liable to be sold for the debt.

Held, that the debt for which the heirs of B obtained the decree under execution having arisen out of his liability to indemnify B in the event of a claim by his brothers, the decree-holder could proceed against the ancestral property in the hands of the son, S. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MATA DIN v. MAHRAJ DIN, 1 O. W. N. 960 : 12 O. L. J. 33.

——— Debts—Father's debts—Immortality—Proof.

The onus of proving that a debt of a father was incurred for an immoral purpose is on the sons. It is sufficient to prove that he was leading a licentious life beyond his means and that there was no business or moral occupation on which the funds could have been expended. A direct connection need not be established between the debt and the alleged immorality. (Pipon, J. C.) SANT RAM v. GURDAS MAL, 75 I. C. 239.

——— Debts—Father's debt—Liability of estate in execution.

In the case of a joint family consisting of father and sons, the family property is liable to be proceeded against in execution of a decree for payment of a debt incurred by the father which is neither illegal nor immoral. (Wazir Hasan and Neave A.J.Cs.) GOKARAN SINGH v. JOKLU SINGH, 11 O. L. J. 405 : 79 I. C. 21 : 1924 Oudh 407.

——— Debts—Decree against father—Liability of family property.

In execution of a decree against the father for a debt not illegal or immoral joint family property can be proceeded against. (Wazir Hasan, J.C. and Kendell, A.J.C.) SHAMBU BHAN SINGH v. CHANDRA SEKHAR BAKHSH SINGH, 1 O. W. N. 343 : 80 I. C. 17 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 912.

——— Debt—Father's debt—Liability of family property—Extent of.

The whole of a joint family property in the hands of the sons and grandsons of a deceased judgment-debtor can be attached and sold in execution of a personal decree passed against the father or grandfather. (Kendall, A.J.C.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. MAHABIR PANDEY, 1 O. W. N. 487 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 893 : 79 I. C. 1055 : 11 O. L. J. 689 : 1925 Oudh 91.

HINDU LAW.

Debts—Father—Decree for damages—Liability of sons.

Damages were awarded against a Hindu father for having cut trees which did not belong to him and demolished a house. It was apparent that the family had benefited to a large extent by the action of the father. In execution of the decree for damages an item of family property was sold. The sons who were not parties to the suit or the execution proceedings challenged the validity of the sale. Held, that the debt being neither illegal nor immoral the sons were bound to discharge it and were therefore bound by the sale. 32 Cal 862; 4 Lah. 83; 32 Bom. 348 referred to. (Daniels and Dalai, JJ) CHANDRIKA RAM TIWARI v. NARAIN PRASAD RAI. 46 A. 617 :

22 A.L.J. 468 : L.R. 5 A. 378 :
79 I. C. 1036 : 1924 A. 745.

Debts—Father—Personal contract—Liability of sons—Survivorship.

The estates taken by sons by survivorship is not liable for a contract the father may have made personally and not as manager of the joint family, except in respect of instalments which had come into existence before his death. (Hallifax and Kotwal, A.J.C.) KANTICHAND v. UDAYA BANSHA 80 I. C. 349 : 1925 Nag. 7

Debts—Father—Personal decree—Sons' liability.

On the question whether the entire family property could have been sold under a personal decree passed against the father in his life-time there is not a long string of authorities which answer the question in the affirmative. Cases reviewed. (Daniels, J. C. and Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) BHAGWATI SAHAI v. MAHARAJ PRAG DIN.

27 O. C. 111 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 313
81 I. C. 15 : 1 O. W. N. 13 : 11 O. L. J. 202 :
1924 Oudh 393.

Debts of father—Sons when to prove illegality or immorality.

In challenging an alienation by a Hindu father the sons have to prove illegality or immorality only in two cases, one, where property has passed out of the family under a conveyance executed by the father in consideration of an antecedent debt in order to raise money to pay such debt; secondly, where property has been sold in execution of a decree for the father's debt. The rule does not apply to a private conveyance where cash is paid before the Registrar. (Daniels, J) BALDEO v. BHAGWAN MISIR. 78 I. C. 595.

Debts—Father—Son's liability—Antecedent debts—Personal covenant—Prior mortgage—Extravagant habits of father—Proof of.

The grandfather head of a joint Hindu family consisting of himself and his grandsons mortgaged a portion of the property and twelve years afterwards executed another mortgage with possession to the prior mortgagee in discharge of the earlier mortgage. The grandsons sued to set aside the later mortgage alleging that it had not been executed for binding purposes and that the grandfather was a man of extravagant habits. Held, that the debt evidenced by the first mortgage was an antecedent debt and that the second mortgage was therefore binding on the grandsons.

HINDU LAW.

21 A. L. J. 934 foll.; 13 M. 189; 11 B. 320; 6 M. 293; 20 A. L. J. 577 dist. 44 A. 368; 21 C. W. N. 957; 42 M. 711 Ref.

Per Lindsay, J.—A debt which had become absolutely barred by time and the liability to pay which had not been undertaken in a previous writing could not be deemed to be a good antecedent debt so as to validate as against the sons a conveyance by the father of a joint Hindu family in lieu of it. But when a mortgage debt as such had not become time-barred but only the personal remedy against the father was barred, it could still be a good antecedent debt so as to justify an alienation of it. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) GAURI SHANKER SINGH v. SHEO NANDAN MISRA. 46 A. 384 : 22 A. L. J. 369 :

L. R. 5 A. 306 : 78 I. C. 911 : 1924 A. 543.

Debts—Father—Liability of sons and grandsons—Immoral or illegal debts—Extravagant transaction—Antecedent debts—Meaning of.

If the father in a joint Hindu family purported to burden the estate by mortgage, then unless the mortgage is to discharge an antecedent debt, it would not bind more than his own interest.

Antecedent debt means antecedent in fact as well as in time, that is to say that the debt must be truly independent and not part of the transaction impeached. But a mortgage debt may also be an antecedent debt.

The pious obligation upon which the doctrine of antecedency is founded extends to grandsons as well as sons. Indeed the pious duty would appear to be more pressing in the case of the grandfather's debts than in the case of the father's.

The sons are liable to pay the debts of the father except when they are contracted for illegal or immoral purposes. It cannot be said that the purpose for which the debts were contracted was illegal or immoral, where the money was borrowed to pay the purchase price of an interest in land; the fact that the transaction was reckless and extravagant is immaterial. The question of justifying necessity or benefit to the family does not arise. It is only in cases where those elements are lacking that the doctrine of antecedent debt becomes important and the only exceptions relieving the sons and grandsons from pious obligation are where illegality or immorality is proved.

Whatever may have been the origin of the exception to the liability of the sons and grandsons in such cases, it is now established that the exception only exists in cases where the debt was contracted for an illegal or immoral purpose or where the obligation arises from some illegal or immoral transaction. (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) KULDIP SAHAY v. RAM BHUJHAWAN MAHTO.

3 Pat. 425 : 5 Pat. L. T. 115 : 1924 P. 454.

Debts—"Antecedent debts"—Liability of grandson.

A debt secured by a usufructuary mortgage is "an antecedent debt" within the meaning of that expression in the Hindu law. Not only a son but also a grandson is liable for the antecedent debts of a Hindu (Wazir Hasan, J. C. and Kendall, A. J. C.) MADHO PRASAD v. NEAMAT.

HINDU LAW.

10 O. & A. L. R. 621 :
11 O. L. J. 579 : 10 W. N. 292 :
1925 Oudh 185.

——— Debts — Illegal or immoral debts — Damages for malicious prosecution—Liability of sons to pay such debt.

It is an illegal and immoral act on the part of the father to lodge a maliciously false criminal case against another. It is also opposed to public policy. The course adopted by the father could not possibly be said for the benefit of the family and was fraught with great risk to the family status and reputation. It was a highly tortious act. Consequently the son's share of the joint family property would not be liable for such damages.

A debt incurred by a father to defend himself in a criminal case may in certain circumstances be for the benefit of the family in order to save the father and consequently the family from the degradation in the eyes of the public. But the present was not a case where the father incurred the debt to defend himself in an action, civil or criminal brought against himself. The debt was not incurred to defend himself against the suit for damages for malicious prosecution, but the decree was passed against him for having done a tortious act, namely, the institution of a false and malicious criminal proceeding against the decree holders. It was a voluntary and aggressive action on the part of the father to bring the false criminal case and he was not at that time trying to save himself against any action, civil or criminal causing any danger to his person or property. (Jwala Prasad and Foster, JJ.) SUNDAR LAL v. RAGHUNANDAN PRASAD. 5 Pat. L. T. 135 : 3 Pat. 250 : 1924 P. 465.

——— Debts—Father—Insolvency— Debts not illegal or immoral—Power of Official Receiver to sell entire properties including son's shares. See PROV INSOL. ACT, S 18, 46 M. L. J. 314

——— Debts—Father—Partition—Liability of sons and their shares after partition for debts of their father incurred before partition

A Hindu son in possession of property which had been joint and which fell to his share on partition is liable in a suit brought after partition impleading also the son, for the father's debts incurred before the partition and not illegal or immoral. 24 M. 555; 38 M. 1120 followed, 41 M. 131 considered. 40 M. L. J. Dissented. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) TADURI RAMA CHANDRA JAGANNATHA RAO v. VADREVI VISWESAM.

19 L. W. 691 : 47 Mad 621 :
80 I. C. 258 : 46 M. L. J. 590 : 1924 Mad. 682.

——— Debts—Decree against grandfather— Suit to challenge—Onus.

Where a grandson attacks the validity of sale in execution of a decree against his grandfather the onus is on him to prove immorality or illegality. In cases of alienation, the onus is on the purchaser to make out a title but where the alienation was by means of a court auction sale, the burden is on the person challenging the sale. (Pullan, A. J. C.) BADRI NATH v. RADHA BALARAJI IDOL. 80 I. C. 622 : 1925 Oudh 190.

Y D 1924—42

HINDU LAW.

——— Debts — Manager— Liability of other members—Pronote executed by manager—Suit on the note—Decree against other members.

There is no presumption in law that a document signed in his personal capacity by one who is the manager of a joint Hindu family is signed by him as such manager. Consequently if in a suit on a pronote executed by the managing member, the creditor seeks to make the other members of the family liable for the debt, the burden lies on the plaintiff to prove that there was necessity for the loans. Where in a suit on a pronote executed by the deceased manager of a joint Hindu family against the surviving member it is found that the pronote was not executed by the manager as such, but the loan was incurred for family purposes and the plaintiff also alleged such family necessity, it is open to the court to pass a decree on the debt against the surviving members. (Wallace, J.) SUPPAI GOUNDAN v. A. M. R. M. MURUGAPPA CHETTIAR. 19 L. W. 605 : 1924 Mad. 710.

——— Debts—Rights of Creditor—Interest— Borrowing by manager—Enforceability against— Family. 1924 P. 71.

——— Debts—Nature of—Litigation concerning mesne profits.

A decree for mesne profits passed against a person who was defending the suit in two courts cannot be characterised as illegal or immoral. (Wazir Hasan, J. C. and Kendall, A. J. C.) SHAMBHU BHAN SINGH v. CHANDRA SEKHAR BARSH SINGH 1 O. W. N. 343 : 80 I. C. 17 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 912.

——— Debts—Nature of—Extravagance and want of thrift—Effect.

The debt incurred by a Hindu father, when it is not for an illegal or immoral purpose, will be binding on the sons even if it be proved the father was extravagant and thriftless. (Baker, J. C.) BANSIDAR v. PANDURANG. 78 I. C. 431.

——— Debts—Liability for—Manager—Binding nature of—Onus. 1924 Lab. 44.

——— Debts—Manager—Joint family—Mortgage not binding on family property, if operative on share of the mortgagor.

A Hindu father is not incompetent to bind his own interest in the joint family estate by the execution of a deed of mortgage to discharge any debt of his own, even though that debt has not been contracted for the purposes of family necessity and is not an antecedent debt. The recent decision of the Privy Council in 21 A. L. J. 934 did not intend to modify the law as understood in these provinces. All that the creditor can do in such a case is to obtain a money decree and attach and sell the father's share in execution. (Kendall, A. J. C.) JOKHU PANDE v. MATA PRASAD TEWARI. 27 O. C. 161 : 1925 Oudh 94.

——— Debts—Antecedent Debt—Joint family estate—Mortgage by manager—Necessity.

The manager of joint Hindu family cannot mortgage the family property qua manager except for purposes of necessity. 51 L. R. I. A. 129 followed.

HINDU LAW.

Where it is not shown that the debt due on a prior mortgage executed by the father which the subsequent mortgagee redeemed on payment of certain sum of money was borrowed for legal necessity or antecedent debt, the subsequent mortgagee cannot claim that sum against the minor son. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. Cs) PARTAB SINGH v. SHAMSHER BAHADUR SINGH. 10. W. N. 694.

——— Debts—Son's debts—Liability of father's property.

There is no law which prohibits a person from taking measures to ensure that his self-acquired property should enure for the benefit of his minor grandsons and not be taken by the creditors of his son. (Baker, O. J. C.) DEBI CHARAN v. SANKER RAO. 7 N. L. J. 1: 80 I. C. 322: 1924 Nag. 71.

——— Family arrangement—Settlement of disputed claims to property—Properties divided among various claimants—Some of the claimants subsequently claiming against the terms of the settlement—Ratification—Estoppel.

On the death of a Hindu owning considerable properties, there was a dispute as regards succession to them among his surviving daughter, the minor sons of a predeceased daughter and two nephews who claimed to have been members of an undivided family with the deceased. The parties settled their disputes amicably and each of the contesting parties took a share of the properties, entered into possession and subsequently dealt with the items allotted to them as their own by selling and mortgaging them. Subsequently after the death of the daughter, the daughter's sons sued to recover possession of the properties allotted to the daughter and the nephews of the last male owner. Held, that there had been a bona fide settlement of family disputes and the arrangement was binding on the grandsons who were parties thereto, through their guardian. Moreover the grandsons had obtained considerable benefit under the compromise inasmuch as they obtained immediate possession of the properties allotted to them and having dealt with the properties so allotted as their own, were estopped from challenging the validity of the settlement. 33 A. 356; 18 C. W. N. 929; 40 A. 487; 45 A. 339; 46 B 292; 1 Pat. L. T. 335, 338; 44 A. 44 (101). (Jwala Prasad and Foster, JJ.) JAGDAMSAHAY v. RUPNARAIN MAHTON. 5 Pat. L. T. 375: 19-4 P. 736.

——— Gift—Acceptance—Express or implied—Considerations for Court.

Acceptance by the donee is necessary for the validity of a Hindu gift. Taking all the facts into consideration, the court must be satisfied of this fact. The acceptance of a deed of gift is prima facie evidence of acceptance of gift but the whole conduct in connection with the acceptance must be carefully scrutinised. In all such cases two points ought to be considered, first, whether the donee is in possession of the deed of gift, and secondly, whether the donee is in possession of the properties.

Quære, whether under the Hindu Law acceptance can be presumed till the donee signifies his dissent. (Das and Ross, JJ.) JAMUNA PRASAD SINGH v. MT. SHEORATI KUER. 78 I. C. 469: 1925 P. 251.

HINDU LAW.

——— Gift—Construction—Gift by father-in-law to widowed daughter-in-law—Life estate—Estate not terminated by remarriage. See HINDU WIDOWS' RE-MARRIAGE ACT. 19 L. W. 510.

——— Gift—Construction—Gift to wife and other persons—Nature of estate taken.

Where a Hindu testator bequeathed his properties in four shares to his wife, two daughters and nephew with a condition that if any of the daughters had a son born to her, the son was to get her share failing whom it was to go to the nephew. Held, that the testator's widow took an absolute estate in respect of the one-fourth share bequeathed to her. (Sulaiman and Mukerji, JJ.) LAKSHMI NARAIN MISIR v. MT. SUMARNI KUAR. L. R. 5 A. 342: 46 A 439: 79 I. C. 839: 1924 A. 731.

——— Gift—Construction—Gift by husband to wife—Donee described as malik—Nature of estate granted.

Where a gift by a Hindu husband to his wife described his wife as malik but the gift was made to her subject to all rights and conditions set forth in the deed of gift, held, that the wife took a limited and not an absolute estate. The deed as a whole left no room for doubt that it did not confer the maliki rights without conditions, nor did it confer on the donee those rights of property and alienation which a bare disposition in favour of a person denominated as malik would have involved. A Court in construing a deed must look at all the terms of the document. (Lord Shaw) ASHRAFI SINGH v. BIDYA PRASAD NARAYAN SINGH. 35 M. L. T. 135: L. R. 5 (P. C.) 136: 26 Bom. L. R. 776: 20 L. W. 425: 80 I. C. 826 (1): 1924 M. W. N. 819: 6 Pat. L. T. 77: 47 M. L. J. 585 (P. C.).

——— Guardianship—Alienation by defacto manager—When binding.

An alienation by the de facto guardian of a Hindu minor, if for the necessity or benefit of the latter is binding on the estate. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) NARAYAN v. DHARMA. 81 I. C. 273: 1925 Nag. 134.

——— Guardianship—Property—Mother—Rights of.

Under Hindu Law, after the father the mother is the natural and legal guardian of her minor son's person and property in a family, when her minor son is the sole owner of the property and there are no undivided coparceners entitled to a share therein. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) GANPAT SAMBAJI v. MAHADEO. 1924 Nag. 354.

——— Guardianship—Testamentary guardian—Hindu father. 1924 Mad. 327.

——— Guardianship—Father—Testamentary guardian—Joint family property—Minor son—Appointment of guardian invalid. See NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, S. 29. 47 M. L. J. 765.

HINDU LAW.

———Impartible estate—Accretion—Income—Rents and profits accrued due but uncollected.

The produce of an impartible estate does not necessarily belong to and form an accretion to the original property. Where there is no evidence that the late Raja treated the produce of the estate as an accretion to the estate, prima facie the successor is not entitled to rents which accrued due in the life-time of the late Raja in preference to his widow. Rent which has become due is produce of the impartible estate whether that produce has actually come into the hands of the owner or not. No distinction between realized rent and unrealized rent in this respect can be made. (Das and Ross, JJ.) APARNA DEBI v. SHRI SHRI SHIVA PRASAD. 5 Pat. L.T. 111: 3 Pat. 367: 1924 P. H. C. C. 207: 1924 Pat. 451 ———Impartible estate—Accretion—Talukdari property—Succession to accretion.

The last male owner of a taluka obtained a decree for the taluk together with all the properties appurtenant thereto against the widow of the previous deceased talukdar. The widow was held entitled to the non-talukdari property. The appellant succeeded to the taluka after the death of the last male owner. Both the widow and the last male owner instituted suits on the basis of mortgages executed in favour of the previous deceased talukdar and obtained decrees for sale. In execution of the said decrees the mortgaged properties were put up to sale and were purchased by the last male owner. The reversionary heir of the previous deceased talukdar after the death of the widow brought a suit to recover his share in the properties purchased by the last male owner on the ground that the mortgages taken by the previous deceased talukdar not being appurtenant to the taluk were subject to the ordinary rules of inheritance under the Hindu Law and that the properties acquired under decrees on the mortgages were separate property.

Held, that the properties in question could not be treated as accretions to the taluka. The title to the acquisitions was regulated by the ordinary rule of inheritance under the Hindu Law and the plaintiff was entitled to shares therein. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. Cs.) THAKUR JAI INDAR BAHADUR SINGH v. THAKUR SHEO INDAR BAHADUR SINGH. 10 O.L.J. 481: 78 I. C. 393. 1924 Oudh 218.

———Impartible Estate—Acquisitions from income—Incorporation with parent estate—Presumption—Proof.

The question whether the properties acquired by an owner become a part of his impartible estate for the purpose of succession depends on his intention to incorporate the acquisition with the original estate. But that intention can only be gathered in most cases from his declaration, conduct or treatment, or in other words, from the mode of his dealing with the property or its income, and the mere fact that the purchase of the subsequently acquired property was made from the savings of the impartible estate cannot by itself be regarded as sufficient proof of his intention to incorporate it. If a person is the absolute owner of the income derived from an impartible estate, it is open to him to spend that income in any way he likes or to invest it in the acquisition of other property. If he invests it in the acquisition of other property, the property so acquired partakes of the nature of the income which contributed to its acquisition and continues to be his self acquired property in the same sense as the income of the impartible estate, which is admittedly his. The mere fact that he keeps the income of such subsequently acquired property with the income of the impartible estate does not establish such an incorporation as to make the subsequently acquired estate an accretion to or a part and parcel of the impartible estate for the purpose of succession. (Kanhariya Lal and Mukerji, JJ.) HARBAKSH SINGH v. DAL BAHADUR SINGH. 22 A. L. J. 1079: 1925 A. 155.

HINDU LAW.

———Impartible Estate—Income—Savings—Property acquired by saving is separate property of the holders.

The income of an impartible estate is not so affected by its source that it should be assumed to form an accretion of the estate and property acquired by savings from the income of the impartible estate does not become a part of that estate but remains the separate property of the holder. 1923 P. C. 59 foll. (Dawson Miller, C. J., Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHEO PRASAD. 5 Pat. L. T. Supp. 1: 1925 Pat. 68.

———Impartible Estate—Succession—Survivorship—Ascendability.

The fact that an estate is impartible does not make it separate or self-acquired property. A raj, though impartible, may in fact be self acquired or it may be the family property of a joint undivided family. If it is the latter, succession will be regulated according to the rule which obtains in an undivided family so far as the selection of the persons entitled to succeed is concerned i. e. the person will be designated by survivorship, although then, according to the custom of impartibility, he will hold the raj without the others sharing it. But so far as the power of alienation goes, an impartible estate is not incapable of alienation either inter vivos or by will in the absence of a custom to that effect in the family. 15 I. A. 51; 4 M. 250; 22 M. 383; 42 C. 1179; 41 M. 782; 43 A. 278 Ref. (N. R. Chatterjee and Chotzner, JJ.) SRI PRATAP CHANDRA DEO v. SRI RAJ JAGADISH CHANDRA DEO. 82 I. C. 886: 40 C. L. J. 331.

———Inheritance—Brothers and nephew.

1924 Bom. 140.

———Inheritance—Benares school—Stridhanam—One female inheriting property of another—Nature of estate—Further devolution.

Where Stridhanam property of a female is inherited by another female, the latter takes it not absolutely but for a life estate and on her death the property would go not to her heirs but to the heirs of the original female owner. (Sulaiman and Mukerji, JJ.) LAKSHMI NARAIN MISIR v. MT. SUMARNI KUAR. L. R. 5 A. 342: 46 A. 439: 79 I. C. 389: 1924 All. 781.

HINDU LAW.

— — — Inheritance — Bandhus — Father's sister's son's son.

Under the Mitakshara school, a father's sister's son's son is a heritable Bandhu. Tests and case law discussed. (Kankaryalal and Mukerji, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. RAM DAUK. 22 A.L.J. 1012 : 82 I. C. 1032 : 1925 All. 17.

— — — Inheritance — Bandhus — Priority.

Among bhandhus, pitrabhandus are entitled to preference over matribhandus. Among pitrabhandus a male bhandu is entitled to preference over a female bhandu even though the latter is nearer in degree. Consequently the father's sister's son of the propositus is preferable to the father's brother's daughter. (Lord Phillimore)
KENCHAVA SANYELLAPPA v. GIRI MALLAPPA CHANNAPPA. 48 Bom. 569 : 1924 M. W. N. 719 : 22 A. L. J. 962 : 40 C. L. J. 447 : L. R. 5 P. C. 182 : 35 M. L. T. 241 : 10 W. N. 505 : 82 I. C. 966 : 51 I. A. 368 : 26 Bom. L. R. 779 : 20 L. W. 417 : 47 M. L. J. 401 : 1924 P. C. 209.

— — — Inheritance — Bandhus — Priority — Mother's brother — Father's sister's son — Preference.

In a contest between the maternal uncle and fathers' sister's son of a deceased person, the latter is a preferential heir to the former. Though propinquity is the governing test of the right of succession under the Mitakshara law, regard must be had primarily to the nearness of the stock or line to which each claimant belongs. Individual propinquity is a consideration which ought to come in only in the last resort as between rival claimants belonging to the same line or lines of equal proximity. It is only when all other principles fail that the theory of spiritual benefits must be resorted to. There is no warrant for engrafting the theory of spiritual efficacy on the principle of propinquity of blood underlying the Mitakshara scheme of succession. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.)
VENKATARAMA SETTY v. BORE GOWDA. 2 Mys. L. J. 183.

— — — Inheritance — Bandhus — Relationship — Counting of — Heritability — Grandfather's brother's daughter's son.

A grandfather's brother's daughter's son is a heritable bhandhu under the Mitakshara Law. Where a party claims through his father as a bhandhu, he must be within 7 degrees from the common ancestor, counting the claimant himself. Where a party claims through his mother, he must be within 5 degrees from the common ancestor counting the claimant himself. (Mukerji and Dalal, JJ.)
RAM SIA v. BUA. 22 A. L. J. 861 : L. R. 5 A. 715 : 1924 All. 790.

— — — Inheritance — Bandhus — Sagotra Sapinda — Predeceased daughter's daughter.

A predeceased daughter's daughter is not a Sagotra Sapinda even under the Bombay School of Hindu Law but she can succeed as a bhandhu in the absence of nearer heirs to her maternal grandfather. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.)
GHUNAJI v. TULSI. 20 N. L. R. 182 : 82 I. C. 457 : 1925 Nag. 98.

— — — Inheritance — Bandhus — Sister and brother's daughter.

HINDU LAW.

A sister being a bhandhu under Hindu law is entitled to succeed in preference to a brother's daughter who is not a bhandhu. (Martineau, J.)
MT. PURO v. SULAKHAN MAL. 76 I. C. 121 : 1925 Lah. 62.

— — — Inheritance — Disqualification — Burden of proof — Leprosy. 75 I. C. 474.

— — — Inheritance — Exclusion from — Ascetics.

Hindu texts applicable to the disinheritance of ascetics do not apply to Sudras unless some usage or custom to the contrary is proved. 40 Cal. 545 : 40 M. 846 : 39 Bom. 168 Foll. (Daniels and Dalal, JJ.)
SOBHADDI LAL v. GOBIND SINGH. 22 A. L. J. 470 : L. R. 5 A. 364 : 46 All. 616 : 80 I. C. 579 : 1924 All. 742 — — — Inheritance — Exclusion from — Dumbness.

Dumbness to be a ground of exclusion from inheritance under the Hindu Law must be incurable though not congenital. 18 C. 327 Foll. (Rafiji, J.)
BAI PRATAPGAVRI v. MUL SHANKAR. 26 Bom. L. R. 269 : 80 I. C. 173 : 1924 Bom. 353.

— — — Inheritance — Exclusion from — Grounds for — Murder — Conviction for — Disqualification.

Under the Hindu law a person guilty of the murder of another cannot succeed to the estate of the latter. He is disqualified not merely as to the beneficial interest but wholly. The theory of legal and equitable estate is no part of Hindu law, observations in 27 M. 591 diss. (Lord Phillimore)
KENCHAVA SANYELLAPPA v. GIRI MALLAPPA CHANNAPPA. 48 Bom. 569 : 22 A. L. J. 962 : 40 C. L. J. 447 : 1924 M. W. N. 719 : L. R. 5 P. C. 182 : 35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 241 : 26 Bom. L. R. 779 : 20 L. W. 417 : 1924 P. C. 209 : 10 W. N. 505 : 82 I. C. 966 : 51 I. A. 368 : 47 M. L. J. 401 (P. C.).

— — — Inheritance — Exclusion from — Leprosy — Burden of proof.

Leprosy to be a ground of exclusion must be of the sanious or ulcerous and not of the anaesthetic type. The presumption of Hindu Law is against disqualification and the burden of proof of disqualification lies on a person who seeks to exclude another who would be an heir, should no case of exclusion be established. Where it is contended that a person is excluded from inheritance by reason of disease, the strictest proof of the disease such as will disqualify him at the time the succession opened will be required. (C. C. Ghose and Panton, JJ.)
SURENDRA NATH DE v. ASHUTOSH NANDI. 27 C. W. N. 959 : 1923 Cal. 331.

— — — Inheritance — Exclusion from — Leprosy — When a sufficient ground.

Deformity and unfitness for social intercourse arising from the virulent and disgusting nature of the disease would be the test to determine whether or not leprosy is a sufficient ground for excluding a person from inheritance under the Hindu Law. 38 M. 250 : 22 I. A. 94 : 5 B. H. C. R. 145 relied on. (Lord Shaw)
RAMABAI v. HARNABAI. 26 Bom. L. R. 308 : 22 A.L.J. 384 : (1924) M. W. N. 357 : L. R. 5 P. C. 92 : 48 Bom. 363 : 20 L. W. 8 : 29 C. W. N. 129 : 10 W. N. 225 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 829 : 80 I. C. 193 (P. C.) : 1924 P. C. 125 : 46 M.L.J. 537.

HINDU LAW.

———Inheritance—Exclusion from—Unchastity or immorality.

Under the Mitakshara school of Hindu Law an unchaste or immoral daughter is not disentitled to succeed. The condition of chastity is laid down in the case of widows but not in the case of daughters. 4 B. 104 Kef. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) RAM PANGASH SINGH v. MT. DHAN BIBI. 3 Pat. 152 : 78 I. C. 749 :

1924 P. H.C.C. 85 : 5 Pat. L. T. 203: 1924 P. 420.

———Inheritance—Illegitimate son—Right to inherit—Shudras.

According to the Hindu Law as administered in South India an illegitimate son in the case of the unregenerate classes is the heir of his father provided the connection between the father and mother was continuous and exclusive and was not incestuous or adulterous. 7 M. 407 : 39 M. 136 : 13 M. I.A. 141. Ret. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) RAMJEE RAO v. ANANDAPPA.

2 Mys. L. J. 92.

———Inheritance—Illegitimate son—Sudras. MAROTI v. TUKARAM. 76 I. C. 934.

———Inheritance—Mother—Re-marriage—Effect of.

Notwithstanding re-marriage a Hindu mother remains competent to succeed as heir to the estate of her son by the first marriage where such estate devolves after her second marriage. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) HUSSAINBHAI BHORA v. BANRILAL. 1924 Nag. 338.

———Inheritance—Order of—Daughter's son—Right of representation—Daughter's son's son. 76 I. C. 881.

———Inheritance—Rules of, not to be altered at the will of parties—Agreement for devolution of property contrary to law of succession—Invalidity of. See HINDU LAW, PARTITION.

L. R. 5 A. 282.

———Inheritance—Sapindas—Rule as to.

The ordinary principle of succession among Sapindas is that the nearer in degree excludes the more remote. (Wazir Hasan, J.C. and Neave, A. J. C.) BRURAJ BUX SINGH v. BHAWANI BUX SINGH. 11 O. L. J. 586 :

1 O. W. N. 231 : 1925 Oudh 178.

———Inheritance—Widow—Husband's Reversioners—Rights of—Low caste Hindus.

Once it is found that a woman is a Hindu widow inheriting a life interest in her husband's property, there is no authority that among any caste of Hindus her property so inherited can on her death devolve upon a stranger, whether she has or has not married him in accordance with the custom of her caste. Such inheritance is totally contrary to Hindu law. (Pullan, A. J. C.) GANGA v. PANCHAM. 10 O. & A. L. R. 725 :

80 I. C. 691 : 1925 Oudh 97.

———Joint family—Acknowledgment of a debt on behalf of—Whether coparceners are bound.

While a karta could bind himself in an acknowledgment of a time-barred debt, he could not bind his coparceners. In the case of debts within time the acknowledgment is binding not only on the karta but on the other members of the joint family of which he is the head. (Broadway and Campbell, JJ.) THAKUR DOSS v. MT. PUTLI. 82 I. C. 96 : 5 Lah. 317.

HINDU LAW.

———Joint family—Acquisition—Nucleus—Planting of grove—Effect of.

Where there is an admitted nucleus of joint family property it is reasonable to presume that the expenses of planting a grove on the site of an old one came out of the joint family funds and that the grove itself is joint family property. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) HAR DATT LAL v. DHANDHI SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 786 :

11 O. L. J. 660 : 1925 Oudh 93.

———Joint family—Alienation of ancestral property by grandfather—If grandsons not in existence can question—The others lose the right by efflux of time.

Where the grandson of A disputed the alienations made by him, on the ground of want of necessity, and it was found that before he was conceived, his father had lost the right to question the alienation, by efflux of time. Held, on appeal—

(1) A Hindu son when he is born in a family is born to all the rights which exist at the time of his birth, and not to rights which existed a century ago and no title derived from such a Hindu would be safe under such a contingency.

(2) Once every member of a Hindu family has lost by efflux of time the right to question an alienation, a son conceived and born subsequent to the loss of the right to sue by the family cannot revive a timebarred right.

(3) A son born in a joint Hindu family acquires by birth an interest in ancestral property but does not acquire any interest in any right to sue and the cause of action in a suit to set aside alienation (4) accrues when the purchaser takes possession and not from the date of birth of a subsequent son in the family "Ujagar Singh v. Petam Singh." 4 All. 120 relied upon. (Dalal, J.) SEKKANDAR SINGH v. BACHHUR PANDE.

82 I. C. 307 :

L. R. 5 All. 663 (Civ.).

———Joint family—Alienation—Benefit—Point of time.

In testing the validity of an alienation of joint family property for the purpose of purchasing another estate, the question is whether the transaction was for the benefit of the estate and the point of time at which this should be judged is the date of the transaction and not whether at a much later time it might not have become beneficial. The fact that the purchase turned out to be a good bargain many years after its date is not a ground for holding that it was for the benefit of the family at the time it was made. (Katwal and Pridemur, A.J.Cs) RAKHMABAI v. VITHUSA. 78 I. C. 384.

———Joint family—Alienation—If can be validated on ground of pious obligation.

Where a joint family property is mortgaged by three brothers neither for an antecedent debt nor for legal necessity, it cannot be supported on the bare ground of pious obligation to discharge a debt of the executants' deceased father. (Wazir Hasan and Neema, A. J. Cs.) GAJADHAR BAKSH SINGH v. BAU NATH. 10 O & A. L. R. 264 :

HINDU LAW.

27 O. C. 133 : 1 O. W. N. 60 : 79 I. C. 104 : 11 O. L. J. 264 : 1925 Oudh 9

— — — Joint family — Alienation — Consent of other members. 1924 Oudh 138.

— — — Joint family — Alienation — Consent of members — Presumption of necessity — Absence of one — Effect.

Where all the members of a Hindu family consent to an alienation, it raises the presumption of necessity. The fact that one member who was employed abroad did not join does not make any difference in this respect. (Daniel, J.) BHAGWAN DAS v. ALLAN KHAN.

78 I. C. 649 : 1925 All. 28.

— — — Joint family — alienation — Duty of alienee — Inquiry, extent of.

In a suit to set aside certain alienations by the managing member, it was found by the trial court that a portion of the total consideration for the mortgage were paid by him to discharge certain prior debts of the family, and that there was no proof of necessity for the balance to justify an alienation of the coparcenary property, and it was decided that the alienees had failed to establish necessity for the mortgage, held, on appeal, (1) that the present mortgage in so far as it discharged antecedent debts, was binding on the estate, and that the alienees had failed to establish necessity for the whole mortgage, (2) that no enquiry would sustain an alienation of the coparcenary property, unless the facts represented to the alienee were such, as if true would have justified the loan. (3) That the mere existence of a joint family business was not sufficient and lender must show that the money was required for family business [Vittal Yeswant Garde v Shivappa Mallappa Hosmain, 72 I. C. 659 followed] Tarachand v. Bank of Bombay 34 Bom. 72 dissented from. (Sir Shadi Lal, C. J. and Malan, J.) GIRDAREE LAL v. KISHANCHAND. 5 Lah. 511.

— — — Joint family — Alienation by father — After-born son — When can dispute.

Where the alienation by a Hindu father is valid, the subsequently born son cannot sue to set it aside, but if the alienation is invalid can sue to set it aside not because the alienation was an invasion of his rights—for he had none at that time but because it was bad in itself. In the latter class of cases where the son is the whole survivor he can recover the whole of the property for the benefit of the estate. (Baker, J. C.) MAX SINGH v. KARAN SINGH. 1924 Nag. 200.

— — — Joint family — Alienation — Father — Consideration — Small portion not for necessity — Suit by sons to set aside sale — Form of decree 77 I. C. 174.

— — — Joint family — Alienation — Father — Decree — Sons challenging — Burden of proof. 1924 Oudh 34.

HINDU LAW.

— — — Joint family — Alienation — Father — Enquiry by alienee — Duty to see to the expenditure of money.

An alienee from the father of a joint Hindu family has to satisfy himself by enquiries that there is a necessity for the alienation, but when that is done he is not bound to see it was applied for that very purpose. (Baker, J. C.) BANSIDAR v. PANDURANG. 78 I. C. 431.

— — — Joint family — Alienation by father — Mortgage — Personal liability barred — Debt if antecedent.

Where a Hindu father created a mortgage over family property and more than 6 years after when his personal liability was barred, created another mortgage to pay off the prior one and there was no question of illegality or immorality, the same is binding on the sons on the basis of an antecedent debt.

Per Lindsay, J.—Even the discharge of a time-barred debt by a Hindu widow being binding on the reversioners, much more so is it with the sons.

Per Sulaiman, J.—Where the liability of the father is barred the sons can take advantage of it and challenge the alienation. But where it is only the personal remedy that was barred, but the mortgage qua mortgage was subsisting it can still be a good antecedent debt and the sons cannot impeach the transaction. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) GACRI SHANKER SINGH v. SHRO NANDAN MISRA. 46 A. 394 : 22 A. L. J. 369 :

78 I. C. 911 : L. R. 5 A. 306 : 1924 All. 543.

— — — Joint family — Alienation — Father — Mortgage by Public auction sale — Rights of parties. L. R. 5. A. 53 : 75 I. C. 785 : 1924 All. 169.

— — — Joint family — Alienation by father — Necessity — Sons minors — Effect of.

The mere fact that the alienation was by the father, even though he was at the time the sole adult male member of the family, is not by itself sufficient to prove that it was made for the benefit of the family; there must be something in the circumstances to show that that it was so. Nor does the mere fact that a price was real zed, and that it was utilized for the money-lending business carried on by the father on behalf of the family, necessarily make the alienation one made "for the sake of the family"; for the question is not so much whether there was consideration for the alienation and the consideration was utilized for the family, as whether the motive which determined the father or manager in entering into the transaction was to meet some necessity of the family or secure to it some advantage or benefit out of the transaction. If this were not so, every sale, where a price is reserved would have to be upheld as being incidentally for the benefit of the family, which cannot be the law. A son not born at the time cannot question the validity of an alienation by the father. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) MUDDA CHARI v. KENCHAYYA. 2 Mys. L. J. 70.

— — — Joint family — Alienation by father — Not binding — Effect — If a charge on father's shares.

A Hindu father created a mortgage over joint family properties and then a deed of further charge. As regards the latter it was found that there was no legal necessity for the same nor was it for an antecedent debt. Held, it did not create a charge over the share of the father even and the sons were not bound to redeem it.

HINDU LAW.

The proposition of law laid down by Lord Dunedin in 46 M. L. J. 23 (P. C.) examined and explained. (Kendall, A. J. C.) JUKHU PANDU v. MATA PRASAD. 10 O. & A. L. R. 161; 1 O. W. N. 122.

———Joint family—Father—Powers of alienation.

In a joint Hindu family the father qua father and manager can mortgage family property for payment of antecedent debts or raise money for legal necessity on the security of not only his share but that of his sons also. (Kinkhed, A. J. C.) MOTILAL RAMLAL v. RENI 1924 Nag 348.

———Joint family—Alienation by Father—Right of subsequently born sons and grandsons to object.

Where a Hindu father mortgages joint family property, sons and grandsons born subsequently take an interest subject to the mortgage right and cannot challenge its validity. (Kotwal and Prideaux, A. J. C.) RAKHMABAI v. VITHUSA. 78 I. C. 384.

———Joint family—Alienation—Father—Setting aside—After born son—Rights of.

10 O. & A. L. R. 189; 77 I. C. 353; 1924 Oudh 141.

———Joint family—Alienation—Father—Setting aside alienation—Afterborn son—Right of.

A son born after an alienation does not acquire a fresh cause of action by birth to set aside a father's alienation of ancestral property but is entitled to take advantage of the existing cause of action if he is born before the title of the transferee becomes absolute. (Daniels, A. J. C.) OUDH BEHARI LAL v. DAL SINGH. 10 O. L. J. 404; 79 I. C. 666; 1924 Oudh 205.

———Joint family—Alienation by father—son's suit—challenging alienation—Considerations governing.

The manager of a joint Hindu family may alienate the interests of himself and also of the other co-parceners for family necessity and when the manager is also the father, he may alienate those interests to satisfy an existing debt provided it is an antecedent debt not incurred for immoral purposes. The onus of proving immorality is on the sons. (Pipon, J. C.) SANT RAM v. GURDAS MAL. 75 I. C. 239.

———Joint family—Alienation—Father and sons—Mortgage decree—Liability of sons' shares in execution.

There was a decree in a suit on a mortgage which was brought against the mortgagor and his sons and two ijaradars. The suit was decreed ex parte against the father and on compromise against the sons and the ijaradars. It was expressly stipulated that on failure to pay the entire money due to the plaintiffs, the plaintiff would be competent to bring the mortgaged properties to sale and realize the money.

HINDU LAW.

Held, that this implied an agreement on the part of the sons to put their shares at the disposal of the decree-holders and therefore amounted to a specification of their shares, which at that time were three fourths shares. The right of the mortgagee to put up the shares for sale under a decree was supported by numerous decisions of the Privy Council. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) BADRI NARAIN SINGH v. DWARKA PRASAD. 1924 P. H. C. C. 65; 78 I. C. 630; 5 Pat. L. T. 565; 1924 Pat. 353.

———Joint family—Alienation—Father—Time-barred debts—Necessity.

A time-barred debt can constitute a valid antecedent debt as consideration for a sale deed given by a father of a joint Hindu family alienating joint ancestral family property. 35 A. 207; 8 A. L. J. 1099 overruled 44 A. 628; 33 M. 308; 43 A. 604; 41 C. 317; 13 M. 189 Ref. (Walsh, A. C. J.) PIGGOT, KANHAJIYAL, DANIELS and MOOKERJEE. JJ.) GAJADHAR v. JAGANNATH. 22 A. L. J. 601; L. R. 5 A. 498; 80 I. C. 684; 46 A. 775; 1924 A. 551.

———Joint family—Alienation—Legal necessity.

Caste tests are not "charitable or religious purposes" within the meaning of Hindu Law. (Mudgalkar, A. J. C.) THAOMMAL PUNJOMMAL v. SOMMAL CHELLARAM. 1924 Sind 140.

———Joint family—Alienation—Legal necessity—Benefit of estate must be looked at the date of alienation.

The right way of judging ordinary cases whether a loan on a mortgage of family property for purchasing an estate constitutes a benefit to the family is not looking at the ultimate result of the purchase many years after. The question of benefit must be determined with reference to the time of the purchase. (Kotwal and Prideaux, A. J. C.) RUKHMABAI v. VITHUSA AND OTHERS. 1924 Nag. 395.

———Joint family—Alienation by manager—Consideration not binding in part.

Where the property is ancestral, the sale by the father of that property is genuine and there is no contention that the price paid is unreasonably low, the mere fact that a small portion of the consideration representing an eighth share of the purchase money is not found to be binding on the family is no ground for setting aside the sale. In such cases unless the portion not covered by legal necessity is really large, the fact that a small portion of the consideration was not for legal necessity cannot affect the validity of the sale itself. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) BHADAJI v. GANESHRAO. 20 N. L. R. 4; 1924 Neg. 109.

———Joint family—Alienation—Manager—Necessity—Alienation of properties subject to mortgage—Rights of.

L. R. 5 A. 61; 1924 All. 29.

———Joint family—Alienation—Manager—Suit to set aside by minor co-parceners—Liability of sons to prove illegality or immorality.

If the managing member of a joint undivided estate incurs debt his sons are liable for the payment of the debt to the extent of the estate of the joint family provided that the debt is not tainted with immorality or illegality Brij Narain v. Mangala Prasad, 1923 (51 I. A. 129) followed. (Sir Shadi Lal, C. J. and Malan, J.) GIRDHAREE LAL v. KISHEN CHAND, 5 Lab. 511.

HINDU LAW.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Manager—Sale in discharge of pre-existing mortgages.

Where the junior members of a joint Hindu family sue to set aside a sale by the manager in discharge of certain prior mortgages the mere fact that they were not born at the date of the mortgages or that they were debarred by lapse of time from questioning the mortgages would not prevent them from questioning the sale. The plaintiffs were challenging the validity of the sale and the mortgages which were alleged to form the consideration for the sale could also be indirectly impugned. It could be shown that the mortgage debts were not for family necessity. (Dalal and Simpson, A. J. Cs.) AMBICA PRASAD v. LAL BAHADUR, 11 O. L. J. 164 : 1924 Oudh 353.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Manager—Without necessity—Voidable—Not void.

1924 All. 51.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Money payable for pre-emption decree—If legal necessity.

Money payable by the successful plaintiff in a pre-emption suit is not an antecedent debt for the purpose of supporting an alienation of family property. The fact that it was for repurchasing property sold by a separated brother does not constitute legal necessity. (Daniels, J.) SHEO DAN SINGH v. HABIB ULLAH KHAN.

1924 All. 721.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Mortgage by father—Necessity—High rate of interest—Immorality—Onus of Proof—Mortgage not for necessity—Liability of share of mortgagor MANNA LAL v. KARU SINGH, 89 C. L. J. 256.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Mortgage—Liability of shares of mortgagors—Death of coparcener—Effect of.

Where joint family property is mortgaged the share that is liable to be sold is determined by the mortgage and afterwards it cannot be subject to lapse or reduction on account of the death of one of the coparceners. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) BADRI NARAIN SINGH v. DWARKA PRASAD, (1924) P. H. C. C. 65 : 78 I. C. 630.

5 Pat. L. T. 565 : 1924 Pat. 363.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Mortgage—Necessity—Proof. L. R. 5 A. 61 : 1924 All. 29.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Necessity—Adult members joining in transaction—Presumption.

Where the then existing adult members joined in a sale of family property to wipe off a prior mortgage and the transaction is sought to be impeached 30 years afterwards. Held, that the execution of the sale by all the adult members raised a presumption of its validity. (Daniels, J.) ISHDAT TEWARI v. TAMESHAR, L. R. 5 A. 357 : 79 I. C. 296 : 1924 A. 916.

HINDU LAW.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Absence of necessity—If can be set aside fully.

Where joint family property is alienated without any necessity, any co-parcener can challenge the same and recover possession of the whole property and not merely his share in it. (Campbell, J.) CHURANJI LAL v. KARATAR SINGH, 79 I. C. 171 : 1925 Lab. 130.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Necessity—Antecedent debt due to third party. MT BEGAM v. JAFAR HASAN, 1924 Lab. 312.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Necessity—Burden of proof. 10 O & A. L. R. 189 : 77 I. C. 333 : 1924 Oudh 141.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Necessity—Burden of proof—Position of purchaser.

When the purchaser proves that the sale of joint family property was effected for a purpose which would constitute valid necessity for the transfer, the burden shifts on those who repudiate the transaction to prove that such necessity could have been satisfied by ways other than the sale of joint family property. Where the creditor satisfied himself that money was borrowed for legal necessity and it would not be in his power to inquire further whether the vendor had any money put away in the house out of which the necessity could be satisfied, he has discharged the burden laid on him by law. (Dalal, J.C.) BASHIRUDDIN KHAN v. MAHADEO SINGH, 11 O. L. J. 565 : 27 O.C. 26 : 79 I. C. 663 : 1924 Oudh 306.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Necessity—Discharge of prior debts—All adult members joining in alienation—Presumption of necessity.

It is not legally essential that where a sale is made in discharge of prior debts, the prior deeds which were paid off out of the consideration must be produced and formally proved.

Indeed such a requirement would render proof in respect of an old transaction impossible. Deeds which have been paid off are not retained with the same care as deeds which are still in force. Where a sale of joint family property is executed by the representatives of all the branches of the family and all the adult male members of the family living at the time, each of these circumstances is sufficient to raise a presumption of legal necessity. When combined they certainly do so. (Daniels, J.) DHANRAJ RAI v. RAM NARESH, L. R. 5 A. 325 : 79 I. C. 1019 : 1924 All. 912.

——— Joint family—Alienation—Powers of—Father and other coparceners—Distinction.

There is a very clear distinction between cases in which the alienation is made by the father and is being contested by his sons, and cases in which alienations made by the managing coparcener of joint undivided estate are being contested by the other co-parceners, not the sons of the person making the alienation. In the latter there is no question of pious obligation to discharge the debts of the alienor. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) ANANTOO KALWAR v. RAM PRASAD TEWARI, 22 A. L. J. 182 : L. R. 5 A. 86 :

46 A. 295 : 78 I. C. 619 : 1924 All. 465.

HINDU LAW.

———Joint family—Alienation—Purchaser from coparcener—Liability for mesne profits.

Though the purchaser of a particular portion of joint family property or the purchaser of the interest of one of the members of the family in any particular item of joint property may not be entitled to possession, if he gets possession, his possession cannot be considered as wrongful possession against the other members and he cannot be liable to account for the mesne profits. All that the law allows is that a coparcener is entitled to recover possession from an outsider of the joint family property or any portion of it. But if he stands by and allows an outsider to remain in possession, then although his share in that property or interest in that property is not thereby affected, he is not entitled to demand an account for the past profits. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) GANGABISAN JEEVAN RAM v. VALLABHDAS.

48 Bom. 428; 26 Bom. L. R. 464; 1924 Bom. 433

———Joint family—Alienation—Rights of members.

Where an alienation of joint family property is made without justification, the whole of it can be set aside at the instance of a member whose rights have been infringed (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MUNNU LAL v. BISHAMBHAR NATH.

79 I. C. 35.

———Joint family—Alienation—Senior brother requiring the deed—If others party.

1924 Nag. 112.

———Joint family—Alienation—Right to set aside—After-born member.

Two brothers forming a joint Hindu family executed a mortgage and subsequently separated. At the date of the mortgage one of the brothers had a son but the other had not. Held, that the subsequently born son could not impeach the mortgage merely because the other brother had a son in existence at the date of the mortgage who could challenge it. (Daniels, J.) ISHDAT TEWARI v. TAMESHAR.

L. R. 5 A. 357; 79 I. C. 296; 1924 All. 916.

———Joint family—Alienation—Setting aside—After-born members—Right of.

Even though a member of a joint Hindu family was not born at the time of alienation of joint family property, still where there are members who were alive at the time of alienation, it is open to the member born subsequently to impeach alienation. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) BENAİK RAO v. PUTTAIN SINGH L. R. 5 A. 335; 79 I. C. 69; 1924 A. 929.

———Joint family—Alienation—Setting aside—Major portion of the consideration found to be binding—Form of decree.

Where in a suit by a son to set aside an alienation of ancestral property by his father, the alienee succeeds in establishing necessity for antecedent debt with respect to a part of the consideration, the difficulty often arises whether the sale deed should or should not be upheld. It is impossible to lay down any hard and fast rule which could apply equally to every case for every transaction has to be considered on its own merits and the Court has to come to a finding on the merits of the case. Where out of the sale price of Rs. 1,000 in respect of a sale effected by a Hindu (after a sum of Rs. 200 is not proved to have been applied for binding purposes, the sale deed should be set aside on payment by the plaintiff of the sum of Rs. 800 found to be good consideration. 25 A. 330; 27 A. 494; 32 A. 292 Ref. (Sulaiman and Mukerji, JJ.) SANMUKH PANDE v. JAGANNATH PANDE. 22 A. L. J. 417; L. R. 5 A. 289; 46 A. 531; 1924 All. 708.

Y D 1924—43

HINDU LAW.

———Joint family—Alienation—Setting aside—Sons impeaching alienation—Burden of proof.

It is only where the property has passed out of the joint family under an alienation in lieu of an antecedent debt or in execution of the creditor's remedies for such debt that it lies on the sons to prove that the debt was illegal or immoral. 6 I.A. 88; 39 A. 437 Ref. (Daniels, J.) MUNESHER LAL v. AMAR NATH.

L. R. 5 A. 286; 78 I. C. 626; 1924 All. 493.

———Joint family—Alienation—Setting aside—Subsequently born members—Rights of.

When an alienation is made by the manager of a joint Hindu family which is not justified by necessity, a cause of action arises in favour of all the members to have it set aside and to recover possession from the alienee, but there is only one cause of action in favour of the other members of the family. Successive causes of action cannot arise as new members are born year after year. 61 I. C. 801; 19 A. L. J. 978, 64 I. C. 757; 65 I. C. 404 Ref. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) SITA RAM SINGH v. CHEDDI SINGH.

22 A. L. J. 809; L. R. 5 A. 634; 1924 All. 798.

———Joint family—Alienation—Sons born after alienation take subject to it.

Sons and grandsons not born at the date of the mortgage take by their birth an interest in the family property subject to the mortgagee's rights in respect of the father's shares as they existed at the date of the mortgage and they are not entitled to object to the alienation of such shares. (Kotval and Pringleaux, A. J. C.) RUKH-MABAI v. VITHUSA. 1924 Nag. 398.

———Joint family—Alienation—Suit by sons for cancellation of auction sales of joint property—Burden of proof.

In a suit by a Hindu coparcener to set aside certain auction sales of joint family property in execution of a mortgage decree passed against his father, on the ground, that the onus lay on the auction purchaser to prove that the debt was contracted for legal necessity, Held, relying on, 13 Cal. 21 and 39 A. 437 that the burden of proof lay upon the plaintiff (son) and not upon the auction purchaser, regarding the legality or otherwise of the father's debts, and that he had not discharged it. (Dalal, J.) BISHU-NATH RAI v. JODHI RAI. L. R. 5 All. 690 (Civil); 82 I. C. 180; 1925 A. 120.

———Joint family—Father—Insolvency of—Interest of sons—Liability of.

1924 Lah. 297 (1).

HINDU LAW.

—Joint family—Alienation—Uncle acting as manager—Extent of his powers.

There is nothing in the decisions to warrant the view that an uncle acting as manager of a joint family is entitled to sell the share of his nephew in the joint family property in order to discharge a debt incurred by his own father, even though the said father be also the grandfather of the nephew whose property is alienated. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) RAMESHRA v. KALPOO RAI. 46 A. 264 : 22 A. L. J. 159 : L. R. 5 A. 112 : 1924 All. 538.

—Joint family—Alienation to various persons—Disputes—Joint possession.

In a case of dispute between alienees from various co-parceners of a joint Hindu family, a decree for joint possession can be given. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) GULAM DASTAGIR v. AHMED KHAN. 1924 Nag. 337.

—Joint family—Ancestral business—Debts—Minors if bound.

In the case of an ancestral business all members of the family including minors are liable for debts incurred in the course of business to the extent of their shares in the family property. (Prédeaux, A. J. C.) KATAN LAL v. JAIDEO. 1924 Nag. 123.

—Joint family—Ancestral property—Property inherited from maternal grandfather.

Where property is inherited by an adoptive father along with his brothers from their maternal grandfather, it is the joint family property in which the adopted son has a right as co-parcener. 25 M. 678 : 24 M. 382 : 39 M. 930 followed. (Ramesam and Jackson, J.J.) AVASARALA VENKATA SESHAMMA v. AVASARALA APPA KAO.

20 L. W. 181 : 80 I. C. 79 : 1925 Mad. 125.

—Joint family—Co-mortgagees—Presumption of continuance of joint status.

In the case of co-mortgagees who at the time of the mortgage were members of a joint family, the mortgagor in the absence of notice, is entitled to presume they continued joint and payment to one would be a valid discharge. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) BASANTRAO v. NARAYAN. 1924 Nag. 401.

—Joint family—Co-parcener—Conversion to alien faith—Effect of—Convert separated ipso facto from coparcenary. See HINDU LAW.

6 Lah. L. J. 84.

—Joint family—Co-parcener—Decree against—Execution sale—What passes under.

When there is a decree against A who happens to be a member of a joint Hindu family, without stating whether he is sued in a representative capacity or not, the property belonging to the family cannot be seized in execution of the decree against A. The interests of persons who are not parties to the decree either by name or by implication cannot be attached in execution of such a decree. 40 B. 329 Rei. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) NAMDEV TUKA RAM v. VISHNU CHINTAMAN.

26 Bom. L. R. 497. 80 I. C. 425 : 1924 Bom. 345.

—Joint family—Coparcener—Partnership—If all members partners.

HINDU LAW.

Where a business carried on by one member of a joint Hindu family is neither ancestral nor set up with the help of family funds, there is no presumption that it is a family business. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) FIRM OF MOTHARAM MOULATRAM v. GOPALDAS. 80 I. C. 141.

—Joint family—Debts of father—Antecedent debts—Mortgage debts.

Where there are pre-existing mortgages contracted by the father it is within his competence to alienate a portion of the joint family property in satisfaction of these antecedent debts of his own, so long as those debts had not been incurred for an immoral purpose. 21 A. L. J. 934 foli. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) BHIM SINGH v. RAM SINGH. 46 A. 301 : 22 A. L. J. 180 : L. R. 5 A. 75 : 1924 All. 309.

—Joint family—Debts not immoral or illegal—Son's share in family property—Liability of, during father's life-time.

Held, that on the insolvency of a Hindu father, the Official Assignee could sell the joint ancestral estate of the insolvent and his sons to pay the debts of the insolvent not tainted with illegality or immorality. (Schwabe, C. J. Coult's Trustee and Krishnan, J.J.) BALUSWAMI IYER In the matter of. 47 Mad. 87 : 19 L. W. 86 : 1924 Mad. 411 : (1924) M. W. N. 94 : 80 I. C. 108 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 317 : 46 M. L. J. 86.

—Joint family—Debt—Pious obligation of the son—Liability of the joint estate.

When a managing member of a joint family borrows money for legal necessity, it is the pious duty of the son to pay a simple money debt due from his father during his lifetime. (Datta, J.) BISHMALI RAI v. JODHI RAI. L. R. 5 All. 690 (Civ.) 82 I. C. 180 : 1925 A. 120.

—Joint family—Decree against father—If can be executed against sons.

Where a decree is obtained against a Hindu father for a debt which is not illegal or immoral the creditor can in execution attach and sell the son's share also in ancestral property. (Korwar and Prédeaux, A. J. C.) MITSUI BOSSAN KAISHA v. PADAMRAJ. 1924 Nag. 232.

—Joint family—Family business—Debts contracted by manager—Binding nature of.

Debts incurred by the manager of a joint family for the purpose of conducting a family business carried on for the benefit of the family will be binding even if it is an ancestral business. It is by no means incumbent on the creditor to prove the family was actually benefited out of the transaction. (Sulaiman and Rytes, J.J.) MAHABIR PRASAD MISIR v. AMLA PRASAD RAI. 46 A. 364 : L. R. 5 A. 264 : 22 A. L. J. 295 : 79 I. C. 517 (2) : 1924 All. 379.

—Joint family—Father—Adjudication as insolvent—Debts not tainted with immorality or illegality—Power of Official Receiver to sell the entire property. See PROV. INS. ACT, S. 18 (1). 46 M. L. J. 314.

—Joint family—Father—Alienation by—Bulk of consideration for necessity—Effect.

HINDU LAW.

Where a Hindu father sells ancestral property for the discharge of his debts, if the application of the proceeds is satisfactorily accounted for, the fact that a small portion is not accounted for will not invalidate the sale. As to what would be a bulk depends on the facts of each case. A sum of Rs. 3,000 out of a total of Rs. 3,500 is a bulk of the consideration. Having regard to decisions it will be difficult to hold that Rs. 500 is a trifling amount. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.)
NATHU RAM v. KANHAIYA LAL. 80 I. C. 226.

——— Joint family—Father—Alienation—Suit by sons to set aside—Pre-emption—Decree in a suit against the father's alienee—No shifting of onus.

The father and manager of a joint Hindu family sold away family property and the defendant a preemptor, sued for preemption and obtained a decree against the vendee. Subsequently the sons and grandsons of the original vendor sued to set aside the alienation. Held, that the onus of proving justifying necessity lay on the defendant. The preemptor stood in the shoes of the original transferee and the decree in the pre-emption suit was not binding on the father and much less on the sons. The preemptor could not stand in a better position against the sons than the vendee from the father, except that being in a less favourable situation than the vendee to prove proper inquiry as to the existence of necessity or of antecedent debts of the father, less strict proof of enquiry may be required of him. The burden of proving their existence however is not shifted by preemption from the transferee to the sons, unless the sons were parties to the preemption decree. The decree which shifts the burden on the sons is one in execution of mortgage by the father. (Dalal, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.)
AWADH RAM SINGH v. MAHBUB KHAN. 100 L. J. 525:
79 I. C. 725: 1924 Onah 255.

——— Joint family—Father—Compromise—Suit by Mortgagee—Decree passed on compromise—Sons how far bound by the decree.

In a suit on a mortgage executed by the father of a joint Hindu family consisting of himself, his five sons and grandsons by one of the sons, mortgagee failed to implead as party to the suit one of the sons of the mortgagor who was then in existence. A compromise decree was passed in the suit under which the mortgagee obtained possession of the properties. Subsequently he was dispossessed by the person who was not made party to the prior suit and he brought a suit for possession alleging that the prior compromise decree saved limitation. The defendant contended that the mortgage as well as the compromise decree in the prior litigation were not binding upon him. Held that the compromise decree passed in the prior suit against the father was in reality no better than a transfer made by the father and the mere existence of the decree could not deprive his sons of their rights in joint family property. The plaintiff could not therefore obtain possession of the joint family properties under the mortgage and the decree unless he could prove that the debts were contracted for valid necessity or for payment of an antecedent debt. (Dalal, J.)
RAM DAYAL v. NIMAR SINGH. 110 L. J. 360.

HINDU LAW.

——— Joint family—Father—Gift by—Validity against son—Condition—Gift to wife or to mother—Gift to daughter—Distinction.

There is no warrant for the proposition that a member of a joint Hindu family can make a gift of the joint family property provided the property gifted does not exceed what he would obtain for his share on partition. That fact only furnishes a maximum limit, and the Court has to be satisfied that the gift is otherwise reasonable. As regards its validity a gift of joint family property by a father to his widow or to his mother stands on a different footing from a gift by him to his daughter. (Coutts Trotter, C. J. and Ramesam, J.)
MOVVA SUBBARAO v. MOVVA ADAMMA,
20 L. W. 440: 1925 Mad. 60:
(1924) M. W. N. 680: 47 M. L. J. 465.

——— Joint Family—Father—Insolvency—Sons' shares if vests in Official Assignee—Pres. Towns Ins Act, Ss. 2, 17 and 52.

Where one of the coparceners of a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara system of Hindu Law has been adjudicated an insolvent under the Pres. Towns. Ins. Act (11 of 1909) such adjudication does not divest the coparcenor's son of his right and interest in the unpartitioned immoveable property of the family or deprive him of his right of pre-emption therein under the Punjab Pre-emption Act. of 1913 7 B. 438: 1 I. A. 321; 51 I. A. 129; 19 M. 74: 26 M. 214; 42 C. 225; 54 P. R. 423 Ref. (Sir John Edge, J.)
SAT NARAIN v. BEHARI LAL. 100 W. N. 916:
100 O & A. L. R. 1332: 1925 M. W. N. 1:
47 M. L. J. 857 (P. C.).

——— Joint family—Father—Powers of—Division in status—Power of father to sell son's share.

Where there has been a division in status between a father and his son, it is not competent to the father acting alone to convey the interest of the son in the family property. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.)
AVASARALA VENKATA SESHAMMA v. AVASARALA APPA RAO. 20 L. W. 181:
80 I. C. 79: 1925 Mad. 125.

——— Joint family—Father—Powers—Partition by arbitration.

A Hindu father can refer to arbitrators the partition of joint family property and the award even if it apports shares unequally is binding on the sons, in the absence of fraud and collusion. (Baker, J. C. and Pridcaux, A. J. C.)
SAWAI SINGAI BALCHAND v. SAWAI SINGAI LACHMAN PRASAD.

1924 Nag 148.

——— Joint family—Father's suit relating to family—How far binding on sons.

Where a suit by the father of a joint Hindu family relating to family property was allowed to be withdrawn with liberty to file fresh suit provided cost were not paid in one month and it was not so paid, the result of the adjudication is one which binds the sons also, as the suit must be deemed to have been filed in a representative capacity.

The question whether a Hindu father represents his coparceners is one which has to be decided with reference to the circumstances of each case. (Foster, J.) HUKUM MAHTO v. SANT SAHO

HINDU LAW.

78 I. C. 19.

———Joint family—Father—Transfer of property—Minor sons joining in alienation.

10 O. & A. L. R. 189 : 77 I. C. 353 : 1924 Oudh 141.

———Joint family—Hypothecation bond executed by father to discharge encumbrance on a property acquired by pre-emption—Binding nature of.

Where a Hindu father, hypothecated some items of joint ancestral property, in order to discharge a mortgage on another property which he had acquired under a pre-emption decree, the sons filed a declaratory suit against him, that the debt was not binding upon them.

Held, that it was not established that the discharge of the encumbrance at the cost of hypothecating the family property was for the benefit of family. (Daniels and Neave JJ.) BHAGAWAT SINGH v. GURCHARAN DUBE.

L. R. 5 All. 647 (Civil.) : 1925 All. 96.

———Joint family—Manager—Alienation—Necessity—Antecedent debt—Rate of interest—Necessity for.

It is incumbent upon those who support a mortgage made by the manager of a joint Hindu family to show not only that there was necessity to borrow, but that it was not unreasonable to borrow at some such high rate and upon some such terms, and if it is not shown that there was necessity to borrow at the rate and upon the terms contained in the mortgage that rate and those terms cannot stand. 41 All. 571 : 50 I. A. 14 followed. A debt incurred by a previous mortgage is an antecedent debt even though the repayment thereof was secured by a subsequent alienation of the family estate, that is to say, by the execution of a usufructuary mortgage. It is open to the member of a joint Hindu family governed by the Mitakshara Law, whose rights had been infringed by an alienation of the joint family property to have the entire alienation set aside. (Vazir Hasan, J.) MANNU LAL v. BISSHAMBAR NATH.

11 O. L. J. 415 : 79 I. C. 35 : 1924 Oudh 378.

———Joint family—Manager—Alienation—Not justified by necessity—Alienor's share if affected by sale.

The Privy Council in the case of Brij Narain v. Mangal Prasad 21 A. L. J. 934 did not lay down that a Hindu father's alienations which are otherwise invalid could be enforced against his own share in the joint family property even in the United Provinces. The rule was meant to apply to those provinces in which the right of a co-sharer to dispose of his own share is recognized. It has no application to the United Provinces. (Daniels, J.) MUNESHER LAL v. AMARNATH. L. R. 5 A. 286 : 78 I. C. 626. 1924 All. 493.

———Joint family—Manager—Bonds executed by, for family necessity—Defts. in existence and not impleaded denying liability—Unconscionable interest.

HINDU LAW.

Where a bond was executed by the karta, and other members of the family, certain members who were not impleaded, and who were in existence at the time of the transaction questioned its binding character on (1) the absence of any legal necessity (2) and at any rate no necessity for agreeing to such a high interest. Held, that the minor members who were not impleaded can question the authority of the karta to enter into a contract with regard to the rate of interest so as to be binding upon them, unless it was shown that the high rate of interest agreed upon was necessitated by the circumstances of the family. The decree holder must prove that the rate of interest agreed to was the proper rate chargeable in the market relying upon. Mahadeo Prasad v. Bessesswar Prasad, 2 Pat. 488.

Held further, that the question of necessity is one of fact, and has to be proved by evidence. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) PARAMESHWAR PANDEY v. RAJ KISHORE PRASAD NARAYAN SINGH. 5 Pat. L. T. 646 : 80 I. C. 34 : 3 Pat. 829 : 1925 Pat. 59.

———Joint family—Manager—If can claim exclusive possession.

The manager of a Hindu family cannot claim exclusive possession of the family properties as against other members. The case of a Hindu father may stand on a different footing. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) KHEDU SINGH v. BHAGWAN SINGH. 1924 Nag. 163.

———Joint family—Manager—Contract to sell joint family properties—Enforceability against minor members. See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE. 46 M. L. J. 575.

———Joint family—Manager—Debts contracted—Binding nature of Debts contracted by a Hindu manager will be binding only on him personally, unless it is shown they were contracted for family purposes. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Le Rossignol, J.) BARU v. BALLA. 6 Lah. L. J. 441 : 1925 Lah. 141.

———Joint family—Manager—Duty to keep accounts—Partition—Mesne profits.

The manager of a joint family is not obliged to keep accounts while the family remains joint and where a partition is asked for partition takes place of the property as it exists in the hands of the manager. Although there is a severance of interest from the date of the suit, it does not follow that the family property does not remain joint till it is actually divided. Hence mesne profits cannot be claimed as from date of suit. (Baker, J. C.) JANARDHAN v. WASUDEO.

1924 Nag. 315.

———Joint family—Manager—Insolvency—Position of Official Assignee.

On the insolvency of the managing member of a joint Hindu family the Official Assignee succeeds to the undivided interest of the insolvent in the joint property and his rights as managing member so far as they can be exercised for his benefit, but he is not entitled to have vested in him the shares of the other members though he is entitled to deal with them as the insolvent would lawfully.

HINDU LAW.

have done if there be no insolvency. (Schwabe, C. J. and Coleridge, J.) VARADARAJAN v. SRINIVASA RAO 1924 Mad. 792 ———Joint family—Manager—Liability to account—Partition—Misappropriation by manager—Meaning of—Family house—Residence of members of family in—Nature of partition—Provision for residence in case of—Allotment of portion of family house—Necessity—Allotment of portion in other house—Allotment of money—If and when may be made.

When assets are traced into the hands of the managing-member he is bound to account for them on partition, whether his coparceners are minors or majors. It is not enough for him to say that he has no longer got those assets. Capital moneys proved to have come into the hands of a manager must be considered as available for partition, in the absence of evidence showing what has happened to them.

Misappropriation of family property by the managing member means nothing more than the expenditure of the money on other than justifiable family expenses. The right of members of one joint Hindu family to the family house is not a right in rem. While the house is being used as a family house, they have, no doubt, a right to reside there.

Quære.—Whether they have a right to any particular separate room. On partition, it is clearly a matter for the Court arranging the partition to say whether it is in the general interest of the coparceners that residence should be given in a particular house or not.

Some other provision can be made if there are more houses than one to choose from. Provision may, if the general advantage of the family requires it, also be made in money instead of in kind. (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE v. RAJABADAR PILLAI

(1924) M. W. N. 192; 19 L. W. 597;
1924 Mad. 458; 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 341;
78 I. C. 536; 46 M. L. J. 145.

———Joint family—Manager—Mortgage of property—Necessity—Purchase of other lands in the same village.

A joint Hindu family owned a share of a village ancestrally. The manager of the family purchased at a sale for arrears of roadcess another share of the same village. To pay off a mortgage to which the property purchased was subject, the manager raised on a mortgage of the joint family property. It was shown that the purchase was profitable though only in a small way. Held, that the manager was entitled to borrow money on mortgage in order to purchase a share in a village in which the family already had a share, in a transaction which was not on the face of it a losing one. The transaction was in no sense speculative but a prudent one. 6 M. L. A. 893; 49 C. 560; 1 Pat. L. T. 6; 46 A. 95 Ref (Das and Ross, JJ.) BENI MADHO SINGH v. CHANDER PRASAD SINGH. 3 Pat. 451.

———Joint family—Manager—Powers of alienation.

The powers of alienation possessed by the manager of a joint Hindu family where he acts for benefitting the family are the same whether he happens to be the father or not. In such cases he represents the whole family and all the members are bound. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) NARUMAL MUL CHAND v. NICHUMAL 1924 S. 124.

HINDU LAW.

———Joint family—Manager—Powers of New business.

It is not open to a manager of a joint Hindu family to embark on purely new and speculative business under the plea that the expansion business in general will be beneficial to the estate. (Pipon, J. C.) SANT RAM v. GURDAS MAL 75 I. C. 239.

———Joint family—Manager—Promote executed by—Enforceability against other members—Suit on debt—Decree against family properties.

A promissory note made by the manager of a joint Hindu family will not be binding on the other members of the family unless their names appear on the instrument even though the note may have been borrowed for family purposes 17 M. C. C. R. 133; 17 M. C. C. R. 175; 27 M. C. C. R. 181, Ref. The creditor cannot recover the debt from the other members of the family who are not parties to the instrument and whose names do not appear in the instrument by basing his claim on the original consideration apart from the note. There cannot be two distinct causes of action where the advance of the loan and the execution of the promissory are simultaneous and where the contract of loan cannot be proved independently of the note, 21 M. C. C. R. 317 (F. B.) toll. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) SUBBA RAO v. SWAMI RAO. 2 Mys. L. J. 83.

———Joint family—Manager—Suit against—Minor son impleaded but not properly represented—Decree if binding.

In a suit for sale on a mortgage executed by a Hindu father his minor son was impleaded but not properly represented. A decree was passed for sale of the properties. In a subsequent suit by the minor to set aside the decree, Held that if the mortgage executed by the plaintiff's father was executed for legal necessity, then the mortgage would be binding on the joint family property and would be equally binding even though the plaintiff had not been formally impleaded in the suit. (Daniels and Dalal, JJ.) CHANDRADIP TEWARI v. BABU JADUNANDAN SINGH. L. R. 5 A. 366; 79 I. C. 1041; 1924 A. 573.

———Joint family—Mortgage—Alienor what to prove.

A mortgagee from the manager of a joint Hindu family must prove the necessity for the mortgage and also that the rate of interest fixed was reasonable. (Wazir Husan and Neave, A. J. C.) BAKHTAWAR SINGH v. BAKHTAWAR SINGH. 78 I. C. 232.

———Joint family—Mortgage decree and sale—When sale cannot be set aside by minor members.

Where joint family properties were mortgaged by the manager, and other major members, and the mortgagee obtained a decree thereon without making minors as parties, and the properties were sold to strangers, the minors brought a suit for declaration that the mortgage was not binding on them on the ground of want of necessity.

HINDU LAW.

Held, that when the property had been sold in execution of a decree against the father then it was not open to his sons and grandsons to have the sale set aside for want of necessity but it was further necessary to establish that the debt had been tainted by illegality or immorality, Rama chander v. Md. Nur, 21 A. L. J. 485, and Brij Narain v. Mangla Prasad, 21 A. L. J. 934, relied on.

Held further, (2) that the word 'debt' in the proposition, "he may by incurring debt so long as it is not for an immoral purpose lay the estate open to be taken in execution proceedings" means a mortgage debt and a simple money debt, and that it is not open to the minor members to have the sale set aside, especially when rights of third party have come in without establishing that the debt had been tainted with illegality or immorality. (Sulaiman and Mukerjee, JJ) GAJADAR PANDE v. JADURBIR PANDE. 22 All. L. J. 980 : 1925 A. 180.

——— Joint family—Mortgage—Father—Decree against sons—Proof of necessity.

So long as the creditor is seeking to enforce a mortgage executed by the father he is bound to prove as against the sons that it was executed for valid necessity. But when once the mortgage has merged in a decree it no longer subsists and the judgment debt which the creditor is seeking to enforce is on the same footing as any debt incurred by the father. The rule that the sons cannot set up their rights against the remedies of their father's creditors for their debts, if not tainted with immorality is good. The decision in 26 O. C. 299 must be considered to have been overruled by the recent decision of the Privy Council in 21 A. L. J. 934. (Daniels, J. C.) GAURI SHANKER v. JANG BAHADUR SINGH. 27 O. C. 124 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 49 : 79 I. C. 1008 : 11 O. L. J. 246 : 1924 Oudh 394.

——— Joint family—Property—Presumption.

There is a presumption that every Hindu family is joint in food worship and estate and this will hold till proof of division is let in. Even in the absence of a nucleus of ancestral property, property can be presumed to be joint from the conduct of parties. (Rankin and Mukerjee, JJ.) KUMUDDIN DASSYA v. MURTA SUNDARI DASSYA. 80 I. C. 432 : 1925 Cal. 257.

——— Joint family—One member becoming partner—Effect of death.

When member of a joint Hindu family enters into a partnership with another on behalf of the family, it does not make the other members of the family partners and on his death the partnership is dissolved. (Baker, J. C.) SETH RAMBHAN v. PRAYAGDAS. 20 N. L. R. 49 : 78 I. C. 198 : 7 N. L. J. 195 : 1924 Nag. 263.

——— Joint family—Onus to prove joint family
NARSINGH DAS v. ULTAN CHAND. 76 I. C. 852

——— Joint family—Partition—Step mother—Rights of—Co-widows.

Under the Mitakshara law, a step mother on partition gets a share equal to that of a son. If there are co-widows, their rights are in lieu of maintenance and on the death of one, her share does not enlarge the other's share but devolves on the sons. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. Cs.) GAYA PRASAD v. GIRJA SHANKAR.

HINDU LAW.

11 O. L. J. 286 : 78 I. C. 574 : 1924 Oudh 360.

——— Joint family—Pious obligations of son during lifetime of father.

As long as father is alive sons' pious obligation does not arise and their share is not liable to attachment and sale in execution of a money decree against father. (Gokul Prasad, J.) RAM KISHORE v. ABDUL KARIM. 1923 All. 173 (1).

——— Joint family—Presumption of jointness—Commensality—Residence.

The question of separation or jointness of a Hindu family is one of fact. There is a presumption that every Hindu family is joint, but where the facts show it is not joint, there is no presumption as to the date on which separation took place. Commensality and residence are always important factors in considering whether a family is joint or not. (Simpson, A. J. C.) DHAUNTAL KHAN v. RAMLAL KALWAR. 10 O. L. J. 412 : 75 I. C. 227 : 1924 Oudh 154.

——— Joint family—Property—Acquisition of—Nucleus of family property—Burden of proof.

Where a joint family is possessed of large ancestral property, the onus is on the party who sets up a particular property is his own to prove his case and show it was not purchased with family funds. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. Cs.) GAYA PRASAD v. GIRJA SHANKAR.

11 O. L. J. 286 : 78 I. C. 574 : 1924 Oudh 360.

——— Joint family—Property—Gains made by a member—Separate amounts. Mr. UTTAM DEVI v. DINA NATH. 75 I. C. 774.

——— Joint family—Property—Inheritance by collateral succession—Nature of.

77 I. C. 1028 : 1922 P. C. 1083.

——— Joint family—Property—Nature of—Burden of proof.

Where there is a nucleus of joint family property, the burden of proof is on the person who sets up that a particular property is his self-acquisition to show it was not purchased out of the joint funds. If it is purchased out of the savings of income or by raising loans, it will be joint unless the manager proves the loans were borrowed on his own personal responsibility. (Baker, J. C.) JANARDHAN v. WASUDEO. 1924 Nag. 315.

——— Joint family—Property—Nature of—Burden of proof.

The question whether the members of a Hindu family are joint or separate is one of fact. Where there is joint family property, the onus is on the party who asserts there was separation to prove it. Various circumstances such as cesser of commensality, separate enjoyment of property and income, mutual dealings, etc., should be taken into consideration. (Das and Ross, JJ.) HARNARAYAN PANDE v. SURESH PANDE. 78 I. C. 472 : 1925 P. 161.

——— Joint family—Property—Question of status—Burden of proof. 76 I. C. 747.

HINDU LAW.

——— Joint family—Property—Throwing into joint stock—Essentials of.

Where separate property of a member of a joint Hindu family is claimed to have become joint family property as having been thrown into the common stock, it must be shown that the owner knew it was his separate property and had a clear intention to give up such rights. (Ayling and Odgers, JJ.) MAYANDI SERVAI v. SANTHANAM SERVAI. 20 L.W. 813 : 81 L. C. 1031 : 1925 Mad 303.

——— Joint family—Self acquisition.

No doubt when it is proved and admitted that a Hindu has lived in commonality and possessed joint property, if any member of the family claims any property as his, the burden lies upon him to prove that it was acquired in circumstances which would constitute it his separate property. But where the deceased was a member of a joint family and it was not shown that he acquired any education at the expense of the joint family or that any money was contributed out of the joint family funds to help him in any of his undertakings.

Held, that the property left by him was his separate property. 16 Bom. L. R. 101 P. C. and 12 S. L. R. 116 P. C. Ref.

Every member of a joint family who is found to be in possession of property at his death can not necessarily be said to have acquired the property as a member of the joint family. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) SANT SINGH v. RARIBAI. 1924 S. 17.

——— Joint family—Separation of one member—Presumption.

When the separation of one coparcener is proved, there is no presumption that the others remained united. There is in fact no presumption remaining either way and an agreement amongst the remaining coparceners either to remain united or to reunite must be proved like any other fact. (Daniels, J.) SAHEB SINGH v. MT. INDAR KUAR. 1924 A. 730 (1).

——— Joint family — Separation — Ous of proof.

The onus to prove separation in the case of the members of a joint Hindu family is on the person who alleges it, the natural presumption of the Hindu law being in favour of the family being joint. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) NENA OJHA v. PARBHU DUTT OJHA.

5 Pat. L. T. 234 : 75 I. C. 508 : 1924 P. 647.

——— Joint family—Status—Separate transactions and mutual dealings—Effects of.

Separate transactions by members of a joint family do not by themselves establish separation but mutual transactions between two members of a family stand on an entirely different footing for if the family were joint there can be no question of one borrowing from the other. (Das and Ross, JJ.) JAY NARAIN PANDEY v. KISHUN DUTT MISRA.

5 Pat. L. T. 581 : 78 I. C. 705 (2) : 8 Pat. 575 : 2 Pat. L. R. 306 : 1924 P. 551.

——— Joint family—Suit against person other than a Karta, whether can be deemed to be in a representative capacity—Suit against nephews alone—Share of an uncle, whether bound—Equity of redemption, whether can be acquired by adverse possession—Assertion of title—Quantum of evidence.

HINDU LAW.

Even where a person is not a Karta of a joint Hindu family, there may be circumstances which would entitle a Court to hold that that person sued or was sued as representing the entire family.

Where in the time of the first regular settlement decree of under-proprietary rights was passed in favour of three brothers and two nephews—sons of two deceased brothers—and the latter alone were sued for arrears of under-proprietary rent with the result that the superior proprietors obtained a decree and purchased the property in execution thereof, while one of the brothers had made mortgage of the property even after the sale of the under-proprietary interest.

Held, that the two nephews were not sued in a representative capacity and the sale did not transfer the share of the uncle who had mortgaged the property.

Although a title can be acquired by adverse possession in the equity of redemption, yet such acquisition will depend on the amount of evidence whether or not it established an open assertion of title on the part of the person alleging it. (Dalal, J. C.) THAKURAIN ANPurna KUAR v. JAGESHAR MISRA. 1 O. W. N. 842.

——— Limited estate—Income from—Disposal of.

The holder of a limited estate can dispose of the income as she likes, but if anything remains undisposed of at her death, it forms part of the estate. (Das and Ross, JJ.) SHEONANDAN PRASAD v. DAMODAR PRASAD. 1924 P. 711 (1).

——— Limited owner—Compromise—Alienation—Distinction between—Necessity—Reversioners—Right of.

It is now settled beyond dispute that a daughter as heiress of her father takes a restricted interest similar to that taken by a widow with a similar power of disposal. This power is conditional she can dispose of the inheritance for legal necessity, but it lies on the alienee to prove the existence of this necessity, and this is so even though the absence of the necessity be not pleaded by the reversioner. The reversioners (grand sons) on the mother's death can treat the alienation as a nullity without the intervention of any Court.

In a suit on a bond made by a person with restricted power of alienation the defendants are not required to plead the absence of legal necessity for the borrowing. It is for the plaintiffs to allege and prove the circumstances which alone will give validity to the mortgage. Even though there may not be legal necessity in fact the alienee would be equally protected if he honestly did all that was reasonable to satisfy himself that the required necessity existed.

It is true that the reversion is an expectancy but expectant reversioner's right to sue for a declaration has a statutory recognition and they would on the death of the restricted owner in their life time have the immediate title without the intervention of any Court. And there would be no principle of justice, equity or good conscience that would empower the Court to deprive them of their legal title or to impose any restriction in derogation of it. (Sir Lawrence Jenkins.)

HINDU LAW.

OBALA KONDAMA NAZAKER T. KANDASAMY
GOONDAR. 19 L. W. 107 : 22 A. L. J. 16 :
1924 M. W. N. 86 : 26 Bom. L. R. 198 :

34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 20 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 176 :
39 C. L. J. 194 : L. R. 5 P. C. 19 : 51 I. A. 145 :
47 Mad. 181 : 1 O. W. N. 1 : 79 I. C. 961 :
1924 P. C. 56 : 28 C. W. N. 1050 :
46 M. L. J. 172 (P. C.)

— Limited owner—Relinquishment—Disclaimer—Right of next reversioners.

In a suit by the nephews (protner's sons) of a deceased Hindu for a declaration of title to his estate as next reversioners after the daughter of the deceased, the plaintiffs alleged that the daughter had relinquished her right by keeping quiet and not denying the allegations of the plaintiffs and subsequently by filing a petition of disclaimer, at the appellate stage of the suit. Held, that the omission of the daughter to actively assert her rights did not amount to a disclaimer and that the plaintiff's suit was unsustainable. The court was bound to decide in the rights of the parties as at the date of suit and the subsequent disclaimer by the daughter on appeal did not affect the question of the maintainability of the suit. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) LALLOO PRASAD SINGH v. LACHMAN SINGH. 3 Pat 224 : 82 I. C. 510 : 1924 P. 438.

— Maintenance—Daughter-in-law—Right to get maintenance from husband's family—Extent of 1924 Cal. 364.

— Maintenance grant—Nature of estate granted—Rights of grantee.

A maintenance grant is prima facie resumable on the death of the grantee and on the death of the grantor. A maintenance grant is not absolutely inconsistent with a grant to the donee and his heirs. Such a grant is prima facie resumable on the death of the grantee, but the context may show that it was intended to make provision, not only for the donee, but for the heirs of the donee. Where the grant is so expressed the grantor has the right to resume the grant on the extinction of the line of the grantee. It is a question of construction in each case. If however the grantor elects to recognise the widow of the grantee as having succeeded to the interest of her husband, he cannot bring a suit against third persons for recovery of the lands granted so long as the widow is alive. (Das and Ross, JJ.) MAHARAJA BAHADUR KESHO PRASAD SINGH v. MADHO PRASAD. 5 Pat L. T. 513 : 3 Pat 880 : 1924 P. 721.

— Maintenance—Illegitimate sons—Vaishyas—Mayukha law

Illegitimate sons of the three regenerate classes are entitled to maintenance and their right to maintenance does not cease when they come of age. This is the law under the mayukha which does not differ from the Mitakshara in this respect. The illegitimate sons are however not entitled to their marriage expenses. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) MOTICHAND GIRDHARSHET v. CHANDRABAI. 26 Bom. L. R. 488 : 80 I. C. 418 : 1924 Bom. 421.

HINDU LAW.

— Maintenance—Mistress—Married woman kept by another.

Where a married woman whose husband is alive is kept by another person, she is not an avarudhashi and cannot claim maintenance from the estate of her paramour after his death. 10 B. H. C. R. 381 : 26 B. 163 not followed. (Shah, A. C. J. and Crump, J.) ANANDILAL BHAGCHAND v. CHANDRABAI TATYA. 48 Bom. 203 : 26 Bom. L. R. 63 : 80 I. C. 536 : 1924 Bom. 311.

— Maintenance—Rate of—Circumstances to be taken into account by Court.

The principle which should govern the Court in fixing the maintenance of a Hindu widow is first to look to the mode of life of the family during her husband's life time and the amount fixed must be sufficient to allow the widow to live as far as may be consistently with the position of a widow in something like the same degree of comfort and with the same reasonable luxury of life as she had in her husband's life time. Then to see what the husband's estate is and also to see how far that estate is sufficient to supply her with maintenance on this scale, without injustice to other members of the family who also have their rights to maintenance out of the estate like her. 9 C. W. N. 651 Foll. (Kajiji, J.) BAI PRATAPGAVRI v. MUL SHANKAR. 26 Bom. L. R. 269 : 80 I. C. 173 : 1924 Bom. 353.

— Maintenance—Widow—Enhanced maintenance in future—Release of right of—Validity—Residence—Right of—If separate from that of maintenance.

An agreement by a Hindu widow to receive maintenance at a particular rate is, no doubt, not binding for all time; but an agreement which goes further and binds her not to claim a higher rate even in changed circumstances is binding on her.

Quære : Whether the right of residence is a separate right from that of maintenance. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) AYYADEVARA MOHANLESWARA RAO v. AYYADEVARA DURGAMBA. 19 L. W. 165 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 47 : (1924 M. W. N. 266 : 1924 Mad. 687 : 47 Mad. 308 : 78 I. C. 831 : 46 M. L. J. 189.

— Maintenance—Widow of a co-parcener—Right to a charge—Joint family property—Liability of—Decree—Rights of purchasers.

It is a fundamental rule of Hindu law that a widow of a co-parcener is entitled to maintenance out of the whole of the property belonging to her husband's family. Apart from the question how far purchasers from the husband's co-parceners will be affected by the claims of the widow by the fact that a decree for maintenance charges only some of the properties with the payment of it, it is impossible to lay down that such a decree effects any change in her right to proceed against properties not so charged for recovering what is due to her unless upon some contest the Court decides otherwise. (Plumer and Subhanna, JJ.) BHAGYA LAKSHMAMMA v. MAHISHI MANJAPPA. 2 Mys. L. J. 171.

— Marriage—Members of different Sudra Castes—Validity of.

HINDU LAW.

The marriages between members of different Sudra castes are valid under the Hindu Law. Marriage between a Kayastha and a Dom is valid. The Bengali Kayasthas are treated as Sudras in Calcutta High Court.

Upon the authorities it does not appear that if a marriage is otherwise valid it becomes invalid because it is opposed to the usages of the community and is not recognised by them as valid. (Graves and Panton, J.J.) BHOLA NATH MITTER v. EMPEROR.

51 Cal 488 : 28 C. W. N. 323 :
81 I. C. 709 : 25 Cr. L. J. 997 :
1924 Cal. 616

——— Marriage—Mitakshara Law—Presumption.

Under the Mitakshara Law, there is in the absence of any evidence to the contrary a presumption that the marriage was in one of the approved forms. (Dalal, J. C.) MT. UMRAO KUAR v. SARHAJIT

1 O. W. N. 579 :
10 O. & A. L. R. 1030.

——— Marriage—Mother's rights—Absence of consent of father.

75 I. C. 24

——— Marriage—Provision for marriage expenses for unmarried co-partners—Whether allowable.

Held, in view of the decision of the P. C. in Ramalinga Annavi and another v. Narayana Annavi and others in which it was held that a member of a joint Hindu family who is then unmarried, is not after the institution of a suit for partition entitled to make provision in the partition for his marriage expenses, although he marries before the decree in the suit is made. 45 M. 489 relied. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, J.J.) BHOLI BAI v. DWARKA DAS.

5 Lah. 375.

——— Marriage—Remarriage—Succession.

The second marriage of a Hindu lady does not affect the right to which she became entitled by virtue of the first marriage. Nor does it affect the right of the collaterals of her first husband to succeed to her stridhanam property. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MT. RUKA v. CHHIDDU.

L. R. 5 A. 160 : 1924 A. 464.

——— Marriage—Sub-castes—Validity of—Issue—Legitimacy.

A Hindu may marry a woman of a lower class or grade within his caste and may thereby fall into the class of his wife. But in the absence of a custom to such effect, the marriage is valid and the issue legitimate with rights of inheritance. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, J.J.) HAR PRASAD v. KEWAL.

22 A. L. J. 1009 : 1925 A. 26.

——— Marriage—Validity—Absence of guardian's consent—Effect.

A Hindu minor's marriage is not invalidated by want of the guardian's consent. (Martineau, J.) BULLU MAL v. HARDWARI MAL.

79 I. C. 451.

——— Migrating family—Law applicable to—Nagar Brahmins—Migration from Guzerat to United Provinces—Mayukha—Mitakshara.

The law of succession is, in any given case, to be determined according to the personal law of the individual whose succession is in question.

HINDU LAW.

Prima facie any person governed by the Hindu law is held to be subject to the particular doctrines of the Hindu law recognized in the province in which he is residing. The law becomes the personal law and part of the status of every family residing in it. Consequently where any such family migrates to another province governed by another law, it carries its own law with it. Held, that the Nagar Brahmins who had migrated about three hundred years ago from Guzerat and settled in the United Provinces were governed by the Mitakshara as modified by the Vyavahara Mayukha. Even if the migration was before the Mayukha was written, it merely embodies a pre-existing custom and the parties would be bound thereby. 24 A. 2. : 47 I. A. 213 : 29 C. 433 Rel. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, J.J.) LAWAHIR LAL v. JARAU LAL

22 A. L. J. 49 :
L. R. 5 A. 130 : 46 A. 192 : 79 I. C. 861 :
1924 A. 350.

——— Minor—De facto guardian—Powers of.

Under Hindu Law the power of a de facto guardian as regards the alienation of a minor's property are co-extensive with those of de jure one. If made in the interests of the minors it has the same legal effect as that made by the latter. Where the latter has neglected to perform his duties or has shown apathy or hostility as regards the interests of the minors, the position of the de facto guardian becomes even stronger, especially in a case where he has a personal interest in the matter along with that of the minors on whose behalf he acts. (Pipon, J. C.) SUNDAR SINGH v. RAGHBIR SINGH.

75 I. C. 384.

——— Minor—Guardian—Debt borrowed for purchase of property for minor—Binding character of, against minor's estate or heirs—Purchase beneficial to minor—Effect—Creditor's rights in such case.

Where the guardian of a minor borrowed money for purchasing property for the minor and executed a promissory note therefor, held, in a suit on the note brought after the minor's death against his heirs, that, even assuming that the purchase was for the benefit of the minor, the debt was not binding on the minor's estate or the heirs of the minor, but that the plaintiff was entitled to a decree against the lands actually purchased with the money advanced by him. (Krishnan and Odgers, J.J.) JELADI BURAYYA v. PONDURI RAMAYYA.

47 Mad. 449 : 46 M. L. J. 49 :
19 L. W. 67 : (1924) M. W. N. 42 :
78 I. C. 90 : 33 M. L. T. (H. C.) 254 : 1924 Mad. 472.

——— Minor—Guardian—Sale of minor's property—Validity—Portion of sale price agreed to be left with vendee to be paid by him to the minor on his attaining majority—Vendee executing bond thereafter—Sale if rendered invalid thereby—Vendor's lien if lost by reason of such arrangement.

A guardian of a minor sold property of the minor, and, as part of the transaction of sale agreed that the purchaser should withhold one-third of the entire purchase-money and keep it in his hands till the minor attained majority. Simultaneously with the sale, the purchaser executed a bond to pay the balance of the purchase money on demand by the minor immediately after he attained majority. In a suit brought by the minor on attaining age to set aside the sale, it was argued, inter alia, that the deposit of the balance of the sale price with the vendee indicated that there was no immediate necessity for the sale and that it was imprudent transaction as the minor's guardian ran the risk of the vendee becoming insolvent before the minor came of age.

HINDU LAW.

Held, that the circumstances of the case amply justified the sale by the guardian, and that it was not invalid on account of the arrangement entered into as regards the balance of the sale price.

Per Spencer:—The arrangement as to the balance of the sale price did not put an end to the vendor's statutory lien thereon. 35 M. L. J. 305 considered. (Spencer and Srinivasa Aiyangar, JJ.) KARNATI MUNAYYA v. MITTA KRISHNAYYA. 20 L. W. 695; 47 M. L. J. 737 —Minor—Guardianship—Mother—Paternal uncle.

The mother and not the paternal uncle is the natural guardian of a minor member of a joint Hindu family and consequently while the mother is alive the paternal uncle cannot affect the minor's interest in the joint family properties by professing to act as guardian for the minor. (Le Rossignol, J.) HARDWARI v. CHUNI LAL. 6 Lah. L. J. 182; 80 I. C. 735; 1924 Lah. 533.

—Partition—Agreement for devolution of share—Validity of.

At a family partition between a Hindu father and his sons it was agreed between them that on the death of any one of them his share should pass to the other two and after the death of any two of them the right of inheritance should devolve on the last survivor. Held, that it was open to the parties to enter into an agreement of the kind in question. It was not however competent for them to lay down a rule of inheritance for the property in the hands of the last in derogation of the ordinary rules of Hindu law. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) BAGESHAR RAI v. MT. MAHADEL. 22 A. L. J. 419; L. R. 5 A. 282; 79 I. C. 514; 46 A. 525; 1924 A. 461 (2)

—Partition—Co-heirs—Maintenance of widow and daughter met by one of the co-heirs—Family property is liable for the expenses so incurred—Money spent for marriage of daughter—Provision for marriage of males.

Where one co-heir spent a certain sum on the maintenance of his mother and sister, and it was contended that the co-heir having spent it out of his own free will, cannot claim contribution from the other heirs, and that the claim of a widow for maintenance is not a charge upon the estate of a deceased husband until it is fixed and charged upon the estate either by a decree, or by mutual agreement between the widow and the holder of the estate.

Held, that the other co-heirs are not entitled to partition of their shares without reimbursing the co-heir, for their share of the expenses borne by him, which they as well as he, were legally bound to bear out of the estate. Male co-parceners who are unmarried at the time of partition cannot claim a provision for marriage in anticipation. (Scott-Smith and Fford, JJ.) BHOLI RAI AND NARAIN DAS v. DWARKADAS AND ANOTHER. 5 Lah. 375.

HINDU LAW.

—Partition—Co-parcener—Brothers—No severance of joint family as between a brother and his own sons.

The effect of the separation and partition between a Hindu Co-parcener and his brother, after the death of their father is not to cause, by implication of law, a separation between him and his own descendants and to make them cease to constitute amongst themselves a joint family unless it was proved that they had agreed to continue to be a joint Hindu family. 30 C. 723, 80 C. 738 Ref. (Sir John Edge) HARI BAKSH v. BABU LAL. 5 Lah. 92; 34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 70; L. R. 5 P. C. 118; 22 A. L. J. 254; 28 C. W. N. 953; 1924 P. C. 126; 20 L. W. 406; (1924) M. W. N. 650; 26 Bom. L. R. 1108; 1 O. W. N. 536; 47 M. L. J. 938.

—Partition—Evidence of—Alienation of shares.

10 O. & A. L. R. 194; 27 O. C. 140; 77 I. C. 329; 1924 Oudh 120 (2).

—Partition—Evidence of—Separate living.

1924 Oudh 115.

—Partition—Evidence of—Separation in status—Entries in wajib-ul-arz.

On a question arising as to whether the husband of a Hindu widow had died a separated member or as a member of a joint Hindu family, reliance was placed on certain entries in the wajib-ul-arz prepared at the regular settlement when the husband or the widow was alive. The wajib-ul-arz recited that every year there took place a rendition of accounts among the co-sharers. Held, that the entry was strong evidence of separation, for the manager of a joint Hindu family was not liable to account to the co-parceners. (Simpson, A. J. C.) LACHMI NARAYAN v. SALIG RAM. 11 O. L. J. 154; 1924 Oudh 428.

—Partition—Evidence of—Separate transactions—Transactions between members.

Separate transactions by members of a joint family do not by themselves establish separation, but mutual transaction between two members of a family stand on an entirely different footing. If the family was joint it would be impossible for one member to borrow money from another, for the fund would be a common fund. (Das and Ross, JJ.) JAI NARAYAN PANDEY v. KISHUN DUTT MISRA. 5 Pat. L. T. 581; 2 Pat. L. R. 306; 78 I. C. 705 (2); 3 Pat. 575; 1924 P. 551.

—Partition—Evidence of entries in revenue papers.

In the absence of any other evidence, mere entries in the revenue papers could not be accepted as evidencing a divided status in a joint Hindu family. (Wazir Hassan, A. J. C.) JAISI RAM v. RAJ BAHADUR KURMI. 11 O. L. J. 87; 1924 Oudh 326.

—Partition—Father and sons—Re-union—Minor sons—After born sons.

Where after a partition between a father and sons, the minor sons remain with the father and even after attaining majority live with him, conduct his business and litigation, the evidence establishes re-union. They are bound by his acts as manager. After born sons are in the same position. (Kendall, A. J. C.) ONKARESHWAR PRASAD v. DUSHVANT PRASAD.

HINDU LAW.

82 I. C. 10 : 1925 Oudh 56

——— Partition — Grandmother — Right to share — Benares School

Under the Benares School, a grandmother is entitled to a share when after the owner's death, a partition takes place among the grandsons. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Sulaiman, J.) KANHAIYA LAL v. GAURA. 22 A. L. J. 890 : 1925 All. 19.

——— Partition — Institution of suit by two minor plaintiffs — Decree — No severance of interest between plaintiffs — Interest.

If in a suit for partition instituted by one or more members of a joint Hindu family a decree is passed, the effect of the decree on the status of the remaining co-parceners must be determined by the terms of the decree. Where two minor brothers represented by a next friend sued for partition and a compromise decree was passed allotting two-thirds share of the whole family properties to both the plaintiffs without specifying their individual share, held, that the decree did not effect a severance in status between the plaintiffs inter se. 45 M. L. J. 355 ; (P.C.) 30 Cal. 231, 253 ; 31 M. L. J. 472 ; 33 M. L. J. 759 relied on. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Kumaraswami Sastri, J.) SENGODA GOUNDAN v. MUTHU GOUNDAN.
19 L. W. 533 : 1924 Mad. 625 ;
(1924) M. W. N. 376 : 78 I. C. 927 ;
47 Mad. 567 : 46 M. L. J. 404

——— Partition — Joint business — Dissolution — Cause of action. MT JATTI v. BATWARI LAL.
28 C. W. N. 785.

——— Partition — Lists allotting properties to the sharers — Admissibility in evidence without registration. See REGISTRATION ACT, Ss. 17 (2) and 49. 19 L.W. 494.

——— Partition — Minor co-parceners.

A partition can validly take place among minor co-parceners if they are properly represented by their guardians. If there is nothing to show that such partition was unfair, it is binding on them. (Krishnan, J.) DEVARAJULU NAIDU v. KONDAMMAL.
80 I. C. 929 : 20 L. W. 754

——— Partition — Onus — Joint Hindu family — Coorgs — Maintenance in shares.

Where the parties lived among Coorgs and they had adopted the system of maintenance in shares, it could not amount to a division in status. According to ordinary Hindu law if a division of ancestral property is alleged, the onus of proving it will ordinarily lie upon those who assert the division. (Watson, J. C.) LAKSHMIAM v. GANGADHARIAH.
2 Mys. L. J. (B. and C.) 16.

——— Partition — Partial partition — Suit if maintainable — Property in the hands of tenants

In a partition suit the plaintiff omitted several properties belonging to the family, but in the hands of tenants. Held, the suit as framed was bad, but opportunity should be given to amend the plaint. (Devadoss and Jackson, JJ.) GOOTY AGRAHARAM SUBRAMANIAM v. RAMACHANDRA RAO. 47 M. L. J. 908.

HINDU LAW.

——— Partition — Partial separation of some members — Effect on others

Where one member of a joint Hindu family separates from the co parcenary an agreement among the remaining members of a joint family to remain united or to reunite must be proved like any other fact, 30 C. 725 Rel. (Baker, O.J.C.) BABOOLAL v. DHIRA. 7 N. L. J. 77 ——— Partition — Provision for future marriage or janeo.

Where joint family properties are partitioned, it is not allowable to make provision for marriage or janeo in anticipation. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A.J.C.) GAYA PRASAD v. GIRJA SHANKER.
11 O. L. J. 286 : 78 I. C. 574 : 1924 Oudh 360.

——— Partition — Portion left undivided — Right of widow of one of the members to demand partition. 77 I. C. 914.

——— Partition — Presumption. MT. JATTI v. BANWARI LAL. 28 C. W. N. 785.

Partition — Presumption.

10 O. A. L. R 33 : 1924 Oudh 46.

——— Partition — Property set apart for trust acquired by one member — Claim of the other. 1924 Rom 239.

——— Partition — Relinquishment by father — Provision for maintenance — Effect of.

A family does not continue to be joint in cases where there is a relinquishment by the father of his share subject to a provision for maintenance, 6 Mad 71 Doubted. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) TADURI RAMACHANDRA JAGANNATHA RAO v. VADREVI VISWESAM. 19 L. W. 691 :
1942 Mad. 682 : 80 I. C. 228 : 47 Mad. 621 :
46 M. L. J. 590.

——— Partition — Re-union — When effected — on status.

For a re-union according to Hindu law two things are essential ; firstly, that one can re-unite with his father, brother or paternal uncle only ; secondly, the reunion must take place after separation so that the parties seeking to re-unite must have separated before the re-union.

The effect of a re-union is to place the united co-parceners in the same position as they would have been in, had no partition taken place, with rights of survivorship. Where after a partition two brothers agreed to live together and hold the property in certain specified shares. Held, it does not amount to a re-union under the Hindu Law. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) NENA OJHA v. PARBHU DUTT OJHA. 5 Pat. L. T. 284 : 75 I. C. 508 :
1924 P. 647.

——— Partition — Right of member of a joint Hindu family — Suit for declaration of right

It is not open to a member of a joint family to sue for a declaration that he has a particular share in the property. The exact extent of his share can only be determined at the time when the separation actually takes place. (Walsh A.C.J. and Sulaiman, J.) RAMSARUP v. MT. KATAULA.

HINDU LAW.

L. R. 5 A. 723.

———Partition—Severance of interest—Notice to other coparceners if essential.

An unequivocal expression of an intention to become divided in status constitutes a severance in Hindu law. For the severance of interest to take place, notice to other coparceners of the intention to separate unequivocally expressed is not a condition precedent. The separation is an act of individual volition and does not depend for its effect on the consent or agreement of the other coparceners. 43 I. A. 151; 41 I. A. 159; 49 I. A. 168; 49 I. A. 358 Ref. A separation may take place even in the absence of other coparceners. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. C.) MT. RACHHPALI v. MT. CHANDRESAR DEI.

10 O. L. J. 595; 78 I. C. 256;
27 O. C. 114; 1924 Oudh 252

———Partition—Sisters—Survivorship—Right to, when lost.

Two step-sisters, who inherited their father's properties after the death of his widow, divided his immoveable properties under a partition deed which after reciting a prior partition of moveables allotted various items of land to each of the sisters and closed with the following clause:—"Henceforth the only relationship between us will be one of friendship and not of property". Held, on a construction of the document, that the parties intended not merely to give their present right to the properties, but to exclude the right of succession by survivorship in case one of them predeceased the other. 3 M. 290; 14 M. L. J. 175; 26 M. L. J. 479 dist. (Krishnan and Waller, JJ.) RUKMANI AMMAL v. NARASIMHACHARIAR.

19 L. W. 465; 1924 Mad 696;
34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 29; 78 I. C. 173;
46 M. L. J. 285.

———Partition—Step mother—Right to share—Mitakshara.

At a partition between a father and his sons, the step mother is entitled to a share under the Mitakshara law. 31 B 54 foll. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) HOSBANNA DEVANNA v. DEVANNA SANNAPPA.

26 Bom. L. R. 424;
48 Bom. 468; 80 I. C. 463; 1924 Bom. 444

———Partition—Unequal shares—If legal.

There is no absolute rule that a partition must be in equal shares although generally it is so. A member of a joint Hindu family may of his own free will accept a smaller share than he is entitled to. (Baker, J.C. and Predeaux, A. J. C.) SAWAI SINGAI BALCHAND v. SAWAI SINGAI LACHMAN PRASAD.
1924 Nag. 148.

———Partition—Unilateral declaration—Institution of suit—Withdrawal of.

When there has been an unequivocal declaration of his intention to become divided by a member of a joint Hindu family and this intention has been communicated to the other members of the family, this declaration effects a division in status. The filing of a suit is such a declaration but where a suit for partition is filed and is subsequently withdrawn by the plaintiff who continued in a state of jointness with the others members of the family, the intention to divide must be deemed to have been abandoned and no division in status is effected. 33 M. L. J. 759; 11 L. W. 611 followed. (Phillips, J.) KRISHNASWAMI NAIDU v. PERUMAL ALIAS NAMMAYYA.

HINDU LAW.

20 L. W. 540;

(1924) M. W. N. 742; 1925 Mad. 112.

———Religious Endowment—Idol—Right of suit—Shebait—Adverse possession—Running of—Position of shebait—Absence of shebait—Effect of. See ADVERSE POSSESSION.

51 C. 953.

———Re-union—Who can reunite—Effect of re-union.

A reunion can only be effected validly as between the parties or some of them who made the original separation. 3 B. C. R. 69, 30 C 725; 35 C 721 Ref. To constitute a reunion in the technical sense there must first have been a separation between the parties who afterwards reunite. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J., and Plumer, J.) RAMACHAR v. SHAMANNA.
2 Mys. L. J. 89.

———Reversioners' interest not protected by widow.

The reversioners are not barred by the decision against widow where she does not avail of opportunity to protect the reversionary interests (Le Rossignol and Harrison, JJ.) BAJRANG DAS v. GHANI RAM.
1923 Lah. 299 (2).

———Reversioner—Remote reversioner—Rights of.

A remote reversioner of a deceased Hindu is entitled to have an alienation made by his widow declared not binding after the death of the widow, when the nearer reversioner is in collusion with the widow. (Neave, A. J. C.) ANANDI DIN v. RAM SAHAL.
10 O. & A. L. R. 305.

27 O. C. 173; 11 O. L. J. 236;
1 O. W. N. 24; 1924 Oudh 381.

———Reversioner—Right to sue to set aside alienation.

Under the Hindu Law the daughter and her son are admittedly the next reversioners and these having given consent to an alienation the remote reversioners have no right to question it. (Abdul Raoof and Martineau, JJ.) ARJAN v. HARI RAM.
6 Lah. L. J. 93;

80 I. C. 522; 1922 Lah. 464.

———Religious endowment—Pujaree Mahomedan.

Held, the Mahomedan Mali who was also one of the pujaries was entitled to continue his right acquired by custom. The rights of receiving offerings and performing the duties of pujari which were very simple were connected and the Mahomedan pujari was entitled to both. (Stuart, J.) BABU v. SUKHA.
1923 All. 165.

———Stridhan—Inheritance—Marriage in approved form.

The heir of a woman to her stridhan property is the nearest kinsman of her husband and not of her father, where the marriage is in one of the approved forms. (Dalal, J. C.) MT. UMRAO KUAR v. SARABJIT SINGH.

1 O. W. N. 579; 10 O. & A. L. R. 1030.

HINDU LAW.

———Succession. See HINDU LAW, INHERITANCE.

———Texts—Mitakshara silent—Other books—Value of.

Where on a particular topic, the Mitakshara is silent or not clear, Courts can go to other recognised authorities for the law on the subject. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Sulaiman, J.) KANHAIYA LAL v. GAURA, 22 A. L. J. 890 : 1925 A. 19.

———Trust—Failure to appoint trustee—Effect.

A trust, according to Hindu Law, cannot fail for want of the appointment of trustees and the Court can appoint a manager on the failure of those entitled to appoint him. (Abdul Raouf, J.) KIDAR NATH v. WAZIR CHAND, 75 I. C. 903, 1924 Lah. 692.

Widow—Adoption by her—Suit by male reversioner to recover possession of estate on the death of widow disputing the adoption—Limitation—Art. 144 applicable. See LIM. ACT, Arts 118 & 144. 46 M. L. J. 598.

———Widow—Accretions—Savings from income—Intention.

The question whether any property acquired by a Hindu widow from the savings from income is an accretion to the estate is one of intention on her part. In the absence of anything indicting the contra, it may be presumed to be an accretion. (Martineau and Campbell, JJ.) MT. TEHL, KAUR v. AMAR NATH, 79 I. C. 670 : 1925 Lah. 2.

———Widow—Alienation—Acquiescence—Nature of—Proof.

A plea of acquiescence by inaction on the part of a reversionary heir must be very clearly made out, if it is relied on as a bar to the enforcement of his rights. Laches to bar a plaintiff's right must amount to waiver, abandonment or acquiescence and to raise a presumption of any of the three evidence of conduct must be plain and unambiguous. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) NARAYAN v. MT. TULSHI, 80 I. C. 607 : 1925 Nag. 104.

———Widow's alienation—Attestation by reversioners whether evidence of consent—Estoppel.

Where the reversioners, attested a mortgage deed executed by a widow before the Sub registrar, in respect of a debt for the reversioners themselves as principal debtors, held, that though mere attestation is not sufficient to fix a party with knowledge of the deed attested, the attestation combined with other circumstances may amount to evidence of consent. The reversioners were estopped from questioning the validity of the transaction as they were aware of the nature of the transaction. (Daniels, and Neare, JJ.) RAMADHAR v. BAGAWAN SINGH, L. R. 5 All. 644 (Civ.).

———Widow—Alienation—Benami—Nature of—Effect.

Though under the Hindu Law, a widow's alienation is only voidable, an alienation which is only a benami transaction has no legal effect. (Miller, C. J. and Multick, J.) BHIKARI BEHERA v. SITAMANI DEVI, 1924 P. 706.

HINDU LAW.

———Widow—Alienation—Consent of reversioner—Attestation—Estoppel—Receipt of benefit by reversioner—Ratification.

An alienation by a Hindu widow is not void but only voidable at the instance of the reversioners. If the reversioner before or after the reversion has fallen in, gets a benefit out of the transaction of alienation on the footing of its validity, he must be deemed to have ratified it. Very often attestation of persons having a possible interest in the property is taken with a view to make the transaction binding on them later on. The attestation of a person having a tangible interest in the property dealt with by the document may be taken as proof of his consent to and knowledge of the correctness of the recitals in the deed. (Kumaraswami Sastri, JJ.) NAYAKAMMAL v. MUNUSWAMI MUDALIAR, 20 L. W. 222 : 1924 Mad. 819.

———Widow—Alienation—Consent of reversioner—Effect of—Transfer in favour of reversioner.

The consent of the nearest reversioners to an alienation by a widow does not constitute absolute proof of the validity of the deed but it operates by raising a presumption that the deed was executed for legal necessity. Where the transaction is in favour of a person having a direct interest in obtaining it (i.e.) of the presumptive reversioner himself or as in the present case of his son, the presumption of the transaction being a proper one disappears. Where the deed is in favour of the son of the person whose consent is relied on it is necessary to offer other evidence in proof of the legal necessity. (Daniels, J.) TODAR MAL v. KISHEN LAL, L. R. 5 A. 395 : 79 I. C. 1007 : 1924 A. 919.

———Widow—Alienation—Co-widows—Gift to daughter—Death of daughter—Right to sue for possession from daughter's heirs.

Where two co-widows in possession of their husband's estate as his heirs, made a gift of a portion of the estate to the daughter by one of the widows and subsequently the daughter and her mother died. Held that it was not open to the surviving co-widow to sue for possession of the whole or moiety of the gifted property from the hands of the daughter's heirs. So long as one of the widows was living the interest which she had in her husband's estate would enure for the benefit of the daughter and her heir. The gift would be operative during the life-time of the survivor of the widows. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) DHANJI NATHA v. DHUMA HIRAJI MALI, 26 Bom. L. R. 277 : 80 I. C. 234 : 1924 Bom. 382.

———Widow—Alienation to daughter—Death of daughter—Effect.

Where a Hindu widow makes a gift of property to her daughter, the gift is valid for the life-time of the widow ; and if the daughter predeceases the widow, the stridhanam heirs of the former take the property until the death of the donor. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) NARAYAN v. MT. TULSHI, 80 I. C. 607 : 1925 Nag. 104.

———Widow—Alienation—Gift to one of three daughters—Acceleration.

HINDU LAW.

Where a Hindu widow makes a gift of her husband's property to one of three daughters, it is not good as a valid surrender since a surrender to be valid must be in favour of all the reversioners nearest in degree if there are more than one of that class. 42 M. 523, 532; 36 M. L. J. 493; 22 A. L. J. 472, 42 B. 719, foll. (Daniels and Neave, A. J. C.) BEHU PANDE v. MT. DALHMA, L. R. 5 A. 661; 80 I. C. 4; 1925 A. 8.

—Widow—Alienation—Gift—Religious or pious purpose—Gift to Gaya priest—Validity of.

A Hindu widow has a larger power of disposition for religious or charitable purposes which are supposed to conduce to the spiritual welfare of her husband than what she possesses for purely worldly purposes. 43 C. 574; 16 A. L. J. 646; 19 A. L. J. 499. Ref. A Hindu widow made a valid Suhal Shukulap to a priest of Gaya of some property bearing a very small proportion to the total property inherited by her from her husband. Held that the gift was valid and binding on the reversioners. (Lindsay and Kanhaiyalal, JJ.) BALDEO PRASAD v. RAJA FATEH SINGH. 22 A. L. J. 490; 78 I. C. 654; L. R. 5 A. 270; 46 A. 533; 1924 A. 938.

—Widow—Alienation—Necessity—Liability to pay Revenue—Kebuttal. 1924 A. 149.

—Widow—Alienation—Necessity—Payment of decree-debt against her.

Mortgage was executed by a Hindu widow to pay off a decree debt against her and there was nothing to show either from the recitals in the deed of mortgage or otherwise the nature of the loan which formed the basis of the decree. No presumption as to the necessity for mortgage could be drawn from the lapse of time or the consent of the reversioner. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) BENAIK RAO v. PUTTAIN SINGH. L. R. 5 A. 335; 79 I. C. 69; 1924 All. 929.

—Widow—Alienation—Necessity—Pilgrimage for benefit of husband's soul—Consent of reversioners—Effect of.

A mortgage by a Hindu widow for the purpose of performing a pilgrimage for the benefit of her husband's soul and the support of her dependent relations is justified by legal necessity. The circumstance that the only reversioners at the time gave their unqualified consent to the mortgage raises a strong presumption that the mortgage was justified by necessity. 44 A. 756, 44 C. 186, 42 M. 523, Ref. (Mukerji and Dalal, JJ.) DARBARI LAL v. GOBIND SARAN.

22 A. L. J. 753; L. R. 5 A. 556; 80 I. C. 31; 46 A. 822; 1924 A. 902

—Widow—Alienation—Necessity—Proof—Consent of reversioner—Female reversioner—Distant reversioner.

A Hindu widow inherited from her husband property sufficient to maintain herself. She alienated portion of the property with the consent of her daughters and some distant reversioners. At the time of the sale there was a daughter's son and the daughters themselves were young and capable of bearing children who would eventually be heirs to the property. Held that the consent of the daughters or of the distant reversioners raised no presumption as to the necessity for the alienation. Mere lapse of time since the alienation would not validate it especially where it was found that the widow had substantial properties and the vendee was a person well versed in law and had taken care to insert carefully prepared recitals of necessity in the deed of sale. (Mukerji and Dalal, JJ.) MAHOMED NUH v. BRIJ BEHARI LAL. 22 A. L. J. 650; L. R. 5 A. 424; 10 O. & A. L. R. 743; 82 I. C. 5; 46 A. 656; 1924 A. 939.

HINDU LAW.

—Widow—Alienation—Necessity—Proof of—Recitals—Value of. 75 I. C. 281.

—Widow—Alienation—Necessity—Prudent act—Management of estate.

A Hindu widow as the manager of her husband's estate must have some latitude to make some arrangement which is in reality beneficial to it. Where a Hindu widow sold a portion of the husband's estate which was very difficult to manage and bought instead a house property in a city which would fetch a good rental, there is nothing improper in her dealing and the Court might uphold the alienation. (Chandra Sekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbauna, J.) DODDA MOGA v. NARAYANA BHATTA. 2 Mys. L. J. 157.

—Widow—Alienation—Pension for manager—Liability of executor or successor to estate. 77 I. C. 44; 1921 O. C. 652.

—Widow—Alienations—Powers of—Absence of reversioners—Effect of.

A Hindu widow's powers of alienation do not depend on the existence of reversioners. The limitations imposed on her are inseparable from her estate and if she alienates without legal necessity even subsequently born reversioners can question the same. (Harrison and Zafar Ali, JJ.) LALCHAND v. MANOHRI. 78 I. C. 717; 1925 Lah. 108.

—Widow—Alienation—Reversioner—Declaratory suit.

A decree in a declaratory suit by a reversioner impeaching in the widow's lifetime an alienation by her is conclusive of actual reversioner's rights. But the applicability of the principles is less obviously just where it operates to bind the ultimate reversioner by the result of a suit in which the plaintiff reversioner had failed. (Lord Blanesburgh.) MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH v. SUEO PRAGASH OJHA. 46 A. 831;

40 C. L. J. 461; 1 O. W. N. 640; 51 I. A. 381; 82 I. C. 962; 1924 P. C. 247; 10 O. & A. L. R. 1105; 27 Bom. L. R. 130; 21 L. W. 295; 47 M. L. J. 824.

—Widow—Alienation—Reversioners joining in lease—Right to sue. MOHENDRA NATH BOSE v. ABINASH CHANDRA. 77 I. C. 364.

—Widow—Alienation—Right of reversioners to challenge separately.

A Hindu reversioner is not bound to file one suit challenging all alienations made by the widow therein—Where the alienees are different and the items different separate suits will lie. (Sulaiman, J.) BANS LOCHAN RAI v. JAGANNATH LAL. 1924 All. 838.

HINDU LAW.

———Widow—Alienation—Right of reversioners to avoid—Estoppel.

A reversioner in whose favour the succession had opened cannot be permitted to challenge the validity of a transfer by a limited Hindu owner when before her death he has elected to hold the transfer good. (Neave, J.) MT BATKA v. MT. SITHMAN. L. R. 5 A. 401 : 82 I. C. 372 : 1924 All. 527.

———Wid. w.—Alienation—Selling aside by presumptive reversioners—Redeeming of mortgages by alienee—Equity—Right to re-imbursement.

Where the presumptive reversioners seek to set aside a gift deed executed by a Hindu widow and it is found the donee has redeemed mortgages in favour of these reversioners by the widow, he is in equity entitled to get from them what he paid for redeeming the mortgages. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) KAGHUNANDAN SINGH v. TULSHI SINGH, 46 A. 38 : 75 I. C. 244 : 1924 A. 315.

———Widow—Alienation—Sardha of husband's relation.

When a Hindu widow alienates property to meet the Sardha expenses of a near relative of her husband, and it is found she is in possession of his property, the alienation is for a legal necessity (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) RAMSUNDER KUER v. SATRUHAN PRA-SAD CHAUDHURI, 1924 Pat. 591.

———Widow—Alienation—Suit to contest—Who can maintain.

Under Hindu Law a remote reversioner can sue challenging an alienation by a limited owner when the immediate reversioners were also holders of the estates. (Le Rossignol, J.) JAWAHARA v. DATA RAM, 79 I. C. 497 : 1925 Lah. 156.

———Widow—Alienation—Suit by presumptive reversioner, challenging—Representative nature of—Death of widow—Suit by actual reversioner for possession—If barred—Civil Procedure Code, S. 11 Expl. VI.

Where a Hindu widow makes an alienation and a contingent reversioner files a suit for declaring the same to be invalid, the suit is a representative suit on behalf of all the reversioners and the decision thereon is binding on all of them. Where such a declaratory suit is dismissed, a suit by the actual reversioner after the death of the widow for possession of the properties alienated is barred by Res judicata. 35 M. 406 : 41 M. 659 : 44 A.L.J. 19 : 49 Cal. 45 foll. (Wallace and Jackson, JJ.) POGULA HUSSAIN REDDY v. VENKATTA REDDY, 20 L. W. 552 : 1925 Mad. 86 : (1924) M. W. N. 730 : 47 M. L. J. 545.

———Widow—Alienation—Suit challenging—Compromise decree—Deposit to be made within time fixed—If period can be extended.

A compromise decree was passed in a suit by a reversioner to set aside an alienation by a widow, whereby she was to pay a sum of money to the plaintiff within a certain time and on default the alienation was to be set aside. She offered to pay the money a few days out of time. Held time was of the essence of the contract. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Devadoss, J.) EL-LAMMAL v. VENKATARAMANA RAO.

HINDU LAW

74 M.L.T. 283 (H.C.) : 79 I.C. 958 : 1924 Mad. 796.

———Widow—Alienation—Suit to challenge—Who can sue.

A suit challenging an alienation by a Hindu widow must ordinarily be brought by the reversioner nearest in succession at the time. If however he refuses or colludes with the widow or has precluded himself from suing, the next presumptive reversioner can sue. In the presence of daughters and a daughter's son, a remote reversioner cannot sue. (Daniels and Neave, A. J. C.) BECRU PANDE v. MT. DULHMA, L. R. 5 A. 661 : 80 I. C. 4 : 1925 A. 8.

———Widow's alienations—Whether debts for continuing ancestral trade, speculating on new trade will bind reversion—Widow's completion of house left incomplete—Validity of.

In a suit by the reversioners, to set aside certain alienations made by the widow, with a view to complete a house, to improve the family trade, and to speculate on a new trade in yarn. Held, (1) Though a widow cannot start a new trade, she need not wind up a flourishing business left by her husband (26 Bourn. 206 F.B. followd.). She can contract a debt for the purpose of family business to which she has succeeded, and by a specific charge make it payable out of the assets of the business even as against reversioners. If she acts prudently she is entitled to bind the estate with the debts incurred in the course of such trade. (2) A Hindu widow is not entitled to speculate upon a new trade in yarn, and debts so incurred are not binding on the reversion. (3) A Hindu widow could complete a house left incomplete by the husband, by incurring debts. She is not entitled to build a new house to the prejudice of the reversion. A widow is not a trustee for the reversioner or a mere manager on behalf of the reversioner.

Per Spencer, J.—The reversioners are not entitled to approve the accession to the estate caused by construction and at the same time to reprobate the debts incurred for the purpose of construction 26 B. 206 : 28 M.L.J. 696 : 42 A. 109 followd. (Spencer and Devadoss, JJ.) SUBRAMANYA CHETTY v. RAMAKRISHNAMMAL, 20 L. W. 627 : (1924) M. W. N. 794.

———Widow—Compromise of dispute—Reversioners—Life interest to reversioners—Allowance to widow.

Certain disputes between a Hindu widow and reversioner were returned to arbitration and the award granted the widow a certain sum per year as maintenance and a life-interest in the property to the reversioner. On the death of the reversioner the property was to go to his son if one survived him and in default to the widow and another in equal shares. So long as the widow got her maintenance she would have no right to set aside the arrangement. Held, that the arrangement was a perfectly legal arrangement. The fact that the reversioner had alienated the property gave the widow no right to set aside the award and recover possession, so long as she got her allowance. The cause of action for a suit for possession accrued to the widow on the death of the reversioner without leaving a son. A suit brought by her against the transferees from the reversioner within 12 years of that date is not barred by limitation. (Mukerji, J.) MT. DURGA KUNWAR v. MT. CHUNNA KUNWAR. L. R. 5 A. 276 : 78 I. C. 633 : 1924 All. 862.

HINDU LAW.

—Widow—Debts of—When binding on estate.

In circumstances of necessity, a widow can bind the estate by incurring debts. (Jackson, J.) GABIMELLA VENKAYYA v. MOKKARALLA BANGARAYYA. 82 I. C. 464 —Widow—Decree against for amount—Chargeable on her husband's estate—Execution of the decree against that estate in the hands of the reversioners.

It is settled law that if the nature of the debt which the widow incurs and for which the creditor obtains a decree against her is such as would bind her husband's estate, the decree with regard to such a debt can be executed against the estate even in the hands of the reversioners. 34 M. 188 followed. 30 A. 394; 45 All. 613 : 19 C. W. N. 313 referred to. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) BHUDHAR SINGH v. THAKUR GANGA BAKSH. 1 O. W. N. 527 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 854 : 11 O. L. J. 754

—Widow—Decree against—Criterion for determining the binding nature of decree against the reversioners—Form of suit—Terms of the deed

In deciding whether a sale in execution of a mortgage decree against the Hindu widow would bind the reversioners or not the Court must look beyond the decree to the form of the suit or possibly even to the terms of the bond itself.

10 C. 985; 30 M. 3 and 34 M. 188 ref. to.

If the form of the suit is a claim based on a mortgage deed, the widow in defending such a suit is acting in defence of the estate and on behalf of the reversioners, whereas if the suit is a claim on a personal bond she could not be held to be acting on behalf of the reversioners. (Ken dall and Pullan, A. J. C.) MT. RAI KUNWARI v. MT. RANI MAHRAJ KUNWARI. 82 I. C. 832 : 1 O. W. N. 710.

—Widow—Decree against—When binding on estate—Executability against reversioner.

There is always a distinction between a decree passed against a Hindu widow as representative of the last male holder in respect of a debt due by the last male holder, and a decree passed against her in respect of a debt incurred by herself. In the first case she is sued in her representative character, in the second she is before the Court in her personal capacity. A decree which directs recovery of the debt out of the assets of the deceased in the hands of the holders of the life estate though based on the confession of the widow cannot therefore be treated as being a decree against the widow personally. Although a personal decree against the widow may not bind the actual reversioner for very good reasons, a decree passed against her in her representative character would not be liable to be challenged on the execution side at the instance of the reversionary heir merely because it was passed on a confession. (Kinkard, O. A. J. C.) BEHARI SINGH v. NAWAL SINGH. 20 N. L. R. 24 : 78 I. C. 136; 1924 Nag. 81.

HINDU LAW.

—Widow—Execution sale—What passes—Purchaser in possession. L. R. 5 A. 11 (Rev) : 1924 A. 109.

Widow—Gift—Charitable purposes—Powers of

A gift forming a religious act considered essential for the soul of the deceased husband can validly be made by a Hindu widow even by selling property if income from the estate is not sufficient. For other pious observances which conduce to the bliss of the deceased's soul but not essential or obligatory, she can alienate only a small portion of the property. (Martineau and Campbell, JJ.) MT. TEHL KUAR v. AMAR NATH. 79 I. C. 670 : 1925 Lah. 2.

Widow—Gift by—Consent of nearest reversioner—Effect—Surrender—What is.

A gift by a Hindu widow of her husband's properties to a stranger even if it is with the consent of the nearest reversioner does not give him more than an estate for the life of the widow. A surrender by the widow can only be in favour of the next reversioners and consent which is presumptive evidence of necessity cannot apply to a case of gift. (Newbould and Ghosh, JJ.) JNANENDRA NATH ROY CHAUDHURY v. RAM RANJAN BANERJI. 1924 Cal. 988.

—Widow—Gift for—Spiritual—Welfare—When binding. 1924 Lah. 137.

—Widow—Gift of whole estate—Consent of next reversioners—Effect.

A Hindu widow can with the consent of the next reversioner gift away the whole of her husband's estate. The alienation is valid on the doctrine of surrender or relinquishment. (Batten and Hallifax, A. J. C.) KUSHI BAI v. MANRAKHAN. 79 I. C. 422.

Widow—Gift of whole estate to daughter on marriage—Effect—Death of daughter. MT. SARTAN v. RAMJAS. 1924 A. 166.

Widow—Gift—Power to make—Marriage possession for daughter.

It is competent to a Hindu widow to make a gift of a reasonable portion of the estate of her deceased husband for the purpose of dowry for her daughter's marriage. 37 C. 1 : 22 M. 113, Ref. (Scott Smith and Fford, JJ.) JOWALA RAM v. HARI KISHEN SINGH. 5 Lah. 70. 80 I. C. 690 : 1924 Lah. 429.

—Widow—Income from estate—Nature of—Decree for rent.

Accumulated savings by a Hindu widow from the income of her husband's property are presumed to belong to the estate unless she dealt with them as her own property. Mere obtaining a decree for a years of rent is not proof that she dealt with it in such a way as to show it was her property. (Jackson, J.) PAVANI SUBBAMMA v. MUNGAMUR VENKATAKRISHNA ROW. 80 I. C. 290 (2).

—Widow—Mortgage by—Legal necessity—Onerous terms—Suit by reversioners—Power of Court to grant declaration as to validity of mortgage and invalidity of terms—Issue as to legal necessity of mortgage, whether wide enough to include the point about items of the deeds.

HINDU LAW.

In a suit by the nearest reversioner against a Hindu widow for a declaration that the mortgage executed by her is void as against him, if the whole cannot be declared invalid there is no reason why that part of it which is invalid cannot be so declared. Where a deed of mortgage was executed by a Hindu widow for meeting the expenses of the marriage of the grand-daughter of her deceased husband but contained onerous terms which were not proved by the creditor mortgagee to have been procured under the pressure of any legal necessity on the estate of the deceased husband, it is open to the Court to uphold the deed as being for legal necessity and further to grant a declaration that the particular onerous terms are not binding on the reversioners. A broad issue as to the legal necessity or otherwise of the mortgage as a whole embraces the question of necessity in respect to the various items of the mortgage transaction and no specific issue need be framed therefor particularly when the parties are well aware of the legal situation. 51 I. A. 278. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MOHAN LAL v. MUSAMMAT KHAN KUAR.

10 W. N. 744 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1026.

—Widow—Mortgage by—Necessity—Inquiry by creditor, how far essential.

It is not sufficient for the creditor of a Hindu widow to assure himself that necessity existed for the loan but he must further assure himself that such necessity cannot be satisfied without borrowing.

He is, however, not bound to prove that the money advanced by him was really utilized in satisfying the necessity. (Dalal, J. C.) RAMAN v. BARATI. 10 W. N. 654 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 965.

—Widow—Mortgage suit—Compromise—Acceptance of exaggerated claim—If binding on reversion.

When a Hindu widow consents to a decree in a mortgage suit for a much larger sum than is due under the mortgage, the same is not binding on the reversioners. (Naive, A. J. C.) BASAWAN v. NATHA.

10 W. N. 319 : 82 I. C. 747 :

10 O. & A. L. R. 857 :

11 O. L. J. 452 : 1925 Oudh 30.

—Widow—Mortgage by—Suit to enforce, against reversioner—Plea by him of no necessity for bond—Scope of—Plea of no necessity for high rate of interest if included—Onus on mortgagee of proving such necessity—Shifting of onus—Conditions—Evidence of necessity for high rate of interest—Borrowing by same widow on other occasions at high interest if.

A pardanashin lady, who had only a widow's right in certain property, executed a mortgage in respect thereof for Rs. 775, with compound interest at 24 per cent. and half yearly rests. In a suit brought, after the lady's death, to enforce the mortgage bond against the reversionary heir who had succeeded to the property, the defendant raised a plea as follows:—

"The bond sued upon is entirely illegal and without passing of consideration and is without legal necessity."

Held, that the plea in general terms opened the defence that there was no necessity to borrow at the high rate of interest provided for in the bond, and that the onus of proving that there was such necessity lay on the lender.

HINDU LAW.

Held, further that, as in all questions of onus, a certain amount of evidence might cause the onus to shift, and that evidence on the lender's part that the money could not, in the circumstances, have been raised at less interest would suffice to shift the onus so that, if the defendant led no evidence to controvert that statement, the lender would prevail, but that when there was no evidence and it was evident on the face of the document that the interest charged was far in excess of commercial rates, then undoubtedly the lender had not discharged his task.

Held, also that evidence that on one other occasion the same widow had borrowed at high interest was not in any way conclusive as of what she might have done on the occasion in question.

The only evidence tendered by the plaintiff before the trial Judge consisted of two bonds granted by the same widow borrowing at a high rate of interest and decree obtained on one of the bonds, and of a witness to speak to the execution of one of the bonds, was rejected by the trial Judge as unnecessary. Held, that the trial judge acted rightly in so doing. (Lord Dunsedin.) RAI RADHA KISHUN v. JAG SAHU.

5 Pat. L. T. 434 :

26 Bom. L. R. 732 : 20 L. W. 285 :

L. R. 5 P. C. 129 : 80 I. C. 791 :

35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 177 : 22 A. L. J. 959 :

11 O. L. J. 652 : 1 O. W. N. 481 (P. C.) :

47 M. L. J. 329.

—Widow—Nature of estate—Tenancy rights—Relinquishment—Alienation.

A widow inheriting a tenancy inherits no more than a life interest and the property will devolve on her death on the reversioners. She would be bound by the Mitakshara law restricting the transfer of property and as a tenancy is property, she will not be able to alienate the holding inherited from her husband except for family necessity. The relinquishment of holding amounts to a transfer or alienation. (Pullan, A. J. C.) SHEO NANDAN SINGH v. JAI RAM SINGH.

10 O. & A. L. R. 445 :

11 O. L. J. 608 : 79 I. C. 1022 : 1 O. W. N. 287 :

L. R. 5 O. 143.

—Widow—Personal bond by the widow—Legal necessity—Reversioners, whether bound.

A widow's personal bond even for legal necessity does not bind the reversioners. 30 A. 394, followed 22 O. C. 260 : 34 Mad. 188 referred to. (Kendall and Pullan, A. J. Cs.) MT. RAJKUNWAR v. MT. RANI MAHRAJ KUNWAR.

82 I. C. 832 : 1 O. W. N. 710.

—Widow—Powers of.

A Hindu widow purchased an engine for constructing a ghat in a river and thereafter used it for driving an oil mill. She employed an engineer and in a suit by him against the reversioner for wages due, held the acts of the widow were binding on the estate. (Baker, J. C.) THAKUR KALLU SINGH v. BHURAJI.

1924 Nag. 884.

HINDU LAW.

—Widow—Prior suit regarding succession—Widows in possession for more than 12 years—Adverse possession—Nature of title prescribed for.

The widows of a Hindu obtained a judgment in their favour regarding succession to his estate and under it remained in possession for 40 years. Held, even if they were not entitled to the estate, their possession was adverse to those legally entitled and the rights of the latter were destroyed under S 23, Lim. Act. The property does not however become their stridhanam, but enures to the benefit of the reversioners. (Lord Dunedin.) LAIWANTI v. SAFA CHAND. 22 A. L. J. 304.

1924 P. C. 121 : 5 Lah. 192 : L. R. 5 P. C. 94 :
20 L. W. 10 : (1924) M. W. N. 442 :
28 C. W. N. 960 : 80 I. C. 788 :
2 Pat. L. R. 245 : 26 Bom. L. R. 1117.
6 Pat. L. T. 1.

—Widow—Re-marriage—Effect of—Succession to daughter.

A Hindu widow who has remarried can succeed to her daughter by her first husband who dies after her remarriage. 29 Bom. 91 foll. (Macleod, C.J. and Shah, J.) BHIKU KRISHNA BADHADE v. KESHAN RAMJI BADHADE. 80 I. C. 512.

—Widow—Succession to holding on death of tenant—Relinquishment of holdings—Reversioner when bound.

A Hindu widow inheriting a tenancy inherits no more than a life interest and the property will devolve on her death on her reversioners. She will be bound by the rules of Hindu law restricting the transfer of property and, as a tenancy is property she will not be able to alienate the holding inherited from her husband except for family necessity. A relinquishment of the holding by the widow amounts to a transfer and it is certainly an alienation. The reversioners have a right to challenge the same. (Pullan, A.J. C.) SHEO NANDAN SINGH v. JAI RAM SINGH.

L. R. 5 O. 143 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 445 :
11 O. L. J. 608 : 79 I. C. 1022 : 1 O. W. N. 287.

—Widow—Suit by reversioner after widow's death—Onus of proof—Acquisitions.

The onus of proof is on the person who comes into court to claim the property found in the possession of a Hindu widow to show it vested in the husband and if the claim is on the basis of savings from income he has to show the widow intended to make the acquisitions part of the estate. There is no presumption that transactions standing in the name of the wife are the husband's transaction. (Kinkhede, A.J.C.) JAIRISHNA v. SAVITRI.

7 N. L. J. 187 : 79 I. C. 627.

1924 Nag. 406.

—Widow—Surrender. 75 I. C. 625.

—Widow—Surrender—Acceleration—Necessity for.

The consent of the whole body of reversioners at the date of an alienation by a Hindu widow would afford presumptive evidence of necessity but would not estop the actual reversioners from disputing the alienation unless the consenting reversioners themselves were the actual reversioners at the date when the reversion fell due. A Hindu widow can renounce in favour of the nearest reversioner, if there be only one, or of all the reversioners nearest in degree, if more than one, at the moment and the surrender must be of the whole estate. A surrender to one of the reversioners, is not equivalent to a surrender to all the reversioners even if it is for the benefit of all the reversioners. (Shah, A.C.J. and Kincaid, J.) MANJAYA SANNAYA v. SHESHGIRI.

HINDU LAW.

26 Bom. L. R. 1267 : 1925 Bom. 129 (2).

—Widow—Surrender—Co-widows—Power of one.

One of two co-widows in enjoyment and possession of the husband's estate cannot unless in conjunction with the other make a valid surrender. (Krishnan, J.) BODU ANNA NAIDU v. VARADA JAGGU NAIDU. 79 I. C. 646.

—Widow—Surrender—Essentials of.

For an alienation by a widow to the next reversioner to amount to an acceleration of the estate, she must divest herself of the entire interest in the estate. (Baker, J.C.) MT. BHAGVATI BAI v. DADU KHUSHIRAM. 81 I. C. 878 : 1925 Nag. 95.

—Widow—Surrender—Re-grant—Conveyance by reversioner.

Even though there is a release by the entire body of reversioners of all the properties in favour of the widow it cannot amount to a surrender and regrant. (Kumaraswami Sastri, J.) NAYAKAMMAL v. MUNUSWAMI MUDALIAR.

20 L. W. 222 : 1924 Mad. 819.

—Widow—Surrender—Relinquishment in favour of one out of several reversioners.

A relinquishment by a Hindu widow in favour of one out of several reversioners during her lifetime cannot be maintained. (Daniels and Dalal, JJ.) PRAG NARAIN v. MATHURA PRASAD.

22 A. L. J. 472 : L. R. 5 A 362.

79 I. C. 575 : 1924 A. 740 (1).

—Widow—Will by—If entitles reversioner to sue for declaration.

If a Hindu widow executes a will purporting to deal with her husband's estate, that by itself does not entitle the reversioner to sue in her life time for a declaration of its invalidity. (Martineau and Campbell, JJ.) MT. TEHL KUAR v. AMAR NATH.

79 I. C. 670 : 1925 Lah. 2.

—Widow—Will—Power to make—Rights of legatee to sue for possession.

A person who claims to be a legatee under the will of a Hindu widow bequeathing her husband's property derives no title under the will even to maintain a suit in ejectment against trespassers. (Wallace, J.) SRINIVASACHARIAR v. RAGHAVACHARIAR.

46 M. L. J. 560 : 19 L. W. 621.

79 I. C. 1011 : 1924 Mad. 676.

—Will—Construction of—Request to two persons jointly—Tenancy-in-common—Stridhan property, inheritance of—Marriage in approved form—Presumption.

Where a Hindu testator devises by will his property to his widow and the widow of his predeceased son, each of the legatees takes an absolute interest in the property as a tenant in-common and not as a joint tenant. 23 C. 670 P. C. relied upon. 11 M. 258 dissented from. (Dalal, J.C.) MUSSAMMAT UMRAO KUAR v. SARABJIT SINGH.

10 O. & A. L. R. 1080 : 1 O. W. N. 579.

HINDU LAW.

—Will—Construction—Bequest to wife and daughter with right of survivorship to each other—If a male is born to my daughter it will inherit real property given to my wife and daughter—Estates taken by wife and daughter and daughter's sons—Nature of—Only son of daughter born after testator's death and dying before daughter—Effect of—Validity of bequest to daughter's sons—Madras Act I of 1914—Applicability—Effect.

The will of a Hindu provided that the lands should be managed by his brother and half the income should be enjoyed by him in his own right. The testator gave also one house to his brother. Another house and the other half of his lands were given "to his (testator's) wife and daughter with the right of survivorship to each other, i.e., wife and daughter." Lower down the testator provided, "If my daughter does not beget male issue in her life-time half the land and the house given to my wife and daughter by this will shall after their lives go to my brother and his male heirs. If a male is born to my daughter it will inherit the real property given to my wife and daughter."

The testator died in 1877; a son was born to the daughter in 1881 and the boy died after living for a day; the testator's widow died in 1903, and his daughter in 1918;

On a construction of the will, held by Ramesam, J. (1) that it provided for an estate during the joint lives of the wife and daughter, to be taken by them as tenants-in-common with a remainder in favour of each or her life after the death of the other; (2) that in the events that happened, after the death of the testator's widow the daughter took an estate for life; (3) that the daughter's sons were included to be devisees under the will and not to succeed as on an intestacy; (4) that the will gave a contingent remainder to the daughter's sons, such contingent remainder being converted into a vested remainder after birth of the first daughter's son subject to its diminution as the number of daughter's sons was augmented by further births; and (5) that the disposition in favour of the daughter's sons was in the event that happened, void by the rule in the Tagore Case and was not validated by Madras Act I of 1914.

Held by Jackson, J.—The will made the male born to the testator's daughter heir to the real property given to his wife and daughter at or their death and with an intention that the property should vest in him at birth and come to him by survivorship.

If however the alternative and perfectly reasonable construction is adopted, so that the property vested in the male issue from the moment of birth the disposition is invalid and cannot be validated by the retrospective operation of Madras Act I of 1914. (Applicability of Madras Act I of 1914, (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) T. S. SIVARAMA Aiyar v. T. S. GOPALA KRISHNA CHETTIAR

82 I. C. 1044; 1925 Mad. 88; 47 M. L. J. 337.

—Will—Construction—Father—Will disposing of properties in favour of sons subject to conditions—Defeasance clause—Compromise giving absolute estate—Effect of.

HINDU LAW.

A Hindu father possessed of considerable ancestral and self-acquired, properties bequeathed them to his three sons in three lots and directed that if the sons desired to partition the property each should take one lot. It was also provided in the will that if any one of the sons was sonless, he should adopt only his brother's son, failing which his share would pass to the other members as in the case of survivorship. After the death of the father, the eldest son sued for partition which suit was compromised. Though the compromise did not refer to the will it adopted most of its provisions and allotted one lot absolutely to each of the sons ignoring the limitation laid down by the other. This was in 1903. None of the three sons had male issue. In 1920 one of the sons died leaving his widow and daughter and a brother surviving him. The brother sued the widow to recover that share of his father's self-acquisition which had fallen to the deceased alleging that as regards that property the father's will was operative and under the conditions in the will the surviving brother was entitled to that share. Held, that there was a grant of an absolute estate to each of the sons under their father's will subject to defeasance on the happening of a contingency namely dying sonless and without adopting a brother's son; that there being no brother's son in existence the condition was impossible of performance and could not be given effect to; and that the absolute partition among the brothers estopped the plaintiff from now going behind it (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) PHULWANTI KUNWAR v. JANESHAH DAS. 22 A. L. J. 521; 46 A. 575; L. R. 5 A. 785; 1924 A. 625.

—Will—Construction—Gift to daughters in definite shares—Right of survivorship.

Where a Hindu father gifts his properties to his daughters in definite shares there is no longer any right of survivorship among them and on the death of one her heirs take. (Campbell, J.) TASADDUQ HUSSAIN v. RAM KISHEN.

79 I. C. 86; 1925 Lah. 59.

—Will—Construction—Gift to grand daughter—Absolute estate

A Hindu testator made a gift of his properties to his son's daughter. The operative words of the will were,—"you shall enjoy after my death all the property moveable and immoveable.—You can enjoy all the said property attending to my obsequies after my death and settling the matters of debts, etc., incurred by me." Held, that the donee took an absolute estate in the property gifted to her. The words used in the will were of sufficient amplitude to convey the fullest rights of ownership. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) YELLAPPA v. GOLLESWAMI.

20 L. W. 579; 82 I. C. 490; (1924) M. W. N. 895; 1924 Mad. 855.

—Will—Gift to unborn person—Power of appointment—Rule in the Tagore Case MATHURA NATH MUKHERJEE v. LAKHI NARAIN GANGULY.

1924 Cal. 68.

—Will—Construction—Gift to widow—Gift over—Vested interest.

A Hindu testator died leaving a will under which his widow was to inherit the estate and after her death a cousin of the testator. The Cousin predeceased the widow and the question arose whether the next reversioners of the testator or the heirs of the cousin were entitled to the estate on the death of the widow. Held that the cousin took merely a contingent estate and he not having survived the widow, the reversioners of the testator were entitled to take on the death of the widow. (Pullen, A. J. C.) JAGMOHAN SINGH v. SHEO MANGAL SINGH.

HINDU LAW.

11 O. L. J. 729 : 82 I. C. 583 : 1925 Oudh 127 : 10 O. & L. J. 843.

——— Will—Construction—Gift to wife—Gift over.

A Hindu testator made a will by which he gifted the property to his wife Lakshmi, and later on, in the second clause after setting out that it was his self acquired property he stated that he made the gift "in order that you may enjoy myself-acquired property, as you are my wife and as you have no male issue". Later on, he once more recited that he had gifted away the house worth Rs. 1,000 and provided that out of the rent she was to pay Rs. 5 every month to a temple and, utilise the remainder for her maintenance. Then came the following clause in the will. "After your life time you shall leave the said manai, house and the document relating thereto to Rajammal, the eldest daughter of my second brother Samarapuri Chetty. That lady shall also do exactly what is done by the said Lakshmi Ammal. The rest of my heirs shall have no right, title or interest in the said property, which you shall hold and enjoy from this day getting certificate, etc.; for the property, in your name." Held, that there was a clean gift over to Rajammal absolutely, on the termination of the life interest of Lakshmi Rajammal took, vested remainder in the property and not a remainder contingent on her surviving Lakshmi. (Coutts Trotter and Ramesam, JJ.) RATNASABAPATHY CHETTY v. LAKSHMI AMMAL.

20 L. W. 243 : (1924) M. W. N. 593 : 80 I. C. 618 : 1924 Mad. 811

——— Will—Construction—Vesting—Life estate to daughter with remainder to her son—Vesting of—Estate in son—His surviving his mother if a condition precedent.

By his will a Hindu gave certain properties to his daughters, the material clause of the will being : "These (meaning the daughters) have no power to make sale, gift, mortgage, etc., of these two houses and grounds. After these their issue shall use and enjoy them from son to grandson and so on in succession so long as the sun and moon may last, with power of gift, mortgage, exchange and sale and they shall every year without default perform the aforesaid ceremonies, etc." Held, on the construction of the will, that a son of one of the daughters who had predeceased his mother took nothing under the will. Under the will it was a condition precedent to any estate vesting in the daughter's son that he should survive his mother. (Coutts Trotter, C.J. and Ramesam, JJ.) PERIYANAYAKI AMMAL v. RATHNAVELU MUDALIAR.

(1924) M. W. N. 516 : 20 L. W. 449 : 1925 Mad. 61 : 47 M. L. J. 310.

HINDU WIDOW'S REMARRIAGE ACT.

——— Will—Construction—Woman—Bequest to—Estate conveyed—Presumption—"Enjoy" imports limited estate—Bequest by person having absolute estate—Estate conveyed—No words limiting estate given—Effect.

The fact that a legatee is a Hindu woman does not raise any presumption that the estate given to her is only a life-estate. The question whether an absolute estate or a limited estate only was intended to be given must be decided on the language of the will taken as a whole. The will of a Hindu, who had an absolute estate in the properties purporting to be bequeathed thereby stated : "The following are the particulars as to how each of the legatees should enjoy after my life time." It then set out the list of properties which the testator desired his elder sister (P) should enjoy, and then of the properties which he desired his adopted sisters, A and V and her daughter, S, should enjoy. The testator made no provision whatsoever for any gift over or any remainder passing to any one. There were no words whatsoever to restrict the scope of the estate given to a life estate. There were, however, also no words authorising the legatees to alienate the property.

Held, on a construction of the will, that it gave whatever rights the testator had in properties to legatees, and that was an absolute estate. The word "enjoy" in the will means "enjoy the benefit of the ownership of property" and not merely the income of the property. When a person who has got an absolute estate makes a disposition of his properties, unless there is something to indicate that he was limiting, the estate given by him in some manner, it is right to take it that he passes the whole of his estate by his gift. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) RAJAMANICKAM CHETTIAR v. MANICKAM CHETTIAR.

20 L. W. 672 : 1925 Mad. 254 : 47 M. L. J. 723.

——— Will—If requires registration—Dharma—Vagueness.

A Hindu will need not be registered, and the terms of a registered will can be varied by an unregistered codicil.

A bequest for dharma is void for uncertainty. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) SHAMBAI v. GOVERDHAN.

78 I. C. 249.

——— Will—Validity of bequest for Dharmadakam.

A bequest of properties for dharmadakam or in charity is void for uncertainty. Case-law reviewed. (Aston, A. J. C.) FAKIRO RAMJI v. VALABDAS GANGARAM.

76 I. C. 209.

HINDU WIDOW'S REMARRIAGE ACT (XV OF 1856)—If overrides old customs of Punjab.

The Hindu Widow's Remarriage Act does not override the customs prevailing in Punjab as regards non forfeiture of widow's rights over her deceased husband's property by virtue of S. 7 of Act 4 of 1872 (Punjab Laws Act) (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) SANT SINGH v. RARIBAI.

1924 S. 17.

——— Scope of. MT. PALT v. NIRDHAN GOPE.

1924 P. 233.

HINDU WIDOW'S REMARRIAGE ACT, S. 1.

———(XIV OF 1856), S. 1—Re-marriage of Hindu widow—Right to succeed to property of son by first husband.

A remarried Hindu widow succeeds to the property of her son by her first husband, whether or not the Hindu Widow's Remarriage Act applies. 11 W. R. 52 Foll. (Woottroffe and Ghosh, JJ.) JAMINI KUMAR SEAL v. THAKUR DHAN BAIKSHAN.

79 I. C. 1048 : 39 C. L. J. 88.

———S. 2—Gift by father-in-law to widowed daughter-in-law—Re-marriage—Effect on gift.

Where a Hindu father-in-law makes a gift of immovable property to his widowed daughter-in-law empowering her to enjoy the property during her life time and she subsequently remarries, she does not thereby forfeit her rights to the property. There was no reason for implying that the property was given to her for use during her widowhood. As re-marriage of a widow is an exceptional event, it is not likely that the donor would have contemplated his daughter-in-law re-marrying. As the immovable property was gifted to her by her father-in-law and was not obtained in the manner referred to in S. 2 of the Hindu Widows' Re-marriage Act, the interest was not determined under that section on re-marriage. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Kumaraswami Sastri, J.) CHINTALAPALLI SESA SASTRULU v. KOVIVENKAMMA

(1924) M. W. N. 456 : 1924 Mad. 600.

34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 168 : 19 L. W. 510 :

47 M. L. J. 1.

HIRE-PURCHASE—Contract of sale—Distinction between—Rights of vendor.

The form of contract known as hire-purchase agreement is not one that originated in this country. It is clearly a form of agreement which originated in England and has been created by those engaged in the trade or particular articles. In the case of a hire-purchase agreement proper, the hirer of a chattel has only an option to purchase the goods and he is under no obligation to purchase. Notwithstanding the fact that the parties speak of a hire purchase agreement, if it contains an obligation to pay the purchase money it is an agreement to buy. A hirer of chattels under a hiring agreement which gives him an option to purchase them upon payment of all the agreed instalments of rent, but imposes upon him no obligation to do so is not the owner of the chattels. Held on the construction of an agreement relating to certain motor lorries that it was an agreement to sell and not a hire-purchase agreement that the property in the motor lorries had passed to the purchaser, and that the remedy of the vendor was to sue for the balance of the price. (Marten, J.) CECIL COLE v. NANA-LAL MORARJ DANE.

26 Bom. L. R. 880 : 1925 B. 18.

INAM—Enfranchisement—Statement before Inam Commissioner—Value of—Inam Register entitled to greater weight. See C. P. CODE, S. 92.

46 M. L. J. 245.

———Grant of—Rights of grantee to minerals—Grant by Government.

For services rendered by the ancestors of the respondent as shipbuilders, the East India Company in the year 1783 granted certain lands in the vicinity of Bombay yielding annually 40 Mooras of Toka-Batty. Under the terms of the grant the grantees were placed in possession of the Batty grounds in the district of Parel with their foras and perteneas of the said grant which will yield the above quantity, or Toka Batty and they were to be kept in possession of the same without molestation. The Board of Directors of the East India Company in 1795 confirmed the said grant "with a due proportion of foras and perteneas to their family and their descendants" In certain land acquisition proceedings the question arose whether the representatives of the original grantees who had opened quarries on the land and quarried stones right up to the date of the acquisition were entitled to compensation in respect of their subsoil rights. Held, that the grant conveyed to the grantee not merely the produce of the land but also the soil including the rights to mines and minerals in the subsoil and that the respondents were entitled to compensation on that footing. (Shah, A. C. J. and Fawcett, J.) SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. SHANTARAM NARAYAN.

INAM.

26 Bom. L. R. 847 : 1925 Bom. 12.

———Grant—Presumption—Claim of kudivaram by tenant—Burden of proof.

Where the kudivaram is found to be in the holder of a service inam, the burden lies on the tenant to prove that his holding is other than that of a tenant from year to year, and if he is not able to establish this, he is liable to ejectment on proof of a proper notice to quit. A permanent lease of inam service land no more diverts the land than does an ordinary tenancy from year to year. 83 M. 340, 43 M. 567 : 7 L. W. 194 : 41 M. 749 : 43 M. 165 Ref. (Krishnan and Venkata-subba Rao, JJ.) VEERASAMI MUDALI v. PALANI-APPAN.

34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 175 :

19 L. W. 513 : (1924) M. W. N. 466 :

1924 Mad. 626 : 46 M. L. J. 515.

———Grant by Government—Saranjam grant—Resumption by Government—Rights of mirasidars—Occupancy rights of Khatedar—Effect on.

In any alienated village the Inamdar or saranjamdar has full right of disposal with reference to holdings which are either relinquished or forfeited for any valid reason. Whenever there is any relinquishment on any ground or forfeiture of land for non-payment of the royal share of the revenue, the land would be at the disposal of the Saranjamdar and he may dispose of it by giving the mirasi or the occupancy right to any third person or by taking it up himself. It is also possible that the Mirasi or occupancy right would be acquired for consideration. Where there are no heirs, the saranjamdar cannot take possession for whether it be a saranjam village or inam village the right in such a case would belong to the Crown and the Crown only in the absence of any statutory provision to the contrary. A saranjamdar who takes possession of any mirasi or occupancy holding in this manner would hold it wrongfully and adversely to the Crown. Where there is a grant of the royal share of the revenue and the Government resume the inam, they do not acquire the mirasi or occupancy right which is a heritable and transferable right in holdings of which the saranjamdar has obtained possession

INAM.

by surrender or forfeiture. 28 B. 276 : 50 J. A. 49
10 B. 112 : 11 B. 235 : 41 B. 408 Rel. (*Shah,
A. C. J. and Fawcett, J.*) SECRETARY OF STATE
FOR INDIA v. GOIJABAI SHIVDEO RAO.

26 Bom L. R. 1173.

——— Service inam — Enfranchisement and issue of a title-deed — Creation of a new title in favour of grantee — Exclusive possession against grantee prior to enfranchisement — Effect of — Adverse possession.

The enfranchisement of a service inam and the issue of an inam title-deed create a new title in the grantee.

Where 1st defendant was in exclusive possession of the service inam lands from 1905 and the inam was enfranchised in 1911 and a title deed was then issued in favour of the plaintiff, the 1st defendant and others, and the 1st defendant continued even after in exclusive possession, the period of exclusive possession from 1905 to 1911 will not count as adverse possession against the plaintiff as regards the title conferred by the inam title-deed of 1911, provided that the Government's right to resume the lands in 1911 was not barred. 14 M. L. J. 438 : 38 M. L. J. 320 Rel.
(Wallace, J.) MANTRIPRAGADA GOURI KANTAM v.
MANTRIPRAGADA RAMAMURTHY. 80 I. C. 557 :

34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 234 : 19 L. W. 663 :

1924 Mad. 783 : (1924) M. W. N. 565 :

46 M. L. J. 482.

——— Service inam — Enfranchisement in the name of one member of Hindu family — Effect.

The enfranchisement of service inam lands in the name of one member alone of a joint Hindu family makes it his absolute property and not joint family property (Ayling and Odgers, JJ.) MAYANDI SERVAI v. SANTHANAM SERVAI.

20 L. W. 813 : 81 I. C. 1031 : 1925 Mad. 303.

INCOME TAX ACT (I OF 1886), S. 39 — SUPER-TAX ACT, S. 8 — Levy of super tax after the year of assessment is closed — Suit for refund — Maintain-ability.

Where supertax is charged and collected from a person after the year of assessment is closed, it is neither "charged, recovered and paid" in the year of assessment and a suit to declare its illegality is not barred under S. 39, Income-Tax Act read along with S. 8 of the Super tax Act. (Raymond and Kennedy, A. J. Cs.) SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL v. SETH KHEMCHAND THAOO-
MAL. 78 I. C. 438 : 1925 S. 67.

——— (VII OF 1918) — Applicability — Notice issued under — New Act coming into force — Effect.

Where the proceedings, such as issue of notice, etc., were taken under the Income Tax Act of 1918 the subsequent coming into force of Act XI of 1922 does not make the latter applicable. (*Baker,
J. C.*) ARJUN KHEMJI & Co., In re.

80 I. C. 362.

——— Unregistered firm — Loss — If can be deducted from income of partner.

Under Act VII of 1918, the share of a partner's loss in an unregistered firm of which he is a partner can be deducted from his other income for purposes of income tax. (Baker, J. C.) ARJUN KHEMJI & Co., In re.

80 I. C. 362.

INCOME TAX ACT, S. 2.

——— S. 3 (4) — Partnership — Temple as partner — Liability to tax.

Where a temple has a share in a partnership the income derived from the partnership cannot be said to be income derived from property held under trust for a religious or charitable purpose and hence is not exempt from taxation. (*Walsh, A.
C. J. and Ryves, J.*) LATCHMAN DASS NARAIN DASS OF CAWNPORE, In the matter of.

22 A. L. J. 913 : L. R. 5 A. 640 : 1925 A. 115.

——— (VIII OF 1918), S. 2, Cls. 6 and 7 —
Machinery sold as not obsolete — Loss sustained by sale — Deduction from annual profits — Asses-see's right to — Statute — Punctuation marks if and when part of.

An assessee, who carried on various businesses two of which consisted of rice mills, sold those mills, and wished to bring into account the difference between the purchase price of the machinery at those mills and the sale price, giving credit for the amounts if any, allowed to him in previous years for depreciation. That Commissioner found as a fact that the machinery was sold as not obsolete. On a question referred by him whether the assessee was entitled to the deduc-tion from the annual profits of the loss sustained by the sale Held, that, on the true construction of S. 2, Cls. (vi) and (vii) of the Income-Tax Act of 1918, the assessee was not entitled to the deduction claimed.

Where a statute has been punctuated, the punctuation marks must be taken as part of the statute. (Schwabe, C. J. and Wallace, J.) THE SECRETARY TO THE BOARD OF REVENUE, MADRAS
v. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR.

19 L. W. 34 : (1924) M. W. N. 142 :

33 M. L. T. (H. C.) 252 : 1924 Mad. 455 :

79 I. C. 608 : 46 M. L. J. 42.

——— S. 12 (1) — Losses incurred as member of firm — If a deduction for purposes of calculating taxable income.

Losses suffered by an assessee as a member of a company or firm are to be taken into account in fixing the amount of his taxable income. (*Baker,
O. J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.*) SETH BALKISHAN NATHANI v. COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX.

1924 Nag. 153.

——— S. 2 — *Registered Firm — Assessment —
Mode of — Registration in the year.*

1924 A. 137 : 75 I. C. 339 : 46 A. 1.

——— (XI OF 1922), Ss. 2, 4 (3) 6 and 66 — *Agricultural income — Pasturage — Income of permanently settled estate — Fisheries — Thaljat dues — Liability to tax — Difference of opinion among members of a division bench to whom case is referred — Procedure — Letters Patent (Cal.).
cl. 36.*

Income derived from pasturages is agricultural income and cannot be assessed to income tax.
But income derived from fisheries and from thaljat (i. e.) land used for storing timber, is not "agricultural income" or "income derived from land used for agricultural purposes" and are therefore not exempt from tax as such.

(Per Rankin, J. (Page, J. dissenting.))

Income derived from non-agricultural sources, e.g., fishery and thaljat, by the owner of a

INCOME TAX, ACT S. 2.

permanently settled estate from the lands in the estate, is not exempt from income tax by the operation of Regn. I of 1793.

Where there is a difference of opinion among the members of a Division Bench by whom a case is tried under S. 66 of the Income-Tax Act is decided, cl. 36 of the Letters Patent applies and the opinion of the senior Judge will prevail. S. 98, C. P. C., has no application to the case. 50 I. A. 212; 45 B. 718 Ret. (Runkin and Page, JJ.) EMPEROR v. PROBHAT CHANDRA BARNIA.

51 Cal. 504; 1924 Cal. 638.

—Ss. 2 (15) 16 and 55—Company—Profits—No declaration of dividend—Profits distributed as bonus shares—Super tax—Liability of shareholders.

Where a limited company instead of distributing its profits as dividend among the shareholders passed a resolution to the effect that the undivided profits should be distributed to the shareholders in the form of fully paid bonus shares and the shareholders had no option to take the profits in any other form. Held, that such a transaction did not result in any income, profits, or gains to the shareholders so as to make them liable for super-tax. Inland Revenue Commissioners v. Baird (1920) 1 K. B. D. 114; Bouch v. Sproule (1887) A. C. 385 fol. Swam Brewery, Ltd. v. The King, (1914) A. C. 231 dist. (Robinson, C. J. Heald and Beasley, JJ.) STEEL BROS. & CO., LTD. v. GOVERNMENT. 2 Rang. 211; 82 I. C. 665; 1924 R. 337.

—Ss. 2 (15), 16 and 55—Supertax—Partner of firm—Increase of share at time of assessment—Total income—What is.

Supertax being calculated on the income of the previous year, the fact that the assessee became entitled to a larger share in a firm at the time of assessment does not enable the tax being calculated on such increased share.

The total income for the purpose of S. 16 means the total amount of income, profits or gains from all sources including (1) certain receipts on which an assessee is exempt from paying income-tax and (2) the amount of tax deducted at the source by companies when paying dividends. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX v. MELLOR.

26 Bom. L. R. 366; 81 I. C. 489; 48 Bom. 504; 1924 Bom. 361.

—S. 3—Supertax—Liability for—Undivided profits—Capitalisation of—Bonus shares newly issued on basis of—Super-tax on value of—Shareholders' liability for.

A company called the Deccan Sugar and Abkari Co., Ltd. was incorporated in 1897 with a share capital of 10 lakhs in shares of Rs. 500 face value each. In 1908 the capital was increased to 22 lakhs by adding 7,000 preference shares of the A Class of Rs. 100 face value each and 5,000 preference shares of the B Class also of Rs. 100 face value each. In 1908 in pursuance of a resolution passed in June the ordinary share capital was reduced to Rs. 1,66,672, thus making the total capital of the Company something over 13 lakhs. Messrs. Binny & Co., Ltd., held 200 ordinary shares of Rs. 125 each in this Company. In

INCOME TAX ACT, S. 4.

1921 the Deccan and Co., had on its books a surplus accumulation profits undistributed practically 5 lakhs of rupees. In July 1921, by a special Resolution which was confirmed in the following month, the Articles of the Company, were amended, one of the first amendments enabling the Company, by a special Resolution, to subdivide or consolidate its shares or any of them; the other was a new Article by which the Company by a special Resolution might at any time take to itself the power to capitalise undivided profits or reserve fund. In pursuance of the new Article the Company capitalised the undivided profits. Each holder of share of Rs. 124 became the holder of three additional shares. The capital of the Company was increased by 1,328 shares of Rs. 375 each. The result was that Messrs. Binny & Co. for 200 shares of Rs. 125 each got 200 shares of Rs. 500 each and in 1921, scrip carrying out that change of position was issued. On a question arising whether the issue of new shares to the shareholders representing their share in the accumulated surplus was taxable as income, Held, that Messrs. Binny & Co. was not liable to pay super-tax on the value of the shares newly issued by the Deccan Sugar and Abkari Co., Ltd., in the year 1921. (Coutts Trotter, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX, MADRAS v. MESSRS. BINNY & CO., LTD.

(1924) M. W. N. 531; 20 L. W. 611; 1924 Mad. 802; 82 I. C. 17; 47 Mad. 837; 47 M. L. J. 242.

—Ss. 4, Sub-S. (1) and 66—British subject—Receipt of money in Native state—Money credited with bank.

The assessee was a British Indian subject. He took service in the Nizams Dominions and had an account with the Hyderabad branch of the Imperial Bank of India. A sum of one lakh sixty thousand and odd rupees was paid to the assessee into the Hyderabad branch of the Imperial Bank. From there the amount was transferred to the Patna branch of the Imperial Bank where the assessee was residing. The Commissioner of Income-tax at Patna sought to assess him to income-tax in respect of the one lakh sixty thousand and odd rupees. Held that the receipt of the income first took place in Hyderabad outside British India and it was not assessable to income-tax. 3 Lah. 349; 46 M. 706 fol. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) SAYYID ALI IMAM v. EMPEROR.

1924 P. H. C. G. 349.

—S. 4—Finance Act, Sch. III, Part 2—Joint family property—Impartible estate—Income of.

The Finance Act, Sch. III, Part 2, 1922, contemplates the larger deduction for purposes of super-tax only in a case where the income is that of the undivided family in which they are all jointly interested and not in the case of an impartible estate where the income is the sole property of the holder for the time being. Once it is admitted that the estate is impartible, it must be assumed that the members of the joint family have none of the rights of co-parcenership except a right of survivorship limited by the rule of impartibility which allows only one member at a time to hold. They cannot demand partition or assert any right to any individual share in the estate nor can they restrain alienations. The income of the estate is that of the incumbent for the time being nor does the fact that he is bound to maintain his sons entitle him to treat the income as that of the undivided family. (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) SRI SRI KAJA SHIVA PRASAD SINGH v. EMPEROR. 1924 P.H.C.C. 234 :

INCOME TAX ACT, S. 4.

5 Pat. L. T. 497 : 82 I. C. 653 :
2 Pat. L. R. (Cr.) 233 : 1924 P. 679.

—Ss. 4 and 42 (1)—Liability to income-tax—Foreign Company—Business connection.

The assessee was an incorporated company with its head-quarters at New York in the United States. The company was incorporated in the United States of America. The company had a branch office in Calcutta to buy gum, shellac and other Indian products and a factory in the United Provinces. No sales were conducted in India by the company : their transactions were limited to the purchase of shellac and other goods, some of which were purchased on account of a certain Gramophone Company which paid the company a fixed percentage on the purchase plus expense, while the balance was sold in the open market. It was admitted that no part of the company's income accrued, arose or was received in British India, but it was contended that the income arising or accruing to the company out of British India through or from its business connection in British India should be deemed to be the income accruing or arising within British India. Held, that the company was liable to income-tax and supertax under S. 42 read with Ss. 4 and 6 of the Income-tax Act, 1922, 46 M. 360 not foll. (1896) A. C. 325. (1922) 1 A. C. 417 distinguished. So far as the factory was concerned the company were liable to be taxed in the respect of the profits of their manufacturing branch. The English Income Tax Acts lay down territorial limit. In Acts VII of 1918 and XI of 1922 the Indian legislature appears to have gone beyond that limit. Having regard to the essential difference in language between the English and Indian Acts upon the point under consideration in English cases are of no authority in India.

Per Mukerjee, J.—The income-tax Act of 1918 effects a radical change in the scheme and scope of operation of this branch of the law. The Act of 1918 proposes to be a consolidating and amending statute ; on any point specifically dealt with in the Act the law is to be ascertained by interpreting the language used in the statute in its natural meaning, uninfluenced by considerations derived from the previous state of the law. 22 C. 788 : 23 C. 563 Ref. (Chatterjee, Mukerjee and Chotzner, JJ.) ROGERS PRATT SHELLAC CO. v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. 40 C. L. J. 110 :

28 C. W. N. 1074 : 1923 Cal. 34.

—S. 4—Royalty—Payment of lump sum—Mining lease—Liability to tax.

Salami paid at the inception of a mining lease for 999 years once for all and not of a recurring kind represents the purchase price of an out and out sale of the property and the sum so received by the lessor is not income within the meaning of the Income Tax Act. But if the lease reserved a rent or royalty payable periodically it is income. (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) SRI SRI RAJA SHWA PRASAD SINGH v. EMPEROR.

INCOME TAX ACT, S. 10.

1924 P. H. C. C. 234 : 5 Pat. L. T. 497 :
82 I. C. 653 : 2 Pat. L. R. (Cr.) 233 : 1924 P. 679.

—S. 4, Sub. S. (3) (viii)—Agricultural income—Income from fishery, hat and ghatlagi—Taxability—Permanent Settlement Regulation (I of 1793)—Effect of.

Income derived from jalkar, hats and ghatlagi is not agricultural income and is not exempt from income-tax under S. 4, Sub. S. (3) (viii) of the Income Tax Act.

Per Dawson Miller, C. J. (Mullick, J. contra.)—Where income from certain sources was taken into account in fixing the Jama of a permanently-settled estate under the Permanent Settlement Regulation I of 1793, such income is not liable to pay income tax, for the permanent settlement exempted the zemindar from all further taxation on such sources and there is nothing in the Income Tax Act to take away that exemption. 45 M. 518 : (1916) 2 H. C. 429 Rel. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) MAHARAJADHIRAJ OF DHARBANGA v. COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX.

3 Pat. 470 : 1924 P. H. C. C. 69 : 78 I. C. 783 :
2 Pat. L. R. 25 (Cr.) :
5 Pat. L. J. 459 : 1924 P. 474.

—Ss. 6, 10 and 24—Assessee—Set off—Right of—Trade in individual capacity—Trade as member of unregistered firm—Loss incurred in latter—Set off against profits made in former—Right of—S. 24 (1) and (2)—Applicability and effect.

A person who carries on two different trades, one individually and the other as a member of an unregistered firm, is entitled to set-off (for income-tax purposes) the loss incurred by him in respect of the partnership trade against the profits made by him in his individual capacity.

Though the practice is to assess firms as such each partner in a firm is an assessee in respect of the profits and gains of the business which he carries on in partnership.

The word "any" in S. 10 of the Income Tax Act means "each and every" ; and an assessee is therefore entitled to set-off in one business against losses in another. For this purpose there is no distinction between what an assessee earns alone and what he earns in partnership.

A partnership is, for income-tax purposes, not an entity known to the law ; and there is, for this purpose, no distinction between registered and unregistered firms. (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX, MADRAS v. M. AR. AR. ARUNACHALAM CHETTIAR.

19 L. W. 125 : (1924) M. W. N. 326 :
34 M. L. T. (H.C.) 332 : 1924 Mad. 474 :
47 Mad. 660 : 77 I. C. 772 : 46 M. L. J. 68.

—S. 10, Cl. (2), Sub-Cls. (6) and (7)—Business profits—Assessment based on income of the previous year—Deduction for obsolete machinery.

An assessee who had been allowed deduction of a certain amount for obsolescence of machinery in calculating his profits for the year 1921-1922 is entitled, in making his returns for the year 1922-1923 on the basis of his income-profits and gains for the year ending 30th June 1921, to deduct the allowance for obsolescence under S. 10 (2) (7) of the Income-Tax Act, 1922. (MacLeod, C. J. and Shah, J.) THE RAJA GOKALDAS MILLS, LTD. In re. 48 Bom. 389 : 26 Bom. L. R. 312 : 80 I. C. 282 : 1924 Bom. 346.

INCOME TAX ACT, S. 10.

—S. 10 (2) (viii) and (xix)—Business profits—Deductions—Colliery—Cess on output of coal or coke—Local rates and cesses—Bihar and Orissa Mining Settlement Act, 1920, S. 23 (3)—Jharia Water Supply Act, 1914, S. 45.

The assessee, a colliery company, paid a cess under the Jharia Water Supply Act and a tax under the Mines Board of Health Act and claimed that those payments were business expenditure or taxes within the meaning of S. 10 (viii) of the Income-Tax Act which should be deducted in calculating profits for the purpose of assessment to income tax. Held, that these items of expenditure did not fall under S. 10 (viii) but could be deducted under cl. (ix) in arriving at the profits of the colliery on which income tax was payable. From a commercial standpoint these rates imposed upon the proprietor of the business would be deducted in the company's balance sheet before any profits could be shown as the profits of the business. (Miller, C. J. and Jwala Prasad, J.) SELECTED COAL COMPANY OF MANBHUM in the matter of. 3 Pat. 295 : 1924 P. 670.

—S. 10 (2) (iii)—Business profits—Deductions—Interest taken by partners.

46 A. I. 75 I. C. 339 : 1924 A. 137.

—S. 10, Sub-S. 2, cl. (9)—Company—Rights—Business allowance—Tax on Companies—Madras District Municipalities Act (V of 1920), S. 92.

Tax on companies levied under S. 92 of the Madras District Municipalities Act (V of 1920) can be deducted as a business allowance under S. 10, Sub-S. (2), cl. 9 of the Indian Income Tax Act in calculating the profits of a Company for purposes of income tax. Smith v. Lion Brewery Co. (1911) A. C. 150, Usher's Wiltshire Brewery, Ltd. v. Bruce, (1915) A. C. 433 Relied on. (Coutis Trotter, C. J. and Wallace, J.) THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX, MADRAS v. THE NEDUNGADI BANK, LTD., CALCUT. 20 L. W. 87 : 1924 M. W. N. 580 : 81 I. C. 454 : 1924 Mad. 693 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 53 : 47 Mad. 667 : 47 M. L. J. 160.

—ACT (XI OF 1922), S. 10 (2)—Obsolete—What is—Absolute unfitness of machinery.

The word "obsolete" in S. 10 (2) must be taken to include cases of unfitness from whatever cause. The question whether the total destruction of machinery which renders it unfit for the purpose it was originally intended for, entitles the owner to claim deduction from income tax is a question on which a reference can be made under S. 66 (Kumarasamy Sastry, J.) RATNA SINGH MOTOR SERVICE, In re 20 L. W. 859 : 1925 Mad. 157.

—S. 14—Income derived as a member of a Hindu undivided family—Assessment along with personal income—Liability. See INCOME TAX ACT, S. 66. 2 Pat. L. R. 122 (Cr.).

—S. 14—Taxable income—Income derived by assessee as a member of a Joint family.

INCOME TAX ACT, S. 52.

Income personally derived by an assessee as a member of a Joint family is not taxable under S. 14 of the Act. (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) SACHITANANDA SINHA v. EMPEROR.

2 Pat. L. R. 180 Cr. : 5 Pat. L. T. 609 : 3 Pat. 664 : 1924 P. 644.

—S. 23 (2)—Assessment without notice—Case for reference.

An assessee whose return is disbelieved and who is summarily taxed without being given notice under S. 23 (2) can apply to the High Court to have a case stated under S. 66 (2) as the question raised challenges the very foundation of the assessment. (Suhrawardy and Chakravartty, JJ.) NIRMAL KUMAR SINGH NOWALAKSHA v. COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX. 29 C. W. N. 28 : 1925 Cal. 173.

—Ss. 27 and 66—Ex parte assessment—Non-appearance—Sufficient cause.

It would be for the income-tax officer to decide whether on the particular facts of the case, sufficient cause has been shown by the assessee for not appearing in time and as to whether his failure to appear and produce his accounts in time is justified by sufficient cause. Even if the High Court thinks that the action of the income-tax officer is arbitrary and harsh and that the assessment had been made ex parte without sufficient materials or justifications, it cannot interfere under S. 66 of the Income Tax Act. (Kumaraswami Sastri, J.) SIVA PRATAB BHATTADU v. THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX. 20 L. W. 395 : 1924 M. W. N. 785 : 1924 Mad. 880.

—S. 33—Review—Supplemental demand—Notice to assessee.

Where a commissioner reviews his decision under S. 33 of the Income Tax Act and issues a supplemental demand he must give a sufficient and reasonable opportunity to the assessee to be heard. (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) SACHITANANDA SINHA v. EMPEROR. 2 Pat. L. R. 180 (Cr.) : 5 Pat. L. T. 609 : 3 Pat. 664 : 1924 P. 644.

—Ss. 34 and 68—Amending Act of 1923—Effect of—Assessment to supertax in 1922-1923 for income of 1921-1922—Legality of.

Assessments to supertax for 1921-1922 on the income of 1921-1922 could be made in 1922-1923 under the heading of adjustment in cases in which during provisional assessment proceedings, it was found that the assessee's income was below the taxable amount for purposes of supertax, but the real income was ultimately found in proceedings under S. 68 of the Income-Tax Act, 1922, as amended by S. 3 of the Act of 1923, to be large enough to be assessed to supertax. (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX, MADRAS v. CHIDAMBARAM CHETTIAR.

(1924) M. W. N. 35 : 19 L. W. 129 : 79 I. C. 798 : 1924 Mad. 485 (2).

—S. 52—Suit contesting validity of assessment order—If maintainable—Jurisdiction of civil court.

The Income Tax Act creates a special jurisdiction and provides a special remedy against order of assessment. Where the Collector professes to tax income only and has not levied an assessment on any of the classes of income excepted under the Act, he exercises only a jurisdiction under the Act and a suit will not lie in a civil court challenging his order, even if there are errors in calculation. (Raymond and Kennedy, A. J. C.) DAYARAM RAMDAS v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. 78 I. C. 940 : 1925 S. 130.

INCOME TAX ACT, S. 55.

— Ss. 55 and 59—Super tax—Income from dividends—Liability to pay supertax in the hands of recipient.

There is nothing in the Income Tax Act of 1922, from which it can be inferred that in computing the taxable income of individuals for purposes of supertax dividends upon which supertax has been paid by a company should be deducted. Under Ss. 55 and 56 of the Income Tax Act, supertax is levied on the total income and 'total income' under S. 16 includes dividends payable to an assessee by a company. No exemption could be claimed by an assessee from payment of supertax in respect of dividends received by him even though the Company has paid the tax. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) MAHARAJADHIRAJ OF DARBHANGA v. COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX. 3 Pat. 470 : 1924 P. H. C. C. 69 : 78 I. C. 783 : 2 Pat. L. R. 25 (Cr.) : 5 Pat. L. T. 489 : 1924 P. 474.

— S. 66—Application to state case—Commissioner if can delegate duty—Procedure

When an application is made to a Commissioner of Income Tax to state a case to the High Court under S. 66 he cannot refuse to pass any order on the application or to delegate his authority to any Subordinate Officer. The jurisdiction of the High Court under S. 66 (3) arises on a refusal to state the case on whatever grounds it may be based. (Moti Sagar, J.) THE FIRM GOKUL CHAND, JAGANNATH v. THE COLLECTOR OF INCOME-TAX, SIALKOT. 1924 Lah. 662 (2).

— S. 66—Application to Commissioner to refer questions of law—Fee payable.

Where an application to the Commissioner of Income Tax to refer a case for the opinion of the High Court and the applicant raises more than one point of law, he need deposit a fee of 100 Rs. for each point of law. It is sufficient if the application is accompanied by a fee of 100 Rs. (Robinson, C. J. and Buguley, J.) A. R. A. R. S. M. CHOKKALINGAM CHETTY v. THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX. 1925 Rang. 94 : 2 Rang. 579 — Ss. 66, 33 and 14—Commissioner of Income-Tax—Statement of case to the High Court—Points of law.

The High Court directed the Commissioner of Income Tax to refer a case on the following points as they were questions of law deserving of a decision by the High Court :

(1) Whether the Commissioner of Income Tax having once passed an order under S. 33 of the Income Tax Act, has power to review his own order on sufficient grounds being shown? (2) Whether the requirements of the proviso to S. 33 (2) of the Income Tax Act, in regard to giving the petitioner reasonable opportunity of being heard, were complied with in the case on hand? (3) Whether in view of the provisions of S. 14 of the INDIAN TARIFF ACT, S. 10.

Income Tax Act, income derived as a member of a Hindu undivided family can be assessed jointly with the petitioner's personal income. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) SACHCHIDANAND SINHA v. THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX, BIHAR AND ORISSA. 2 Pat. L. R. 122 (Cr.).

— S. 66—Reference under—Statement of case—Form of.

While it is quite proper for the Income Tax Commissioner in making a reference to express his opinion on the questions involved, it is his first duty to state clearly and fully the material facts admitted or proved in evidence before him, to adopt any other course must in most cases result in embarrassment and uncertainty, when the matter comes before the Court for its decision, the Court being bound by the findings arrived at. (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) SRI SRI RAJA SHIV PRASAD SINGH v. EMPEROR. 1924 P. H. C. C. 234 : 5 Pat. L. T. 497 : 82 I. C. 653 : 2 Pat. L. R. (Cr.) 233 : 1924 P. 679.

— S. 68 (1)—Assessment reduced after the passing of the Act—Party if entitled to refund.

The applicant was assessed to Rs. 1,125 under the Income Tax Act of 1918 on the 17th February 1922. He appealed and on remand of the case the final assessment in July 1922 was fixed at Rs. 828-3-0. The applicant claimed a refund of the difference between these two amounts but this was refused on the ground that he was not entitled to it under Act XI of 1922 which came into force on the 1st of April 1922 prior to the making of the final assessment.

Held, that he had an existing right of refund which was expressly saved by the new Act, S. 68 (1). (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX, C. P. v. DHARAM CHAND DALCHAND. 1924 Nag. 24

INDEMNITY—Right to—Implied Contract—Agency.

A right to indemnity generally arises from contract, express or implied, but it is not confined to cases of contract. A right to indemnity exists where the relation between the parties is such that either in law or in equity there is an obligation upon the one party to indemnify the other. It may arise for instance in the case of an agent and principal irrespective of contract. (Lord Wrenbury.) EASTERN SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. QUAH BENG KEE. 34 M. L. T. 90 (P. C.).

INDIAN SOLDIERS (LITIGATION) ACT (IX of 1918), S. 10—Compromise—Signed by some of the agents—Application to set aside—C. P. Code, O. 47, R. 1. 75 I. C. 262.

— S. 4—Soldier appearing by pleader—Default—Notice if necessary.

No notice under S. 14, Indian Soldiers Litigation Act, to the prescribed authority is necessary in a case where an Indian Soldier appears in a case through his own pleader, who however refused to produce evidence but continued to attend the case. (Stuart, J.) FAKIRULLAH KHAN v. BALDEO SAHAL. 79 I. C. 225.

INDIAN TARIFF ACT (VIII OF 1894), AS AMENDED BY ACT (IV OF 1916)—TARIFF DUTY—S. 10, Sale of goods ex-godown—Reduction of tariff value

INJUNCTION.

by Government Notification—Consequent reduction of duty—Whether buyer entitled to deduct from the contract prize—Duty in S. 10 of the Tariff Act, meaning of—Payment under duress—Recovery of D. C. 801. 47 Mad 222 : 77 I. C. 70 : 1924 Mad. 236.

INJUNCTION—Legislative Council—President—Supplementary estimate—Injunction restraining President from putting a motion before the council—Power of court to issue. See GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, S. 72. 40 C.L.J. 515.

—Possessory title—Suit against trespasser for injunction.

A person is long and peaceable possession is, until the contrary is shown, presumed to be the owner and is entitled to an injunction against a stranger who threatens to disturb such possession. 20 M. 514; 20 C. 834 : 31 M. 531; 1 L. W. 853 Re. (Wallace, J.) PERIASAMI MUTHIRIYAN v. ANAN DAYI AMMAL. 20 L. W. 14. 80 I. C. 82; 1924 Mad. 722.

—Gift — Registration — Injunction against donee registering gift deed.

Where a gift of immovable property requires registration for its validity, it is open to the donor to revoke the gift before its registration. If the donee refuses to hand back the document, the donor can obtain an injunction restraining the donee from registering the document. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) SUBBA RAMA v. VENKAT-SUBBA. 26 Bom. L. R. 427 : 80 I. C. 477 : 48 Bom. 435 : 1924 Bom. 434.

—Suit against Government — Enhanced assessment—Declaration of illegality by civil court—Injunction unnecessary. See MAD. REV. RECOVERY ACT, S. 58. 49 M. L. J. 780.

INSOLVENCY—Breach of contract prior to adjudication—Right to sue for damages—If vests in Receiver.

Both under the Provincial and Presidency Towns Insolvency Acts, the right to sue for damages for breach of contract which accrued prior to adjudication vests in the Official Assignee and Receiver. (Raymond, A. J. C.) THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, BOMBAY v. FIRM OF CHANDULAL CHIMANLAL. 1924 S. 89.

—Proceedings in—Evidence taken before Official Receiver—Evidence in the trial—Consent of parties.

In proceedings to set aside an alienation, where the parties agreed to the evidence recorded by the Official Receiver being treated as evidence in the case, the procedure though highly improper is validated by such consent. The procedure is improper because first a court should see the witnesses giving evidence and secondly the interest and duty of the Receiver may conflict in the conduct of the proceedings. (Olafeld and Devadoss, J.J.) KRISHNA AIYAR v. THE OFFICIAL RECEIVER, TRICHINOPOLY. 75 I. C. 445.

—Receiver—Remuneration.

Though generally the remuneration of a Receiver is calculated by the method of percentage or commission, a court has jurisdiction in its discretion to fix a monthly payment in lieu thereof. It must be paid out of the insolvent's estate and the legal representatives cannot be made personally liable. (Sanderson, C. J. and Richardson, J.) SREPAT SINGH v. KAM SARUP SURYA PRASAD. 76 I. C. 583.

INTEREST.

—Right of action in respect of tort or breach of contract—If passes.

A right of action in respect of a tort or of a breach of a contract resulting in injuries wholly to the person or feelings of a bankrupt does not pass to the trustee for his creditors but remains in the bankrupt ; it results in injuries wholly to the estate of the bankrupt the right of action passes to the trustee. (Raymond, A. J. C.) THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, BOMBAY v. FIRM OF CHANDULAL CHIMANLAL. 1924 S. 89.

INSURANCE—Condition in policy that if claim is not brought within a certain time policy would be forfeited—Validity. 1924 Cal. 186.

—Fire — Suit for damages — Defence that policy was not existent and that its conditions had not been complied with.

In a suit for recovery of money due upon a policy of fire insurance, it is open to the defendants to plead that there was no policy of insurance in force at that time of the fire, and further that as no claim containing the details of the loss had been submitted in writing within 15 days of the fire, they were absolved from all liability. Where the defendants had issued a protection note subject to the conditions attached to the policy of insurance one of which was notice of claim should be given within fifteen days of the fire it was the duty of the plaintiff to have got the policy and looked into the conditions in question and if he failed to do so it was his own fault. (Robinson, C. J. and May Oung, J.) HAMEED & CO. v. THE UNIVERSAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY. 2 Rang. 144 : 1924 R. 317.

—Fire—Condition in original policy of forfeiture in case of omission to sue within three months of rejection of claim—Reinsurance—Condition whether implied.

Even assuming, without deciding, that a clause in a fire insurance policy to the effect that the claim under the policy shall lapse in case a suit is not commenced within three months of the rejection of the claim, is valid and binding such a clause is not imported by implication in a contract of reinsurance. (Robinson, C. J. and Brown, J.) THE HIMALAYA ASSURANCE CO., LTD. v. THE BURMA FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE CO., LTD. 3 Bur. L. J. 122 : 1924 R. 350.

INTEREST—Banker and customer—Compound interest—Half-yearly rests—Liability of Bank—Guarantors also liable.

Promissory notes executed by a bank to plaintiff stated that interest at 11 per cent. would be charged. The bank throughout credited interest in its accounts with half-yearly rests, and not only did it so in its own accounts, but it made the same entries in the plaintiff's pass book. Some of the directors of the bank who had guaranteed payment of the debt were aware of this practice. In a suit by the plaintiff on the promotes charging compound interest as above, the defendants pleaded that the promotes did not provide for the same. Held, that the bank by its own action led the plaintiff to believe that it was crediting him with compound interest and that their action in doing so led him on to allow the account to run. The wording of the promissory notes did not exclude the payment of compound interest. The defendant Bank itself having read it as meaning that compound interest would be charged on any amount not paid by due date, and having written up the pass-book of the plaintiff accordingly were now estopped from urging that this was merely a clerical mistake and that both parties understood that simple interest only would be charged. The guarantors were Directors of the Bank and as such presumably cognizant of all that the Bank did and the method in which it conducted its business. Consequently they too were liable for compound interest. (Harrison and Zafar Ali, JJ.) BHARAT NATIONAL BANK, LTD. v. BANARSI DAS. 5 Lah. 129.

INTEREST.

———Liability for—Co-owners—Appropriation of profits by one co-owner.

Where one of several co-owners has appropriated the profits of the common property for a number of years, it is open to the Court on equitable grounds to make him liable for interest on the amount due to the other co-owners. 23 C. W. N. 488; 35 B. 255, 41 M. 316, 42 M. 661, 3 C. 654, 38 A. 581 Ref. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) INGLIS v. SARJU PRASAD MISSEER.

3 Pat. 311 : 1924 P. 633.

———Post diem—Mortgage—No provision for payment of interest after due date—Effect of.

1924 Oudh 118 (2).

———Power of Court to award—Case not coming within the Interest Act. See CONTRACT ACT, S. 91

47 M. L. J. 312.

———Rate of—Relief against—Absence of undue influence—Hardship.

Where there is no undue influence proved, it is not open to a court of law to give relief against a rate of 24 per cent. interest agreed between the parties merely on the ground of hardship even where the transaction is improvident. (Raymond and Bilaram, A. J. Cs.) RAM SINGH v. IBRAHIM.

78 I. C. 418 : 1925 S. 136.

———Right to—Express or implied contract—Demand—Necessity for. See CONTRACT ACT, S. 73

ILLN. (n).

22 A. L. J. 558.

INTEREST ACT (XXXII OF 1839)—If exhaustive—Awarding interest discretionary.

The Interest Act is not exhaustive of all cases in which interest is allowed, 42 Mad. 601 followed. The award of interest, is more or less a matter of discretion of the Court and not a matter of law. (Wallace, J.) VENKATACHALAM CHETTIAR v. PONNUSWAMI AIVANGAR.

20 L. W. 195; (1924) M. W. N. 499 : 1925 Mad. 46 : 81 I. C. 536 : 47 M. L. J. 312.

———S. 1—Not exhaustive—Discretion of Court to award interest on claim. See CONTRACT ACT, S. 91.

47 M. L. J. 312.

INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES—Construction of Statutes.

1924 Lah. 155.

INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES.

———Fiscal Acts.

Fiscal Acts should be construed as far as possible in favour of the subject. (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX, C. P. v. DHARAM CHAND DALCHAND

1924 Nag. 24.

———Fiscal Statutes.

In fiscal statutes courts must look to the letter of the law and not introduce equitable considerations. All charges upon the subject must be imposed by clear and unambiguous language because in some degree they operate as penalties. (Raymond and Kennedy, A. J. Cs.) SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. SETH KHEMCHAND THAOOMAL.

78 I. C. 438 : 1925 S. 67.

———Fiscal Statutes—Strict construction.

Statutes which impose pecuniary burdens are subject to the rule of strict construction, and it is a well-settled rule that all charges upon the subject must be imposed in clear and unambiguous terms, as they tend to operate as penalties. The subject is not to be taxed unless the language of the statute clearly imposes the obligation. (Mookerjee and Chotzner, JJ.) THADDEUS NAHA-PIET v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

39 C. L. J. 209 : 81 I. C. 751 : 1924 Cal. 987.

———Fiscal Statutes—Technicalities—Construction.

Technicalities in a fiscal statute must be strained in favour of the subject and not against him. (Baker, O. J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) SETH BALKISHAN NATHANI v. COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX.

78 I. C. 572 : 1924 Nag. 153.

———Taxing enactment—Strict construction.

It is a well-known rule of construction of Taxing Acts that no one is to be taxed except by express words, Taxing statutes must be construed strictly and the Crown seeking the tax must bring the subject within the letter of the law. Otherwise the subject is free. There is no equitable construction admissible in fiscal statute. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) COMMISSIONER OF INCOME TAX, MYSORE v. NANDIDROOG MINES, LTD.

2 Mys. L. J. 41.

———Illustrations—How far a guide in construing a section—Repugnancy—Observations in (1916) 2 A. C. 575. See.

79 I. C. 1026.

———Interpretation of Statute—Illustrations—Value of.

If the meaning of the enactment itself were doubtful, a reference to the illustration in order to clear the meaning, would be justifiable. But, if there be any conflict between the illustrations and the main enactment, the illustrations must give way to the latter. (Mukerjee, J.) SAJID-UN-NISSA v. HIDAYAT HUSAIN.

22 A. L. J. 425 : L. R. 5 A. 291 : 80 I. C. 896 : 1924 A. 748.

———Includes—Scope of.

Where in an interpretation clause it is stated a term includes so and so, the meaning is that the term retains its ordinary meaning and the clause enlarges the meaning of the term and makes it include matters which the ordinary meaning would not include. (Raymond, A. J. C.) THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, BOMBAY v. FIRM OF CHANDULAL CHIMANLAL.

1924 S. 89.

INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES.

— English decisions.

Rules relating to procedure under an Indian Act should not be interpreted by reference to decisions relating to another statute in England even where the language of the two statutes is the same. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) Brojolar Banerjee v. Sharajubala Debi.

51 Cal. 745; 1924 Cal. 864.

— Indian enactments—Point under law of India—Reference to English law is unnecessary.

Where the point to be decided arises under the law of India reference to English law is unnecessary. (Lord Shaw.) The India General Navigation and Railway Co., Ltd. v. The Dekhari Tea Company.

28 C. W. N. 302;

(1924) M. W. N. 158; 19 L. W. 277;

34 M. L. T. (P.C.) 53; 22 A. L. J. 173; 51 Cal. 304;

26 Bom. L. R. 571; 10 O. & A. L. R. 591;

L. R. 5 P. C. 121; 51 I. A. 28 (P.C.);

1 O. W. N. 267; 80 I. C. 1038; 1924 P. C. 40.

INTERPRETATION—Statute law in India—English Law application of—Guiding principles.

The statute law in India is no doubt based on the principle of English law but in its application the Courts should follow the opinion of Indian Courts acquainted with Indian ways of life and thought and not of English Courts which deal with people widely different from Indians in their social habits and intellectual development. (Dalal, J. C. and Neave. A. J. C.) Syed Mohammad Hasan v. Syed Ali Hyder

1 O. W. N. 803; 10 O. & A. L. R. 1929.

— Grammatical Construction—Intention of legislature.

Where the ordinary grammatical construction of a word leads to an apparent contradiction of the purpose of the enactment, the rules of grammar must yield to common sense and a meaning consistent with the intention of the legislature should be given. (Raymond and Aston, A. J. Cs.) Hyderabad Municipality v. Fakhruddin.

25 Cr. L. J. 646; 81 I. C. 134; 1925 S. 90.

— Intention of the Legislature—Meaning of words used—Plain Construction.

1924 Lah. 65.

— "May"—What is ultra vires.

"Discretion" means when it is said that something is to be done within the discretion of the authorities that that something is to be done according to the rules of reason and justice not according to private opinion, according to law and not humour. It is to be not arbitrary, vague and fanciful but legal and regular. And it must be exercised within the limit to which an honest man competent to discharge his office ought to confine himself. (Shah, A. C. J. and Kemp, J.) Bhagchand Dagadusha v. Secretary of State for India.

48 Bom. 87;

26 Bom. L. R. 1; 1924 Bom. 1.

— New enactment—Effect on rights under the previous law—Common Law. Nadershaw v. Shrinibai.

1924 Bom. 264.

— Penal statutes—Strict construction to be adopted. Sec CRL. LAW AMENDMENT ACT, Ss 15 AND 17.

5 Lah. 1.

JUDGMENT.

— Punctuation marks—Value of. See INCOME-TAX ACT, S. 2 (6) and (7).

46 M. L. J. 42.

— Rights of appeal if affected by repealing statutes.

Under the ordinary law vested rights including rights to appeal and to demand a reference that have already accrued are not taken away by the repeal of any Act, but the procedure would be under the new Act. The rule regarding vested rights is not confined to substantive rights but extends equally to remedial rights or rights of action including right of appeal. 38 Mad. 101 Foll.; 41 Cal. 1125 Ref. (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) The Commissioner of Income-Tax, C. P. v. Dharam Chand Dal Chand.

1924 Nag. 24

— Retrospective operation—Statutes taking away Vested right. Mt. Lahini v. Bala.

77 I. C. 798.

— Retrospective operation—Intention to take away vested rights.

1924 Pat. 183.

— Rules of Court—Construction.

In construing a Rule of Court the Court has to abide by the words of the rule which has the force of law without attempting to reform it according to the supposed intentions of the legislature or attempting to exclude cases which fall within the express meaning of the rule in order to make the law reasonable. If the rule is not in conformity with the declared intentions of the Legislature, it is for the Legislature to amend or alter the rule. (Kennedy, J. C., Raymond and Bilaram, A. J. Cs.) Hiromal v. Hazarisingh.

78 I. C. 583; 1925 S. 49.

— Scope and object of section or Act—When to be considered.

Where a section, or an Act, is capable of two renderings or is said to mean less, or more, than it says, it is a maxim of interpretation that one must look at the scope and object of the enactment. (Walsh, Ryves and Mookerjee, JJ.) Mubarak Husain v. Ahmad.

L. R. 5 A 201;

22 A. L. J. 321; 46 A. 489; 1924 A. 328.

— Statement of objects and reasons—If may be looked into.

For construing an Act, a court may refer to the statement of objects and reasons. (Baker, J. C.) Meghraj v. Ramgopal.

78 I. C. 743;

20 N. L. R. 103; 1924 Nag. 249.

JOINT TENANCY—Incidents—Change of—Survivorship—If can be put an end to.

The incidents of a joint tenancy can be changed and a member of the joint tenancy may sever his connection by effecting partition of his interest and after this is done the rule of survivorship will not apply, but the ordinary rules of succession. (Jwala Prasad and Macpherson, JJ.) Gopal Ojha v. Ramadhir Singh.

82 I. C. 204; 1925 P. 228.

JUDGMENT—Events after suit. 75 I. C. 786.

— Suit on—Maintainability of C. P. Code, S. 47.

JUDGMENT.

No action lies in India on an executable judgment and the remedy of the judgment-creditor is by execution. But where a judgment creates a new obligation without providing for execution a suit on the judgment is maintainable. 6 B. H. C. R. 231; 9 C. W. N. 952 relied on. 27 M. 243 : 8 Bom. 1. 27 C. W. N. 58 ; 43 A. 170 distinguished. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) RAMASWAMI v. M. P. M. MUTHAYYA CHETTI. 21 L. W. 75 : 1925 Mad. 279 : 47 M. L. J. 829.

Validity—Officer refusing to exercise jurisdiction—Nullity. See C P CODE, O. 20, R. 2. 76 I. C. 170.

JURISDICTION—Agreement of parties—Effect. 75 I. C. 590.

Appeal beyond the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court deciding it—Decree, whether void—Consent of parties—Disposal of appeal when prejudicially affected by a change of forum—Suits Valuation Act (VII of 1887) S. 11—Effect of jurisdiction, when cured.

Under ordinary law parties cannot invest a Court with jurisdiction even by their agreement and the decree of a Court would be void when the valuation of a suit is beyond the jurisdiction of that Court. A change of forum by itself cannot affect the disposal of an appeal on its merits prejudicially. In every case it should be decided whether the change of forum has affected the disposal of the suit on its merits prejudicially or not. There is a clear case of prejudice when a litigant who is entitled to have the merits of his case considered on the facts by a Bench of two Judges of a High Court, has his appeal decided by a District Judge sitting singly specially as the word used in clause (b) of Section 11 of the Suits Valuation Act is 'disposal' and not 'decision'. Under S. 11 of the Suits Valuation Act the lack of jurisdiction is cured in case when there has been no prejudice in a Court wrongly assuming jurisdiction. (1923 46 M. L. 631; 45 M. L. J. 185; (1923) M. W. N. 489 16 L. W. 1. 73 I. C. 87, dissented from. 5 P. L. J. 397 : 1 Pat. L. T. 390 : 56 I. C. 762; 36 Bom. 628 and 43 Bom. 507 referred to. 24 Cal. 661, 2 O. C. 103, 16 O. C. 257 and 36 A. 58 distinguished. (Dalal J. C. and Wazir Hasan, A J. C.) SHEORAI SINGH v. MUST. PHULBASA KUER. 10 W. N. 900 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1314

Civil and Revenue Court—Partition—Sites appertaining to Zamindari share—Buildings on—Partition of.

In a suit for partition of certain building it was found that the buildings were on sites which were appurtenant to a Zamindari share. The defendant urged that the civil court could not be allowed to partition the buildings until the revenue courts had first partitioned the sites on which they stood. Held, that the contention of the defendant was untenable. Revenue courts are incompetent to partition buildings in proceedings under the Land Revenue Act. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) MULTAN SINGH v. PADHAN MAN SINGH. L. R. 5 A. 244 (Rev.) : 22 A. L. J. 744; 1924 A. 854 (1).

JURISDICTION.

Civil or Revenue Court—Appeal—Forum. 76 I. C. 521 (1).

Civil or Revenue Court—Occupancy holding—Suit for possession. 77 I. C. 630.

Civil and Revenue Court—Partition of Mahal—Right to share in a Mahal.

L. R. 5 O. 18; 10 O. & A. L. R. 146 : 77 I. C. 338; 1924 Oudh 149.

Civil and Revenue Courts—Suit for declaration of title and joint possession. NOHAR AHIR v. PRATAB AHIR. L. R. 5 A. 1 (Rev.). 1924 A. 231.

Criminal Court—Power to break open door. OVID v. SETH CHANDA BHAN. 76 I. C. 650 : 25 Cr. L. J. 218.

Civil Courts—Liability to pay Government revenue.

Where a plaintiff comes to court and asks for the fixing of the liability of defendants in regard to Government revenue for which the plaintiff is liable to the Collector, the suit is of a civil nature and there is no enactment which prevents a civil court from taking cognizance of it. (Das and Ross, JJ.) GULAB CHAND v. DUKHI RAI. 1924 P. 795.

Civil Courts—Powers of—Declaration only rights recognised after an Act of State but not even rights agreed up between high contracting parties—Documents granted by former Sovereign—Use of—Act of State.

When a territory is acquired by a sovereign state for the first time that is an Act of State. It matters not how the acquisition has been brought about it may be by conquest, it may be by cession following on treaty, it may be by occupation of territory hitherto unoccupied by a recognised ruler. In all cases the result is the same. Any inhabitant of the territory can only make good in the municipal courts established by the new sovereign such rights as that sovereign has through his officers, recognised. Such rights as he had under the rule of predecessors avail him nothing. Even if in a treaty of cession it is stipulated that certain inhabitants should enjoy certain rights that does not give a title to these inhabitants to enforce these stipulations in the municipal courts. The right to enforce remains only with the High Contracting Parties. Where Scindia of Gwalior ceded certain districts in exchange for other districts to the British Government and both parties agreed to maintain intact rights of private subjects, on a suit by certain persons for a declaration that they were Taluqdars,

Held, the whole object of enquiry is to see whether after cession, the British Government has conferred or acknowledged as existing the proprietary right which the plaintiff claimed. The view of the officials of the Government as to documents would influence them to make up their minds as to what title should be given or recognised, but even then it is what they did after investigation, not what they thought at investigation that is matter of moment; a mere general statement that existing rights would be upheld could never prevail against exact determinations. Any statement in general terms that rights will be respected must necessarily mean as these rights are on investigation determined by the Government officials. To suppose that by such general statements in a proclamation the Government renounced their right to acknowledge what they thought right and conferred on a Municipal Court the rights to adjudicate as upon rights which existed before cession, is to misapprehend the law as above set forth. (Lord Dunedin.) NAYAK VAJESINGJI v. SECY. OF STATE FOR INDIA. 26 Bom. L. R. 43 :

JURISDICTION.

22 A. L. J. 951: L. R. 5 P. C. 199:
4) J. L. J. 473: 82 I. C. 779: 43 Bom 613:
51 I. A. 357: 21 L. W. 28.
(1924) M. W. N. 694: 1924 P. C. 416:
47 M. L. J. 574

—Civil and Revenue Court—Allegations in plaint—Effect of.

The plaintiffs cannot be permitted to choose the jurisdiction of the Court by the nature of their allegations. The Court has to see the remedy which the plaintiffs really desire. (Dalal, J.) BIDIYA MISIR v. MT. DARYAI KUAR.

L. R. 5 A. 184 (Rev.): 79 I. C. 566 :
1924 A. 678 (1).

—Civil Courts—Municipal tax levied—Recovery of—Omission to take action under Municipal Act.

The fact that a person from whom municipal tax has been levied illegally has not resorted to the remedies open to him under the Municipal Act, does not deprive a Civil Court of its jurisdiction to entertain a suit for recovering the same from the municipal authorities. (Broadway, J.) THE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, PIND DADAN KHAN v. BHAGWAN SINGH. 1924 Lah. 619 —Civil and Revenue Court—Partition—Building Standing on Joint site.

A suit was brought for partition of certain buildings. The buildings were in a village and the sites on which they stood were appurtenant to a Zemindari share. H. Id., that the Civil Court could entertain the suit and it was not necessary that the parties should get the sites of the buildings partitioned in a Revenue Court before coming to the Civil Court. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) MULTAN SINGH v. PUDHAN MAN SINGH.

22 A. L. J. 744: L. R. 5 A. 244 (Rev.):
1924 A. 824 (1).

—Allotment of lands by the partition Court whether challengeable in a Civil Court—Non-compliance with directions given in tarz taqsum—Remedy open to the party aggrieved.

The final proceedings of the partition Court in the matter of the allotment of lands are conclusive and cannot be challenged in a Civil Court. If the directions given in the tarz-taqsum are not in any manner complied with in the actual carrying out of the partition, the party aggrieved has a right of appeal. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) BHAWANI PRASAD DUBE v. BAIJNATH SINGH.

10 W. N. 658: 10 O. & A. L. R. 1140.

—Civil Court—Settlement Court—Mortgages executed after annexation of Oudh.

The jurisdiction of the Courts of the first Regular Settlement was not confined to mortgages executed prior to the annexation of Oudh by the British Government in 1856 but also extended to those executed subsequently. (Dalal, J. C.) CHANDAN SINGH v. SHEO NARAIN SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 13: 10 O. L. J. 606: L. R. 5 O. 92: 80 I. C. 698: 1924 Oudh 245.

JURISDICTION.

—Civil or Revenue Court—Co-sharers—Dispossession of one by others—Suit for joint possession.

A tenant abandoned a holding and the parties who were co-sharers began to cultivate the land jointly but subsequently the defendants dispossessed the plaintiff. In a suit for joint possession by the plaintiff, held, that the plaintiff was entitled to sue for joint possession in the Civil Court and that there was nothing which restricted his right to a claim for a share of profits in the Revenue Court. (Sulaiman, J.) BASDEO PANDE v. MOHAN PANDE. L. R. 5 A. 113 (Rev.): 1924 A. 865 (2).

—Objection to—Irregular exercise of jurisdiction—Want of jurisdiction—Distinction between.

Where jurisdiction exists requiring only to be invoked in the right way the party who has invited or allowed the Court to exercise it in the wrong way cannot afterwards challenge the legality of the proceedings. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) SHAMA RAO v. VENKATAPPA. 2 Mys. L. J. 62.

—Objection to—Late stage—Duty of Court to notice it

The Court is bound to take notice of an objection to the jurisdiction, however, late in the day it may be raised, if it be that on the facts admitted or proved it is manifest that there is a defect of jurisdiction. (Lord Phillimore.) RAMLAL HARGOPAL v. KISAN CHANDRA.

7 N. L. J. 62: 20 N. L. R. 33: 34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 62 :
19 L. W. 549: 22 A. L. J. 386: 51 Cal. 361 :
26 Bom. L. R. 586: 51 I. A. 72: 1924 M. W. N. 79 :
1924 P. C. 95: L. R. 5 P. C. 216:
28 C. W. N. 977: 46 M. L. J. 628.

—Objection to—Want of jurisdiction—Irregular exercise of jurisdiction—Distinction between.

Jurisdiction in relation to the proceedings of a Court, means the authority of a Court to decide a particular cause or matter. Where the authority exists, the proceedings are binding on the parties until set aside by some process known to the law. They cannot be set aside or disregarded in a collateral proceeding. There is a fundamental distinction between the existence of jurisdiction and exercise of jurisdiction and those proceedings only can be declared null and void and therefore disregarded which have been conducted by a Court not having any authority to conduct them, but where the complaint is as to the mode in which the jurisdiction has been exercised, the appropriate procedure provided for the removal of the grievance must be pursued if the complainant is to have any remedy for the injury done or supposed to be done to him. (Das and Macpherson, JJ.) JAGDISHWAR NARAIN v. MD HAZIQ HUSSAIN. 1924 P. H. C. C. 142: 77 I. C. 851: 5 Pat. L. T. 473: 1924 P. 537.

JURISDICTION.

—Power of Court to give directions—
Disposal of suit winding up.

A Court which appoints a Receiver has authority to pass orders necessary to wind up his charge even though the suit has been disposed off. (Campbell, J.) GANGA RAM v. NATHA RAM 1924 Lah. 583.

—Revenue Court—Adverse possession—Plea of.

A plea of adverse possession, if raised in a Revenue Court has to be decided on the evidence adduced and there is nothing in law to prevent a Revenue Court going into the question; but the decision therein will not be conclusive in a Civil Court. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) SURAJ MAL v. MOHAMMAD TAQI 80 I. C. 650 : 1925 Oudh 153.

—Revenue Court—Partition proceedings—
Pendency of proceeding in Civil Court—Jurisdiction.

In a suit in a civil court for partition, the question of previous partition was pleaded and a declaration was asked for that the Revenue Court had no jurisdiction to proceed with the partition proceedings pending before it until the determination of the civil suit. Held, that the status quo ante should be maintained until the decision of the civil suit. This was a matter entirely discretionary with the Court and it did not appear that parties would be put to any inconvenience or be prejudiced on account of such a stay. By taking part in the partition proceedings one could not possibly confer jurisdiction to the Revenue Court. (Ross and Sen, JJ.) GURSHAI MAHTON v. SHEIKH MUHAMMAD SAIYAD 2 Pat. L. R. 266 (Civ.) : 1925 P. 137.

—Objection to—Small cause suit—Filed on the regular side—Subsequent objection—Estoppel.

Where the plaintiff files a suit of a small cause nature on the regular side of the Munsif's court and fails in that court and on appeal, he cannot in second appeal be permitted to plead want of jurisdiction in the Munsif's court to try the suit and claim to have the suit tried in a less regular way on the small cause side. (Dalal, J. C.) MAHARAJ DIN v. BALBHADDAR PRASAD 10 O & A. L. R. 1326.

—Pecuniary—Valuation of a set off.

The valuation of a set off for the purpose of jurisdiction must be taken as relating to the whole of the ascertained sum so pleaded and without reference to any portion of the Plaintiff's claim which the defendant admits. Brojendra Nath Dos v. Budge Budge Jakhmills 20 Cal. 527 followed. (Lentargue, J.) O. S. ABAHIMM COY. v. IBRAHIM EDRA BOY 2 Rang 422 : 1925 Rang. 65.

—Submission to—Court having jurisdiction—
Absence of formality immaterial.

76 I. C. 194.

—Suit disposed of—Power to levy court fee

After a suit or appeal is disposed of, the court becomes functus officio and cannot thereafter pass an order to ask a party to make up a defiency in court fee which was discovered only later. (Martineau, J.) ABDULLAH v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA 82 I. C. 588 (1) : 1925 Lah. 131 (1).

LAMBARDAR.

—Test of.

The jurisdiction of a Court to entertain and decide upon a cause of action depends upon the nature of the claim put forward by the plaintiff as his cause of action and the matter involved in it. It does not depend upon what the defendants may assert by way of defence. It may turn out at the trial that the subject of contest is not properly represented by the form in which the plaintiff has chosen to put his claim but it will not affect the jurisdiction under which the suit is brought by the plaintiff. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) LABHUA SAO v. CHATAN 20 N. L. R. 145 : 79 I. C. 161 : 1924 Nag. 275.

—Test of—Plaint allegations.

Jurisdiction in a case is governed by the allegations made in the plaint and not by the defence set up. (Pipon, J. C.) MIAN FEROZE SHAH v. SOHBAI KHAN 78 I. C. 423.

—Test of—How determined.

Jurisdiction does not depend on the result of the suit or on the defence set up but on the nature of the claim as brought. If a suit could be filed in a court only in the exercise of special jurisdiction, the plaintiff must state facts showing the existence of such special powers. (Kinkhede A. J. C.) HARBAN v. LACHMAN 82 I. C. 201.

KARACHI MUNICIPAL RULES AND BYE-LAWS

—Appendix D, Rule 6 (c)—Ultra vires—Terminal tax—Power to frame rules.

Rule 6 (c) of Appx. D of the Karachi Municipal Rules and Bye-laws is not ultra vires as it does not cut down an exemption allowed by the legislature but only lays down conditions under which a legislative exemption will be granted. (Kennedy, J. C. and Aston, A. J. C.) KARACHI MUNICIPALITY v. M. R. D'SA 80 I. C. 990.

LAMBARDAR—Suit in ejectment—Loss of office—Effect.

One of two lambardars can sue in ejectment on behalf of the proprietary body without joining the other and a decree can be passed in favour of the latter, even if the plaintiff happens to be removed from office pending suit. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) MAROTI KUNBI v. SITARAM 78 I. C. 722 : 1925 Nag. 32.

—Surrender of occupancy rights to—Claim of co-sharers—Laches.

Where occupancy rights are surrendered by a tenant to a lambardar the other co-sharers can recover their share on paying the proportionate charges of acquiring the right without any delay. The right is one in equity and if they are guilty of laches, they lose their rights. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) MAHADEO v. SONBA 78 I. C. 532 : 1925 Nag. 51.

—Tenancy by—Consideration—Right to challenge after long time.

A tenancy created by a lambardar twenty-five years before cannot be challenged except on the ground it is a mere paper transaction. The question of consideration in such a case is immaterial (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) RADHABAI v. PANDURANG, 78 I. C. 535 : 1925 Nag. 63.

LAMBARDAR.

— — — Who can be appointed as.

It is only persons having a proprietary interest that can be appointed lambardar and when that capacity is lost, they cease to be lambardars. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) MOTILAL GULABSAO v. GANPATRAO, 1924 Nag. 211.

LAND ACQUISITION — Compensation — Toka land — Compensation for interest of tenants — How fixed. 77 I. C. 137.

LAND ACQUISITION ACT, S. 9 — Service of notice — Three brothers — Service on one, if sufficient.

It is incumbent on the Collector in a land acquisition proceeding to serve a notice upon each of the persons interested and it is not sufficient to serve a notice merely upon one of three brothers each of whom was equally interested in the compensation to be awarded. Nor can it be said that by reason of their relationship one brother was a person authorised to act for or on behalf of his brother. The mere fact that one of the brothers accepts notice on behalf of all does not raise a presumption that he had any authority to do so (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) NITAI DUTT v. SECY. OF STATE FOR INDIA, 3 Pat. 304: 81 I. C. 676 : 1924 P. 608.

LAND ACQUISITION ACT (I OF 1894), S. 18 — Acquisition of land — Compensation — Sub-tenancy — Apportionment.

A sub-tenant is interested in the land and his interest is capable of valuation. He is consequently a person entitled to have an adjudication upon the question of the inadequacy or otherwise of the compensation awarded. A tenant or subtenant even though his interest is not transferable except with the sanction of the Superior Landlord has an interest which entitles him to be heard upon the question of adequacy of compensation. 28 C. 146; 28 C. 152; 17 C. 144; 7 Cal. 585; 40 C. 64; 31 C. L. J. 65 Ref. (Mookerjee and Chotener, JJ.) JAGADISWAR SANYAL v. COLLECTOR OF GOALPARA, 39 C. L. J. 574.

— — — S. 18 — Apportionment of compensation — Question of genuineness of will — Stay of proceedings pending decision of Probate Court — Desirability of.

In a land acquisition case several Mahomedan claimants applied for reference to the Court basing their claims on a will. An application was made for stay of the land acquisition case proceedings pending the decision of the High Court in proceedings for obtaining probate of a will whose genuineness was disputed. The Court refused to stay proceedings and dismissed the reference for non-production of the will.

Held, that the court ought not to have dismissed the reference without giving the claimant an opportunity to secure the production of the original will which had been lodged in the High Court.

The proceedings before the Land Acquisition tribunal should be stayed pending the disposal of the probate proceedings by the High Court. In the first place it is not the primary function of the improvement tribunal to investigate controverted questions of title and adjudicate upon testamentary disputes. In the second place, there is every likelihood of a more comprehensive and searching investigation of the matters in issue by the High Court in its testamentary jurisdiction than by the tribunal. Lastly the probate Court, can issue citations upon all persons claiming to have any interest in the estate of the deceased who may not be parties in the apportionment proceedings in the tribunal. (Mookerjee and Chotener, JJ.) SYED ABDUL ALIM v. BADARUDDIN, 28 C. W. N. 295 : 1924 Cal. 757.

LAND ACQUISITION ACT, S. 18.

— — — Ss. 18 and 19 — Award — Objections to — Fresh objections on other grounds after reference — Permissibility

It cannot be laid down that where an objection has been taken under one of the headings mentioned in S. 18 of the Land Acquisition to the Collector's award and a reference is made in consequence it is nevertheless open to the claimant to attack the award upon an objection falling under some other heading. The questions of measurement and compensation are distinct. But fresh objections belonging to the same category may be allowed to be gone into. 12 C. L. J. 489; 30 B. 341 Ref. Even if a fresh objection of a different category is entertainable, the court is entitled to reject it on the ground of delay. (Pearson and Graham, JJ.) PROMOTHA NATH MULLICK v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA, 40 C. L. J. 105; 82 I. C. 3 : 1924 Cal. 1036 (2).

— — — S. 18 — Failure of landlord to demand reference — Tenant obtaining extra — Right, of party. 75 I. C. 203 (1).

— — — S. 18 — Market value — Assessment of — Sale deeds — Relevancy of.

In considering the market value of land acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, the sale deed which is nearest in date to the acquisition should be taken as the standard. (Das and Ross, JJ.) SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. MANMATHA NATH DEY, 2 Pat. L. R. 268 : 1925 P. 129.

— — — S. 18 — Mortgaged property — Acquisition of — Mortgagee's rights and remedies in case of — Payment of compensation money to mortgagee — Mortgagee's remedy in case of — Suit to recover money from Crown — Maintainability — Cause of action — Costs awarded to mortgagee in suit on mortgage — Crown's liability for.

Where property subject to a mortgage is acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, the Crown can make its award giving the compensation money to the mortgagor, the person in possession and the ostensible owner of the property, and is not bound to recognize the mortgagee as such at all. The remedy of the mortgagee in such a case is to apply under S. 18 of the Act to have the matter referred to the Civil Court. Where he fails to do so and the compensation money is paid to the mortgagor, his only remedy is to sue under S. 31 of the Act the mortgagor to whom the money was wrongly paid. He has no cause of action against, and cannot sue, either the Secretary of State or the Collector.

LAND ACQUISITION ACT, S. 18.

Costs awarded to the mortgagee in a suit brought by him on the mortgage can, in no event, be recovered from the Crown. (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. KUPPUSAMI CHETTY.

(1924) M. W. N. 138 : 1924 Mad. 521 :
33 M. L. T. (H. C.) 272 : 78 I. C. 52 :
46 M. L. J. 36.

—S. 18—Reference to Court—Order refusing—Propriety—Revision against order—Right of—Civil Procedure Code, S. 115—Government of India Act, S. 107—Effect—Arbitrary refusal to refer—Remedy in case of—Necessity—Amendment of S. 18—Court—Court subordinate to High Court—Acting judicially—Meaning.

The High Court has no power under S. 115, C. P. Code or S. 107 of the Government of India Act to revise the order of a Collector acting under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act refusing to refer to the Court an application under S. 18 of the same Act by a person interested requiring him to refer the matter for the determination of the court.

Per Chief Justice and Ramesam, J.:—The Act should be amended so as to give a remedy to the subject in respect of possible arbitrary acts of Land Acquisition officers in declining to refer under S. 18.

Per Chief Justice:—The Officer acting as Collector under the Land Acquisition Act decided that certain land to be acquired by the Government was Government land, and that, therefore, no compensation was payable to anybody. One of the persons claiming to be interested in the land asked the Collector under S. 18 to refer the matter to the District Judge; but the Collector refused to do so on the strength of the decisions that the land was Government land. Held, that the Collector was wholly wrong in the course he took.

Discussion of the questions whether the Collector exercising his functions under S. 18 acts (1) judicially; (2) as a Court, and (3) as a Court subordinate to the High Court. (Schwabe, C. J., Philips and Ramesam, JJ.) ABDUL SATTAR SAHIB v. SPECIAL DY. COLLECTOR, VIZAGAPATAM HARBOUR ACQN.

19 L. W. 445 :
34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 18 : (1924) M. W. N. 224 :
1924 Mad. 442 : 47 Mad. 357 : 46 M. L. J. 209.

—S. 23—Acquisition of land by Government—Permanent tenancy—Condition as to resumption without Compensation—Government's right as landlord—Tenancy at will—Valuation of.

Respondents held certain property under a grant made in their favour by the Collector in 1881. The settlement was permanent but a clause was added at the end of the lease in the following terms: "If any portion or the whole of this land be required for the Government, we shall give up the same without any compensation." The Government, as landlord, never exercised its power to resume the land by virtue of this clause.

The Government proceeded to acquire the land under the Land Acquisition Act for the purposes of the Calcutta Corporation. A question arose as regards the apportionment of compensation and the Land Acquisition Officer awarded the capitalised value of the revenue as compensation and awarded one-eighth of the amount to the Government as landlord. Held, that the award was fair. Even a tenancy-at will may have an appreciable market value. (Mookerjee and Rankin JJ.) SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. BHOY KUMAR ADDY.

LAND ACQUISITION ACT, S. 23.

40 C. L. J. 303 : 1925 Cal. 224.

—S. 23—Compensation—Right to—Permanent tenant holding on condition from Government—Acquisition for the Corporation of a City.

Land was permanently given to the appellants by Government subject to one condition that, if it or a part thereof was required for Government it must be returned. The Government proceeded to acquire the land under the Land Acquisition Act for the purposes of a Municipal Corporation. Held, that the Government was claiming the land not under the terms of the lease as landlord but under the Land Acquisition Act and therefore the appellants were entitled to compensation. The stipulation in the lease that the appellants by Government for resuming the land whenever required did not make the tenancy one at will. (Woodroffe and Cuming JJ.) BEJOY KUMAR ADDY v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

40 C. L. J. 301.

—S. 23—Existence of right of way does not destroy ownership—Less of frontage injuriously affects back—Construction of police lines—Superior holders' interests. 1924 Bom. 54.

—S. 23—Market value—Fixing of—Consideration—Prices of adjacent lands—Special adaptability—Offers—Evidentiary value of.

In finding out the market value of land for purposes of the Land Acquisition Act, the standard to be taken is that of an owner willing to sell and a purchaser willing to buy. Evidence of genuine sales at the date of notification in respect of the same land or portions thereof or precisely parallel lands would be the ideal that could be put in. The adaptability of agricultural lands as building sites can be taken into consideration, and the owner is entitled to the most lucrative and advantageous way in which such land can be laid out at the time of acquisition. Too much importance cannot be attached to evidence of offers in ascertaining the market value. (Raymond and Bilgram, A.J.C.) GOBINDRAM VORHOMAL v. ASSISTANT COLLECTOR OF SHIKARPUR.

79 I. C. 376.

—S. 23—Market value of land—Opinion of experts—Weight due to.

On a question of valuation of land compulsorily acquired by Government, though the opinion of experts is admissible in evidence, the opinion of brokers is of no value, where they give no data in support of their opinions. 11 C. W. N. 875, 577; 10 Bom. L. R. 907, 913; 33 B. 325. Ref. Broadway and Ffords, JJ. SECRETARY OF STATE v. SHRIMATI SARLA DEVI.

5 Lah. 227 : 79 I. C. 74 : 1924 Lah. 548.

—S. 23—Market value—What is—Considerations in fixing—Speculation.

48 Bom. 190 : 1924 Bom. 161.

LAND ACQUISITION ACT, S. 24.

—S. 24 (5)—Acquisition of land—Compensation—Indirect benefit accruing from other lands acquired.

The basis on which compensation for lands taken is to be assessed is the value of the lands to the owner as it existed at the date of the notice to take and not their value, when taken, to the promoters.

All advantages which land possesses present or future in the hands of the owner may be taken into consideration and the owner is entitled to have the price assessed in reference to those advantages which will give the land the greatest value. The value of an owner's interest is not properly compensated by assessing the amount of pecuniary benefits obtained by past user in disregard of possible benefits in the future. The probability of a more profitable future use is one such advantage which may be taken into consideration. Thus land which may probably be used for building purposes must not be valued on the same basis as purely agricultural land. But although prospective value is a necessary element in the assessment of compensation, such value must be entirely excluded where it would arise from the construction of the particular works authorized by the Act which gives compulsory powers.

It is recognized principle to exclude from the assessment of compensation any enhancement or diminution in value consequent on the construction of works authorized by special Act under which the assessment is made. (Moorejee and Rankin, JJ.) MANMATHA NATH MULLICK v. SECY. OF STATE FOR INDIA. 28 C. W. N. 461 : 83 I. C. 442 : 1924 Cal. 574.

—S. 54—Order of District Judge rejecting application for revision of Collector's award—Appeal

Where a district Judge rejects an application for revision of the Collector's award in a land acquisition case, his order is one confirming the award in substance and is therefore appealable under S. 54 of the Land Acqn. Act. (Miller, C.J. and Foster, J.) NITAI DUTT v. SECY. OF STATE FOR INDIA. 3 Pat. 304 : 81 I. C. 676 : 1924 P. 608.

—S. 55—Sale of land—Acquisition for Railway—Lands not subsequently required—Re-sale by Government without public auction through Tahsildar.

Certain lands were acquired by Government for a railway company and subsequently found not to be required for the purpose. The lands so relinquished were sold by the Tahsildar without public auction. Held, that the Tahsildar had power to sell the lands under the orders of the Collector and the non-observance of the rules as to sale of lands by public auction did not vitiate the sale by the Tahsildar in the absence of any fraud or misrepresentation or mistake (Mudhavan Nair, J.) KARAPURATHIRAKKAM RAMA KURUP v. RYAU KURUP. 20 L. W. 608 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 122 : 1924 Mad. 911 (2).

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

LANDLORD AND TENANT—Abadi—Tenant at will. NIHALA v. SHAHAB DIN. 76 I. C. 1013.

—Abandonment of holding—Proof of—Death of Tenant.

Where a person who would be entitled by succession to a share in a holding never made any claim he must be held to have abandoned it. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) BHAGWATE PRASAD v. BAQAR ALI. L. R. 5 A. 238 (Rev.).

—Abandonment of holding—Grant to another—Rights of parties.

Where a tenant abandons his holding and the landlord lets it out to another the old tenant cannot get into possession without the landlord's consent. The new tenant if forcibly ejected can sue for possession. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) SYED ZAHUR HASAN v. SHAKER BANOO. 78 I. C. 189 : 1925 A. 29.

—Abandonment—Occupancy rights—Claim of proprietary rights at settlement.

The summary settlement of a village was made with the plaintiff's predecessor who claimed under-proprietary rights :

Held, that this amounted to an abatement of the plea of occupancy rights. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) CHANDRABHAN PRATAP SINGH v. SHEO BAHAL SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 72.

—Abandonment—Proof—Leaving village without arranging for cultivation.

The new tenant has in order to prove abandonment, to prove not only that the former tenant had left the village but also that he had done so without making arrangements for the cultivation. (Fremantle, S. M.) HIRA CHAUDHRI v. TIRBENI KAHAR. L. R. 5 A. 106 (Rev.).

—Abandonment by tenant—Benefit of, enures to all the landlords

Where a land occupied by a tenant is given up by him it enures for the benefit of all the co-sharers entitled to it. (Sulaiman, J.) BASDEO PANDE v. MOHAN PANDE. L. R. 5 A. 113 (Rev.) : 1924 All. 865 (2).

—Abandonment—Tenant leaving village leaving holding in the hands of a near relation—Death—Presumption—Evidence of.

The recorded tenant of a holding left the village and the sub-tenant who was a member of his biradar continued in possession of the holding. There was no evidence that the sub-tenant took the holding direct from the Zamindar. Held, that it could not be said that the tenant had abandoned the village and his name could not be struck off unless he was proved to be dead. Death could not be presumed in the absence of clear proof that he had not been heard of for seven years. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) JAGDEO SINGH v. KAWALPAT CHAUBE. L. R. 5 A. 9 (Rev.).

—Adverse possession—When possession of tenant is adverse. See ADVERSE POSSESSION 79 I. C. 59.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— — — Agricultural village—Right of tenant to sell house

A tenant of an agricultural village has no right to sell his house together with the right of residence. He can only sell the materials. In this respect there is no distinction between a sale to another tenant and a sale to a stranger. (Daniels, J.) MT. CHAMPA KUNWAR v. TULSHI RAM.

L. R. 5 A. 140 (Rev.) 79 I. C. 954 : 1924 A. 921.

— — — Arrears of revenue—Sale—Default by proprietor.

77 I. C. 564.

— — — Bhurgdar—Status of—Servant cultivator—Not a tenant, See PROV. SM. C. C. ACT. SCH. I, ART. 8.

40 C. L. J. 197.

— — — Cess—Arrears of rent—Amount due.

Where a certain amount is recorded as payable as "Raqqam Siwai" by the tenant at the last settlement, the amount is recoverable from tenants in a suit for arrears of rent. (Mukerji, J.) NEMA SINGH v. KULSUM-UN-NISSA.

L. R. 5 A. 209 (1) (Rev.)

— — — Cess—Artisan cess abadi. MT. BAKSHI v. HYDER KHAN.

75 I. C. 270.

— — — Consent of Zemindar—Long possession by tenant.

Mere length of possession of land by a cultivator is not sufficient to raise a presumption of the Zemindar's consent. (Burn, J.) MAHANT KUNJ BEHARI DAS v. BIRWA MEHNAUN.

L. R. 5 O. 31.

— — — Contract of tenancy—Prohibition against sale—Prohibition against mortgage—Pre-emption.

Under the terms of an agreement entered into between a Zemindar and his tenant the latter was permitted to convert his occupancy holding into a grove on condition that the zemindar was to be the owner of three fourths of the grove while the tenant was to be the owner of the remaining one fourth. The tenant's ownership was restricted in several ways and he was not given liberty to sell his shares to any person except to the zemindar. Held, that the Zemindar was not obliged to give the tenant leave to plant trees. If he did give leave, it is perfectly open to him to make that permission subject to conditions which the tenant himself accepted and which were embodied in a binding agreement. The agreement giving the Zemindar a right to get a sale of the share of the tenant is very similar to an agreement giving a right of pre-emption. The court must construe the contract which the parties have made and is not at liberty to make a fresh contract on their behalf because it thinks that they might have intended to lose certain things which they have not expressed in their written agreement. Sale and mortgage are two quite different things and a prohibition against one does not necessarily import prohibition against the other. It is impossible to maintain the view that the tenant remained an occupancy tenant notwithstanding the agreement as to the planting of the groves. 43 All. 606 referred to. (Daniels, J.) GULZARI LAL v. HAR PRASAD.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

L. R. 5 A. 260 (Rev.) : 1925 A. 97.

— — — Contract of tenancy—Threshing floor—Right to—Onus—Presumption.

Where it is proved that a piece of land had been held by the tenant and used by him for the purposes of threshing corn there is a presumption that he held the land as a part of his contract of tenancy. The burden of proving that the land claimed as threshing floor was not held in fact as a part of the contract of tenancy is on the landholder. (Sulaiman and Mukerjee, JJ.) JAGESHWAR PRASAD v. SURAJ BALI SINGH.

L. R. 5 A. 253 (Rev.) : 1925 All. 16.

— — — Covenant against alienation—Forfeiture clause—Alienation of portion of lease property—Effect of—Principles of construction.

A lease deed contained a clause for forfeiture if the rights under the term were alienated. Some of the items comprised in the lease were alienated and the landlord claimed to enforce his right of forfeiture. Held, it could not be enforced as the clause did not refer to partial alienations but only to alienation as a whole. A clause for forfeiture must always be construed strictly as against the person who is trying to take advantage of it and effect should be given to it only so far as it rendered absolutely necessary to do so by the wording of the clause. A covenant against assignment does not prevent from assigning for any part of the terms or from assigning any portion of the premises and unless the covenant is expressly worded to exclude a partial alienation of the premises, a partial alienation will not work forfeiture. (Krishnan, J.) VENKATRAMANA BHATTA v. KISHNA BHATTA.

20 L. W. 294 :

(1924) M. W. N. 668 : 1925 Mad. 57 :

35 M. L. T. 90 (H. C.) : 31 I. C. 1006 :

47 M. L. J. 307.

— — — Covenant for renewal—Assignee from tenant—Right to enforcement—Stipulation as to rent being increased—Vague and unenforceable. NAVA KISHORE DAS v. MADAN MOHAN DAS GOSWAMI.

1924 Cal 346 (2).

— — — Death of tenant—Heir holding over—Zemindar's failure to eject in a reasonable time—Effect of.

Where on the death of a tenant, the landlord takes no steps to eject the heir in a reasonable time, the latter must be held to have been admitted. When he is admittedly a statutory tenant he cannot be ejected by notice. (Fremantle, S.M.) MD. ZAKI v. SUKHAI.

L. R. 5 O. 164 (Rev.)

— — — Easement—If can be acquired by prescription.

1924 A. 159.

— — — Ejectment—Agreement by tenant to pay fair rent—Compromise of disputes—Zemindar estopped from ejecting tenant.

With reference to land which was formerly unrented and in which the tenant claimed occupancy right a compromise between the Zemindar and the tenant was filed to the effect that the tenant had agreed to pay Re. 1-8-0 rent and

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

5 annas per biswa for land which might accrue by alluvion and in return the Zemindar agreed not to eject him as long as he paid rent. The order of the Court was the defendant has agreed to a rent of Re. 1-8-0 and the plaintiff withdrew the suit for ejectment which was dismissed. In a subsequent suit by the Zemindar.

Held, that the compromise being neither registered nor incorporated in the decree of the Court was not admissible in evidence and did not bind the Zemindar. The defendant having agreed to pay a fair rent for the land which he was bound to do in any case and there being no consideration for the grant of occupancy rights, the proceedings did not estop the Zemindar from subsequently ejecting the tenant. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) BADRI NARAIN v. NAND BAHADUR. L. R. 5 A. 100 (Rev.).

—————Ejectment—Building erected by tenant—Knowledge of landlord—Renewal of buildings—Acquiescence.

The plaintiff-appellant was the Zemindar of a village and the defendant respondents were two blacksmiths living in the same village. The plaintiff sued to eject the defendants from a saiban, a dalan and a shed on the allegation that these were recent constructions upon his land. The defendants were tenants and residents in the village in which they had a house. They carried on business as blacksmiths there.

The trial court found that one of these structures was an old one and dismissed the suit in respect of it but decreed the blacksmiths' ejectment from the two others. The blacksmiths appealed to the lower appellate which dismissed the whole of the suit holding in effect that constructions similar to these had existed for some twelve years for the convenience of these blacksmiths upon the sites on which they now stood, and the only conclusion to be drawn from the fact that the blacksmiths worked in the village was that these constructions were for their use in carrying on their trade or business or in some way necessary to it. Held, affirming the decision of the lower appellate Court that as the original constructions had been made many years ago, the obvious presumption was that the Zemindar not only had acquiesced in their having been made but accepted them as a reasonable appurtenance of the blacksmith's dwellings and when those constructions came to an end, the blacksmiths had every right to replace them as they were before. (Stuart, J.) ISH NARAIN UPADHIA v. RAMESHAR LOHAR. 22 A. L. J. 244 : L. R. 5 A. 91 (Rev.) : 78 I. C. 164 : 1924 A. 433.

—————Ejectment—Cause of action at a later date—Admission to occupancy rights.

The plaintiff was ejected by the defendant on 31-3-21. In an ejectment suit filed in the Civil Court, by the defendant the date of the cause of action was shown to have arisen in the beginning of January 1922.

Held, that the statement in the Civil Court plaint did not amount to an admission that the defendant had readmitted the plaintiff to occupancy rights (Burn, J. M.) CHHEDA v. SAHU RAM GHULAM. L. R. 5 All. 317 (Rev.).

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

—————Ejectment—Encroachment—Tenancy—Remedy of landlord.

If a person without the consent of the Zemindar is holding land not included in his rented holding without paying rent therefor, the Zemindar may assert his right at any time and either eject him or have the land assessed to rent. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) SHEO DIAL v. GOURI SHANKAR. L. R. 5 A. 95 (Rev.) : 10 J. L. J. 628.

—————Ejectment—Licensee from Zemindar—Erection of buildings—Estoppel.

In a suit by the transferees from a Zemindar to eject the defendants from a plot of land it was found that by consent of the Zemindars for more than 12 years the defendants were permitted to occupy the plot as licensees for storing manure, pressing sugarcane, etc., and had in pursuance of the license erected constructions of a permanent character. Held, that the defendants must be left in undisturbed enjoyment of the land as licensees. (Lindsay, J.) NATHU v. TULSI RAM. L. R. 5 A. 98 (Rev.) : 78 I. C. 316 : 1924 A. 434.

—————Ejectment—Notice of—Claim of underproprietary or occupancy rights.

Plff. claimed underproprietary or occupancy rights in the alternative in a suit to contest a notice of ejectment. Held, that the court was bound to decide whether plaintiff had underproprietary rights and the suit could not be disposed of merely on the finding that the plaintiff had shown that he was not a thekadar. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAJA BHAGWAN BAKHSH SINGH v. JANG BAHADUR SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 123.

—————Ejectment—Notice of—Suit to contest—Acquisition of occupancy right—Agreement if admissible in evidence.

In a suit to contest a notice of ejectment the mukhtear-am of the Zemindar applied to the court stating that the tenant had acquired occupancy rights in a certain plot and that the notice of ejectment should be cancelled. Held, that the agreement not being registered was inadmissible in evidence and that the tenant not having paid any premium and the rent not having been enhanced, there was no estoppel against the Zemindar. (Fremantle, S. M.) BINDSHWARI PRASAD v. PHULCHAND. L. R. 5 A. 180 (Rev.).

—————Ejectment—Recognition of occupancy rights—Estoppel.

Where the sister's son of a former tenant having no right to succeed to the tenancy was recognised by the zemindar as occupancy tenant, this is equivalent to the conferment of occupancy rights and he could not be ejected. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) KUNWAR BAHADUR v. SHAMBHU DAYAL. L. R. 5 A. 165 (Rev.).

—————Ejectment—Relationship of parties—Mortgage—Unregistered document—If can be pleaded.

In a suit in ejectment, the defendant can set up even an unregistered mortgage deed to show that he was in possession as mortgagee and not as tenant. (Sulaiman, J.) KESRI SINGH v. CHANNO. 1924 A. 837.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— Ejectment—Status of tenant to be ascertained.

Where a person contests a notice of ejectment describing him as an ordinarily tenant on the ground that he has superior rights, the Court should ascertain and decree definitely the rights which it finds the plaintiff entitled to (Fremantle, S.M. and Burn, J.M.) RAJA BHAGWAN BAKHSH SINGH v. MATHURA SHUKUL L.R. 5 O. 108 (Rev.) 10 O. & A. L. R. 717. 11 O. L. J. 656.

— Ejectment—Sub tenancy—Admission of tenancy up to a certain time—Subsequent denial—Effect of.

In a suit by the plaintiff to eject the defendant as his sub-tenant the plaintiff's position as a tenant in-chief up to a certain time was not denied by the defendant. At the time of the institution of the suit the plaintiff's name was still recorded in the papers. Held, that the burden was on the defendant to show that the plaintiff's tenancy had come to an end in a manner recognized by law. The mere fact that the plaintiff had not cultivated the land for 8 years raised no presumption that he had ceased to be a tenant of the land (Fremantle, S.M. and Burn, J.M.) MUTSADDI LAL v. GAJOLA. L. R. 5 A. 58 (Rev.).

— Ejectment—Sub tenant—Claim by third person—Payment of rents—Evidence as to.

In a suit by an exproprietary tenant to eject a sub-tenant from some of the plots comprised in the holding, a third person intervened and asked to be impleaded on the ground that the plaintiff had lost all rights to the holding by long disposssession and that he was in possession and had sub-let the plots to the defendant. Held, that the plaintiff had failed to show that he was an exproprietary tenant and that he was ever in possession of exproprietary rights. (Fremantle, S.M. and Burn, J.M.) RAGHUNATH v. KHUMAN. L. R. 5 A. 150 (Rev.).

— Ejectment—Sub-tenant—Mortgage from Zemindar—Plea of—Duty of Court.

Plff. a tenant sued to eject the defendant as sub-tenant. Defendant pleaded that he held the land as mortgagee of the Zemindar. The Court decided the case on the single issue whether the defendant was a sub-tenant of the plaintiff. Held, that it was not sufficient for the decision of the case and it was necessary for the Court first to decide the defendant's contention that he held as mortgagee of the Zemindar. (Fremantle, S.M. and Burn, J.) RAM JAS OJHA v. RAM PALAT OJHA. L. R. 5 A. 330 (Rev.).

— Ejectment—Thekadar—Lease—Proof of.

Suits to contest notices of ejectment must not be dismissed on vague findings as this leaves the door open for future litigation. A theka cannot be proved by the production of a kabuliyat. (Fremantle, S.M. and Burn J.M.) RAJA BHAGWAN BAKSH SINGH v. SHEO DAYAL MISRA. L. R. 5 O. 195.

— Ejectment—Two brothers one of whom accepted lease from Zemindar.

One of the two brothers forming a cultivating partnership took from the Zemindar a seven years' lease in common interest to avoid ejectment. In a suit by the Zemindar for ejectment, Held, that lease was binding on both the brothers and both were liable to ejectment on its termination (Fremantle, S. M.) PARTAB v. BALDEO DAS. L. R. 5 A. 102 (Rev.).

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— Ejectment—Underproprietor—Thekadar—Status of.

In a suit to contest a notice of ejectment as thekadar, plaintiff claimed that he possessed rights superior to those of a thekadar and the Court decided merely that the plaintiff had such rights. Held that it was an imperfect finding and that the Court ought to have found the status definitely. (Burn, J.M.) RAJA BHAGWAN BAKHSH SINGH v. RAM RATAN, L. R. 5 O. 106 (1) (Rev.).

— Ejectment—Village shopkeeper—Rebuilding shop.

A member of a village community who is allowed to keep a shop is in permissive occupation of the site and the mere fact that he puts up a masonry building on it does not render him liable to ejectment. (Piggott, J.) UDAL v. GULAB RAI 1924 A. 727.

— Entry of one's name as "Sharik Kasht" in a rent receipt—Whether amounts to partnership in tenancy.

Partnership in cultivation is by no means equivalent to partnership in tenancy and the entry of one's name as "Sharik Kasht" in the receipt is not sufficient to prove that an agreement existed between the Zamindars and tenants in regard to their position in the holding. (Burn, J.M.) MT. DALLO v. NEHAL SINGH. L. R. 5 All 310 (Rev.).

— Escheat—Onus of proof—Lands granted by Zamindar—Right of the Crown.

1924 Pat. 168.

— Expiry of lease—Duty of tenant to restore possession—Covenant, implied in a lease.

A covenant by the lessee to give vacant possession to his landlord after the expiry of the lease is implied in every lease. A notice given to the landlord by the tenant that he had vacated the demised premises and that the landlord should take possession of the same is a sufficient intimation of relinquishment so as to put the owners in a position to resume possession. (Moti Sagar, J.) RAM GOPAL BHAGWAN DAS v. PARMESHWRI DAS. 6 Lah. L. J. 197 : 1924 Lah. 474.

— Expropriatory right—Abandonment of—Usufructuary mortgage—Mortgagee in possession—Subsequent dispossession—Suit for restoration.

Defendant executed in favour of the plaintiff a usufructuary mortgage of certain sir and Khudkast plots and subsequently allowed plaintiff to remain in actual possession of the land without claiming any right as an expropriatory tenant for 6 years. The defendant thereafter paid a portion of the mortgage money and with the consent of the plaintiff took possession of a portion of the land proportionate to the amount paid up. Later on defendant dispossessed plaintiff of the remaining portion of the land. In a suit for possession by the plaintiff the defendant set up a claim of expropriatory right. Held, that in the circumstances of the case the expropriatory rights which arose in favour of the defendants must be considered to have been abandoned and the plaintiff was entitled to be restored to possession. (Daniels and Dalal, JJ.) TOLAI MISSIR v. MUNE. SHAR KOERI. 22 A. L. J. 463 : L. R. 5 A. 167 (Rev.). 1924 A. 737.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— Expropriatory rights—Accrual of—Oudh Laws Act, S. 25—Sale of property by one, whether binding on the other—Effect of continuous possession.

C and S were brothers owning a proprietary holding. S while joining the army gave a power of attorney in favour of his brother. C mortgaged and then sold the equity of Redemption in favour of his Zamindars. Subsequently S returned from the army and cultivated the land, previously cultivated by his brother. In an ejectment suit by the Zamindar, against S, calling him a trespasser,

Held, dismissing the suit, (1) that both the brothers were bound by the sale, (2) and that one of the brothers having been continuously in possession of the land, under S. 25, O. dh Laws Act, they were entitled to occupancy rights. (Fremantle, S.M. and Burn, J. M.) RAM KARAN v. SUFAJ PAL. L. R. 5 O. 159 (Rev.)

— Expropriatory rights—Effect of failure to claim.

Expropriatory rights do not lapse by failure on the tenant's part to claim them. (1) It may be claimed so long as the expropriator retains possession of the holding. (2) Expropriatory rights can be acquired on land which is either 'Sir' or has been held by the expropriator, as khuckasht for 12 years. (Fremantle, S. M.) GANGA SAHAI v. DWARKA SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 157 (Rev.)

— Forfeiture—Covenant against alienation—Sale by lessee of his interest—Lessee continuing in possession under lease from his vendee—Effect of forfeiture.

Where a tenant holding under a permanent lease which contained a clause for forfeiture in case of alienation transferred his interest in favour of a third person and again took a lease from the transferee and continued in possession, held, that the permanent lease was forfeited by means of the alienation and that the effect of the forfeiture was to determine the original lease as well as the under-lease. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Kumaraswami Sastri, J.) GOPALA KUDUVA v. SHEIK MAHOMED HAMZA SAHIB. 19 L. W. 545 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 339 : 1924 M. W. N. 477 : 1924 Mad. 776.

— Forfeiture—Decree for payment of rent and forfeiture on default—Amount increased on appeal—Effect on forfeiture clause in decree.

Where forfeiture is sought to be enforced by a landlord under the terms of a decree, he should prove conclusively that the decree which he is executing has given him that right. The Court ought to be in favour of the tenant against forfeiture rather than in the landlord's favour in such cases. The first Court decreed a suit for enforcing a forfeiture and for arrears of rent by holding that if the tenant paid the arrears within one month there was to be no forfeiture. The tenant paid the rent decreed but on appeal the amount of rent was enhanced and nothing was said about forfeiture. Held, that the forfeiture clause was not part of the appellate decree and forfeiture should not be enforced. (Krishnan and Waller, JJ.) AKKAMMA SHETTATI v. CHANDRA SHETTI. (1924) M. W. N. 92 : 78 I. C. 1007 : 1924 Mad. 649.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— Forfeiture—Denial of title—Waiver—Notice to quit—Dispute between rival landlords—Tenant willing to pay lawful landlords—No disclaimer of title.

Where in a suit for rent the tenant pleaded that as both the plaintiff and a third person claimed the rent, he was ready to pay the rent to the one whom the Court found entitled to, it is not a disclaimer of the landlord's title so as to work a forfeiture of the tenancy. Where the landlord in a suit for ejectment on the ground of forfeiture of the tenancy makes an alternative claim that the notice given by him should be regarded as determining the tenancy, Held, that the landlord was estopped from relying on the forfeiture inasmuch as the claim based on a notice to quit amounted to a waiver of the forfeiture and an assertion that the tenancy was subsisting. Evans v. Davis, 10 Ch. D. 747 holds. (Pratt and Fawcett, JJ.) RUKMINI v. RAYAH 26 Bom. L. R. 672 : 48 Bom. 541 : 1924 Bom. 454.

— Grove land—Abandonment by tenant—Sale if amounts to.

According to the usual custom prevailing in the province of Oudh when a grove is held by a tenant, who is not the owner thereof, it reverts to the landlord when it is abandoned by the tenant. A sale of half the grove amounts to an abandonment of that half even though the tenant was still in possession of the entire grove jointly with the defendants to the extent of one half. (Dalal, J. C. and Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MAHABIR PRASAD v. UMAN SHANKAR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1310.

— Grove—Planting of—Non-occupancy lands—Permission of Zemindar—Effect of.

The planting of a grove on non-occupancy lands with the permission of the Zamindar puts an end to the tenancy and the old tenant becomes a grove holder with powers of transfer. (Daniels, J.) SULTAN HUSAIN KHAN v. JWALA. 1924 A. 831.

— Grove—What is—Babul or Shisham trees—Ejectment.

There can be a plantation of babuls or of other trees such as shisham which are usually self-owned and such plantations, if enclosed or otherwise protected by the owner, may have the characteristics of a grove and the landholder may be debarred from ejectment. But in the present case there had been no such nurture of the trees as would entitle the possessor to protection from ejectment. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) GANGA SAHAI v. SARDAR. L. R. 5 O. 110 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 681.

— Grove—What constitutes.

Where a holding had 11 old trees in it which works to about 9 or 10 trees per acre, the Court may find it to be a grove. Where a person is recorded as in possession and is admitted to be in possession of the holding he has the rights of a groveholder and so long as the plot comes within the definition of a grove he is not liable to be ejected from it (Fremantle, S. M.) SHEO PARSHAN SINGH v. BALRAM SINGH

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

L. R. A. 59 (Rev.).

—Heir holding tenancy after the death of previous tenant—Landlord's acquiescence—Effect of pending partition proceedings.

If an heir has held for some time after the death of the late tenant and no steps are taken to eject him he must be considered to have been admitted as statutory tenant. The circumstance that litigation is going on regarding the proprietary right with which a tenant has no concern, is not such a special circumstance. (Fremantle, S. M.) MD. ZAKI v. DUJAL

5 O. 165 (Rev.).

—Holding over—Conditions of—Notice to quit.

Where under the terms of the lease in respect of a shop for more than one year no notice to quit was required to determine the tenancy and the tenant continued in possession after the expiry of the lease, it must be presumed that he continued under the same terms as before and no notice to quit was necessary. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) LAL MAN v. MT. MULLO.

10 O. & A. L. R. 397;

81 I. C. 592 : 1925 Oudh 173 (I).

—Holding over—Damages.

When a tenant holds over wilfully and contumaciously, Courts can award reasonable damages and the penalty laid down in England by statute of double the rent may sometimes be taken as a fitting standard (Campbell, J.) RURE KHAN v. GHULAM MUHAMMAD.

1924 Lah. 643.

—Holding over—Lessor and lessee—Lessee continuing in possession after expiry of lease—Liability to pay rent—Extent of. See T. P. ACT, S. 116.

48 B. 341.

—Landlord's title defective or title with third person, whether open to tenant to deny.

A tenant who has been let into possession, cannot deny his landlord's title, however defective it may be, so long as he has not openly restored possession by surrender to his landlord. Even where the title rests with a third person the tenant is estopped from denying the landlord's title. (Dalal, J. C.) DHANI RAM v. MAIKOO LAL.

1 O. W. N. 957.

—Land recorded as expropriatory in partition proceedings—Effect of.

Where a Zamindar sued to eject a recorded expropriatory tenant, on the ground that the land was not cultivated by the former 'sir' holder after partition, as required by S. 126. L. R. Act.

Held, relying on S. D. 6 of 1923, that the land was allotted to the plaintiff's mahal as expropriatory and must be treated as such whether it fulfils the definitions of expropriatory land or not. (Fremantle, S. M.) RAMIAS AHIR v. DADHU LAL RAI.

L. R. 5 All. 285 (Rev.).

—Lease—Construction—Religious endowment—Trustee—Absence of words importing permanency—Duration of lease.

Where the trustee of a religious endowment in South Canara grants a lease, but there are no words, such as mulgeni indicating a permanent grant, Courts should put a liberal construction on the same and carry into effect the intention of the parties. Such leases where no period is fixed must be recognised as valid for the life of the lessor or trustee and words apparently wider in import must be read as limited to the life-time of the lessor qua trustee. A suit for recovery of the properties within 12 years of the death of the lessor trustee will be in time. (Coutts Trotter, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) VRN KATARAMANA PAI v. SAMPA.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

47 M. L. J. 256. 1924 Mad. 827.

—Lease—Period of seven years—Burden of proof.

Where a Kabuliyaat is executed after the beginning of the revenue year it is for the zamindar to show that an agreement to lease had been entered into before the year began. (Burn, J. M.) MOHAN LAL v. SUBHAMA.

L. R. 5 A. 237 (Rev.).

—Mortgage of trees, planted by the tenant on his holding with landlord's consent—Decree in favour of mortgagee before ejectment of tenant—Suit by landlord for a declaration that trees could not be brought to sale.

Where under the special custom of the village, a tenant, whether he is or is not an occupancy tenant, plants trees upon his holding with the consent of the landlord, they are transferable by the tenant, and landlord's suit, for a declaration that those trees could not be brought to Court sale, does not lie. 3 All. 567 Dist. 10 All. 159 Foll. (Stuart, J.) HAR DAYAL SINGH v. GUR DAYAL SINGH.

1923 All. 181.

—Non-transferable—Transferee—Fraudulent decree enhancing rent—If can be set aside.

5 Pat. L. T. 52 : 3 Pat. 134.

75 I. C. 177 : 1924 P. 250.

—Notice to quit—Agricultural lease—Sufficiency of notice—Usage.

Where a notice to quit given to a tenant holding under an agricultural lease gave the tenant a reasonable period and was in accordance with the usage of the country, it is not bad on account of the fact that it does not expire with the year of the tenancy, 6 L. W. 491 foll. ; 42 M. 654 Dist. (Madhavan Nair, J.) JARU POOJARI v. SOMAKKE.

20 L. W. 941.

—Notice to quit—Legality of—Point not to be allowed for the first time in second appeal.

Where in a suit for ejectment after service of a proper notice to quit the defendant did not either in the written statement or in the trial court question the validity or sufficiency of the notice to quit, it will not be open to him to raise in appeal or second appeal for the first time that the notice to quit was invalid. If the plea is allowed the plaintiff would be prejudiced as he would lose the advantage of withdrawing the suit when he finds that his notice was not a proper notice and of bringing a fresh suit at once after giving a proper notice. 15 I. C. 584 : 4 L. W. 168 ; 10 L. W. 137 ; 13 L. W. 397 referred to. (Krishnan, J.) NALLURI P. K. RAMAN MENON v. SECY. OF STATE FOR INDIA.

20 L. W. 433 : 1924 M. W. N. 830 : 82 I. C. 956 : 1924 Mad. 904.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

———Notice to quit—Necessity for—Lessee holding on after expiry of term without consent of lessor or payment of rent.

Where a tenant after the expiry of the term of a lease continues in occupation of the land without any express agreement with the plaintiff (landlord) and without his consent and without payment of any rent to the plaintiff, and in opposition to the plaintiff's express intimation that he must pay enhanced rent or vacate the land, the defendant is a mere tenant on sufferance and it is well-established law that such a tenant has bare possession without right and without privity between himself and the owner. He has no right of notice to quit before he is ejected by the lessor (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) LAKSHMIRAMANA SETTY v. RAMALINGAYYA. 2 Mys. L. J. 73

———Notice to quit—Validity of—Provision for ejectment and damages if tenant did not quit—Effect of—Notice signed by authorized agent—Legality of. See T. P. ACT, S. 106.

L. R. 5 A. 294.

———Occupancy holding—Usufructuary mortgage by tenant—Rights of mortgagee

There is no contract between the mortgagee of an occupancy tenant and the land lord and because the tenant is prohibited by law from making a valid transfer, he by the very fact of the transfer, cannot convert the transferee into a tenant in his own place.

Even in the case of a fixed-rate tenancy, the mortgagee does not become a tenant of the landlord even if he paid the rent with his own hand. The payment would be payment on behalf of the mortgagor. 15 A 219; 15 A 231; 19 A. L. J. 702 Ref. (Mukherji, J.) KISHUN DAYAL SAHI v. SAHIBZADA RAVI PRATAP NARAIN SINGH.

22 A. L. J. 232; 78 I. C. 389.

L. R. 5 A. 209 (2) (Rev.) 1924 All. 908 (2).

———Occupancy rights—Acquisition of—Compromise giving pukhtadare rights.

At the first Regular Settlement in Oudh the person in possession of land claimed under proprietary rights and the talukdar agreed to give him for his life and the life of a son rights which were described as pukhtadari and were similar to those of an under proprietor except that they were limited to two lives. On the evidence it was held that the rights would not be described as under-proprietory. What was really granted was a lease for two lives at a rate of rent which depended on the revenue. There was no bar to the acquisition of occupancy right after the expiry of the term of the lease. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) CHANDRABHAN PRATAP SINGH v. SHEOBAHAL SINGH.

L. R. 5 O. 72.

———Occupancy right—Acquisition of—Acceptance of invalid lease.

The fact that a lease, which is subsequently found to be invalid, was accepted as a lease by the tenant does not prevent the acquisition of occupancy rights by him. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) SUNDARMAN TEWARI v. BADRI NARAIN PANDE.

L. R. 5 A. 204 (Rev.)

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

———Occupancy rights—Acquisition of—Separation of holding—Effect of.

Where with the consent of the Zemindar there was a division or separation of the holding, it amounts to a change of tenant and the period prior to the division could not be counted towards the acquisition of occupancy rights. (Fremantle, S. M.) ACHHAIBAR KURMI v. ACHFRAS PANDE. L. R. 5 A. 234 (Rev.)

———Occupancy rights—Portion of a proprietary right mortgaged to tenant—Whether mortgagor entitled to count the term of mortgage for acquisition of occupancy rights.

When the whole of the proprietary right is not mortgaged to a tenant, merger cannot take place, and a tenant remains as a tenant and does not get occupancy rights, as mortgage of land for proprietors. This being so, he may count the term of the mortgage towards the period necessary for acquisition of occupancy right (Fremantle, S. M.) LALTA PRASAD v. RAGHUNANDAN.

L. R. 5 All. 321 (Rev.)

———Tenant—Permanent tenancy.

75 I. C. 105.

———Permanent tenancy—If can be acquired by prescription.

No tenant of lands in India can obtain any right to a permanent tenancy by prescription in them against his landlord from whom he holds the lands. 1923 P. C. 205 F II.

From the fact, that in some receipts given by servants of the Temple tenants of endowed lands in the village were described as "kudimiras" it cannot be presumed that the defendant had a right of permanent occupancy in the endowed lands. Nature of permanent occupancy right considered. (Sir John Edge) NAINAPILLAI MARACAYAR v. KAMANATHAN CHETTIAR. 47 Mad. 337;

22 A. L. J. 130; 34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 10;

(1924) M. W. N. 293; 1924 P. C. 65;

L. R. 5 P. C. 33; 10 O. & A. L. R. 464; 82 I. C. 226;

28 C. W. N. 809; 51 I. A. 83; 19 L. W. 259;

46 M. L. J. 546 (P. C.).

———Permanent tenancy—Alteration of rent—Effect of. NURUL HUQ v. MAHARAJAT BIRHENDRA KISHORE MANIKYA BAHADUR.

1924 C. 133.

———Permanent tenancy—Elements of—Non-agricultural land—Erection of permanent buildings—Origin of tenancy unknown—Presumption.

When a tenant claims to hold land as a tenant under the landlord, the tenant must prove the nature and the extent of the interest which the landlord, the owner of the full rights granted to him and thereby put a limitation to his own rights. The granting of a permanent right in land is a matter of considerable importance and usually is evidenced by appropriate deeds. The first principle is, that in cases where the origin of the tenancy is unknown and its inception is lost in antiquity the principle of a lost grant has been invoked by the tenant, and from the conduct of the parties and the surrounding circumstances, the court has been asked to presume that the tenancy was a permanent one. The conduct of the landlord in recognising succession, transfer and in standing by when pucca buildings have been raised upon the land, have been mainly relied on in finding out the terms of the lease at its inception. The second principle relied upon is that of equitable estoppel against the landlord from showing that the lease was a terminable one. To raise a presumption of permanent tenancy it must be established that the origin of the tenancy was unknown and that substantial pucca buildings were raised without objection by the landlord. Where the building consists of pucca stair and a privy within a municipal area, they are not structures which a reasonable landlord would object to in a municipal area, so long as the tenancy subsists. That fact does not give rise to the inference of a permanent tenancy. The mere fact that the tenant is allowed to continue in possession of lands for generations, without alteration of rent, is of common occurrence in this country and is usually attributable to the reluctance of the landlord to eject a tenant from his home so long as he does not make himself objectionable and does not commit default in payment of the rent. Mere forbearance to eject the tenant or enhance the rent, where the right to do so exists means nothing. The question whether on the facts found a permanent tenancy has been established is one of mixed law and fact and open for decision in a second appeal. (Greaves and Chakravarthi, JJ.) ABDUL HAKIM KHAN CHAUDHURI v. ELAHI BAKSHA. 1925 Cal. 309: 29 C. W. N. 138.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— — — Permanent tenancy—Evidence of—Origin of tenancy known but not incidents—Inference from conduct.

Where in a suit by the landlord in ejectment, the tenant sets up a claim of a permanent tenancy and the date of the lease is known but its terms have to be gathered from the subsequent conduct of the parties and it was also found that there was a uniform payment of rent and succession and transfer of the holding. Held that under those circumstances the burden of proving that his claim of permanent tenancy was a reasonable one from these facts lay on the tenant. An assertion in a plea executed by the tenant that his right was a permanent tenancy is admissible in evidence under S. 13 of the Evidence Act. (Ran-kin, J.) JNANENDRA NATH DUTT v. NASEA DAS. 39 C. L. J. 526. 1924 Cal. 991.

— — — Permanent tenancy—Origin of tenancy unknown—Uniform payment of rent—Erection of buildings. 1924 Cal. 465.

— — — Permanent tenancy—Presumption—Origin of tenancy unknown—Buildings erected by tenant.

The fact that the commencement of a tenancy cannot be determined coupled with the presumption of continuation of the tenancy, and coupled also with the fact that a permanent building had been erected on the land a long time ago raises a strong presumption that the tenancy was permanent. (Pratt and Fawcett, JJ.) RUKMINI v. RAYANI. 26 Bom. L. R. 672: 48 Bom. 541: 1924 Bom. 454.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— — — Permanent tenancy—Proof—Onus.

The burden is upon the tenant who sets up a permanent tenancy to prove it. Neither length of possession nor the fact that the tenant had reclaimed forest land for cultivation, would be enough to confer a permanent tenancy. (Krishnan, J.) BANDARU (HELLAMMA ?), DUNGALA PENTAYYA. (1924) M. W. N. 440 : 79 I. C. 845 : 20 L. W. 478 : 1924 Mad. 828.

— — — Permanent tenancy—Proof of—Theka-dar.

Where the Commissioner held in all cases that as only kabuliats had been produced and no patta a theka had not been created. Held, that he was right. (Frederic, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAJA BHAGWAN BAKHSH SINGH v. SHEO DATT. L. R. 5 O. 70.

— — — Permission by landlord to plant grove—Effect.

When permission is given by the zemindar to plant a grove on the non occupancy tenure the effect of this is to put an end to the tenancy as such and to substitute therefor a fresh contract between the parties by which the position of the tenant is converted into that of a grove-holder with transferable rights; the case is much stronger where the land is held with occupancy rights. It is most unlikely that the tenant would agree to spend the considerable sum of money necessary to convert the plot into a grove if he was still to remain liable to be turned out of the land and to loss of the trees at any time. (Daniels, J.) SULTAN HUSAIN v. JWALA. 1924 A. 831.

— — — Plea not open to tenant.

1924 P. 226.

— — — Possession—Suit for, against third parties—Tenancy subsisting—Effect of.

During the subsistence of a tenancy, a landlord has no right to sue for possession against third parties. His rights are to obtain a declaration of title and to obtain rent by virtue of the tenancy which subsists. (Walmsley and Mukerji, JJ.) SRI-MATI KUMUDINI DAS v. SURENDRABALA DAS. 82 I. C. 22.

— — — Relationship between—Agreement—Payment of rent. MANOHAR LAL v. RAM RATAN. 1924 Nag. 67.

— — — Relationship—Creation of.

The relation of landlord and tenant can be created by a mere grant or contract of tenancy. (Kinkhede, A.J.C.) AMARCHAND v. SARDAR SINGH. 82 I. C. 190 : 1925 Nag. 90.

— — — Relationship—Death of tenant—Lease for seven years to tenant's widow—Position of lessee.

Where the Zemindar, on the death of the tenant, granted a seven years' lease to his widow. Held that the widow became a tenant in her own right and not as heiress to her husband and her daughter was the heir to the holding and not her husband's collaterals. (Burn, J. M.) RAM SAGAR v. RAM DAYAL. L. R. 5 O. 120 : 11 O. L. J. 522.

— — — Relationship—Ejectment—Compromise—Enhance of rent.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

The Zemindar sued to eject a mortgagee from a deceased tenant. The parties compromised the case whereby occupancy right was conferred on the defendant and rent was enhanced. The court was of opinion that the grant of occupancy rights was illegal and refused to pass a decree but directed the defendant to be recorded as a non-occupancy tenant and the suit to be withdrawn. Held that the Zemindar was not thereafter prevented from suing in ejectment. (Fremantle, S. M.) MUSAT KOERI v. SURAJ RAI L.R. 5 A. 173 (Rev.)

— Relationship—Land recorded as held by one person—Possession with another—Admission of tenancy—Entry of names of each of three brothers in respect of different plots—Joint Hindu family.

The entry of the defendants as in possession of the land, which was actually recorded as held by one person is not evidence that the defendants had actually been admitted to the holding of that land by the plaintiff during the year. Where there is nothing to show that certain brothers have separated after ejectment by the zemindar, the presumption would be that though the name of only one or two brothers is mentioned, the holding is that of the joint family. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) GOBIND PRASAD v. NIMMI L. R. 5 O. 181.

— Relationship—Lessee for a term of years whether can create tenancy extending his term. 77 I. C. 929.

— Relationship—Proof—Admission.

Where the fact of the defendant holding under a theka is admitted it is unnecessary to insist on proof. Acceptance of a theka does not invalidate any rights the thekadar may possess. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAJA BHAGWAN BAKHSI SINGH v. SHEO DATT L. R. 5 O. 70.

— Relationship—Rent—Assignee of from zemindar—Ejectment of tenants—Right to.

Where an assignee of rent from the zemindar sued to eject a tenant who had been cultivating the holding from a period anterior to the date of the assignment Held, that there was no relationship of landlord and tenant between the parties and that the suit in ejectment was not maintainable. (Fremantle, S. M.) RAM NATH v. MOHAN SINGH L. R. 5 A. 252 (Rev.)

— Relationship—Terms of tenancy—Determination of.

In a case where the origin of a tenancy is unknown or where the document creating the tenancy is equivocal or ambiguous in its terms one has got to take into consideration the attendant circumstances, and evidence as to the mode of enjoyment of the tenancy is also admissible and may be considered in determining its terms. Another principle is that a tenancy created for a particular purpose may subsequently by conduct of parties be converted into a tenancy of a different character. (Walmsley and Mukerji, J.J.) LAL GHOSH v. NILKANTHA DAS 30 I. C. 898 : 1925 Cal. 340.

— Relinquishment—Vacant possession—Several landlords—Delivery to one—If enough.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

A tenant giving up demised lands to his landlord is bound to give him vacant possession. If there are several landlords who are undivided, it is enough if delivery of possession is given to one of them. (Moti Sagar, J.) FIRM RAMGOPAL-BHAGWAN DAS v. PARMESHRI DAS 78 I. C. 570.

— Renewal of lease—Invalid renewal—Rights of parties—Notice to quit given by one of the two Uralans—Validity of—Institution of suit by one Uralan without consulting co Uralan.

Where the renewal of a lease is found to be invalid, the rights under the prior tenancy continue to subsist and the tenancy could not be determined by the landlord without a proper notice to quit. 15 M. 166 : 10 L. W. 427 referred to.

A notice to quit given by one of two Uralans (trustees) of a devaswom without consulting the other, is invalid and inoperative to determine a tenancy.

Per Ramesam, J.—(Wallace, J., dubitante).

The principle that in any transaction which creates or destroys rights in trust property all the trustees must be consulted does not apply to suits. It is sufficient if, in a suit instituted by one trustee the other trustees are made parties. 26 M. 461 ; 34 M. 406 Referred to. (Ramesam and Wallace, J.J.) CHETTIYOTAM KANNAN KOTTY v. VELU (1924) M. W. N. 151 : 1924 Mad. 771 : 80 I. C. 139 : 19 L. W. 115 : 46 M. L. J. 122.

— Rent—Abatement of—Ouster by title paramount. 39 C. L. J. 287.

— Rent—Abatement—Uniform abatement for 53 years. 75 I. C. 502 (2).

— Rent—Agreement to pay enhanced rent—Notice by landlord demanding enhanced rate or in case the tenant was unwilling to pay the same, to vacate—Liability.

The Plaintiffs landlords, served the defendant, tenant with a notice that they would charge Rs. 60 per month for the house from June 1923 and that if the defendant did not accept the proposed enhancement of rent he was free to vacate it by that date. The defendant did not vacate it but continued in occupation of the house. Held, that this clearly implied that he agreed to abide by the proposal made in the notice and that he was liable for the enhanced rent. (Wazir Hasan, J.C.) BURGE v. MAHOMED INAMULLAH KHAN 10 O. and A. L. R. 819 : 11 O. L. J. 561 : 82 I. C. 585 : 1 O. W. N. 408 : 1925 Oudh 189.

— Rent—Claim for—Excessive area—Back rents—Enhanced rent if claimable.

In respect of excess lands in the occupation of a tenant the landlord is entitled to recover what is called back rent, in other words, the landlord is entitled in any litigation to have an enquiry as to the exact area in the occupation of the tenant and the rent recoverable in respect thereof for the years in suit. During the pendency of the first suit where a claim was made for adjustment of rent in respect of additional land, the claim for assessment of rent at the enhanced rate could not possibly be taken to have suspended the assertion of a similar claim in respect of the subsequent period covered by the second suit.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

(Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) MANMATHA PAL CHOUHDURY v. SURENDRA NATH BOSE.

40 C. L. J. 538 : 1925 Cal. 463.

———Rent—Enhancement of—Burden of proof.

Where it has been established that the tenures have been held from the time of the Permanent Settlement, the burden is cast upon the landlord of proving that he is entitled to enhance the rent (Newbould and B. B. Ghose, JJ.) BIRENDRA KISHORE MANIKYA BAHADUR v. ALI AHAMED.

39 C. L. J. 605 : 1924 Cal. 1015.

———Rent—Implied Contract—Payment of, lump sum for over 60 years.

Where it is proved that for about 60 years the inamdars in a Zemindari have been paying a lump sum of Rs. 400 a year to the Zemindar in lieu of Kattubadi. Held, that whatever might have been the Zemindar's original claim the facts were sufficient to justify the inference that there was an implied contract between the Zemindar and the inamdars that the latter were to pay a sum of Rs. 400 jointly. (Krishnan, J.) SRI SRI SRI RAMACHANDRA v. TUMBANATHA BEHARA.

19 L. W. 49: 76 I. C. 730 : 1924 Mad. 480.

———Rent—Non-payment of — Forfeiture — Relief against.

In a proper case the Courts have the power to relieve against forfeiture for non-payment of rent. But that power will only be exercised if the defendant pays or tenders the rent in arrear with interest and costs at or before the hearing of the suit. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, JJ.) RAGHAVENDRA DASS v. CHALUVIAH.

2 Mys. L. J. 75.

———Rent—Suit for— Question of title if can be investigated.

It cannot be affirmed as a broad proposition of law that a question of title may not be incidentally investigated in a suit for arrears of rent. Where the tenant defendant disputes the extent of the title of the plaintiff to the arrears demanded, it is incumbent on the Court to determine the point before the claim is allowed or disallowed. 12 C. L. J. 428 Ref. But subject to this reservation, parties should not be added in a rent suit so as to alter its nature and scope and to transform it into a suit for determination of a complicated question of title to land. (Mookerjee and Sukrawardy, JJ.) ABDUL GAFUR v. ALI MEAH.

82 I. C. 369 : 1925 Cal. 26 : 28 C. W. N. 805.

———Rent suit—Question of title—Adjudication of.

In a rent suit there is no rule of law that questions of title which require to be determined are not to be determined, but in general, questions of title as between plaintiff and third persons do not require to be determined. The relationship of landlord and tenant is however a relevant question. (Rankin and Mookerjee, JJ.) CHITPORE GOLABARI CO., LTD. v. GIRDHARI LAL SEROGI.

78 I. C. 353.

———Rent—Registered Kabuliyat—Absence of lease—Damages for use and occupation.

Wherein a suit for arrears of rent no written lease had been executed but defendant had executed a registered kabuliyat granting that he had taken a share of the Zemindari in lease from plff. and rent had been paid for a number of years in accordance therewith. Held, that though there was no tenancy, the defendant was liable to pay compensation for the use and occupation of land (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) NAND RAM SINGH v. HARISARAN DAS.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

L. R. 5 A. 235 (Rev.) :

82 I. C. 296 : 1925 All. 100.

———Revision. See.

75 I. C. 676.

———Right to possession—Return of deposit made by tenant—Tender—Duty of landlord.

It is the duty of the debtor, in the absence of a specific contract to the contrary to seek out the creditor and to make payment where the creditor is ; he cannot compel the creditor to go and take the money at a place chosen by the debtor. The same principle applies where the landlord has to return money deposited with him, as the condition of obtaining possession of the property ; he must seek out the lessee and make or tender payment where he is. Otherwise the contract of tenancy is not validly terminated and the landlord is not entitled to obtain possession. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C.J. and Subbanna, J.) KUNDALMULL v. NAGAMMA.

2 Mys. L. J. 174.

———Self grown trees on the occupancy holding—Whether zamindar entitled exclusively without proving custom or contract.

The tree on a holding partakes of the nature of a holding, and a tenant in the absence of custom or contract to the contrary, has the same rights in respect of them as he has on the holding. A tenant is entitled to the fruits or fallen wood of self grown trees on his holding. A Zamindar must prove same custom or contract by which he is entitled to take such wood. (Kanhaya Lal, J.) SAGWA v. BAGWANDAS.

L. R. 5 All. 320 (Rev.) :

82 I. C. 385 : 1925 All. 119.

———'Sir' land—Sale of share—Status of owner.

A 'Sir' holder who sells his share becomes an proprietary tenant of the entire proprietary body, and not merely of his vendee. (Daniels, J.) LAGAN RAI v. RAJA RAI.

L. R. 5 A. 176 (Rev.) ;

79 I. C. 1025 : 1924 All. 507.

———'Sir' land—Whether tenant can acquire occupancy rights.

If a certain piece of land is entered in the Settlement records as 'Sir' land, occupancy rights cannot be acquired in it. (Daniels, J.) HAZARI v. RAM DULAR & OTHERS.

L. R. 5 All. 290 (Rev.)

———Sub-tenant — Ouster of—Rent—Abatement—Covenant for quiet enjoyment—Scope of.

Certain land was the property of a Mahomedan religious endowment and it had been leased to the plaintiff by the manager of the endowment. The defendant took a sub-lease of the land for four years at a yearly rental of Rs. 40 payable in advance. The lease deed contained no covenant for quiet enjoyment. The defendant did not pay the rent for the fourth year and a suit by plaintiff for recovery of the rent for the fourth year was dismissed on the ground that the manager of the endowment had evicted the sub-tenant at the beginning of the fourth year of the tenancy. Held, in the absence of anything to show that the manager of the endowment acted lawfully in dispossessing the sub-tenant or that he was justified by law in so doing, the eviction of the sub-tenant was no excuse for non-payment of rent due under the sub-lease. The covenant for quiet enjoyment protects the lessee only against lawful disturbance by persons having a paramount title. (Subbanna, J.) CHENNARAYAPPA v. MUNIAPPA. 2 Mys. L. J. 200.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— Sub-tenancy—Zemindar in same pathi.

There is no reason why a Zemindar should not be a sub-tenant of another Zemindar in latter's sir (Fremantle, S. M.) THAKUR SINGH v. MT. DAL KUAR. L. R. 5 A. 270 (Rev.).

— Sub-tenancy—Landholder if can be a sub-tenant.

There is nothing anomalous in a landholder or a person possessing a permanent lease being also sub-tenant of an ordinary tenant within the land he owns or holds on lease. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RANGAI v. DEOKINANDAN PANDEY. L. R. 5 O. 77.

— Sub-tenancy—Legality of—Tenant, not affected.

The question whether the sub-letting would be legal or illegal is immaterial as between a tenant and his sub-tenant and cannot affect the tenant's position. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MUTSADDI LAL v. GAJOLA. L. R. 5 A. 58 (Rev.).

— Sub-tenant—Rights of superior proprietor.

A superior proprietor cannot hold sir in a village which is sub-settled. (Fremantle, S. M.) RANI SUBHADRA KUAR v. BIRESHWARI PRASAD. L. R. 5 A. 96 (Rev.); 10 O. L. J. 703.

— Succession to tenancy—Minor tenant—Effect of absence.

It would not be equitable to consider that the rights of a minor to succeed to a holding can be cancelled owing to his absence in his sister's house. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MAHOMED NAZIM v. MT. LAUNGI. L. R. 5 A. 56 (Rev.).

— Tenancy at fixed rate—Creation of.

The facts that a document recites tenancy to descend from father to son and provides for extra rent in case on measurement excess land is found to have been included in the demise, do not prove a tenancy at fixed rate but they go a great deal to prove the permanent nature of the tenancy. If in law, the document does not create such a tenancy, a recital in the kabuliyat to that effect does not amount to an estoppel. (Suhrawardy and Duval, J.J.) ESHAQUB SHEKH v. MATI AL MALO. 81 L. C. 1043 : 1925 Cal. 294.

— Tenancy—Proof of—Receipt of rent.

Admission to tenancy would ordinarily be held to have taken place on receipt of rent but where the Zilladar received the rent without knowing of the proceedings by way of notice of ejectment initiated separately by the mukhtear, the receipt of rent does not constitute an admission to the tenancy. (Fremantle, S. M.) SYED AFZAL HUSAIN v. MIRZA MD. JAFAR ALI KHAN.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

L. R. 5 O. 148 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1038.

— Tenancy-at-will—Rent payable by year or with reference to aliquot parts of the year—Tenancy from year to year—If arises—Determination of tenancy—Notice—Ejectment.

Every document of lease which reserves a yearly rent or which states that the rent is payable in proportion to certain aliquot parts of the year does not necessarily create a tenancy from year to year. Where notwithstanding the mention of a term and also the fixation of rent by reference to a year, there was a provision in the lease that it would be lawful for the lessor to determine the lease and eject the lessee at any time at his option, the tenancy is only a tenancy at will. A tenancy at will is a personal relation between the original landlord and tenant, and is determined by the death of either of them. The reason for the rule is that as death determines the will the tenancy terminates by efflux of time and in such a case the successor of the tenant being at best a tenant by sufferance he may be ejected without notice. In the case of a tenancy at will no formal notice is required but a demand for possession is sufficient. (Miller, C.J. and Mullick, J.) RAMDHANI GOPE v. MISS C. V. SCOTT. 1924 P. H. C. 333 : 1925 P. 256.

— Thekadar—Power of creation of tenancy. MULLOO v. KUNDAN LAL. 7 N. L. J. 55.

— Trees—Land let for planting a grove—Right to trees.

Where a Zemindar has let land to a tenant for the special purpose of planting a grove thereon or where a grove planted by the tenant has been allowed to exist unchallenged by the zemindar, the tenant who planted the trees acquires a transferable interest in them and they become his property in the absence of a custom to the contrary. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MAN SINGH v. MADHO SINGH. 22 A. L. J. 70 : L. R. 5 A. 34 (Rev.) : 79 I. C. 599 : 1924 All 430.

— Trees—Rights of tenant—Grove holder.

If grove-holders cut down or allow to wither most of the trees in their grove and the land ceases to occupy the status of grove and the grove-holders are ejected as remaining in possession of land without any right, it is clear that they also lose the right they may have had in regard to the remaining trees. Such trees are then in exactly the same position as ordinary trees in a tenant's holding. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MT. NANNI KHATOON v. GIRDHARI LAL. L. R. 5 A. 148. (Rev.).

— Under proprietary rights—Claim of—Variation of lease.

In a suit to contest an ejectment plff. claimed that he held the land a shankalap under an old patil or at least under a special agreement. The Court found that, though the rent had remained approximately the same as it was in the patta, the area had changed considerably. Held, that the patta having been considerably varied, there was no reason for holding that the plaintiff had under-proprietary rights or even that he was holding under a special agreement. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) BIBI KANIZ FATIMA v. NAGESHAR SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 44 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 300: 11 O. L. J. 70.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— Zamindar recorded in possession when ejectment took place—Suit for possession of holding—Onus of proof.

The onus of proving that the tenant was in possession of the holding within the period of limitation lay on the tenant and not upon the Zamindar, in a suit by the latter. (Fremantle S. M.) MT. SIKTAJEE v. ISH NARAIN.

L. R. 5 All. 282 (Rev) (1).

LAND REGISTRATION—Benami transactions—whether Revenue Courts can recognise—Gift—Validity.

D executed a deed of gift to R in 1919. In 1921 there was a quarrel between R and R's son and there was a case under S 145 Cr. P. Code. In 1921 D sided with the son and executed a cancellation deed of the gift. In 1922 R executed another deed of gift to Rk. Rk applied for registration which was refused on the ground that the transaction was benami but the Commissioner ordered the name of Rk to be registered. The petitioner then moved the Board on revision.

Held, Benami transactions were fraudulent and could not be recognised by a Revenue Court. The Registration Court had no business to question whether Rk's name had been rightly registered or not. Held, further, that S. 145 Cr. P. Code case had been decided in favour of D in 1921 which was brought during the life time of the late proprietor and the right to possession was declared in favour of D who was competent therefore to make a gift in favour of her daughter Rk. (Foley) RAJKUMAR GIRISHNANDAN SINGH v. BABU RAMKISHORI KUER.

2 Pat. L. R. 227 (Rev)

LAND TENURES—Ghatwali Jaghir—Unlawful possession—Absence of sanad denotes defect of title and not its completeness.

If a person enters into a Ghatwali Jaghir, not having obtained the appointment which is required to make him the lawful holder of it, his possession is without title at all, and until by prescription or otherwise he acquires a right which he is capable of alienating the lack of a sanad of appointment is really the proof of the defect of his title not of the completeness of it. (Lord Sumner.) KUMAR SATYA NARAIN SINGH v. RAJA SATYA NIRANJAN CHAKRAVARTHI.

34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 27: 5 Pat. L. T. 171:

28 C. W. N. 351: 3 Pat. 183: 511 A. 37:

79 I. C. 825: 1924 P. C. 5.

— Ghatwali—Service tenure—Incidents—Alienability.

Where lands are granted, and the grantee has to provide police patrols and pay them but has nothing else to perform, the tenure is not Ghatwali tenure or any other service tenure. Ghatwali tenures are alienable by custom as in Kharugdhi. (Das and Ross, JJ.) TIKAIT THAKUR NARAYAN SINGH v. DILDAR ALI KHAN.

80 I. C. 544: 3 Pat. 915.

— Ghatwali tenure—Execution—Receiver for surplus after deducting the outgoings.

LAND TENURES.

In the case of lands held on Ghatwali tenure the rents and profits other than surplus being earmarked for the payment of chowkidars, sardars and Government dues an order may be made that the surplus be placed at the disposal of the creditors for there can be no question that the creditors are entitled to that surplus in execution of their decree, and for the purpose a Receiver may be appointed. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) DAMODAR NARAIN SINGH v. GANGA RAM MARWARI. 1924 P. 269.

— Ghatwali tenures inalienable and indivisible—Actual appointment of next heir not necessary—Hundwa estates—Nature and incidents of.

A Ghatwali tenure is inalienable and indivisible and cannot be sold in execution of a decree against the person of the incumbent of the office of ghatwali for the time being. 9 C. 187 and 10 M. I. A. 16 Ref. Neither by the terms of the grant nor by the general law applying to such ghatwali tenures is an actual appointment of the next heir to be ghatwali in the room of his predecessor requisite, nor is actual performance of the stipulated ghatwali services from time to time necessary. Readiness and willingness to perform them when required may be inferred where there is no proof of refusal to perform and where performance within a reasonable time, if required, is not shown to have become impossible.

Hundwa tenure is a Government tenure. It is a perpetual and hereditary tenure, being a service tenure and ghatwali in nature.

To terminate the Ghatwali character of lands, it is necessary to find something done or omitted to be done on the part of the Government, as the grantors, which would have the legal effect of surrender and re-grant of the lands on new terms, or, at any rate, of a release of the right to appoint the ghatwali and call for the performance of the services.

Where a tenure is created as distinct from a personal employment the tenure holder has such an interest in the rendering of the services as entitles him to such benefit of the tenure as accrues from his readiness and willingness to perform his obligation. The service is no a mere burden on the land. It constitutes a personal right in so far as the land held on that condition is concerned, and a personal obligation in so far as concerns the grantor, which, being in the nature of a public obligation, cannot be waived by the grantor for his own advantage, nor being in the nature of a title to the lands, can be relegated to desuetude for the mere advantage of the Ghatwali. The truth is that, rights can once shown to have been established continue to be vested in living persons. Obsoliscence and desuetude are popular expressions rather than solid legal grounds for refusing a continuing recognition to the right as originally established. (Lord Sumner.) KUMAR SATYA NARAIN SINGH v. SATYA NIRANJAN CHAKRAVARTHI.

34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 27: 5 Pat. L. T. 171:

3 Pat. 183: 511 A. 37:

79 I. C. 825: 28 C. W. N. 351: 1924 P. C. 5 (P. C.)

— Ghatwali tenure—Occupancy rights.

Occupancy rights are inconsistent with Ghatwali tenure as the landlord is entitled to have the land given in lieu of performance of duties returned to him free of encumbrances. The incidents of such tenures differ widely in different parts of the country and if by custom occupancy rights are claimed such custom has to be proved. (Ross and Sen, JJ.) DAL SINGH BHUMJI v. KRISHNA KHUTYA. 1924 P. H. C. C. 304.

LAND TENURES.

——— Kumri lands—No relation exists between Kumri lands and ryotwari holdings.

There is absolutely no relation or analogy between the nature of Kumri lands in South Canara and ryotwari holdings. Mr. A. N. R. Ali. KODOTH AMBU NAIR v. SECRETARY OF STATE.

47 Mad 572: 26 Bom L. B. 639:

20 L. W. 49: 80 I. C. 83: 1924 P. C. 150
(1924; M. W. N. 572: 35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 128:
47 M. L. J. 35.

——— Mukarari holdings—Provision for rent for excess area.

The mere fact that a certain rate is mentioned in respect of excess land to be found in the possession of tenants does not raise a presumption as to Mukarari nature of the holdings. (Suhrawardy and Duval, JJ.) RAMJUDDIN v. RAI BADHA KANTA AICH BAHADUR. 80 I. C. 937.

——— Mukarari—Right to cut trees.

Mukarari tenure holders have a right to cut trees from the land comprised in the tenure. (Walmsley and Suhrawardy, JJ.) MIDNAPORE ZEMINDARY CO. v. JAGAT CHANDRA DEBEY.

76 I. C. 990: 1925 Cal 139.

——— Origin—Nature and incidents of Ghatwali—Birbhum Regn. XXIX of 1814—Dismissal of ghatwali on the ground of incompetency and misconduct—Whether entails forfeiture Civil Court's Jurisdiction.

In a suit by the plf against the Government, on the ground of his title by purchase of ghatwali tenure from certain tenants under regulation XXIX of 1814 and the Government opposed the claim, on the strength of (1) limitation under Art. 14 or 91 of the Limitation Act, (2) and that the Civil Court had no jurisdiction to try the suit, and (3) that the incidents of the ghatwali tenure, conferred on the Government an absolute power of appointment or dismissal over tenure holders and that dismissal entailed forfeiture of the lands in question. Held, dismissing the plaintiff's claim, (1) that Art. 14 or Art. 91 will not apply, as the suit is for a ghatwali office, is a suit for a recovery of lands and the period is unquestionably 12 years (2) and that a suit for the recovery of possession of land is incidental to the tenure and that a Civil Court has jurisdiction to decide whether plaintiff's claim is sustainable, (3) that the ghatwali office performed the duties of dependent police officers and as remuneration for the services enjoyed the profits of land. The vacancy caused in the office by death, neglect of duty or misconduct is filled in by Government. The tenure may be considered hereditary in the sense, that Government when appointing a new person may consider the claims of members in the family of the last holder. If however, a ghatwali was dismissed for misconduct, he forfeits the tenure. The tenure can be held so long as the holder thereof performs the services. The right of appointment and dismissal is vested in the Government.

LEASE—CO-LESSEES.

(Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) H. MATHEWSON v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL.

3 Pat. 673: 1924 P. 616.

——— Mokhasa—What is See. 78 I. C. 287.

——— Samudayam and Karaiyedu—What is

The karaiyedu tenure consists in a system of shifting severalty of ownership, the village lands being re-distributed among the mirasidars at intervals. When a suit is brought for the partition of the village lands for change to individual ownership, it cannot affect directly the sustainability of such a suit, whether the tenure of the village is ownership by the community, that is, ordinary Samudayam tenure, or whether it is the shifting severalty of the ownership of which the Karaiyedu tenure consists. (Oldfield and Ramsay, JJ.) VENKATRAMA AIYAR v. SUBRAMANIYA SASTRY. 20 L. W. 122: 78 I. C. 37: 1924 Mad. 741.

——— Sindh—Jagirdar and Zamindar—Rights of—Trees.

In Sindh as between the Jagirdar and the Zamindar the right to cut and sell timber in Zamindari lands is vested in the latter. Trees are part of the land on which they stand and the right to cut and sell them is incident to the proprietorship of the land. (Fawcett, A. J. C.) PIR MAKHDOM v. MAHIK BOOLA KHAN. 79 I. C. 819.

——— Ubari tenure—Incidents of.

The ubari tenure has nothing to do with proprietorship in the lands, but is merely the right to hold the village on payment of a quit rent to Government in this respect the tenure resembles that of Inamdars in Bombay. The ordinary presumption is that the lands are partible and alienable. (Baker, J. C.) ABDUL HUSAIN v. MEGHRAJ.

7 N. L. J. 110: 78 I. C. 760: 1924 Nag. 133.

——— Ubari tenure—Partibility and alienability—Presumption.

Ubari tenure has nothing to do with proprietorship in the lands, but is merely the right to hold the village on payment of a quit rent to the Government, that is on payment of less revenue than would ordinarily be payable. Ubari tenure is distinct from the proprietary rights in the village and as the ordinary presumption is that a village is partible and alienable, the burden is on those who set it up to prove that a particular village forms an exception to the ordinary rule. (Baker, J. C.) QUAZI ABDUL HUQ v. MEGHRAJ.

7 N. L. J. 110: 78 I. C. 780: 1924 All. 133.

LEASE—CO-LESSEES—Death of one of the

In the case of joint lessors, the death of one without heirs does not entitle the lessor to re-enter on his land. Until both are dead, the landlord's rights do not arise. (Jwala Prasad and Macpherson, JJ.) GOPAL OJHA v. RAMADEV SINGH. 82 I. C. 204: 1925 P. 228.

——— Construction—Tenancy lease—Building purposes—Permanent tenancy.

1924 P. 88.

——— Construction—Boundaries—Description of—Thak map—Reference to.

A lease of a Colliery described the demised land as "bounded on the south by the boundary of the limit of mouza Fatehpur as per thak". Held, that the words "as per thak" meant as per thak demarcation and not as per thak map. 41 C. 493 Ref. (Das and Macpherson, JJ.) SHASHI BHUSAN BANERJI v. RAMJAS AGARWALA. 3 Pat. 85 : 1924 P. 402.

LEASE—CO-LESSEES.

———Construction — Istimrari mokurari—Life estate.

The expression "istimrari mokurari" occurring in a lease does not necessarily confer a permanent, heritable and transferable grant but means a lease for the life of the grantee. (Das and Ross, JJ.) HARI GIR v. KUMAR KAMAKHYA. 1924 P. H. C. C. 158 : 3 Pat. 534 : 73 I. C. 511 : 1924 P. 572.

———Construction — Mireshorotto Jaumaiva — Meaning of. 76 I. C. 586.

———Construction — Permanent lease—Enhancement of rent—Provision against—Heritability of lease—Subsequent conduct.

Under the terms of a lease the lessee was given the right to hold the land at the rent stated therein without any reduction for natural calamities and without any liability to enhancement so long as he paid the rent. There were no words implying a perpetual lease and no mention of hereditary rights. On a question arising as to the construction of the lease.

Held, that the lease was heritable. It is only where there is an ambiguity in the terms of a document of old date that the Court can interpret them by subsequent action of the parties. The fact that the successors of the lessee were allowed to remain in possession of the land without change in the rent did not necessarily indicate that the terms of the lease applied to them. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MANOHAR LAL v. GIRJA BUX SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 39 : L. R. 5 O. 49 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 461 : 10 O. L. J. 641.

———Construction—Rent—Manhunda rent.

Manhunda rent is a fixed amount not depending upon the total outturn of crops grown. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) RAGHUNANDAN SAHAY v. RAM SADAR. 3 Pat. L. R. 22 : 6 Pat. 4 : 1924 P. H. C. C. 335 ———Construction—Rent — Paddy — Money value—Basis of calculation.

A lease of lands contained a clause "settling as rent thereof Rs. 87 in cash and 2 bishas and odd of paddy or its price = Rs. 45-8 0 total = Rs. 132-8 0". On a construction of the lease held that the tenant was entitled, if he chose, to pay the money value fixed in the lease in lieu of paddy. The value of the paddy need not be calculated according to the then prevailing market value thereof. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) OFFICIAL TRUSTEE OF BENGAL v. BENODE BEHARI GHOSE MAL. 51 Cal. 943 : 1925 Cal. 114.

———Construction—Trees, when pass to the lessee—Reclamation lease.

A lease of a mouzah was granted for the express purpose of clearing jungle land, bringing it under cultivation, and no reservation of the right in the trees was made in the lease. Held, that the lessee had the right to appropriate the trees when cut. The present case is a stronger one. The land was given for cultivation; it could not be cultivated until the trees were cut, and the landlord not only made no reservation of his rights in the trees, but expressly transferred

LEGAL PRACTITIONER.

the rights in the trees together with the land. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) GANPATI v. SONAH. 7 N. L. J. 59 : 83 I. C. 479 : 1924 Nag. 96.

———Determination at lessors will — Lessee whether can be ejected. 75 I. C. 603.

———Re-entry and sub-letting — Provisions against—Effect.

The existence of provisions against sub letting and for re-entry in case of non-payment of rent in a kabuliyat do not affect its validity. (Burn, J. M.) CHHATTAR v. CHHATTAR SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 243 : L. R. 5 A. 42 (Rev).

LEGAL PRACTITIONER—Disbarment—Professional misconduct—If and when can be re admitted.

When a legal practitioner who for professional misconduct has been disbarred from practising his profession of law applies to be restored to his former position the Court should see if his sentence of exclusion has had the effect of awakening him to a higher sense of professional honour and duty and if his conduct and behaviour after the sentence has been so irreproachable as to entitle the Court to admit him again into the ranks of the profession. (Kincaid, J. C., Kemp, De Souza and Raymond, A. J. C.) In re MIRZA JALALUDDIN. 79 I. C. 564.

———Misconduct—In affidavit in support of appeal or revision petitioner must take scrupulous care not to conceal or distort facts — Charge of impropriety or inattention against Judge is not to be lightly made.

A legal practitioner who chooses to file an affidavit in support of a petition of appeal or revision must swear to the facts as they occur and take scrupulous care not to conceal or distort them or confound them with his own impressions hastily formed at the time. From the slip of notes found attached to the record of the appeal or the refusal of the Judge to wait for the records before proceeding with the hearing or from his own failure to make an impression on the Judge the practitioner has no right to assume that the Court had made up its mind or prejudged the case. The members of the legal profession are responsible for the fair and honest conduct of a case and they cannot be allowed to make personal attacks or reckless and unfounded charge of impropriety or inattention against a tribunal when the real ground is that the advocate concerned has failed to make an impression by his arguments on the Court concerned and lost his case in spite of every effort. (Walsh, Kunhaya Lal and Ryves, JJ.) In the matter of W. S. DAY, VAKIL. L. R. 5 A. 389 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1113 : 81 I. C. 937 : 1924 A. 565.

———Pleader—Power to refer questions to arbitration. See ARBITRATION. 79 I. C. 48.

———Professional misconduct — Striking off rolls—Re-installment—When can be made.

Where a legal practitioner whose name has been struck off the rolls for professional misconduct satisfies the court after the lapse of 7 years that he has been leading an honest and straight life since his debarment it is the duty of the High Court to give him another chance. (Miller C. J., Foster and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) MATHURA

LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT.

PRASAD SINGH v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L.J. 1274 :
82 I. C. 282 : 1925 P. 250.

—Witness—If should take up brief.

A legal practitioner who is a witness in a case or who is personally interested in the litigation should not take up a brief in the same (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) GHADIALY v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 571 : 81 I. C. 59 : 1925 S. 99.

LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT (XVIII OF 1879)—Pleader standing surety for accused—Detention of accused's property alleged to be stolen—Whether professional misconduct—Quasi criminal nature of—Principle of Autrefois acquit.

M. stood surety for accused who was arrested on a charge under S. 420, I. P. C., and took charge of certain valuable property at his request, which subsequently turned out to be stolen property. The accused was convicted, and the vakil on a subsequent trial under Ss. 420, 411 and 414 of the I. P. C. was acquitted and proceedings under S. 13 (1) was instituted for misconduct in having stood surety for the accused and detained his valuables. Held that in standing surety for a man under S 420 the pleader was not guilty of unprofessional conduct and did not act as his pleader and he was not guilty of criminal offence in taking charge of the accused's jewels, (2) and that his acquittal in a criminal court for lack of efficiency of evidence, is a bar to proceedings under the Legal Practitioners Act, as the proceedings therein are quasi criminal and the principle of "Autrefois acquit" and must apply. (Per Sir Sydney Robinson, C. J. and other Judges in Chambers) In the matter of MAUNG PO TOK, A PLEADER. 2 Rang 491 : 1925 R. 110.

—Ss. 12-40—Criminal offence—Power to take action—Suspension—Notice.

If a complaint is made against a legal practitioner that he has committed an offence, it is a matter which should be tried before a criminal Court and not by proceedings under the Legal Practitioners Act. If he is convicted by the former, then disciplinary action can be taken.

Under S. 40 a pleader should not be suspended without an opportunity being afforded to defend himself. In the matter of MAUNG KIN SO.

76 I. C. 825 : 25 Cr. L. J. 265.

—S. 12—Temporary misappropriation of client's money—Suspension.

A legal practitioner was convicted of criminal breach of trust, but the court found it was only a temporary misappropriation and dealt with him leniently. Held the conviction did not imply a defect of character which would unfit him permanently to be a pleader and a sentence of suspension would be sufficient. (Sanderson, C. J. and Richardson, J.) EMPEROR v. BRAHMANANDA DATTA. 25 Cr. L. J. 1125 (2) : 81 I. C. 949 (2) : 1925 Cal. 238.

—S. 13—Misconduct—Boycott of courts—Disrespectful attitude to the Court—Throwing up brief—Liability of pleader.

The members of the local bar took a dislike to a Magistrate on the ground that he was in the habit of dismissing their cases because counsel did not appear immediately when the case was called on. They passed a resolution boycotting the Magistrate. In pursuance of that resolution a pleader threw up his brief before the Magistrate to which course the client subsequently assented. Held that under the circumstances the pleader was not guilty of professional misconduct. If the pleader had thrown up his brief without the client's consent leaving him undefended the pleader would have been guilty of professional misconduct. Pleaders have duties and obligations to their clients in respect of the suits and matters and equally important duty cast on them, viz., to co-operate with the court in the orderly and pure administration of Justice. The boycott resolution was improper and if it had not been withdrawn, would have called for serious notice of the Court. (Robinson, C. J. and May Young, J.) A PLEADER In the matter of. 2 Rang. 265 : 82 I. C. 712 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1352 : 1924 R. 320.

LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT, S. 13.

—Ss. 13, 14—Pleader, employing himself as professor without consent of court—Expressing loss of faith in British India.

77 I. C. 986 : 25 Cr. L. J. 522.

—S. 13—Pleader paying client's money to a relation of the client—Want of authority—Professional misconduct.

A pleader who withdraws from court money belonging to his client and pays it over to a relative of the client without being authorised to do so, acts negligently, but is not guilty of professional misconduct within the meaning of S. 13 (Sanderson, C. J. and Richardson, J.) EMPEROR v. BABU BHUBANESWAR NAG. 77 I. C. 181 : 25 Cr. L. J. 325 : 1925 All. 146.

—S. 13—Pleader—Professional misconduct—Order under S. 107, Cr. P. Code—Non-compliance with—Committal to prison—Civil disobedience—Carrying on business without permission—Legality of.

Two pleaders against whom orders under S. 107 of the Criminal Procedure Code had been passed refused to furnish security and were thereupon committed to prison. Later on when the question of renewing their sanads was brought to the High Court they disclaimed and disavowed any intention of either disobeying the District Magistrate's orders or of paralysing the administration of Justice. Held, that the High Court could accept their expressions of regret as being genuine and order the sanad to be issued to these pleaders.

Per Courts Trotter, J. :—While the Court will not interfere with or have regard to any man's political opinions or opinions on public questions it is impossible to allow a person who proclaims or practises what is called the doctrine of "Civil disobedience" to ask to be part of the machinery of the Courts which exist for the very purpose of the thwarting of Civil disobedience and the enforcement of Civil obedience. (Schwabe, C. J. and Courts Trotter, J.) FIRST GRADE PLEADER in the matter of. (1924) M. W. N. 5:1924 Mad. 479.

—S. 13 (b)—Pleader—Professional misconduct—False representation to client—Apprehension of injury to professional reputation—Vindictive proceedings—Costs. 1924 Mad. 160 : (1924) M. W. N. 18.

—S. 13 (b)—Pleader—Purchase of litigation—Conduct of litigation in the name of another—Fees taxed as costs—Impropriety.

LEGAL PRACTITIONERS ACT, S. 14.

A pleader purchased certain property which was to be the subject of litigation in the name of a third person, instituted a suit for the property in the name of that person, appeared and conducted the case and succeeded in having his fee taxed in the costs against the defendant although the pleader was himself the real plaintiff. Held that the conduct of the pleader fell within S. 13 (f) of the Legal Practitioners Act, even though the Oudh Civil Digest might not apply to his case (Neave and Kendall, A. J. C.) SHEO NARAIN LAL v. A AND B PLEADERS.

10 O. & A. L. R. 427.

31 I. C. 975 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1151 :

1 O. W. N. 264.

—S. 14—Scope of enquiry—Asking Bench clerk for trend of judgment before it is delivered—Professional misconduct. 5 Pat. L. T. 350 : 1924 P. 131 : 75 I. C. 728 : 25 Cr. L. J. 140.

—S. 36—Declaration of a person as tout—Inquiry—Mode of—Discretion of District Judge. 1924 A. 69.

—S. 36—Jurisdiction—Order declaring tout 75 I. C. 722 : 25 Cr. L. J. 34.

—S. 36—Proceedings under—Recording of evidence—Delegation of functions.

It is only the Judges and officers specially mentioned in S. 36 of the Legal Pract. Act, who can frame and publish list of tous ; they cannot delegate the task of making the enquiry or taking evidence to a subordinate officer and the evidence must be adduced before the former. 15 I. C. 654, 59 I. C. 322 : 60 I. C. 321 Ref. (Abdul Raoof, J.) KISHOR CHAND v. EMPEROR. 5 Lab 443.

LESSOR AND LESSEE—Assignee of lease—Trespasser—Possession of—Pendency of lease—Title of lessor.

An occupancy tenant leased his holding in 1897 for 23 years to the zamindar and put him in possession. Pending the lease the defendant entered into possession and got the holding registered as Khudkasht in the revenue papers. The successor in interest of the occupancy tenant brought a suit for declaration of title. Held that the title of the plff. was not affected in any way and that he was entitled to a decree. (Walsh, A. J. C.) BIJADHAR BHAGAT v. JEAT CHAMAR.

22 A. L. J. 647 : L. R. 5 A. 404 : 80 I. C. 601 : 1924 A. 518.

LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION—Grant of—Sale by administrator of immoveable property without sanction of court—Deceased subsequently found to be a Buddhist—Effect on antecedent transactions.

Letters of administration had been granted in respect of the estate of a deceased person. The administrator sold immoveable property of the deceased without the permission of the Court but in the course of administration. Subsequently it was found that the deceased was a Buddhist exempted from the operation of the Succession Act. Held that the sale by the administrator was not thereby rendered invalid. (Heald and Lentaigne, JJ.) LEE LIM MA HOOK v. SAW MAH HONE

2 Rang. 4 : 79 I. C. 729 : 1924 Rang. 221.

LETTERS PATENT, CL. 12.

LETTERS PATENT—Joint trial—Judicial Discretion—Defective summing up—Interference.

76 I. C. 966 (2) : 25 Cr. L. J. 294 (2).

—(BOM.) Cl. 12—High Court—Original side—Administration suit—Land outside Court's jurisdiction—Power to adjudicate on claim.

A suit for the administration of an estate is not a suit for land. Consequently the High Court can in the exercise of its original jurisdiction and in the course of an administration suit determine whether lands situate outside the limits of its ordinary jurisdiction belonged to the deceased at the time of his death. Leave under Cl. (12) of the Letters Patent is not necessary for the suit. 29 B. 249 Ref. ; 33 Cal. 180 foll. (Shah, A. C. J. and Crump, J.) MAHOMEDALLY ADAMJI v. ABDUL HUSSEIN ADAMJI. 48 Bom. 331 : 26 Bom. L. R. 163 : 79 I. C. 780 : 1924 Bom. 313.

—Cl. 12—Mortgage suit—Property and persons outside jurisdiction—Jurisdiction of Original side.

The High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original Civil jurisdiction has power to entertain a suit by a mortgagee to enforce the mortgage security even though the properties are situate outside the limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction and against mortgagors who are living outside the jurisdiction. 14 B. 353 foll. (Shah, J.) JASRAJ FOOAJI v. AKUBAL. 26 Bom. L. R. 539 : 80 I. C. 1007 : 1924 Bom. 419.

—Cl. 12—Suit for land—Suit on mortgage—Property outside jurisdiction—Original side.

Suits by mortgagees to enforce their rights under their mortgages are not suits for land within the meaning of Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent, and such a suit is one to realise and dispose of his and his debtor's interests in the land. The object of the suit is not to obtain land or to obtain a declaration of title to land or to obtain damages for interference with land, but to obtain repayment of debt owing to the plaintiff and for that purpose to realise the security which has been vested in him. 14 B. 353 : 22 B. 701 foll. The personal jurisdiction of the Bombay High Court is exercised under Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent not only in cases where the defendants or some of them reside permanently within the jurisdiction but where, according to the provision of the Letters Patent, they have been lawfully caused to appear upon summons where the cause of action or part of it has arisen in Bombay. (Scott, C. J. and Heaton, J.) VENKATRAO SETHUPATHY v. KHMJI ASSUR. 80 I. C. 442 : 26 Bom. L. R. 535.

—Cl. 12—Suit by unpaid vendor for price—Declaration of lien—Lands outside jurisdiction.

A suit by an unpaid vendor of immoveable property to have a charge declared on such property for the balance of the purchase money as against a vendee residing or carrying on business in Bombay is maintainable on the original side of the High Court even though the property is situate outside the limits of the original jurisdiction. The High Court has jurisdiction in personam in regard to lands situate outside its ordinary original jurisdiction. (Fawcett, J.) SHRIMAN NEDAN RAJAH KOTAKAL v. THE MALABAR TIMBER CO., LTD. 26 Bom. L.R. 541 : 48 Bom. 625 : 80 I. C. 1049 : 1924 Bom. 412.

LETTERS PATENT, CL. 15.

—Cl. 15—Appeal—Whole case open.

In a Letters Patent appeal, the whole case is open and not merely the points on which the Judges differed. (Macleod, C.J., Kajiji and Kemp, JJ.) VELJI BHIMSEY & CO. v. BACHOO BHODAS. 26 Bom. L. R. 349 : 48 Bom. 691 : 1925 Bom. 118.

—Cl. 15—Judgment—Order refusing to excuse delay—Application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council.

An order refusing to excuse the delay in presenting an application for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council is a "judgment" within the meaning of cl. 15 of the Letters Patent and appealable. (Marten, Pratt and Fawcett, JJ.) NAGINDAS MOTILAL v. NILAJI MOROBA NAIK. 26 Bom. L. R. 395 : 48 Bom. 442 : 80 I. C. 362 : 1924 Bom. 399.

—Cl. 36—Appeal under Cl. 15 of the Letters Patent—Difference of opinion among members of Division Bench—Procedure.

Where the two members of a Division Bench hearing a letters patent appeal from the decision of a single Judge in a second appeal differ in their opinion, the opinion of the senior Judge prevails under Cl. 36 of Letters Patent. (Macleod, C. J., Kajiji and Crump, JJ.) PANDU DAGADOO v. JAMNA DAS. 26 Bom. L.R. 470 : 1925 Bom. 113.

—(CALCUTTA). Cl. 15—Judgment—Appealability—Order dismissing suit for want of prosecution—Rule 36 of Chapter 10 of the Calcutta High Court Rules.

An order of a single judge on the Original Side of the Calcutta High Court dismissing a suit for want of prosecution under Rule 36 of Chapter 10 of the Original Side Rules of the Calcutta High Court, is a judgment and is appealable under Cl. 15 of the Letters Patent. (Sanderson, C. J. and Walmsley, J.) UDOY CHAND PANNA LAL v. KHESIDAS. 28 C. W. N. 916 : 51 Cal. 1025 : 81 I. C. 1048 : 1924 Cal. 1025.

—Cls 15 and 36—Division Bench of High Court hearing appeal—Difference of opinion—Dismissal of appeal under S. 98, C. P. C.—Letters Patent Appeal.

A Division Bench of two Judges of the High Court heard an appeal. The senior Judge was for dismissing the appeal while the junior Judge was for allowing it in part. The Judges eventually dismissed the appeal under S. 98, C. P. Code. An appeal under Cl. 15 of the Letters Patent was filed against the decision. Held that the proper provision applicable to the case was not S. 98, C.P.C. but Cl. 36 of the Letters Patent and therefore the opinion of the senior Judge which prevailed, could be made the subject of a letters patent appeal. (Newbould, Ghose and Page, JJ.) SURESH CHANDRA MUKERJI v. SHITI KANTA BANERJEE. 28 C. W. N. 637 : 78 I. C. 679 : 51 Cal. 669 : 1924 Cal. 855.

LETTERS PATENT, CL. 41.

—Cl. 26—Certificate of Advocate General—Statement of trial judge as to fact happening at the trial court—Conclusiveness of—Procedure for granting certificates. 25 Cr. L. J. 817 : 81 I. C. 353 : 1924 Cal. 257.

—Cl. 28—Jurisdiction of the High Court—Goondas Act (1 of 1923)—Warrant issued by Secretary to Government—Legality—Revision—Cr. P. Code, Ss. 435 and 439.

An order of the Secretary to the Bengal Government declaring a person to be a Goonda and directing him to leave Bengal on a specified date passed under Bengal Act I of 1923 is not open to revision by the High Court either under Cl. 28 of the Letters Patent or under Ss. 435 and 439 of the Cr. P. Code. The Secretary is not "an inferior criminal court" within S. 435, Cr. P. Code. (Groaves and Panton, JJ.) BHIMRAJ BANIA v. EMPEROR. 51 C. 460 : 83 I. C. 500 : 1924 Cal. 698.

—Cl. 36—Applicability of—Reference under S. 66 of the Income Tax Act—Difference of opinion among members of Division Bench—Opinion of senior Judge prevails—See INCOME TAX ACT, S. 2. 51 C. 504.

—S. 41—Appeal to Privy Council.

Whether appeal lies to Privy Council from order on certificate by the Advocate General was not decided as the Privy Council dismissed the appeal on merits 25 Mad. 61. Expl. (Lord Sumner.) BARENDRA KUMAR GHOSE v. EMPEROR. 1 O. W. N. 935 : 1925 P. C. 1.

—Cl. 41 — Criminal case—Leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council—Grounds for—Stay of execution of sentence.

As His Majesty the King is supreme over all persons and courts within his dominions, a right of appeal in all cases, civil and criminal, to the King in Council exists, from the highest Court of each separate colony, province, state or possession, whether it be a court of error or not, except so far as the prerogative in this behalf has been expressly surrendered. Cushing v. Dupuy (1880, 2 A. C. 409 Re Wi Mahia's will (1908) A. C. 448 Ref. Criminal proceedings, however are, in practice, reviewed only if it is shown that by a disregard of the forms of legal process or by some violation of the principles of natural justice or otherwise, substantial and grave injustice has been done. The judicial committee do not, as a rule, advise His Majesty to grant appeals in criminal cases, except where questions of great and general importance, likely to occur often, are raised, and where the due and orderly administration of the law is shown to be interrupted or diverted into a new course, which might create a precedent for the future, and where there are no other means of preventing these consequences. Such appeals lie either by the right of grant, in pursuance of leave obtained by the appellant from the Court appealed from, or by reason of special leave granted by the judicial committee. The latter appeals arise, either where the court below does not possess power to grant leave to appeal or where the leave to appeal was granted on some special point and the appellant wishes to raise points not included in the leave to appeal. But whether leave is granted by the Court appealed from or by the judicial committee, it is plain that the answer to the question, whether the case is a fit one for appeal, must depend on the same considerations; the grant of the leave to appeal is a step ancillary to the determination of the appeal and the principles which regulate the ultimate decision of the appeal cannot obviously be ignored when an application for leave is examined. (1914) A. C. 599 Ref.

LETTERS PATENT (Lahore), CL. 10.

The rule has been repeatedly laid down and has been invariably followed that Her Majesty will not review or interfere with the course of criminal proceedings, unless it is shown that by a disregard of the forms of legal process or by some violation of the principles of natural justice or otherwise substantial and grave injustice has been done. 12 A. C. 459 Ref.

Where the question of the legality of the conviction of the accused of a capital offence depended on a correct construction of S. 34 of the Indian Penal Code and there was a deep-seated divergence of judicial opinion in every superior court in India as to the true interpretation of the section, it is a fit case for granting leave to appeal to the Privy Council under Cl. 41 of the Letters Patent.

The High Court further directed that as a certificate under Cl. 41 of the Letters Patent had been ordered, the execution of the sentence under appeal should be stayed subject to such orders as may be passed by their Lordships of the Judicial Committee. (Mookerjee and Chatterjee, JJ.) BARENDRA KUMAR GHOSH v. EMPEROR 39 C. L. J. 1 : 28 C. W. N. 377 : 83 I. C. 560 : 1924 Cal. 545.

———(LAHORE), Cl. 10—Appeal under—New plea as to limitation.

Where it was urged for the first time in Letters Patent Appeal that a suit was barred by Art. 44, but its decision involved a finding of fact, viz., whether the appellant's possession was adverse to the knowledge of the respondents, it cannot be heard at that stage. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Le Rossignol, J.) WAZIR CHAND v. NATHU RAM. 6 L. L. J. 151 : 80 I. C. 321 : 1924 Lah. 468.

———Cl. 12—Carrying on business—Meaning of—Defendant—If includes foreigners.

1924 Mad. 158.

———(MADRAS), Cls. 13 and 15—Appeal—Order for transfer of a suit—'Judgment'

47 Mad. 136 : 1924 Mad. 90.

———Cl. 15—Judgment—Meaning—Execution of decree—Stay of—Order of single Judge refusing—Appeal against.

An appeal lies under Cl. (15) of the Letters Patent against the order of a single Judge of the High Court refusing to stay the execution of a decree.

Meaning of the word "Judgment" in cl. (15). The fact that part of a decree is declaratory is no bar to a stay of the execution thereof being granted pending an appeal therefrom. (Krishnan and Waller, JJ.) SONACHALAM PILLAI v. KUMARA VELU CHETTIAR. 47 Mad. 316 :

(1924) M. W. N. 167 : 19 L. W. 427 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 32 : 79 I. C. 109 : 1924 Mad. 597 : 46 M. L. J. 138.

LETTERS PATENT (Rangoon), CL. 7.

———Cl. 15—Order allowing plaintiff to sue as a pauper—If a judgment—Appeal—Opportunity to defendant to disprove—Effect of Government admitting pauperism.

An order of a Judge on the Original Side of the High Court giving leave to the plaintiff to sue in forma pauperis is a judgment within cl. 15 of the Letters Patent and is appealable.

At the hearing of such an application, even if the Government admits the pauperism of the plaintiff, the defendant should be given opportunities to prove he was not a pauper. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Srinivasa Iyengar, J.) BABA SAH v. PURUSHOTAMA SAH.

20 L. W. 845 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 136 : 1925 Mad. 167 : 47 M. L. J. 932.

———Cl. 36—Small Cause Revision case—Difference of opinion among judges of division Bench—Procedure.

Where a High Court acts in revision under S. 25 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act and the Judges constituting the Bench differ in opinion, S. 98 C. P. Code does not apply but under Cl. 36 of the Letters Patent, the opinion of the senior Judge would prevail case law reviewed. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) NAGAPPA PILLAI v. ARUNECHALAM CHETTY.

1925 Mad. 281 : 47 M. L. J. 876.

———(RANGOON), Cl. 7—Advocates of upper Burma—Right to be enrolled—Status.

1924 Rang. 1.

———Cl. 8—Allegations against practitioner in his role as printer—Acts punishable under Criminal Law—Disciplinary action. In the matter of MAUNG BA KYIN. 76 I. C. 827 : 25 Cr. L. J. 267 : 1924 Rang. 113.

———S. 11—Application to remove a suit to High Court. 76 I. C. 479.

———Cl. 13—Appeal—Limitation for—Delay. MAUNG HMAN v. MA SHIN. 1924 Rang. 45.

———Cl. 13—Order of a single Judge regarding procedure to be followed by commissioner in taking accounts whether a 'judgment'—Competency of appeal.

Where in a partnership suit, on the Commissioner's application for directions in taking accounts, the Judge in the original side passed an order, which was appealed against under cl. 13 of the Letters Patent Held, that an order which authorizes proceedings to be taken for the determination of the question between the parties, cannot be considered a judgment within the meaning of cl. 13 of the Letter Patent. It is merely an order facilitating the examination of accounts and regulates only the procedure without determining the right between the parties. Held further, a decision which affects the merits of the question between the parties by determining some right or liability may be held to be a judgment, and an order, which paves the way for such determination cannot be considered a 'judgment' and is not appealable. The Justice of the Peace for Calcutta v. Oriental Gas Coy. 8 B L. R. 433; Ramendra Nath Roy v. Brajendra Nath Das 45 Cal. 111; Tulja Ram Rao v. Alagappa Chettiar 35 Mad. 1. followed. (Robinson, C. J. and Brown J.) YEO ENG BYAN v. BENG SENG & Co. 2 Rang. 469 : 1925 Rang. 43.

LICENSOR AND LICENSEE.

LICENSOR AND LICENSEE—Denial of title—Forfeiture—Revocation of.

A licensee, unlike a lessee, does not forfeit his license by merely denying the title of his licensor. Nor can a license be revoked where, relying on the license the licensee has executed a work of a permanent character. 39 A. 621 Foll : 28 A 74, Foll. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) AMJAD KHAN v. SHAFI-
 UDDIN KHAN. 78 I.C. 215.

LIMITATION—Appeal—Calculation of time.

In calculating the period of limitation for filing an appeal, time must be calculated from the date of judgment and not of the decree. (Fremantle, S. M.) MUMTAZ ALI v JAGARNATH PANDEY.

10 O. & A. L. R. 262 : L. R. 5 A. 45 (Rev).

—Deduction of time—Putni sold for arrears—Sale set aside and possession restored—Appeal by purchaser—Time between restoration of possession and decision of appeal cannot be deducted.

A putni taluk was sold under Regulation VIII of 1819 for arrears of rent for the year 1321 and purchased by one B. The defendants sued to set aside that sale. The suit was decreed on the 4th October 1917 by the trial Court. The sale was set aside and the defendants were held entitled to possession and they actually got possession in October 1917. There was an appeal by the purchaser but the decree of the trial Court was confirmed by the High Court on the 12th August, 1919. Plaintiff instituted a suit for rent on the 20th March, 1920. It was originally for rent of 1323 and for the kists upto 1326. Subsequently on the 4th March, 1921, there was an application for the amendment of the plaint and the arrears of rent for the year 1322 were included in the claim. The defendants were restored to possession of the putni in October 1917, which was more than 3 years before the 4th March, 1921, and there was nothing to prevent the plaintiff from suing them for rent of 1322 and accordingly the claim for the year 1322 was barred by limitation. The period between the date when defendants got possession and the date of decision in appeal cannot be deducted. 12 M. I. A. 244 Foll. 43 Cal. 660. Dist. (N. R. Chatterjee and Chotzner JJ.) BIJOY CHAND MOHATAB v. KHOKA SINHA. 40 C. L. J. 97 : 1924 Cal 1059.

—Nature of plea.

A plea of limitation is not a mere technical plea. A party who can invoke the law of limitation in his favour is certainly justified in doing so and he ought not to be deprived of the advantages thereby gained by the alleged technicality of the plea raised. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MANGHUMAL JETHANAND v. ARATMAL SATRAMDAS. 1924 Sindh 47 :

—Plaint—Amendment of—Suit in personal Capacity—Change into claim as administrator—Suit barred to the date of amendment—Effect.

The plaintiff sued within the period of limitation for money due, but after the expiry of the period wanted the plaint to be amended so as to be permitted to sue as administrator also. Held the change in the capacity of the plaintiff to maintain the suit has not the effect of introducing a new plaintiff and no question of limitation arises. (Suhrawardy and Chotzner, JJ.) NABA KUMAR CHOUDHURY v. HIGHEAZAMY. 79 I. C. 403 : 1925 Cal. 419.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 4.

—Starting point—Suspension of—Revival.

Ordinarily limitation runs from the earliest time at which an action can be brought and after time has commenced to run there may be a revival of a right to sue when a previous satisfaction of the claim is nullified with the result that the right to sue which had been suspended is reanimated. 7 M. I. A. 323 : 53 C. 1033 : 43 C. 660 Ref. Whenever proceedings are being conducted between the parties bona fide in order to have their mutual rights and obligations in respect of at matter finally settled, the cause of action for an application or for a suit, the relief claimable wherein follows naturally on the result of such proceedings, should be held to arise only on the date when those proceedings finally settle such rights and liabilities. (Mookerjee and Suhrawardy, JJ.) DWIJENDRA NARAYAN ROY v JAGES CHANDRA. 39 C. L. J. 40 : 79 I. C. 520 : 1924 Cal. 600.

—Suspension of—Sale for arrears of patni rent—Sale set aside at the instance of patnidars—Suit for rent—Limitation.

A patni was sold in 1915 for arrears of rent under Beng Regn. VIII of 1819 and purchased by a stranger. The patnidars sued to set aside the sale and the suit was decreed in 1917 and confirmed in 1919 on appeal. The patnidars actually got possession in 1917. On 20-3-1920, plaintiff instituted the present suit for rent for the years 1323 B. S. and for the kists due up to 1326 B. S. together with cesses. Subsequently on 4-3-1921 there was an application for amendment of the plaint and for arrears of rent for the year 1322 being included. The amendment was allowed. Held, that the claim for the year 1322 was barred, the suit not having been brought within three years of the date when the patnidars got possession. The plaintiff was not entitled to wait simply on the off chance of the decree of the trial Court being set aside by the appellate Court when the defendants had actually got possession of the patni. (Chatterjee and Chotzner, JJ.) MAHARAJA DHIRAJ SIR BIJOY CHAND MOHATAB v. KHOKA SINHA. 40 C. L. J. 97 : 1924 Cal 1059.

LIMITATION ACT, S. 3—Second appeal—Limitation—Mixed question of fact and law—If can be gone into.

In second appeal the High Court cannot of its own accord go into a question of limitation, involving a mixed question of fact and law under S 3, Lim. Act. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) BHUWAN LAL v. MANHORI. 78 I. C. 960.

—S. 4—Prescribed—Meaning of.

The word "prescribed" in S. 4 of the Lim. Act means prescribed in the Lim. Act and not merely in the first schedule. (Wazir Hasan and Kendall, A. J. C.) BANS RAHADUR SINGH v MT. SUKHRAJ KUAR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 250 : 81 I. C. 484 : 11 O. L. J. 297 : 1924 Oudh 385.

—S. 5—Applicability to O. 41. Rr 17 and 19.

47 Mad. 171 : 76 I. C. 886 : 1924 Mad. 114.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 5.

—S. 5—Bona fide impression of a court which entertained the appeal though wrongly filed in his Court justifies extension.

Where a responsible officer like the Commissioner never thought that the appeals were not entertainable by him, under the circumstances, if the appellants thought that, they had a right of appeal to the Commissioner, the mistake must be taken to be bona fide mistake until the contrary is shown. (Mukerji, J.) CHOB SINGH v. DARYAI SINGH. 82 I. C. 594 : 1924 A. 915.

L. R. 5 A. 163 (Rev.) : 1924 A. 915.

—S. 5—Change of rule—Ignorance of—If ground for excusing delay.

The fact that a person was not aware of a change of rule which had been given ample publicity is no ground for excusing delay. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) GOPAL GANESH v. WALLABHDAS SANTUKIRAM. 75 I. C. 878.

—S. 5—Delay in filing appeal—Copies of original judgment not filed in time—Recent notification—Ignorance of. 1924 Lah. 41.

—S. 5—Delay in filing appeal—Mistake of counsel.

The mere fact that the counsel entrusted with the task of filing an appeal forgot all about it till after the expiry of limitation, is not a sufficient ground for extending time under S 5 of the Lim. Act. (Dalal, J. C.) MT. DILAN v. RAM BHARASEY. 10 W. N. 880 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1276.

—S. 5—Delay in getting copies—Money paid to clerk—Appellant taking no steps—Negligence. MT. MAHTAB KUER v. MT. BIRHMO. 1924 All. 176.

—S. 5—Excusing delay ex-parte—Order not objected to at the hearing of appeal—Revision.

Where a Judge excused the delay in the filing of an appeal without notice to the respondent and when the appeal came on for hearing the latter did not object to the order, the final decision in the appeal cannot be attacked on the ground of the delay in filing the appeal. (Kendall, A. J. C.) BHARAT v. BASANT. 80 I. C. 617 : 1925 Oudh 148.

—S. 5—Ex parte decree—Application to set aside—Excusing delay.

The High Court has power to frame a rule making the provisions of S. 5 of the Lim. Act, applicable to applications to set aside ex parte decrees. (Coutts Trotter, C. J. Ramesan and Wallace, JJ.) KRISHNAMACHARIAR v. SRI RANGAMMAL. 47 Mad. 824 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 43 : (1924) M. W. N. 682 : 20 L. W. 382 : 80 I. C. 877 : 1925 Mad. 14 : 47 M. L. J. 409.

—S. 5—Extension of time—Review—No reasonable ground—If time can be deducted.

The mere presentation of a petition for review of judgment unless it is shown there was reasonable ground for the same, does not entitle the applicant, for an extension of time under S. 5, when he prefers an appeal against the judgment. (Sanderson, C. J. and Walmsley, J.) KAILASH CHANDRA NAG v. BEJOY CHANDRA NAG. 80 I. C. 786 : 1925 Cal. 253.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 5.

—S. 5—Leave to appeal to the Privy Council—Time taken in application for review—Deduction of.

The time taken in applying for a review of judgment may be deducted in calculating the period of limitation for an application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council. (Shah, A. C. J. and Kincaid, J.) NARIMAN RUSTOMJI v. HASHAM ISMAYAL. 26 Bom. L. R. 1261 : 1925 Bom. 137.

—S. 5—Mistake of vakil's clerk—If sufficient cause.

The mistake of a clerk in filing the appeal out of time is no ground for excusing delay. (Dalal, J. C.) GANESH DAT v. HIRDE BIHARI. 82 I. C. 484 : 1925 Oudh 189 (1).

—S. 5—Period for leave to appeal cut down—Mistaken advice of counsel—If sufficient cause.

Act XXVI of 1920 which cut down the time for leave to appeal to the Privy Council from six months to three months came into force on 1st January 1921. In respect of a judgment delivered a few days later the party on the advice of his local pleaders applied for leave within the six months' period but after the three months' period had expired. There was a delay of 14 days and it was sought to be excused as due to the erroneous advice of local pleader. Held, it was a fit case for excusing the delay. (Marion, Pratt and Fawcett, JJ.) NAGINDAS MOTILAL v. NILAJI MOROBA NAIK. 48 Bom 442 : 26 Bom. L. R. 395 : 80 I. C. 862 : 1924 Bom 399.

—S. 5—Sufficient cause.

Where the filing of the cross objection raised a question of proprietary title and thus made the appeal to the Commissioner incompetent, held, the delay in filing it in the Court of District Judge should be excused as appellant could not take this event into consideration when he filed the appeal. (Stuart, J.) LALA BHAGWAN DAS v. MOHABHAT SHAH. 1923 All. 170.

—S. 5—Sufficient cause—Review—Discovery of new evidence.

The sufficient cause mentioned in S. 5 Lim. Act can include the late discovery of new evidence on which an application for review is granted. Where there are good grounds for granting review on the discovery of new evidence, that may in certain cases be a ground for extending time. (Batten, A. J. C.) INDRAAJBHAN v. SITARAM. 78 I. C. 527.

—S. 5—Sufficient cause—Illness in the family.

Where an appeal is filed out of time, notice should be issued to the respondent to show cause why the delay should not be excused, and the question decided before the appeal is admitted. The matter of excusing delay is one in the discretion of the court depending on the circumstances of each case and where due diligence, good faith and absence of neglect are shown the delay will be excused. Illness in the family is not sufficient cause (Suhrawardy and Chotzner, JJ.) ELAHIREWAZ KHAN v. BISESWAR BAISYA. 79 I. C. 924 : 1925 Cal. 175.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 5.

—S. 5—Sufficient cause—Interpretation of.

The words "sufficient cause" in S. 5 must receive a liberal interpretation but it must not be over-looked that when once the time for appeal has passed a valuable right is secured to the successful litigant of which he must not be deprived unless the court is satisfied that justice requires that an extension of time should be granted. It must also be shown that there has been no inaction or negligence on the part of the petitioner. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) NUR MAHOMED v. HASOMAL. 78 I. C. 953 : 1925 Sindh 60.

—S. 5—Sufficient cause—Time spent in review—Deduction of.

A plaintiff can deduct in his favour the time spent in prosecuting with due diligence a prior application for review, even though the plaintiff has made a mistake of law in taking those proceedings. 45 C. 94 Ref. (Daniels, J.) PARBHU DAYAL v. MURLIDHAR. 22 A. L. J. 365 : L. R. 5 A. 298 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 528 : 78 I. C. 677 : 1924 All. 867.

—S. 5-A.—Delay due to wrong legal advice—If ground for excusing.

The period of limitation for applying for leave to appeal to the King in Council having been cut down by Act XXVI of 1920, certain parties sought to get delay in filing such a petition excused on the ground their local pleader advised them the old period of 6 months was still in force. The name of the pleader was not disclosed in the affidavit nor any reasons given why their High Court's counsel was not consulted. Held, there was not sufficient cause to excuse the delay. (Prideaux and Kinkhede, A. J. C.) PADAMRAJ PHULCHAND v. MITSUIE BHUSHAN KESHA. 1924 Nag. 279.

—S. 6—Minor—Promissory note in the name of guardian—Suit on—Limitation.

Where a guardian takes a promote, he is the person entitled to sue on it and the suit would be barred if not brought within the ordinary period of limitation. S. 6 of the Lim. Act has no application to the case. 28 M. 205 Foll. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) VISHNU NARAYAN v. KESHAV GAJANAN. 26 Bom. L. R. 426.

80 I. C. 474 : 1924 Bom. 468.

—S. 6—Right to sue—Joint Hindu family—Members not in existence at the time of alienation.

A right to sue is not co-parcenary property in which a son acquires a right by birth. If the plaintiff is a minor on the date when limitation commences, the period of limitation will be extended by virtue of S. 6 of the Lim. Act but S. 6 cannot be pleaded by a plaintiff who was not in existence when the alienee took possession. (Daniels, J.) DHANRAJ RAI v. RAM NARESH.

L. R. 5 A. 325 : 79 I. C. 1019 : 1924 All. 912.

—Ss. 6, 7, and 8—Scope of.

The period of limitation prescribed for a suit of the nature to which the provisions of Ss. 6, 7 and 8 apply must be taken to be the period reckoned on the basis on the time provided by the schedule and also of provisions of S. 8. (Wazir Hasan and Kendall, A. J. C.) BANS BAHADUR SINGH v. MT. SUKHRAJ KUAR.

10 O. & A. L. R. 250.

81 I. C. 484 : 11 O. L. J. 297 : 1924 Oudh 385.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 10.

—S. 7—Decree holders—Major and minor—If former can grant valid discharge.

Where of two joint decree holders one is major and the other a minor, the former cannot give a valid discharge binding on the latter without S. 7, Lim. Act. (Moti Sagar, J.) COURT OF WARDS v. ABRAR ALI. 1924 Lah. 681.

—S. 7—Joint decree-holder—Hindu father and minor sons—Father next friend and guardian in the suit—Capacity to give discharge—Civil Procedure Code, O. 32, R. 6—Execution application—Limitation—When commences.

A decree was obtained in a suit in which the plaintiffs were Hindu father and his minor sons, the latter being described on the face of the proceedings as suing through their next friend and guardian the father. The father died soon after the decree, and the eldest of the minors filed an execution application within three years of attaining majority, but more than three years after decree. Held, as the father was the next friend of his minor sons, he was not in a position to give a good and legal discharge without the consent of the court whose permission was necessary under O. 32, R. 6, Civil Procedure Code, and hence under S. 7, Limitation Act, time did not run from the date of the decree but only after the disability, i.e., minority ceased. The application for execution was therefore within time. 36 Mad. 295 : 25 M. L. J. 150 applied (Coutts Trotter, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) AL. VR. CT. LAKSHMANAN CHETTI v. SUBBIAH CHETTI.

20 L. W. 342 : 47 Mad. 920 :

35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 92 : 82 I. C. 785 :

1924 M. W. N. 773 : 1925 Mad. 78 :

47 M. L. J. 389.

—S. 7—Joint decree-holders—Succession certificate taken by all—Minors—Limitation for execution.

Pending a suit for contribution the plaintiff died and his adult son, widow, and three minor sons represented by their brother as guardian obtained a succession certificate in their names and got themselves substituted in the place of the deceased plaintiff. Subsequently in proceedings in execution of the decree the question arose whether it was competent to the adult decree-holders to give a valid discharge to the judgment-debtor within the meaning of S. 7 of the Limitation Act. Held by Walmsley, J. (Suhrawardy, J. dissenting) that in the circumstances of the case it was open to the adult decree holders to give a valid discharge in respect of the decree without the concurrence of the minor decreeholders, even though the succession certificate had been given to all of them. (Walmsley and Suhrawardy, JJ.) BILWAR BIBI v. MAHOMED HABIBAR RAHAMAN. 51 Cal. 566 : 1924 Cal. 710.

—S. 9, Art. 155—Suit for possession by mortgagee—Limitation—Suspension of.

1924 Lah. 40.

—S. 10—Applicability to constructive trusts.

Per Dawson Miller, C. J.—Where a person directs another to acquire property for him (the person directing) and furnishes some money for the purpose, but after sometime he withdraws from the venture completely but the person directed continues his exertions and entirely as their result, acquires the property, there is only a constructive trust and S. 10 does not apply.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 10.

Per Mullick, J.—There is no trust at all in such a case and limitation begins to run from the date of the withdrawal of the principal. (Dawson Miller, C. J., Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD SINGH v. MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD. 5 Pat L. T. Supp. 1 : 1925 P. 68.

—S. 10—Applicability—Principal and agent—Suit against agent.

To a suit by a principal against his agent, S. 10 cannot apply. (Baker, J. C. and Pridcaux A. J. C.) BHANJAL v. BEHARILAL, 81 I. C. 505.

—S. 10—Applies to trust of land to be acquired in the future—The absence of any property at the date of creation of the trust does not affect the applicability of S. 10.

It is open to a person to create a trust empowering another to go to a certain place for the purpose of acquiring land for him and the land so acquired would become vested in the trustee from the moment of its acquisition and the trust would fasten to that land exactly as if it had been vested in the trustee at the moment of the creation of the trust. (Dawson Miller, C. J., Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHO PRASAD. 5 Pat. L. T. Supp. 1 : 1925 P. 68.

—S. 10—Express trust can be proved by inferences from conduct of parties and without express declaration—Trusts Act, S. 5.

Per Mullick, J.—It is not necessary that an express declaration should be proved. Inference can be drawn from the conduct of the parties sufficient to establish an express trust. (Dawson Miller, C. J., Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHO PRASAD.

5 Pat. L. T. Supp. 1 : 1925 Pat. 68.

—S. 10—Express trust—Provision for payment of money to a minor on attaining majority—Partition deed—Suit for recovery of money—Limitation.

A partition deed entered into between two Mahomedan brothers recited that their deceased elder brother had entrusted a sum of money to them and one of the two brothers undertook to pay the amount to the son of the deceased brother on his attaining majority together with interest at 9 per cent. per annum. In a suit by the minor more than three years after attaining majority held, that there was an express trust created in favour of the plaintiff and that the suit was not barred by limitation. (Devadoss, J.) MAHOMED MATHAR ROWTHER v. KARA ROWTHER.

20 L. W. 546 : (1924) M. W. N. 876 : 1924 Mad. 920.

—S. 10 and Art. 120—Trustee de son tort—Suit for accounts—Limitation.

S. 10 of the Limitation Act applies only to cases of express trustees. A suit for accounts against a trustee de son tort is governed by Art. 120 of the Lim. Act and he is liable to render accounts of the properties received by him for a period of six years preceding suit 45 M. 415 foll. (Mukerji and Dalal, JJ.) BEHARI LAL v. SHIVA NARAIN.

22 A. L. J. 866 : L. R. 5 A. 697 : 1924 All. 884.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1909), S. 14.

—S. 12—Computation of time—Date of judgment—If excluded

The date on which judgment is pronounced has to be excluded and then the time requisite for obtaining copies. (Campbell, J.) ATA MUHAMMAD v. PIR KHAN. 1924 Lah. 599.

—S. 12—Computation of time—Time for obtaining copies.

Where the time for obtaining copies of judgment, of decree and judgment are two distinct periods and not overlapping, both periods can be deducted under S. 12, Lim. Act. (MacLeod, C. J. and Shah, J.) TIMAPPA GANPAT v. MANJAYA SUBRAYA HEBBAR. 48 Bom. 433 : 26 Bom. L. R. 362 : 1924 Bom. 425.

—S. 12—Scope of—Exclusion of time for obtaining copies. 48 Bom. 292 : 1924 Mad. 185.

—S. 12—Time for obtaining decree or order. 1924 All. 162.

—S. 12—Time for obtaining copies—Decree signed long after judgment.

An appellant is entitled to deduct the time between the delivery of judgment and the signing of the decree in computing the period of limitation for filing an appeal. If the latter date is no after the appealable time, the appellant gets the benefit of the interval, provided he has applied for copy of the decree before it was signed. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) MAHOMED MOIN-UD-DIN ASHRAF v. MOHAMMAD ISHAQ ASHRAF 75 I. C. 265.

—S. 12—Time spent in obtaining copy of judgment—If a deduction in applying for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council.

In applying for leave to appeal to His Majesty in Council it is only the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the decree but not of the judgment that can be deducted in computing limitation. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) NUR MAHOMED v. HASSOMAL.

78 I. C. 953 : 1925 Sindh 60.

—S. 12 (2) and (3)—Copies of judgment and decree—Application for, on different dates—Time occupied in obtaining copy of decree—Deduction of. 1924 P. 113.

—S. 14—Execution before Collector—Proceeding under O. 21, R. 100—Time occupied by—If can be deducted.

A Collector in Central Provinces cannot enquire into objections in execution under O. 21, R. 100 and time spent in such infructuous proceedings cannot be deducted under S. 14 as the Collector is not a court within the meaning of the section. (Baker, J. C.) BANDAPPA v. SHANKER RAO. 1924 Nag. 309.

—S. 14—“Or other cause of a like nature”—Prior application for execution—Dismissal—Non-conformity of relief with decree—Time if can be deducted.

Where a prior execution application is dismissed on the ground that relief asked for was not in conformity with the decree sought to be executed, it falls within “other cause of a like nature” and the time spent in the prior proceedings can be deducted for purposes of limitation. (Mullick and Bucknill, JJ.) KISHORE MAL v. JAGDISH NARAYAN SINGH. 3 Pat. 42 : 75 I. C. 312 : 1924 Pat. 471.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 14.

———S. 14—Parties and cause of action different—Applicability. 1924 Rang. 123.

———S. 14—Plaint returned for presentation to proper court—Deduction of time.

Where a court returns a plaint for want of jurisdiction the time occupied in that court counts towards limitation and saves it under S. 14, Lim. Act from being barred. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) VENKAT BHAT v. MT. YAMUNA. 80 I. C. 286.

———S. 14—Redemption disallowed by Collector—Suit in Civil Court—Limitation.

Where an application to the Collector under the Punjab Redemption of Mortgages Act is disallowed as barred by time, a suit in the Civil Court for the same relief is in effect one to set aside the Collector's order and falls within Art. 14 of the Lim. Act. (Moti Sagar, J.) RAM CHAND v. KAURA. 1924 Lah. 690.

———S. 14 and Art. 62—Patni sale—Purchase by defaulter—Recovery of surplus sale proceeds—Suit—Limitation—Pendency of proceedings to set aside the sale—Limitation—Exclusion of time.

On 15-5-1916 a patni tenure was sold for arrears of revenue. On 29-5-1916 some of the patnidars sued to set aside the sale. Pending the suit further arrears of rent accrued and the patni was again sold on 16-11-1916; plaintiff applied to set aside that sale also and the Court passed a decree on 21-2-1918 setting aside both the sales. On appeal the High Court confirmed the sale on 23-2-1920. Meanwhile one of the patnidars had sued on 14-5-1917 alleging that he had furnished half of the purchase money to the ostensible purchaser and that the sale of 16-11-1916 should be set aside. On 24-1-1917 the ostensible purchaser had withdrawn the surplus sale proceeds from Court. On 31-5-1920 plaintiff applied to amend his plaint by claiming one half of the claim for surplus sale proceeds. Held that the claim for surplus sale proceeds was governed by art. 62 of the Limitation Act and plaintiff had to sue within 3 years from the time when the money was received by the defendant. On the date the application for amendment was made, a suit for recovery of the amount would be barred and therefore the amendment should not be allowed.

The period between the date on which the sale was set aside by the lower court in the first suit and the date when the High Court confirmed the sale on appeal, could not be deducted inasmuch as the case did not come under S. 14 of the Limitation Act. The plaintiff in second suit was not prosecuting the first suit and was not associated with the plaintiffs of the first suit. Nor did it fall under any other section of the Act. (Chatterjee and Cuming, JJ.) NIRANKA CHANDRA BASU v. ATUL KRISHNA GHOSE. 28 C. W. N. 1009 : 1925 Cal. 67.

———S. 14—Scope of—Proceedings not allowed by law—Ignorance of law—If time can be excluded.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 15.

Proceedings coming under S. 14, Lim. Act must be such as are recognized by law as legal in their initiation though a party has carried the proceedings to a wrong court. A party who proceeds in ignorance of law cannot be said to proceed with due diligence or in good faith. (Foster, J.) SHEO DHARI RAM v. GUPHTESWAR PATHAK. 1924 Pat 716.

———S. 14 (2)—Application for execution—Filed in proper Court but prosecuted in wrong Court—Exclusion of time.

The question in the case was whether an execution application on 7-6-1916 was in time. The application before that was dated 10-4-1912 and it was properly filed in the Vadgaon Court but thereafter as that Court had to sit for a certain number of days in a month at the Haveli Court a notice was issued that the Judge would be sitting in the Haveli Court to hear the application. Execution was also ordered on the notified date. The defendant objected to the order on the ground that the Court had no jurisdiction to pass that order sitting in the Haveli Court and appealed to the District Court which on 26-2-1913 set aside that order. An appeal to the High Court by plaintiff proved unsuccessful. The application was finally brought on board in the Vadgaon Court on 30-6-1915 when it was struck off owing to the absence of the plaintiff. Held that the plaintiff was entitled to deduct the time from 15-4-1912 till the decision of the District Court on 26-2-1913 under S. 14 (2) of the Lim. Act. The proceedings in the Haveli Court should be treated as a separate proceeding. (Macleod, C. J., Kajiji and Crump, JJ.) PANDU DAGADU v. JAMNA DAS. 26 Bom. L. R. 470 : 1925 Bom. 113.

———S. 15—Applicability of—Decree—Attachment of, in another execution—Execution proceedings under first decree not stayed—Suspension of limitation.

S. 15 of the Limitation Act only applies to an absolute stay, and not to a limited stay as would be ordered by the notice under O. 21, R. 53 (1) B. The stay does not prevent either the holder of the decree sought to be executed or his judgment-debtor from seeking to execute the original decrees, and that being the case, time must be taken as running against them. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) CHANBASAPPA NAGAPPA v. HOLIBASAPPA BASAPPA. 48 Bom. 485 : 26 Bom. L. R. 317 : 80 I. C. 239 : 1924 Bom. 383.

———S. 15—Applicability—Execution proceedings—Injunction—Period of.

S. 15, Lim Act, applies to execution proceedings and where proceedings are stayed by an injunction order, the period of its duration should be excluded for purposes of limitation. (Das and Ross, JJ.) BABU LAL v. RAMSARAN LAL CHOWDHRY. 78 I. C. 478.

———S. 15—Attachment before judgment of decrees—Injunction—Period if can be excluded.

An attachment before judgment of a decree and a consequent order issued by the court attaching the decree by absolutely prohibiting the execution of the decree by anybody amounts to an injunction and the period of its pendency can be excluded under S. 15 of the Limitation Act in executing the decree. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) KALEPALLI RAJITAGIRIPATHY v. KALEPALLI BHAWANI SANKARAN. 19 L. W. 650. 47 Mad 641 : (1924) M. W. N. 527 : 80 I. C. 103 : 1924 Mad. 673 : 47 M. L. J. 4.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 15.

—S. 15 (2)—Period of notice—Deduction—Notice of Government wards—Ceasing to be wards at the time of hearing—Effect.

Where under Bombay Court of Wards Act, two months' notice had to be given before instituting a suit against the wards, that period can be deducted under S. 15 (2) of the Lim. Act, even though at the time of hearing, the wards had ceased to be under the Government. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) KHANDERAO SHIDRAMAPPA v. CHANMALLAPPA SHIDDAPPA. 26 Bom. L. R. 364 : 81 I. C. 750 : 1924 Bom. 364.

—S. 18—Fraud—Execution sale—Fraudulent concealment of knowledge of sale—Saving of limitation.

The decree-holders once guilty of fraud in bringing about the sale and keeping the judgment debtors ignorant of it must show that the opportunity was offered to the judgment-debtor to discover the fraud and that the fraud in fact dispelled subsequent to the sale or else the fraud once committed would continue. (Jwala Prasad, J.) THAKUR MAHTON v. JHAMAN MAHTON. 5 Pat. L. T. 200 : 80 I. C. 761 (1) : 1924 Pat. 496.

—S. 18—Fraudulent—Suppression of facts—Evidence of—Execution sale—Conduct of decree holder.

In the case of a sale alleged to have been brought about by the fraud of a decree holder, it is open to the Court to find from the suppression of one or more notices relating to the sale or to the decree itself that the whole was part and parcel of one original scheme and that the various incidents were merely indications of the fraudulent intention of the decree-holder from the outset. It is not sufficient to make a general allegation that because there was no service of sale processes or because there was irregularity in the service, the decree holder must necessarily have been responsible. Where a finding as to fraud is arrived at without any evidence to support it, it is liable to be questioned in second appeal. (Mullick and Foster, JJ.) KISHUNDEO NARAYAN MAHTA v. RAMREJAN SINGH. 5 Pat. L. T. 61. 1924 Pat. 67.

—S. 18 and Art. 62—Suit for money had and received—Limitation—Fraud—Proof of—Onus

When a suit is on the facts of it barred, it is for the plaintiff to prove in the first instance the circumstances which would prevent the statute from having its ordinary effect. A person who in such circumstances desires to invoke the aid of S. 18 must establish that there has been fraud, and that by means of such fraud, he has been kept from the knowledge of his right to sue. Once it is established, the burden is shifted on the other side to show that the plaintiff had knowledge of the transaction beyond the period of limitation. Such knowledge must be clear and definite of the facts constituting the particular fraud, (Prideaux, A. J. C.) RAMCHANDRA v. HARDEO. 20 N. L. R. 23 : 80 I. C. 590 : 1924 Nag. 94.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 19.

—S. 19—Acknowledgment. 76 I. C. 751.

—S. 19—Acknowledgment—Essentials of. An acknowledgment under S. 19, Lim. Act must be a conscious admission of the existing liability in respect of the property or right which is claimed in the suit and must show an existing jurat relationship between the parties at the time when the admission was made. If an acknowledgment is not express, it may be by implication but the implication must be a necessary implication so that the acknowledgment is clear and unequivocal. (Kennedy and Bilaram, A. J. C.) RALLIRAM SHEWARAM v. BUDHURAM PARMANAND. 79 I. C. 914.

—S. 19—Acknowledgment of liability—Proof—Statement in prior case. 1924 All. 70.

—S. 19—Acknowledgment of liability—Promise to pay, if necessary.

Under section 19, Limitation Act, it is not necessary that there should be a promise to pay the amount due to constitute an acknowledgment. All that is necessary is an acknowledgment of the liability before the claim is barred. (Devadoss and Jackson, JJ.) PERI RAMASWAMI v. CHANDRA KOTAYYA. 47 M. L. J. 840.

—S. 19—Acknowledgment of liabilities—Statement by debtor.

In a deposition by the debtor in a court he stated "The debt due to the creditor, K was a mortgage debt. It ripened into a decree. It was in O. S. No. 80 of 1910 on the file of the Ellore sub-court. He gave me a letter that he would proceed against the mortgaged property only and would not proceed against my person. These debts are due by me along with others but they were paid by me alone. I therefore owe no debts to any of my creditors". Held, that there was a clear admission by the debtor that he was in debt to the plaintiff and that the statement amounted to an acknowledgment of liability within the meaning of S. 19 of the Limitation Act. (Jackson, J.) TALLAPRAGADA SATYANARAYANA MURTHY v. MADDU RAMIREDDY. 20 L. W. 562 : 1924 M. W. N. 877 : 82 I. C. 933 : 1924 Mad. 856.

—S. 19—Acknowledgment of liability—Principal and agent—Authority—Sufficiency of acknowledgment.

The mere fact that an agent used to write letters on behalf of his principal is not sufficient in law to enable court to infer that he was an authorised agent for the purpose of making an acknowledgment of liability. The name of a firm in the heading of a letter written in the course of business is a sufficient acknowledgment. 1 A. 683 ; 6 C. 340 Foll. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) UMA SHANKAR v. GOBIND NARAYAN. 22 A. L. J. 807 : L. R. 5 A. 638 : 80 I. C. 6 : 1924 All. 855.

—Ss. 19 and 20—Acknowledgment—Essentials of—Signature necessary—Period of redemption if enlarged by S. 20 of the Lim. Act.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 19.

An acknowledgment to be operative must be signed by the party against whom any particular right is claimed. In a suit for redemption it is for the plaintiffs to prove that they had a subsisting right of redemption at the date of suit and they are not relieved of the burden by showing that the fact of the mortgage was admitted by the predecessors-in-title of the present defendant when more than 80 years after the mortgage was effected had expired. S. 20 of the Lim. Act applies only to cases where the suit is for the recovery of a debt or legacy and does not operate to enlarge the period allowed by law to the mortgagor to redeem his property. (Moti Sagar, J.) PIROZE KHAN v. KANHIYA RAM. 6 Lah. L. J. 194; 78 I. C. 617 : 1924 Lah. 484.

—S. 19—Acknowledgment of liability—Suit on a mortgage—Admission of the execution of the mortgage—Non-denial in the written statement by the legal representative of the mortgagor of the subsistence of the debt, whether amounts to an acknowledgment of liability—Civil Procedure Code, O. 8, R. 5.

Where in a suit on a mortgage the plaintiff alleges the execution of the mortgage and alleged further that there was due in respect of the mortgage at that date a sum which was the principal amount and arrears of interest, and in the written statement the legal representative of the mortgagor, in that capacity, admitted the mortgage in terms and dealt with the plaintiff, paragraph by paragraph, but did not deny the subsistence of the debt at the date of the written statement there would be an acknowledgment of liability under the mortgage in the written statement within the meaning of S. 19 of the Limitation Act.

A mere statement that a debt existed at one time without anything further would not be sufficient as an acknowledgment of liability but if from the circumstances it could be inferred that the intention of the person making the statement was to convey the impression that the debt was still subsisting, the Court would be justified in holding that it was an acknowledgment of a subsisting liability within the meaning of S. 19 of the Limitation Act. (Schwabe, C.J. and Krishnan, J.) THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. SUBRAMANIA IYER. (1924) M. W. N. 19 :

33 M. L. T. (H. C.) 235 : 1924 Mad. 286 : 19 L. W. 331 : 77 I. C. 740 : 46 M. L. J. 1.

—S. 19—Acknowledgment—Suit for a definite sum claimed as balance of account—Admission by a defendant that account must be taken and settled—Valid acknowledgment to save limitation.

In a suit brought for a definite sum claimed as due under accounts, an admission by the defendant that accounts must be taken and settled is an acknowledgment of liability and would save limitation. (Wallace, J.) BHOGE REDDI KUMARASWAMI v. MADDEKARA NARAYANA RAO.

(1924) M. W. N. 355 (2) : 1924 Mad. 619 (1) : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 200 : 19 L. W. 683 : 80 I. C. 355 (1) : 46 M. L. J. 468.

—S. 19—Admission of liability—Arrangement for satisfaction—Effect of.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 19.

An unqualified admission of liability coupled with a declaration as regards the arrangement proposed for its satisfaction is an acknowledgment within S. 19, Lim. Act. (Kinkhede, A. J., C.) DAJI MAHAR v. MAHADEO KUNHI.

1924 Nag. 147.

—S. 19—Applicability—Execution proceedings.

The provisions of S. 19, Lim. Act, apply to execution proceedings. (Das and Ross, J.J.) MT. RESHMA KUARI v. RAMESHWAR OJHA.

79 I. C. 897 : 1925 P. 197.

—S. 19—Authority to bind another—Agency—Proof—Enforceability of claim.

Where as the result of acknowledgment by one person, others are brought to be made liable, the onus is on the person who seeks to make such persons liable to prove some sort of agency or authority to make an acknowledgment binding on the others.

It does not matter whether at the time of making the acknowledgment the claim could have been enforced. (Jackson, J.) MALLADI KRISHNAYYA v. VENKATAPAYYA. 80 I. C. 940.

—S. 19—Mallakhandi—If an acknowledgment.

Mallakhandi is a good acknowledgment under S. 19, Lim. Act, and will preserve any debt due which was not at that time barred by limitation. (Rankin and Mukherjee, J.J.) KSHITISH CHANDRA DAS v. UMED MANDAL.

78 I. C. 139 : 1925 Cal. 338.

—S. 19—Mortgage—Suit for redemption—Sub-mortgagees impleaded after 60 years—Acknowledgment by manager—Effect.

In a suit to redeem filed within 60 years of the mortgage, certain persons who were sub-mortgagees were impleaded, when they pleaded limitation as at the time they were joined it was more than 60 years. The mortgagor claimed the benefit of a statement made by the sub-mortgagees in a sale proclamation relating to those properties wherein they had stated the sub-mortgage was subject to the original mortgage. Held, it was an acknowledgment within S. 19 and would save limitation. Where the acknowledgment is by the manager of a joint Hindu family acting on behalf of the family, it binds all the members. (Mukerji and Dalal, J.J.) SANVAL DAS v. SAIYID ALI MAHDI.

22 A. L. J. 1018 : L. R. 5 A. 718 : 1925 A. 174.

—S. 19—New consideration or actual promise to pay—If required. 28 C. W. N. 322 : 79 I. C. 489 (2) : 1924 Cal. 388.

—S. 19—Oral agreement to pay does not extend time. 75 I. C. 440.

—S. 19—Pleading—Statement that there was a mortgage—Sale effected to pay off—If an acknowledgment.

An acknowledgment that a debt was due without more will be held to imply a promise to pay : but the statement that there was a debt but it has been discharged is not sufficient. 33 C. 1047 ; 42 M. 637 Ref.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 19.

Where in a written statement there is a statement that a mortgage was executed and in order to pay it off a sale was effected, the inference from the latter portion will negative the implication of a promise to pay. (Das and Ross, JJ.) CHHATERDHARI MAHTO v. NASIB SINGH.

5 Pat. L. J. 551 : 78 I. C. 919 : 1924 P. 806

—S. 19—Prescribed—Meaning of—Acknowledgment—When to be made.

The word "prescribed" in S. 19 means prescribed by any law for the time being in force and not merely by the Limitation Act, First Schedule. It thus includes the operation of S. 31, Lim. Act.

Under S. 19 the acknowledgment should have been made before the expiration of the period prescribed for the suit. (Daniels and Boys, JJ.) HARISH CHANDRA v. MT. KUSTOLA KUNWAR.

80 I. C. 743 : L. R. 5 A. 657 : 1925 All. 68.

—S. 19—Promissory note by father—Acknowledgment by son—Effect on joint family.

1924 Mad. 96.

—S. 19—Redemption—Suit by one mortgagor—Pleadings—Acknowledgment of rights of other mortgagors.

The transferee of a portion of the equity of redemption brought a suit to redeem the mortgage and in the course of his claim made an admission that the mortgagor had a subsisting right to redeem the property. Held that this was a sufficient acknowledgment of the liability of the transferee himself to be redeemed in the event of his succeeding in his suit and there was a fresh period of limitation for a suit for redemption available from the date of that acknowledgment. (Neave, J.) KRISHNA MISIR v. DWARKA PANDE.

L. R. 5 A. 530 : 1924 A. 876.

—S. 19—Signature—What is.

Where the evidence shows that the mode of sending letters by a guru to his chelas is not by signing at the bottom but to begin the communication with the words "Sri Sri Hani sarman" an acknowledgment of liability written in this form in the guru's handwriting will be deemed to have been signed for the purposes of S. 19, Lim. Act. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) GOPAL DAS v. BANWARI LAL.

75 I. C. 1004 : 1925 A. 8

—S. 20—Decree—Part-payment—Not certified—Saving of limitation.

Where a part-payment towards a decree satisfies the conditions laid down in S. 20 of the Limitation Act, it can be admitted so as to save limitation for execution even though it has not been certified under O. 21, R. 2, C.P. Code. (Jackson, J.) NARAYANA NAIR v. KUNHI RAMAN NAIR.

20 L. W. 190 : (1924) M. W. N. 674 : 82 I. C. 743 : 1925 Mad. 131.

—S. 20—Negotiable instrument—Promissory note—Suit by endorsee against maker and endorser—Liability of—Presentation for payment—Notice of dishonour—Cause of action—Limitation—Payment of portion of amount by maker—Effect.

The liability of the endorser of a promissory note arises out of the endorsement and not on the note. A payment of money by the endorsee on the note and signed by him saves limitation only against the person liable on the note and has nothing to do with persons liable on the endorsement. In order to make the endorser liable, it must be presented for payment within a reasonable time after the endorsement and it is not in the option of the endorsee by waiting for an unreasonable length of time to postpone the cause of action. Notice of dishonour should be also given within a reasonable time after dishonour. (Ramesam, J.) JAGANNADHA REDDIAR v. LAKSHMANA REDDIAR. 35 M. L. T. (H.C.) 120 : 1925 Mad. 132 : 80 I. C. 932 : 47 M. L. J. 475.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 22.

—S. 20—Part payment of decree out of Court—If saves limitation.

If the part payment of the decree amount is entered in an execution petition presented within 3 years from the date of such alleged payment, if the fact of payment is proved, it amounts to a certificate of payment under O. 21, R. 2, and will operate to save limitation under S. 20, Lim. Act. (Moti Sagar, J.) FATTU v. NANAK CHAND.

1924 Lah. 676.

—S. 20—Payment of interest—Limitation against surety—Saving of.

Payment of interest by a debtor under S. 20 does not give a fresh starting point of limitation against the surety 28 B. 248 : 25 C. L. J. 238, Foll. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) SETH ABDE ALI v. ASKARAN.

20 N. L. J. 140 : 1924 Nag. 411.

—S. 20—Payment of interest—Possession of land and receipt of rents—Saving of limitation.

1924 Pat. 169.

—S. 20—Payment not having been made towards interest.

In a suit by a plff. on two promotes executed by one of the defendants, on behalf of a partnership business, and it was opposed on the ground, that part payments were not made towards interest as such and the suit was barred. Held, that there were circumstances to indicate that payments were made towards interest and that even if they had been made towards principal there was writing sufficient to comply with S. 20 of Lim. Act. (Duckworth and Godfrey, JJ.) RALA SINGH v. BABU BHAGWAN SINGH & SONS.

2 Rang. 367 : 1925 Rang. 30.

—S. 22—Applicability—Party added by Court under O. 1, R. 10.

S. 22, Lim. Act, applies even to cases where a person is added as a party at the instance of the Court under O. 1, R. 10. (Kennedy and Bilaram, A. J. Cs.) RALLIRAM SHEWARAM v. BUDHURAM PARMANAND.

79 I. C. 914.

—S. 22—Joinder after limitation of a party not necessary.

75 I. C. 781.

—S. 22—New plaintiffs sought to be substituted—Expiry of limitation—Effect.

Where a suit was improperly constituted when filed, it cannot after the period of limitation has expired be made good by the substitution of a proper plaintiff by way of amendment. The amendment in such a case cannot be taken to date back to the time when the suit was originally instituted, but only to the time when the application was made. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MANGUMAL JETHANAND v. ARATMAL SATRAMDAS. 1924 Sind. 47.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), S. 22.

—S. 22—Suit for pre-emption—Impleading one of the vendees after limitation—Effect NIAZ ALI KHAN v. MD. AFZAL KHAN. 1924 Lah. 230.

—S. 23—Continuing wrong—Cases under Oudh Rent Act.

S. 23 of the Lim. Act is not among the provisions which are applicable to suits under a special or local law unless expressly exempted. Consequently the principle of a continuing wrong cannot be implied in cases under the Oudh Rent Act. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) BHAGWAN DIN v. THE SPECIAL MANAGER, COURT OF WARDS. L. R. 5 O. 97.

—S. 25—Calculation of time—Gregorian calendar—Document fixing months according to Hindi calendar—Effect.

If the starting point of limitation is to be calculated as so many months or years from a certain date, the calculation is according to the Gregorian calendar. But if the document on which the rights of parties are founded fixes the rights to accrue under the Hindi calendar, S. 25 will not apply. (Mukerji and Dalal, J. J.) ROSHAN LAL v. CHAUDHRI BASHIR AHMAD 22 A. L. J. 902 : L. R. 5 A. 636 : 82 I. C. 330 (2) : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1302 : 1925 A. 138.

—S. 26 Expln.—Scope of—Easement—Acquisition of—Period necessary to acquire—Denial of right.

A mere denial of a right affords a cause of action and there is no reason to doubt that any person whose property is threatened with a servitude may bring a suit for a declaration that an easement is enjoyed on sufferance and not as of right.

The explanation to S. 26, Lim. Act, confers an inalienable right of easement on any person after an enjoyment of anything over 19 years provided he waits less than one year before challenging an interruption and the beginning of his enjoyment arose 20 years before suit. (Le Rossignol, J.) CHIRAGH DIN v. GHULAM MUHAMMAD. 1924 Lah. 628.

—S. 28—Extinguishment of right—Subsequent delivery of possession—Effect.

For more than 12 years after the confirmation of an auction sale, the judgment-debtor remained in possession. Thereafter the purchaser obtained a sale certificate and obtained formal delivery. In a suit for possession and declaration of title by the judgment debtor, held the auction purchaser's title had become extinguished under S. 28, Lim. Act, and the subsequent obtaining of formal delivery of possession was of no avail, as his right commenced from the date of confirmation of sale and not from the date of obtaining sale certificate. (Wazir Hasan, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) MT. MAHMUDINISSA v. SYED ZAHID RAZA. 11 O. L. J. 466 : 1 O. W. N. 139 : 1925 Oudh 20.

—S. 28—Lapse of time—Effect on possession already got. 19 L. W. 283 :

39 C. L. J. 295 : 28 C. W. N. 840.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 11.

—S. 28—Right to maintenance—Extinction. 1924 Cal. 364.

—Art. 10—Covenant in sale deed—Option to purchase to vendor in case of sale—Suit for enforcement—If a suit for pre-emption. See LIM. ACT, ART. 113. 90 I. C. 962.

—Art. 10—Possession with tenants—Pre-emption. 5 Lah. L. J. 539 : 1924 Lah. 302.

—Art. 11—Applicability of—Claim in execution proceedings—Disallowance of—Suit to establish title—Limitation.

A claim preferred to the attachment of property was dismissed for default. Nevertheless as the decree-holder took no further steps to bring the property to sale, the execution proceedings were dismissed very soon afterwards for default whereupon the attachment ceased under O. 21, R. 57, C.P. Code. Held, that it was not thereafter incumbent on the decreeholder to institute a suit under Art. 11 of the Lim. Act within a year after the date of the adverse order rejecting the claim. (Rankin and Page, J. J.) NAJIMUNNESSA BIBI v. NACHARADDIN SARDAR. 51 Cal. 548 : 39 C. L. J. 418 : 1924 Cal. 744.

—Art. 11—Applicability of—Application by auction purchaser for delivery of possession—Sons of judgment-debtor impleaded—No obstruction or resistance on behalf of judgment-debtor—Sons asserting title on their own account—C. P. Code, O. 21, Rr. 99 and 103.

On an application by the purchaser at an execution sale under O. 21, R. 95, C.P. Code, for delivery of possession of property sold impleading the sons of the judgment debtor as parties, the Court can remove the sons out of possession only if it is satisfied that they hold the property on behalf of the judgment-debtor or claiming title under him. Where the Court finds the sons were in possession in their own right and dismissed the application of the purchaser, a subsequent suit by him for possession is not governed by the shorter period of limitation under Art. 11-A of the Lim. Act. Nor is the order one passed under O. 21, R. 99, C. P. Code. So held by the majority (Mukerji, J. dissenting). (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, J. J.) BOHRA SOBHA RAM v. TURSI RAM. 22 A. L. J. 626 : L. R. 5 A. 488 : 46 A. 693 : 1924 A. 495.

—Arts. 11 and 120—Attachment before judgment—Claim—Decree and execution sale—Claim petition—Rejection—Suit—Limitation.

An attachment before judgment was made. After decree sale was applied for and ordered. Held, a suit to contest an order made upon a claim filed against such attachment is governed not by Art. 120 but by Art. 11. A suit brought more than a year after application and order for execution sale is barred. 34 M. 902. (Krishnan and Ramesam, J. J.) VELLAYAN ASARI v. SIVAGNANAM ASARI. 34 M. L. T. 193 (H. C.) : 79 I. C. 917 : 1925 Mad. 49.

—Art. 11—Claim petition—Order against minor—Suit challenging.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 11.

A suit in respect of an adverse order under O. 21, R. 63, against a minor must be filed within one year after attaining majority. If the guardian files the suit within one year of the order, and that suit is dismissed, it cannot extend the period of limitation for a suit by the minor. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) SUBBIAH PANDARAM v. ARUNACHELA PANDARAM, 80 I. C. 992.

—Art. 11 (a)—Applicability of—C. P. Code, O. 21, R. 100—Application under—Dismissal of for want of cause of action. PAHAL GHORAI v. HAJI MUNSHI FAZLUDDIN MAHOMED. 1924 Cal. 97.

—Art. 12—Sale null and void—Application to set aside. See B. T. Act, S. 49 K. 28 C. W. N. 556.

—Art. 12 (b)—Revenue sale under Madras Estates Land Act—Suit to set aside. 1924 Mad. 278.

—Art. 12 (b)—Sale under the Madras Estates Land Act—Suit to set aside—Limitation.

A suit to set aside a sale held under the provisions of the Madras Estates Land Act is governed by Art. 12 (b) of the Limitation Act. There is no provision in the Madras Estates Land Act similar to the one in O. 21, R. 92, C. P. Code, for confirmation of sale and for the sale thereupon becoming absolute. Consequently the second clause of Art. 12 (b) of the Lim. Act must be applied. 6 M. 148; 13 C. L. J. 339 Kel. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) KAMALAMMAL v. CHOCKALINGA ASARI. (1924) M. W. N. 37; 76 I. C. 840; 19 L. W. 81.

—Art. 14—Applicability of—Orders without jurisdiction—Limitation for setting aside.

Art. 14 of the Lim. Act applies to acts or orders done in exercise of powers legally exercisable by the executive; in other words, the article applies to acts or orders which need not be set aside. The article has no application where jurisdiction has been usurped, and the order is ultra vires. An order made without jurisdiction is a nullity and need not be set aside; to an order of this description Art. 14 has no application. 24 C. 149; 32 C. 716; 32 C. 1107; 33 C. 693; 36 C. 726; 15 C. W. N. 300 Ref. (Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) PEARY LAL RAY CHAUDHRI v. SECRETARY OF STATE. 39 C. L. J. 454; 83 I. C. 446; 1924 Cal. 913.

—Art. 14—Scope of—Order one to be set aside—Order in mutation case.

Art. 14 applies to acts or orders done in exercise of powers legally exercisable by the Executive and before it can be applied the order must be one which needs to be set aside. If there is no provision of law for setting it aside, Art. 14 cannot apply. An order in a mutation case cannot be directly impugned in a Civil suit; yet another can show in a Civil suit he is the real owner and as the basis of such a decree ask the Revenue authorities to make the mutation in his name. Art. 14 does not apply to such a case. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) MT. MUNNA v. SUKLAL. 1924 Nag. 142.

—Art. 29—Amount collected by distraint—Suit for refund—Limitation.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 36.

Arrears of rent decreed were collected by distraint under the Agra Tenancy Act and subsequently on the decree being reversed, a suit was brought for recovery of the amount levied. Held, it was a suit for compensation of wrongful seizure of movable property under legal process and Art. 29, Lim. Act, applied. (Piggott, J.) MAN SINGH v. RAM NATH. 1924 A. 828.

—Art. 29—Applicability—Attachment before judgment—Dismissal of suit.

Art. 29 applies to suits for compensation for wrongful seizure of moveables under a legal process. Where property is attached before judgment and the suit is finally dismissed, the attachment cannot be said to be illegal if it was the property of the defendant. The detention becomes wrongful only when the suit is dismissed. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MANGA v. CHANGA MAL. 22 A. L. J. 977; L. R. 5 A. 732; 81 I. C. 1038; 1925 A. 131.

—Arts. 29 and 62—Money paid into Court drawn out by persons not entitled—Suit for recovery—Limitation.

Where money paid into court lawfully belonged to the plaintiff but it was drawn out by the defendants without justification, held that a suit to recover the money was not governed by Art. 26 of the Lim. Act. (Baker, O. J. C.) RAJA RAM v. MULCHAND. 7 N. L. J. 140; 1924 Nag. 248.

—Art. 31—Railway—Loss of goods consigned by Railway—Suit for damages. See RAILWAYS ACT, SS. 77 AND 140. 46 M. L. J. 302.

—Art. 32—Placing heavier beams on plff.'s wall—Perversion of purpose—Suit for removal. MOHAN v. BISHAMBHAR SAHAI. 46 A. 68; 78 I. C. 193; 1924 A. 450.

—Arts. 32, 120, and 144—Landlord and tenant—Building by tenant—Suit for demolition and injunction.

Where an occupancy tenant puts up buildings on the land without the permission of the landlord, a suit by the latter for demolition of the building and for injunction is governed by arts. 32 or 120 of the Lim. Act and not by Art. 144. (Sulaiman, J.) PIYARE LAL v. BED RAM. 1924 A. 814.

—Art. 36 and 49—Attachment before judgment—Dismissal of suit—Compensation for wrongful detention and loss of profits.

Where certain moveables were attached before judgment, in a suit on a pronote by the defendant in respect of a pronote executed by the plff., and the suit was dismissed on appeal, and the latter sued for compensation for loss of profits and reputation, the lower court dismissed the same as being time barred under Art. 29 of Lim. Act. Held, on appeal that the view taken by the courts below was unsustainable in that Art. 29 applies to a suit for compensation for wrongful seizure of moveables under a legal process. There was no wrongful seizure in the case on the day on which the attachment was made, though the subsequent dismissal of the suit had the effect of making the detention of the attached property wrongful and the suit for compensation was within time either under Art. 49 or Art. 36 read with S. 23, 29 All. 615, 31 M. 431, 19 M. 80, 38 M. L. J. 324, 42 Cal. 85, 39 All. 322, 6 Bom. L. R. 704, 64 I. C. 513 referred to and explained (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MANGA v. CHANGA MAL. L. R. 5 A. 732 : 81 I. C. 1938 : 1925 A. 131 : 22 A. L. J. 977.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 36.

— — — — — Arts. 36 and 90—Company—Director—Suit against director for losses arising through negligence—Limitation. See. LIM. ACT. ARTS. 90 AND 36. 5 Lah. 27.

— — — — — Arts. 36, 37 and 39—Obstruction of water source—Suit for compensation.

A suit for damages for injury to crops committed by obstructing a water course is not governed by Art. 36 as there are specific articles which apply. If there was a trespass on immoveable property accompanied by obstruction of water course, Art. 39 would apply. In respect of a continuing obstruction by itself, Art. 37 read along with S. 23 will apply and a suit brought within 3 years of the last day to which the wrong continued would be in time. (Hallifax, A.J.C.) SONA PATIL v. LAXMAN. 82 I. C. 482 : 1925 Nag. 189.

— — — — — Arts. 39 and 49—Suit for compensation for cutting gum trees—Limitation.

Plaintiff alleged that the defendant first trespassed on his land in 1917 and in the course of that trespass, in 1918 he cut plaintiff's valuable lac producing trees on the land and removed the same, and thus caused damage to him. Plaintiff measured his damage by the value of the lac produce which he might have gathered but for the defendant's interference. Held, (1) that in determining the nature of the claim or finding out the article by which it is governed, it is the nature of the cause of action rather than its form which has to be looked to and which determines the applicability of the particular article of the Limitation Act, (2) that the present suit was not merely for the value of the wood cut and carried but for damages arising from trespass, (3) that the suit was one for compensation for trespass upon immoveable property within the meaning of Article 39 and for wrongfully taking specific moveable property within the meaning of Article 49 of Sca. 1 of the Limitation Act. (Kinkhede, A. J.C.) NARBADAPRASAD v. AKBAR KHAN. 20 N. L. R. 80 : 80 I. C. 769 : 1924 Nag. 125.

— — — — — Art. 44—Applicability—Alienation by unofficial guardian.

Art. 44, Lim. Act, applies to alienations by unofficial guardians. (Macleod, C.J. and Crump, J.) IRANGAUDA FAKIRGAUDA PATIL v. NINGAPPA. 1924 Bom. 517.

— — — — — Art. 44—Compromise decree against minors—Sanction of Court—Suit to recover property—Limitation.

Where a compromise decree is passed against a minor and the same had been scrutinized by the court and found beneficial to him, a suit for the recovery of possession of properties alienated under the decree must be filed within 3 years of attaining majority. (Le Rossignol, J.) THI RAJ v. KHEAUSI. 1924 Lah. 427.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 52.

— — — — — Arts. 44, 91 and 144—Malabar Tarwad—Alienation by Karnavan on behalf of himself and minor members—Suit by junior members to set aside—Limitation Act, Art. 144, application. See LIM. ACT. ARTS. 91 AND 144. 46 M. L. J. 340.

— — — — — Art. 44—Sale by unauthorised person—Suit for recovery of possession—Limitation

A suit to set aside a sale by an unauthorised person and for recovery of possession does not fall within Art. 44 of the Lim. Act. The plaintiff sued for a declaration that a conveyance executed by his mother in collusion with his brother did not affect his interest and for an injunction restraining defendant from disturbing plaintiff's possession and in the alternative for cancellation of the document. Held, that the suit was one substantially for setting aside the sale in spite of the omission of a specific prayer to that effect. (Walmsley and Mukerjee, J.J.) UMA CHARAN CHAKRA VARTHI v. GUIRAM BEG. 39 C. L. J. 394 : 1924 Cal. 1008.

— — — — — Art. 47—Onus—Nature of inquiry.

Held (Per Pullan, A.J.C.) Where the plaintiff sets up his claim within the 12 years period of limitation allowed for such suits and it is no part of his case that there was any decision by a criminal or other Court which could in any way affect his claim and such a case is set up by the defendants in their written statement, it is primarily for the defendants to show that there was a decision of the criminal Court which brought plaintiff's claim under any other rule of limitation than that on which plaintiff relied.

(Per Kendall, A.J.C.) The ordinary period for one who is bound by an order under S. 145, Cr. P. C., is three years and until the plaintiff could prove that he was not bound by that order his claim must be held to be barred by limitation. Held, that in civil suits dealing with the application of Art. 47, Sch. I, of the Limitation Act, it is not every error which makes the result invalid and that before want of jurisdiction can be established in such a case a vice must be clearly established which infects the whole proceedings. 22 C. W. N. 342 foll. (Pullan, and Kendall, A. J. Cs.) RANI ABADI BEGAM v. AHMAD MIRZA BEG. 1 O. W. N. 433 : 11 O. L. J. 757 : 82 I. C. 691 : 1925 Ough 190.

— — — — — Art. 49—Jewellery—Possession originally permissive—When becomes unlawful—Demand and refusal.

Where the possession of jewel by the defendant had been originally permissive, her bare assertion subsequently that she is the owner of the property does not change the character of her possession into an unlawful one. Her possession becomes unlawful only when there is a formal demand for return of the jewel and a refusal to comply with it. Under Art. 49 of the Lim. Act time would begin to run only from the date of her refusal to comply with the demand. (Robinson, C.J. and Brown, J.) MA MARY v. MA HLA WIN. 2 Rang. 555 : 1925 Rang. 146.

— — — — — Art. 52—Suit for price of goods supplied from time to time—Limitation. NAJAN AHMAD-HAJI ALI v. SALE MAHOMED. 77 I. C. 943.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 53.

—Art. 53—Bill of sale—Thavanai—Meaning of—Credit period—Words—Interpretation—Technical meaning—Evidence of—Evidence Act, Ss. 92 (5) and 98—Limitation for suit for money due.

A vendor sent to his vendee a bill for some piece goods purchased and at the top of the bill appeared the words "Debit interest at $\frac{3}{4}$ per cent. per mensem after 60 days thavanai." In a suit for the money due, the plea of limitation was set up and the question arose whether it was a credit sale or a cash transaction. Held, the word thavanai meant credit period and the suit was governed by Art. 53 of the Limitation Act.

Per Venkatasubba Rao, J.—The word thavanai has acquired various meanings in various lines of business. Under S. 98, Evidence Act evidence can be given to show the meaning it bears in the particular mercantile transaction in which it was used. In such cases the duty of the Judge is to inform his mind not only by reference to dictionaries of good reputation but also by evidence of the meaning ordinarily given to it amongst those who use it (1904) 1 Ch. 170, 16 Ch. D. 718 referred to. Even if the meaning of the word is fixed period, oral evidence can be given under proviso 5 to S. 92 Evidence Act, that by the usage of particular trade an incident not expressly mentioned in a contract is a term of that contract.

Per Jackson, J.—Thavanai is a colourless expression meaning only "period". Any particular sense in which the word may have been used must be proved aliunde. (Venkatasubba Rao and Jackson, JJ.) K. M. P. R. N. M. FIRM v. M. SOMASUNDARAN CHETTI & Co.

20 L. W. 981 : 1925 Mad. 161 : 47 M. L. J. 844.

—Arts. 59 and 60—Loan—Deposit—Suit for recovery—Limitation. 1924 Bom. 28.

—Art. 61—Applicability—Money paid to save from sale property of another—Suit for recovery.

If a person pays off a decree to save from sale the property of a stranger judgment-debtor, suit to recover the amount falls under art. 61, Lim. Act. (Kendall, A. J. C.) COLLECTOR SINGH v. MADARI LAL. 78 I. C. 738 : 1925 Oudh 132 (2)

—Art. 62—Joint family—Separation—Suit by separated member for share of debt collected—Limitation.

Art. 62 applies to a suit by a separated member of a joint Hindu family for his share of a debt which had been kept joint at the time of partition but had afterwards been collected by the other members of the family (Kanhैया Lal, J.) BHAGWAN DAS v. SUKHDEO KORIE. 1924 A. 812.

—Art. 62—Suit for recovery of surplus sale-proceeds realised in patni sale—Limitation—Art. 62 applicable—Starting point—Date of withdrawal of money by defendant.

See 22 C. W. N. 1009.

—Arts. 62, 89, 90, 115 and 120—Suit against heirs of agent—Damages arising out of negligence of agent—Limitation—Pleader allowing decrees to become barred—Liability of.

Plaintiff sued the legal representatives of his deceased agent and pleader for recovery of moneys representing damages caused by the alleged neglect, misconduct and breach of duty of the deceased agent and amounts alleged to have been misappropriated by him. Held, that the representatives of a deceased agent are not liable to render an account in the sense in which the agent, had he lived might have been called to do so. The liability to render accounts is a personal one attaching to the agent and cannot be enforced against his heirs. This does not mean however that the heirs must necessarily escape liability for the defalcation or breach of duty of the agent if the principal can prove that he has suffered loss thereby. The suit may be so framed as to include a claim for sums received by the agent to the use of the plaintiff and for the loss occasioned to the principal by reason of the defalcation and breach of duty of the agent, and to the extent of the assets of the deceased in the hands of his heirs. To such a suit Art. 62 or Art. 115 of the Lim. Act would apply and not Arts. 89 and 90 which relate to suits by a principal against his agent and not to suits against the legal representatives of an agent. In the case of continuous and comprehensive agency as in the case of a Raj pleader with a general retainer and a monthly salary, the limitation for a suit for account runs not from the date of the Vakalatnamas in particular cases, but from the date when the defendant refuses to render account's. (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) MAHARAJADHIRAJA SIR RAMESWAR SINGH v. NARENDRA NATH DAS. 5 Pat. L.T. 355 : 2 Pat. L. R. 205.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 66.

—Arts. 62 and 141—Suit to recover interest of a mortgagee—Limitation.

The interest of a mortgagee in the property mortgaged is immoveable property and a suit to recover such interest is governed by Art. 141 and not Art. 62 of the Limitation Act. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. Cs.) THAKUR JAI INDAR BAHADUR SINGH v. THAKUR SHEO INDAR BAHADUR SINGH. 10 O. L. J. 481 : 78 I. C. 393 : 1924 Oudh 218.

—Art. 62—Void contract—Suit for refund of consideration.

A suit for refund of consideration in respect of a transaction which is void falls under Art. 62 Lim. Act and must be brought within 3 years of the same. (Baker, J. C.) OMRAO v. RAMDHAR. 81 I. C. 873 : 1925 Nag. 130.

—Art. 66, 75, 80—Bond payable within a specified period—Stipulation to pay interest month by month—Option of creditor to sue on default in payment of interest—When time begins to run—Limitation—Instalment bond—Right of waiver, whether open on other bonds.

Where a bond provided for repayment within six months but the interest was to be paid month by month and in the event of failure to pay in any month, the creditor was to have the right to file the suit at once without waiting for the stipulated period of six months.

Held (1) that the limitation begins to run from the date of the first default in payment of interest, (2) that the bond having become payable on the occurrence of the first default in payment of interest, the suit brought after 3 years from that date was barred under Art. 80 Sch. I of the Limitation Act 8 O. C. 77, 14 O. C. 129, 45 A. 27 and 37 All. 400 Foll. 16 O. C. 45, 20 O. C. 132, 5 O. L. J. 739; O. L. J. 416, and 39 Mad 981 not followed. 6 O. L. J. 248 and 8 O. L. J. 418 distinguished.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 66.

Art. 75 of the Limitation Act, which applies to instalment bonds, is the only one which recognises the right of the payee to waive his right to sue on the expiration of the first term of payment. The omission of such a provision from the other Article relating to suits on bonds clearly indicates the intention of the Legislature to deny any right of waiver in other cases. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, d J. Cs.) Pheral v. Pydal Ram, 1 O. W. N. 647 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1087.

—Art. 66—Suit on bond—Principal and surety.

The liability of a surety being co-extensive with that of his principal, a suit on a bond against principal and surety, in which a day had been fixed for payment, falls under Art. 66, Lim. Act as regards both. (Campbell and Zafar Ali, JJ.) Nihal Chand v. Khuda Bakhsh. 1924 Lah. 534.

—Art. 67—Punjab Act I of 1904—Bond—Acknowledgment—Interest payable at Sahukara rate—Suit—Limitation.

The plffs. advanced grain and money to the defendants and they sued for the amount due to them. The defendants raised a plea of limitation in answer to the claim in respect of the grain advances, and its decision depended on whether the book entries of the balances struck by the defendants, which were attested by witnesses, were bonds or mere acknowledgments. If they were bonds the suit was governed by Art. 67 of the Lim. Act, while if they were mere acknowledgments the suit in respect of grain advances was barred by time. Held that although the entries in question did not contain express promises to pay the principal they made mention of interest being payable at the sahukara rate, and this implied a promise to pay the principal. Consequently as the entries which were attested by witnesses contained promises to pay the amount, they were bonds and the whole suit was in time. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) Narain Das v. Miran Bakhsh. 5 Lah. 406 : 1925 Lah. 75.

—Art. 68—Administration bond—Breach of condition—Suit on. 76 I. C. 802: 1924 Rang. 68.

—Arts. 73 and 80—Promissory note—Payable at sight—Suit on—Limitation.

A promissory note that is payable at sight is payable on demand and a suit on the note is governed by Art. 73 of the Lim. Act. Time runs from the date of the execution of the interest. (Suhrawardy and Duval, JJ.) Durga Prasad Sen v. Kali Charan Aich Rai, 40 G. L. J. 84 : 1924 Cal. 1065.

—Art. 75—Inaction is not waiver.

If a creditor simply sleeps on his rights and does nothing for three years it cannot be said that he had agreed to waive the right which accrued to him when the default occurred. (MacLeod, C. J. and Crump, J.) Ganpat Balaji Kale v. Narayan Sawaliran. 1924 Bom. 301.

—Art. 75—Instalment bond—Failure to pay instalment—Cause of action.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 89.

Where a bond provides for payment of money in instalments and default is made in the payment of any instalments, the cause of action for a suit on the bond arises on the date of default and not the date of execution of the bond. The case falls under Art. 75 of the Lim. Act. If some instalments have been paid, oral evidence can be let in about the same and it is not a case of acknowledgment within S. 20 of the Act. (Das and Macpherson, JJ.) Mundo Singh v. Mahanth Krishna Dayal Gir. 1924 P. H. C. 67 : 75 I. C. 98 : 1924 P. 439.

—Arts. 75 and 80—Instalment bond—Default—Option to sue for whole amount—Limitation—Starting point.

Under a simple bond defendant agreed to pay the plaintiff the principal sum and interest in twelve monthly instalments. The instalments included payment of principal as well as interest and in case of default in payment of any one of the instalments the plaintiff could sue for the whole amount or he could sue after the expiry of one year fixed for repayment of the entire debt. There was default in payment of the first instalment and there was no proof of waiver on the part of the plaintiff. In a suit on the bond, held that the entire unpaid amount became due on the date of the first default and that art. 75 of the Lim. Act applied to the case. (Neave and Kendall, A.J.Cs.) Mohanya v. Panna Lal. 10 O. & A.L.R. 534 : 79 I. C. 848 : 11 O. L. J. 513.

—Arts. 75 and 116—Instalment bond—Provision for recovery of full amount on default—Rights of obligee—Suit for money due under the bond—Limitation.

An instalment bond, duly registered, contained a provision enabling the payee to recover the whole of the amount due under the bond in case there was default made in the payment of an instalment more than once.

The bond was executed in favour of the Secretary of a company which was unregistered consisting as it did of only nine members. The bond was subsequently assigned by the secretary after the company was registered. In a suit by the assignee of the bond more than six years after the date of the first default held, (1) that the bond merely gave an option to the obligee to take advantage of the default and to recover the whole of the amount due under the bond if he so chose; but it did not compel him to do so and in the absence of a demand the right to sue for the amount will not accrue; and (2) that the fact that the company was subsequently registered will not invalidate its previous dealings and that the assignment by the secretary was quite legal. 29 M. 477 followed. (Krishnan, J.) Mohideen Kariya Pulavar v. Periyannayakam Pillai. 20 L. W. 430 : 1924 M. W. N. 828.

—Art. 85—Mutual open, and current account—Test of.

—Art. 89—Co-sharers—suit for recovery of allowance realised by one co-sharer on behalf of all—Limitation.

A suit by one co-sharer for recovery of his share of certain allowances collected by another co-sharer is governed by article 89 of the Limitation Act, when the latter had collected it in pursuance of an arrangement entered into between all the co-sharers. (Shah, A.C.J. and Fawcett, J.) GIRJABAI SHIVDEORAO v. NARAYAN RAO. 26 Bom. L. R. 1165.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 89.

—Art. 89—Suit for accounts—Agency.
75 I. C. 1022.

—Art. 89—Suit for account—Principal and agent—Plea of limitation to be specifically raised—Demand and refusal.

Where in a suit for accounts against an agent the plaintiff alleged that the defendant always promised to account but put off rendering the accounts from time to time and the written statement merely alleged that the suit was barred on the face of it and that accounts had been rendered. Held, that it was not part of the defendant's case that there had been a demand and refusal at any particular time and therefore the suit was barred. It is not open to the defendant to raise a substantive plea of limitation without stating the necessary facts in his written statement. The plaintiff in the case alleged an admission on the part of the defendant of his liability to account and that the account will be rendered rather than a refusal to account. 43 I. C. 571; 44 C. 1 Rel. 30 C. L. J. 90 Dist. (Das and Ross, JJ.) SYED HASSAN IMAM v. DEBI PRASAD SINGH. 3 Pat 546; 1924 P. H. C. G. 189; 5 Pat. L. T. 303; 80 I. C. 956; 1924 P. 664.

—Arts. 89 and 90—Suit by principal against legal representatives of deceased agent—Limitation—Arts. 89 and 90 not applicable but Art. 62 or 115. See LIM. ACT, ART. 62. 5 Pat. L. T. 355.

—Arts. 89 and 120—Principal and agent—Suit against heirs of deceased agent for accounts and recovery of money—Limitation.

Where a cause of action for accounts and recovery of money due from an agent has accrued before the death of an agent, the mere fact of his subsequent death would not give a fresh starting point of limitation against his legal representative. A suit for accounts against the legal representative would be governed by Art. 89 and not by Art. 120. (Phillips, J.) MAHBOOB SIR FRAIVANTU SREE RAJA PARTHASARADI APPA RAO v. SUBBA RAO. 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 84; (1924) M. W. N. 517; 1924 Mad. 840; 47 M. L. J. 483.

—Arts. 90 and 36—Director of limited company—Suit against for losses suffered by his negligence—Limitation—Position of director.

In each case it is a question of fact as to whether a director of a company whose acts are brought into question is in the position of a trustee, a partner, or an agent to the company or to the body of share-holders. Held that on the facts of the case, the defendant in acting as the Chairman of the local board of directors was in respect of the suit transactions, acting as the agent of the banking company and a suit against him for losses incurred by his negligent conduct of the business was governed by Art. 90 of the Limitation Act and not by Art. 36. (Abdul Raoof and Fford, JJ.) DAULAT RAM v. BHARAT NATIONAL BANK, LTD., DELHI. 5 Lah. 27; 79 I. C. 740; 1924 Lah. 435.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 97.

—Art. 90—Suit by Municipality for recovery of moneys embezzled by municipal servants through the negligence of the manager—Limitation.

A suit by a Municipal Board against its secretary and Executive Officer for the recovery of moneys embezzled by Municipal servants owing to the negligence of the defendant, is governed by Art. 90 of the Limitation Act. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, JJ.) MUKERJI v. THE MUNICIPAL BOARD, BENARES 46 A. 175; L. R. 5 A. 113; 22 A. L. J. 26; 80 I. C. 241; 1924 A. 467.

—Act. 91—Applicability of—Instruments void and not voidable—Avoidance of—Declaration. MT. BIBI KANIZ ZAINAB v. SYED MOBARAK HUSSAIN. 1924 P. 284.

—Arts. 91 and 144—Hindu widow—Mortgage—Subsequent sale of the equity of redemption—Adoption—Right of adopted son to set aside alienation—Limitation.

In May 1900 a Hindu widow in possession of her husband's estate mortgaged it and subsequently in November 1900 she sold the equity of redemption directing the vendee to pay off the mortgage. In November 1907 the widow adopted the plaintiff and died the next month. The vendee paid off the mortgage and obtained possession of the land in March 1908. The plaintiff sued to recover possession of the land in December 1919. The defence was that the suit was barred by limitation. Held, that the plaintiff as adopted son of the widow was not bound to set aside the sale in favour of the defendant and Art. 91 of the Limitation Act had no application to the case. Prior to March 1908 the possession of the properties was with the mortgagee and the adverse possession of the vendee commenced only in March 1908 when he paid off the mortgage and took possession of the property. The plaintiff's suit for recovery of possession was within time under Art. 144 of the Limitation Act and he was entitled to recover possession of the lands on payment to the defendant of the amount which he had paid to discharge the mortgage. It was not necessary for the plaintiff to have to sue to set aside the alienation by the widow; he could like a reversioner sue to enforce his right within the period of limitation after the death of the widow. 19 Bom. 809; 33 Bom. 88 Foll. (Shah, A. C. J. and Fawcett, J.) HANAM GOWDA v. IRGOWDA. 26 Bom. L. R. 829; 48 Bom. 654; 1925 Bom. 9.

—Arts. 91 and 144—Malabar Law—Alienation by karnavan—Suit to set aside—Limitation.

A suit by the junior members of a Malabar tarwad to recover possession of immoveable property improperly alienated by the Karnavathi is governed by Art. 144, and not by Art. 91 of the Limitation Act. The fact that the Karnavathi purported to execute the document not only as Karnavathi, but also as guardian of the minor plaintiffs, will not make either Art. 91 or Art. 44 applicable to the suit. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) KANNA PANIKKAR v. NANCHAN. 19 L.W. 395; 1924 Mad. 607; 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 89; 78 I. C. 564; 46 M. L. J. 340.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 97.

—Art. 97—Failure of consideration—Partial failure—Eviction from a portion of property purchased—Rights of purchaser.

Where transferees of several items of properties for consideration are still in possession of some of the items of property conveyed, they cannot recover the whole of the consideration for the transfer. The fact that they are in possession of some portion of the property transferred to them by the defendant under the transfer goes to the root of their title to recover the purchase money on the ground of failure of the existing consideration. (Syed Nair Hasan, J.) KARIM BUX v. ABDUL WAHID KHAN. 11 O. L. J. 323: 1 O. W. N. 416; 10 O. & A. L. R. 976: 80 I. C. 81; 1924 Oudh 377.

—Art. 97—Registered lease—Dispossession prior to expiry of lease—Suit for damages—Limitation. See LIM. ACT, ART. 116. 78 I. C. 248.

—Arts. 97 and 116—Registered lease—Dispossession—Suit for damages—Limitation.

Where a lessee under registered lease is dispossessed before the expiry of his term, limitation for a suit for damages runs from the date of dispossession and is governed by art. 116 and not 97. (Baker, J. C.) SETH LAXMICHAND v. BAJIRAO. 1924 Nag. 220 (2).

—Art. 99—Mortgage—Money left with mortgagee for payment of prior mortgage—Default—Suit—Decree—Limitation for recovery of amount.

A mortgagee was directed to pay off a prior mortgage out of the consideration for his own mortgage. Default having been made in payment the prior mortgagee sued both the mortgagor and the subsequent mortgagee and obtained a joint decree. The mortgagor who had to pay up the decree sued for recovery of the amount from the subsequent mortgagee. The defendant raised a plea of limitation. Held, that Art. 99 of the Limitation Act applied to the case and time began to run from the date of discharge of the decree. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) LAKHI v. MURAT TEWARL. 22 A. L. J. 737; L.R. 5 A. 534: 1924 A. 843.

—Art. 103—Suit for prompt dower—Limitation when commences.

In a suit for prompt dower by a Mahomedan lady, limitation runs only when demand having been made the same is refused (Wazir Hassan, A. J. C.) MT. ZOHRA BIBI v. GANESH PRASAD. 78 I. C. 106.

—Art. 106—Partnership—Dissolution—Death of partner—Suit for accounts.

Where by the death of a partner, partnership is dissolved, limitation for a suit for accounts runs under Art. 106 from the date of death. (Baker, J. C.) SETH RAMBHAN v. PRAYAGDAS. 20 N. L. R. 49; 78 I. C. 198: 7 N. L. J. 195; 1924 Nag. 263.

—Art. 106—Partnership—Dissolution of old partnership and formation of new one—Accounts of old partnership—Right to take on dissolution of new one—Condition—Limitation.

The plaintiff, the 2nd, 3rd and 4th defendants, and the 1st defendant's father had a partnership in bamboo trade from 1912 to 1913. 1st defendant's father died in that year. Nevertheless the same bamboo trade was carried on by the surviving members along with the 1st defendant, and apparently the father's share was treated as the 1st defendant's share in the new partnership which continued till 1917. In 1918 plaintiff instituted a suit for dissolution of partnership, for the taking of accounts and for recovery of the share of the profits, the accounts which the plaintiff wanted to be taken being not only of the trade from 1913 to 1917 but also of the trade in 1912—1913.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 116.

Held, that the claim to take accounts of 1912—1913 partnership was not barred by limitation.

No doubt, when a partner dies, the partnership comes to an end under the Contract Act. But nevertheless if the remaining partners continue the business, for the purposes of ascertaining what shares those remaining partners brought into the new partnership, an account may have to be taken of the old partnership and there will be no question of limitation at all in such a case as that, for, the account of the old partnership is taken not for the purpose of enforcing the claim to the money due as profits in that partnership but for the purpose of ascertaining what the capital supplied by the continuing partners was to the new partnership. (Krishnan, J.) ABDUL JAFFAR SAHIB v. VENUGOPAL CHETTIAR. 80 I. C. 378; 1924 Mad. 708; 46 M. L. J. 503.

—Art. 109—Auction-purchaser under subsequent mortgage receiving rent—Suit by purchaser under a prior mortgage for rent—Starting point of limitation.

Where an auction-purchaser in execution of a mortgage decree purchased certain lands, and accepted some portion of the rent from the lessees, another purchaser of the same land, sold in execution of a prior mortgage, filed a suit for the recovery of rent paid wrongfully to the purchaser under the subsequent mortgage, and it was contended by the deft, that time must run from the date of payment of rent to the appellant.

Held, "The only article which appears to apply is Art. 109 i.e. "for the profits of immoveable property belonging to the plaintiff which has been wrongfully received by the defendant". Under this article, the period of limitation (3 years) begins to run, when the profits are received. The suit is barred by time. (Neave, J.) MD. ABBAS ALI KHAN v. GOKUL CHAND AND ANOTHER. L. R. 5 All. 688 Civil; 1925 A. 52.

—Arts. 113 and 10—Sale-deed—Covenant to give first—Refusal to purchase—If a right of pre-emption.

The vendee of a house covenanted to give the vendor and his heirs the first option to purchase the house at a certain price, if he were to sell the house at any time. In a suit to enforce this covenant, held it was not a suit to enforce a right of pre-emption, but one for specific performance falling under Art. 113 Lim. Act, (Kincaid, J. C. and Kennedy, A. J. C.) KHEMCHAND RAMDAS v. MOHSON SHAH. 80 I. C. 962.

—Art. 116—Breach of Covenant—Limitation. 1924 Cal. 148.

—Art. 116—Company—Suit for dividends—Auction-purchaser of shares—Refusal by Company to register the purchaser—Position of purchaser—Company if a trustee—Limitation.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 118.

The purchaser at a court auction sale of some shares in a company belonging to a judgment debtor applied to the company to register his purchase, but it was refused. He then brought a suit for recovering dividends which had fallen due more than three but less than six years before the date of suit. Held, the suit was barred. He was not a shareholder and therefore would not take his stand on the registered contractual relation which is the foundation for any claim to call in aid of Art. 116 of the Limitation Act.

42 Mad. 33; 35 M. L. J. 256 distinguished; 5 Mad. 537; 42 M. L. J. 449 referred to.

A Company does not hold the dividends as a trustee for the shareholders. (Wallace, J.)
ADDEPALLI VENKATA GURUNADHA RAMA SESHAYYA v. SRI TRIPURASUNDARI COTTON PRESS BEZWADA. 19 L. W. 623; 1924; Mad. 721; 79 I. C. 94; 46 M. L. J. 563.

—Arts. 118 and 144—Adoption—Hindu widow—Suit for possession by reversioner—Limitation—Starting point.

In suits for possession by a Hindu reversioner impeaching the validity of an adoption by the widow, the period of limitation is 12 years under Art. 144 and not under Art. 118 of the Limitation Act.

13 I. A. 84; 20 I. A. 30; 33 I. A. 156; 30 M. 309; 39 I. A. 19 referred to. (Lord Phillimore)
KALYANDAPPA BIN AYAPPA DESAI v. CHANBASAPPA BIN DODAPPA DESAI,

28 C. W. N. 666; 22 A. L. J. 508;
26 Bom. L. R. 509; L. R. 5 P. C. 97;
1924 P. C. 137; (1924) M. W. N. 414;
48 Bom. 411; 1 O. W. N. 553; 10 O. & A. L. R. 1114;
11 O. L. J. 181; 79 I. C. 971.
34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 111; 20 L. W. 109 (P. C.).
46 M. L. J. 598.

—Art. 118—Applicability—Suit by adopted son for possession.

Art. 118 has no application to a suit by an adopted son for possession of property, where the validity or factum of adoption is incidentally in issue. (Kotwal and Prideaux, A.J.Cs.)
MT. ANNAPURNABAI v. RUPRAO. 1924 Nag. 319.

—Arts. 118 and 119—Applicability—Suit for possession—Defendant in possession under an adoption.

Arts. 118 and 119 apply only to a suit for declaratory relief pure and simple and not to a suit for possession even though the defendant is in possession under an adoption or the plaintiff's title is based upon an adoption. (Hillifax, A. J. C.)
MT. MUNNA v. SUKLAL. 1924 Nag. 142.

—Art. 118—Punjab Act (I of 1920), Art. 3—Registered adoption deed—Suit to declare adoption invalid—Within what time to be brought—Registration, if will amount to constructive notice.

A suit brought to declare that a person appointed heir by a registered adoption deed is not so entitled, is not barred even if brought after 6 years from the date of the registered adoption deed; because the deed of adoption is not in itself tantamount to notice of adoption. 48 Cal. Page 1 (P. C.) followed.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 120.

The onus of proving knowledge is on those who plead limitation. (Scott-Smith and Ffordes, J.J.)
GULAM MAHOMED v. MIRZA. 5 Lah. 368; 1925 Lah. 25.

—Art. 120—Applicability. MT. KOKLA KUMAR v. KALIAN MAL. 76 I. C. 585.

—Arts. 120 and 125—Applicability of—Hindu female having limited interest in property—Minor—Certificated guardian—Sale by guardian without permission of Court—Suit by next reversioners to declare alienation void—Cause of action when arises—Limitation Act, Art. 120 applies and not Art. 125. See GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, Ss. 18 and 30. 51 C. 101.

—Art. 120—Applicability—Suit to set aside order of Government.

In 1903 the Government officials marked off the lands in suit and issued to the plaintiff a rough patta, showing the lands to which Government admitted his right to obtain a grant subject to certain conditions. Plaintiff preferred objections to the exclusion from the rough patta of the land in suit. His objections were definitely rejected in 1905. Thereupon plaintiff brought a suit to set aside that order and to obtain a declaration of his right in 1913.

Held that Art. 120 applied and the suit was barred. (Mr. Ameer Ali)
KADATH AMBUNAIR v. SECY. OF STATE. 26 Bom. L. R. 639; 20 L. W. 49;
35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 128; 1924 P. C. 150;
47 Mad. 572; 80 I. C. 835; 1924 M. W. N. 512;
47 M. L. J. 35.

—Art. 120—Attachment before judgment—Claim—Decree and execution sale—Claim petition—Rejection—Suit—Limitation, See LIM. ACT, ARTS. 11 and 120. 34 M. L. T. 193 (H. C.).

—Art. 120—Buddhist Law—Partition—Ownership of joint estate—Successive marriages—Limitation. MAUNG LU GALE v. MAUNG LU PO. 77 I. C. 53.

—Art. 120—Claim for mesne profits—Accrual after death of testator. MAUNG PO KIN v. MAUNG SHWE BVA. 1924 Rang. 155.

—Art. 120—Compromise decrees—Minor—Leave of Court not obtained—Suit to set aside decree—Limitation—Art. 120 applicable. See C. P. CODE, O. 32, R. 7. 22 A. L. J. 521.

—Arts. 120 and 126—Sale by Hind father—Suit to set aside—Limitation. 77 I. C. 174.

—Arts. 120 and 144—Suit for declaration of title—Prayer in the alternative for possession—Limitation.

Plaintiff sued for a declaration of title to certain property of which he alleged he had been in continuous possession but as an alternative relief he also prayed for possession in case he be found to have been dispossessed. His title was proved. The defendant alleged that the plaintiff never obtained possession and did not set up a case of dispossession. The finding on this point was that the plaintiff's predecessors had actually entered into possession and had continued in uninterrupted possession and enjoyment ever since. Held, that in the absence of any allegation on the defendant's side that the plaintiff's predecessors had been dispossessed, it was fair to presume that the possession continued. (Neave, A. C. J.) SUBDHUN PANDE v. MAHESH PRASAD. 10 O. & A. L. R. 310: 81 I. C. 588 : 1925 Oudh 170.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 120.

—Art. 120—Suit by remote reversioner—Suit to set aside alienation by widow.

The only article of the Limitation Act applicable to a suit by a remote reversioner to set aside an alienation by a Hindu widow and for a declaration of its invalidity is 120 and the suit would be time-barred if brought after the expiry of six years from the date of the alienation. (Neave, A. J. C.) ANANDI DIN v. RAM SAHAI.

10 O. & A. L. R. 305 : 11 O. L. J. 236: 27 O. C. 173 : 1 O. W. N. 24 : 1924 Oudh 381.

—Art. 120—Trustee—Compromise by, and decree on footing of—Validity as against trust—Conditions—Hindu Law—Joint family—Father—Will bequeathing properties to charity—Son's suit to set aside will on ground that properties bequeathed were joint family properties taken by son—Validity—Suit by executor-trustee to set aside decree—Limitation—Applicability—Son brought in as trustee by compromise though testator expressly excluded him—Validity of compromise to that extent.

A Hindu bequeathed some properties by will in favour of a charity. The executors under the will applied for probate thereof, whereupon the sons of the deceased testator entered a caveat contending that the will was brought about by undue influence and was invalid. They (the sons) also filed a suit for a declaration that the properties were joint family properties and that the deceased had no right to dispose of them by will. Both the application for probate and the suit were compromised, a razinamah was entered into between the executors and the sons by which two of the items were left for charity and the other items were taken by the sons, and a decree was passed in terms of the razinamah. More than six years after the date of the said razinamah decree, the plaintiff, one of the executors, instituted a suit, inter alia for a declaration that the razinamah decree was void and of no effect and that all the properties belonged to the charity, and for recovery of the said properties from the sons. The plaint did not allege that the compromise was brought about by fraud and that the plaintiff discovered the fraud only shortly before suit. The plaint alleged that the compromise was brought about by collusion, but there was no proof of any collusion. It was found that the contention of the sons that the properties bequeathed were joint family properties was one fairly open to them and that it was bona fide believed in by the parties and their vakils.

Held, that the razinamah was a fair settlement of the dispute between the parties and was valid and binding on the charity; and that Art. 120 of the Limitation Act was applicable to the case, and the suit was barred. By his will the deceased appointed the executors trustees and expressly excluded one of the sons from management of the trust property. Under the razinamah, that son was allowed to come in. It was contended that the compromise was invalid at least to that extent, because the executors, who were trusttees had no right to get behind the terms of the will which had excluded the son.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 126.

Held, that the compromise was not invalid on the ground alleged, because neither of the executors had relinquished his right in favour of the said son. Assuming that the testator's wish that a person should be excluded from trusteeship was binding upon the trust it does not take away the jurisdiction of the Court, in framing a scheme to appoint such men, as it thinks fit to be trustees. (Devadoss, J.) CHITTAMBALA MUDALIAR v. PAR-THASARATHI MUDALIAR. 1925 Mad. 194 : 20 L. W. 659: 47 M. L. J. 801.

—Art. 123—Co-beirs—Suit for share of inheritance. MAUNG PO KIN v. MAUNG SHWE BYA. 1924 Rang. 155.

—Art. 123—Suit by legatee against co-legatees—Applicability of article.

Where a colegatee is in possession of the estate of the deceased, a suit by a legatee for his share of the estate will be governed by Art. 123, Lim. Act. (Harrison and Zafar Ali, J.J.) GURBAKSH SINGH v. BHAGWAN SINGH. 1924 Lah. 561.

—Art. 125—Adverse possession—Female heir—Purchase from—Suit for possession—Limitation. 76 I. C. 915 : 1922 O. C. 784.

—Art. 125—Execution sale—Hindu widow—Sham hypothecation and collusive sale—Suit to set aside.

A Hindu widow in possession of her husband's estate executed a sham hypothecation of the same. A suit was brought on the mortgage and a decree collusively obtained against the widow. In execution of the decree the properties were sold. Subsequently a reversioner sued for a declaration that the sale was invalid and not binding on the estate. Held, that the suit was not barred by limitation. The proceedings suffered by the widow amounted to an alienation of the estate. 33 A. 356, Rel. (Spencer, O. C. J.) POOCHAMMAL v. SUNDARAMMAL.

(1924) M. W. N. 322 : 19 L. W. 564: 80 I. C. 554 : 1924 Mad. 617 (2).

—Art. 126—Joint Hindu family—Alienation by father—Suit by son to set aside—Limitation.

Art. 126 of the Lim. Act is specially applicable to a suit by a Hindu son to set aside his father's alienation of ancestral property. The period within which such a suit must be brought is 12 years from the date on which the alienee takes possession of the property. The subsequent birth of the plaintiff does not give a fresh start to limitation. 64 I. C. 757 : 8 A. L. J. 733 : 14 A. L. J. 25, Ref. (Mukherji, J.) SANKET NARAYAN PANDE v. RAM BHAROS. L. R. 5 A. 423 : 79 I. C. 1010: 1924 A. 677.

—Art. 126—Suit under—Cause of action—Limitation—Starting point.

The cause of action under Article 126 of the Limitation Act only arises when possession of property is taken by the transferee. The fact which starts limitation running is the ouster of father and sons from the actual enjoyment of the property. (Daniels, A. J. C.) OUDH BEHARI LAL v. DAL SINGH. 10 O. L. J. 504:

79 I. C. 666 : 1924 Oudh 420.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 127.

———Art. 127—Applicability. 77 I. C. 697:
1922 O. C. 785.

———Art. 127—Applicability—Joint family property—Suit for share.

Art. 127 presupposes the continuation of a joint family and of the joint family property till the date of suit and an exclusion from the enjoyment of such property of one party by the other. (Kankaiya Lal, J.) BHAGWAN DAS v. SUKHDEO KOERI, 1924 A. 812.

———Art. 127—Applicability—Mahomedans—Joint family—What is.

Art. 127 does not apply to the undivided property of a family governed by Mahomedan Law and not proved to have accepted as a custom the Hindu law of joint family. The words "joint family" in Art. 127 qualify the word "property" and a joint family is a peculiar concept of the Hindu Law and does not apply to Mahomedans who hold their shares in severalty. (Kincaid, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MT. BHAGBHARI v. MT. KHATUN. 80 I. C. 118.

———Art. 130—Jagir—Suit for resumption—Limitation. 1924 P. 298.

———Art. 132—Lien for unpurchased money—Enforcement of—Limitation.

A suit to enforce the vendor's lien given by S. 55 of the Transfer of Property Act must be brought within 12 years of the date of sale when the purchase money is payable. The parties cannot extend the time given by the law for the enforcement of such charge by simply putting off the date of payment. (Devadoss, J.) AUTHINARAYANA AIYAR v. KRISHNASWAMI AIYAR.

20 L. W. 484 : (1924) M. W. N. 755 : 82 I. C. 481 :
1924 Mad. 854.

———Art. 132—Loan—Promissory note and security bond—Remedy on pro-note barred—Suit on security bond.

A sum of money was borrowed on a pro-note and subsequently a security bond was executed by means of which immoveable property was hypothecated for the debt. A suit was brought to recover the money due on the pro-note by enforcing the security bond. Held, the suit would be governed by Art. 132, Lim. Act, and the fact that the pro-note was barred does not affect the question. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) BEHARI LAL v. LALA BENI MADHO. 10 O. & A. L. R. 371 :

1 O. W. N. 103 : 79 I. C. 942 : 1925 Oudh 92.

———Art. 132—Mortgage—Instalment payments—Default—Cause of action—Limitation.

Where a mortgage deed provided for payment by instalments and also that default in such payment should constitute a separate cause of action, a suit for the recovery of instalments in respect of which default has been made is governed by Art. 132, Lim. Act, and limitation runs from the date of default. If the mortgagee does not take advantage of the clause, it will not prevent limitation running, unless the payee waived the benefit of the provision for prompt payment in case of default. Mere forbearance to one is not enough to prove waiver. (Moti Sagar and Martineau, JJ.) NANAK CHAND v. MAHAMMAD KHAN. 1924 Lah. 702.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 134.

———Art. 132—Sale of mortgaged properties in execution of mortgage decree—Surplus sale proceeds deposited in court—Wrongful withdrawal from Court—Suit to recover money so withdrawn.

A suit to recover surplus sale proceeds realised out of the sale of mortgaged properties in execution of a mortgage decree which are deposited in Court but are wrongfully withdrawn is a suit to enforce payment of money charged upon immoveable property and the period of limitation for such a suit is 12 years under Art. 132, Schedule II, Limitation Act. 41 C. 654 : 41 I. A. 452 : 21 I. C. 961 (P. C.) followed. MT. CHANDRA KUNWAR v. SHEO DAYAL. 1 O. W. N. 372 : 11 O. L. J. 707.

———Art. 132—Suit for recovery of money charged on an oil-well—Limitation.

Where money is charged on an oil-well either by act of parties or by operation of law, the period of limitation applicable for a suit to enforce the charge is that prescribed by Art. 132 of the Limitation Act, 36 C. 193 : 31 M. 439 Ref. (Pratt, and Macgregor, JJ.) MA LON v. MA NYO.

1 Rang. 714 : 79 I. C. 766 : 1924 R. 204.

———Arts. 132 and 148—Suit by puisne mortgagee—Prior mortgage—Decree on without impleading puisne mortgagee—Subsequent suit by puisne mortgagee—Limitation.

The right of a puisne mortgagee to redeem is only ancillary to his right to work out his remedy against the mortgaged estate. He is only permitted to redeem for the purpose of working out his own security. The right of the puisne mortgagee to redeem the prior mortgage in a case where he had not been joined in a suit on the first mortgage is the right to redeem the first mortgage with a view of enforcing his own mortgage. (1911) 1 M.W.N. 165 : 24 M. 171 : 26 M. 537 Ref. Consequently a suit for that purpose is governed by Art. 132 and not by Art. 148 of the Lim. Act. (Madhavan Nair, J.) LAKSHMANAN CHETTIAR v. SELLA MUTHU NAICKER. (1924) M.W.N. 508 : 1925 Mad. 76 : 47 M.L.J. 602.

———Art. 134—Applicability of.

Art. 134 applies to property purchased from the mortgagee and not to the right, title and interest of the mortgagor purchased through Court at the instance of a decree holder against the mortgagee. 11 C. 121, 131 : 25 M. 99, 11 M. L. J. 323 (F. B.) 9 A. 97 Ref. (Raymond and Madgawkar A.J.C.) MAHOMED MOOSA v. KAZI FATEHULLAH 79 I. C. 466 : 1925 Sind 167.

———Art. 134—Applicability of—Transferee from mortgagee—Limitation.

Only a transferee with a bona fide belief at the time of the conveyance can claim the protection of Article 134 and in other cases the suit to redeem against him is governed by Article 148. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Le Rossignol, J.) WAZIR CHAND v. NATHU RAM. 6 I. L. J. 151 : 80 I. C. 321 : 1924 Lah. 468.

———Arts. 134 and 91.

Malabar Tarwad—Alienation by Karnavan—Suit by junior members to set aside—Limitation—Art. 144 applicable. See LIM. ACT, ARTS. 91 AND 144. 46 M. L. J. 340.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 134.

— — — Art. 134 — Mortgage of property by brothers—Sale of equity of redemption by one—Suit to dispute sale—Limitation.

Where two brothers mortgage their property and one of them sells the equity of redemption to the mortgagee, a suit by the other to challenge the validity of the sale would be barred twelve years after he gets knowledge of the sale. Nor would absence of knowledge be presumed after a lapse of fifty years. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) KRISHNAJI SONJI v. SADANAND.

26 Bom. L. R. 341 : 80 I. C. 763 : 1924 Bom. 417.

— — — Arts. 134 and 148—Mortgage—Sub-mortgage—Suit for redemption—Limitation.

A suit for redemption by the mortgagors of a sub-mortgagee as such is governed by Art 148 and not by Art. 134 of the Lim. Act. (Duckworth and Godfrey, JJ.) MA MYAT GYI v. MA MA NYAN.

2 Rang. 561 : 1925 Rang. 140 (2).

— — — Art. 134—Transfers from mortgagees and trustees—Difference—Notice. 1924 Oudh 44.

— — — Art. 135—Applicability—Suit against puisne mortgagee.

Art. 135, Lim. Act is not limited to suits against the mortgagor, but applies to suits against a person deriving title from the mortgagor under a prior mortgage. (Daniels, J. C.) GOKUL PRASAD v. SUKRU.

10 O. & A. L. R. 129 : 11 O. L. J. 269 : 81 I. C. 581 : 1924 Oudh 374.

— — — Arts. 137, 138 — Auction—purchaser—Mortgage pending attachment—Suit for possession.

Pending an attachment the owner mortgaged it to another. The purchaser in execution filed a suit for redemption and for possession more than 12 years after the sale. Held the mortgage though void, the suit was barred. (Madhavan Nair, J.) SRINIVASA AYYANGAR v. VELLAYAN AMBALAM.

47 M. L. J. 913.

— — — Art. 139—Ejectment—Tenant holding over—Limitation.

* Art. 139 of the Limitation Act is inapplicable to a case where a tenant is holding over under S. 116 of the T.P. Act. It only applies where the tenancy has been determined. (Mullick and Jwala Prasad, JJ.) TEKAIT HARNARAYAN SINGH v. DARSAN DEO.

3 Pat. 403 : 1924 P. 560

— — — Art. 139—Landlord and tenant—Life estate—Heirs of grantee in possession for over 12 years—Ejectment—Limitation.

Where there was a grant of a lease for life in favour of two individuals and on the death of the survivor of them, his heirs were in uninterrupted possession of the leasehold property for over 12 years without paying rent, Held that a suit to eject them after that period was barred by limitation. 18 B 256 not foll. 24 B 504 Ref. (Das and Ross, JJ.) HARI GIR v. KUMAR KAMAKHYA.

3 Pat. 534 : (1924) P. H. C. C. 158 : 78 I. C. 511 : 1924 P. 572.

— — — Arts. 140 and 141—Possessory title.

A plaintiff who relies solely on his possessory title and cannot prove his title to succeed to the last holder of the estate cannot invoke the aid of Art. 140 or 141. (Dawson Miller, C. J., Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHEO PRASAD.

5 Pat. L. T. Supp. 1 : 1925 Pat. 68.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 142.

— — — Arts. 140 and 141—Scope of—Remainderman—Reversioner—Will appointing Hindu female as executrix and giving life estate—Cause of action accruing on death of her husband—Prob. and Adms. Act, Ss. 4, 88 and 90.

A Hindu testator died in 1894 leaving a will appointing his widow as executrix and giving her a life estate in the properties and the remainder to any son that might be adopted by the widow. The widow died in 1907 and an adoption made by her was declared to be invalid. The plaintiff whose cause of action arose in 1896 during the life time of the widow brought a suit in 1919 for recovery of possession of the properties against the defendants who set up a claim to them, Held, that the widow as executrix fully represented the estate ; that the cause of action began to run from 1896 that when the executrix was barred the beneficiaries like plaintiffs were also barred, the executor representing the testator and not the legatees, that limitation for recovery of the lands ran during the period of executorship as against the estate of the testator, and that the suit was barred in 1908.

The plaintiff was neither a reversioner nor a remainder man under Art. 140 of the Lim. Act as the widow was holding a life estate under the will and as the remainder had been given away to the adopted son.

The provisions in Ss. 4, 88, 90, 100 and 147 of the Prob. and Admn. Act controlled the provisions laid down in Art. 140 and 141 of the Lim. Act. (Das and Ross, JJ.) MAHARAJA BAHADUR KESHO PRASAD SINGH v. MADHO PRASAD.

5 Pat. L. T. 513 : 3 Pat. 880 : 1924 P. 721.

— — — Art. 141—Suit for possession—Daughter—Transfer inter vivos by widow—Effect of.

Limitation for a suit for possession by a Hindu daughter for her father's estate after the death of the widow, is 12 years running from the death of her mother. Any dealings with the property by the widow or her transferee during her life time would not affect the daughter's title which comes into existence only on the death of the widow. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. Cs.) MT. RAJ DULARI v. MT. CHANDESHUR DEL. 78 I. C. 65 : 1925 Oudh 164.

— — — Art. 141—Suit for recovery of possession after death of Hindu widow—Date of death of widow—Proof of—Entries in books of purohit—Admissibility of. See EVIDENCE ACT, S. 32 (2).

46 M. L. J. 541.

— — — Arts. 142 and 144—Applicability of—Plea of adverse possession—Relevancy of—Tenancy alleged by plaintiff denied by defendant—Limitation—Starting point.

Plaintiffs sued to eject the defendants from a house-site alleging that the latter were holding as tenants of the plaintiffs' predecessor-in-title and that they had latterly denied the title of the plaintiffs and set up a title in themselves. Held, that Art. 142 of the Limitation Act applied to the suit and the plaintiffs must prove their possession within twelve years next preceding the institution of the suit and in such cases an enquiry into the question of adverse possession is irrelevant. 16

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1903), Art. 142.

C. 473; 17 C. 137, Ref. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. Cs.) GURSAHAI KANDU v. CHEDI.

10 O. & A. L. R. 67 : 11 O. L. J. 251 :
79 I. C. 964 : 1 O. W. N. 38 : 27 O. C. 130

— Art. 142—Burden of proof.

77 I. C. 506.

— Arts. 142 and 144—Co-sharer—Suit for possession of share—Dispossession—Proof—Exclusive possession of defendant.

Where in a suit for possession of a share in an occupancy holding it was found that the defendants had been in exclusive possession for over 31 years, and that the plaintiff's case of ouster 3 years before suit was not true. Held, that the plaintiff's suit was barred by limitation. It is an abuse of the doctrine of constructive possession to apply it to the circumstances of the present case. (Daniels, J.) BASU v. MT. NANHI. L. R. 5. A. 376 : 79 I. C. 951 : 1924 A. 920.

— Art. 142—Dispossession—Subsequent regaining of possession followed by dispossession—Limitation.

Where the plaintiff, a rightful owner, is kept out of possession for less than 12 years and then succeeds in regaining possession and then after a time is dispossessed, he can base a suit for recovery of possession on the subsequent dispossession, for a wrongdoer has no constructive possession when he is not actually in possession and that of a true owner, however it is obtained, is rightful possession in law. (Mukerjee, J.) GIRISH CHANDRA PAL v. BAIKUNTHA NATH SINGHA. 81 I. C. 279 : 1925 Cal. 270.

— Arts. 142 and 144—Dispossession—Terminus a quo—Possession of mortgagee.

Mere paper dispossession does not amount to dispossession and whether under Art. 142 or 144 the terminus a quo is the actual physical dispossession.

Where a mortgagee is not entitled to possession but in pursuance of a paramount title which he sets up he gets possession, his possession is adverse to the mortgagor. (Shadi Lal, and Le Rossignol, JJs.) MUNNA LAL v. HAMID ALI. 79 I. C. 39 : 1925 Lah. 53.

— Art. 142—Partition—Possession by co-sharer who is not allotted property—Title.

Where after a partition, property which is allotted to one co-sharer is allowed to remain in the hands of another co-sharer for more than 12 years, a suit by the former for possession thereafter is barred. The fact that after completing a title by prescription he abandons the land, will not enure in favour of the other co-sharer. (Broadway and Zafar Ali, JJs.) DAULAT RAM v. NANAK CHAND. 76 I. C. 742.

— Arts. 142 and 144—Purchaser from trespasser entitled to take his possession to that of the trespasser. (Lentaigne, J.) MA MI v. HADJI MAHOMED. 75 I. C. 31.

— Arts. 142 and 144—Re-formation after submersion—Suit for possession—Burden of proof—Adverse possession.

In a suit by the owner for recovery of possession of lands diluviated and re-formed in situ, more than 10 years after the alleged re-formation, on the allegation that the plaintiff had been dispossessed therefrom after reformation in situ, the burden of proving possession within 12 years of suit is on the plaintiff. He might rely on his possession in the eye of law by showing that the land was under water and therefore incapable of actual occupation within 12 years of suit, Art. 142 and not Art. 144 of the Lim. Act was applicable to the case.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 144.

Page, J.—It was not incumbent on the plaintiff to prove that the lands were incapable of use so that his constructive possession continued on account of diluvion within 12 years of suit. Acts of possession after subsidence of the water are not required to prove possession by the true owner which is presumed. His cause of action accrues only when another person takes possession of land. 9 C. 744 ; 44 C. 858 ; 29 C. 518 ; 44 M. 883, Ref. (Newbould, Ghose and Page, JJs.) SURESH CHANDRA v. SHITI KANTA BANERJEE. 28 C. W. N. 637 : 78 I. C. 679 : 51 C. 669 : 1924 Cal. 855.

— Art. 142 — Suit on possessory title—Limitation.

Where a person has been forcibly dispossessed of immoveable property by a person having no title he can sue for possession simply on the strength of the possession which he had before he was dispossessed provided he comes within the 12 years' period under Art. 142. (Abdul Raoof, J.) KARIM BAKHSH v. GAUHAH ALI. 75 I. C. 837 : 1925 Lah. 47.

— Arts. 142 and 144—Suit for possession—Cause of action—Relinquishment by tenant—Sale of grove land—Suit by Zemindar.

Where a tenant of a grove land sold it to a third person and subsequently relinquished it to a Zemindar who brought a suit for possession against the purchaser basing his cause of action on the relinquishment. Held, that Art. 144 of the Lim. Act applied to the case and that the cause of action arose on the date of the relinquishment and not on the date of the sale. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MAHABIR PRASAD v. RAM KUMAR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 890 : L. R. 5 O. 177 (Rev.).

— Arts. 142 and 144—Suit for possession—Title derived by purchase—Burden of proof.

In a suit for possession as upon dispossession or discontinuance of possession, the onus is no doubt on the plaintiff to show that he or his vendor was in possession at some time within 12 years prior to suit. 16 C. 473 ; 6 B. 343 ; 28 A. 479. But where the possession within such period is proved in fact or in law, the burden shifts to the contesting defendants to prove therein title, and they can only do this by establishing that the title relied on by the other side has become extinguished by adverse possession for over 12 years. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) RAMJEE RAO v. ANANDAPPA. 2 Mys.L.J. 92.

— Art. 144—Adverse possession against office-holder—Effect on title of successors.

77 I. C. 568 : 1924 M. W. N. 53.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 144.

—Art. 144—Auction purchaser—Judgment-debtor in possession for more than 12 years after confirmation of sale—Subsequent obtaining of sale certificate and formal delivery of possession—Effect. See LIM. ACT, S. 28. 11 O. L. J. 466.

—Art. 144—Co-heirs—Suit for possession of joint property. 77 I. C. 257 : 1922 O. C. 797.

—Art. 144—Cosharer—Acquisition of properties—Exclusive possession—Ouster.

The plaintiff and defendant were brothers and Mahomedans. They inherited some properties from their father which they kept in common. The plaintiff was a trader in Rangoon and both before his father's death and after, he made periodical visits to his native place and stayed with defendant. The defendant had made acquisitions from out of the income of the common property. In a suit for partition and recovery of his share of his father's properties and the subsequent acquisitions, more than 12 years after the father's death. Held, that the possession of the defendant was not adverse to the plaintiff to his knowledge and that the suit was not barred. (Devadoss, J.) DADA SAHIB v. AZI MOHIDEEN SAHIB. 20 L. W. 670 : 1925 Mad. 287.

—Art. 144—Co-sharer—Common way—Obstruction by one—Suit by the other—Limitation. 76 I. C. 328.

—Art. 144—Delivery of symbolical possession—Adverse possession—Onus. 77 I. C. 564.

—Art. 144—Hindu Law—Reversioner—Possession adverse to nearest reversioner—Effect on remote reversioner. 77 I. C. 222 : 1922 O. C. 798.

—Art. 144—Lease by trustee of endowed property—Suit by successor for recovery of property—Limitation. See LEASE, CONSTRUCTION. 47 M. L. J. 256 —Art. 144—Planting of trees on another person's land—Active trespass—Adverse possession. 46 A. 52.

—Arts. 144 and 139—Suit against tenant—Adverse possession.

Neither art. 139 nor 144 contemplates that a lessee or a tenant at will or sufferance should give up possession before limitation can run in their favour. In such a case where the original tenant sets up title by adverse possession, Art. 144 and not Art. 139 applies. (Rupchand Bilaram, A. J. C.) MAHOMED FARUG v. STOIK. 79 I. C. 59 : 1925 Sindh 36.

—Arts. 144 and 148—Suit by heirs of mortgagee—Possession—Stranger.

When a stranger has redeemed a mortgage, a suit by the heirs of the mortgagee falls under Art. 144 and not art. 148. (Mukerji, J.) BHAJI BAHADUR v. PARAMESHWRI RAM. 1924 All. 834.

—Arts. 144 and 118—Suit for possession—Hindu widow—Adoption by her—Suit by reversioner for possession after death of widow—Limitation—Art. 144 applies and not Art. 118, See LIM. ACT, Arts. 118 and 144. 46 M. L. J. 598 (P.C.).

Y D 1924—52

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 148.

—Art. 144—Suit for possession of waste land—Unlawful planting of trees by defendant—Limitation.

A suit for possession of waste land belonging to plaintiff, but in which defendant planted trees without the consent of the former within 12 years of suit is governed by Art. 144 of the Lim. Act and is within time. (Banerjee and Piggott, JJ.) MUHAMMAD SHAFI v. BINDESHKI SARAN SINGH. 1924 All. 443 —Art. 144—Suit under—Proof of title—Onus on defendant to prove adverse possession. 77 I. C. 564.

—Arts. 145, 48—Suit for recovery of jewels deposited applicability of Art. 145 and not Art. 48—For recovery of articles left in the house of the deceased son of the defendant—Limitation.

In a suit for recovery of certain jewels deposited for safe custody, and certain other articles alleged to be in possession of the defendant, and the trial court dismissed on the ground that the suit was barred, under art. 48, not having been filed within three years from the date of deposit. Held, on appeal that the suit is not barred.

That art. 145 must be applied to a case of deposit of jewels and that the legal representative who succeeds on the death of the bailee, or depository is bound by any contract to which the deceased was a party, and that as regards claim of articles, since it is made within 3 years, and time began to run only from the date of refusal by the defendants. (Devadoss, J.) KRISHNASWAMY AYYANGAR v. GOPALACHARIAR. 20 L. W. 758 : 1925 Mad. 185.

—Art. 144—Transferee from co-sharer—Suit for possession—Limitation.

A transferee from a co-sharer of his portion of the land must sue for possession within 12 years of the transfer, as the principle of a co-sharer's possession being normally on behalf of all will not apply in his favour. (Moti Sagar, J.) UDI v. MARU MAL. 1924 Lah. 682.

—Art. 145—Order of Court directing return of attached property—Supratdar becomes depository for objector.

When the Court orders a supratdar to deliver the property attached to the objector holding that it belonged to the objector, supratdar becomes depository for the objector on the date of the order and article 145 governs the suit by the objector. (Halliday, A. J. C.) LAXMICHAND v. DULICHAND. 1924 Nag. 12.

—Arts. 147 and 148—English mortgage—Suit for sale or foreclosure—Art. 147 applicable, See T. P. ACT, Ss. 58 AND 76 20 L. W. 153.

—Art. 148—Redemption—Suit against auction purchaser from mortgagee—Limitation.

A suit for redemption is not a suit for possession pure and simple and where the property is in the hands of an auction purchaser from the mortgagee the suit would still fall under Art. 148 and not art. 144. (Rymond and Madgavkar, A. J. C.) MAHOMED MOOSA v. KAZI FATEHULLAH. 79 I. C. 466 : 1925 Sindh 167.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 152.

— — — Art. 152—Appeal—Limitation—Failure of court to draw decree.

The limitation for appealing from a decree runs from the date of the decree. If the court omits to draw a decree, the suit must be deemed still pending and limitation does not run. It is open to a party to apply for drawing up the decree and in case it is refused to get the order revised, (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) PANDU v. RAJESHWAR.

20 N. L. R. 131 : 78 I. C. 996 : 1924 Nag. 271.

— — — Art. 164—Applicability.

Art. 164 is not necessarily restricted to applications to set aside a decree passed in a suit. It applies to applications made under O. 9, R. 13 read with S. 141 in proceedings other than suits, such as proceedings arising out of a petition to file an award, (Bilaram, A. J. C.) MESSRS. FLEMING SHAW & CO. v. MANGALCHAND DWARKADAS. 1924 Sind 56 — — — Art. 164—Suit against firm—Ex parte decree—Setting aside—Application for—Limitation. See C. P. CODE, O. 9, R. 13.

26 Bom. L. R. 388.

— — — Art. 164—Time if can be extended—"When the summons was not duly served"—Meaning of—Notice of adjourned hearing.

A Court has no discretion to enlarge the 30 days provided by Art. 164 to set aside an ex parte decree. Where there is due service of the summons for the first hearing of a suit the mere fact that a defendant has not received notice of an adjourned hearing will not cause limitation to run from the date on which defendant became aware of the decree. (Moti Sagar, J.) SURJIT SINGH v. TORRIE. 1924 Lah. 666.

— — — Art. 166—Execution sale—Absence of attachment—Application to set aside the sale—LIMITATION. MA PWA v. MAHOMED TAMBI.

1924 Rang. 124.

— — — Art. 166—Execution sale—Setting aside—Fraud.

Where an execution sale is sought to be set aside on the ground of fraud the application is governed by Art. 166 of the Lim. Act. (Jackson, J.) ALLIAR ROWTHER v. NARAYANA KUDUMBAN. 20 L. W. 242 : 81 I. C. 844 (1) : 1924 Mad. 817.

— — — Arts. 166 and 181—Execution sale—Setting aside—Limitation.

Where a sale in execution is void as against a party, an application to set it aside under S. 47 of the C. P. Code is governed by art. 181 of the Lim. Act and not by art. 166. (Schwabe, C. J. and Wallace, J.) RAJAGOPALA AIYAR v. RAMANUJA CHARIAR. 47 Mad. 288 :

19 L. W. 179 : (1924) M. W. N. 182 :

80 I. C. 92 : 1924 Mad. 431 . 34 M.L.T. (H.C.) 37 : 46 M. L. J. 104.

— — — Art. 166—Sale a nullity—Application to set aside. See B. T. ACT, S. 49.

28 C. W. N. 556.

— — — Art. 166—Scope of.

Art. 166 is wide and general and includes within its scope all applications to have execution sale set aside. (Pearson and Graham, J.J.) HARIPADA HALDAR v. BARADAPROSAD ROY CHOWDHURY.

51 Cal. 1014 : 82 I. C. 322 : 1925 Cal. 351.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 181.

— — — Art. 177—Amending Act 26 of 1920, S. 2—Death of defendant or respondent—Time for bringing on record the legal representatives.

1924 Lah. 65.

— — — Art. 177—Death of defendant—Period for impleading legal representative—If cut down by Act XXVI of 1920.

Art. 177 which relates to the case of a defendant has been left entirely untouched by Act XXVI 1920 and the period for bringing on record his legal representative is still six months, (Moti Sagar, J.) ARJAN DAS v. NANAK CHAND.

78 I. C. 771 : 1925 Lah. 98.

— — — Art. 177—Limitation under—Amending Act. 26 of 1920.

77 I. C. 474

— — — Art. 177—Period of limitation for bringing on record legal representative—Amending Act of 1920.

The Amending Act 26 of 1920 did not touch Art. 177 of the Lim. Act and therefore after the amending Act was passed, the period in the column, according to law, opposite to Art. 177 was still six months, (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) ALICE GEORGINA SKINNER v. KUNWAR MUKARRAM ALI KHAN. L. R. 5 A. 607 :

1925 A. 77.

— — — Art. 180—Auction purchaser—Application for possession.

An application for possession of property by a decree holder auction-purchaser made more than 3 years after the confirmation of the sale is barred (Pullan, A. J. C.) MAHOMED HASSAIN v. THE NATIONAL BANK OF UPPER INDIA.

79 I. C. 691 : 1925 Oudh 106.

— — — Art. 181—Applicability or Application for continuation of proceeding—Limitation.

There is no provision of law which requires a decree holder to apply to the Court to continue a pending execution proceeding and consequently such an application is not governed by art. 181 of the Lim. Act. Art. 181 of the Lim. Act applies only where the application is required to be made by the C. P. Code. 27 A. 334; 37 A. 518; 31 M. 71, 42 A. 564 Rel. (Dalal, J. C. and Wazer Hasan, A. J. C.) IQBAL NARAIN v. MR. JAG RANI. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1285 : 1 O. W. N. 847.

— — — Arts. 181 and 182—Applicability of—Application for restitution—Limitation.

Held by the majority (Ross, J. dissenting) that Art. 181 and not Art. 182 of the Limitation Act applies to an application for restitution under S. 144, C. P. Code. 28 C. 113 ; 11 C. L. J. 541 ; 24 C. L. J. 467 ; 1 Pat. L. J. 232 ; 43 B. 235 followed

Per Ross, J. :—An application for restitution is really an application for execution and there is no reason why Art. 182 of the Lim. Act should not be applied to the case. 20 M. 448 ; 19 A. L. J. 549 ; 40 M. 780 ; 33 M. L. J. 413 ; 41 B. 625 ; 45 B. 1137 ; 37 A. 567 Referred to. (Das, Ross and Kulwant Sahay, J.J.) BALMAKUND MARWARI v. BASANTA KUMARI DASI. 3 Pat. 371 :

5 Pat. L. T. 145 : 78 I. C. 200 : 1924 P. H. C. C. 33 : 1925 P. 1.

— — — Art. 181—Applicability—Mortgagor—Right to redeem—Application not necessary.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 181.

Art. 181, applies only where an application is required by law to be made. A mortgagor is not required by any rule of procedure to make an application and obtain an order thereon before he can pay the amount fixed for redemption. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MAHOMED BAQAR KHAN v. JAGAT NARAIN LAL. 1 O. W. N. 500 : 80 I. C. 706 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1149.

———Art. 181—Applicability—Setting aside of fraudulent transfer

Art. 181 does not apply to proceedings to set aside a fraudulent transfer under S. 53 Prov. Ins. Act. (Moti Sagar, J.) DARYAI SINGH v. KUNJ LAL. 1924 Lah. 553.

———Arts. 181 and 182—Attachment before Judgment—Decree—Claim petition allowed suit to set aside—Application to execute—Limitation.

MANYAM SURAYYA v. S. VENKATARATNAM. 47 Mad. 176 : 79 I. C. 779 : 19 L. W. 20.

———Art. 181—Decree of Privy Council—Addition of legal representatives of deceased parties—Limitation—Interest.

Where pending an appeal to the Privy Council, some of the parties died and their legal representatives were not brought on record, the decree of the Privy Council is nevertheless binding on the estate of the deceased. An application to add the representatives as parties to the decree is governed by art. 181 of the Limitation Act and the starting point is the date of the decree. (Phillips and Odgers, J.J.) KALYANI PILLAI v. THIRUVENGADASWAMI AYENGAR. 20 L. W. 99 : (1924) M. W. N. 439 : 1924 Mad. 695 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 50 : 47 Mad. 618 : 47 M. L. J. 154.

———Art. 181—Dismissal of prior application for default—Continuation of—Properties different—Effect

A subsequent application for execution can be regarded as a continuation of a former one only when the former application has been dismissed without any fault or laches on the part of the decree-holder in the process of execution. It is also necessary that the properties against which relief is sought should be the same in both the applications. (Das and Ross, J.J.) MT. RESHMA KUARI v. RAMESHWAR OJHA. 79 I. C. 697 : 1925 P. 197.

———Art. 181—Insolvency—Alienation—Application by Official Receiver to set aside—Limitation.

Art. 181 does not apply to an application by an Official Receiver to set aside an alienation by the insolvent. (Oldfield and Devadoss, J.J.) PITTA RAMASWAMAH v. SUBRAMANIA AIYAR. 79 I. C. 443.

———Arts. 181 and 182—Mesne profits—Application for ascertainment of—Limitation.

An application for ascertainment of mesne profits is an application in a pending suit and not an application in execution. Consequently limitation for the application is that prescribed by art. 181 and not by art. 182 of the Lim. Act. (Jwala Prasad, A. J. C. and Kulwant Sahay, J.) HARAKHPAN MISSIR v. JAGDEO MISSIR. 1924 P. H. C. C. 265 : 5 Pat. L. T. 626 : 3 Pat. L. R. 32 : 1924 P. 781.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 181.

———Art. 181—Mortgage decree—Appeal from preliminary decree—Application for final decree. 1924 A. 99.

———Art. 181—Mortgage—Preliminary decree—Final decree—Application by mortgagee—Limitation.

An application by the mortgagee in a suit for sale for a final decree is governed by art. 181 of the Lim. Act and the period of limitation runs from the expiry of the time fixed by the preliminary decree. The period of limitation cannot be extended by reason of the pendency of proceedings as regards the title of the mortgagor. 7 L. W. 438; 16 L. W. 198; 40 A. 235 followed. It is not competent to the Court to add a new ground for extension of the limitation prescribed for an application or to invent any ground of equity for suspending the running of limitation 46 C. 694 (P. C.) Ref. (Devadoss and Jackson, J.J.) AMMA-THAYEE AMMAL v. SIVARAMA PILLAI. 20 L. W. 987 : 48 M. L. J. 74.

———Art. 181—Restitution by party who was exonerated from decree but whose property was nevertheless sold—Application for—Limitation—S. 18 of the Limitation Act—Case under—Allegations necessary for raising.

Where, though a party was exonerated from the decree, his property was nevertheless sold. Held, he was entitled to restitution and his application therefor was governed by Art. 181 of the Limitation Act the starting point being the date of the sale.

The application for restitution was made after the expiration of the three years allowed for the purpose but the applicant alleged in his petition that the decree holder fraudulently proceeded against applicant's share also without serving notice on him, and that as notice was thus fraudulently suppressed the applicant only came to know of the sale in 1921 when the application was made. Held that those allegations raised a case under S. 18 of the Limitation Act, that there was a continuing fraud up to the date of the application and that it was therefore not barred. (Jackson, J.) KALLEPALLI PALLAYYA v. BHIMARAJU. 20 L. W. 606 : 1924 Mad. 859 : 1924 M. W. N. 759 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 96 : 47 M. L. J. 535.

———Art. 181—Application for final decree—Mortgage suit—Preliminary decree affirmed on appeal—Limitation.

Where the preliminary decree passed in a mortgage suit is affirmed on appeal, the former decree merges in the decree on appeal and limitation for the passing of a final decree runs from the date of the appellate decree. 39 A. 641, 36 A. 350 Ref. (Broadway and Campbell, J.J.) FITZ-HOLMES v. BANK OF UPPER INDIA, LTD. 5 Lah. 257 : 81 I. C. 649 : 1924 Lah. 582.

———Art. 182—Application in accordance with law—Partial execution—No objection taken—Application to execute remainder.

Where without any objection being taken by the judgment-debtor, an execution application was put in and carried into effect regarding a portion of the decree only, it is an application in accordance with law and a subsequent application to execute the other portion of the decree can be maintained. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) BABAGOWDA MALGOWDA PATIL v. TANIBAI BHRATAR. 1924 Bom. 112.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 182.

—Art. 182—Application to review pending execution—Limitation—Starting point—Joint decree—Application to execute against some Judgment-debtors—Saving of limitation against others.

Execution proceedings are not closed by the Court by merely recording them, and the decree-holder's right to apply for their continuance accrues from day to day and will not be barred until three years have elapsed after the proceedings have ceased to be pending. 31 M. 71 : 36 M. 553 relied on.

Where a decree has been passed jointly against defendants 9 and 10 for recovery of possession and against defendants 1 to 8 for recovery of certain sums of money and against the 9th defendant severally in respect of certain sums of money, an application for execution against the 9th defendant alone keeps the decree alive as against the 10th defendant under Explanation 1 to Art. 182 of the Limitation Act. 30 M. 268 followed. (Jackson, J.) PUTTAYYA v. PUTTANNAYYA.

20 L.W. 585: 1925 Mad. 152: 35 M.L.T. 107 (H.C.): 47 M. L. J. 608.

—Art. 182—Award—Decree of Court—Execution.

An award under the Arbitration Act when filed in court becomes enforceable as a decree of court under S. 15 of the Act and an application in execution is governed by art. 182, Lim. Act. (Harrison, J.) POKHAR DAS v. RADHA KISHEN.

1924 Lah. 544.

—Art. 182—Condition in the decree not complied with—Darkhast for execution if in accordance with law.

The plaintiff got a decree under which he was to produce in the Court within 18th March, 1916 for payment to defendant No. 1 Rs. 1,000. He took out a Darkhast No. 115 of 1919 but it was struck off as the 1000 rupees were not paid into Court.

Held that it cannot be said that that Darkhast was not in accordance with law merely because the party did not comply with the conditions of the decree. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) MAHOMED SHIDICK v. MAHOMED HASSAN.

1924 Bom. 64.

—Art. 182—Darkhast not in accordance with law—Point not taken in previous Darkhast cannot be taken in a subsequent one.

A judgment-debtor, who did not appeal against a previous order for execution of a portion of the decree and who did not dispute the validity of such order, cannot in the matter of a subsequent application for execution of the remaining portion of the decree contend that the first application was not "in accordance with law." 15 B 242 Foll. (Macleod, C.J.) BABA GOWDA v. TANIBAI.

1924 Bom. 112.

—Art. 182 Discharged insolvent—Application against—If step-in-aid.

1924 Bom. 180.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 182.

—Art. 182—Execution—Application for revival of—Fresh application—Execution proceedings postponed till determination of another proceeding.

Pending a suit for mesne profits by the judgment-debtor the decreeholder applied for execution of his decree and by consent of parties the execution case was consigned to the record room pending the determination of the suit for mesne profits though it was not so stated in the order. After the suit was determined the decreeholder applied for execution and the judgment-debtor pleaded the bar of limitation. Held that the omission of words to the effect that the execution case was consigned to the record room only till the disposal of the suit was accidental and that the application in question was substantially one to revive a pending execution. (Kendall, A. J. C.) MIR ZAMIN ALI v. SHAFI ULLAH.

10 O. & A. L. R. 973.

—Art. 182—Execution of decree—Limitation—Step-in-aid of execution—Batta for process—Payment of—Memo not applying for issue of process—Effect.

The payment of process fees for issue of a warrant of arrest in execution of a decree, where the batta memo. itself does not apply for the issue of process is not a step in aid of execution so as to save limitation. (Wallace, J.) ARUNACHALAM CHETTIAR v. LUTCHUMANAN CHETTIAR.

20 L. W. 713 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 97 : 1924 Mad. 906: 82 I. C. 497 : 1924 M. W. N. 840 : 47 M. L. J. 537.

—Art. 182—Execution of decree—Revival of limitation—Judgment Debtor found to have no saleable interest.

A decree holder obtained a decree on 20-6-1914 against two persons. On 15-5-1916 an execution sale of the property of one of the debtors was held at which the decree holder himself was the purchaser and this sale was confirmed on 15-6-1916. On that day final satisfaction of the decree was entered up and the execution case was struck off. The decree holder purchaser alleged that he took possession of the property which he had bought and that, after some considerable time, he was fined for criminal trespass on 21-11-1917. The decree holder applied for sale of other properties of the judgment debtor in 1920 alleging that under the previous execution sale he had purchased nothing to which the judgment debtor had a lawful title. Held that the application for execution could not be considered as one for the revival of the previous execution and that the application was barred by time. (Rankin and B. B. Ghose, JJ.) BALODEV SARMA KHAUND v. SONTI BORDOTOL.

40 C. L. J. 246.

—Art. 182—Execution—Partition decree—Decree not drawn up owing to delay in furnishing stamp papers—Time for execution.

1924 Cal. 351.

—Art. 182—Incorrectness or superfluity of reliefs asked for in prior application—If a step in aid.

Where a prior execution application is dismissed on the ground the reliefs claimed are superfluous or incorrect is still an application in accordance with law and saves limitation. (Mullick and Bucknill, JJ.) NISHORI MAL v. JAGDISH NARAYAN SINGH. 3 Pat. 42 : 75 I. C. 312. 1924 P. 471.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 182.

—Art. 182—Mortgage decree and money decree—Combination of—Execution of money decree—Limitation.

In a suit on a mortgage, a decree for sale of properties was given and also a money decree against A. First the properties were sold and within 3 years from the date of the last execution application but more than 3 years from the date of the decree, execution was sought against A. Held there was only one decree and what was sought to be executed was not a "several decree" and it was not barred. (Bucknill and Foster, JJ.) BISHUN CHAND v. ABHOYKOMAR CHAND. 5 Pat. L. T. 276 : 76 I. C. 452 : 1924 P. 700.

—Art. 182—Prior application—Execution allowed to proceed—Default of judgment-debtor—If can raise question again. 2 Pat. L. R. 163 : 1924 P. 122.

—Art. 182—Redemption decree—Money to be paid in 6 months—No provision as to default executable.

A redemption decree directed possession to be given on payment of a certain sum within 6 months, but did not provide as to what should follow in case of default of payment. Held it could be enforced at any time within 3 years as provided by Art. 182. (Moti Sagar, J.) MAHABIR PERSHAD v. KARTAR SINGH. 1924 Lah. 635 :

—Art. 182—Step-in-aid—Instalment decree—Application to make decree final may be a step-in-aid.

A decree was payable by yearly instalments the first of which was payable on the 31st March, 1914. On failure to pay any one instalment in time the decree allowed sale of the mortgage property or a sufficient portion thereof to recover the amount of the instalment overdue. The creditors sought to make the decree final on default instead of applying for sale. On the 30th October 1919 the creditors applied to make the decree final as regards the instalment due on 31st March 1917. The application was rejected.

Held that an application to make a decree final may in one case be considered a step-in-aid although it may in other cases be not so and that the application of 30th October 1919 was a step-in-aid which started a new period of limitation running. 1922 Bom. 118 Ref. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) BINDU GOVIND v. HANMANTA GOVIND. 1924 Bom. 71.

—Art. 182—Step-in-aid—Order for attachment. 1924 Mad. 186.

—Art. 182—Step-in-aid—Suspension of execution proceedings. 77 I. C. 871.

—Art. 182—Trusteeship—Right to manage—Turn of 2 years—Execution application within 3 years of one of the turns—If barred.

Under the terms of a decree the right to manage a trust was to go by rotation to two parties, in turns of two years each. One of them having been kept out for a number of years, put in an execution application more than 3 years from the date of a prior application but within 3 years of his right to a turn Held as the right is of a recurring nature, the application is within time. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) KOTHANDARAMASAMI NAIDU v. PAPPAMMAL. 79 I. C. 891 : 1925 Mad. 218.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 182.

—Art. 182—"Where there has been an appeal—Meaning of—Appeal incompetent—Effect.

The expression where there has been an appeal "must be construed in its plain sense." Where though an appeal is incompetent in law, an appeal was bona fide presented, it satisfies the terms of Art. 182. (Kennedy, J. C. and Madgavkar, A. J. C.) DONALD GRAHAM & CO. v. KEWALRAM. 79 I. C. 477.

—Art. 182 (1)—Execution of decree by legal representative—Limitation—Starting point—Date of appellate decree.

A decree holder died pending an appeal against the decree and a wrong legal representative was brought on record in the appeal instead of his widow, the right legal representative. The appeal was decided on a compromise. Subsequently the widow applied to execute the decree. Held that time began to run when the appeal was decided i.e. from the date of the appellate decree. (Chatterjee and Pantou, JJ.) KRISHNA LAL BURMAN v. SATYABALA DEBI. 51 Cal. 342 : 81 I. C. 569 : 1924 Cal. 686.

—Art. 182 (2)—Decree—Execution—Starting point—Appeal as regards portion of the claim or some of the parties—Effect of, C. P. Code O. 41, R. 33.

O. 41, R. 33, C. P. Code enables the appellate Court to deal with the entire decree although the appeal may be as to a part of the decree, and also to give direction in favour of parties who have not actually filed any appeal or objection. Art 182 (2) of the Limitation Act applies where there has been an appeal from a part or whole of the decree or only when some of the parties to the suit have brought the appeal. It does not in any way qualify the final decree. A decree is not barred even with respect to the portion against which no appeal had been preferred until the appeal against the other portion of the decree is finally determined. 26 M. 91, 47 C. 813, 25 C. 594, 33 I. C. 833 Rel. on. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) SOMAR SINGH v. MT. PREMDEI KUER. 3 Pat. 327 : 1924 P. H. C. C. 105 : 5 Pat. L. T. 21. 79 I. C. 794 : 1925 P. 40.

—Art. 182 (4)—Decree barred—Amendment—Effect of. 1924 Lah. 329.

—Art. 182 (5)—Affidavit of incumbrances—If a step-in-aid.

In the absence of an application to proceed with the sale, the mere filing of an affidavit by the decree holder stating that there were no incumbrances over the property does not amount to a step-in-aid of execution. (Ryves and Mukherji, JJ.) CHIRAUNJI LAL v. GANGA SAHAI.

22 A. L. J. 410 : L. R. 5 A. 318 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 549 : 78 I. C. 631 : 1924 All. 811.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 182.

———Art. 182 (5)—Application to sanction and record adjustment of decree—If a step-in-aid.

An application for sanctioning and recording an adjustment made by all the decree holders and the judgment debtor is a step-in-aid of execution. (Baker, J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) MT. PERABAI v. BHAVANI PRASHAD 1924 Nag. 185.

———Art. 182 (5)—Execution of decree—Decree transferred to another Court—Part satisfaction—Omission to send certificate of partial execution—Civil Pro. Code (Act V of 1908), S. 41—Payment certified to the Court which passed the decree—Jurisdiction—Time if saved.

According to law and sound practice jurisdiction of the Court to which execution is sent should cease only when that Court sends a certificate to that Court which passed the decree under S. 41 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Therefore where in a Court to which the decree was sent for execution the parties came to an arrangement by which a certain sum was paid in cash and the balance was agreed to be paid by instalments and the Court did not send a certificate of part execution and the payment was certified to the Court which passed the decree Held, that the application to certify payment being made to a Court which had no jurisdiction, it did not save limitation under Art. 182 (5) of the Limitation Act. (Dalai, J. C.) MAHOMED SHAKIR v. JUGAL KISHORE. 10 W. N. 794.

———Art. 182 (5)—Limitation—Starting point—Date of prior application—Application struck off—Effect.

Time runs from the date of the presentation of the last execution application and not from the date of its disposal by the executing Court. 10 C. L. J. 479; 13 C. L. J. 26, Ref. Where without any default on the part of the decree-holder or his transferees an application for execution is struck off, a subsequent execution proceeding should be held to be a continuation of the previous execution proceedings. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) BHAGWANTA KOER v. ZAMIR AHMED KHAN. 1924 P. H. C. C. 221; 2 Pat. L. R. 249.

———Art. 182 (5)—Payment towards decree—Step in aid of execution.

A payment towards a decree amount out of Court does not by itself operate as a step in aid of execution, but an application to certify payment may give a fresh starting point of limitation under Art. 182 (5) of the Limitation Act. (Jackson J.) NARAYANA NAIR v. KUNHI RAMAN NAIR. 20 L. W. 190; (1924) M. W. N. 674; 82 I. C. 743; 1925 Mad. 131.

———Art. 182 (5)—Step-in aid—Commencement of limitation—Striking off for no default—Effect.

Limitation under Art. 182 (5) runs from the date applying to take some step-in-aid of execution and not from the date of the order passed thereon.

Where an execution proceeding is struck off without any default on the part of the decree-holder, a subsequent application is only in continuation of the previous one and no question of limitation arises. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) MT. BHAGWANTA KOER v. ZAMIR AHMED KHAN. 5 Pat. L. T. 451; 78 I. C. 766.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 182.

3 Pat. 96; 1924 P. 211; 2 Pat. L. R. 249; 1924 Pat. 576.

———Art. 182 (5)—Step-in-aid of execution—Application by transferee of decree to recognise transfer and execute the decree—Saving of limitation.

An application by a transferee decree-holder for a recognition of his transfer and to execute the decree is a step-in-aid of execution and saves limitation. 12 M. L. J. 348 foll. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) KALEPALLI RAJTAGIRIPATHY v. KALEPALLI BHAVANI SANKARAN.

47 Mad. 641; 80 I. C. 103; 1924 Mad. 673; 19 L. W. 650; (1924) M.W.N. 527; 47 M. L. J. 4.

———Art. 182 (5)—Step-in-aid of execution—Application in accordance with law—Application for joint execution against all judgment-debtors when decree allows separate execution against defendants.

Even though a decree provides for execution against the co-defendants separately according to a list attached therewith, an application for joint execution against all the judgment-debtors with a prayer that the decretal amount in the case should be added to the decretal amount in a previous case in which the judgment-debtor's property had been put up for sale, is an application in accordance with law and would save limitation. The words "in accordance with law" should not be pressed too far in favour of a defaulting judgment-debtor. 12 A. 64; 24 C. 778; 37 B. 42 Ref. (Pullan, A. J. C.) RUDRA PRATAB SINGH v. SHEO PRASAD UPADHIYA.

10 O. & A. L. R. 413; 79 I. C. 880; 11 O. L. J. 604; 1925 Oudh 77.

———Art. 182 cl. (5)—Step-in-aid—Transfer of decree—Application to court from which decree has been transferred—Not a step-in-aid.

1924 P. H. C. C. 362.

———Art. 182 (5)—Step-in-aid—Transfer of decree for execution—Satisfaction of decree—Application to certify payment made to court which passed the decree—Not a Step-in-aid. See C. P. CODE, S. 41.

10 O & A. L. R. 1277.

———Art. 182 (5)—Transfer of decree for execution—Application to first court—If a step-in-aid.

Where after a decree is transferred to another court for execution an application for further execution is made to the court which passed the decree while the transfer was in force, it is not a step-in-aid of execution as it is not made to the proper court. (Campbell, J.) THE FIRM SHERU MAL CHINA MAL v. THE FIRM HIRA LAL ANANT RAM. 78 I. C. 241.

———Art. 182 (6)—Scope of—Applied for—Meaning of.

Art. 182 (6) has to be read with clause 5 and the words "applied for" mean as provided in sub-clause 5. (Campbell, J.) THE FIRM SHERU MAL CHINA MAL v. THE FIRM HIRA LAL ANANT RAM. 78 I. C. 241.

LIMITATION ACT (IX OF 1908), Art. 183.

—Art. 183—Execution of decree—Limitation—Payment by Court—Effect of—Saving of limitation.

Properties belonging to the judgment-debtor were sold and the proceeds brought into Court. The Court ordered payment thereof to the decree-holder but the money was actually paid only some time later. Held that the payment by Court operated to give a fresh starting point of limitation for execution of the decree under Art. 183 of the Limitation Act. (Kumaraswami Sastri, J.) SABAPATHY CHETTY v. SHANMUGAPPA CHETTY.

19 L. W. 582 : 1924 Mad. 638 : 78 I. C. 832 : 46 M. L. J. 453.

—Art. 183—Mortgage decree—Several mortgagees—No community of interest—Revivor in favour of one—If enures to the other.

When for the sake of convenience several mortgagees are ranged as plaintiffs and a decree is passed, but there is no community of interest among them, an order which operates as revivor in favour of one of them does not enure to the benefit of the others.

To see if an order operates as revivor, the decree should be capable of execution and the decree holder entitled to enforce it. (Richardson and Page, JJ.) NARAIN DAS DATTA v. BANKU BEHARY CHATTOPADHYA.

78 I. C. 1001 : 1925 Cal. 213.

—Art. 183—Mortgage suit—Preliminary decree passed by the Privy Council—Final decree—Limitation—C. P. Code, O. 45, R. 15—Provisions mandatory.

Where the preliminary decree in a mortgagee suit was an order of His Majesty in Council, the preparation of the final decree was a purely ministerial act to enable the order of his Majesty in Council to be enforced. Under Art. 183 of the Lim. Act, twelve years limitation would begin to run from the date of the order of his Majesty in Council. The provisions of O. 45, R. 15, C. P. Code are mandatory and failure to comply with them renders an application for execution liable to dismissal. 20 C. W. N. 1051 Ref. (Adamy and Bucknill, JJ.) BHAGWANTA KOER v. ZAMIR AHMAD KHAN.

1924 P. H. C. C. 221 : 2 Pat. L. R. 249 : 5 Pat. L. T. 451 : 78 I. C. 766 : 3 Pat. 596 : 1924 P. 576

—Art. 183—Revivor—Notice issued under O. 21, R. 16, C. P. Code.

The issue of a notice under O. 21, R. 16, C. P. Code does not operate as a revivor under art. 183 of the Lim. Act. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) KHAJEH SALAUDDIN v. AFZAL BEGUM.

39 C. L. J. 590 : 28 C. W. N. 963 : 1925 Cal. 23.

LIQUIDATION—Voluntary, removal of liquidation—Power of Court—Due cause. 49 B. 471.

LOWER BURMA LAND AND REVENUE ACT (II OF 1876), S. 56—Only claims against Government are cognizable by Revenue Courts—Claims between rival proprietors or cultivators are cognizable by Civil Court.

The claims and disputes referred to in the Lower Burma Land and Revenue Act, (II of

MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 110.

1876), over which the Civil Courts have no jurisdiction but which are under the sole jurisdiction of the Revenue Courts, relate only to claims against Government and not to disputes between rival proprietors or cultivators. (Dawson Miller, C. J. Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHEO PRASAD.

1925 Pat. 68 : 5 Pat. L. T. Supp. 1.

—R. 107, G.—Brickmaking—Digging clay without license—Owner of land—Supply of labour—Liability for.

The accused contracted to dig clay and supply labour to another person for the purpose of making bricks without a license. Bricks were actually made without a license. Held that the owner of the field who engaged the contractors was liable but that the accused were not guilty under R. 107 G of the Lower Burma Land and Rev. Act. (Heald, J.) KABUDIN v. EMPEROR.

3 Bur. L. J. 145.

LUNACY ACT (IV OF 1912), Ss. 38, 41 and 62—Lunacy—Duty of Judge holding inquisition.

To have an inquisition into the state of health, the state of mind, the state of property and the general capacity of a person is a thing which affects that person so prejudicially that it ought not to be taken except it be first ordered on a careful consideration of evidence. It is the duty of the judge before ordering an inquisition with respect to an alleged lunatic to personally examine the alleged lunatic if so required, with a view to determine whether there is any need for holding an inquisition. (Rankin and Page, JJ.) MAHOMED MANAWAR SULTAN v. SHAMSUNESSA BEGAM.

28 C. W. N. 513 : 51 Cal. 480 : 80 I. C. 798 : 1924 Cal. 658.

MADRAS (ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATES) REGULATION (III of 1802), S. 16, Cl. 7—Scope of—Duty of Court—More than one claimant to the estate of the deceased—Jurisdiction to decide on rival claims.

Madras Regulation III of 1802 dealt with rules of Civil Procedure which were in force till a more elaborate system was devised and enacted in the form of the Code of Civil Procedure and Civil Courts Act. All the Sections have now been repealed except S. 16, cls. 2 to 7. Scope of the clauses considered. When a person dies intestate leaving personal property, the duty of a Judge under S. 16 of the Regulation, if more than one claimant appears before him is to refer the parties to a regular suit. He has no jurisdiction to give any decision acting under this Regulation, when more than one claimant appears and claims property under S. 16, cl. 7. (Venkatasubba Rao and Jackson, JJ.) MARUTHAVANASWAMI v. SUBRAMANIA THAMBIRAN.

1925 Mad. 240 : (1925) M.W.N. 166 : 47 M. L. J. 770.

MADRAS CITY MUN. ACT (IV of 1919), S. 110—R. 7, Sch. IV of the taxation rules under the Act—Incorporated companies transacting business in the City of Madras with paid-up capital in currency other than the currency of British India—Liability of such companies to be taxed under S. 110 and the taxation rules—Principles of construction of taxing statutes.

MADRAS CITY MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 110.

Incorporated companies which transact business in the city of Madras and whose paid-up capital is in a currency other than that of British India are liable to be taxed under S. 110 of the Madras City Municipal Act of 1919 and R. 7, Sch. IV of the taxation rules under the Act.

The principles of construction of taxing statutes enunciated. (Schwabe, C. J., Coutts Trotter and Ramesam, JJ.) BEST & CO. LTD. v. CORPORATION OF MADRAS. 47 Mad. 262 : 1924 Mad. 420 : 19 L. W. 142 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 65 : 79 I. C. 928 : (1924) M. W. N. 249 : 46 M. L. J. 217.

—S. 110 and Sch. IV, R. 7 Proviso—"Gross income received in or from the City" of Madras—Meaning of.

The expression "gross income received in or from the city" in the proviso to Rule 7 of Sch. IV of the Madras City Municipal Act does not include income arising out of business transacted outside Madras, the proceeds whereof are transmitted to and received by the agents of the incorporated company in Madras. Smidth & Co. v. Greenwood (1921) 3 K B. 583 : Board of Revenue v. Madras Export Co. (1923) 46 M. 360 : 44 M. L. J. 290 : Board of Revenue v. Ripon Press (1923) 44 M. L. J. 523 : Municipal Council of Cocanada v. The Clan Line Steamers, Ltd. (1918) 1 L. R. 42 M. 455 : Referred to. "Gross income" means the difference between the price at which the goods are sold and the cost price of the goods at Madras without making allowance for commission, cost of establishment and other charges. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Devadoss, J.) BEST & CO. LTD. v. THE CORPORATION OF MADRAS.

1924 Mad. 754 : 20 L. W. 347 : 46 M. L. J. 505.

MADRAS CITY POLICE ACT (III of 1889), S. 6—Keeping a common gaming-house—Conviction for—Essentials of offence.

A common gaming-house is one in which a large number of persons are invited habitually to congregate for the purpose of gaming. It does not make any difference that the use of the house and the gaming therein are limited to the subscribers and members of the club and that it is not open to all persons who might be desirous of using the same. 1 Weir 917 Ref. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) CHINNIAM, In re.

47 Mad. 426 : 1924 Mad. 729 : (1924) M. W. N. 237 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 195 : 77 I. C. 303 : 25 Cr. L. J. 367 : 19 L. W. 219 : 46 M. L. J. 309.

MADRAS CITY TENANTS PROTECTION ACT (III OF 1922), S. 9—Applicability—Ejectment decree—Appeal—Pendency of—Application for purchasing landlord's interest—Rights of parties.

The lessee from the trustees of a temple in the City of Madras obtained a decree in ejectment against his tenants in the City Civil Court. The tenants appealed to the High Court and stay of execution was ordered. During the pendency of the appeals the Madras City Tenants' Protection Act (III of 1922) came into force and the tenants applied to the High Court within 15 days thereof for orders directing the landlord to sell the land to them. Held S. 9 of the Act is intended to apply to cases in which suits are pending and where suits have resulted in decrees but such decrees have not been executed. The decision in A. A. O. No. 182 of 1922 (46 Mad. 836 : 44 M. L. J. 271) dissented from.

MADRAS DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT.

As an appeal is really a continuation of the proceedings in the suit and a stage in the same, the application was properly made to the High Court ; if there had been no appeal pending, the application under S. 9 lay to the City Civil Court, because it was the intention of the Act that, after the decree but before execution, at any time an application could be made to the Court having control of the suit.

Scope of S. 10 and the mode of valuation under S. 9 considered. (Schwabe, C. J. and Wallace, J.) KANNIAPPA CHETTIAR v. RAMACHANDRA IYER.

19 L. W. 587 : 1924 Mad. 731 : (1924) M. W. N. 386 : 79 I. C. 92 : 46 M. L. J. 407.

S. 9—Applicability—Tenant against whom decree in ejectment had been obtained but who had not been actually ejected in execution at date of Act—Right to apply for sale of.

S. 9 of Madras Act III of 1922 applies to a case where the suit in ejectment has resulted in judgment but not been executed or completed by the process of ejectment. The tenant intended by the section is a person who is threatened with ejectment as the result of legal proceedings instituted against him but has not in pursuance of those proceedings been actually ejected. It is immaterial whether or not the proceedings resulted in a decree which might lead, but has not led, to an actual ejectment of the tenant. (Coutts Trotter, C. J. Ramesam and Wallace, JJ.) SYED OMER SAHIB v. GOPAL.

20 L. W. 444 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 40 : (1924) M. W. N. 687 : 1925 Mad. 12 : 82 I. C. 454 : 47 Mad. 813 : 47 M. L. J. 350.

S. 9—Tenant in possession of temple land—Right to compel trustee to sell the land.

S. 9 of the Madras City Tenants Protection Act applies to landlords who hold their land as trustees of a religious institution and a tenant in occupation of such land can enforce a compulsory sale of the land and require the trustees to deliver the land to him at a valuation to be made by the Court. (Coutts Trotter, C. J. Ramesam and Wallace, JJ.) DORAIVELU MUDALIYAR v. NATESA GRAMANI.

20 L. W. 165 : 1925 Mad. 7 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 1 : 82 I. C. 445 : 47 Mad. 761 : 47 M. L. J. 211

MADRAS CIVIL RULES OF PRACTICE—Rr. 131—133—Delay in payment—Excuse.

1924 Mad. 324.

MADRAS CRIM. RULES OF PRACTICE, S. 161—Vakalat not necessary, (Wallace, J.) MANIKONDA LIGAYYA v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 73 : 75 I. C. 985 : 1924 Mad. 192.

MADRAS DISTRICT MUN. ACT (V OF 1920)—Election—Validity—Ballot paper—Initials of polling officer placed on face of—Effect—Serial number printed on face of ballot paper—Effect—Election Rules, 14 (1), 17 (1)—Rule requiring marking of—Serial number on back of ballot paper—Validity.

MADRAS DT. MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 3.

The placing by the polling officer of his initial on the face of the ballot papers does not per se contravene Rs. 14 (1) of the Election Rules framed under Madras Act V of 1920, and does not itself invalidate the votes. The placing of such initials does not in any way facilitate the identification of the particular voter and consequently, the provisions of R. 17 (1) are not infringed thereby.

The serial number printed on the ballot paper is not a mark by which the voter may be identified within the meaning of R. 17 (1); and the fact that the serial number appearing in the counterfoil of the ballot papers was printed not only on the back of the ballot paper itself but also upon its face does not invalidate the election.

It must be only from the mark itself that the means of identification must be obtained.

The rule providing for the making of the serial number on the back of the ballot paper is not ultra vires of the Government. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) VISWANATHA PILLAI v. PERIASWAMI PILLAI 34 M. L. T. (H.C.) 207 : 1924 Mad. 766. 19 L. W. 636 : (1924) M. W. N. 631 : 80 I. C. 573. 46 M. L. J. 491.

—Ss. 3 (21) 180—Building buttress wall—If an encroachment—Offence—Limitation for prosecution.

Building a buttress wall to a compound wall projecting into a municipal street is an offence punishable under S. 180 Dt. Mun. Act and a prosecution therefor should be launched within 3 months of the encroachment. (Krishnan, J.) VILLURI JAGANNATHAN NAIDU v. RAMA RAO.

20 L. W. 834 : 47 M. L. J. 917.

—S. 9 (1), R. 17 (1)—Ballot papers given to voters with serial number and voters' own number on electoral roll inserted on back—Validity of election—Effect on—Election declared void—Effect—New election—Retiring Councillor if deemed to have been re-elected.

At a Municipal election, the polling officer when giving out the ballot papers to the voters, put not only the serial number on the back of them but also the voters' own number on the electoral roll, with the result that any one seeing this number on a voting paper could, by a reference to the electoral roll which was available to every body, identify the particular voter. As a matter of fact, the numbers were not particularly noticed at the time of election in question, and the voters were not identified thereby.

Held, that the votes were invalid under R. 17 (1) of the Election Rules framed under Madras Act V of 1920, and that, as all the votes cast at the election were invalid no proper election had been held and that the candidate returned had not been properly elected.

Held further, that the effect of the election being declared void was that a fresh election should be held and not that the retiring councillor or should be deemed to have been re-elected.

Rule 17 (1) of the Election Rules does not require that the identification shall be made but merely that there is a possibility of such identification by reason of the mark.

S. 9 (1) of the Madras Act V of 1920 is not meant to apply to cases where an election had been held and is subsequently declared void. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) SETHURAMA MUDALIAR v. MANGALA GOUNDAR.

MADRAS DT. MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 55.

34 M. L. T. (H.C.) 204 : 19 L. W. 632 : 1924 Mad 764 : 80 I. C. 401 : 46 M. L. J. 494.

—S. 48—Rules under R. 8 (c)—Election dispute—Revision authority—Admission of claim by—Validity of—If can be questioned in election dispute—"Preparation" in R. 8 (c)—Meaning.

The petitioner obtained 37 votes and the respondent 14 votes at a poll for filling up the vacancy of councillor in a Municipality. The respondent filed an election petition contending inter alia that the petitioner's name had been wrongly entered in the electoral roll and that therefore he was disqualified under s. 48 (1) of Madras Act V of 1920. The court below found that, although the petitioner's name had not been clearly entered in the preliminary roll the matter had been taken before the revising authority and his claim for registration had been admitted. The order admitting the claim was, however, signed by the Chairman and by only one of the unofficial gentleman nominated by the Collector. The Court below therefore held that the revision was ultra vires and unseated the petitioner as being an unqualified candidate.

Held, reversing the Court below, that the validity and conclusiveness of the register could not under R. 8 (c) of the Rules for the Preparation of Electoral Rolls be questioned in the election proceedings, and that the petitioner must be held to have been duly elected. In R. 8 (c) the word "preparation" is used in general sense and includes the action of the revising authority. (Wallace and Jackson, JJ.) PALANISAMI PILLAI v. SRINIVASARANGACHARIAR

1925 Mad. 160 : 20 L. W. 851 : 47 M. L. J. 795.

—Ss. 54 (b) (ii) and 59 (c)—Offence under—Deposit—Object of—No costs or Compensation ordered—Deposit to be returned.

It is not an offence under S. 54 (b) (ii) of the Madras Dt. Municipalities Act to say of a candidate for municipal election, "He failed in getting elected in his own place and has come here expecting to be elected". The deposit required under S. 59 (c) is presumably intended as security for costs incurred by the accused and compensation, if any, payable. Where a Court in dismissing a complaint has not directed payment of costs or compensation the intention of the legislature must be taken to be the amount should be refunded to the complainant. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) SIVAPATHA MUDALIAR v. ABDUL RAZAK

(1924) M. W. N. 490 : 1924 Mad 815 :

81 I. C. 599 : 25 Cr. L. J. 951 :

47 M. L. J. 199.

—S. 55 (1)—Abetment of election offences—Offence under S. 171-A, I. P. C.—Penal Code, Ss. 40, 109 and 171-A—Sanction—Necessity for.

Petitioner charged respondents with abetment of an offence under S. 55 (1) of the Madras Act V of 1920, the substance of the charge being that they abetted a case of double voting by a voter at a Municipal election. The Sub divisional Magistrate held that since S. 171-A of the Indian Penal Code specifically provided for such an abetment, that

MADRAS DT. MUNICIPAL ACT, S. 182.

S. 109 of that Code could not be called in aid : and that such abetment was chargeable and punishable only under S. 171-A and not under S. 55 (1) of the Madras Act V of 1920, read with S. 40, I. P. C. and that since petitioner had not obtained the authority of Government, requisite under S. 196, Cr. P. Code for a prosecution under S. 171-A, I. P. C. his charge could not stand. Held in revision, that the complaint in so far as it alleged only an offence under S. 55 (1) of Madras Act V of 1920 read with S. 109, I. P. C. was sustainable even though the facts alleged constituted an offence under S. 171-A I. P. C. (Odgers and Wallace, JJ.) SESHA AIYAR v. VENKATASUBBA CHETTY.

33 M. L. T. 263 (H. C.) : (1924) M. W. N. 268 :
77 I. C. 730 : 25 Cr. L. J. 442 :
19 L. W. 201 : 1924 Mad. 487.

—S. 182—Power of Municipal Council under—Wall not built upon public street—Removal of—Order for—Validity—Land encroached upon once a street, but accused in possession thereof for over the statutory period—Removal of encroachment in such a case—Order for—Validity—Distinction—Accused's right in such a case—Law under Act IV of 1884 and under Act V of 1920—Distinction.

The Chairman of a Municipal Council cannot under S. 182 of the District Municipalities Act V of 1920 call upon the owner or occupier of any premises to remove a wall not built upon any part of a public street and on his failing to do so get him convicted under S. 313 of the Act. The law is not that the Municipal Council can do this and that the relief to which the accused would be entitled is compensation mentioned in S. 182. Where the wall constitutes an encroachment, but it is proved that the accused has been in possession of that part of the street which was encroached upon for over the statutory period, the municipality will be justified in calling upon him to remove it, and he is bound to obey the order. Only in such a case he will be entitled to a reasonable compensation from the Municipal Council. Under the Act V of 1920 if it is proved that the portion on which the encroachment exists was once a street the right of Municipality follows as a necessary result 38 M. 456 a decision on S. 168 of the Repealed Act IV of 1884 is no authority on cases falling to be decided under the new Act. Semle 38 M. 456 is not reconcilable with 38 M. 6. (Venkata Subba Rao, J.) PUBLIC PROSECUTOR v. VARADA RAJULU NAIDU.

20 L. W. 573 : 1925 Mad. 64 : 47 Mad. 716 :
(1924) M. W. N. 880 : 81 I. C. 894 :
25 Cr. L. J. 1070 :
47 M. L. J. 470.

—S. 221—Money due under a contract to municipality—Suit—Recovery by summary process in Magistrate's Court—Legality of.

It has long been recognised law that money due to a municipality under a contract cannot be summarily recovered by a municipality under the provisions of S. 269 of the old Municipal Act. Act XIV of 1920 has not effected any alteration in this respect. 26 M. 475 Ref. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) MAHABAB ALLI KHAN v. THE PRESIDENT TALUK BOARD, KURNOOL.

(1924) M. W. N. 545 : 1924 Mad. 898 (2).

MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT, S. 3.

—S. 303—Rules framed under R. 6—Enquiry into election dispute—Power of Court to issue interim injunction—Discretion—C. P. Code. S. 94 and O. 39, R. 2—Applicability of.

A District Judge inquiring into a petition contesting the validity of an election to a Municipal Council under Madras Act V of 1920, has no power, statutory or inherent, to restrain the successful candidate by interim injunction from taking his seat in the Council pending the enquiry. R. 6 of the rules framed by the Local Government for the decision of election disputes has not the effect of making the provisions of S. 94, and O. 39, R. 2, C. P. Code. applicable to election inquiries. (Jackson, J.) VENKATASUBBA CHETTIAR v. SESA IYER.

20 L. W. 148 : (1924) M. W. N. 538 :
1924 Mad. 797 : 80 I. C. 664 : 47 Mad. 700 :
47 M. L. J. 201.

—Rules. 1 and 7 (1)—Candidate deemed to be duly elected under R. 7 (1)—Validity of election of—Dispute as to—Decision of—District or Sub-Judge—Jurisdiction—R. 1—Scope of.

Under the rules framed by Government for the decision of disputes as to the validity of an election held under the Madras District Municipalities Act. 1920, the District or Subordinate Judge has no jurisdiction to decide a dispute when the number of candidates being less than the number of vacancies a candidate has been deemed to be duly elected under R. 7 (1) of the Rules for the conduct of elections.

R. 1 must be limited in its scope to cases where a poll has been held. (Jackson, J.) SRINIVASACHARIAR v. B. S. VENKATARAMA AIYAR
47 M. L. J. 762.

MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT (I OF 1908), S. 3.—Melvaram and Kudivaram interests in land granted to one person—The lands if form an "estate".

Where it was found that the melvaram and the kudivaram interests in the lands of the village of Mangal were at some time before 1723 granted by a Raja of Tanjore, and regranted in 1723 by the then Raja of Tanjore, to the Temple,

Held that the lands in suit are not an "estate" within the meaning of Act I of 1908. (Sir John Edge.) NAINA PILLAI MARACAYAR v. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR.

47 Mad. 337 :
22 A. L. J. 130 : 34 M. L. T. (P.C.) 10 :
(1924) M. W. N. 293 : 1924 P. C. 65 :
L. R. 5 P. C. 33 : 10 O & A L. R. 464 :
28 C. W. N. 809 : 82 I. C. 226 : 51 I. A. 83 :
19 L. W. 259 : 46 M. L. J. 546 (P.C.).

—S. 3 (2) (d)—Estate—Minor inam—Mokhasa grant—Pre-settlement inam—Jurisdiction—Civil or Revenue Court.

A minor inamdar in a Mokhasa is a landholder 45 M. 716 Rel. The land in dispute was part of the Nuzvid Zemindari and the village in which the land was situate was granted as Mokhasa in 1747. The mokhasa was not excluded from the Zemindari at the time of the Permanent Settlement and that was treated as part of the Zemindari Held that it was an estate within the meaning of S. 3 (2) (d) of the Estates Land Act and the Civil Court had no jurisdiction to entertain a suit for ejectment by the inamdar. (Spencer and Kumaraswami Sastri, JJ.) SANAGVARAPU JWALA LAKSHMI NARASIMHAM v. VEERABHADRADU. (1924) M. W. N. 244 : 19 L. W. 671. 1924 Mad. 589.

MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT, S. 3.

—S. 3. Cl. 2 (d)—Inam—Grant of both melvaram and kudivaram—Tenant holding from grantee—Rights of—Claim of occupancy right.

Where it was found that at the time of the grant of an inam both the melvaram and the kudivaram were granted and subsequently the land was let by the grantee to tenants who claimed permanent rights of occupancy in the land held, that the land not being an estate within the meaning of S. 3, Cl. 2 (d) of the Madras Estates Land Act, the tenants were not entitled to an occupancy right under the Act and they had not succeeded in proving that they were entitled to occupancy rights apart from the Act. Neither the payment of uniform rent nor the construction of wells and the transfer of the holdings would amount to proof of their occupancy rights. (Jackson, J.) PANDIKALVA CHENGA REDDI v. VENKATA LAKSHMI NARASAYYA.

35 M. L. T. 56 : 20 L. W. 549 : (1924) M. W. N. 761.

—S. 3 (2) (d)—Inamdar—Suit in ejectment—Claim of permanent occupancy.

There is no presumption that an Inam grant is a grant of the land revenue only and each case must be decided with reference to the circumstances connected with it. When the origin of the tenancy is not known, evidence of the acts and conduct of the parties constitutes the best and the only evidence to prove the nature of the tenancy. Where it is found that for three generations the defendant's family have been occupying the land without any alteration in terms and at a uniform rent it may be held that the tenant has proved his claim of permanent tenancy. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) CHIDAMBARA GURUKKAL v. SIVAGNANA SUNDARAM PILLAY.

(1924) M. W. N. 487 : 1924 Mad. 833 : 79 I. C. 619 : 47 M. L. J. 598.

—S. 3 (2) (e)—Pre-settlement inam—Estates—Test of.

A pre-settlement inam will not form part of a Zemindari unless it falls under any of the clauses of S. 3 (2). It is necessary to see if at the time of the Permanent Settlement the pre-settlement inam was treated as part of the assets and the income taken into account for the purpose of the grant of the Sanad. The question has to be decided with reference to the terms of the Sanad and Ss. 3 and 4 of Regulation XXV of 1802.

Where a mokhasa granted as inam was not excluded from the zemindari at the time of the Permanent Settlement and was treated as part of the Zemindari, it falls under the definition of "estate".

When at the time of the P. S. lands which the Govt. might have excluded from assessment under S. 4 of the Regulation of 1902 were actually included in fixing peishchush and where Government and the Zemindar acted on the footing that the inam forms part of the Zemindari, the tenants cannot question the acts. (Spencer and Kumaraswami Sastri, JJ.) MULPURI VEERABHADRADU v. MEDAPUDI SUBBARINA. 78 I. C. 287.

MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT, S. 6.

—S. 3 (5)—Darmila inam lands—Suit for possession by inamdars against tenants—Jurisdiction—Civil or revenue courts—Inamdars alleging to be originally kudivaramdars only—Subsequent grant of melvaram—Effect

The plaintiffs who were darmila inamdars brought a suit in a civil court for recovery of possession on the strength of oral lease given to the defendant. They alleged that they owned the kudivaram interest to start with and that it was only subsequently that they obtained by grant the melvaram interest from the Zamindar. On the question arising whether the suit was cognizable by the civil or revenue courts, held, if the plaintiffs proved that they originally owned the kudivaram and were subsequently granted melvaram they would not be land holders within the meaning of S. 3 (5) of the Estates Land Act and could maintain the suit in the Civil Court. 45 M. L. J. 229 (F. B.) dist. 39 M. L. J. 225 (F. B.) followed. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) GANIAM MANIKYAMBA v. PASALA MALLAYYA.

20 L. W. 387 : 1924 Mad. 782 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 70 : 1924 M. W. N. 779 : 82 I. C. 929 : 47 Mad. 942 : 47 M. L. J. 393.

—S. 3 (5)—Mokhasa—Minor inamdar—If a landholder.

A minor inamdar in a mokhasa is a landholder within the meaning of S. 3 (5). (Spencer and Kumaraswami Sastri, JJ.) MULPURI VEERABHADRADU v. MEDAPUDI SUBBARINA.

78 I. C. 287.

—Ss. 5 and 125—Sale of a ryot's holding for arrears of rent—Effect on prior incumbrance—Mortgage created after the Act in renewal of a prior mortgage before the Act—Decree on mortgage—Rights of purchaser at execution sale.

A ryot's holding had been mortgaged by him in 1897 and for a portion of the amount due under that mortgage he executed a fresh mortgage of the holding in 1909 after the Madras Estates Land Act came into force. In execution of a decree for sale on the latter mortgage the plaintiffs purchased the holding. In the meanwhile the landlord had brought the holding to sale in execution of a decree for arrears of rent and the holding was purchased by the defendants. On a question arising as to the rights of the two rival purchasers, held that the plaintiffs' purchase prevailed.

A mortgagee by taking a further security for his money that is charged upon land cannot be taken to have intended to give up his right under the earlier deed. The plaintiffs in the present case could rely on the rights under the earlier mortgage as against the defendants whose rights must, under S. 125 of the Madras Estates Land Act, be treated as subject to those rights. 23 A. 313 Rel. on. (Krishnan, J.) SREEKANTA SUNDARAMIAH v. VENKATASUBBIAH.

(1924) M. W. N. 320 : 1924 Mad. 619 (2) : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 107 : 19 L. W. 537 : 46 M. L. J. 380.

—S. 6—Kamatam lands Permanent occupancy rights—Waram tenants.

MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT, S. 8.

S. 6 of the Estates Land Act does not confer permanent occupancy rights in lands which are Kamatam.

Tenants paying waram cannot convert themselves into permanent occupancy ryots by merely asserting that they hold the land under such a right. (Krishnan, J.) PALANI NAYAKKAN v. PARVATI AMMAL.

82 I. C. 597 : 1925 Mad. 291.

— Ss 8 (4) 153, 157 and 189—Landholder purchasing kuitivaram interest in holding—Ejection of non-occupancy ryot under time-expired lease for one year—Jurisdiction of Civil Court—Benamidar—Right to sue in ejectment.

Held by the full bench; S. 153 of the Madras Estates Land Act is only exhaustive of the grounds on which a suit to eject a non-occupancy ryot can be filed before the Collector. The section does not prohibit the ejectment of a non-occupancy ryot on grounds other than those specified therein and a suit for ejectment based on such grounds can be maintained in the civil court. Observation of Spencer, J. in 26 M. L. J. 285 approved. (Coutts Trotter, C. J., Ramesam and Wallace, JJ.) GOVINDA NAIDU v. CHENGALROYA MUDALI.

35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 29 : 1925 Mad. 22 :

47 Mad. 896. (1924) M. W. N. 733 :

47 M. L. J. 415.

— Ss. 24 and 187—Enhanced rent—Claim or—Contract between landholder and ryot.

S. 24 of the Madras Estates Land Act precludes the landholder from claiming enhanced rent under contracts entered into with the tenant whether before or after the passing of the Act. (Devadoss, J.) SREEWEDHANDHI SWAMIGAL v. VALAI IBRAHIM.

20 L. W. 582

(1924) M. W. N. 897 : 1924 Mad. 897

— S. 125—Rent sale—Defaulter remaining in possession—Mortgage—Execution sale—Right of purchaser.

Where a person purchases a holding in execution of a decree for arrears of rent he takes it free of incumbrances created after the Act but subject to those created before the Act. Where the landlord who purchased a holding at a rent sale never put an end to the encumbrance on the holding but accepted rent from the plaintiff who was a purchaser in execution of a mortgage decree against the defaulter, the landlord cannot thereafter defeat the rights of the plaintiff. (Wallace, J.) PACHALLA DORAISWAMI IYENGAR v. SRI MAHANT PRAYAG DASJEE VAKU.

(1924) M. W. N. 670 : 82 I. C. 721 (2) :

1924 Mad. 918.

— S. 131—Sale for arrears of rent—Deposit in Court—Amount of arrears not known but amount required by Collector paid on—Delay—Power of Court to excuse.

A sale for arrears of rent was held on the 13th of March 1922. On 6th April, an application was put in, for the purpose of setting aside the sale on the ground of irregularity. The Deputy Collector, probably under the impression that no application would lie to set aside the sale on the ground of irregularity advised the petitioner if so inclined, to apply to set aside the sale under

MADRAS ESTATES LAND ACT, S. 205.

S. 131 of the Estates Land Act. He put in the application and deposited Rs. 150 at the time. The petitioner was asked to come on the 10th April for the purpose of ascertaining the balance to be deposited. On the 10th April the petitioner came and wanted to know how much more he had to pay and on ascertaining the amount he paid it. The money having been drawn out by the purchaser who had no objection to the sale being set aside though the period of 30 days had expired when the full amount was deposited, the Court below set aside the sale. Held that the delay in depositing the entire amount was due to an act of the court that the court had power to excuse the delay and that there was no ground for interference in revision. (Kumaraswami Sastri, J.) ADIMOOLA MUDALIAR v. MANICKA MUDALIAR.

34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 10 :

1924 Mad. 592 : (1924) M. W. N. 230 :

78 I. C. 142 : 19 L. W. 238 : 46 M. L. J. 329.

— S. 163 (2)—Suit for mesne profits—Waste land—Occasional cultivation—If converts land into ryoti land.

Ryoti land does not include waste land where no cultivation is ordinarily carried on. When the definition of ryoti land speaks of cultivable land it means land that is ordinarily and usually cultivated and does not refer to waste land even though waste land can at times be cultivated with labour and expenditure of money. A suit for mesne profits in respect of such waste land can be entertained by the Civil Court. (Krishnan, J.) ARETI SUBBAYYA v. SRI RAJA VENKATA RAMIAH APPA RAO BAHADUR.

34 M. L. T. 233 : 1924 Mad. 832 :

19 L. W. 626 (H. C.) : 79 I. C. 718 (2) :

(1924) M. W. N. 630 : 47 M. L. J. 469.

— S. 205—Order of District Collector—Powers of Board of Revenue to revise the order.

The Board of Revenue acting under Section 205 of the Madras Estates Land Act has no power to revise an order of the District Collector passed on an appeal from the orders of the Sub Collector. The remedy of the aggrieved party is by way of revision to the High Court. (Marjoribanks, F. M.) RAGUNATHA PATRO v. GOVINDA PATRO.

19 L. W. 559.

Ss. 205 and 74—Order of Revenue officer—Revision application to Collector—Rejection of—Revision application to the Board—Maintainability of.

Where the order of a Revenue officer was taken up in revision to the District Collector and he saw no reason to interfere with the order, a revision application to the Board of Revenue is maintainable.

In such a case the Board is not moved to revise any order of the District Collector but to revise the order of the Revenue officer which order the District Collector saw no reason to interfere with. S. 74 of the Estates Land Act deals with applications for appraisal only in cases where the relationship of land holder and ryot is undisputed in regard to the particular land in respect of which application is made. (Marjoribanks, F. M.) DASARI KAMBAYYA DHORA v. NOTOBAL CHOWDARI.

19 L. W. 661.

MAD. HERIDITARY VILLAGE OFFICES ACT, S. 13.

MADRAS HERIDITARY VILLAGE OFFICES ACT (II OF 1895), S. 13 and 21—Blacksmiths Inam—Lessee of—Suit for emoluments—Jurisdiction—Collector

Ss. 13 and 21 of Madras Act III of 1895 should be read together and in spite of the generality of language of section 21 the jurisdiction of the Civil Court is taken away only in those cases where it is conferred on the Revenue court by S. 13. A lessee of the office of a village blacksmith can sue for recovery of the emoluments before the Civil Court. If a holder of the office wants to sue, the legislature has provided the revenue court as his forum; if any other person is suing it has provided the Ordinary Civil Court. (Jackson, J.) SAHADEVA REDDI v. LINGAPPA ASARI.

20 L. W. 451 : 82 I. C. 942 : (1924) M. W. N. 833 : 1924 Mad. 867.

MADRAS HIGH COURT RULES (Appellate side), R. 41—Appeals from insolvency—Jurisdiction—Vakil's fees.

The proper construction of R. 41 of the Appellate Side Rules is that "Original Side" in the Rule means the Original Side when exercising the jurisdiction referred to in the preamble to the Original Side Rules and it was not intended to have and has no application at all to insolvency. That being so, the privileges under R. 41 of the Appellate Side Rules as to special fees in difficult cases extend to appeals to the High Court from its Insolvency side. (Schwabe, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF RANGOON.

19 L. W. 316 : (1924) M. W. N. 458 : 1924 Mad. 662 : 34 M. L. T. (H.C.) 99 : 46 M. L. J. 580.

MADRAS IMPARTIBLE ESTATES ACT, S. 4—Impartible estate—Assets of deceased holder—Decree for money against predecessor—Execution against money payable under a lease granted by predecessor but for period subsequent to his death—Money if assets in the hands of successor.

In execution of a decree for money obtained against a previous Zamindar of Avakudi plaintiff applied for attachment of certain sums of money payable to the succeeding Zamindar under a lease which was granted by the previous Zamindar, but for a period subsequent to his death. The decree was sought to be executed against the succeeding Zamindar as the legal representative of his predecessor against the assets in his hands.

Held, that the money sought to be attached could not be considered to be the assets of the Zamindar at all, for it was money that had accrued due after the late Zamindar's death and after the estate had passed into the hands of his successor by survivorship.

If the judgment-creditor was able to show that his debt was for a sum of money borrowed for the benefit of the estate, under S. 4 of the Madras Impartible Estates Act, his debt would be a debt binding on the impartible estate and he would be entitled to enforce his debt as against the estate in the hands of the succeeding Zamindar. Even then the Zamindari would not become the assets of the late Zamindar in the hands of his successor, and the proper remedy of the plaintiff would be to bring a suit, and, after obtaining a declaration that his debt was binding on the impartible estate and upon the income that had accrued due from the impartible estate in the hands of the successor, to apply then in execution of his decree to have it executed against such property.

MADRAS LOCAL BOARDS ACT, S. 16.

The learned Judges declined, in the circumstances of the case, to convert the execution petition into such a suit. (Krishnan and Waller, JJ.) IMMUDIPATTAM JANAKIRAMA K. K. S. N. BOMMAYYA NAICKEN v. SUBRAMANIA IYER.

1924 Mad. 707 : (1924) M. W. N. 342 : 46 M. L. J. 374

S. 4—Successor to impartible estate—Liability for debts of predecessor—Breach of trust—Misapplication of trust funds.

Where a decree for money was passed against the holder of an impartible estate in respect of his misapplication of the funds of the temple of which he was the trustee and the judgment-debtor died and the estate passed to his son, held, that the impartible estate in the hands of the son was not liable for the decree debt of the deceased Zemindar. 30 M. 454 : 8 I. C. 392 dist. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) VENKATALINGAM NAYANIM BAHADUR v. ARUNACHALAM CHETTIAR.

19 L. W. 132 : (1924) M. W. N. 214 : 78 I. C. 1012 : 1924 Mad. 511.

MADRAS LAND ENCROACHMENT ACT (III OF 1905 Ss. 7 and 14—Levy of assessment—Suit not brought within 6 months from that date—Effect of—Bar of suit—Levy of assessment on tenants—Right of Zamindar to sue. See MAD. PERM. SETT. REGN. S. 4.

47 M. L. J. 784.

S. 14—Suit for declaration—Cause of action—Limitation—First notice—Service of—Effect.

Plaintiff was in occupation of some land cultivating it by a tenant. The Government claimed that it was their land and on the 17th of April, 1919 the Govt. sent her a notice to quit under S. 6 of Act III of 1905. Nothing happened for a time. In May, 1919, the plaintiff put in a petition for a review of this notice to the Deputy Collector. On 18th Sept. 1919 the Deputy Collector dismissed the review petition. On 2nd Oct. 1919, an order which amounted practically to a notice to quit went to the plaintiff. On 22nd Dec. 1919 the plaintiff filed the present suit for declaration of her title. Held that the suit was not barred and that the plaintiff need not, if she so chose, treat herself aggrieved by the notice of 17th April 1919. 39 M. 727 dist. (Coutts Trotter, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) KUMMATI VEETIL KOTTA PARAMBATH MALIYAKKAL KUNHIBI v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

35 M. L. T. (H.C.) 74 : 20 L. W. 288 : 1924 Mad. 825 : 82 I. C. 414 : 47 Mad. 927 : 1924 M. W. N. 765 : 47 M. L. J. 379.

MADRAS LOCAL BOARDS ACT (V OF 1884), Ss. 16 and 144—Rules 33 (e) and 35 of rules framed under S. 144 Validity—Order setting aside election on ground specified in R. 33 (e)—Validity—Inquiry—Opportunity to show cause against order—Necessity—Rule authorised by Act but purporting to be framed under wrong section—Validity.

MADRAS LOCAL BOARDS ACT, S. 55.

Rule 33 (e) and Rule 35 of the rules framed by the Local Government under S. 144 of the Madras Local Boards Act of 1884 are not ultra vires.

An order setting aside the election of a person on the ground specified in R. 33 (e) that is, that presence of the person in the Taluk Board as a member would bring the Local Fund Administration into contempt is not invalid on the ground that there was no enquiry by the Government into the matter, and that no opportunity was given to the person affected to show cause against the allegations made against him.

Where the Government makes a rule which it is empowered by the Act to make, the fact that it purports to make the rule under one section rather than another would not be a ground for holding that the rule is ultra vires. (Odgers, J.) KONA THIMMA REDDI v. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. 47 Mad. 325 : 19 L. W. 59 : (1924) M. W. N. 146 : 1924 Mad. 523 : 33 M. L. T. (H. C.) 255 : 78 I. C. 91 : 46 M. L. J. 60.

—S. 55 (2) (iv)—Disqualification for election—Honorary Magistrate—Resignation of office—If removes disqualification—Acceptance by Government necessary.

An Honorary Magistrate who is disqualified for election as a member of a Local Board under S. 55 (2) (iv) of the Madras Local Boards Act cannot relieve himself of that disqualification by merely submitting his resignation to Government. The disqualification subsists until the Government accepts the same. 45 M. L. J. 798 referred to, (Jackson, J.) THE PRESIDENT TALUK BOARD HSPET v. JUTUR CHANDRAPPA.

1925 Mad. 173 : 20 L. W. 868 : 47 M. L. J. 774.

—S. 73 PROVISIO—"Tenant"—Meaning of—Licensee from inamdar—Payment of local tax by intermediate landholder—Right to recover from licensee.

A licensee under a dharmila inamdar in a Zamindari, for a period of ten years with a right to tap date trees is not a "tenant" within the meaning of S. 73 of Madras Act V of 1884 so as to be liable to his licensor for the land cess payable by the latter under the Act. (Wallace, J.) CHINTAKAYALA THAMMIAH NAIDU GARU v. ATTIL MUSALIAH, 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 67 : 82 I. C. 391 : (1924) M. W. N. 769 : 1924 Mad. 818 : 20 L. W. 453 : 47 M. L. J. 383.

—(XIV OF 1920), S. 57—Rules by Local Government—Rules 1, 4 (3) and 12 (2)—Election of President of a Taluk Board—Objection to election—Scope of the enquiry—Decision of District Judge—Persona designata—Court—Finality of decision—Revision—Interference by High Court—C. P. Code, S. 115.

A District Judge enquiring into an objection to the election of the President of a Taluk Board under Rule 1 of the Rules made by the Local Government under Madras Act XIV of 1920 is not a persona designata but a "Court" subject to the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court under S. 115, C. P. Code. National Telephone Co., Ltd. v. Postmaster-General (1913) A. C. 546, 562 relied on.

MAD. PERMANENT SETTLEMENT RGN. S. 4.

The decision of the District Judge on the enquiry is revisable by the High Court in spite of the fact that his decision is declared "final" by S. 57 and R. 12 (2) of the rules framed under the Act.

The petitioner, a qualified person, was appointed a member of a Taluk Board by the President of the District Board acting under S. 9 of the Local Boards Act. Subsequently the petitioner was duly elected President of the Taluk Board. A petition was thereupon filed before the District Judge for a declaration that the election might be declared void and annulled and that the respondent, a defeated candidate in the election, should be declared to be duly elected. The District Judge held that the petitioner had not been properly appointed a member of the Taluk Board and was therefore not eligible for the election to the Presidentship of that Board and annulled his election. The petitioner preferred a revision petition to the High Court. Held, that in the absence of any of the disqualifications enumerated in Ss. 55 and 56 of the Madras Local Boards Act the appointment of the petitioner by the President of the District Board could not be questioned by the District Judge. Further it was not competent to the Judge on a petition dealing with an election to the Presidentship to go into the question whether a particular candidate was duly appointed a member of the Taluk Board. The order of the District Judge was therefore set aside. (Schwabe, C. J., Ramesam and Waller, JJ.) KOKKU PARTHASARATHY NAIDU v. KALESWARA RAO. 47 Mad. 369 :

19 L. W. 402 : 1924 Mad. 561 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 50 : (1924) M. W. N. 272 : 78 I. C. 98 : 46 M. L. J. 201.

—(XV OF 1920), S. 221—Toll contract—Money due under—"Other sum"—Interpretation of.

The amount due under a contract of lease though of the toll cannot be treated as falling within S. 221 of the Madras Local Boards Act—"other sums" in S. 221 must be read ejusdem generis with what goes before. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) In re PUNYA SYMALO.

47 Mad. 381 : 25 Cr. L. J. 352 : 77 I. C. 240 : 1924 Mad. 669.

MADRAS MUNICIPAL ELECTION RULES, R. 14.

—(1)—Effect of infringement.

1924 Mad. 38.

MADRAS PERMANENT SETTLEMENT REGU-

LATION (XXV OF 1802) S. 4—Zamindari—Lands in, dedicated as cattle-paths prior to Permanent Settlement—Declaration of Zamindar's right to—Suit for—Villagers using lands as cattle-paths if necessary parties to—Maintainability of suit against Government—Conditions—Onus of proof on Zamindar—Land Encroachment Act of 1905—Penal assessment—Levy of, from occupiers of lands let in by Zamindar—If affords cause of action to Zamindar—S. 7 of Act—Preliminary notice under—If affords cause of action—Lakhi-raj lands—Public roads if.

The plaintiff claiming to be the Zamindar of a village included in his estate, sued the Secretary of State for India in Council for a declaration of ownership and for recovery of possession and for injunction in respect of certain puntas or lands used as cattlepaths in that village.

MAD, PRESIDENCY Sm. C. C. RULES.

The plaintiff's case was that the suit puntas were dedicated for public use by the plaintiff's predecessors, that subsequently about the year 1883 the plaintiff's predecessors unlawfully entered upon the puntas and diverting them from their use as highways, let them to agricultural tenants, and doing so for over the statutory period succeeded in reducing them to their own private ownership; that in 1914, after the plaintiff had acquired an absolute title in respect of the suit lands, the Government took proceedings under the Land Encroachment Act, III of 1905 against the tenants in occupation let in by the plaintiff, and that, as the lands did not belong to the Government, their action under the Act was ultra vires. No members of the village community that used the suit paths in exercise of their communal rights were made parties to the suit.

It was found that the suit lands had been used as puntas even before the Permanent Settlement; that the lands had not been dedicated as highways by plaintiff's predecessors in interest, as alleged by the plaintiff; that the plaintiff had failed to prove that the right which the public got by dedication of the puntas for use as a means of communication had ceased owing to disuse, or otherwise; and that the plaintiff had not acquired any prescriptive right over them.

Held, that the suit was rightly dismissed by the Court below.

Per Officiating Chief Justice.—The fact that assessment was levied under the Land Encroachment Act from the occupants of the suit lands would not give the plaintiff a right of action against the Government. Further, as the suit was not brought within six months from that date, it was barred under S. 14 of that Act. A preliminary notice served on the plaintiff under S. 7 of the Act did not give rise to a cause of action.

The right of the public to the enjoyment of the whole width of land which has been set apart from time immemorial for use as a public way stands upon a higher footing than a mere easement over property belonging to another.

Per Srinivasa Aiyangar, J.—The plaintiff in effect seeks a declaration that by adverse possession he has become the private owner of the suit lands. No such declaration can be made, as the members of the village against whom plaintiff's possession was alleged to have become adverse, have not been made parties to the suit.

The suit lands are not "lakhiraj lands" within the meaning of S. 4 of Regulation XXV of 1802. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Srinivasa Aiyangar, J.) SREE RAJA RAO VENKATA KUMARA MAHIPATHI SURYAN RAO BAHADRU v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL. 47 M. L. J. 784.

MADRAS PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURT RULES, O. 37, R. 1 and form 13—If ultra vires, 1924 Mad. 46.

MADRAS PROPRIETARY ESTATE VILLAGE SERVICE ACT (II OF 1894) S. 15 (cl. 2)—Validity of MADRAS REVENUE RECOVERY ACT, S. 63.

notice to the proprietor by the Divisional officer—Appointment by sub. divisional officer against proprietor's nomination—Validity of.

A notice to the proprietor under S. 15 of the Act calling upon him to send in his nomination is the statutory duty cast upon the collector and it cannot be stated that any notice by a subordinate fulfils the conditions under the Act. (2) Where the divisional officer issued the notice and did not receive any nomination from the proprietor within the prescribed time, and he thereupon made the appointment himself. Held that the nominee of the divisional officer was not validly appointed as his action is unwarranted and illegal. (Devadoss J.) DHENUVAKONDA VENKATASUBBAYYA v. RAJA OF VENKATAGIRI. 20 L. W. 826.

MADRAS REGULATION (II OF 1819), S. 2—Judicial Proceedings—Effect of—Reasons for policy if open to attack. 76 L.C. 187 : 25 Cr. L. J. 123.

—(X of 1831) S. 2—Sale of minors estate—Regular course of inheritance—Meaning of—If exclude survivorship—Madras Revenue Recovery Act (II of 1864), S. 63—Effect of—Unregistered landholder.

S. 2 of the Madras Regulation X of 1831 is wide enough to cover property belonging to a joint Hindu family and devolving on a minor by the operation of the law of survivorship. Regulation X of 1831 applies to all minor owners of property, whether registered or not. S. 63 of Madras Act II of 1864 does not limit the application of the Regulation to the case of registered owners of property who are minors. 41 M. 783 referred to. (Ramesam and Reilly, JJ) KATTA MANCHI KRISHNA REDDI v. RAMAKRISHNAYYA CHETTY. 20 L. W. 794 : 47 M. L. J. 667.

MADRAS REVENUE RECOVERY ACT (II OF 1864), S. 63—Effect of—Unregistered landholder—Sale of minor's estate—Legality of. See MADRAS REGN. X OF 1831, S. 2. 47 M. L. J. 667.

—Revenue Settlement—Lands assessed as dry—Rates if can be altered during period of settlement—Levy of enhanced rate—Suit against Government—If lies—If a bar.

Once a settlement is duly notified by Government the Collector acting under the orders of the Board of Revenue cannot vary the rates of assessment. The annual payment fixed is incapable of being increased during the period for which the settlement is made. 40 Mad. 886 at 897 followed.

Where lands assessed as dry at a Revenue Settlement are, within the period of 30 years for which the settlement is to remain in force, re-assessed as wet and an enhanced rate is levied, the re-assessment is illegal and ultra vires and the assessee is not debarred by S. 58, Revenue Recovery Act, from filing a suit to have the enhancement declared illegal and for the recovery of the excess amount levied.

As the Government may be trusted to see that justice is done in accordance with decrees of

MAHOMEDAN LAW.

Court; in such cases no permanent injunction need be passed against the Government restraining them from levying enhanced rate. (Devadoss and Jackson, JJ.) SECRETARY OF STATE v. RAMANUJACHARIAR 20 L. W. 973 : 47 M. L. J. 780.

MAHOMEDAN LAW—Divorce—Inability to support wife—Effect.

Under the Hanafi Law, mere inability to maintain the wife is no ground for granting a divorce (Muserjre, J.) SREEMATI ASMATI BIBI v. SAMUDDI PATHAN. 79 I. C. 991.

———Dower—Agreement to pay by husband—Age of majority. See Majority Act S. 2. (Suhrawardy and Duval, JJ.) MOZHARUL ISLAM v. ABDUL GANI ALA. 80 I. C. 914.

———Dower—Right of widow—Lien—Possession—Precedents—Value of.

Where with the express or implied consent of the husband or his other heirs a Mahomedan lady takes possession of his estate she has a lien thereupon for her dower debt and can liquidate by appropriating the rents and profits. Otherwise her rights are the same as those of a simple money creditor. 38 All. 581 (P. C.) relied on. (Rankin and Ghose, JJ.) SABUR BIBI v. ISMILE SHEIKH. 40 C. L. J. 171.

———Dower—Right of widow—Nature of.

A widow's right to dower does not amount to a charge on her husband's property unless she is in possession at the time of his death. She is however a creditor of her sons to the extent of her dower debt and her right has precedence over debts incurred subsequent to the marriage. (Kendall, A. J. C.) ZAMIN HUSAIN KHAN v. TASADDUQ ALI KHAN. 80 I. C. 692 : 1925 Oudh 171.

———Dower—Widow's lien—Extent of.

Where a Mahomedan widow is in lawful and peaceful possession of her husband's property in lieu of her unpaid dower the heirs cannot obtain possession without satisfying her dower. Nor is she liable to be sued piecemeal by every separate heir. She is entitled to retain the entire property until the entire dower is paid. (Daniels, J.) MT. IAN BIBI v. MT. BATULAN BIBI. 78 I. C. 214 (1) : 1924 All. 729.

———Gift—Delivery of possession—Necessity for.

Where a deed of gift is executed by a person governed by the Mahomedan Law and the possession of the property comprised in the gift has not been delivered, the gift would be void ab initio, and no question of limitation will arise in such circumstances. The right of the plaintiff to impeach such a gift can only accrue from the moment when by receipt of possession the gift becomes operative by law. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MULANI v. MAULA BUX. 46 A. 260 : 22 A. L. J. 149 : L. R. 5 A. 104 : 78 I. C. 222 : 124 A. 370.

———Gift—Hiba-bil-ewaz—Past services—Gift in lieu of—Revocation—Power of donor.

MAHOMEDAN LAW.

Under the Mahomedan law past services rendered are not property and a gift made only in consideration of past services is revocable at the pleasure of the donor. Such a gift is not a hiba-bil-ewaz and past services are not "property" in the legal sense. A donor may revoke the gift even where he has purported to waive his right of revocation at the time of or after the declaration of gift provided that where he has accepted something in return for the waiver, he cannot revoke the gift.

Per Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.—The narrow sense in which the Mahomedan jurists understood the term "property" is wholly unsuited to the modern and progressive state of society. (Dalal, J. C. and Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) IMDAD ALI v. AHMAD ALI. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1215 : 1 O. W. N. 868.

———Gift of house and lands—Delivery of possession of house—Lands mortgaged and in mortgagee's possession—Decree obtaining possession later—Validity of gift.

Where a father by a registered gift deed gives his daughter a house and land, of which he gave her possession of the house but the lands being in the possession of a mortgagee, the donee got possession only later on, the whole gift is valid.

Quare If the gift of an equity of redemption possession being with the mortgagee is valid. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) HASHIMBI YAKUB-SAHIB BEG v. AJAMATBI. 48 Bom. 396 : 26 Bom. L. R. 337 : 80 I. C. 208 : 1924 Bom. 410.

———Gift—Hiba-bil-ewaz—Oral evidence—Admissibility.

A hiba-bil-ewaz has incidents very different from those of a simple gift. For instance the taking of possession is necessary to validate a gift pure and simple whereas in the case of a hiba-bil-ewaz the taking of possession is not necessary. It is not open to a plaintiff to adduce evidence to prove contrary to the terms of the deed of gift that the transaction was in reality a hiba-bil-ewaz (Scott Smith and Fforde, JJ.) HAFIZ FERAZ UDDIN v. SIRDAR SHAH. 6 Lah. L. J. 221 : 79 I. C. 81 : 1924 Lah. 562.

———Gift—Marz-ul-maut—Validity of.

When an old Mahomedan of 80 who was suffering from carbuncle died on account of the disease after executing a deed of gift 4 days before his death, the doctrine of marz-ul-maut applies and the gift is invalid. (Stuart, J.) MT. FAIZ BIBI v. QUDRAT ULLAH. 1924 All. 935.

———Gift—Marz-ul-maut—Meaning of.

It is not the Mahomedan Law that a woman who is pregnant is considered to be suffering from a mortal disease and on the face of it would be an absurdity to support such a doctrine. The Mahomedan Law takes the common sense view that the danger does not begin until the pains begin. (Stuart, J.) SYED SHAMSUL HASAN v. SYED HASAN. 1923 All. 173 (2).

———Marz-ul-maut—Doctrine of.

The Mahomedan Law doctrine of marz-ul-maut contemplates an apprehension of immediate death. The mere fact the donor was suffering from phthisis or that he died a few days after the execution of the deed is not sufficient. In fact lingering diseases like phthisis remove the suspicion of apprehension of immediate death on the mind of the patient. (Suhrawardy, J.) SYED REZA ALI v. KAZI NURUDEEN AHMED. 78 I. C. 174.

MAHOMEDAN LAW.

— Marz-ul-maut—Effect—Death of husband during iddat—Right of inheritance.

Where a Mahomedan husband pronounces an irrevocable divorce during his death illness (marz-ul-maut) and dies during his wife's iddat the widow is still entitled to inherit to him. Conditions for marz-ul-maut explained. (Kincaid, J.C.) and Raymond, A. J. C.) MT. BHAGBHARI v. MT. KHATUN. 80 I. C. 118.

— Gift—Named—Donees—Use of the word 'waqf'. 1924 Lah. 28.

— Gift—Revocation power of donor—Hanafi School.

According to the Hanafi Law a gift cannot be revoked after the subject of the gift was increased in value owing to some accession thereto made by the donee, which is inseparable from it. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MULANI v. MAULA BUX. 46 A. 260 : 22 A. L. J. 149 : L. R. 5 A. 104. 78 I. C. 222 : 1924 All. 370.

— Guardianship—De facto guardian—Position of.

Under Mahomedan Law, a de facto guardian has no recognised position and is no better than an officious intermeddler. (Ki khede, A. J. C.) NARAYAN v. DHARMA. 81 I. C. 273 : 1925 Nag. 134.

— Guardianship—De facto guardian—Powers of alienation.

The de facto guardian of a Mahomedan minor cannot bind his property by any act whether there be any necessity for the act or it was for his benefit. (Stuart and Mukerji, J.J.) GANESHI LAL v. NOBIN CHANDRA BOSE. 78 I. C. 1024.

— Guardianship—Minor—Mother de facto Guardian.

Under Muhammadan law a person who has charge of the person or property of a minor without being his legal guardian and who may therefore be conveniently called a de facto guardian, has no power to convey to another any right or interest in immovable property which the transferee can enforce against the infant nor can such transferee, if let into possession of the property under such unauthorised transfer, resist an action in ejectment on behalf of the infant as a trespasser. (Campbell, J.) MAHOMED SADDIG v. KHUDA BAKSH. 6 Lah. L. J. 227 : 80 I. C. 506 : 1924 Lah. 564.

— Guardianship—Mother—Sale of immovable property. 1924 Lah. 200.

— Guardianship—Property uncle and nephew.

Under Mahomedan Law, an uncle is not the legal or natural guardian of the property of his nephew and cannot bind him by his acts. (Moti Sagar, J.) COURT OF WARDS OF NAWABZADA v. ABRAR ALI. 1924 Lah. 681.

MAHOMEDAN LAW.

Hanafi sunni sect—Wakfnamah—Wakf making himself the mutawalli—Reservation of wakif's life interest whether invalid—Power of alienation reserved by the wakif—Effect of invalid clauses—Nature of evidence necessary for a valid verbal wakf.

In a suit for a declaration that there was a valid wakif for religious and charitable purposes and for an order for directing the wakif to deliver possession Held that the intention of the wakif was to create a valid wakif, and that reservation to the wakif (1) as mutawalli of the occupation of the property and income, without the corpus is not objectionable (23 C. W. N. 781 relied upon) (2) that the wakif as mutawalli may make such alterations in the rules, as may be necessary under changed conditions and that the wakif's act did not denote that the deed was revocable or that he intended to change the corpus (3) that wakif was completely dedication. The wakif's changing the character of his possession from owner to mutawalli was adequate coupled with his carrying out several objects of the trust during his life time (4) that the clauses must not be read each by itself but must be read in connection with the whole deed (5) and that the presence of invalid clauses in the wakfnamah will not vitiate the wakf (6) and that a verbal declaration of intention to create a wakf is sufficient when made in the presence of witnesses, who are prepared to testify that there was a divesting of property and that delivery of possession is not essential for a valid wakf. (Duckworth and Godfrey, J.J.) MAE KHIN v. MAUNG SEIN. 2 Rang. 495 : 1925 Rang. 71.

— Inheritance—Qureshis of Muttan—Special custom of the family in contravention of the Islamic Law—Proof. MT. HAJRA BIBI v. MT. JANAT BIBI. 76 I. C. 267.

— Inheritance—Transfer of rights—Validity.

The transfer of a right of inheritance before that right vests in the transferor is prohibited by Mahomedan Law. (Kincaid, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MT. BHAGBHARI v. MT. KHATUN. 80 I. C. 118.

— Joint family—Acquisition by one member—Presumption.

When the members of a Mahomedan family live in commensality they do not form a joint family in the sense in which that expression is used with regard to Hindus, and in Mahomedan Law there is not, as there is in Hindu Law, any presumption that the acquisitions of the several members are made for the benefit of the family jointly. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MD. MUNIR ALAM v. NINUTH LOHAR. L. R. 5 A. 101 (Rev.)

— Legitimacy—Acknowledgment—When possible. MAN MOHAN SAW v. MAHOMED HUSAIN KHAN. 1924 P. 191.

— Legitimacy—Presumption as to 1924 Oudh 19.

— Marriage—Breach of contract—Damage. 75 I. C. 746.

MAHOMEDAN LAW.

———Marriage—Consent of the girl—Minor—Puberty.

Where a woman has not attained puberty, in fact, when she was married, her consent to the marriage is immaterial and unnecessary. Puberty is established by natural signs or by age which is 15 years in males, and 9 in females. The determining factor is puberty and, in the absence of evidence, the age has to be considered. Where a girl has not attained puberty it is open to her grand-father to consent to her marriage and a marriage celebrated with such consent is valid, under the Shiah Law. (Mukerji, J.) ZAITUN v. SHAIKH KOMMAL. 22 A. L. J. 423 : L. R. 5 A. 296: 79 I. C. 907 : 1924 All. 870.

———Marriage—Guardian for marriage—Marriage by person not guardian—Effect. MT. GHULAM FATIMA v. KHAIRA.

77 I. C. 901.

———Marriage—Minority—Question if depends on Majority Act.

The Indian Majority Act does not affect the Mahomedan Law of Marriage, Divorce, etc. Under the Mahomedan Law minority terminates on the completion of the 15th year and thereafter a person though under 18 years of age can marry. (Moti Sagar, J.) MT. BEGUM BIBI v. RAHMAT KHAN. 1924 Lah. 673.

———Marriage—Option of puberty—Principle of—Acquiescence.

The only principle underlying the option of puberty under Mah. Law is that there should be no acquiescence in the marriage relation after signs of puberty appear and the question should be decided as one of fact. (Campbell, J.) KHANOO v. MT. BHAG BHARI. 76 I. C. 45: 1925 Lah. 66.

———Marriage—Option of puberty—When to be exercised. MT. GULAM FATIMA v. KHAIRA.

77 I. C. 901.

———Marriage—Puberty—Age of MT. NAWAB BIBI v. ALLAH DITTA.

1924 Lah. 188 (2).

———Marriage—Settlement—Ariat—Meaning of.

"Ariat" is a term used in the Hanafi law for a gratuitous loan and the essentials of an ariat are : —(1) that it can be revoked (2) that it cannot be transfer of property (3) that it must be for a definite period and (4) that it does not devolve upon the heirs of the recipient. Where a deed of gift executed by a father-in-law in favour of his daughter-in-law at the time of her marriage with his son recited that the donor and his representatives had no power to make any changes or alterations in the deed or interfere in any way with the property or create a burden thereon and there was a transfer of the usufruct and the deed did not purport to operate for any definite period, it cannot be taken to be an "ariat" under the Mahomedan law. (Kendall and Rullan, A.J. Cs.) MAHOMED SHER KHAN v. MT. KAMAL-UN-NISSA.

10 O. & A. L. R. 597 : 79 I. C. 716 : 11 O. L. J. 703 : 1 O. W. N. 307.

———Mutawali de facto—Right to collect money due. MUIZUDDIN v. MAHOMED IKHLAQ.

1924 All. 59.

MAHOMEDAN LAW.

———Property—Joint funds—Presumption.

The presumption of Hindu law that money for acquisitions comes from joint funds is not applicable to Mahomedans. There is no such thing as joint family property among them. (Raymond, A.J.C.) YUSIF MAHOMED v. ABUBACKER IBRAHIM.

78 I. C. 817 : 1925 Sind 26.

———Religious endowment—Khankh, meaning of—Succession of eldest son is not by right.

77 I. C. 1009.

———Representation—Doctrine of.

In Mahomedan Law there is no representation of the family as under the Hindu Law. (Mukerjee and Suhrawardy, JJ.) LUKHAN CHANDRA MANDAL v. TAKIM DHALI.

30 I. C. 357.

———Restitution of conjugal rights—Defence in action—Legal cruelty—Simple chastisement.

In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights between a Mahomedan husband and wife where ill-treatment is pleaded in defence, it need not amount to such cruelty as under English Law would be sufficient to obtain a divorce. It is enough if ill-treatment of some sort which would create in the defendant an apprehension to life or safety is proved. Simple chastisement once or twice does not amount to such ill-treatment. (Mukerjee, J.) SREMATI ASMATI BIBI v. SAIMUDDI PATHAN.

79 I. C. 991.

———Restitution of conjugal rights—Impotency of husband—Suit for annulment of marriage—Form of relief.

A Mahomedan husband and wife had been married for 6 years. Subsequently the husband sued for restitution of conjugal rights and the wife for annulment of the marriage on the ground of the husband's impotency. The medical evidence was that the marriage had not been consummated for these six years and the wife remained virgo intacta. At the same time it was found that the husband was not suffering from any physical disability rendering conjugal functions impossible. Held that under the circumstances the proper course was to enforce the rule of Mahomedan Law and give the husband a period of one year for showing that he was able to exercise his marital rights.

Under the Mahomedan law a wife has no absolute right to obtain a divorce. She has that right under certain specific contingencies and conditions. The mere fact that since the marriage the husband had no intercourse with her and that therefore, she is still a virgin would not ipso facto entitle her to a divorce unless it is proved that the husband is incapable of cohabitation with her. The Mahomedan law contemplates that there may be impotence with regard to one woman though not with regard to others. It therefore recognises that the husband should have full opportunity, after he has once been challenged, to prove that he is not impotent. This is a substantive right and not a mere rule of procedure. (Sulaiman and Mookerjee, JJ.) MAHOMED IBRAHIM v. ALTAFAH.

22 A. L. J. 1045 : 1925 All. 24.

———Restitution of conjugal rights—Marriage of minor—Husband neglecting her even after puberty—Effect. MT. NAWAB BIBI v. ALLAH DITTA.

1924 Lah. 188 (2).

MAHOMEDAN LAW.

———Sunnis—Administration suit by divorced wife—Whether maintainable—Whether secondary evidence admissible.

In a suit by a Mahomedan widow, after the death of her husband, for administration of her husband's properties she was alleged to have been divorced orally in the presence of witnesses and by written divorce by post before his death, and the defendant being unable to prove the divorce, and to produce the letter of divorce tried to prove the contents of the letter by secondary evidence under S. 63 of the Evidence Act. Held, that the particular form of secondary evidence which the defendants produce comes under S. 63 Cl. 5, and that the statement of witnesses as oral accounts of the contents of the document, are inadmissible, as none of them can be said to have "seen" the document within the meaning of S. 63 of the Evidence Act relying on Maung-chit v. Maung Ta Ku; and that a person seeing the document without understanding the language or hearing from other people who have seen, is giving merely hearsay evidence and the objection overruled. (Baguley and Young, JJ.) KALENTHAR AMMAL v. MAMI, 2 Bang. 400 : 1924 Rang. 363.

———Waqf—Conditional grant constitutes waqf—Doubtful where grantor is a Hindu—Use of word 'waqf.'

A grant sub-condition cannot be considered to be a waqf. It is not necessary in order to constitute a waqf that the term "waqf" be used, if from the general nature of the grant itself that tenure can be inferred. 2 M. I. A. 390 Foll. Quere:—Whether a grant by Hindu to a Mahomedan community is incompetent as the foundation of a waqf. (Lord Shaw.) MAHOMED RAZA v. SYED YADGAR HUSSAIN,
51 Cal. 446 :

L. R. 5 P. C. 76 : 7 N. L. J. 116 : 20 L. W. 3 :
(1924) M. W. N. 447 : 80 I. C. 645 :
28 C. W. N. 937 : 21 N. L. R. 1 : 1924 P. C. 109.

———Waqf—Dedication—Dower constituting himself Mutwalli—Gift of a portion of income for maintenance of daughter-in-law of donor—Legality of.

According to the Hanafi law, a waqifdar can appoint himself mutwalli of the waqf created by him. Where a house yielding a rental of Rs. 22 a month is set apart for a mosque, the mere fact that out of the income a sum of Rs. 2 a month is given for the maintenance of the daughter-in-law of the donor does not affect the validity of the dedication. (Broadway and Abdul Raoof, JJ.) TAFAZZAL BEG v. MAJID ULLAH,
5 Lah. 59 :
79 I. C. 120 : 1924 Lah. 432.

———Waqf—Dedication—Retention of residue of income for Mutwalli—Wakf valid.

A Mahomedan settlor directed that the income of certain shops should be applied in the first instance to the upkeep of a mosque, and that the residue, if any, should be remuneration of the mutwalli. Held, that there was nothing contrary to law in a trust of this nature.

The situation would have been entirely different had the dedication allowed mutwallis to appropriate, in the first instance, whatever amount they pleased and obliged them only to apply the remainder, if any, for the purposes of the mosque. (Campbell and Broadway, JJ.) ZULFIKAR ALI v. NABI BAKHSH, 6 L. L. J. 155 : 80 I. C. 324 :

MAHOMEDAN LAW,

1924 Lah. 459.

———Waqf—Dedication—Use—Burial ground—Patiah in the name of individual.

It is not enough to say that a certain property was used as a burial ground, for that to amount to a dedication of the property as waqf property. The mere fact that a Mahomedan chooses to bury the body of another Mahomedan in his garden would not make that property waqf property. Where the property is registered in the municipal books in the name of a private owner as a burial ground, it does not constitute the property a public burial ground. 40 C. 297 (P. C.) Dist. (Schwabe, C. J.) ABDUL RAHIMAN SAHIB CHOWDRY v. MURUGAPPA NAICKER,
19 L. W. 352 : (1924) M. W. N. 359 (2) :
34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 312 :
83 I. C. 536 : 1924 Mad. 577.

———Waqf—Deduction—Validity of—Reservation of life interest—Appointment of trustee.
1924 All. 113.

———Wakf—Takia—If alienable or partible.

A takia is property owned in common by the members of the community using it and cannot be alienated or partitioned except with the consent of all. Nature of takias in general discussed. (Le Rossignol and Zafar Ali, JJ.) DIN MAHOMED v. PIR BAKHSH,
1924 Lah. 652.

———Waqf—Essentials of—Shiah law—Completion of the trust—English law. MT. BIBI KANIZ ZAINAB v. SYED MOBARACK HUSSAIN,
1924 Pat. 284.

———Waqf—Interference with user Construction—Removal of construction.

On certain waqf property consisting of a well and Chabutra, defendant erected a certain construction which obstructed the plaintiffs' right to use the well and Chabutra for drinking purposes and for purposes of worship. Held that the plaintiffs were entitled to get the removal of the construction. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) POTLI KUNWAR v. JANKI DAS,
22 A. L. J. 747 :
L. R. 5 A. 603 : 81 I. C. 204 :
46 A. 813 : 1924 All. 850.

———Waqf—Mussalman waqf validating Act of 13.

The Act has reaffirmed the view taken in the case of Joe John Bebe v. Abdulla (1833 Fulton 345) and that decisions in India are given according to the tenets of Abu Yousuf and not according to Imam Mahomed. The case of Azizudu v. Legal Remembrancer (15 All. 321) which relied upon a majority of the judgments but not on that of Amir Ali, J. in 20 Cal. 116 in regard to wakf made in India after Act VI of 1913 came into force. (Duckworth and Godfrey, JJ.) MA EKHIN v. MAUNG SEIN,
2 Rang. 495 at 502 :
1925 Rang. 71.

———Waqf—Mutwalli—Appointment by District Judge—Selection and nomination. MOHINUDDIN CHOUDHURY v. ANUNUDDIN CHOUDHURY
1924 Cal. 441.

MAHOMEDAN LAW.

— Waqf—Mutawalli—Lease of property—Permission—In whom power lies.
51 Cal. 331 : 77 I. C. 949 : 1924 Cal. 473

— Waqf—Mutawalli—Power to mortgage—Necessity—Onus.

A mutawalli is only a manager and has no power to mortgage the wakf property without permission of the Kazi or the Court. Where the deed authorises him to borrow for necessary purposes a mortgagee who advances money must satisfy himself that necessity exists. The onus is not on the party who challenges the alienation, to prove there was no necessity. (Suhrawardy and Chotzner, JJ.) MAHIMJAN BIBI v. MIR RAHIM ALI. 79 I. C. 360 : 1925 Cal. 431

— Waqf-mutawalli whether necessary—Whether delivery of possession essential—Delivery of possession to others as mutawallis is not essential.

A wakf need not appoint a mutawalli. He is presumed himself to be the mutawalli according to Abu Yousuf. 18 C. 241 referred to. The appointment of a mutawalli is not essential to the validity of an appropriation. (Buckworth and Godfrey, JJ.) MA E KHIN v. MAUNG SEIN. 2 Rang. 495 at 511 : 1925 Rang. 71.

— Waqf—Objects of dedication—Maintenance of relatives, MUKARRAM ALI KHAN v. ANJUMAN-UN-RISSA. 1924 All. 223.

— Waqf—Suit in a representative capacity if necessary—Rights of worshippers—Suit for possession.

A public mosque is a place to which all Mahomedans are entitled to go as of right and to perform their devotions and every Mahomedan has an inherent right to see that the property belonging to the mosque is being properly administered. The interest of a worshipper is a personal right and though it may be enjoyed in common with others, it cannot be said that it is a joint right vested in the whole body of worshippers. A worshipper who sues for a declaration that the property is waqf property need not bring a representative suit and comply with the provisions of O. 1, R. 8, C. P. Code. The plaintiff could not in such a case sue for possession of property wrongfully alienated by the mutawalli. (Plumer, O. C. J. and Ramaswami Iyengar, J.) SYED MARUFF MEAH v. THIMMI. 2 Mys. L. J. 220.

— Waqf—Validity—Mutawalli not acting—Effect.

A waqf which has been validly constituted cannot cease to be a valid one merely because the mutawalli appointed does not act as per the terms of the deed. (Suhrawardy, J.) SYED REZA ALI v. KAZI NURUDDIN AHMED. 78 I. C. 174.

— Will—Bequests—Extent of—Validity—Prior consent—Effect.

Under Mahomedan Law, bequests can only take effect to the extent of one third of the next assets after payment of funeral expenses and debts, unless the excess is rendered valid by the consent, given after the death of the testator, of the inheritors whose rights are infringed thereby. A consent prior to death is of no avail, because rights of inheritance vest in the heirs only after death and a prior release or renunciation is prohibited under the Mahomedan Law. (Kinnaird, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MT. BHAGBHARI v. MT. KHATUN. 80 I. C. 118.

MALABAR LAW.

— Will—Exclusion of heir—Effect MT. AMRIT BIBI v. MUSTAFA HUSSAIN. 77 I. C. 66

— Will—Legacy of one third of estate—what is included in. MIRZA MAHOMED v. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE. 77 I. C. 755.

MAJORITY ACT, S. 2—"To act in the matter of dower"—Meaning of.

"To act in the matter of dower" means to act or do such acts as may relate to the dower.

A contract entered into by a Mahomedan husband, who is a minor under the Majority Act but a major according to his personal law, to pay dower to his wife is valid and there is nothing in S. 11 Contract Act invalidating the same. (Suhrawardy and Duval, JJ.) MAZHARAL ISLAM v. ABDUL GANI ALA. 80 I. C. 914: 1925 Cal. 322.

— S. 2 (a)—Indian Christians—Minority—When ceases

Under S. 2 (a) of the Indian Majority Act, in the case of an Indian Christian the age of majority for purposes of a divorce suit is 21 and if one of the parties is below that age, a guardian should be appointed for him or her. (Kennedy, J. C.) G. E. G. R. v. E. M. R. 79 I. C. 535: 1925 S. 95.

— S. 3—Married woman governed by the Succession Act (X of 1865)—Guardian appointed by Court—Age of minority extends to 21 years of age—Incapacity to make a will. See SUCCESSION ACT, Ss. 3 AND 46. 28 C. W. N. 527.

— S. 3—Person cannot be major with respect to one and minor with respect to another property.

Where minor was adopted after 18 but before 21 years of his age and a guardian had been appointed before his 18th age.

Held, that he cannot be minor with respect to the property of his natural father and major with respect to the property inherited by him from his adoptive father. (Mukerjee and Dalal, JJ.) MT. CHAMBE v. TARA CHAND. 1924 All. 892.

MALABAR LAW—Nevaswom—Uralan—Nambudiri who returns from jail if can continue as uralan—Melcharth by de facto manager—Validity.

In the case of a Nambudiri uralan, continuance in caste is an essential requisite for his continuance as uralan. If he is convicted and returns from jail he loses caste and cannot continue as uralan. A melcharth granted by the two other uralans and another member of the illam who acted as de facto uralan is valid. (Krishnan, J.) HARIHASA AIYAR v. UKKANDAN VARIAR. 81 I. C. 498: 1925 Mad. 207.

— Kanam—Renewal during the currency of a prior Kanam—Bona fide Settlement of disputes—Karnavan misappropriating benefit—Liability of Kanomdar. 75 I. C. 476.

MALABAR LAW.

— Karnavan—Alienation of tarwad property—Junior members—Minors—Suit to set aside alienation—Limitation—Art. 144 applicable and not Art. 44 or 91. See LIM. ACT, ARTS. 91 AND 144. 46 M. L. J. 340.

— Karnavan—Powers of. MEENAKSHI NETHIAR AMMA v. PARVATI NETHIAR.

1924 Mad. 174.

— Nambudris—Law applicable—Special usage—Pleading and proof Nambudris illom—Mortgage by step-mother of family property—Necessity—Existence of, if validates mortgage.

Nambudris of Malabar are governed by the Hindu law as laid down by Mitakshara except so far as it is shown to have been modified by usage or custom having the force of law. In dealing with Nambudris courts will apply the ordinary Hindu Law unless either party shows that the special usage or custom unknown to the ordinary Hindu Law has either been established by precedents or adduces evidence in the trial in proof of such usage. When such special usage is not pleaded or proved in the trial court, the High Court would not, on second appeal allow the parties an opportunity to amend their pleadings and adduce evidence in support of the usage.

A Nambudri's illom consisted of a father who was an idiot, his two sons who were minors, and their step-mother who was managing the household and looking after the minors. The step-mother borrowed money on a mortgage of the family properties for family necessity. In a suit to enforce the mortgage held, that the mortgagor had no authority either as guardian of the members of the family or as its surviving efficient member to mortgage the family estate and that the mortgage was not enforceable against the family properties (Jackson, J.) NARAYANAN NAMBUDDRI v. RAVUNNI NAIR. 20 L. W. 876 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 127 : 1924 M. W. N. 792.

1925 Mad. 250 : 47 M. L. J. 986.

— Stanom—Stanomdar—Power of alienation. 1924 Mad. 247.

— Tarwad Gift - Putravakam gift—Absolute property of the donee.

A Mahomedan of North Malabar following the Marumakkattayam Law was the sole survivor and senior member of his tarwad. He executed a deed of gift to his daughter referring her in the singular and the deed went on to say that "in future except for you and your offspring (Santanam) there is no claim, concern, or right of entry for me over this paramba you and your santanam should hold the said paramba in possession and enjoy the same as your jeninom." Held, that the gift was not for the donee's exclusive benefit but for her children also and that the property gifted was therefore putravakam property belonging to the donee's tavazhi. 16 M. 201 : 29 M. 22 : 38 M. 79 : 39 M. 317 Ref. Wal lace, J. GHATHOTH PARKUM K. K. KUNHAMMAD KUTTI v. PARAMBATH C. E. P. K. CHERIA MAMMAD. 20 L. W. 41 : (1924) M. W. N. 480 : 1924 Mad. 787 : 34 M. L. T. 238 (H. C.) : 79 I. C. 886 : 47 M. L. J. 679.

— Tarwad—Grant of property for life time of a member—Reverter to tarwad—Limitation.

MALABAR LAW.

Where property is granted to a member of a tarwad for his life by the tarwad, the property reverts back to the tarwad on the death of the grantee and it is competent to the manager of the tarwad for the time being to sue for recovery of the property on the grantee's death. Any incumbrance created by the grantee would cease to be binding on the property after the death of grantee and there is no question of adverse possession against the tarwad during the life time of the grantee (Madhavan Nair, J.) THITHI KUTTI v. NELLAYA VARIATH.

(1924) M. W. N. 526 : 82 I. C. 183.

1925 Mad. 225.

— Tarwad—Karnavan—Partnership with strangers—Dissolution—Right of junior members of the Tarwad or Tavazhi.

Where the Karnavan of a Malabar Tavazhi enters into a partnership with strangers for the purpose of carrying on a trade, the Karnavan is the trading partner and represents the interests of the Tarwad. That being the case the members of the Tavazhi would have no right to interfere in the management of the affairs of the partnership so long as it was a going concern. But when once the partnership has been dissolved, the junior members of the Tavazhi would not be bound by any arrangement entered into by the Karnavan whereby he takes a smaller share of the assets of the partnership than the Tarwad would be entitled to on the taking of accounts at the date of the dissolution of the partnership (Spencer and Devadosy, JJ.) OTTAPUDAKKAL THAZHATH SOOPI v. K. P. C. ABDULLA. 20 L. W. 390 : 82 I. C. 198 : 1924 Mad. 909 : 1924 M. W. N. 782 : 47 M. L. J. 554.

— Tarwad and tavazhi—Acquisitions by Karnavan—Presumption—Alienation of tarwad property for maintenance by Karnavan—Right of junior members to set aside—Denial of rights of tarwad in Tavazhi Karar—If works out of forfeiture.

In the absence of evidence to the contrary, there is a presumption that property acquired by the Karnavan of a Tavazhi was acquired for the Tavazhi and with the Tavazhi funds and this presumption must prevail unless the person who avers that such property is his, self acquisition proves that fact by evidence. Junior members of a Tarwad cannot set aside an arrangement that has been made by the Karnavan for the enjoyment of the Tarwad properties by the members thereof. It is only the Karnavan that can ask for return of possession from them. The members of a Tavazhi who were in possession of certain Tarwad properties under a maintenance arrangement made by the Karnavan made a statement in a Karar that those properties were the jeninom property of the Tavazhi. A suit was filed by some of the junior members of the Tarwad for recovering possession of the same, whereupon the defendants admitted the title of Tarwad but claimed the value of improvements for the Tavazhi. Held the denial of title in the Karar is no ground for taking away possession from the defendant as the case is different from a tenant's forfeiture of rights by denying the title of his landlord. (Krishnan, J.) APPATTA CHATHU NAMBIAR v. SEKHARAN NAMBIAR. 47 M. L. J. 695.

MALICIOUS PROSECUTION.

———Tarward—Tavazhi—Exclusion of male members—Custom. 1924 Mad. 28.

MALICIOUS PROSECUTION—Cause of action—Damages—Essentials to be proved—Prosecution—What amounts to.

In an action for malicious prosecution the plaintiff has to prove—

(1) that he was prosecuted by the defendant, (2) that he was innocent of the charge upon which he was tried, (3) that the prosecution was instituted against him without any reasonable and probable cause, (4) that it was due to a malicious intention of the defendant, and not with a mere intention of carrying the law into effect. The plaintiff must prove his innocence beyond doubt.

If a Court takes action as a result of a prior malicious proceedings originated by the defendant, the latter cannot escape liability on the excuse that the Court had acted of its own motion. Inquiry should be aimed at a discovery whether the Court in taking action was or was not influenced by the proceedings of the defendant. Where a person accused of an offence makes a confession incriminating another as co-accused as a result of which proceedings are taken against the latter, he is liable in an action for malicious prosecution. (Dalal, J. C. and Cuming, A. J. C.) BADRI SAH v. BALBHADDAR SINGH.

10 O. L. J. 468 : 79 I. C. 697 : 1924 Oudh 145.

———Damages—Malice—Proof of—Conviction by first Court—Acquittal on appeal—Effects of.

It cannot be laid down as a hard and fast rule that a suit for malicious prosecution is not maintainable where there is a conviction by the court of first instance and an acquittal by the appellate Criminal Court. 21 A. 26 Dist. (Mukerjee, J.) MADHO SINGH v. MANGAL SINGH.

L. R. 5 A. 375 : 79 I. C. 1023 : 1924 A. 535.

———Damages—Malice—Proof of—Indirect motive—Advice of Counsel—Effect of—Quantum of damages—Interference on appeal.

Where in an action for damages for malicious prosecution the Court finds that the defendant preferred an unfounded criminal charge against the plaintiff with the indirect motive of bringing pressure on the latter to settle a civil dispute then pending between the parties, the defendant must be held to have been actuated by malice. The opinion of Counsel as to the propriety of instituting a prosecution will not excuse the defendant from liability unless he shows that he laid all the facts of his case fairly before him and acted bona fide on the opinion given by that Counsel. Ravenga v. Mackintosh, 2 B. & C 593 referred to.

In an action for damages for malicious prosecution the trial Judge has a wide discretion, on the facts of the case before him, to say what, in his view, the damages should be; and an appellate Court will not substitute its own discretion and interfere with the award of damages unless it finds that the trial Judge erred in law in awarding the damages that he did.

MASTER AND SERVANT.

(Schwabe, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) NURSE v. RUSTOMJI DORABJI. 46 M.L.J. 353 : 19 L.W. 397 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 25 : (1924) M.W.N. 382 : 77 I. C. 787 : 1924 Mad 565.

———Prosecutor—Person acting behind the scenes—Liability of Damages.

Though a criminal prosecution was not actually launched by the defendant but it was found that the defendant engaged vakils to instruct the Public Prosecutor, and to cross-examine the defence witnesses and when the Magistrate dismissed the case, the defendant applied to the District Magistrate for revision of the order and for further enquiry and it was also further found that the defendant was actuated by malice, held that for all practical purposes, the defendant was the real prosecutor and he was liable in damages.

The question in all cases of this kind must be, who was the prosecutor. And the answer must depend upon the whole circumstances of the case. The mere setting of the law in motion is not the criterion. The conduct of the complainant before and after making the charge must also be taken into consideration. Nor is it enough to say that the prosecution was instituted and conducted by the Police. Theoretically all prosecutions are conducted in the name of the Crown but in practice this duty is often left in the hands of the person immediately aggrieved by the offence. The foundation of the action is malice, and malice may be shown at any time in the course of the enquiry. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) RADHAKISHAN v. KEDAR NATH. 46 A. 815 : 22 A. L. J. 761 : 80 I. C. 874 : L. R. 5 A. 536 : 1924 A. 845.

MANDAMUS—Writ of—Power of High Court to issue—Conditions to be fulfilled—Injury to property, franchise or personal right—Demand and refusal of Justice—Alternative remedies available—Effect of. See SP. REL. ACT, S. 45. 40 C.L.J. 44.

MASTER AND SERVANT—Dismissal without notice—Justification.

It is open to a master before the expiry of the full term of service and without serving any notice beforehand, to dispense with the services of a skilled servant employed for a particular work on the ground that he found him unfit for it. If want of notice is alleged, the servant will have to prove either a stipulation as to notice in the terms of his engagement or a custom requiring such notice. In an action for wrongful dismissal it is a sufficient defence if the master can show that a good ground for dismissal existed, even though he alleged another ground or was unaware of it at the time. There is no difference in principle between a dismissal for incompetency or for negligence and misconduct. All these are questions of fact. Where a skilled labourer is employed there is an implied warranty on his part that he has the skill reasonably necessary to the task. In such cases, even if the agreement is for a term, the master can dismiss for good cause at any time. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) PANDURANG v. JAIRAMDAS.

82 I. C. 727.

———Liability of master for acts of servants—Criminal law.

MASTER AND SERVANT.

Where a particular intent or state of mind is not of the essence of an offence a master can be made criminally liable for his servant's acts if an act is expressly prohibited but not otherwise, and he cannot be so made liable if the act provides for liability for permitting and causing a certain thing unless it can be shown that the act was done with the master's knowledge and assent, express or implied. (Greaves and Duval, JJ.)
VARAJ LALL v. EMPEROR. 28 C.W.N. 854.
 51 Cal. 948; 82 I. C. 137; 25 Cr. L. J. 1209; 1925 Cal. 985.

——— Notice for terminating contract—Period.

The service of a servant paid by the month can be terminated after 14 days' notice in the absence of an express agreement or established custom to the contrary. (Moti Sagar, J.) GANGA RAM v. DUNI CHAND BHANDARI. 78 I. C. 763.
 1925 Lah. 186.

MAXIM—Falsus in uno falsus omnibus—Application in India of the principle of—Evidence believed against some accused but not against others, whether a ground for interference in revision.

Held, that the principle falsus in uno falsus in omnibus cannot be universally applied in India and the fact that statements of witnesses are believed against some and not against the other accused persons, is no ground for interference in revision. (Pullan, A. J. C.) PRAG v. EMPEROR.

1 O. W. N. 473; 10 O. & A. L. R. 871;
 82 I. C. 33; 25 Cr. L. J. 1169;
 11 O. L. J. 693; 1925 Oudh 65.

——— He who seeks equity must do equity—Meaning of. See 82 I. C. 309.

——— In pari delicto potior est conditio possidentis—Applicability. See—EQUITY.

78 I. C. 260.

MEDICAL CERTIFICATE—Medical certificates by qualified doctors should be accepted as true, unless there is reason to believe they are not genuine. See Cr. P. Code, S. 526.

81 I. C. 126;
 25 Cr. L. J. 638; 1925 Lah. 101.

MEDICAL DEGREES ACT (VII OF 1916), S. 6—Addition of initials to sign board—Offence.

A person was conducting a dispensary with a sign board which contained the initials M. D. B., L. M. H. attached to his name. They were contractions for Doctor of Biochemic Medicines and Licentiate of Homœopathic Medicines. He was convicted under S. 6 of the Medical Degrees Act. Held, the conviction was wrong in as much as the initials did not represent any degree, diploma, license or certificate issued by any body or society referred to in the section.

Quære: if such a person could call himself a Doctor and escape liability under the section? (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) ATAL RAI KISHENCHAND v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 709; 81 I. C. 197; 1925 Sind 71.

MESNE PROFITS—Acceptance of—Rent—Effect.

Acceptance of rent, though under mistake of law, from trespasser disentitles owner from

MINES AND MINERALS.

claiming mesne profits. (Lord Shaw) MITRA SEN SINGH v. MT. JANKI KUAR. 20 L.W. 566;
 26 Bom. L. R. 1134; 40 C. L. J. 468;
 35 M. L. T. 247 (P. C.); 46 A. 728;
 51 I. A. 326; 1 O. W. N. 426; 82 I. C. 946;
 1924 P. C. 213; 47 M. L. J. 591.

——— Joint Hindu family—Alienation of co-parcener's share or interest—Alienee in possession—Not liable for past profits. See HINDU LAW, JOINT FAMILY. 26 Bom. L. R. 464.

——— Liability for.

Wrongful possession essential—Lands under attachment under S. 146, Cr. P. Code—Defendant not liable for mesne profits for period of attachment. See C. P. CODE, S. 2 (12).

39 C. L. J. 447.

——— Jurisdiction—Sum claimed in excess of pecuniary jurisdiction—Procedure.

1924 Cal. 167.

——— Measure of—Basis of calculation—Lands in the possession and cultivation of defendant—Allegation of cultivation at a loss for successive seasons—What should plaintiff prove. See C. P. CODE, S. 2 (12).

47 M. L. J. 730.

——— Proof of—Burden on trespasser of proving receipts from land.

In a suit for mesne profits against a trespasser as soon as the plaintiff has given some evidence proving prima facie that the profits were somewhere about the sum he alleges, the burden of proving that they were less shifts to the shoulders of the defendant. It must not be supposed that it is for the person out of possession to prove what profits the man in possession of his property made out of it, and that the latter can be made to pay only so much of the profits as the ousted owner can manage to find evidence to prove in detail in the face of opposition from the trespasser who is the only person who knows anything about it. (Halifax, A. J. C.) JAI LAL SAO v. LAL FETEH SINGH. 20 N. L. R. 52; 75 I. C. 826;
 1924 Nag. 117.

——— Right to—Mortgagee purchasing property at Court sale—Right of landlord to apportionment.

Where a mortgagee purchases the mortgaged land at a court auction sale and obtains possession after confirmation of the sale he is entitled to the whole of the paddy rent from the land which falls due at the end of the agricultural year in which he makes the purchase. The landlord has no claim for apportionment but in cases where the landlord has equities in his favour or in the case of rent accruing monthly, a claim for apportionment may be made. 2 B. 670 appr. (Lentaigne, J.) U KYAW ZAN v. AH DOE.

3 Bur. L. J. 151; 1924 Rang. 365.

——— Suit for—Effect of proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. C. 1924 Mad. 224.

MINES AND MINERALS—Surface land not covered by the grant—Use of.

It is settled law that a right of using the surface to which the mine owner may be entitled by implication is confined to such things as are reasonably and strictly necessary for the convenient

MINERALS.

working of the mines, (C. C. Ghose and Panton, JJ.)
HARIPADA BANDOPADYA v. EQUITABLE COAL CO., LTD. 1923 Cal. 335.

MINERALS — Permanently settled estate—Rights of Zamindar and Government. See GRANT-CONSTRUCTION. 1924 F. R. C. C. 201.

MINOR—Agent appointed by guardian—Suit against agent—If maintainable.

A minor can maintain a suit against an agent appointed by his guardian for the benefit of the estate, in all cases and particularly in respect of properties received by the agent and not accounted for to the guardian. (Coutts, Trotter, C. J., Ramesam and Wallace, JJ.) SUYAMPRAKASAM v. MURUGESA PILLAI.

35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 8 : 20 L. W. 272 :
 1925 Mad. 17 : 81 I. C. 779 : 47 Mad. 774 :
 47 M. L. J. 203.

———Contract of guardian — Estate when bound.

A guardian cannot bind his wards estate except by a document purporting to bind it. Where a guardian contracts a debt to pay land revenue, the minor's estate will be bound inasmuch as the assessment is a necessary charge. (Baker, J. C.) JAGESHWAR RAO v. GUJAB RAO.

1924 Nag. 168.

———Contract for sale by de facto guardian—No specific performance against minor. See SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 27. 2 Pat. L. R. 181.

———Decree against—Appointment of certificated guardian of minor—Subsequent adoption of minor—Partition suit against father—Decree against minor—Whether binding on him.

After the appointment of a certificated guardian for the person and property of a minor boy he was adopted by another person. During the minority of the boy, the appellant sued the adoptive father for partition of a house. The adoptive father died after the conclusion of the hearing and delivery of judgment. The minor boy was brought on record but no guardian ad litem was appointed. The minor contested the suit by engaging counsel. Against the preliminary and final decrees passed in the suit the minor unsuccessfully appealed. Subsequently he sued to set aside the decrees as not binding on him. Held, that a guardian having been appointed for the minor, he continued to be such till the age of 21 and that the decrees passed against the minor without being represented by a guardian were not binding on him. 4 Pat. L. J. 240 : 30 C. 1021 : 32 C. 296 : 20 A. L. J. 329 Ref. (Mukerjee and Dalal, JJ.) CHAMPI v. TARA CHAND. 22 A. L. J. 665.

L. R. 5 A 502 : 82 I. C. 516 (2) : 46 A. 744 :
 1924 A. 892.

———Decree against—Consent of guardian ad litem—Whether must be expressed or may be implied—Want of consent—Effect on decree. See C. P. CODE, O. 32, R. 4 (3). 47 M. L. J. 273.

———Decree against Ex parte—Suit by minor for declaration that decree against was nullity—Irregular appointment of guardian—No prejudice to minor—Effect of.

MINOR.

Where the minors in a suit, sought to set aside an ex parte decree passed against them, as minors under their father's guardianship on two grounds, (1) that their father was irregularly appointed, (2) that they were prejudiced by his appointment, as there was no pious obligation on their part to pay their father's debts during his life time. Held, as regards (1), that under O 32, R. 4 (3) though no person could be appointed guardian without his consent, in this case consent must be presumed, as he was given an opportunity to object to his appointment, and he did not do so, (2) and that there was no defence open to the minors which the father would not have taken in the previous suit and that the second contention was exploded by the F. C. decision in 46 A. 95, Narayan v. Mangal Prasad (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) RAJA BABU v. BALMUKUND AND OTHERS. L. R. 5 All 692 Civ.).

———Decree against—Guardian absent—Cross negligence.

Where though the guardian of a minor defendant had taken out subpoenas for witnesses he was absent at the hearing and hence his pleader could not explain what steps had been taken, and on an adjournment being refused a decree was passed against the minor, the guardian is guilty of gross negligence and the decree is not binding on the minor. (Devadas, J.) DADA SAHIB v. GAJRAJ SINGH. 20 L. W. 854 : 1925 Mad. 204 : 47 M. L. J. 928.

———Decree against—No proper representation—Decree set aside—Effect

Where a decree passed against a minor defendant is set aside on the ground he was not properly represented, plaintiff is entitled to have a fresh hearing of the suit after remedying the defect in representation as the setting aside of the decree is to revive the original suit and restore the status quo ante. (Suhawardy, J.) ICHHAMOYI PAL v. PEARYMOHAN SAH. 78 I. C. 427.

———Decree against—Res-judicata—Conditions—Gross negligence of guardian ad litem—Omission to rely on material evidence—Effect of. See C. P. CODE, S. 11. 47 M. L. J. 700.

———Decree against—Sanction of court—Effect of—Negligence of guardian.

Failure by a guardian to take a wholly untenable objection cannot be regarded as negligence on his part and where a compromise decree binding the minor has been sanctioned by Court, it is not competent to the minor to impeach it. (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) SIVA SUBRAMANIA PILLAI v. RAKKUMUTHU MOOPPAN. 19 L. W. 502 : (1924) M. W. N. 454 : 79 I. C. 418 : 1924 Mad. 645.

———Execution sale—Minor not properly represented—Sale not a nullity. See EXECUTION SALE, MINOR 39 C. L. J. 284.

———Guardian ad litem—Appointment of Head Clerk of the Court—Omission of notice to person having custody of minors—Irregularity—Effect on decree. See C. P. Code, O. 32, R. 3 (5). 46 M. L. J. 363.

———Guardian Contract for sale of immovable property—Enforceability—Subsequent sale to another for higher price—Right of vendee under prior contract—Sp. performance.

MINOR.

Under the Hindu Law it is competent to the guardian of a minor to enter into a valid contract for the sale of his immovable property for the purpose of discharging debts of the minor's father for which the property in the minor's hands would be liable. 36 M. L. J. 29 and 42 Mad. 185 Rel. on.

The contract for sale by the guardian if entered into in the interests of the minor and for a proper price, can be enforced against a subsequent purchaser of the property with notice, even though the latter has bought it for a higher price than that stipulated under the prior contract 29 A. 213. Dist (Devadoss, J) KASIVASI CHIDAMBARA SWAMIGAL v. RAMAKRISHNA REDDIAR.

20 L. W. 559 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 110 :

1924 Mad. 863 : 82 I. C. 926 :

(1924) M. W. N. 878 : 47 M. L. J. 683.

———Guardian — Powers of — Expenses — Authority to incur. 1924 Lah. 339.

———Lease in favour of — Guardian acting for the minor — Lease when binding. MT. HAFIZAN v. AKHLESWARI PRASAD. 1924 P. 186.

———Mortgage in favour of — Enforceability.

A mortgage in favour of a minor is enforceable by the minor where the consideration for the assignment has been paid in full to the assignor and the minor is therefore under no obligation to any one and not precluded from suing on such contract : relying on Steinberg v. Seala, Ltd. 92 L. J. 944 Ref. 40 M. 308 ; 38 A. 62 ; 38 A. 154 ; 33 A. 657 ; 28 I. C. 451 Foll. 30 Cal. referred to. (Broadway and Campbell, JJ.) THAKURDAS v. MST. PUTHI. 82 I. C. 96 : 5 Lah. 317.

———Sale in favour of — Validity of — Covenants annexed to contract of sale — Enforceability. See DEED CONSTRUCTION. 46 M. L. J. 464.

———Specific performance of contract to sell entered into by manager of joint Hindu family against minor members. See SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE. 46 M. L. J. 575.

———Sale by guardian — Avoidance of sale — Conveyance of properties to stranger. 1924 Mad. 322.

———Seeking relief — Equity — Estoppel. 75 I. C. 269.

———Transferee cannot challenge validity. 75 I. C. 99 : 6 Lah. L. J. 42.

MORTGAGE — Consideration — Onus of proof of — Suit to enforce mortgage — Transfer of Property Act, Ss. 86–90 — Mortgage — Consideration for it being payment of debt due to third party by mortgagor — Non-payment thereof by mortgagee — Effect — Suit by mortgagee to enforce mortgage — Maintainability — Right to decree for sale.

Firm P. of which the respondent and V were partners owed a debt to firm O. On the dissolution of firm P, its business was taken over by the respondent, who also became personally responsible for its debts and liabilities, including the debt due to firm O. On 12th May, 1910, the amount of the debt due to firm O was Rs. 36,000. On that date the respondent executed in favour of S, a benamidar for V, a mortgage for Rs. 20,000.

Y D 1924–55

MORTGAGE.

a promissory-note for Rs. 16,000 and a letter which recited the execution of the mortgage and of the pro-notes, directed and to pay the sum of Rs. 36,000, the amount secured by the mortgage and by the promissory-note, to firm O and to tell that firm that it should be credited towards firm P in their account, and promised to send S the money on the due date.

In a suit to enforce the mortgage of the 12th May, 1910 by the assignee, it was found that, though the deed stated to be for consideration received, and, on the face of it, bore no relation at all to the dissolution agreement of firm P, the record of the transaction of 12th May, 1910 was not to be found in the mortgage of that alone, but in the mortgage, the pro-note and the letter of that date, that no consideration passed for the mortgage of that date, and that the respondent was required by V to give to him, in the name of S, his benami, the suit mortgage and the promissory note for the reason that firm O were pressing V to pay their debt and the respondent was neglecting to settle it. It was further found that V had not at the date of suit paid anything to firm O.

Held, that the plaintiff had entirely failed to establish any case whatever, either for a decree or for an account.

Ss. 86-90 of the Transfer of Property Act no embodied in effect in O. 34 of the Schedule to the C. P. Code, protect a defendant-mortgagor against a decree for sale, unless the amount due upon his mortgage, if not admitted, has either at the hearing been proved by the plaintiff or has been ascertained after the hearing by an account then directed on, of course, a case for the taking of such an account having by evidence first been made. (Lord Blanesburgh.) VEERAPPA CHETTY v. ARUNACHELLAM CHETTY.

26 Bom. L. R. 661 : (1924) M. W. N. 559 :

20 L. W. 368 : 35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 161 :

47 M. L. J. 168.

———Consideration — Part payment — Agreement to pay balance on certain day — Payment on later day — Acceptance of payment — Effect.

Portion only of the consideration for a mortgage was paid at the time of the transaction and it was agreed the balance was to be paid on a certain date. It was not paid then but later when it was accepted. Held, the acceptance amounts to a waiver of the term and a suit could be brought for the whole amount. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) MT. BIBI HAFIZUNNISSA v. IMAMUDDIN KHAN. 1924 P. 825.

———Consideration — Proof of — Recitals.

Where in a mortgage suit execution is admitted or proved, the mortgagor has to prove that recital of consideration is false. If the person contesting is a stranger, recitals as to consideration are not binding on him and the ordinary rule applies. (Kinkhede, A J. C.) BALIRAM v. KAMALJA.

1924 Nag. 367.

———Construction — Interest if charge — Redemption.

Under 'a mortgage deed the mortgagor was to pay interest regularly every year. On default the mortgagee could recover principal and interest by sale and there followed a clause that the mortgagor could redeem at any time by payment of a fixed sum, the mortgage amount. Held, on a construction of the deed, redemption did not involve payment of interest, but the mortgagee could bring a suit for the sale of the property for unpaid interest. In such a suit, he could claim interest subject to a maximum of 12 years under the Limitation Act. (Harrison and Raoof, JJ.) RAMJI LAL v. MUNSHI LAL. 79 I. C. 24.

MORTGAGE.

—Construction—Interest—Profits—Appropriation of profits towards interest—Redemption.

A mortgage at its inception was simple mortgage deed for a sum of Rs. 82,000 repayable at the end of five years. During that term interest at 9½ anwas per cent, per mensem was to run with six monthly rests. It was stipulated in the first clause that if the interest be not paid on due date it would be added to the principal and interest at the above rate would run on the total amount of principal and interest. The second clause gave the mortgagor power to redeem the mortgaged property on payment of the entire principal, interest and compound interest after five years in the fallow season. The third clause gave the mortgagee option to take possession of the mortgaged property in lieu of principal amount for a period of 12 years from the date of entering into possession in default of payment of four consecutive instalments of interest or on the property not being redeemed at the end of five years, or to permit interest to run on the principal at the compound rate. Under the fifth clause the mortgagor declared that he will have no right of redemption during the period of 12 years if the mortgagee took possession. Interest was not paid on the stipulated dates and the principal also fell due. The mortgagee thereupon sued for possession of the mortgaged property and obtained a decree. Before the expiry of 12 years from the taking of possession by the mortgagee, the mortgagor brought a suit for redemption which was dismissed by the courts in India, but decreed by the Privy Council. In due course a preliminary and final decree for redemption were subsequently passed. The mortgagee appealed against both the decrees and claimed more interest than was allowed by the Court below. Held that under the terms of mortgage, the mortgagee was not entitled to any interest at all. The profits of the property were to be appropriated not only towards the interest on Rs. 82,000 the original principal amount but on the whole amount of principal and interest due at the time when the mortgagee took possession. (Dalal, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) RAJA SETH SWAMI DAYAL v. RAJA MAHOMED SHER KHAN. 11 O. L. J. 148.

—Construction—Mortgage with possession and lease back—Part of the same transaction. See C. P. CODE, O. 34, R. 14. 47 M.L.J. 798.

—Construction—Personal liability of executant—Fiduciary capacity, when presumed.

Where there is nothing in a mortgage deed to show that the mortgagor is acting in a fiduciary capacity, viz. as guardian of an adopted son, and the evidence in the case showed the mortgagor throughout ignored the adoption and the mortgagee was a near relation who must have known all the facts, there is no warrant for drawing the presumption that the mortgagor acted otherwise than in his personal capacity. In each case the language of the document and the circumstances in which it was executed have to be considered. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) AMMAKANNU AYI v. MURUGAYYA ODAYAR. 47 Mad. 850.

MORTGAGE.

(1924) M. W. N. 623 : 1924 Mad. 716 : 20 L. W. 207 : 47 M. L. J. 85.

—Construction—Right to redeem—Interest—If payable before redemption. 1924 P 302.

—Construction—Suit for sale—Difficulty in obtaining possession.

Under a usufructuary mortgage, the mortgagee was entitled to sue for sale in case there was any "filur" in obtaining possession. Held, that he was entitled to sue for sale if there was difficulty in obtaining possession. (Dalal, J.) SHEO KUMAR PANDEY v. BABU NANDAN DUBE.

L. R. 5 A. 431 : 1924 A. 928.

—Creation of—Foreclosure—Agreement with mortgagor to allow redemption in 4 years—Effect.

A foreclosure decree having been passed, and money not being paid in time, the mortgagee sued for possession as owner. The suit was compromised and possession was given to the mortgagee but the mortgagor could if he paid a certain sum in 4 years get back the property. Held, this did not amount to the creation of a new mortgage and the mortgagor could not claim to redeem the lands after the expiry of 4 years. The old mortgage had ceased to exist and the mortgagee had become a full owner. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) KOKAN v. SOHAN. 1924 Lah 696.

—Crops to be grown—Effect—Bona fide purchaser—Rights of.

A mortgage of a future crop, neither sown nor cultivated at the time, is recognised and enforced in India as an executory agreement binding on the parties to the transaction. The transaction is not governed by the T. P. Act or the Contract Act in so far as it is neither a mortgage of immoveable property nor a pledge of existing moveable property. It is in the nature of an agreement to mortgage immoveable property that may come into existence in future and as such it creates an equitable charge which is valid and enforceable. But a bona fide purchaser of such property without notice of the prior charge is not liable for the money due under such a charge. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) RAM SARUP v. LALA MOHAN LAL.

1924 A. 833.

—Decree—Execution—Limitation.

1924 Cal. 181.

—Decree—Construction—Form immaterial—Decree directing execution by sale of mortgaged property.

Where the Court in a suit on a mortgage ordered that a decree be granted ex parte against the defendants and further added that the decree could be executed by sale of the villages hypothecated.

Held, that the decree must be regarded as a mortgage decree, notwithstanding the fact that it was incorrect in form and the property had been attached and list of subsequent usufructuary mortgages had been entered in the sale statement. 26 C. 166, 22 I. C. 293; 107 C. 975; & 22 A. 401 Ref. (Kendall and Pullan, A. J. Cs.) MT. RAJ KUNWARI v. MT. RAVI MAHRAJ KUNWAR.

MORTGAGE.

82 I. C. 832 : 1 O. W. N. 710.

—Decree — Nature of—Specific performance.

A mortgage decree is practically a decree for specific performance of the contract between the mortgagor and mortgagee. (Das and Ross, JJ.) ABDUL HADI v. MT. KABULTUNISSA.

80 I. C. 901 : 1925 P. 139.

—Decree for sale—Power of Court to direct conditions as to order of sales.

It is not open to a Court when passing a decree on a mortgage to direct the mortgagee to proceed against certain items in the first instance, in the absence of circumstances justifying that course. (Devadoss and Madhavan Nair, JJ.) ANANJAPERUMAL KONAR v. PICHAMUTHU NADAR.

20 L. W. 968 : 47 M. L. J. 910.

—Final decree in — Application for—Limitation—C. P. Code, S. 105—Ex parte decree—Propriety of—If and when can be questioned in appeal from final decree in suit—Mortgage suit—Ex parte decrees preliminary and final in—Order setting aside final decree while retaining preliminary decree—Propriety of—If can be questioned in appeal from final decree.

An application for a final decree in a mortgage suit is a proceeding in the suit and not in execution. Only one such application is permissible, and it must be put in within three years of the preliminary decree. An order setting aside the ex parte final decree in a mortgage while retaining the ex parte preliminary decree therein is an order "affecting the decision of the case" within the meaning of S. 105, Civil Procedure Code. The propriety of such an order can be challenged in appeal against the decree finally passed in the suit. (Wallace and Jackson, JJ.) ATHAMSA ROWTHER v. GANESAN.

20 L. W. 954 :

1924 Mad. 890 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 13 :

(1924) M. W. N. 884 : 47 M. L. J. 641.

—If can be created by an award out of Court.

An award though unattested and unregistered, can create a legal and valid mortgage. (Kennedy, J. C. and Madgavakar, A. J. C.) HOTCHAND BAL CHAND v. KISHEN CHAND.

1924 S. 23; 83 I. C. 548 (2) : 17 S. L. R. 178.

—Interest—Charge on property in respect of—Rule—Exception.

The general rule is that the mortgagee in the absence of any contract to the contrary is entitled to treat the interest due under the mortgage as a charge on the estate, and it is most important that this general rule should not be shaken in any particular. Held, that there was nothing in the mortgage deeds in question, in the case which served to displace the general rule. (Lord Dunedin) GANGA RAM v. NATHA SINGH.

MORTGAGE.

22 A. L. J. 688 : 20 L. W. 101 :

26 Bom. L. R. 750 : L. R. 5 P. C. 133 :

(1924) M. W. N. 599 : 35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 141 :

6 Pat. L. T. 97 : 2 Pat. L. R. 257 :

5 Lah. 425 : 80 I. C. 820 : 11 O. L. J. 534 :

O. W. N. 469 : 51 I. A. 377 :

47 M. L. J. 64.

—Interest—Dandapat—Dispossession of mortgagee by mortgagor—Effect of.

In the case of a usufructuary mortgage where a mortgagee is in possession of the mortgaged property either in lieu of interest entirely or on the terms that he must render an account of rent and profits against interest, the rule of Dandapat would apply. But when the terms of the mortgage have been departed from, and the mortgagors have deprived the mortgagees of possession, then it is clear that that principle can no longer be considered as binding as the relationship of the parties had changed and the mortgagor must pay interest. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) NILKANTH BALVANT v. STRIVIDYA SHANKAR.

26 Bom. L. R. 455 : 80 I. C. 398 : 1924 Bom. 387.

—Interest—Liability to pay after period fixed for redemption. 77 I. C. 122.

—Interest—Post-diem—Presumption.

Even though a mortgage deed does not provide for the payment of interest after the date fixed for repayment of the principal money, still the ordinary presumption is that where money is lent interest would be charged all along till the repayment though the term fixed has expired. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) BENAIR RAO v. PUTTAIN SINGH.

1924 A. 929 : 79 I. C. 69 :

L. R. 5. A. 335.

—Interest—Right to, whether a charge on property—Rights of mortgagee.

In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the mortgagee is entitled in a settlement of his accounts with his mortgagor to treat the interest due under the mortgage as charge on the estate and the mortgagee is entitled to all interest due under the mortgage within twelve years before the date of suit. (Moti Sagar, J.) BANWARI LAL v. KALLUKHAN.

6 Lah. L. J. 331 :

82 I. C. 622 : 1925 Lah. 113, (2).

—Minors—When binding on.

When the mortgagors never purported to act on behalf of certain minors and in fact even ignored the existence of the minors or their rights in the properties, the mortgage is not binding on them. (Mukerjee and Dalal, JJ.) LAUMAN v. KALKA PRASAD.

81 I. C. 1041 : L. R. 5 A. 729.

—Moveables—Sale of hypotheca by owner—Purchase of similar articles—Mortgagee's lien if attaches to new article.

The owner of two bulls hypothecated them to another retaining possession with himself. He subsequently sold the bulls and with sale proceeds purchased two new bulls a few days after. When a creditor tried to attach these bulls, the mortgagee claimed that his hypothecation right extended to the substituted bulls. Held, the right of a hypothecatee of chattels does not attach itself to goods or chattels purchased with the sale proceeds of chattels or goods mortgaged, unless there is a contract that he should have a right against the substituted articles. 5 M. 330 followed. (1914) A. C. 398 referred to. The right of a mortgagee of immoveable property distinguished. (Devadoss, J.) KANDASAMI CHETTI v. ADIMOOLA CHETTI.

MORTGAGE.

1925 Mad. 275 : 47 M. L. J. 704.

— — — — — Moveables to come into existence later—Validity—Transferee with notice—Rights of.

A mortgage of moveables not in existence at the time of the contract is not invalid and can be enforced against a transferee who purchased it with notice of the same. (Sulaiman, J.) JUGAL KISHORE v. RAM NARAIN.

1923 A. 199.

— — — — — Moveables—Title conferred.

There can be in law a mortgage or hypothecation of moveables; such mortgage or hypothecation not accompanied by possession confers a good title upon the person in whose favour it is made and law recognises the transaction as security and equity gives effect to it. (Mukerjee, J.) JATINDRA CHANDRA CHOUDHURY v. RANGPOOR TOBACCO COY.

1924 Cal. 990.

— — — — — Payment of prior mortgage—Partnership—Effect.

75 I. C. 287.

— — — — — Prior and puisne mortgagee—Decree on mortgage—Subsequent suit for maintenance and declaration of charge—Decree subject to rights of prior mortgagee—Sale in execution of mortgage decree—Rights of purchaser—Lis pendens.

Where a first mortgagee sues on his mortgage without making the second mortgagee a party, brings the property to sale and purchases it, in execution, the right of the second mortgagee to redeem the first mortgage is not extinguished by the proceedings in such a suit to which he was not a party. 21 M. L. J. 213 (F. B.) ref. to.

But this rule cannot apply where the so-called second mortgage did not exist either at the time of suit or decree or even at the time of the sale in execution of the decree on the mortgage.

The doctrine of Lis pendens affects private alienations as well as execution sales of property in respect of which a charge is claimed in a suit for maintenance by a Hindu widow. 14 M. 491 ; 29 M. 508; 16 M. L. J. 413 relied on.

The respondent's predecessor in title obtained a decree for sale on a mortgage. Subsequently a Hindu widow sued for her maintenance and claimed a charge on the properties mortgaged, impleading the mortgage-decree holder as a party. A decree was passed for maintenance which was made a charge on the interests of the mortgagor in the properties, subject to the lien claimed by the mortgage-decree holder. Pending the suit for maintenance the mortgage-decree holder brought the properties to sale in execution and purchased them himself. The properties were then conveyed to the respondent. Later on, in execution of the decree for maintenance the properties were sold and purchased by the appellant. On a question arising as to the rights of the parties with reference to the properties sold in execution, held that the respondent had acquired a valid title to the properties. (Schwabe, C. J., Coutts-Trotter and Ramesam, JJ.) VENKATRAMA AIYAR v. RANGIAN CHETTY.

MORTGAGE.

19 L. W. 381 :

(1924) M. W. N. 344 :

1924 Mad. 449: 34 M. L. J. (H. C.) 345 :

77 I. C. 504 : 46 M. L. J. 258.

— — — — — Prior and subsequent—Failure to bleed prior mortgage—Effect—Difference between case of mortgagor and puisne mortgagee.

The principle of law that a prior mortgagee who though impleaded in a suit by a subsequent mortgagee fails to set up his priority is thereafter precluded from claiming priority against the puisne mortgagee or person who purchases in execution of that decree has no application as against the mortgagor or a person who has purchased the equity of redemption. The principle of the distinction explained. (Daniels, J.) KUNDAN LAL v. JAGAT RAM.

1924 A. 927.

— — — — — Prior and subsequent—Failure to redeem prior mortgage—Rights of mortgagor—Equity—Covenants how far binding.

The principle of equity that where upon a sale by the first mortgagee the property is bought by the mortgagor himself, he acquires the estate only subject to the claims of the second mortgagee is inapplicable to a case where the subsequent mortgagee takes his mortgage with full knowledge of the liabilities and risks created under the first mortgage and actually undertakes to free the property from the mortgage but still fails to carry out the obligations incurred by him. In such a case to allow the subsequent mortgagee to enforce his mortgage in full against the interest purchased would be to allow him to profit by his own laches and put a premium on default. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) AMARCHAND v. SARDAR SINGH.

82 I. C. 190 : 1925 Nag. 90.

— — — — — Prior and subsequent—Foreclosure decree obtained by puisne mortgagee—Effect—Prior mortgagee obtaining decree against mortgagor—Position of.

A puisne mortgagee in possession obtained a foreclosure decree and thereafter a prior mortgagee obtained a decree on his mortgage and had the properties sold. Held the purchaser did not obtain anything, as at the time of the prior mortgagee's suit, the mortgagor's rights had been lost as a result of the foreclosure proceedings. (Baker, O. J. C.) MULCHAND v. BABULAL.

1924 Nag. 210.

— — — — — Prior and subsequent—Prior mortgagee and subsequent mortgagee—Suit on both mortgages—Prior mortgagee failing to set up priority—Effect of—If debarred from suing on his own mortgage. See C. P. CODE, S. 11, Expl. IV.

80 I. C. 389.

— — — — — Prior and subsequent—Puisne mortgagee's suit—Purchaser at execution sale—Rights of parties.

The mortgagor created two mortgages one after the other and later sold a portion of the property to the first mortgagee, at the same time keeping alive that mortgage. The puisne mortgagee obtained a decree on his mortgage and in execution thereof the property was purchased by the plaintiff. In a suit by the plaintiff purchaser for possession against the prior mortgagee. Held the prior mortgage could not resist the suit for possession but was entitled to redeem the property. (Jwala Prasad and Ross, JJ.) BIRINCHI SINGH v. SARODA PRASAD MUKHERJI. 3 Pat. 114: 5 Pat. L. T. 95: 75 I. C. 942: 1924 P. 452.

MORTGAGE.

—Prior and subsequent—Rights of parties.

A subsequent mortgagee with notice of the prior mortgage cannot resist a suit by the latter on the ground the condition in his mortgage operates as a clog on the equity of redemption. (Abdul Raouf, J.) RAHMAT ALI v. SHADI RAM. 75 I. C. 877: 1925 Lah. 45.

—Prior and subsequent—Suit by prior mortgagee without impleading puisne mortgagee—Execution sale—Purchase by decree-holder—Subsequent suit by puisne mortgagee impleading prior mortgagee—Decree—Sale in execution—Rights of purchasers. See C. P. CODE, O. 34, R. 1. 5 Pat. L. T. 103.

—Prior and subsequent—Tenancy rent-free created by prior mortgagee in favour of mortgagor—Redemption by second mortgagee—Tenancy rights—Effect on.

Where a prior mortgagee in possession creates a rent-free tenancy in favour of the mortgagor and is himself redeemed by the subsequent mortgagee, the latter cannot claim cultivating possession from the mortgagor as if the tenant's right has become non-existent. All that he can claim is a declaration that he is not bound by the special contract exempting the mortgagor tenant from liability to pay rent. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) AMARCHAND v. SARDAR SINGH. 82 I. C. 190: 1925 Nag. 90.

—Redemption—Period fixed for redemption—Limitation.

Where a mortgage deed has fixed a period for redeeming, the mortgagee cannot foreclose before it expires, and limitation will run only from the date of expiry of the period fixed. (Baker, J. C.) HARBHAGAT v. NARAYAN RAO. 78 I. C. 338.

—Redemption—Proof of mortgage—Admission of defendant—Effect of.

Where a plaintiff in a suit on a mortgage fails to prove the mortgage on which he relies and which he alleges in his plaint, he cannot succeed, upon the mere fact that the defendant admits that he is the mortgagee of the land. (Neave, A. J. C.) JAGJIWAN SINGH v. GAJRAJ SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 298: 80 I. C. 543: 1 O. W. 130.

—Redemption—Construction of deed—Arrears from tenants—Premia occupancy tenants. 46 A. 115: L. R. 5 A. 1: 79 I. C. 314: 10 O. & A. L. R. 97: 1924 A. 153.

—Redemption—Deed of further charge—Construction—Personal covenant—Transferee of mortgage, whether bound.

A deed styled as famasuk zarii mazid and giving no details of the property but a mere reference to the original mortgage cannot be regarded as a deed of further charge. It creates only a personal covenant against the mortgagor and does not involve his transferee in any liability (p. 681). 17 O. C. 303, Foll. 2 O. L. J. 601, 6 O. L. J. 147, 25 O. C. 135, 8 O. C. 227 dist. 9 O. L. J. 434 and 9 B. 233 ref. to. (Neave, A. J. C.) KANDHIYA BAKHS

MORTGAGE.

PANDE v. RAM CHARITAR. 1 O. W. N. 678: 10 O. & A. L. R. 1065.

—Redemption—Right to—Occupancy holding—Lessee. 76 I. C. 862.

—Redemption—Satisfaction of the mortgage—Whether mortgagor entitled to interest on the surplus money with the mortgagee, T. P. Act, Ss. 72 and 76.

Where there is no stipulation as to payment of interest on the surplus mortgage money, a mortgagor who sues for redemption is not entitled to any interest on the surplus that is found with the mortgagee after the satisfaction of his mortgage. Further Ss. 76 and 77 of the T. P. Act make no mention of payment of interest by the mortgagee, in connection with the surplus usufruct. But the mortgagor will be entitled to interest on the surplus mortgage money from the date of the institution of the suit. (Janoji v. Janoji, 7 B 185, Lake v. Bell, 34 Ch. 462, foll. (Mookerjee and Dalal, JJ.) ISMAIL HASAN v. SYED MEHDI HASAN AND OTHERS. 22 A.L.J. 833: 80 I. C. 63: L. R. 5 All. 625 (Civil): 1924 A. 881.) —Redemption of usufructuary mortgage—Defence of sale to the mortgagee without registered conveyance—Whether other evidence as to sale admissible—Intention of the mortgagor to extinguish the mortgage.

In a suit for redemption by the mortgagor, the mortgagee in possession pleaded a subsequent sale by the mortgagor, and that the latter is debarred from right to redeem, and it was contended, by the plaintiff that the sale is invalid (1) on account of absence of registered conveyance, Held, that there was a transaction which can be treated as an agreement to sell the land, and omission to execute a registered conveyance cannot disturb the title, and possession of the respondents and, where there was no evidence that the vendor refused more than three years prior to suit, to give a conveyance, and even if time for specific performance had elapsed, the same equities would apply. (Venkateswar Damodar v. Bhimappa, 46 Bom. 722 Foll. (Duckworth, J.) MA MA E v. MAUNG TON. 2 Rang. 479: 3 Bur. L. J. 214: 1925 Rang. 119.) —Redemption—Transferee from mortgagor—Claim for interest barred—Liability to pay.

The transferee from a mortgagor is not bound at the time of redemption to pay a claim for interest which has become barred by limitation. In the case of a usufructuary mortgage, no claim for interest will arise as the enjoyment of profits takes the place of interest. (Madhavan Nair, J.) MANJUNATH SHANBHAGA v. SAMAYYA. (1924) M. W. N. 776: 1924 Mad. 852.

—Sale by auction of mortgaged property—Extinction of previous mortgage—Repurchase from the auction-purchaser by the mortgagor's representative-in-interest—Revival of extinguished rights.

When the mortgaged property passes by the auction sale into the hands of a stranger, the sale extinguishes the previous mortgages, and if the property is subsequently repurchased by the mortgagor's representative-in-interest, the rights extinguished by the auction-purchaser do not come back into existence.

MORTGAGE.

Otter v. Lord Vaux, 2 K & J. 650, 23 C. 397, 25 A. 371, 29 M. 113 dist. 11 C.W.N. 284 referred to. (Wazir Hasan and Pullan, A. J. Cs.) MT. CHANDRA KUNWAR v. SHEO DAYAL.

1 O. W. N. 372 : 11 O. L. J. 707.

—Sub-mortgage—Rights of—Redemption by mortgagor—Effect of.

Where a mortgagor has notice of a sub-mortgage, the mortgagee in possession is entitled to keep his possession until redeemed. Redemption of the mortgage alone would not enable the mortgagor to recover possession when he had notice of the sub-mortgage. (Duckworth and Godfrey, JJ.) MA MYAT GVI v. MA MA NYAN.

2 Rang. 561: 1925 Rang. 140 (2.)

—Subrogation—Assignment of security if necessary. 1924 Oudh 85.

—Subrogation—Mortgage prior—Decree on—Sale in execution—Puisne mortgagee's payment to avert—Subrogation to prior mortgagee's rights—Puisne mortgagee's right to—Nature and extent of rights acquired by subrogation—Prior mortgage as mortgage charge or as decree charge—Limitation to enforce right—Suit or execution proceedings—Appropriate procedure to enforce right of subrogation in such case—Decree of prior mortgagee satisfied by puisne mortgagee's payment—Effect.

The manager of a joint Hindu family of which defendants 2 and 3 and the husband of the 5th defendant were the other members mortgaged plaintiff item (1) to S. and subsequently assigned his half share in the plaintiff items to the 1st defendant, the wife of the 2nd defendant. The son of S sued on the mortgage to S. obtained a decree, and brought the property to sale in execution. The sale was held, but before confirmation, the 1st defendant raised money from plaintiff on a hypothecation bond, the plaintiff undertaking to pay up the sale amount and release the property. The plaintiff did so and the decree was thereby satisfied. In a subsequent suit for partition brought by the 3rd defendant, to which the 1st defendant was made a party, but not the plaintiff, the assignment by the manager to the 1st defendant was, however, held to be a sham. The plaintiff subsequently sued to recover her loan with interest by the sale of the mortgaged property or by a charge on item (1).

Held, that the plaintiff, as a puisne mortgagee, was interested in paying off the prior mortgagee, and was by such payment, subrogated to the charge which she had paid off, that by such payment the plaintiff was to be subrogated not merely to the prior mortgage in its original form as a mortgage charge, but to the decree charge held by the prior mortgagee, i. e., the right to hold the property to sale to discharge the decree debt, that right being free of any restriction it would be worked out within the period of limitation for the original mortgage; and that, as the prior mortgagee's decree had been satisfied, and was therefore unenforceable, the plaintiff was entitled to enforce his lien by way of suit. (Wallace, J.) PARVATI AMMAL v. VENKATARAMA AIYAR

20 L. W. 278 : (1924) M. W. N. 510:

1925 Mad. 80 : 81 I. C. 771 : 47 M. L. J. 316.

MORTGAGE.

—Subrogation—Payment purchaser or puisne mortgagee—Presumption—Order absolute for sale—T. P. Act, S. 89—Effect of.

The rule of subrogation is founded on equitable principles and if a subsequent mortgagee or purchaser is subrogated to the rights of the prior mortgagee, whose debts he discharged, a co-mortgagor is equally subrogated. The benefit of subrogation may be claimed by any person who redeems a mortgage on an estate in which he is only partly interested. The question whether a person paying off a prior mortgage is entitled to the benefit of that charge as against other persons depends upon the intention of the party paying off the charge. If there is no express evidence of intention, the ordinary rule is, that a man having a right to act in either of two ways, shall be deemed to have acted according to his interests. A claim to subrogation can be sustained when there is an agreement with the debtor that the lender shall be subrogated to the rights of the mortgagees. Such an agreement may be expressed or may be presumed from the circumstances of the case. The question is whether the new lender was lending money on the personal security of the borrower or on the understanding that he would be substituted in the place of the former mortgagee. Where an order absolute for sale had been made under S. 89 of the T. P. Act, it has the effect of substituting the right of sale thereby conferred upon the mortgagee for his rights under the mortgage which are extinguished. Consequently where the payments are made after the making of an order absolute for sale the person making the payment is not entitled to subrogation. (Dalal and Simpson, JJ.) LOOTAR RAM v. LAL RANJIT SINGH. 11 O. L. J. 381.

—Subrogation—Right—Payment of incumbrances—Void mortgage.

The doctrine of subrogation is not applied for the mere stranger or volunteer, who has paid the debt of another, without any assignment or agreement for subrogation he being under no legal obligation to make the payment, and not being compelled to do so for the preservation of any rights or properties of his own. Any one who is under no legal obligation or liability to pay the debt is a stranger and if he pays the debt, he is a mere volunteer. (Dalal, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) AKBAR HUSAIN v. SHAHANSHAH BEGAM.

27 O. C. 56 : 11 O. L. J. 82 : 1924 Oudh 302

—Subrogation—Whether 3rd mortgagee has priority over the 2nd mortgagee.

In a suit by the 1st mortgagee, without impleading the 2nd mortgagee as a party, and in order to satisfy the decree debt, a third mortgage was executed by the mortgagor, and in a suit by 3rd mortgagee against the mortgagor and puisne mortgagee. Held (1) that the 3rd mortgagee is entitled to priority over the 2nd mortgagee and that a person who advances money for the purpose of getting a mortgage and bears the consideration for the mortgage of a prior encumbrancer is not a volunteer, and is entitled to get the benefit of subrogation. Butler v. Rice 2 Ch. 277 foll. 7 Pat. 332 followed. (Devadoss, J.) AVUDAI AMMAL v. CHINNA RAMASWAMI NAICK.

20 L. W. 651 :

35 M. L. T. 112 (H. C.) : 82 I. C. 849 :

1925 Mad. 129.

MORTGAGE.

—Substituted security—Award—Partition—Remedies of mortgagee.

If a number of co-sharers own undivided shares in a number of villages constituting an estate and one of such co-sharers mortgages shares in some of the villages only and as a result of a subsequent partition the villages are redistributed, it is just and equitable that the charge should attach to that fraction of the share allowed to the mortgagor which represents the share mortgaged by him originally. The charge cannot be allowed to be enforced against the whole of the property allotted to the mortgagor as part of it obviously represents that interest of his which was unencumbered. This principle is in consonance with the principles of justice, equity and good conscience. The true way to find out the substituted security is by determining the ratio which the value of the shares owned by the mortgagor in the mortgaged properties at the time of the partition bore to the mortgagor's actual share in the entire family property. This would at once give what fractional share of his interest in the entire estate he had mortgaged. Where there has been no subsequent increase by subsequent inheritance or other acquisition, the substituted equivalent of the mortgaged share will obviously be the very fraction out of the properties allotted to the mortgagor as representing his entire interest at the time of the partition. Where the evidence to show the actual values of the various properties is meagre, the Government revenues assessed on the various village properties may be assumed to bear the right proportion of their respective values. (Sulainan, Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) SHEO PRAKASH v. ALA-UD-DIN.
L. R. 5 All 441.

—Substituted security—Doctrine of when applicable. MT. AFTAB BEGAM v. MAHOMED AYUB.
1924 A. 65.

—Suit for possession of portion of property—Maintainability.

There is nothing in law to prevent a mortgagee from suing for a portion only of the mortgaged property if he thinks it is sufficient security. (Abdul Raof and Abdul Kadir, JJ.) RAGHO v. DWARKA DAS.
1924 Lah. 738.

—Suit for balance of mortgage amount—Maintainability—Implied contract.

A mortgagor can maintain a suit for the recovery of unpaid mortgage amount, as there is an implied contract to pay the whole and a suit can be based on such implied contract. (Martineau, J.) IMAM DIN v. DITTU.
73 I. C. 445 (1).

—Suit—Preliminary decree—Addition of parties thereafter. See C. P. CODE, O. 1, R. 10,
46 M. L. J. 368.

—Undivided share—Subsequent partition—Rights of mortgagee.

Where a mortgagee of a particular property from one of two co-sharers purchases that property in execution of a decree against the mortgagor and it is subsequently found that at a partition prior to the suit of the mortgagee, the property had been allotted to the share of the other co-sharer of the mortgagor the rights of the mortgagee purchaser cannot prevail as against those of the co-sharer who had obtained the property at the partition. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) NARAIN v. RAM SARAN DAS. 22 A. L. J. 853 :

MYSORE C. P. C. REGULATION, S. 2.

L. R. 5 A. 751 : 1924 A. 871.

MORTGAGOR AND MORTGAGEE—Equity of redemption—Compensation for land acquisition—Appropriation by mortgagee towards the unsecured debts of the mortgagor—Rights of purchaser of the equity of redemption.

77 I. C. 26.

—Rights of mortgagee—Foreclosure of a portion of the mortgaged property—Effect of—Right against other items of the hypotheca.

Where a person holding two mortgages has foreclosed some of the mortgaged items under a prior mortgage, he is entitled to throw the entire burden of the other mortgage on the remaining items. A representative of the mortgagor cannot object to his doing so, as he is not entitled to contribution in any event. (Lindsay and Sulainan, JJ.) BENAIK RAO v. PUTTAIN SINGH.
L. R. 5 A. 335 : 79 I. C. 69 : 1924 A. 929.

—Right to proceed against properties—Duty of Court. NARAYANASWAMI CHETTY v. VELLAYA PILLAI.
1924 Mad 366.

—Sale of property by mortgagor—Privy of contract. MT. CHET KAUR v. GURMUKH SINGH.
75 I. C. 940.

—Suit for redemption—Dispute of title.

In a redemption suit it is not open to the mortgagee to dispute the title of the mortgagor, (Raymond and Madgavkar, A. J. Cs.) MAHOMED MOOSA v. KAZI FATEHULLAH.
79 I. C. 466 : 1925 Sind 167.

MOTOR VEHICLES ACT (VIII OF 1914), S. 11—Rules framed under—Part II, R. 16—Motor lorry—Driven at excessive speed—Liability of owner who was not present and who had prohibited such driving.

Petitioner, the owner of a motor lorry, was prosecuted on the ground that he allowed the driver of the motor lorry to drive it at an excessive speed and thereby committed an offence under Part II, R. 16 of the Rules regulating the use of motor vehicles in Calcutta framed under S. 11 of Act VIII of 1914, the Indian Motor Vehicles Act. The petitioner was not in the lorry at the time of the alleged offence and had cautioned the driver not to exceed the regulation speed and to drive with due care and caution. Held, that the driver and not the owner, was liable under R. 16 inasmuch as the former alone contravened the prohibition against driving at a greater speed than that prescribed by the Rule. The owner of the lorry cannot, in the circumstances, be said to have "caused or permitted" the lorry to be driven in contravention of the Rule. (Greaves and Duvall, JJ.) VARAJ LAL v. EMPEROR.
51 Cal. 943 : 28 C. W. N. 854 : 82 I. C. 137 :
25 Cr. L. J. 1209 : 1924 Cal. 985.

MYSORE CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE REGULATION (III of 1911), S. 2 (2)—Decree—Appeal dismissed as being out of time.

MYSORE C. P. C. REGULATION, S. 47.

Where the lower appellate Court dismisses an appeal as time-barred, its order is a decree and is appealable as such. (Subbanna and Ramaswami Aiyangar, JJ.) AYYANNA v. BASAVALINGIAH.

2 Mys. L. J. 211

—Ss. 47 and 151—Execution sale—Sale proclamation irregular—Application to set aside sale.

If the Court makes a mistake in execution proceedings and issues a sale certificate although the sale has not been confirmed, it has inherent jurisdiction to have the mistake rectified even though the person aggrieved by the mistake may have a remedy by suit. Where a sale which is liable to be impeached is confirmed and followed by delivery of possession the party aggrieved by that sale is entitled to apply under S. 47, C.P. Code, to have that sale set aside. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) RANGE GOWDA v. KEMPANMA.

2 Mys. L. J. 146.

—S. 47 and O. 21, R. 90—Execution sale—Application to set aside—Remedy by suit when available.

Where an execution sale is held and confirmed it is not open to the judgment-debtor to sue to set it aside on the ground that the decree-holder who purchased at the execution sale, had not obtained leave to bid and on the ground that the sale proclamation had not been duly published. The remedy of the judgment-debtor was by way of an application under S. 47, C.P. Code. (Subbanna and Ramaswami Aiyangar, JJ.) SIDDAPPA v. GANGAMMA.

1 Mys. L. J. 157.

—S. 48—Execution of decree on mortgage—Twelve-years' limitation—Applicability of—Dismissal of application for default—Effect of.

The twelve-years' rule laid down in S. 48, C. P. Code, governs all applications presented after its enactment for the executions of mortgage decrees passed before the new Code came into force. The rule is one of limitation and hence of procedure and since there can be no vested right in procedure the rule has retrospective effect. Where a prior application for execution had been dismissed on the ground that it could not be proceeded with owing to the decree-holder's default in the payment of the process fees, it cannot save limitation under S. 48, C. P. Code. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) SRI CHAMARAJESWARA BANK, LTD. v. VENKATAKRISHNA IYENGAR, 2 Mys. L. J. 104.

—S. 115—Interlocutory order—Execution proceedings—Order refusing to grant time for objections and stay sale of properties—Objection by legal representative of surety.

The petitioner's father had been a surety for a decree debt. After his death, petitioner filed an application in execution proceedings for stay of sale pending an enquiry into his objections to the execution after obtaining a copy of his father's surety bond. No notice of the execution had been served on the petitioner and he had been merely called upon to produce the title-deeds of the properties after their attachment. They refused to adjourn the sale. On revision, held, that the order of the lower Court denied to the petitioner an opportunity to know the extent of his liability and the order directing the sale was liable to be set aside in revision. (Subbanna, J.) ADAVIAPPA v. SUBBA RAO.

MYSORE C. P. C. REGULATION, O. 9, R. 13.

2 Mys. L. J. 231.

—S. 115—Revision—Order of refusal to review judgment.

The Chief Court has power to interfere in revision with an order of the lower Court refusing to review its judgment if sufficient reasons are shown. If the revision petition involves merely a consideration of the question as to the correctness or otherwise of the exercise of discretion by the lower Court, the Chief Court will not interfere. But where the lower Court declines to interfere on a misapprehension of the main points in the case, the Chief Court may interfere in revision. (Ramaswami Aiyangar, J.) VENKATESAN v. DEVOJEE RAO.

2 Mys. L. J. 212.

—S. 148—Decree—Extension of time allowed—Not permissible.

S. 148 of the Mysore C. P. Code Regn. has reference to any period fixed or granted by the Court for the doing of any act prescribed or allowed by the C. P. Code and it is scarcely possible to construe this as applying to a case where the period is fixed in a decree for paying some money, 39 M. 176; 35 A. 582; 40 A. 579, Rel. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) RAGHAVENDRA DASS v. CHALUVIAH.

2 Mys. L. J. 75.

—O. 6, R. 17—Amendment of plaint—Powers of Court—New Code.

The new C. P. Code confers on the Court wider powers as regards allowing amendments than the old Code. Plaintiff, a widow, brought a suit for cancellation of a sale-deed executed by her husband in favour of the defendants on the ground of its having been brought about by misrepresentation. The vendee had been directed to pay a certain sum for the maintenance of the widow under the sale. The plaintiff subsequently applied for amendment of the plaint by claiming a right of maintenance and residence as against the properties in the hands of the vendee. Held, that the amendment was properly allowed. (Plumer, O. C. J. and Subbanna, J.) LACHIAH CHETTY v. ERAMMA.

2 Mys. L. J. 205.

—O. 6, R. 17—Pleadings—Amendment—Power of Court—Subsequent events.

Courts can take cognizance of events that transpired since the institution of the suit and the plaintiff could be allowed to amend his plaint so as to avoid the necessity of a fresh suit. (Subbanna, J.) VEERABHADRA SETTY v. SIDDAMMA.

2 Mys. L. J. 217.

—O. 9, R. 13 and O. 37—Ex parte decree—Suit filed under the summary procedure—Setting aside ex parte decree—Appeal against decree. 3

A decree ex parte for the purpose of O. 9, R. 13, C. P. Code is one passed in a suit where the defendant is expected to appear and has every right to appear, and it may be set aside under R. 13 if he satisfies the Court that the summons was not duly served on him or that he was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing. But under the summary procedure in O. 37, C. P. Code, defendant is debarred from appearing and defending till he obtains leave to do so, and where he does not obtain such leave, the decree passed is not an ex parte one. The defendant could no doubt have proceeded under O. 37, R. 4 to have the decree set aside by making out the existence of special circumstances, but not on the basis of its being an ex parte decree, and if the order on an application under that rule is adverse to him, he has no right of appeal from it. He can no doubt appeal from the decree itself upon grounds affecting the correctness or validity of the decree. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) BASAVANNAPPA v. THE MYSORE INDUSTRIAL BANK, LTD. 2 Mys. L. J. 181.

MYSORE C. P. CODE REGN. (III OF 1911) O. 17
R. 2.

—O. 17, R. 2—Absence of plaintiff at adjourned date of hearing—Procedure.

Under O. 17, R. 2, C. P. Code, if the Court proceeds to "dispose of the suit" it must do so under the rules in O. 9 and in the case of the non-appearance of a plaintiff the rule applicable is O. 9, R. 8, C. P. Code. If the Court does not proceed to dispose of the suit the Court may pass such other order as it thinks fit and the words "such other order" do not entitle the Court to decide the suit on merits or in any other way. They entitle the Court to pass some such order as an adjournment which will not decide, or dispose of the suit. (Plumer, J.) ARUNACHALACHARI v. SUBBA RAO, 2 Mys. L. J. 115.

—O. 17, Rr. 2 and 3—Plaintiff absent at adjourned date—Evidence partially adduced—Defendant setting up a new case—Dismissal for default.

In a suit on a hypothecation bond defendant pleaded discharge the burden of proof of which was on him. The plaintiff had adduced most of his evidence after which the defendant set up a new case. Thereupon the Court adjourned the suit to a new date on which the plaintiff being absent the Court dismissed the suit for default. Held, that it was not an exercise of sound judicial discretion for the Court to dismiss the suit for default at that stage. He should either have decided the suit on the materials before it or adjourned to another date. (Subbanna, J.) FAKIRSA v. CHIEKA GOVINDAPPA. 2 Mys. L. J. 80.

—O. 17, R. 3—Dismissal of suit summarily—Evidence recorded in part—Plaintiff not absent—Procedure.

Where evidence had been partly taken in a suit and afterwards on the adjourned date the plaintiff did not take the necessary steps but was present in person himself the Court ought not to dismiss the suit summarily but should proceed to decide the suit under O. 17, R. 3, C. P. Code, on the merits. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) SIBI NARASIMHAH v. KEMPANNA. 2 Mys. L. J. 39.

—O. 21, R. 43 and O. 38, Rr. 7 and 8—Attachment before judgment of moveables—Claim—Allowed by Court—Compensation—Suit for—Limitation Act. Arts. 29, 36 and 39.

Y D 1924—56

MYSORE C. P. CODE REGN. (III OF 1911) O. 44,
R. 1.

Defendant improperly attached before judgment certain moveable property in plaintiff's shop. The plaintiff filed a claim petition which was allowed. In a subsequent suit by plaintiff for damages three years after the date of the attachment but within one year of the date of the decision on the claim petition. Held, that the suit was barred under Art. 29 of the Mysore Limitation Regulation which applied to the case. Even if Art. 36 or 49 applied the suit was still barred. The cause of action arose on the date of the seizure and the suit was barred by Art. 29 of the Regulation. The time taken up in deciding the claim case cannot be excluded merely because the plaintiff had claimed damages in his petition. The plaintiff's claim was wholly inadmissible and he could not be said to be prosecuting it in good faith and due diligence in a Court which from defect of jurisdiction or other like cause could not entertain it. (Subbanna and Ramaswami Aiyangar, JJ.) MAHOMED HUSSAIN KHAN v. SALAMCHAND. 2 Mys. L. J. 247.

—O. 21, R. 89—Deposit—Deficiency made good within 30 days—Payment outside Court to decree-holder.

Where a judgment debtor paid the major portion of the decree amount with 5 per cent in addition into Court with a view to set aside the sale under O. 21, R. 89, C. P. Code, and afterwards on discovering that by a mistake he had paid less than the amount due, he paid the balance to the decree-holder out of Court within 30 days of the sale, there is a substantial compliance with the provisions of O. 21, R. 89, C. P. Code, and the sale should be set aside. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) VENKATASWAMI NAIDU v. CHAYAPATHI RAO. 2 Mys. L. J. 31.

—O. 21, R. 90—Execution sale—Application to set aside—Right to apply.

The applicant, though one of the judgment debtors against whom the decree under execution (a hypothecation decree) had been passed, did not own the property which was sold in execution as belonging to another judgment debtor. Held, that the applicant had no locus standi to apply under O. 21, R. 90, C. P. Code, inasmuch as his interests were not affected by the sale. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) RANGAPPA v. SIVARAM. 2 Mys. L. J. 100.

—O. 32, R. 7—Decree—Assignment of by next friend—Leave of Court.

The provisions of O. 32, R. 7, C. P. Code (Mysore) do not form a bar to the recognition of the assignment of a decree effected by a next friend or guardian on behalf of the minor legal representative of a deceased decree-holder. The leave under O. 32, C. P. Code, is necessary but there is nothing to prohibit the Court from granting such leave at any stage. 63 I. C. 285; 62 I. C. 255, Ref. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) SHROFF VENKATAPPA v. BALAKRISHNA RAO. 2 Mys. L. J. 86.

—O. 44 R. 1—Leave to appeal in forma pauperis—Dismissal of—Court fee—Payment of—Increased Court-fee—Amending Act.

MYSORE C. P. CODE REGN. (III OF 1911), O. 47, R. 1.

An application to be allowed to appeal as a pauper, accompanied by a memorandum of appeal as required by O. 44, R. 1 was presented to the Court on 12-12-1922. The application was dismissed on 19-3-1923, but time was granted to the petitioner till 4-6-1923 for payment of the requisite Court fee. On that date a fixed fee of Rs. 137-8-0 was paid on the valuation of the subject-matter of the appeal calculated in accordance with the Court Fees Regn III of 1900. But that Regulation had in the meantime been amended by Regn. VII of 1922, the object of which was to enhance generally the scale of fees as prescribed in the Regulation of 1900 as and with effect from 1-2-1923. Held, that the Court fee payable on the memorandum of appeal was that fixed in the amending Regulation. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) BAPU KONERI RAO v. YAMUNABAI. 2 Mys. L. J. 150.

—O. 47, R. 1—Ex parte decree—Application for review—Maintainability of.

It is open to a party against whom an ex parte decree has been passed to apply for a review of the judgment under O. 47, R. 1, C. P. Code even though his primary remedy under O 9, R. 13 is barred by time. 7 M. C. C. R. 93; 3 M. C. C. R. 98; 6 A 66; 9 A. 61; 26 C. 588 Ref. (Plumer, O. C. J. and Subbanna, J.) SOWCAR MOHAMMAD KHASIM KHAN v. SHAKH BUDAN SABI.

2 Mys. L. J. 195.

MYSORE COMPANIES REGULATION (VIII OF 1917), Ss. 3 (3) AND 271—Winding up of a company—Objection to — Territorial jurisdiction—Company registered outside Mysore but having a branch in Madras.

A foreign company not registered under the Mysore Companies Regulation is an "unregistered company" for the purposes of that Regulation and as such amenable to the provisions contained in Part IX of the Regulation; and if the conditions necessary are fulfilled, it is capable of being wound up in the same way as an unregistered local company. A foreign company may be wound up under S. 271 of the Mysore Companies Regulation if it has a branch office and assets within the jurisdiction. Where the Company was under liquidation in British India and there was an official liquidator already appointed, the court in Mysore would recognise him for the purpose of S. 166 of the Mysore Regulation as representing the Company. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer JJ.) SYED RAHIM v. SAHAY.

2 Mys. L. J. 165.

MYSORE COURT FEES REGULATION (III OF 1900), S. 14—Applicability of—Cumulative and alternative reliefs—Court-fee payable—Larger relief.

S. 14 of the Mysore Court Fees Regulation applies only to a case of cumulative reliefs in the case of which the larger of the two reliefs sought ought to determine the court fees. The phrase "two or more distinct subjects" in the section may not admit of a precise definition applicable to all cases and reliefs claimed in the alternative with reference to the same cause of action may not come within the purview of the section, 30

MYSORE COURT FEES REGULATION (III OF 1900), Sch. II, Art 11 B.

M 61; 29 A. 155 Ref. (Plumer, O. C. J. and Subbanna, J.) LACHIAH CHETTY v. ERAMMA. 2 Mys. L. J. 205.

—S. 42—Decree without contest—Agreement of some of the parties—Refund of half the Court fee—Application after the period of Limitation.

A suit for the recovery of money was instituted against two defendants. It was at first decreed ex parte against the first defendant and against second defendant by admission. The first defendant got the ex parte decree passed against him set aside and denied liability in his statement. Before issues were framed the plaintiff and first defendant entered into an arrangement that for the whole of the debt and costs there should be a decree against both the defendants but that the first defendant should pay a certain portion of it with proportionate costs within a certain time and for the balance and costs thereon the plaintiff should proceed first against the second defendant and if that was not recovered from him the first defendant should be liable for that also. A decree was passed in accordance with that arrangement on 22-1-1923. On 27-8-1923 the first defendant's legal representative applied to the Court for directing a refund of half the institution fee to the decree-holder and amending the decree accordingly. By this time the Munsif who passed the decree was succeeded by another one and he passed an order on 26-11-1923 holding that the application was out of time not having been made within six months, yet directing an amendment of the Decree inserting only a half of the institution fee in the table of costs payable to the decree-holder. Held that the direction of the lower Court to amend the decree by inserting only half the institution fee was unsupportable and must be set aside. (Subbanna, J.) THE MYSORE INDUSTRIAL BANK, LTD v. LAKSHMINARASIMHA RAO. 2 Mys. L. J. 169.

—Sch. I, Art. 1—Appeal—Court-fee payable on.

Where the lower appellate Court dismisses an appeal presented to it as barred by time, an appeal from that order is one from a decree and Court-fee on the second appeal memorandum is ad velorem under Art. I, Sch. 1 of the Court Fees Regulation on the value of the reliefs claimed (Subbanna and Ramaswamy Iyengar JJ.) AYYANNA v. BASAVALINGIAH. 2 Mys. L. J. 211.

—Sch. II, Art. 11 B—Probate—Order in contested case—Appeal—Court fee payable.

The order passed by a District Judge in a contentions proceeding under S. 81 of the Mysore Probate Regulation is a decree as defined in the C. P. Code. As the order merely relates to the right to administer the estate on principle, an advalorem fee should not be levied in such cases; and in fact as it is impossible to estimate at a money value the subject matter in dispute the case necessarily falls under Sch. II Art. 11 B. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) KALE GOWDA v. GOVT. OF MYSORE. 2 Mys. L. J. 101.

MYSORE COURT FEES REGULATION (VIII OF 1922), Art. 11 B.

———(VIII OF 1922) ART. 11 B—Suit for partition—Court fee payable thereon—Plaintiff in possession—Appeal as regards items of properties—Valuation.

Suits for partition (excluding therefrom suits merely to enforce a right to the joint enjoyment of property in common with others) fall into two classes according as possession is or is not part of the relief sought. Where the plaintiff is already in possession of the property sought to be divided, and only seeks to have his share definitely ascertained and divided off, then (since the subject matter is not capable of exact money valuation) the fee payable is the fixed fee provided in Art. II, cl. (vi) of Sch. II corresponding to Art. 11B in the amending Regulation VIII of 1922. But where possession is sought as well as partition then court fee must be paid ad valorem on the value of the share claimed under S. 4 (v) of the Court Fees Regulation. Where the plaintiff claimed a fourth share in the properties to be divided, of all of which he was stated in the plaint to be in possession as family manager, the plaint is chargeable only with a fee of Rs. 10 under Art. 11, cl. (vi). Where an appeal from a preliminary decree for partition is preferred by the defendants claiming an extra share and also certain specific items, Held, that the fixed fee prescribed by Art. 11-B of Sch. II of Regn. VIII of 1922 should be paid on the claim for the extra share and ad valorem fee should be paid on the specific items. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J., Plumer and Subbanna, J.J.) THIMMEGOWDA AND SOME Gowda. 2 Mys. L. J. 25.

MYSORE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE REGULATION (II OF 1904), S. 239—Offences under Ss. 380 and 411—Joint trial of—Legality.

The joint trial of one accused for receiving stolen property and of others for stealing it or receiving the same before it reached the first accused, is not illegal, provided the acts of all the accused formed one transaction. 11 Mys. C. C. R. 197; 38 A. 311; 2J B 449, Ref. Whether the offences complained of formed a single transaction or not is a question of fact in each case and acts as above referred to may form a single transaction even though they are not quite simultaneous. (Plumer and Subbanna, J.J.) NANJAPPA v. THE GOVT. OF MYSORE.

2 Mys. L. J. 21.

———S. 242—Summons case—Examination of complainant's witnesses—Omission to communicate particulars of offence to accused—Irregularity—Cr. P. Code, S. 537.

The accused were summoned in respect of an offence under S 352, I.P.C., triable as a summons case. On the day they first appeared in Court they were not informed of the particulars of the offence but the case was adjourned at their request. On the adjourned date the complainant's witnesses were examined and the accused when asked to make their statement pleaded not guilty and examined some witnesses in support of their case. They were all convicted. On revision, Held (1) that the trial was irregular owing to the omission of the Magistrate to follow the provisions of S. 242, Cr.P.Code and but that the illegality was cured by S. 537, Cr. P. Code. The accused could easily have known of the particulars of the charge against them inasmuch as before the examination of the complainant's witnesses, they had taken a copy of the complaint and their counsel had cross-examined the complainant's witnesses also. (Ramaswami Aiyangar, J.) JAWARE GOWDA v. KENCHE GOWDA. 2 Mys. L. J. 223.

MYSORE IN-COMETAX REGULATION (VI OF 1920), S. 3.

———S. 253 (2)—Summons case—Examination of some witnesses only for the prosecution—Discharge of accused—Revision—Cr. P. Code, S. 439.

In a summons case the Magistrate examined some only out of several witnesses for the prosecution in attendance and passed an order discharging the accused persons under S. 253 (2), Cr.P. Code. On revision the Sessions Judge set aside the order of discharge and ordered a further enquiry. In revision held that in a summons case the Court was bound to examine the whole of the evidence produced in support of the prosecution where the accused did not admit the offence and it then found that the accused was not guilty, it must record an order of acquittal. The order of discharge passed in the case was illegal. An order of discharge passed in a summons case amounts really to an acquittal and cannot be set aside by a District Magistrate or Sessions Judge under S. 437; but this does not warrant the position that an order of discharge passed illegally and without jurisdiction can be maintained. Consequently though further inquiry could not be ordered by the Sessions Judge under S.437, Cr.P. C. there was nothing to prevent the High Court exercising its power of interference under S. 439 to set the illegal order aside and direct a proper trial. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar C. J. and Plumer, J.) CHIKKANE GOWDA v. HETHE GOWDA.

2 Mys. L. J. 149.

———Ss. 342 and 537—Trial of warrant case before Magistrate—Examination of accused—Stage for—Effect of omission to examine accused as required by the section.

An accused person should be examined generally on the case after the whole of the evidence produced in support of the prosecution has been taken by the Court. Provided this is done, it is not obligatory on the Court to further examine him after any prosecution witnesses whose evidence has been already taken are re-called at his instance and cross-examined and re-examined; and an omission to do so is neither an illegality which vitiates the trial nor an error or irregularity which requires to be cured under S. 537 Cr. P. Code. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) RAHIM SAB v. GOVT. OF MYSORE. 2 Mys. L. J. 241.

MYSORE INCOME-TAX REGULATION (VI OF 1920), Ss. 3 (1) and 33—Remuneration paid to non-resident firm by Companies doing business in Mysore—Liability to tax.

The assessee was a firm of Mining Engineers carrying on business in the City of London. By agreements with several gold mining companies carrying on operations on the Kolar Gold Fields in the Mysore State, the said firm was appointed Managers and Consulting Engineers of the said Companies. For their services the said firm was paid by the said companies the annual remuneration provided under the said agreements. That remuneration was paid in London. The services of expert advice, management and supervision were rendered and performed in the office of the firm in London. Held, that the assessee was not taxable in Mysore on the income derived by the assessee. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) JOHN TAILOR AND SONS v. THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX IN MYSORE. 2 Mys. L. J. 133.

MYSORE INCOME-TAX REGULATION (VI OF 1920), S. 20.

—Ss. 20, 35 and 36—Amending Regulation V of 1923, Ss. 29, 45 and 46—Assessment to income-tax—When becomes effective charge—Notice to assessee—Adjustment or appropriation.

An income tax officer when he has determined a sum to be payable by an assessee by way of tax is required to serve on the assessee a notice of demand in the prescribed form specifying the sum so payable and the assessee has the right to prefer an appeal within 30 days of the notice. Subject to alteration on appeal or review the amount of taxes determined must be paid; failure to do this constitutes default upon which coercive steps may be taken to recover the amount of arrear. The assessment does not become binding so as to impose a charge until after a notice of demand has been served on the assessee and the time limited in S. 35 has expired. The giving of a notice is not only made obligatory by express provision, but is also necessarily implied in the right of appeal given to the party charged so as to afford him an opportunity of challenging the correctness of the assessment by appealing against it. In the absence of a due service of such notice and a demand for payment there is no valid assessment. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) DEVIDOSS & Co. v. THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX IN MYSORE.

2 Mys. L. J. 176.

—(V OF 1923)—Companies carrying on trade in Mysore—Interest on investments made out side Mysore—Liability to tax—Extra dividends or bonuses paid to directors—Deduction.

Where companies carrying on business at Mysore get profits by way of investments in securities outside the province and in no way connected with the business at Mysore such profits do not constitute income which accrues or arises or is received in Mysore so as to be taxable. Even though such income was received abroad by an agent and then remitted to the Companies, the income is not received qua income in Mysore and is not taxable.

Bonuses or extra dividends or remuneration paid to the Managing Directors of a Company out of funds set apart from net profits for purposes of dividend can in no sense be regarded as expenditure incurred for earning such profits or gains. It is just as much an allocation of profits as the dividend itself. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) THE COMMISSIONER OF INCOME-TAX IN MYSORE v. NANDIDROOG MINES, LTD. 2 Mys. L. J. 41.

MYSORE INSOLVENCY REGULATION (VI OF 1911) Ss. 36 and 44—Report of Official Receiver—Whether useful as evidence.

The report of an Official Receiver in an insolvency is made evidence only for the purposes of MYSORE LIM REGN. (IV OF 1911), Art. 74.

S. 44 of the Act and the report and statements recorded by him cannot be treated by a Court as evidence in proceedings before it under S. 36. 36 A. 649; 35 I. C. 875 Ref. (Plumer O.C.J.) and Ramaswami Aiyangar, J.) REKUBCHAND BAPUAH v. ABDUL LATEF KHAN. 2 Mys. L. J. 234.

MYSORE LAND REVENUE CODE, S. 53—Jodi village—Tank situated in—Supply of water from Government tanks—Right of govt. to levy water cess.

Though a tank was situated in a Jodi village it got its main supply of water from the kodihalla carrying water from Government tanks. Held that the water in the Jodi tank should in the circumstances be considered as government water, the right to which vests in the Government and for the use of which government were entitled to recover a water rate under S. 53, Land Revenue Code. The Jodidas are entitled to the free use of extra water only to the extent allowed under the terms of the sunnud, and for any area in excess of the extent treated as wet at the inam settlement they had no right to the free use of the water, even if such area be within the Inam village: and when the land for which the tank water was used was situate outside the Jodi village and was never intended by Government to be irrigated by the Jodi tank there could be no doubt that it was not entitled to the free supply of water from the tank. VENKATESIYA OF KONANUR. In re. 2 Mys. L. J. (M.G. D.) 3.

MYSORE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL REGULATION (XIX OF 1923), S.6. (2) (f)—Rules under—Election of members to the Legislative Council—Order of District Judge on a disputed election—Whether open to revision by Chief Court.

A right of election as a bare right is no doubt the civil right of every one but a right of election to a given office or committee or assembly or Council created by statute of which right, the manner of user and all other consequential details are themselves created and governed by the statute is not an inherent civil right. It is a statutory right. The remedy for wrong done to that right is as much governed by the statute as the creation of the right—and no citizen has a civil grievance if he is confined for his remedy to the terms of the statute.

The Court of the District Judge as a curia designata for special purposes of deciding election disputes on an election to the legislative Council is not a Civil Court and as such is not subordinate to the Chief Court within the meaning of the C.P. Code. (Plumer, O.C. J. and Ramaswami Aiyangar, J.) KARNICK KRISHNAMOORTHY RAO v. PARAMASWAYYA. 2 Mys. L. J. 237.

MYSORE LIMITATION REGULATION (IV OF 1911) S. 19—Acknowledgment of debt in part—Whether saves limitation for the whole.

If a definite sum smaller than the sum claimed is acknowledged to be due, only the sum named is taken out of the statute of limitation. 13 I. C. 702; 55 I. C. 822 Rel. on. (Subbanna and Ramaswami Aiyangar, JJ.) BUDAN BI. v. GUNDAJI SANNA. 1 Mys. L. J. 153.

—Arts. 74 and 115—Contract of service—Stipulation to discharge advance out of salary—Breach—Limitation.

MYSORE LIM. REG. (IV OF 1911), Art. 164.

Defendant received an advance of Rs. 50 from plaintiff and executed in his favour on 1-5-1919 an agreement for service, whereby he undertook to work under the petitioner on a monthly salary of Rs. 10 out of which Rs. 2 was to be deducted towards the sum advanced and remainder paid to him. He further held himself liable to the penalty under Act XIII of 1859. Defendant worked for six months and then stayed away. Plaintiff filed the present suit on 6-3-1923 to recover the undischarged balance of the sum together with a small addition by way of interest. Held, that the document in question was not a bond as defined in S. 2 (3) and that the article of Limitation appropriate to the suit was art. 115 and not art. 74. The breach, which was a continuing one would only cease at the expiration of the term of service contemplated in the agreement, i.e., in June 1921 and time would therefore begin to run only from that date. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) JALAL MOHIDEEN SAB v. KHALANDER SAB. 2 Mys. L. J. 120.

— — — Art. 164—Limitation—Running—Knowledge of decree—Meaning of.

The expression "knowledge of the decree" in Art. 164 of the Lim. Regulation means knowledge of the particular decree but the expression does not include a knowledge of all the contents of the decree. To so extend it would be to render Art. 164 an absurdity, 11 Bom. L. R. 1296; 47 B. 485; 38 C. 384; 12 Bom. L. R. 462 Ref. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) SABAPATHIAH v. MARIYAMMA. 2 Mys. L. J. 180.

MYSORE MUNICIPAL REGULATION (VII OF 1903) Ss. 151 AND 152 (3)—"Oil-boiling"—License—Necessity for—Boiling and manufacture of castor oil for purification.

The expression "Oil-boiling" in S. 151 of the Mysore Municipal Regn. is used in a technical sense. It does not include the process of refining castor-oil by adding water and then heating it so as to drive out the impurity in the oil. In the "oil-boiling" process properly so-called, no water is added but the oil is simply heated to a very high degree giving rise to dangerous and highly inflammable vapours. This is a special process employed in connection with the manufacture of paints and varnishes and consists in the addition of metallic oxides or salts to linseed oil and then heating it, so that it easily dries up. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) GOVT. OF MYSORE v. NAGANNA.

2 Mys. L. J. 154.

MYSORE PENAL CODE, S. 415—Cheating—Essentials of the offence.

The gist of the offence of cheating is a fraudulent or dishonest intention to deceive some person and the onus of proving it is on the prosecution. The hope of being able to deceive is always an important element in determining whether there was a dishonest or fraudulent intention. Where a man in a respectable position in life is charged with cheating in respect of a petty sum and the explanation of the accused is that he had forgotten the real facts of the situation. Held, that it must be held that the prosecution had failed to prove any dishonest intention in the accused. (Subbanna, J.) DODDABASAPPA v. GOVT. OF MYSORE. 2 Mys. L. J. 207.

MYSORE POTGI RULES, R. 35.

MYSORE PENAL CODE, Ss. 465 and 417—Forgery—Cheating—Trial and conviction for smaller offence—Commitment on graver charge—Procedure illegal.

The appellant executed a pronote for Rs 400 in favour of the complainant on 19-8-1921 but after signing it he added words in Kanarese to the effect that he had pledged a golden necklace for the debt and that Rs. 10 had been withheld out of Rs 400 for interest. The complainant started criminal proceeding against him alleging that the pledge was false and that the accused had fraudulently inserted that statement in the note without the complainant's knowledge taking advantage of his ignorance of the language. The accused asserted that the pledge was true but the Magistrate found against him on facts and charged and convicted him under Ss. 465 and 417, I.P.C., for forgery and cheating. Held, that the conviction for forgery was proper but that for cheating was unsustainable. Even though the accused could have been committed to the Sessions on graver charge under S. 467, I. P. C., still the trial and conviction by the Magistrate under S. 465 was not illegal. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C.J. and Subbanna, J.) NANJUNDA SETTY v. GOVT. OF MYSORE. 2 Mys. L. J. 108.

MYSORE POLICE REGULATION (V OF 1908), Ss. 38 and 63—Offence under—Common gaming house—Persons found gaming—Search warrant by Magistrate—Application by police—No information on oath—Discovery of gaming materials—Illegality if cured.

Under S. 38 of the Mysore Police Regulation it is not necessary as under the parallel section of the British Indian Police Acts for the Magistrate's belief that building is used as a common gaming house to be based on sworn information in order to enable him to validly issue a search warrant to the police. It is sufficient if he "has reason to believe" that a building is so used and it is a matter entirely for his consideration as to what does or does not constitute sufficient reason to create that belief. The Magistrate's statement in his order for the issue of a search warrant to the effect that he has reason to believe that the building is used as a common gaming house is sufficient to validate the warrant and if as a result of the search, materials for gaming are discovered in that building, the legal presumption provided by S. 63 Expln. I of the Mysore Police Regn. that the house searched is a common gaming house at once arises. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) KEMPE GOWDA v. GOVERNMENT OF MYSORE. 2 Mys. L. J. 161.

MYSORE POTGI RULES, R. 35 — Inam — Service inam lands—Partition and possession—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.

The Potgi Rules lay down that official or Inamti lands form no part of the remuneration of a shambogue and the lands will remain in the possession of the sharers and Civil Courts are not debarred from taking cognizance of suits between members of the holder's family in respect of the possession of such shares. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) RAMABHADRIAH v. SOORAYYA.

MYSORE S. C. C. REG. (VIII OF 1911), Sch. I (3).

2 Mys. L. J. 13.

MYSORE SMALL CAUSE COURTS REGULATION (VIII OF 1911), Sch. I (3)—Contract for purchase of goods—Assignment—Suit by assignee for profits—Jurisdiction of Small Cause Court.

The petitioner who was the defendant in the lower Court purchased from the plaintiff for Rs. 1,801 a forward contract for 31 bales of piece-goods, and paid towards the same two years later a sum of Rs. 1,920. The suit was to recover a balance of Rs. 130 claimed as still due, calculating interest at 6 per cent per annum. Held, that the fact that the right to receive the goods was transferred to the petitioner by reason of his purchase of the forward contract was to all intents and purposes equivalent to a sale of the goods; and for the purpose of Sch. I (3) of the Small Cause Courts Regn. (VIII of 1911) the profit and interest which the opponent was to get under the transaction was undoubtedly part of the "price of the goods sold." This result was in no way affected by the fact that the greater part of the consideration had been recovered, and only a small balance in the nature of interest remained to be recovered. (Chandrasekhara Aiyer, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) PRATAPCHAND v. PRATAPCHAND.

2 Mys. L. J. 119.

—Sch. I (13)—Deposit—Cow and calf entrusted for safe custody—Suit for recovery of value.

Two cows belonging to the plaintiff were left with the first defendant for safe custody. The first defendant left the cow with the second defendant under an agreement to give it to plaintiff. In a suit by plaintiff against both defendants for recovery of the value of the cow and the calf. Held, that the suit was cognizable by a Small Cause Court under Sch. I, cl. (13) of the Mysore Small Cause Courts Regulation. Though the calf was born subsequently to the entrustment, it is an accretion to the cow or an "increase or profit" which has accrued from the property bailed. Such increase or profit since it necessarily goes with the property bailed, may without undue stretch of language be deemed to be part of the same property for the purpose of Sch. I, cl. (13). (Chandrasekhara Aiyer, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) BIDARADAKRISHNAPPA v. KAVIRATNAM M. RAMA SASTRI.

2 Mys. L. J. 123.

—Sch. I (13)—"Money deposited"—Meaning of—Security for performance of duty.

Under the Mysore Regulation only suits of certain specified classes are cognizable by a Court of Small Causes; but the classification given in Sch. I is most general in terms and purposely intended to be an elastic one, capable, when necessary, of being even added to or varied by notification of Government. The duty of the courts in dealing with the classification as it stands is not to attach any narrow or rigid meaning to the words employed, as if they were passages in the body of a continuous enactment, but rather to take the classes to be what they really are—brief descriptive headings intended to take in a variety of suits having a common characteristic. Thus the expression "money deposited" in Sch. I (13) ought not to be interpreted as referring merely to deposits of money as such, by way of investment or otherwise and as excluding earnest money or security deposit or money entrusted to a person otherwise than as a loan. On the contrary the words ought to be given the widest significance of which they are reasonably capable, so as to include every case where money may have been left by one person with another, other than a case, of course, clearly coming under any of the other classes. (Chandrasekhara Aiyer, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) P. T. I BOOK DEPOT, BANGALORE CITY v. CHANNAYYA.

MYSORE STAMP REG (II OF 1900), S. 12.

2 Mys. L. J. 117.

MYSORE REGISTRATION REGULATION (I OF 1903), Ss. 2 AND 17 (D)—Lease for indefinite term—Agreement varying conditions of lease—Necessity for registration.

An agreement between a lessor and lessee which is not new lease but which merely provides for a different method of user of the land and the payment of rent in a different shape, does not require registration. Even if the document could be regarded as a lease; inasmuch as no definite term was fixed and the rent was only Rs. 50 per annum the document was not compulsorily registrable. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) SUBBIAH v. CHIKKA POTHALINGA.

2 Mys. L. J. 18.

MYSORE REGULATION (IV OF 1918) Ss. 65 (c) AND 100—Charge holder—Enforcement of charge—Personal liability—C. P. Code, O. 34, R. 15.

O. 34, R. 15 of the C. P. Code can hardly be looked upon as making it obligatory that the plaintiff should sue for the enforcement of the charge (in the same way as in the case of mortgage) for sale of the property before he could proceed personally against those liable for the amount. 15 C. 492 Ref. (Subbanna and Ramaswami Aiyangar, JJ.) VENKATASWAMIAH v. KINNAJI.

2 Mys. L. J. 9.

MYSORE STAMP REGULATION (II OF 1900)—Act I of 1879, S. 3 (II) and Sch. I, Art. 10—Partition—Award relating to—Instrument of partition—Duty—Penalty.

An award of July 1898 effecting or directing a partition is not an instrument of partition and the stamp duty payable thereon is Rs. 5 under Sch. I, Art. 10 of the Stamp Act of 1879. An award is exempt from registration under S. 17 (j) of the Registration Regulation I of 1903, and its corresponding provision of the previous Act, and consequently the award is admissible without registration. (Plumer and Subbanna, JJ.) SHANIGA NANJAPPA v. SHANIGA BODAPPA.

2 Mys. L. J. 29.

—S. 12—Stamp—Cancellation—Mode of.

No general rule could be laid down as regards the manner in which a stamp is to be cancelled and the only test is to find out whether it is possible to use the stamp again. The drawing of diagonal lines across the stamp is sufficient cancellation. 28 B. 432; 23 M. L. J. 273; 54 I. C. 976 Ref. (Ramaswamy Iyengar, J.) SUBBEGOWDA v. RAMMAYYA.

2 Mys. L. J. 215.

MYSORE STAMP REG. (II OF 1900), Art. I.

— Art I—Day books of merchants—Signature of customers below entries—Acknowledgment Stamp.

The mere signature of a customer to a shop entry of a transaction in the shop's accounts merely shows that so far as the transaction goes the entry is correct; it cannot possibly be an acknowledgment that the amount there entered is the amount due by the customer especially when there are several such entries and several such signatures. The wording of Art. I of the Stamp Regn. is not ambiguous and clearly has reference only to a balanced account written or entered up in the books of the creditor and signed by the debtor. That amounts to an acknowledgment by the debtor that at the time the account was balanced, the balance shown as due in the book of the creditor was at that time the actual balance due by the debtor. (Plumer, J.) CHIKKANNA SETTI v. NANJIAH. 2 Mys. L. J. 143.

MYSORE VILLAGE OFFICERS REGULATION, S. 23—Shanbogue—Duties of—Claim to potgi—Fine—Neglect of duty.

A shanbogue is responsible only for the maintenance of the prescribed accounts and the issue of notices, etc. on the due dates and he cannot be held liable for the deficiency in the collection unless it is proved to have been due to any omission or neglect in the discharge of his duties. Where the arrears of potgi claimed by a Shanbogue relate to the period when the village was under government management the shanbogue has to look to government for payment of the amount to him and he cannot be asked to proceed against the inamdar for its recovery.

PUTTANNAIYA.

2 Mys. L. J. (M. G. D.) 1.

MUSSALMAN WAQF VALIDATING ACT (VI OF 1913), S. 3 (a).—Family—Cousins of remote degrees—If included in the expression—Omission of donor to divest himself of waqf properly—Effect of—Reservation of benefit to the poor—Implication of.

The expression "family" in S. 3 (a) of the Mussalman Waqf Validating Act (VI of 1913) includes only those persons residing in the house of the donor for whose maintenance the donor is responsible and consequently remote cousins in the fourth and fifth degree do not come within the term. Where the author of a waqf does not divest himself of the property, the waqf is not valid. In the absence of an express reservation of any ultimate benefit to the poor in a waqf, no such final reservation can be implied on a failure of heirs of the donor. (Dalal and Cuming, A. J. Cs.) ABDONE MABUD KHAN v. NAWAZISH ALI KHAN. 10 O. & A. L. R. 896.

NEGLIGENCE—Child of Seven years crossing railway line—Injury by a passing engine—Failure to look out on the part of the child—Railway Company allowing villagers to cross the line—Trespassers and licensees—Position of—Doctrines of trap and allurements—Contributory negligence on the part of children.

The plaintiff, a little girl of seven, while crossing a railway line with a bundle of grass on her head was run over by a locomotive engine and lost her right arm and her right leg. The evidence showed that the engine-driver did not see the child before the accident happened and the fireman saw the child only at a distance of four or five feet from the engine. It was also in evidence that the people living in the neighbourhood were in the habit of crossing the railway line and using it as a short cut to the knowledge of the Railway authorities. In a suit for damages, held, reversing the decision of the Trial Court, the Railway Company was not liable.

NEGLIGENCE.

Per Spencer, O. C. J. :—The danger of being run over by a passing engine when crossing railway line imposes a necessity for the utmost caution on all persons walking on or near the track and if they cross the line at an unrecognised crossing, they do so at their peril. The plaintiff was guilty of negligence in not keeping a sharp look out for passing engines, an obvious danger. She was only a licensee, if not a trespasser, and under the law the defendants could not be liable unless they have placed any trap. The existence of the short-cut and the failure to prevent villagers from crossing the line could not amount to a trap or an invitation to cross or an "allurement" within the meaning of the word in the reported cases. Held also, on the facts the engine could not have been brought to a standstill within the distance of four or five feet, nor were the Railway servants negligent and the accident was entirely due to the gross negligence of the plaintiff in failing to keep a proper look-out. In cases of such accidents, if both parties are negligent, it is the party who is last negligent who is made responsible for the same, English case-law referred to.

Per Srinivasa Aiyangar, J. :—Whether any particular act or omission constitutes negligence must be decided with reference to the person injured, the manner in which the injury was occasioned, and the time, place and circumstances of each case. On the facts, held, as the Railway Company had, without any effective objection, allowed the villagers to cross the line for a long time, they were guilty of negligence as they failed to prove a "special look-out" on the part of the engine-driver on the occasion in question. Allowing the villagers to cross the railway line does not amount to an implied license in favour of infants of tender years who are unable to take care of themselves or incapable of avoiding dangers necessarily incident to the place. The proximate cause of the accident was the contributory negligence of the plaintiff in failing to look about to see if any train was approaching and hence she could not recover damages. Even a child of seven can be guilty of contributory negligence and the law on the subject has not been in any way altered by Cook v. Midland and Great Western Railway Co. of Ireland, (1909) A. C. 229 or Corporation of the City of Glasgow v. Taylor, (1922) 1 A. C. 44. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Srinivasa Aiyangar, J.) MADRAS & SOUTHERN MAHABATTA RAILWAY CO., LTD. v. JAYAMMAL.

(1924) M. W. N. 899 : 1925 Mad. 804 : 47 M. L. J. 88.

— Railway accident—Trap—Contribution. 1924 Mad. 312.

NEGLIGENCE.

———Railway company—Unprotected and unlighted pit on platform—Injuries—Liability. 1924 Mad. 154.

———Railway—Duty to Safeguard passengers and their property—Extent of. See DAMAGES. 51 Cal. 661.

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENT—Cheque—Forgery—Payment by banker—Loss—What to bear.

Where a banker pays a forged cheque he cannot charge the customer with the amount unless he proves negligence on the part of the customers which was intimately connected with the drawing or encashment of the cheque which was the proximate cause of the loss. (Held and May Oung, J.J.) AHMED MOOLLA DAWOOD v. PERIAN-NAN CHETTY FIRM. 3 Bur. L. J. 22 :

80 I. C. 261 : 1924 Rang. 264.

———Draft—Conditional payment—Debt if can be relied on—Negligence in presenting—Liability.

The delivery of a draft is conditional payment and if the draft is not met in due course the original debt can be relied on. But if the person to whom the draft is given fails to exercise due diligence in presenting the draft with the result that loss is caused to the drawer then the loss must fall on the party in default and not on the drawer (Macleod, C.J. and Crump, J.) RAMZAN & CO. v. SHARIFF MAHOMED HOSSON AYAB. 1924 Bom. 520.

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT—Hundi—Substituted unstamped paper—Liability under former.

75 I. C. 827.

———S. 4—Acknowledgment of sum due—Agreement to pay interest—If a promissory note.

A document recited that the executant had a certain sum of money belonging to another and the former agreed to pay interest at a certain rate, Held, it was not a promissory note though there is an acknowledgment of a debt. (Moti Sagar, J.) FIRM NANAK CHAND KISHORI LAL v. FIRM RAM SARUP GUJAR MAL. 1924 Lah. 684.

———S. 7—Hundi—Oral acceptance—Sufficiency of.

1924 All. 129.

———Ss. 9 and 118—Cheque—Indorsee—Suit by—Presumption of consideration—Holders in due course.

Under section 9 of the Negotiable Instruments Act an indorsee of a cheque who sues as plaintiff would be a "holder in due course", if he became the possessor of the cheque without having sufficient cause to believe that any defect existed in the title of the person from whom he derived his title. Under Section 118 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, the presumption is in favour of the plaintiff. Under Clause (A) of Section 118, it must be presumed that the cheque was drawn for consideration, and that the endorsement was made for consideration. Under Clause (j) of Section 118 it must also be presumed that the plaintiff is a "holder in due course." The presumption is rebuttable one, and it is open to the defendants to prove that the cheque was drawn without consideration, or, that the endorsement was made without consideration, but so long as the presumption is not rebutted by evidence, it must be held that the cheque was drawn for consideration, and that the plaintiff is a "holder in due course." (Kulwant Sahay, J.) KISHUN BAHADUR v. SASSARAM LIME, LTD. 2 Pat. L. R. 54 :

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENT ACT, S. 29.

80 I. C. 572 : 1924 P. 521.

———Ss. 9 and 78—Promissory note—Minor payee—Endorsement by guardian not purporting to be by guardian on minor's behalf—Right of indorsee to sue.

In a suit on a promissory note the plaintiff claimed as an indorsee from the guardian of the minor son of the deceased payee of the note. The endorsement was made by the mother of the minor son but there was nothing either in the body of the note or appended to the signature to show that the lady signed as guardian. In the written statement defendants challenged the plaintiff's right as holder and put him to strict proof of the claim. There was no evidence in the case that the lady signed as guardian. Held, that the plaintiff had no locus standi to sue and that the suit was bound to fail. (Wallace, J.) SUPPAI GOUNDAN v. KANDASWAMY GOUNDAN. 19 L. W. 560 :

80 I. C. 567 : 1924 Mad. 617 (1).

———Ss. 13 and 15—Promissory note not payable to person or order—If negotiable—Signature on—Endorsement.

A promissory note payable to a particular person is, in the absence of words prohibiting transfer or indicating an intention that it shall not be transferable, a negotiable instrument. Where such an instrument is not signed on the back either by the maker or by the holder, there is no endorsement. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) THAKURSEY HANSRAJ v. KISHENDAS REWACHAND, 76 I. C. 282 : 1925 Sindh 9.

———S. 28—Hundi—Signing as munim.

75 I. C. 609.

———S. 29—Executor—Guardian—Pro-note by—Personal liability under—If and when excluded—Note for debt binding on estate or minor's estate if decisive—Hindu Law—Joint family property—Father—Will appointing guardian of property for minor son—Validity.

Executors are personally liable on promissory notes executed by them as such even though they may be acting for the benefit of the testator's estate in doing so unless their liability is excluded in the manner provided in S. 29 of the Negotiable Instruments Act. A person does not exclude his own personal liability under a promissory note executed by him merely by saying that he executes the pro-note as a guardian.

Held, that under a promissory note executed by the executors under the will of a deceased Hindu, the executors had made themselves personally liable for the amount of the note, though it had been executed, not for money borrowed by the executors themselves, but for money already due by the testator.

Held, likewise that under a note executed by the guardian of a minor for a debt binding on the minor's estate, the guardian had made himself personally liable. A Hindu father cannot validly appoint by will a guardian of the property for his minor son to take effect after his death where such property is joint family property. (Krishnan, J.) K. SUBBARAYUDU v. K SUBBANNA. 47 M. L. J. 763.

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENT ACT, S. 46.

—Ss. 46 and 50—Bill of Exchange—Endorsement—Delivery—Transfer for collection—Title of endorsee.

Endorsement alone is not sufficient to transfer the property in a negotiable instrument to the endorsee but the instrument must be followed by delivery. Under S. 46 it may be shown that the instrument was delivered conditionally or for a special purpose only and not for the purpose of transferring absolutely the property therein (Martineau, J.) PUNJAB NATIONAL BANK, LTD., LAHORE v. COTTON FACTORY. 6 Lah. L. J. 230 : 79 I. C. 461 : 1924 Lah. 640 —Ss. 64 and 76 (a)—Loss of Hundi—Presentation—Necessity for.

1924 Lah. 198.

—S. 87—Material alteration.

77 I. C. 761 (1).

—S. 118—Holder—Consideration—Presumption—Transferee from payee

It is a legal presumption that every negotiable instrument is made or drawn for consideration and that the holder of a negotiable instrument is a holder in due course. The onus is on the person challenging the rights of the transferee to prove facts which would show that such transferee was not a holder in due course. A transferee of a negotiable instrument would be unaffected by the want or failure of consideration as between the drawer and the payee, if he has paid consideration without notice of a defect in the title. (Scott Smith and Fforde, J.J.) HINDU STAN ASSURANCE AND MUTUAL BENEFIT SOCIETY, LTD. v. GURDIT SINGH. 6 Lah. L.J. 183 : 80 I. C. 741 : 1924 Lah. 462.

NUISANCE—Damages—Discomfort when actionable—Surrounding circumstances to be looked to.

What may cause inconvenience to persons with dainty or elegant modes or habits of living may not cause similar inconvenience to persons accustomed to live in the busiest portion of a town. A discomfort to be actionable should be substantial. It should be substantial not merely with reference to the plaintiff; it must be of such a degree that it would be substantial to any person, occupying the premises of the plaintiff, irrespective of his position in life, age, or state of health. There is a distinction between an action for a nuisance in respect of an act producing a material injury to property, and brought in respect of an act producing personal discomfort. As to the latter, a person must, in the interests of the public generally, submit to the discomfort of the circumstances of the place, and the trades carried on around him. The nature of the interference has to be examined in each case in the light of the circumstances of the place, where the thing complained of actually occurs, and the degree of inconvenience caused must determine the nature of the relief to which the person complaining may be entitled. (Kanhaya Lal and Mukerji, J.J.) BEHARI LAL v. JAMES MACLEAN. 46 A. 297 : 78 I. C. 506 :

OATHS ACT (X OF 1873), S. 14.

22 A. L. J. 165 : L. R. 5 A. 107 : 1924 A. 292.

N. W. F. P. RENT ACT (1881) S. 30 (d)—Acquisition of underproprietary right—Planting grove in land—Payment of rent. 1924 A. 53.

OATHS ACT (X OF 1873), S. 1—Form of oath—Walking some steps towards the Ganges—Statement, if binding.

Where the complainant offers to be bound by the statement made by the accused, if he made the statement after walking several steps towards the Ganges and the accused made the statement under these conditions, the statement being made on oath was conclusive proof of the facts set forth in it. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) DILSUKH v. RAJA KAM. L. R. 5 A. 147 (Rev.)

—S. 1—Party agreeing to abide by oath of his opponent—Power of Court to go into evidence. MITHU LAL v. SRI LAL.

1924 A. 12 6

—Ss. 8, 9, 10 and 11—Form of oath—Denial before deity.

The purpose of the oath is not to call the attention of God to the witness, but the attention of the witness to God. All that is necessary to an oath is an appeal to the Supreme Being as thinking Him the rewarder of truth and the avenger of falsehood. The form of the administration of the oath is immaterial, provided that it involves, in the mind of the witness, the bringing to bear of this apprehension of punishment and it cannot matter what words or ceremonies are used in imposing the oath provided he recognises them as binding by his belief. An offer to give up a claim if the defendant denied it before a certain deity would be accepted by the defendant bind the plain iff. The denial before the deity is an oath in the proper sense of the word. (Neave and Kendall, A. J. C.) INDAR PRASAD v. LALA JAGMOHAN DAS. 10 O. & A. L. R. 558 : 11 O. L. J. 485 : 1 O. W. N. 167 : 1924 Oudh 442.

—S. 11—Scope of—Decision on special oaths—Prosecution for perjury.

S. 11 of the Oaths Act does not provide that the evidence given on oath shall be conclusive proof of the matter stated; but it provides that as against the person who offers to be bound by the special oath, it will be conclusive proof of the matter stated. S. 11 of the Oaths Act does not prevent the Court from attempting to establish that a particular statement made by the appellant on oath was false in fact and false to his knowledge. In other words it is open to the Court to establish that by making that statement the appellant gave false evidence within the meaning of S. 193, I. P. C. (Shah, A. J. C. and Fawcett, J.) KAMDAS VISHNUDAS, In re

26 Bom. L. R. 713 : 82 I. C. 359 :

25 Cr. L. J. 1287 : 1924 Bom. 511.

—S. 14—Child witness.

76 I. C. 1037 : 25 Cr. L. J. 317.

OCCUPANCY HOLDING.

OCCUPANCY HOLDING — Joint holding — Mortgage by one of the tenants—Rights of others.

In the case of a joint occupancy holding belonging to four brothers and mortgaged by some of them with possession in favour of another person, one of the brothers, who was not a party to the mortgage cannot get back possession of the entire holding without paying the mortgage money on the ground that such a mortgage was invalid. 37 A. 779 Ref. (Kanhaiyalal, J.) SHAIKH MUDI v. MOHIB ALI. L. R. 5 A. 36 (Rev.) : 78 I. C. 1022 : 1924 A. 746.

—Mortgage of—Rights of mortgagee.

A mortgage of both occupancy and fixed rate holding executed prior to the passing of the Agra Tenancy Act could be enforced by sale of the fixed rate holding. 15 A. L. J. 544. referred to. (Daniels, J.) RAM KARAN SINGH v. RAJA RAM. L. R. 5 A. 225 (Rev.) : 1924 A. 877.

—Mortgagee—Rights of—Suit on mortgage.

A usufructuary mortgagee of an occupancy holding alleging that he had been dispossessed, sued for recovery of the mortgage money under a covenant contained in the mortgage. Held, that the mortgage transaction being illegal, plaintiff's suit was not maintainable. 44 A 486 ; 21 A. L. J. 303 foll. (Daniels, J.) DAYA RAM v. THAKURI. 22 A. L. J. 506 : L. R. 5 A. 170 (Rev.) : 46 A. 622 : 1924 A. 668 (1).

—Mortgagee—Recognition by zamindar—Right of redemption.

The fact that the zamindar has recognised the occupancy rights of a person is no doubt conclusive so far as he is concerned but that by itself is not sufficient to give him a right of redemption in respect of a mortgage held by the third party in the absence of evidence that he acquired these rights as heirs of the mortgagor. (Neave, J.) RAM JATAN TIWARI v. RADHAKISHUN TIWARI. L. R. 5 A. 23. (Rev.) : 1925 A. 15.

—Non-transferable — Execution sale by ordinary creditor.

1924 Cal. 52.

—Non-transferable holding—Transfer by tenant to one co-sharer—Rights of other co-sharers—Ejectment.

Where the tenant of non-transferable occupancy holding transfers it to a co-sharer landlord, the other sharers can sue for joint possession on the basis of his being a trespasser. The transferee cannot in such a case plead that the plaintiffs are in possession of other occupancy holdings. (Rankin and Mukherji, JJ.) JAGABANDHU KUNDU v. RAJMOHAN PAL. 78 I. C. 599.

—Non-transferable — Transfer and sub-lease — Landlord's right of reentry—Omission to pay rent—Effect of.

The raiyat of a non-transferable occupancy holding sold it to a third person and after obtaining a sub-lease from him remained in possession of the holding. Held, that the landlord was not entitled to obtain khas possession in the absence of repudiation by the raiyat of his relation to the landlord as such raiyat. Mere transfer apart from any other consideration does not give the landlord a right to reenter when the tenant transferor remains in occupation of the land and contests the suit. Omission to pay rent is not by itself a denial of the landlord's title in the absence of any evidence that the tenant refused to pay rent. (Newbould and Rankin, JJ.) MONMATHA KUMAR RAY v. JOSADA LAL. 28 C. W. N. 300 : 77 I. C. 551 : 1924 Cal. 647.

OPIUM ACT (I OF 1878), S. 9.

—Transfer of—Permanent lease—Grant of—Ejectment—Estoppel.

The mere fact that while an estate was under the management of the Court of Wards rent was accepted from the transferees of a perpetual but non-transferable tenure does not give them a permanent tenancy. It amounts to no more than a recognition of their status as ordinary tenants. A transfer of such a tenure by way of sale connotes an entire abandonment by the transferor of his rights in favour of another person. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAJA BISHUN NATH SARAN SINGH v. SHANKER BAHADUR SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 126 : 10 O. and A. L. R. 813 : 11 O. L. J. 687.

—Tenancy—Power of zamindar to confer on persons rights, similar to that of an occupancy tenant.

Where a zamindar agreed that the names of the daughter, daughter's son, and widow of a deceased occupancy tenant, should be entered in the papers as occupancy tenants and it was contended that such a grant was illegal, to a holder for life estate, Held, relying on S. D. 1 of 1921, that a zamindar can confer on persons rights similar to those enjoyed by an occupancy tenant, (2) that the daughter, and daughter's son, will be continued as occupancy tenants even after the life time of widow of the deceased. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) BALWANT v. MADARI LAL. L. R. 5 All. 303 (Rev.).

OFFENCE—Aggravation of—With false story—Risk to prosecution.

When the prosecution comes to Court with a false story in order to aggravate the offence they must take the risk of failing to prove the crime which was really committed. (Dulal, J. C.) HAR PRASAD v. EMPEROR. 10 W. N. 859.

OPIUM ACT (I OF 1878), S. 9—Importing opium—Consignment by a person to himself in British India—Offence.

One Ram Chandar, which name was to be a pseudonym for Govind Ram (accused) despatched from Kotah (Native State) 111 bags of maize containing a large quantity of opium. The goods were addressed to the same name, Ram Chandar, the consignee at Cawnpore, and arrived at Cawnpore in the train by which Govind Ram and his servant travelled. He went to a dharamsala, and being suspected of traffic in opium, he was there arrested and searched, and he was taken to the railway station where the truck containing the bags of maize was, and in his presence the truck was emptied and the maize examined and opium was discovered. In his possession was the railway receipt addressed by Ram Chandar in Kotah to Ram Chandar in Cawnpore. Held, on these facts it was quite clear that the accused was guilty of importing opium under S. 9 of Act I of 1878.

OPIUM ACT (I OF 1878), S. 9.

A person who exports from outside the United Provinces opium to a warehouse inside the United Provinces of which he is really the proprietor or temporary possessor, even under a false name, is, in fact, committing an offence under the Act and importing into the United Provinces, although, he is also the person who exported from outside. (Walsh and Ryves, JJ.)
EMPEROR v. GOBIND RAM. 46 All. 146 :
 L. R. 5 A. 46 (Cr.) : 81 I. C. 100 : 25 Cr. L. J. 612 :
 1924 All 558.

—S. 9—Rules under—Preparations for admixture of opium—Meaning of—Rule 57 (d).
MT. HAMIRI v. EMPEROR. 1924 Lah. 99.

—S. 9 (c)—Adulterated opium pills—Preparation of—Offence.

The preparation of adulterated opium pills is no offence where the amount of opium found, made up into pills and manufactured, is not more than what is allowed by the rules. (Harri-son, J.)
JIWNA RAM v. EMPEROR.

6 Lah. L. J. 206 : 81 I. C. 154 (1) :
 25 Cr. L. J. 666 (1) : 1924 Lah. 529.

—S. 9 (c)—Possession of opium—Offence—Visitor to a house. (Young, J.)
MA MI v. EMPEROR. 75 I. C. 358 (1).

ORISSA TENANCY ACT (II OF 1913), Ss. 117 & 237—Customary rights—Acquisition of—Occupancy right.

It is one thing to say that a person may by custom acquire certain rights which are incident to rights of occupancy in land but it is quite another thing to say that by custom an under-raiyat may become a raiyat. It may, of course, be that the defendants by custom may acquire certain privileges of occupancy tenants and it may be that one of these privileges is that he is not liable to be ejected merely on notice under S. 57 of the Orissa Tenancy Act. (Das and Adami, JJ.)
RAGHUNATH MISRA v. RAM BEHERA.

5 Pat. L. T. 140.

OUDH CIVIL COURTS ACT, S. 17—Value of the subject-matter of a suit—Old building replaced by new—Suit for recovery of possession.

Plaintiff sued for recovery of possession of half share of a house which he purchased at court auction for Rs. 215. The suit was valued at Rs. 300. The defendant stated that he had demolished the old structure and built a pucca building worth more than Rs. 2,000. The court returned the plaint for presentation to the proper court holding that the value of the suit was over Rs. 1,000 the limit of that court's jurisdiction. Held, that the order of the court below was erroneous and unsustainable. The new building built by the defendant was not the subject-matter of the suit within the meaning of S. 17 of the Oudh Civil Courts Act as the plaintiff claimed a share only of the original house. (Dalal, J.)
ABDULLA v. MAHOMED NAZIR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 19.
 80 I. C. 694 (2) : 1925 Oudh 163.

OUDH CIVIL DIGEST, Cls. 7 & 6—Costs—Scale of—Confession of judgment—Compromise.

OUDH ESTATES ACT, S. 2.

Clause VII of the Oudh Civil Digest seems to apply only to cases which are decided on confession of judgment made at once and not to cases in which some degree of contest has been made. If a case has gone so far as the framing of issues the Vakils of the parties must have been called upon to do a certain amount of work and their fees may fairly be charged on a scale more liberal than if the plaintiff is successful on his first appearance in Court. (Neave, A. J. C.)
BALDEO SINGH v. JAI SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 325 :
 80 I. C. 504 : 1925 Oudh 139.

—R. 172 (2)—Meaning of—Rule in conflict with C. P. Code, if ultra vires

A rule made by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of Oudh if it is in conflict with the provisions of a section of the Code of Civil Procedure would be ultra vires.

Rule 172 (a) of the Oudh Civil Digest directs the return of record to the Court which sent the decree for execution after the same has been executed either wholly or in part by the Court to which it has been sent for execution only in cases where further satisfaction of the decree in the latter Court would not be possible. A Court which does not comply with the direction of the above rule does not lose its jurisdiction on that account. (Dalal, J.C.)
MOHAMMED SHAKIR v. JUGAL KISHORE. 1 O. W. N. 794.

OUDH ESTATES ACT (I OF 1869)—Amendment Act of 1910—Estate—Transfer to a person not an immediate successor—Effect. 76 I. C. 922 :
 10 O. L. J. 513.

—Ss. 2, 3, 8, 10, 14, 15 and 12—Transfers made to talukdar between 1859 and 1869—Effect—Proprietary right—Vesting of, in talukdar—Second summary settlement—Lord Canning's Proclamation—Transfer in favour of immediate successor—Succession to the property.

S. 15 of the Oudh Estates Act is not applicable to property which is not under transfer at the time of the passing of Act I of 1869. Whatever transfers may have been made between 1859 and 1869, that is, after the summary settlement and before the passing of the Act, if at the time of the passing of the Act the property is in the possession of the Talukdar unburdened by any trust or vested interest, the provisions of S. 15 will not apply. S. 15 was enacted to take out of the Act estates which at the time of the passing of the Act were held by persons other than Talukdars with whom summary settlement was made. The whole object of the Act would be frustrated, if in every case where an estate is in the possession of a Talukdar the Court is required to inquire how the property had fared since the Summary Settlement. Prior to the letter of 10th October 1859 a talukdar could not make a valid transfer, as he was not himself invested with any proprietary title. A talukdar possessed of the legal estates in the Talukdari property may bind himself by equitable obligations to allow beneficial interests in the same property in favour of a designated individual or in favour of a Joint Hindu family of which he himself may be a member and he does so in the exercise of his powers of alienation inter vivos or by making a testamentary disposition 26 I. A. 194; 25 I. A. 161; 26 I. A. 229; 30 I. A. 209; 17 I. A. 54 Ref.

ODDH ESTATES ACT, S. 2.

The effect of the proclamation by Lord Canning of the 13th March 1858 was to divest the proprietors of Oudd of landed property and to vest it in the British Government and the effect of the letter of the 10th October 1859 was to vest in the grantee a fresh and exclusive title to the taluka.

Where there is a transfer of a taluka in favour of the next successor, the taluka does not go out of the Act and when it comes back again by compromise to the representative of the transferor, it will be governed in matters of succession by S. 22 of the Act. 31 A. 132 Ref. (Dalat, J. C. and Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MT. INDARKUER v. MT. NAND RANIKUER. 10 O. L. J. 637; 80 I. C. 833; 1 O. W. N. 67; 1924 Oudd 273.

—Ss. 2 (7) (11), 13, 19, 22—Hindu widow—Taking estate—Vesting of remainder—Mahomedan law—Exclusion of female—Primogeniture sanad—Will in favour of successor—Formalities of.

The vesting of a remainder does not find a place in the devolution of property settled under S. 22 of Act I of 1869. According to the scheme of inheritance which is defined in S. 22 there is no descent of the deceased's estate until the widow's death. The single person out of those mentioned in S. 2 (11) cannot be ascertained until the time of the widow's death. The Mahomedan law of succession which applied to the case did not recognise a life-estate in a widow and the same incapacity will follow and a Mahomedan reversioner will not succeed to a vested right on the death of the last male holder but will only have an expectation and no interest. Under the Shiah law a life estate may be created by will or gift and the remainder may be devised or gifted to another person. In such a case the remainder vests immediately on the life estate coming into existence. The same principle will not be applicable where a life estate is created by statute and no clear intention of the creation of a remainder over is disclosed by the context or other provisions of the Act. Under the scheme of the devolution of property laid down by the Act no estate devolves under S. 2 (11) until the previous clauses have exhausted themselves that is, after the death of the widow. The effect of Cl. (11) was simply to refer the parties to the law which would govern the descent when the special provisions of the Act are exhausted. So long as the widow is alive those provisions would not be exhausted and no rights of any heir under Cl. (11) would vest during the lifetime of the widow. The language of Cl. (7) leads to the same conclusion. There is no mention of a life estate such as to raise an enquiry as to what became of the remainder. The Act directs that such estate shall descend to the widow, the qualification being that it shall be for her life. She is not an heir but takes an estate of inheritance in the property. Not being an heir she is debarred from transferring property during her life because the provisions of S. 11 will not apply to her, but during that term, she is vested with the full estate. Under a sanad granted to a taluqdar, not only the female but her whole line is excluded.

ODDH ESTATES ACT, S. 23.

Where there is a vesting of the remainder in addition to the life estate of the widow, the sanad will control the provisions of Cl. (11). The words "according to the rule of primogeniture" mean only seniority of line not birth. They do not explain the words "the nearest male heir". In finding the meaning of words used in the sanad the courts should be guided by the known intention of the grantor and the surrounding circumstances. In making a will in favour of a privileged person as the next successor to a tahsildar under S. 22, Cl. (7) the directions of S. 13 need not be carried out. Such will must conform to the provisions of S. 50 of the Succession Act, by virtue of the provisions of S. 19 of the Succession Act. Execution under S. 50 of the Succession Act includes the testator's signature and attestation by witnesses. An acknowledgment of the will by the testator in the presence of the attesting witnesses would be sufficient. Dalat, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) SYED MD. HASAN v. SYED ALI HUDER. 10 O. and A. L. R. 1229; 1 O. W. N. 803.

—Ss. 8 and 10 (List II)—Custom of a single heir succession, presumption as to, after the estate passes out of the Act.

Held, (Per Pullan, A. J. C.), custom does not come into existence with the Act or cease when the estate is technically excluded from the Act.

Per Kendall, A. J. C., that so long as the estate devolves, according to the Act the custom (of single heir succession) is conclusively presumed (while) if the estate is transferred or bequeathed not in accordance with the Act, so that S. 15 comes into operation, the law will not allow a conclusive presumption because one of the elements has disappeared, i. e., the estate is no longer an estate within the definition of the Act. (Pullan, A. J. C. and Kendall, A. J. C.) ABADI BEGAM v. AHMAD MIRZA BEG. 1 O. W. N. 433; 82 I. C. 691; 11 O. L. J. 757; 1925 Oudd 190.

—S. 15—Estate passing out of the—Custom of single heir succession—Primogeniture. S. 15, if a bar to the plea of a family custom.

Held, that a family custom may be set up in regard to a property even though it has been withdrawn from the scope of Act I of 1869, and that property of this nature may still be held to be governed by family custom of single heir succession although it is no longer an estate within the meaning of Act I of 1869. 7 O. C. 248; 20 O. C. 360, 24 O. C. 107, 38 A. 552 and 26 O. C. 133 considered. (Pullen, and Kendall, A. J. Cs.) ABADI BEGAM v. AHMAD MIRZA BEG. 1 O. W. N. 433; 82 I. C. 691; 11 O. L. J. 757; 1925 Oudd 190.

—S. 23—Taluqdari property—Succession—Non-taluqdari property—Acquisition of—Succession—Family custom.

It is settled law that a subject cannot make his property descendible in a manner not recognised by the ordinary law, and it follows that he cannot by express declaration, still less by mere volition, whether actual or presumed, subject the property acquired by him to a rule of succession applicable to the property which he had received by a grant to which certain conditions were attached. Even in cases where according to family custom, an estate descends to a single heir, there is no necessary presumption that it descends by the rule of primogeniture. Nearness of degree prevails over directness of line so long as the competing claimants are within the category of heirs under the Hindu Law. Where a taluqdar mixes up the income from his taluqdari and non-taluqdari property and purchases other property with the savings, the acquisitions do not become impressed with the character of Taluqdari property and are not descendible as such. (Kanhaiya Lal and Mukerji, JJ) HARBAKSH SINGH v. DAL BAHADUR SINGH. 22 A. L. J. 1079 : 1925 A. 155.

OUDH LAWS ACT (XVIII OF 1876), S. 5.

OUDH LAWS ACT (XVIII OF 1876), S. 5—Dower—Amount of value of assets.

The value of the assets of a deceased Mahomedan after deducting his one-third share of a mortgage debt amounted to Rs. 11,465—5—0. The amount of dower, settled at the time of the marriage, was Rs 70,000 and two dinars. Held, having regard to the means of the husband and the status of the wife, and the fact that they left no children, it would be desirable to award dower under S. 5 of the Oudh Laws Act (XVIII of 1876), about one third of that amount, or roughly Rs. 4,000. (Kanhaiya Lal, J. C.) SYED AMJAD HUSAIN v. MT. UMMATUL ASKARI. 10 O. L. J. 409 : 79 I.C. 644 : 1924 Oudh 232.

—Ss. 7 and 9—Heritable non-transferable leases—Pre-emption—Cosharer of a sub-division.

A right of pre-emption should be presumed to exist not only in the case of under-proprietary communities but also in the case of communities constituted as holders of heritable, non-transferable leases. The expression "non-transferable" in S. 40 of the Land Revenue Act is used in a different sense to that in which the word "transferable" is used in S. 7 (a) of the Oudh Laws Act. Under S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act a right of pre-emption can be exercised by a cosharer of the sub-division of a tenure resulting from a heritable non-transferable lease. The sub-divisions contemplated by S. 9 appear to be units bearing the relation one to another of having been called into existence by one and the same act or event of sub division whatever the purpose of such sub-division. 1 O. L. J. 187 foll. (Ashworth, A. J. C.) LACHMIPAL SINGH v. BHAGWAT SINGH. 1 O. & A. L. R. 1294.

—S. 9—Sale of share—Property the subject matter of suit—Right of pre-emption.

The sale of a share of property which is the subject of a land suit does not give rise to a claim for pre-emption. (Kendall, A. J. C.) AJUDHIYA PRASAD v. RAM AUTAR. 80 I. C. 83.

—S. 9—Stranger joining in suit for pre-emption—Effect.

Where certain persons who were entitled to claim pre-emption joined along with them in pre-emption suit certain strangers with whom they had entered into an agreement relating to the property, the right of pre-emption is lost. Even if the strangers are subsequently struck off the file, the legal position is not altered. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. C.) SARABJIT SINGH v. JAIKARAN SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 239 : 11 O.L.J. 423 : 79 I.C. 950 : 27 O.C. 137 : 1924 Oudh 420.

OUDH RENT ACT.

—Ss 14 and 15—Pre-emption—Failure to deposit amount in time—Effect—Appeal

1924 Oudh 102.

—S. 20—Explanation (a) and (b)—Land acquired by adverse possession from taluqdar whether ancestral.

Land which has been acquired by adverse possession from a taluqdar ceases to form part of an estate as contemplated in cl. (b) of Explanation to S. 20 of the Oudh Laws Act and cannot be called ancestral. Nor can it be deemed to fall under Explanation (a) of the section as land directly or indirectly inherited or owned continuously from the First Regular Settlement. (Dalal, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) SIRAJ AHMAD v. SYED IBNU L HASAN. 10 W. N. 697.

—S. 25—Mortgage—Foreclosure—Transfer if voluntary.

Where there has been a mortgage which is foreclosed the transfer is voluntary and no rights accrue to the mortgagor under Section 25 of the Oudh Laws Act. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MATHURA PRASAD v. INDARPAL SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 55 : 10 O. & A.L.R. 603 : 11 O.L.J. 68 : 1 O. W. N. 357.

OUDH LOCAL RATES ACT (IV OF 1878), S. 3—Mortgagee in possession as a landholder.

Mortgagee in possession, is a "Land-holder" within the meaning of the Act. (Sir John Edge.) MIRZA ABID HUSAIN v. KANIZ FATIMA 46 A. 269 : 22 A. L. J. 284 : 10 O. & A.L.R. 281 : 34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 78 : 19 L. W. 703 : (1924) M. W. N. 657 : 27 O. C. 72 : 11 O.L.J. 427 : 1 O.W.N. 33 : 80 I.C. 1019 : 29 C.W.N. 214 : 1924 P. C. 102.

OUDH RENT ACT (XXII OF 1886) AS AMENDED BY ACT IV OF 1921—Ejectment suit—Expiration of statutory period before the amendment Act coming into force—Maintainability.

A landlord cannot eject a tenant under S. 62 A, if he does not take ejectment proceedings against him, to whom cl. (e) of S. 62-A on the expiry of the statutory period. Failure to do so, will constitute admission to tenancy within the meaning of S. 37. There is nothing in S. 62 A, which is repugnant to the definition of statutory period in S. 3 (1-a) read with S. 36 of the Oudh Rent Act. (Fremantle, S.M. and Burn, J. M.) SRI BHAGAVAN SINGH v. MENDUKORI. L. R. 5 Oudh 155 (Rev) : 1 O. W. N. 800 : 10 O. & A. L.R. 1073.

—Decree for ejectment against trespasser in Revenue Court—Whether restrictions as to the ejectment of tenants apply.

A zamindar can sue a tenant as trespasser in a Civil Court and having obtained a decree can obtain possession at any time in the year. But if he chooses instead to treat him as a tenant and issues notice of ejectment, the restrictions as to the ejectment mentioned in S. 63 of the Oudh Rent Act will apply and he cannot be ejected except between the months of April and June. (Fremantle, S. M.) MD JAFAR ALI KHAN v. AFZAL HUSSAIN. L. R. 5 Oudh 168 (Rev).

OUDH RENT ACT, S. 3.

— S. 3 (3)—Land—If includes "trees"—Occupancy rights—Decree of Settlement Court.

Apart from special contract or customs 'land' as defined in the Oudh Rent Act includes un-gathered produce of land, whether spontaneous or not and will therefore include trees. In view of this it is difficult to separate the trees from the land, and to make the former transferable while the latter is not. A Settlement Court passed a decree recognising occupancy rights in certain lands in favour of the ancestors of the defendant by holding that though they had no under-proprietary rights in them they had the right to replant and enjoy the trees. Held, that the decree did not confer an absolute title to the trees on the defendants so as to entitle them to transfer the trees to be maintained as a grove along with the land. They could only occupy the land, maintain and enjoy the trees and transfer only the right of cutting away the trees. (Kendall, A.J.C.) MAHOM-ED HAIYAT KHAN v. SURAJ BALI SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 952.

— Ss. 3 (10) and 48 159 AS AMENDED BY ACT IV OF 1921, S. 5—Heirs of deceased tenant—Position of—Validity of notice sent to the tenant before the Amending Act.

In a suit by the plaintiffs to contest notices of ejectment served upon them, and at the time of institution they were tenants of the land, as heirs to a deceased tenant under S. 48, who died before 11th Feb. 1922, when the amendment came into force, and, it was contended that the Amending Act. had no retrospective effect.

Held: (1) That the term 'statutory tenants' as defined in S. 3 (18) of the Oudh Rent Act, and added by S. 5 of Act IV of 1921, confers statutory tenancy on the Plaintiff.

(2) That under S. 159, which declares, that a notice issued against a tenant before passing of the Amending Act is null and void, the notice issued in Nov. 1921 was void.

Per Burn—The act as worded, confers the status of statutory tenants on the heirs of tenant dying before the Amending Act came into force who are sued under the Amended Act. The effect of the explanation to S. 3 (18) is to prevent the heir of the tenants who die after the Act comes into force from acquiring statutory rights. (Fremantle, S. M., and Burn, J. M.) BHAGWATI DIN v. BHAGWATI DIN. L. R. 5 O. 153 (Rev) : 10 O. and A. L. R. 1093.

— S. 4—Notice of reejectment—Suit to contest—Applicability of section—Settlement entries—Presumption.

Where there is nothing that the plaintiff in a suit to contest a notice of ejectment was ever treated as a tenant or admitted to the land by the defendant, S. 4 of the Oudh Rent Act does not apply to the case. The presumption is in favour of the correctness of the entry in the recent settlement as against the entry in the preceding settlement. (Burn, J. M.) HARDWAR PANDEY v. RANI JASWANT KUNWAR. L. R. 5 Oudh 180.

OUDH RENT ACT, S. 47.

— S. 5—Acquisition of occupancy rights—Persons claiming as proprietors under Act of 1868, status of.

Occupancy rights can be acquired only in two ways, first by the tenant fulfilling the conditions of S. 5 of the Oudh Rent Act and second by those who acquire occupancy rights allowed to expropriators of land by S. 25 of the Oudh Laws. Act. S. 5 does not apply to persons who were proprietors and not tenants at the time the Oudh Rent Act of 1868 was passed. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) GOKUL v. SHEO SHANKER LAL. L. R. 5 O. 73 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 402 : 11 O. L. J. 395.

— S. 33, Sub-Ss. (1) & (11)—Tenant holding under agreement—Rent—Enhancement—Right of land-holder.

Where a definite rent has been fixed for an occupancy tenant without any indication that permanency was intended, S. 33 of the Oudh Rent Act applies; and Cl. (2) of that section must be interpreted to mean that where there is an agreement, rent can be enhanced according to the terms of the agreement and not according to the methods laid down in Cl. (1). (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) GULAB RAI v. BALBHADDAR SINGH. L. R. 5 Oudh 84 (Rev).

— Ss. 32, 127—Suit for rent—Kabuliyat found against—Claim for use and occupation.

A suit for rent was based on a Kabuliyat and alternatively on the basis of rent being paid as tenant. The court found against the first contention and dismissed the suit. Held, an adjudication on the latter point was necessary. (Kendall, A. J. C.) RAJA MUHAMMAD MAHDI ALI KHAN v. TAWAKKUL KHAN. 78 I. C. 764.

— S. 37—Ejectment—Grant of new plots to tenant—Notice of ejectment.

A tenant who was already in possession of some plots received other plots from the zamindar and putwari lumped both sets of plots together though the rents were shown separately. In a suit by the zamindar to eject.

Held, that there had been no change in the area and rent of the original holding so as to bar the zamindar's right of ejectment and that a notice to eject the tenant from the plots originally held by him could not be objected on the ground that it related only to a portion of the holding. (Fremantle, S. M.) RAM PRASAD v. CHAUDRAIN MITAN KOER. L. R. 5 O. 53 : 10 O. L. J. 708 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 583.

— S. 38—Enhancement of rent—Legality of.

Equitably a Zemindar has no right to claim any enhancement when he makes an agreement for enhancement greater than that authorised by law. (Fremantle, S. M.) BALDEO SINGH v. BALBHADDAR SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 184.

— S. 47—Rent—Agreement to enhance—Illegal contract—If payable.

No agreement made between a landlord and tenant in contravention of the provisions of the Oudh

OUDH RENT ACT, S. 48.

Rent Act could be a valid agreement. When an agreement contrary to S. 47 was entered into to pay enhanced rent, no suit could be brought on that even after that section had been repealed by the Amending Act of 1921. (Kentall, A.J.C.) GUR DIN v. MT. SIRAJUNNISSA. 10 O. & A. L. R. 169; L. R. 5 O. 146 : 8 I. C. 513 (2) : 1924 Oudh 432.

—S. 48 (1) and (2)—“Heir”—Succession to tenancy—Hindu widow—Rights of sapindas.

The word “heir” in the first line of S. 48 of the Oudh Rent Act must be the heir under the personal law of the tenant which in the case was Hindu law. A widow has full statutory rights. Her heirs are the nearest sapindas of her husband under S. 48 of the Act. (Fremantle, S. M.) LAL NARSINGH PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH v. SHEO RAM.

L. R. 5 O. 163 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1112.

—Ss. 55, 56 and 167—Notice of ejectment—Sufficiency of service—Omission of tenant’s name.

Where a notice of ejectment was complete in both Hindi and Urdu but the tenant’s name was not written in Hindi and it was found that though the notice was affixed owing to plaintiff’s absence in Calcutta, it actually reached him. Held that the notice was properly served. (Burn, J. M.) JAGDATT v. RAJA PARTAB BUT. L. R. 5 O. 199 (1).

—S. 56 (1) (e) — Notice of ejectment—Service—Right of tenant to object—Suit to contest ejectment.

Section 56 (1) (e) of the Oudh Rent Act allows a tenant to object on the ground that notice was not served on him in the manner required by this Act. The fact that the plaintiff had been able to file his suit in time is a sufficient answer to the objection. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MANOHAR LAL v. GAYADIN SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 45 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 362 : 11 O. L. J. 65 : 1 O. W. N. 224.

—Ss. 57 and 60 — Ejectment — Application for assistance — Dismissal — Limitation.

A landholder, applied for ejectment of tenant under S. 60 of the Oudh Rent Act but agreed to have his application struck off on the ground that the tenant’s son had been serving on the army. A later application was rejected on the ground that the notice on which it was based had lost its force. Held, that no fresh statutory term began since the date of the last application. There was no change in either area or rent and the plaintiff continued to hold on after the expiry of his previous term. (Burn, J. M.) RAM ACHAL v. RAMESHAR PANDEY. L. R. 5 O. 103.

—S. 60 — Co-sharers — Application for Court’s assistance by one sharer—Objection by tenants as to non-joinder.

An application for the Court’s assistance under S. 60 of the Oudh Rent Act was filed by all the co-sharers who had issued the notice of ejectment but the application had been consigned by mistake to the record room. Subsequently a fresh application was made by one of the co-sharers but it was found that all the co-sharers desired ejectment. Held that an objection by the tenants as to non-joinder of all the co-sharers was not sustainable. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) SITLA BAKSH SINGH v. ATA-UL-LAH KHAN.

OUDH RENT ACT, S. 62-A.

10 O. & A. L. R. 617 : L. R. 5 O. 116 : 11 O. L. J. 539 : 1 O. W. N. 732.

—S. 60—Ejectment—Landlord’s notice to persons other than a tenant—Right of real tenant to oppose.

If a landlord issues a notice on a person other than the actual tenant of the land, and afterwards applies to eject that person, the actual tenant is entitled to oppose the application, and should be made a party to the case. As between a landlord and the person on whom notice is served the points detailed in S. 60 are to be considered. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) SHAH ABRAR HUSAIN v. RAMCHARAN. 5 L. R. O. 169 (Rev.).

—S. 60, Cl. 1 (c)—Ejectment—Permission to remain in possession—Writing—Necessity for.

The receipt of rent given to the tenant by the zamindar is not such written authorisation as will satisfy the requirement of S. 60 of the Oudh Rent Act. Receipt of rent by the Zamindar may in certain circumstances be proof of admission or re-admission to the tenancy. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MT. MAN BIBI v. RAM DHANI. L. R. 5 O. 133 (Rev) : 10 O. & A. L. R. 880.

—S. 61—Arrears of rent—Ejectment—Procedure—Amending Act IV of 1921, S. 41—Effect of.

The new procedure prescribed by S. 61 of the Amending Act IV of 1921 does not apply to the case of arrears decreed before 11—2—1922 in respect of which a landlord was entitled under S. 61 of the Act before amendment to eject by application. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAJA MD. ALI KHAN v. MUNNU UPADHIA.

L. R. 5 O. 151 : 1 O. W. N. 682 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 999.

—S. 62—Amendment of—Pahikasht tenants—Amendment of the Act—Fresh statutory period.

Where the statutory period of Pahikasht tenants came to an end before the Amending Act of 1922, a second statutory period is given to the tenants before they are ejected under S. 62 (a) of the Oudh Rent Act. (Burn, J. M.) SABHAJIT SINGH v. JAWAHIR LAL. L. R. 5 O. 135 (Rev.) : 1 O. W. N. 653 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 922.

—S. 62 A—Suit to eject—Status of tenant—Right to Court’s assistance.

Where a Zemindar brings a suit under S. 26 A, of the Oudh Rent Act he must be deemed to have authorised the tenant to remain in possession within the meaning of S. 60 (1) (c) of the Oudh Rent Act and he is not entitled to assistance under that section to eject in virtue of an order dismissing a suit to contest a notice of ejectment. (Fremantle, S. M., and Burn, J. M.) NOHAR LONIA v. RAM LOTAN. L. R. 5 O. 122 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 737 : 11 O. L. J. 670.

—Ss. 62 A and 108 (4)—Ejectment—Planting of trees on holding—Cause of action.

Where land was let for the purpose of cultivation and not for the planting of trees, the planting of trees unfits it more or less for cultivation and gives rise to a cause of action for immediate ejectment. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) BHAGWAN DIN v. THE SPECIAL MANAGER, COURT OF WARDS. L. R. 5 O. 97.

OUDH RENT ACT, S. 62.

———S. 62 (a) and (c) —Ejectment of statutory tenant—Suit filed on the expiry of statutory period.

In the absence of proof that the statutory period of a statutory tenant expired a court cannot take cognizance of a suit to eject him by virtue of the provisions of S. 62 (a) (c) of the Oudh Rent Act (Fremantle, S. M.) SHANKAR BUX SINGH v. SUKHA. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1273.

———S. 62 A (1), (c) and (proviso 1) —Tenant holding for over ten years without change of area or rent — Statutory period, termination of — Amending Act of 1921, effect of.

Where a tenant has held land for more than ten years before the passing of the Act without change of area or rent, the effect of the Amending Act of 1921 for the purpose of the first proviso to section 62 A (1) is to make the statutory period end in 1329 F. and the second proviso gives a fresh period from the beginning of 1330 F. 1 O. W. N. 800. S. D. 4 of 1924 referred to. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RANA UMA NATH BUX SINGH v. SHEO SAHAI.

1 O. W. N. 894 : L. R. 5 O. 193.

———Ss. 107-H and 103, cl. (10) —Muafidar acquiring under-proprietary rights—Illegal ejectment—Right of such Muafidar to sue for possession in the Revenue Court—Muafi right, whether transferable—Transferee of Muafi rights, position of.

A muafidar who has attained the position of an under-proprietor under S. 107 H, can sue his landlord for recovery of possession as an under-proprietor on his ejectment without any process of law. A muafi right being non-transferable, a transferee of such right does not acquire such a title as he can enforce in a Civil Court. 6 O. L. J. 490 referred to (Dalal, J. C.) BALA DIN v. AJUDHIA 1 O. W. N. 583 : 82 I. C. 443 :

L. R. 5 O. 196 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 978.

———S. 107 —Notice of ejectment—Suit to contest—Favourable rent.

Where a suit is brought to contest a notice of ejectment on the ground of favourable rent the Court must determine whether the land had been originally let at a favourable rent and not whether at the time of the suit the rent had become favourable. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MANOHAR LAL v. MAHESH PATHAK.

L. R. 5 O. 11 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 175 :

10 O. L. J. 704.

———Ss. 107, B. H and 103 —Declaration of status of under-proprietor — Jurisdiction—Civil and Revenue Court.

The provisions of S. 107-H of the Oudh Rent Act specifically provide for a proceeding which is neither of resumption nor of assessment, nor of enhancement of rent and for an order founded on that proceeding. It relates to a case where land is not liable to resumption under S. 107 E. and necessitates an enquiry as to whether it had been held rent free or at a favourable rate since

OUDH RENT ACT, S. 119.

13—2—1856 or for fifty years and by two successors to the original grantee and land which was acquired in perpetuity, in consideration of the loss or surrender of a right previously vested in the grantee, or by written instrument, and for valuable consideration. If on enquiry the conditions stated above are found to exist the court is enjoined to make a declaration that the holder of such land is the under-proprietor thereof. (Wazir Hasan, J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) RAJAH BISHU-NATH SARAN SINGH v. UMADAT.

L. R. 5 O. 140 : 11 O. L. J. 255 :

78 I. C. 150 : 1924 Oudh 415.

———S. 107 H —“Successor” — Transferee included.

The expression “successor” in S. 107 H of the Oudh Rent Act includes not merely the heirs but also the transferee of the grantee. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) THE SPECIAL MANAGER COURT OF WARDS v. BADRI PRASAD ———Ss. 108 (2) and 427 —Jurisdiction of Revenue Court—Defence of proprietary possession.

L. R. 5 O. 101.

Jurisdiction under the Oudh Rent Act is determined by the allegations in the plaint and it is sufficient for the plaintiff to allege that the defendant is a mere trespasser to make the suit cognisable under Ss. 108 (2) and 127 of the Oudh Rent Act. There is nothing in the Oudh Act giving the court an option to require the plaintiff to institute a suit in the civil court. (Ashworth, A. J. C.) MANI RAM v. SYEDWASI ALI.

11 O. & A. L. R. 1197.

———S. 108 (10) —Illegal ejectment—Meaning of—Landlord and tenant—Disputes between.

1924 Oudh 14.

———Ss. 108 (10 b) —Civil and Revenue Courts—Jurisdiction—Occupancy holding—Suit for possession.

S. 108 (10 b) of the Oudh Rent Act is not intended to be limited to suits against a landlord and a suit for possession of an occupancy holding must be brought under that section in a Revenue Court (Kendall and Pullan, A. J. C.) BIKARAMJIT SINGH v. MT. BANSRAH. L. R. 5 O. 173 (Rev.) :

80 I. C. 271 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 764 :

11 O. L. J. 717.

———S. 108 (15) —Suit for profits—Lambardar—Liability to pay interest.

In a suit for profits against a lambardar, though the latter is not under a liability to pay interest under S. 73, Contract Act, or under the Interest Act, he is in a fiduciary position and has to account to his co-sharers and where he without reasonable cause refuses to account, he may in equity be charged interest. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) ADITYA PRASAD v. CHHOTE LAL.

10 O. & A. L. R. 246 : L. R. 5 O. 99 : 78 I. C. 85 :

11 O. L. J. 206 : 1924 Oudh 319.

———S. 108 (15) —Suit for profits—Members of joint Hindu family. Mr. SOHBAI KUAR v. Mr. RAJ DEVI. 1924 Oudh 118 (1).

———S. 119 —Appeals under—Powers of court. L. R. 5 A. 78 (Rev.)

OUDH RENT ACT (XII OF 1881), S. 119.

—S. 119 B—Amendment—Decrease of Dt. Judge on appeal—Revision.
I. R. 5 O. 17 :
1924 Oudh 116

—S. 126—Sir land—Co sharer realising rent separately—Rights of lambardar.

Where in respect of joint sir land one half of the rent had been collected by the lambardar and the other half by another co sharer, it is not open to the lambardar alone, in the absence of a special custom, to eject the sub-tenant. (Fremantle, S. M.) RAM SARAN v. SEWA. L. R. 5 O. 91

—S. 126 (2)—Lambardar—Rights to eject tenants.

A lambardar is appointed by Government for the purpose of paying revenue as representative of the co-sharers and his appointment does not carry with it the right to collect all rent without regard to the wishes of the co-sharers or to eject tenants. (Burn, J. M.) ACHAIBAR SINGH v. RAM HARAKH PANDE. L. R. 5 O. 199 (2).

—S. 127—Mortgagor and mortgagee—Ejectment suit—Mortgagee not performing conditions in mortgage—Effect of.

A usufructuary mortgagee agreed to pay off certain prior creditors of the mortgagor and the latter agreed to deliver possession of the property mortgaged. The mortgagee failed to pay off the creditors and sued for possession of the properties and for rent under S. 127 of the Oudh Rent Act. Held, that it was open to the defendant (mortgagor) to set up the defence that the plaintiff not having performed his part of the contract, was not entitled to enforce his right to possession. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) AVENTIKA v. RASAD SHUKUL v. GUR BAKSH. 27 O. C. 60 : L. R. 5 O. 85 : 78 I. C. 804 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 29 : 11 O. L. J. 197 : 1924 Oudh 425 (2)

—S. 127—Possession of tenant—Against Zamindar's will—Applicability of the section.

Section 127 of the Oudh Rent Act extends to cases where possession though originally lawful is retained against the will of the zamindar. When the defendant after the loss of his proprietary rights by foreclosure continued in possession of his sir or khudkasht lands:

Held, that the section 127 of the Oudh Rent Act applied to the case. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MATHURA PRASAD v. Inderpal Singh. I. R. 5 O. 55 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 603 : 10 O. L. J. 68 : 1 O. W. N. 357.

—S. 127—Suit for arrears of rent—Cultivated grove—Entries in regular settlement.

A suit for arrears of rent was brought by the landlord under S. 127 of the Oudh Rent Act on the ground that the defendants, some twenty years ago, brought the land under cultivation without the sanction of the landlord. It was common ground that the plot of land in question was originally grove land. The land was recorded as a cultivated grove in the record of the first regular settlement, and the finding of the Court was that there had been no change in its character and that it continued to be a grove. Held, that the case was not one to which S. 127 of the Oudh

OUDH RENT ACT (XII OF 1881), S. 159.

Rent Act was applicable. (Daniels, J. C.) THAKUR RUDRA PARTAP SINGH v. HAUSLA PRASAD. 10 O. L. J. 524 : L. R. 5 O. 119 : 79 I. C. 722 : 1924 Oudh 295 (1).

—S. 135—Dismissal of suit for default—Application to restore dismissed suit, itself dismissed—Application to revive—Applicability.

Under S. 135, of the Oudh Rent Act, the provisions of the Oudh Rent Act must prevail in case they conflict with the provisions of the C. P. Code. An order dismissing an application for the revival of a prior application filed to set aside the dismissal of a suit for default, is open to appeal and second appeal under Ss. 116 and 135 of the Oudh Rent Act. (Burn, J. M.) TASADDUQ HUSSAIN v. BHAGWAN BAKHSH SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 89 : 11 O. L. J. 232 : 1 O. W. N. 109 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1134.

—Ss. 136 and 56—Notice of ejectment—Service by affixure—Suit to contest notice—Filing of.

Notice of ejectment was served by affixation on a plaintiff who had gone to an out-station. In spite of this he instituted a suit to contest the notice in time. Held, thereafter the plaintiff could raise no objection about any defect in the service of the notice. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RANGAI v. DEOKINANDAN PANDEY. L. R. 5 O. 77

—S. 136—Notice of ejectment—Service by affixure—Contest of notice.

Service of a notice of ejectment was effected by affixation on tenant who had gone to another district : held, that the fact that the tenant contested the notice in time was sufficient, in the absence of any special circumstances, to validate the notice. (Fremantle, S. M.) RAM PRASAD v. CHAUDHRAN MITAN KOER. L. R. 5 O. 53 : 10 O. L. J. 708 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 588.

—S. 136—Notice—Service—Affixation validity.

Where a tenant admittedly received the notice in time, held the notice was bad because it had been affixed to the house instead of being served personally. The object of the rule is to ensure service. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAJA MD. MEHDI ALI KHAN v. SHYAM KISHORE. L. R. 5 O. 48 : L. R. 5 O. 95.

—S. 136—Service by affixure—Temporary absence.

The words "cannot be found" have been interpreted in many cases not to include cases where the person has gone to particular place and is expected to return shortly. It is the duty of the process-server to make personal service if possible and the mere temporary absence of the persons to be served does not justify the process server in affixing the summons to his door. (Fremantle, S. M.) RANI SUJAN KOER v. DEBAON SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 50 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 510.

—S. 159—Statutory tenancy—Notice of ejectment.

A notice of ejectment was served in 1921 and plaintiff's statutory tenancy began in 1323 Fasli. A suit was filed to contest the notice of ejectment.

ODDH RENT ACT (XII OF 1881), CH. VII.

Held that the notice was void under S. 159 of the Oudd Rent Act. (Burn, J. M.) RAM HARAKH v. BALDEVA. L. R. 5 O. 115.

—Chap. VII—Guzara land—Suit for resumption—Jurisdiction—Civil and Revenue courts.

Guzara land is rent free land and under the Oudd Rent Act Revenue Courts have exclusive jurisdiction in matters relating to the same. Where in a prior resumption suit in the revenue Court, it had been decided that being given for maintenance the land was not resumable, the decision was final and could not be challenged in a Civil Court. (Kendall, A. J. C.) JAI INDAR BAHADUR SINGH v. THAKUR BACHUN SINGH.

10 O. & A. L. R. 365 : L. R. 5 O. 129 : 79 I. C. 1051 : 1 O. W. N. 18 : 1924 Oudd 390.

—Muajidur—Lease at favourable rent—Acceptance of—Effect.

A lease does not debar a subsequent claim for occupancy rights. The defendant was holding under a grant at favourable rates and the effect of the lease was not to deprive him of such rights as he may be found to possess under Chapter VII of the Act. The land in his possession could only be resumed under that Chapter and was not liable to ejectment as a statutory tenant. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) SHEONATH v. THAKUR GANESH BUX SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 41 :

10 O. & A. L. R. 279 : 11 O. L. J. 72.

—Chap. 7 (a)—Jurisdiction of Revenue Courts.

Whether a muafi grant is a transferable one according to the conditions laid down therein, is a question for decision by a Revenue Court and not by a Civil Court. (Neave, and Kendall, A. J. Cs.) UMAN RAWAN PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH v. MUSSAMMAT HUBRAJA. 11 O. L. J. 481 :

1 O. W. N. 413 : 1924 Oudd 422

PART PERFORMANCE—Doctrine—Applicability —Sale—Possession given under prior registered mortgage—Effect

In order to make the doctrine of part performance apply to a sale without registered instrument where possession is with the vendee, such possession must have been given under the contract of sale and be referable to no other title. Where possession was given under a mortgage and subsequently a sale was alleged to have been effected without a registered instrument, the doctrine of part performance will not apply, and the mortgage can be redeemed. (Carr, J.) MA SHWE KIN v. KA HOE. 3 B. L. J. 211 :

1924 Rang. 381.

—Essentials of—Completed contract—Fraud—Parol agreement—Proof of.

To apply the doctrine of Part Performance to a particular case, it must be shown that the acts of Part Performance are unequivocally referable to the alleged agreement ; in other words, Part Performance always supposes a completed agreement. There can be no Part Performance where there is no completed agreement in existence. It must be obligatory and what is done must be under the terms of the agreement and by force of the agreement. The acts must be done by the plaintiff and be such that it would amount to fraud in the defendant to take advantage of the contract not being in writing. Hence the Act must be acquiesced in or done with the knowledge of the other party. The parol agreement must be of such a character that the Court would be able to decree specific performance thereof if it were in writing. The parol evidence must prove the agreement. (Wazir Hasan, J. C. and Pullan, A. J. C.) BANSIDHAR v. LALA AJODHIYA PRASAD.

PARTNERSHIP.

10 O. & A. L. R. 701 : 27 O. C. 175 :

11 O. L. J. 619 : 82 I. C. 333 :

1 O. W. N. 248 : 1925 Oudd 120.

PARTITION—Common and not joint property—Exclusion of some items—Effect. PAKKIRI KANNI v. HAJI MAHOMED MANJOOR SAHEB.

1924 Mad. 124.

—Confirmation of—Application for correction of papers—Error in carrying out directions of Court—Remedy—Procedure.

A partition having been confirmed and come into effect an application was made for correction of the papers on the ground that the orders of the Partition Officer had not been properly complied with. It was not clear whether the partition record was or was not correct. Held, that the proper order was to set aside the order of the collector sanctioning the partition and to quash the partition and direct the disposal of the application according to law. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) JAGDAMBA PRASAD v. KANDESHRI PRASAD. L. R. 5 A. 122 (Rev.) : 11 O. L. J. 402.

—Co-sharers—Rights after partition—Imperfect partition. 1924 A. 57.

—Proceedings for—Khetbat converted into chekbat—Effect of.

The change from Khetbat to Chekbat so entirely alters the character of the partition that the Collector is justified in quashing proceedings when only the owners of a very small portion wished to go on. (Burn, J. M.) BHAGWANI SINGH v. JAIGOPAL SINGH. L. R. 5 A. 268 (Rev.).

—Successive suits for—Maintainability. See. C. P. CODE, O. 2, R. 2. 20 N.L.R. 28.

PARTNERSHIP—Accounts—Promote by one partner in favour of another—Suit on.

In a promissory note transaction between partners, a suit can be brought by the promisee—partner on the promissory note against the promisor—partners without involving the necessity of taking partnership accounts. 31 M. 347 Ref. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) RANGASAMAPPA v. SIDDALINGAPPA.

2 Mys. L. J. 90.

—Account settled—Re-opening of—Share of retiring partner carried over—Effect.

In taking accounts after the retirement of some members of a trading partnership, part of their share in the profits was taken over into a new account. Held, it was either a mutual mistake or fraud and in either case the mistake should be rectified. Where the whole account is not impugned, it need not be re-opened in its entirety, but it is enough if they are allowed leave to surcharge and falsify. (Young, J.) ABDOOLA v. MAHOMED

PARTNERSHIP.

75 I. C. 171 : 1925 Rang. 99.

——— Accounts—Taking of—Evidence to prove entries.

In taking-accounts of a partnership if items in the accounts are alleged to be false, the party aggrieved should be given opportunities to let in evidence regarding the same. (Baker, O. J. C.)
RAHIMBAK v. AKBARKHAN. 7 N. L. J. 212 : 1925 Nag. 188.

——— Debt—Promissory note by one member of a firm—Money applied for partnership purposes—Liability of the firm. See CONTRACT ACT, Ss. 231 AND 251. 28 C. W. N. 824.

——— Dissolution—Agreement at, by which firm's business and liabilities are taken over by one of the partners—Creditors not parties to—Effect of agreement upon, and upon partners inter se.

When on the dissolution of a partnership an agreement is arrived at by which one of the partners takes over the firm's assets and makes himself personally responsible for its debts and liabilities, a creditor of the firm who is not a party to the dissolution agreement is not affected by it. The direct joint liability of each of the partners to such creditor remains entirely unaffected by the execution of such agreement. But by that agreement, the partner who took over the firm's assets and liabilities, as between himself and each of his former partners, becomes solely responsible for the firm's debt to that creditor, and each of the other former partners becomes entitled to an indemnity from the partner who took over the liabilities against all liability as a former partner of his in respect of that debt. Each of the other partners is entitled to have that right of indemnity declared and enforced (by an order on the partner who took over the debts, for example, to pay off the debt) if the right were disputed or the obligation neglected. But each of the other partners is entitled to no more. He cannot recover the debt from the partners who took over the liabilities unless and until he has himself paid it. (Lord Blanesburgh.) VEERAPPA CHETTY v. ARUNACHELLAM CHETTY.

26 Bom. L. R. 661 : 20 L. W. 368 :
(1924) M. W. N. 559 : 35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 161 :
47 M. L. J. 168.

——— Dissolution — Right to — Partnership at will.

In the case of a partnership at will, each partner is entitled to dissolution; it is a legal right under the Contract Act. The circumstances in which a court may order a dissolution of partnership during the term have no bearing in connection with a partnership at will. (Lord Dunedin) RAM SINGH v. RAM CHAND.

22 A. L. J. 14 : (1924) M. W. N. 76 : 19 L. W. 4 :
26 Bom. L. R. 196 : 33 M. L. T. (P. C.) 465 :
2 Pat. L. R. 94 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 156 : L. R. 5 P. C. 46 :
28 C. W. N. 566 : 5 Lah. 23 : 51 I. A. 154 :
1924 P. C. 2 (P. C.) : 79 I. C. 944 : 1 O. W. N. 65 :
40 C. L. J. 276 : 46 M. L. J. 158.

PARTNERSHIP.

——— Duty to disclose material facts.

It is a duty of a managing partner to disclose to the other partners all the material facts within his knowledge which would assist them in deciding whether or not to enter into a contract dealing with the partnership. (Schwabe, C. J. and Couitts Trotter, J.) BRUNTON v. BRUNTON. 78 I. C. 299.

——— Suit for accounts against another firm—The second firm suing for dissolution—Effect. 1924 Bom. 263.

——— Suit for dissolution—Various defendants impleaded as having interest at different times—Other business—Multifariousness. 2 Pat. L. R. 132 : 76 I. C. 950 : 1924 P. 65.

——— Suit by one member alone—Joint cause of action—Maintainability.

A suit cannot be maintained by one only of the partners of a firm or by one of the joint promisees in respect of a cause of action which had accrued to all jointly. (Kennedy and Bilaram, A. J. Cs.) RALLIRAM SHEWARAM v. BUDHURAM PARMAN-AND. 79 I. C. 914.

——— Suit—Parties—Rule—Exception—Decree in favour of plaintiff in partnership action—Appeal by defendants—Death of one of them pending—Abatement of appeal.

The plaintiff sued the defendants who were four in number, alleging that he entered into a partnership with them, that he contributed towards capital Rs. 1,745, that the defendants by suppression of the accounts of the firm and otherwise were causing loss to him, and on these grounds he asked for a decree dissolving the partnership and directing the defendants to pay him the amount due inclusive of interest and profits. The trial Judge found that substantially the case of the plaintiff was true and that the defendants fraudulently withheld the account books. In the result he gave the plaintiff a decree for Rs. 1,445 and profits amounting to Rs. 1,100. The sum of Rs. 1,100 was decreed as profits on the ground that, as the defendants had suppressed the account books, every presumption should be made against them and the plaintiff's figure must be accepted. From the decree of the sub-judge the first three defendants preferred an appeal to the District Judge contending that there was no partnership at all and that the plaintiff was in possession of the account books and was responsible for their suppression. There was no contest between the defendants inter se as to the measure of the liability of each one of them, and they were prepared to pay jointly the amount likely to be decreed by the appellate Court. Pending the appeal, the 3rd defendant died, and, as his legal representative was not brought on record within the prescribed period, the appeal abated so far as he was concerned. Thereupon the District Judge dismissed the appeal as regards debts 1 and 2 also on the ground that all partners were necessary parties to a partnership action and that the appeal in the absence of the legal representative of the third defendant was incompetent. Held that the rule that the plaintiff in a partnership action was liable to have his suit dismissed if he did not make all the partners parties to his suit was in applicable to the case and that the appeal ought not to have been dismissed as regards 1 and 2 debts, also. (Venkatasubba Rao and Jackson, JJ.) GANGULU NAIDU v. N. CHENGAMA NAIDU

PARTNERSHIP.

47 M. L. J. 871 : 1925 Mad. 237.

—Suit by partner to recover money due in respect of partnership—Limitation—Suit for accounts barred—Suit on judgment—Maintainability.

A claim by a partner to recover a sum of money from the other partners in respect of a transaction of the partnership must form part of the enquiry in the action for winding up the partnership and no suit will lie thereafter after a suit for an account is barred by limitation 45 M. 378 (P. C.) referred to. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) RAMASWAMI v. M. P. M. MUTHAYYA CHETTI
47 M. L. J. 829 : 21 L. W. 75 : 1925 Mad. 279.

—Surety bond for maintaining partner—Liability for loss—Onus of proving loss

77 I. C. 251.

PATNA HIGH COURT RULES, Ch. V, R. 6—Special Bench—Authority to refer a case to—Chief Justice—Whole Court.

It is for the court as a whole and not for the Chief Justice to decide whether a particular Full Bench decision should be considered by the High Court in a Bench specially constituted for the purpose (Das and Macpherson, JJ.) JAGDISHWAR NARAYAN v. MD HAZIQ HUSSAIN.

1924 P. H. C. C. 142 : 77 I. C. 851 :

5 Pat. L. T. 473 : 1924 P. 537.

—Ch. 9, R. 7—Paper book—Appeals in execution of decrees—Printing of decree. NRIPENDRA NATH CHATTERJEE v. JHUMAK MANDER.

75 I. C. 681 (1) : 1924 Pat. 181.

PATNI—Suit for arrears—Plaintiff if entitled to interest on arrears.

Where a putni was sold for arrears and was purchased by a third party and the defendants amicably settled the question of mesne profits with the purchaser and the defendants had actually realised rents from the tenants for the year 1323 by means of rent suits as appeared from the rent decrees produced in the case, the plaintiff zamindar was entitled to get interest on the rent for the year 1323. (Chatterjee and Chotner, JJ.) BIJOY CHAND MOHATAB v. KHOKA SINHE.

1924 Cal. 1059.

PATNI REGULATION (VIII OF 1819), S. 11

—Applicability—Interest of occupancy raiyat

—When protected. 1924 Cal. 353 (2).

PENAL CODE—The Code must be construed in its natural meaning but differences from prior English law need not be assumed.

The criminal law of India is prescribed by and so far as it goes is contained in the Indian Penal Code; accordingly (as the Code itself shows) the criminal law of India and that of England differ in sundry respects: and the Code has first of all to be construed in accordance with its natural meaning and irrespective of any assumed intention on the part of its framers to leave unaltered the law as it existed before. (Lord Sumner.) BARENDRA KUMAR GHOSH v. EMPEROR.

PENAL CODE, S. 34.

1 O. W. N. 935 : 1925 P. C. 1.

—S. 21—Public servant—Convict warder in a gaol—Illegal gratification—Smuggling of prohibited articles into prison—Offence. See PENAL CODE, S. 161. 26 Bom. L. R. 267.

—S. 34—Acts done in furtherance of common intention make all equally liable for the results of all the acts of others.

The doing to death of one person at the hands of several by blows or stabs under circumstances in which it can never be known which blow or blade actually extinguished life if indeed one only produced that result is common in criminal experience and the impossibility of doing justice, if the crime in such case is the crime of attempted murder only has been generally felt. It is not often that a case is found where several shots can be proved and yet there is only one wound but even in such circumstances it is obvious that the rule ought to be the same as in the wider class unless the words of the Code clearly negative it. Of course questions arise in such cases as to the extent to which the common intention and the common contemplation of gravest consequence may have gone and participation in a joint crime as distinguished from mere presence at the scene of its commission is often a matter not easy to decide in complex states of fact but the rule is one that has never left the Indian Courts in much doubt. 21 A. 263, 29 C. 436, 36 Cal. 6, 5, and 9; 35 A. 329, 41 C. 154. Appr. S. 34 deals with the doing of separate acts similar or diverse by several persons; if all are done in furtherance of a common intention each person is liable for the result of them all as if he had done them himself for "that act" and "the act" in the latter part of the section must include the whole action covered by "a criminal act" in the first part because they refer to it. 1923 Cal. 453; 40 All. 103; 21 and 24 P. R. 1919 Cr. overruled. It is however equally true that the Code must not be assumed to have sought to introduce differences from the prior law. The Penal Code continues to employ some of the older technical terms without even defining them as in the case of abetment. It abandons others such as principal in the first or the second degree but it must not be supposed that because it ceases to use the terms it does not intend to provide for the ideas which those terms however imperfectly expressed. One object which those who framed the Code had in view, was to simplify the law; and to get rid of the terms "principal in the first degree" and "principal in the second degree" and others, was no doubt a step in that direction but to introduce a general section, S. 34 which has little, if any, content and to attach a wholly new importance to abetments and attempts was to complicate, not to simplify the administration of the law, for participation and joint action in the actual commission of crime are in substance, matters which stand in antithesis to abetments or attempts. If S. 34 was deliberately reduced to the mere simultaneous doing in concert of identical criminal acts for which separate convictions for the same offence could have been obtained no small part of the cases which are brought by their circumstances within participation and joint commission would be omitted from the Code altogether.

PENAL CODE, S. 34.

There is a difference between object and intention for though the object of an unlawful assembly is common, the intentions of the several members may differ and indeed may be similar only in the respect that they are all unlawful while the element of participation in action which is the leading feature of S. 34 is replaced in S. 149 by membership of the assembly at the time of the committing of the offence. Both sections deal with combinations of persons, who become punishable as sharers in an offence. Thus they have a certain resemblance and may to some extent overlap, but S. 149 cannot at any rate relegate S. 34 to the position of dealing only with joint action by the commission of identically similar criminal acts, a kind of case which is not in itself deserving of separate treatment at all. (Lord Sumner.) BARENDRA KUMAR GHOSH v. EMPEROR. 10 W. N. 935: 1925 P. C. 1.

—Ss. 34, 109, 114 and 304—Attack by five persons—Assailants armed with dangerous weapons—Death caused by a blow—No evidence as to who caused blow.

Five persons armed with dangerous weapons attacked another and as a result of a single blow delivered by only one of them the victim died. It was not proved who actually gave the blow. Held that all the assailants could not be convicted under S. 304 read with section 34 but must be convicted under section 325 read with section 109, or rather section 114, I. P. C. because they had armed themselves with dangerous weapons and must have known that in case of opposition the weapons would be used and grievous hurt at least would be caused. (Malan, J.) NIAMAT v. EMPEROR. 6 Lah. L. J. 385: 1925 Lah. 117.

—S. 34—Applicability—Common intention—MAUNG GYI v. EMPEROR. 1924 Rang. 34.

—Ss. 34 and 326—Assault—Accused armed with deadly weapon—Injury—Offence. 1924 Lah. 216.

—Ss. 34 and 325—Causing bodily injury—Charge—Appeal—finding that accused has not personally caused injury—Alteration of charge—Conviction.

The accused was charged with having caused such bodily injury to the deceased as resulted in his death and thereby committed an offence punishable under S. 325, I. P. C. The additional Sessions Judge convicted the accused but on appeal the High Court found that the conviction would not be upheld inasmuch as the accused himself had not personally caused the injury. Held, that it was not competent to the High Court on appeal to alter the charge and convict the accused with the help of S. 34 I. P. C. on the ground that the blow was struck by some other person in pursuance of a common intention. To send the case back for retrial on an amended charge under Ss. 34 and 325, I. P. C. would mean inviting the court below to believe on the amended charge the very witnesses whom the Court in effect held to have committed perjury. (Bovs, J.) CHEDA SINGH v. EMPEROR. L. R. 5 A. 133 (Cr): 1924 A 766.

PENAL CODE, S. 71.

—Ss. 34, 114, 149 and 307—Charge of attempt to murder—Conviction for abetment.

There is no reason why a person who is charged under S. 302, I. P. C. cannot be convicted, although he is not charged with it, under S. 114 read with S. 302, I. P. C. A man so charged and so convicted would not in any way be mislead in his defence: for he is punishable under S. 114 not as a mere abettor but as a principal. A man charged with the substantive offence can be rightly convicted of that offence read with S. 114, I. P. C. although not charged with it. Even though the accused have been charged with offences under Ss. 148, 149 and 307, I. P. C. it is open to the court to convict them of an offence under S. 307 read with S. 34 or S. 114, I. P. C. (Marten and Kincaid, JJ.) EMPEROR v. RANCHO SURSANG. 26 Bom. L. R. 954: 1924 Bom. 502.

—Ss. 34—Joint acts—Offence. 1924 Mad. 229.

—Ss. 34, 397 and 398—Provisions of S. 34, I. P. C.—Not material in construing Ss. 397 and 398 I. P. C. See Penal Code, Ss. 397 and 398. 51 C. 265.

—S. 65—Maximum sentence of one year—Five months in lieu of fine—Legality.

A sentence of 2 months rigorous imprisonment in default of payment of fine, when the maximum sentence for the offence is one year's imprisonment, is illegal. (Kendall, A J C.) NUR-UD-DIN v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 116 (1): 81 I. C. 985 (1): 1925 Oudh 109 (1).

—Ss. 71 and 400—Elements of offence—Testimony of approver—Acquittal of some of the accused—Gang of dacoits—Actual Commission of dacoity if necessary—Sentence—Cr. P. Code S. 397.

The mere fact that several men implicated by the approver as having belonged to a gang of dacoits have been acquitted does not render the evidence of the approver inadmissible. An approver's testimony by itself is not sufficient for the conviction of an accused person without corroboration. If the corroboration is wanting the accused person is acquitted, however reliable the testimony of the approver may appear to court. But to this is added a second proposition by way of an axiom that weight of the testimony of an approver is reduced by the acquittal of persons implicated by him. His testimony might as well be taken out of a record of any trial. It will be no fault of the approver if the prosecution fails to obtain corroboration of his evidence with respect to particular accused person. Having regard to the fact that no conviction could be obtained without corroboration of an approver's testimony, the acquittal of any number of persons for want of corroboration cannot weaken the weight of such testimony. The matter would be different if it is shown that even one accused person has been acquitted not for want of corroboration but in virtue of a finding that that accused person was innocent of the crime. In such a case the approver would be proved to have told a falsehood with respect to at least one particular accused person and his testimony would in consequence be looked upon with the greatest suspicion.

PENAL CODE, S. 71.

A conviction can be had under S. 400, I. P. C. even where no actual commission of a dacoity is proved. The element of that offence is association with the knowledge that it formed * for the purpose of committing dacoities habitually. The limit of punishment prescribed by S. 71, I. P. C. does not apply here.

Where a person is proved to have taken part in a particular dacoity and also to have been a member of a gang of dacoits, separate sentences could be passed on him. It will be for the Court in its discretion to determine whether the two sentences should run concurrently or not. (Dalal J. C. and Neave, A. J. C.) MURLI v. EMPEROR.

10 O. & A. L. R. 988.

S. 71—House breaking and rape.

75 I. C. 17 : 6 Lah. L. J. 111.

S. 71—Offences under Ss. 147, 149 and 325—Conviction—Separate sentences—Sentences to run concurrently—Legality of.

The accused was found guilty of an offence under S. 147, I.P.C. and of an offence under S. 325 read with S. 149, I.P.C. The accused was sentenced to 2 years' rigorous imprisonment for the former offence and to a further term of 3 years for the latter, both sentences to run concurrently. Held, that separate punishments for the two offences were illegal under S. 71 para (1) I.P.C. and it did not make any difference that the sentences were directed to run concurrently. The second sentence must be set aside, 16 C. 44 foll. (Sanderson, C. J. and Cuming, J.) KIAMUDDI KARIKAR v. EMPEROR.

51 Cal. 79 : 28 C. W. N. 347:

81 I. C. 593 : 25 Cr. L. J. 945 : 1924 Cal. 771.

Ss. 71, 147, 149 and 342—Rioting—Wrongful confinement—Separate sentences—Legality of.

The imposition of separate sentences under S. 342, I. P. C. read with S. 149 is not legal having regard to the provisions, S. 71 I. P. C. 8 C. W. N. 483: 51 C. 79 Ref. (Sanderson, C. J. and Walmsley J.) AMEBRUDDI PRAMANIK v. EMPEROR.

40 C. L. J. 306.

S. 73—Cumulative sentences—Solitary Confinement 76 I.C. 21 : 25 Cr. L. J. 85.

S. 73—Solitary confinement—Conviction under Criminal Tribes Act—Power to order solitary confinement.

Solitary confinements are imposed, under section 73 of the Penal Code and under that section there is no authority for imposing a sentence of solitary confinement when a person is convicted under some other Criminal Act. The Criminal Tribes Act (No. 3 of 1911) makes no provision for imposing a sentence of solitary confinement on persons convicted under that Act and a Magistrate has no jurisdiction to order that any part of the sentence on the accused convicted under that Act should be one of solitary confinement. (Sulaiman, J.) BIDHA v. EMPEROR.

PENAL CODE, S. 83.

L R. 5 A 19 (Cr.)

S. 73—Solitary confinement—Offence under Arms Act.

Solitary confinement cannot be awarded when a person is convicted under a special or local law such as the Arms Act. (Abdul Raoof, J.) EMPEROR v. NAZIR SINGH.

76 I.C. 184 : 25 Cr. L. J. 120 : 1924 Lah. 667 (1).

Ss. 75, 380 and 448—Discovery of treasure—Pot containing coins—Owner of field using pressure to recover coins—Offence.

In a village of which the accused was the part owner and the second accused was the manager, certain coins were discovered while a field was being dug by a tenant. The coins were distributed among the villagers. The manager came to the village with his servants and proceeded to make a round of the houses in the village demanding the coins in the possession of various householders. They used force and conducted house searches. When he had collected a certain amount of the coins he took the discoverer of the treasure to the police station where all the facts were laid before the police. The police after enquiry reported that the conduct of the accused and their servants was oppressive and high-handed. Held that the case was one of trespass rather than of theft as there was no intention to cause wrongful loss or wrongful gain. The conviction under S. 75 I. P. C. could not be sustained as the punishment under S. 448, I. P. C. was for a term less than three years. (Foster, J.) THAKUR PRASAD SINGH v. EMPEROR.

2 Pat. L. R. 205 (Cr) : 1924 Oudh 665.

S. 75—Offence under S. 369.

75 I. C. 368 : 6 Lah. L. J. 110.

Ss. 76 and 342—Wrongful confinement—Arrest of a wrong person under a warrant—Mistake—Liability of police officer.

A police officer serving in an up country district came to Bombay with a view to arrest a person named Giria. After making reasonable enquiries and on reasonable suspicion he arrested the complainant believing he was Giria, while in fact he was not.

Held, that the police officer was not guilty of an offence under S. 342, I. P. C. and he could invoke the protection given by S. 76, I.P. C., (MacLeod, C. J. and Crump, J.) EMPEROR v. GOPALIA KALLAIYA. 26 Bom. L. R. 138 : 81 I. C. 317 : 25 Cr. L. J. 797 : 1924 Bom. 333.

S. 83—Offence under S. 366 I. P. C.—Infancy of accused.

If a child commits an offence when he is unable to understand the nature of the offence, it can hardly be supposed that he will be able to understand that he must plead his own lack of understanding when placed upon his trial. He cannot be debarred from the defence allowed him by S. 83, I. P. C. merely because of his ignorance of court procedure. Where an infant is charged with an offence, it should be left to the jury to say whether at the time of the offence the prisoner had a guilty knowledge that he was doing wrong. (Pullan, A. J. C.) EMPEROR v. ALI RAZA.

PENAL CODE, S. 4.

10 O. & A. L. R. 788.

—Ss. 84 and 302—Unsound mind—Murder—Offence—Sentence.

The accused was suffering from a type of insanity known as folie circulaire, (i.e.) a type of insanity which commences in abnormality of conduct on the part of the sufferer. The abnormality increased by degrees until a period was reached when the man was manifestly insane. That was when the disease was at its height. Gradually the man got better, the abnormality ceased and for a period again he became perfectly sane. After a time abnormality began again and so the circle continued with alternating periods of lunacy, abnormality and sanity. It was found that though the accused was of unsound mind at the time when he committed the murder he knew perfectly well he was doing a wrong thing. Held, that the accused cannot get the benefit of the exemption of S. 84, I. P. C. The proper course is to sentence the accused to transportation for life so that he could be kept under observation. If he is for a sufficiently long period a man of apparent sanity, it is always competent to the Local Government to pass such order as clemency may suggest upon satisfactory medical certificates. (Mears, C. J. and Stuart, J.) LACHHMAN v. EMPEROR.
46 A. 243: 22 A. L. J. 116 :
81 I. C. 171 : 25 Cr. L. J. 683 : 1924 A. 413.

—Ss. 86 and 302—Murder—Absence of motive—Action under the influence of ganja—Mental derangement. See PENAL CODE, Ss. 302 and 86.
39 C. L. J. 34.

—S. 94—Abetment of murder—Joint trial of principal and abettor—Acquittal of principal—Effect of.

It cannot be laid down as a general proposition that in every case where an abettor and principal are tried together, the abettor if charged with having abetted the principal in the commission of the offence must be acquitted if the principal is acquitted. In the majority of cases this would necessarily follow but there may be exceptions to the rule. Where there is evidence to prove the commission of the offence as against the abettor which is not equally good evidence against the principal then the abettor might be convicted especially where there can be no doubt that the offence of murder was committed. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) UMADASI DASI v. EMPEROR.

28 C. W. N. 1046 : 40 C. L. J. 143 :
83 I. C. 491 : 1924 Cal. 1031.

—Ss. 97 and 105—Removal of property—Resistance to—Shooting of wild game—Carcase falling in the land of another—Right of person shooting, to remove it—Obstruction—Offence.

If a person kills a wild animal or wild bird on the property of another person, such dead creature does not belong to the killer but to the proprietor of the property, and such proprietor either himself or by his duly authorised agent can lawfully demand and if refused seize such dead creature from the possession of the killer, and such persons as help him to exercise his right are doing no wrong, but, as against any person other than the proprietor of the estate or his duly authorised agent or those lawfully helping the proprietor or his agent the killer has a right to retain possession of the dead creature and anybody else depriving him forcibly of possession commits an offence. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) EMPEROR v. ARTU RANTRA.

PENAL CODE, S. 100.

3 Pat. 549 :
81 I. C. 82 : 25 Cr. L. J. 94 : 1924 P. 564.

—Ss. 97 and 99—Right of private defence of property—Parties in joint actual possession of property—One party collecting rent from the tenants for his own benefit to the exclusion of the other party—Use of force by the other party, whether justified—Plea of private defence.

Where two parties are in joint actual possession of property, the act of one party in excluding the other from the enjoyment of such a possession by collecting rent from the tenants for his own benefit to the exclusion of the other party is clearly wrongful and the other party is justified in using force in the exercise of the right of private defence for the purpose of preventing the wrongful act. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) MAHESH SINGH v. EMPEROR.
1 O. W. N. 549 :
10 O. & A. L. R. 947 : 11 O. L. J. 743.

—S. 97—Right of private defence—Property belonging to a third person—Theft or robbery.

Under S. 97, I. P. C., every person has a right to defend the property whether moveable or immoveable of himself or of any other person against any act which is an offence falling under the definition of theft, robbery or criminal trespass or which is an attempt to commit theft robbery or criminal trespass. (Sulaiman, J.) DALGANJAN v. EMPEROR.
22 A. L. J. 81 :
L. R. 5 A. 61 (Cr.) : 77 I. C. 881 :
25 Cr. L. J. 481 : 1924 A. 696 (2).

—S. 99—Private defence—Right of—Public servant not known to be such—Defence not set up—Duty of Court.

Even where a right of private defence is not pleaded, the Court, on finding on the evidence before it, that the accused acted in the exercise of his right of private defence, is bound to take cognizance of this fact. 16 Cr. L. J. 169 Ref. There exists a right of private defence under S. 99 Explan. I in a case where the alleged offender does not know and has no reason to believe that the person doing the act was a public servant. (Mookerji, J.) KISHEN LAL v. EMPEROR.

22 A. L. J. 501 : L. R. 5 A. 177 (Cr.) :
1924 A. 645.

—S. 99—Right of private defence of property.

2 Pat. L. R. (Cr.) 13 : 1924 P. 143.

—S. 100—Extent of right—Reasonable apprehension.

The extent to which the exercise of the right of self-defence is justified depends not on the actual danger but whether there was a reasonable apprehension of such danger. (Scott Smith and Fforde, JJ.) BAGH SINGH v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 625 : 81 I. C. 113 : 1925 Lah. 49.

PENAL CODE, S. 106.

— Ss. 106, 141 and 146—Rioting—Use of violence—Injury to property. MARIMUTHU NAIDU, In re. 76 I. C. 235 : 25 Cr. L. J. 139.

— Ss. 107, 108—Abetment—Instigation—What acts constitute. See CRIMINAL LAW AMENDMENT ACT, Ss 15 AND 17. 5 Lah. 1.

— S. 114—Abetment is a crime in itself while along with presence it is an offence under S. 114.

S. 114 is a provision which is only brought into operation when circumstances amounting to abetment of a particular crime have first been proved and then the presence of the accused at the commission of that crime is proved in addition. Abetment does not in itself involve the actual commission of the crime abetted. It is a crime apart. The section is evidentiary not punitive. Because participation de facto may sometimes be obscure in detail, it is established by the presumption juris et de jure that actual presence plus presence or abetment can mean nothing else but participation. The presumption raised by S. 114 brings the case within the ambit of S. 34. (Lord Sumner.) BARENDRA KUMAR GHOSH v. EMPEROR. 10 W. N. 935 : 1925 P. C. 1.

— S. 114—Scope of.

S. 114 implies that the abetment had been completed before the actual offence was committed. The section deals with a person who would be guilty of abetment independent of any act done at the time of the offence, i. e., a person whose abetment is complete apart from his presence. It defines the liability of such a person if he happens to be present when the offence is committed. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) ANNAVI v. EMPEROR. 82 I. C. 262 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1254 : 21 L. W. 19.

— Ss. 116 and 161—Attempt to bribe—Offer—Public servant—Offer of illegal gratification.

A mere offer to pay an illegal gratification to a public servant is an attempt to bribe and money or other consideration need not be proved to have been actually produced at the time. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) RAMSHWAR SINGH v. EMPEROR. 3 Pat. 647 : 83 I. C. 679. 1925 P. 48.

— S. 120—Conspiracy—Offence under S. 19 (1) of the Arms Act—What has to be proved by the prosecution—Overt act.

When the proof of a conspiracy depends upon proof of the participation of the accused in an overt act which itself amounts to an offence the proper course is to put the accused on their trial for that offence. Where all that is shown against a person is evidence of his association with any of the conspirators that would not be sufficient to convict him of being one of the parties to the conspiracy.

Held, that on the evidence in the case, the accused were guilty of a conspiracy to get possession of arms and ammunition by illegal means and in contravention of the Arms Act. (Chitty and Richardson, JJ.) KALI DAS BASU v. EMPEROR. 83 I. C. 513 : 39 C. L. J. 151.

— S. 120-B—Charge to jury—What it should contain.

PENAL CODE, S. 124.

In a charge to the jury in a conspiracy case it should be necessary not only that there should be a consideration of the conspiracy and a determination of its nature and proof but unless it is quite clear that if there was a conspiracy all the accused were members of it, there should be a separate statement and criticism of the proved actions of each of the members of the conspiracy. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) TOPANDAS v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 761 : 81 I. C. 249 : 1923 Sindh 116.

— Ss. 120 B and 489 A & D—Forgery of currency notes—Conspiracy—Conviction under S. 120-B—Alternative charge under S. 107, I. P. C.

The words "where no express provision is made in this Code for the punishment of such a conspiracy" in S. 120-B, I. P. C., refer entirely to the quantum of the punishment to be inflicted in the event of conviction under the section and do not lay down any limitation against a charge under this section even where the accused has actually committed an offence under some other section of the Penal Code. The mere fact that a charge under Ss. 107 and 489, I. P. C., could have been framed against the accused in respect of a conspiracy to forge currency notes does not vitiate their conviction under Ss. 120-B and 489, I. P. C. (Watson, R. M.) NARAYANACHARI v. EMPEROR. 2 Mys. L. J. (P. & C) 11.

— Ss. 120-B, 302 and 364—Murder—Conspiracy—Several charges—No verdict on one of the charges—Re-trial.

Where two persons are tried for an offence under S. 120-B read with S. 302, I. P. C., and one of them is acquitted of the charge, the other cannot be convicted as the gist of the offence under S. 120-B, I. P. C., is an agreement between the accused persons. Where an accused person was tried under Ss. 302, 120-B read with Ss. 302 and 364, I. P. C., and the verdict of the jury was silent about the charge under S. 302 but found him guilty under Ss. 120-B and 364 held, that the verdict of the jury did not in itself negative the charge of murder and a re-trial on that charge should be ordered. (Sanderson, C. J. and Cumming, J.) EMPEROR v. OSMAN SARDAR 39 C. L. J. 264 : 81 I. C. 824 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1048 : 1924 Cal. 809.

— Ss 124-A and 153-A—Same article if can constitute both offences.

A writer can commit offences both under S. 124-A and S. 153-A in the same article published in a paper. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) EMPEROR v. NABI BUX 25 Cr. L. J. 614 : 81 I. C. 102 : 1925 Sindh 59.

— S. 124-A—Sedition—"Disaffection"—Meaning of—Object of the provision—Duty of Court—Exciting feelings of disaffection—State of the country and minds of the people—Press and Registration of Books Act, S. 7—Entry of editor's name—Presumption.

Where a person is prosecuted for an offence, under S. 124-A, I. P. C., in respect of a newspaper article written by him the Court must not look to single sentences or isolated expressions but take the article as a whole and give a full, free and generous consideration and apply deal with it, in a fair and liberal spirit, not picking out objectionable sentences or strong words used nor should undue importance be given to inflated and turgid language. We must also look to the real intention and spirit of the article. 19 C 35, Ref. The Court has to decide whether the article constitutes an attempt to bring the British Government established in India into hatred, or contempt or attempted to excite the feelings mentioned in the section. The amount or intensity of the disaffection is absolutely immaterial, for if a man excites or attempts to excite feelings of disaffection at all, even in the smallest degree, he is guilty under S 124-A, I. P. C. The Court has to decide whether the character of the article is such as to bring it within either of the second or third explanations to S 124 A. The Court has to bear in mind the class of paper in which the article appears and the class of people among whom it will be circulated and remember also that though the ultimate object of the writer may be unobjectionable, if in explaining that object, he uses language which is likely to bring the Government into contempt or to excite disaffection S. 124-A will apply. It is true that the conditions at present in India are quite different from those which existed in 1897 and that far greater freedom is given to the press now than was given in those days and things which may now be said and written with impunity would have been treated as seditious at the end of the last century. The Court has to consider the state of the minds of the people at present and the present conditions and to decide whether the article is now likely to engender feelings of hatred, enmity or disloyalty in the minds of the readers. The Court has to consider the article as a whole and look to see whether the general tenor of the article as shown by the expression used was intended to bring the government established by law in British India into hatred or contempt or constitutes an attempt to excite disaffection against that Government. The ascription to the Government of the object, as a root principle, to divide the races of India, so as to strengthen its rule and to destroy the language, culture, trade, commerce, arts and industries by strangling regulations, as well as the description of the Government as a Government which rules by brute force in an arbitrary manner over a people who have no voice in the administration, could not fail to cause a feeling of disaffection and contempt, if not hatred, in the minds of the Indian reader. The entry of the name of the Editor as such on a newspaper is sufficient evidence that, on the day that newspaper was published, the person bearing that name was Editor of the paper. A declaration under S. 7 of Act XXIV of 1867 is sufficient evidence that a person is a printer and publisher of the article. Under S. 84 of the Act as amended by Act XIV of 1922 a person whose name appears as an Editor may make a declaration before the Dt. Magistrate within two weeks of his becoming aware of the publication, that the publication of his name as Editor is incorrect. (Adami and Macpherson, JJ.) NAGESWAR PRASAD SHARMA v. EMPEROR.

PENAL CODE, S. 124 A.

1924 P. H. C. C. 283 : 83 I. C. 638 :
1925 P. 99.

Y D 1924—59

PENAL CODE, S. 141.

—S. 124-A—Sedition—Essentials of the offence—Exciting disaffection—Bringing Government into hatred or contempt—Offence.

The question whether a particular article is or is not seditious within the meaning of S. 124-A of the Indian Penal Code depends upon whether the article was or was not intended to bring the Government into hatred or contempt. Intention is a state of mind which may be gathered from the surrounding circumstances and may well be presumed if the writer or the publisher uses inflammatory words which would of course include also the character of the language employed by him. Intention is an essential element in the offence of sedition although the section does not expressly say so and it is also clear that it is not necessary for the prosecution to prove the intention directly by evidence. In most cases it would be impracticable. The law will presume the intention—whether good or bad—from the language and conduct of the accused and it will be then for him to show that his words were harmless and that his motives were inoffensive. Where a newspaper article dealing with the measures taken by the Government to put down certain disorders among certain sections of the Sikh community, designated the policy of the Government as a double-faced policy and also attributed to the Government a wilful disregard of the religious scruples of the Sikhs with a view to gain certain ulterior objects and the article was written in the vernacular dialect at a time when the relations between the Government and the Sikhs were very much strained Held, that the article in question had the effect of bringing the Government into hatred and contempt and exciting feelings of disaffection towards the Government and that the writer of the article was guilty of an offence under S. 124-A of the Indian Penal Code. (Moti Sagar, J.) JIWAN SINGH v. EMPEROR.
6 Lah. L. J. 379 : 82 I. C. 574 :
25 Cr. L. J. 1342 : 1925 Lah. 16.

—S. 141—Party in possession—Right of defence—Unlawful assembly.

A party in possession is entitled to resist and repel an aggression and their action in trying to maintain their possession will not constitute them an unlawful assembly. The phrase "to enforce a right" can only apply when the party claiming the right has not possession over the subject of the right. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, JJ.) BAGH SINGH v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 625 : 81 I. C. 113 : 1925 Lah. 49.

—Ss. 141 and 147—Unlawful assembly—Easement or customary right—Person having a right—Want of actual enjoyment—Effect of.

77 I. C. 1002 : 25 Cr. L. J. 538.

—S. 141 cls. (4) and (5) S. 149 and S. 325—Unlawful assembly—Import of the expression 'To enforce any right'—Party engaged in a lawful act attacked by the opposite party—Private defence, right of—Use of force in self-defence whether material to determine—Charge under S. 149 not substantiated—Charge under S. 325, whether sustainable.

In order to constitute an unlawful assembly under cl. (5) of S. 141 I. P. C. it is not enough that the common object of one party is to compel the other party by means of force to omit to do a certain thing but it must be shown that the act omitted is one which the party is legally entitled to do. The true import of the expression "to enforce any right" used in S. 141 cl (5) I. P. C. relates to an initial act when it is done in furtherance of any right and not to an act when it is done to maintain a position already achieved in the lawful exercise of that right 11 O. L. J. 40 9 O. L. J. 291 & 25 A. 259 relied on.

PENAL CODE, S. 147.

When a party engaged in the exercise of his lawful right is attacked by the opposite party, the fact that the former had time to have recourse to the protection of the authorities cannot take away his right of self defence 10 O. C. 196, and 45 A. 250, ref. to.

Nor is it material in such a case to determine with any great nicety the exact amount of force necessary under the circumstances. 45 A. 250 relied on.

Where a charge under S 149, Indian Penal Code, breaks down, no charge under S. 325, Indian Penal Code is sustainable. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) BAIJ NATH v. EMPEROR.

10 W. N. 588; 10 O. & A. L. R. 1022.

— Ss. 147, 323—Alteration of Charge.

25 Cr. L. J. 554 81 I. C. 43; 46 M. L. J. 120.

— S. 147—Common object—Looting crops of complainant—Bona fide dispute as to title—Effect.

The common object of an unlawful assembly was alleged to be to loot the crops on the complainant's land. But it was found that there was a bona fide dispute as to the title to the land. Held there could be no conviction under S. 147, I. P. C. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) BHAGAWAT JHA v. EMPEROR. 81 I. C. 45; 25 Cr. L. J. 557.

— S. 147—Common object—Specific finding—Charge—What to contain.

To sustain a conviction of rioting, there must be a clear finding as to the common object of the unlawful assembly and the same should have been specifically stated in the charge so that the accused may have an opportunity of meeting it. (Zafar Ali, J.) ALLAH DAD v. EMPEROR. 75 I. C. 731; 25 Cr. L. J. 43; 1924 Lah. 667 (2).

— S. 147—Death of persons concerned in rioting—Responsibility of accused.

Where the evidence in a criminal case established clearly that both the parties were guilty of rioting and neither side had been able to establish any justification for their attack upon the other and the evidence was so conflicting and unsatisfactory that individual responsibility for the death of certain members of the party could not be fixed on any one. Held, that there were no sufficient grounds for discriminating between the two parties. (Campbell, J.) SHADULLAH v. EMPEROR. 6 Lah. L. J. 170; 81 I. C. 631; 25 Cr. L. J. 983; 1924 Lah. 482.

— Ss. 147 and 430—Irrigation work—Mischievous—Wrongful diversion of water—Bona fide claim of right.

Under S. 430, I. P. C. the physical requisites are the doing of an act which causes, or to the doer's knowledge, is likely to cause, a diminution of supply of water. He also fulfils the mental requisites when he does this with intent to cause wrongful loss and the intention is properly held to be such when he takes it without any sort of right and it matters not that he claims to set up such a right, if the facts are so clear that the claim is manifestly only an additional wrong. It is for judicial fact to distinguish where the case is sufficiently doubtful to prevent the inference of a wrong intent. Where the accused knew that by their act they were causing a diminution of the water supply of a lower village by cutting off a bund and where they have not substantiated a right to take the water on a particular day, the accused must be held to be guilty of an offence under S. 430 I. P. C. (Adami, J.) BASDEO SINGH v. EMPEROR. 2 Pat. L. R. 194 (Cr.); 1924 P. 704.

PENAL CODE, S. 147.

— S. 147—Joining assembly after Common object ceases to exist—If an offence.

The common object of an unlawful assembly was to assault X. After the assault X ran away, and two persons joined assembly. Held the latter could not be convicted under S. 147 as the common object had ceased to exist at the time they joined. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) SHAFAYAT KHAN v. EMPEROR. 81 I. C. 794; 25 Cr. L. J. 1018.

— Ss. 147 and 323—Landlord and tenant—Tenant holding over—Expiry of lease—Right of landlord to enter.

A tenant whose right is determined has no right to remain forcibly upon the land and say to his landlord that he will cultivate that land till such time as he is evicted by a Civil Court. From the moment the title of the tenant expires, the landlord is in possession in the eye of law; and provided that he does not use undue force, he is entitled to go upon the land and if necessary to use force for the purpose of asserting and maintaining his possession (Mullick and Bucknill, JJ.) GITA PRASAD SINGH v. EMPEROR.

1924 P. H. C. 29; 5 Pat. L. T. 656;

81 I. C. 535; 25 Cr. L. J. 919; 1925 P. 17.

— Ss. 147 and 366—Offences under—Separate offences. 77 I. C. 997; 25 Cr. L. J. 533.

— S. 147—Offence under—Unlawful assembly—Right to maintain by force lawful possession of property—Trespass.

Where the owner of certain lands being in lawful possession of the same collects a number of men to prevent the opposite party from trespassing upon his land and carrying away fodder and a fight ensues as a result of which the opposite party sustained injuries, held that the owner and his party were not guilty of an offence under S. 147, I. P. C. S. 147 does not apply where a person in lawful possession of property uses force in order to maintain his possession and prevent a wrongful trespass. 10 O. C. 196; 9 O. L. J. 291; 24 C. 686; foll. 20 A. 459; 24 A. 143 not foll. (Simpson, A. J. C.) INDERJIT v. EMPEROR. 83 I. C. 523; 11 O. L. J. 40.

— S. 147—Riot—Cutting of a bund ordered to be maintained by Civil Court—Obstruction—Collector acting in defiance of orders of Civil Court—Death—Offence.

PENAL CODE, S. 147.

Under a compromise decree to which the Secretary of State was a party defendant the plaintiffs were allowed to maintain a bund with a view to divert the flow of a stream into its old bed. The bund was erected by public subscription. One of the defendants alleged that the bund had become damaged on the eastern side and prayed for permission of the Collector for its removal. The District Magistrate (who was also the Collector) issued an order under S. 144 preventing plaintiff from interfering when the bund was cut. There was objection on the part of the plaintiff with the result that they resisted the police and the opposite party in their attempt to cut the bund and one was killed and some others wounded. Held, that the District Magistrate who in his capacity as Collector represented the Secretary of State in the civil suit, could not take upon himself to construe the compromise decree of the Civil Court and say that the circumstances had arisen which justified dissolving the injunction of the Civil Court and the cutting of the western bund, that the injunction in favour of the plaintiffs was still subsisting and could only be dissolved by the Court which granted it and it was for that court alone which could construe its own decree to say whether the circumstances had arisen which would justify the dissolution of the injunction and the cutting of the bund and that the order of the District Magistrate not being legal the plaintiffs in the Civil suit could not be convicted of rioting. There was no question of an unlawful assembly when the object of the accused was to save the bund. (Greaves and Pantan, JJ.) AB UL JALIL v. EMPEROR. 23 C. W. N. 732 1924 Cal. 996.

—Ss. 147 and 296—Rioting and disturbing religious assembly—Separate punishments, award of.

A riot denotes a common object and where the common object of the accused persons is expressed in the charge under S. 296 of the Indian Penal Code and the accused persons riot in prosecution of that object, they commit one offence only and not two. Doubtless they are liable to separate punishment under S. 323, I. P. C., for the injuries caused in the course of the riot but they are not liable to two consecutive sentences under Ss. 147 and 296, I. P. C. (Pullan, A. J. C.) PRAG v. EMPEROR. 1 O. W. N. 473 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 871 : 82 I. C. 33 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1169 : 11 O. L. J. 693 : 1925 Oudh 65.

—Ss. 147 and 323—Rioting and hurt—Separate and cumulative sentences—Distinct offences.

It is difficult to perceive how the offence of rioting punishable under Sec. 147 and the offence of causing hurt cannot form distinct offences within the meaning of Sec. 35 of the Criminal Procedure Code. The gist of the offence of rioting consists in that several persons join together and form an unlawful assembly and any of them uses force in furtherance of their common object. It is unnecessary to consider what offence the particular kind of force used would constitute by itself and it may be from the slightest touch to causing death and yet the offence of rioting under Sec. 146 would remain the same; but the offence committed by the use of the particular kind of violence employed may be anything from the mere use of criminal force under Sec. 352 to causing grievous hurt or death under Sec. 302, and it stands to no reason to say that if the person who commits such acts be punished under Sec. 147 he cannot be punished under any of these other sections which his acts clearly come under or vice versa. There are thus quite distinct offences requiring to be punished separately in the ordinary acceptance of the meaning of those terms. (Subbanna, J.) BANDLU LINGAPPA v. GOVERNMENT OF MYSORE. 2 Mys. L. J. 51.

PENAL CODE, S. 149.

—Ss. 147 and 325—Riot resulting in offence under S. 325, I. P. C.—Whether all accused liable under S. 149 to separate conviction and sentence under S. 325.

In cases of rioting under S. 147, I. P. C., resulting in grievous hurt within the definition of S. 325, I. P. C., convictions and separate sentences under S. 325 are legal against all the accused who actually joined in the assault. Some of these assaults may have resulted in simple hurt, others in grievous hurt, but all the actual assailants are under S. 149, I. P. C., liable for all the results, (1892) 17 B. 260 (F. B.) followed. (May Oung, J.) NGASON MIN v. EMPEROR. 3 Bur. L. J. 49.

82 I. C. 473 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1305 : 1924 Rang. 291.

—Ss. 148, 149 and 302—Prosecution story found false—Defence.

In a charge for being members of an unlawful assembly and for culpable homicide, the defence set up was private defence. The Court found the prosecution story to be false. Held the accused need not plead and prove the right of private defence. (Ross and Sen, JJ.) RADHA SAHI v. EMPEROR. 2 Pat. L. R. 217 (Cr.)

—Ss. 149, 302 and 326—Attacked by men armed with spears—Death caused to individual other than the intended victim—Offence

Ordinarily if accused persons go armed with spears in superior force intending to carry out by force their object of bringing away a woman which they know the persons having custody of the woman will resist, each of the accused must be taken to have known at least that a death caused by one of his party was likely to be caused. Where however the accused in the course of the attack speared the woman and her defenders with the result that the woman died of injuries and the others got a serious wound, held that the accused were guilty under Ss. 147 and 326, I. P. C., inasmuch as the killing of the woman was not done in prosecution of their common object. (Daniels and Boys, JJ.) BEHARI v. EMPEROR.

L. R. 5 A. 113 (Cr.) : 83 I. C. 714 : 1924 A. 670.

—S. 149—Offence—If includes an offence under Railways Act, or Martial Law Ordinance.

The term 'offence' as used in S. 149, I. P. C., does not include an offence under the Railways Act or the Malabar Martial Law Ordinance. A criminal statute has to be rigidly interpreted and S. 40 in terms implies that only offences punishable under the Penal Code are meant. (Wallace and Madhavan Nair, JJ.) PUVANUR ATHARNO, In re.

20 L. W. 914 : 1925 Mad. 239.

PENAL CODE, S. 151.

—Ss. 151 and 188—Playing music before mosque—Order to disperse by Police Sub-Inspector—Disobedience—Offence.

The accused, two Brahmans, were charged with having deliberately disobeyed a lawful order of the Sub-Inspector in the streets of Jhansi in the presence of a large number of people and thereby committed offences under Ss. 151 and 188, I. P. C. The accused took part in a Hindu procession which went on playing music in front of a Mahomedan mosque and the Sub-Inspector of Police with a view to avert a breach of the peace between the Hindus and Mussalmans gave an oral direction to the accused and the rest of the procession to disperse and desist from music. The accused in defiance of the order continued to play the music and advanced a few steps. But when a police constable was about to take hold of the musical instruments, they laid them on the ground and dispersed without resistance. Held, that the accused were guilty of an offence under S. 151, I. P. C.

Per Walsh, A. J. C.—The accused were also guilty under S. 188, I. P. C.

Per Sulaiman, J.—Though the order had been promulgated by a police officer to the knowledge of the accused, yet the police officer was not lawfully empowered to promulgate the order within the meaning of S. 188, I. P. C., and therefore no offence under the section was committed (Walsh, A. C. J. and Sulaiman, J.) EMPEROR v. RAGUNATH VENAİK. 22 A. L. J. 1049 1925 A. 165 (1).

—Ss. 153-A and 505—Offences under—Intention to incite one community against another—Complaint in a newspaper article.

Those who suffer have a right to complain through the columns of the public press and if the complaint is made in a sober language and is free from exaggerations and incisive comments it can be lawfully published for the consideration of the public officers and others concerned with a view to their taking necessary action to prevent a repetition of what has previously taken place. Where the article complained of contains no statement, expression or comment which is likely to incite Hindus against Mahomedans or to stir up feelings of hatred and enmity between the two communities, a conviction under Ss. 153-A and 505, I. P. C., cannot be upheld. (Zafar Ali, J.) DESHBANDHU GUPTA v. EMPEROR.

6 Lah. L. J. 162.

—S. 154—Offence under—Essentials of—Knowledge of landlord or agent.

Knowledge of the owner or occupier of the land of the acts or intentions of the agent is not an essential element of an offence under S. 154, I. P. C.

Per Ghose, J.—The greatest caution is required before starting proceedings against persons under S. 154, I. P. C. (Newbould, Ghose and Cumming, JJ.) NRIPENDRA BHUSAN RAY v. GOBINDA BANDHU MAJUMDAR. 39 C. L. J. 236: 23 Cr. L. J. 1258 : 82 I. C. 266 : 1924 Cal. 1018.

—S. 161—Essentials of offence—Karnam receiving bribe from village for getting darkhast land—Official act—If an offence.

In a charge under S. 161, Penal Code, it must be shown that the accused took the bribe as a motive for doing an official act. Where the charge against a karnam was that he received a bribe from a villager on the understanding that he would get him some darkhast land, it does not constitute an offence under S. 161, I. P. C., as getting darkhast is not official act of a karnam. There is a nice distinction between what is criminal and what is departmentally reprehensible and a public servant can only be punished under the Penal Code when his act fulfils all the conditions of an offence as therein defined. (Jackson, J.) PULIPATI VENKIAH, In re 47 M. L. J. 662 : (1924) M. W. N. 894 : 20 L. W. 618 : 1924 Mad. 851.

PENAL CODE, S. 172.

—Ss. 161 and 21—Public servant—Convict warder in gaol—Smuggling of prohibited newspapers—Illegal gratification—Prisons Act, S. 42.

A convict warder in a gaol is a public servant within S. 21 (7), Indian Penal Code, being a person who holds an office by virtue of which he is empowered to place or keep any person in confinement. Where a convict warder in consideration of a payment of a rupee smuggled certain prohibited newspapers, he is guilty of an offence. Where a person carries a bundle of newspapers from a prisoner inside gaol to some one outside the gaol, he is guilty of an offence under Sec. 42 of the Prisons Act, 1894, read with Art. 485 of the Bombay Jail Manual. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) EMPEROR v. SAIFIN RUSUL. 26 Bom. L. R. 267: 83 I. C. 332 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1382 : 1924 Bom. 385.

—Ss. 171 (f) and 465—False personation—Election—Abetment—Sanction—Necessity for—General and specific provisions—Preference.

Where it was found that the petitioner had unintentionally but recklessly abetted the offence of false personation at a municipal election, he could not be accused of an offence under S. 465, I. P. C. Where there are two provisions, one specific and the other general, the specific provision ought to be applied in preference to the general one. (Mukerji, J.) RAM NATH v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 1106.

—Ss. 171 (f) and 511—Personating at election—Attempt—What constitutes.

An act, to amount to an attempt, must be such that if not prevented, it would complete the offence. At a municipal election the petitioner went to the officer who had the custody of the signature slips. He did not give out his name but produced a piece of paper which bore a certain number. The officer looked at the number and then looked at the electoral roll and asked the petitioner if he was Lachoo and he said "yes," but the patwari who was there pointed out that his name was Malkhan which was the truth. Thereupon the petitioner was turned away. Held, that the petitioner was not guilty of attempting to commit the offence of fraudulently applying for voting paper and thereby personating at election. (Mukerji, J.) MALKHAN SINGH v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 1102.

—S. 172—Absconding with a view to avoid service of notice—Meaning of—Substituted service effected.

The accused was the defendant in a suit in the Village Panchayat Court and he was approached by the process server with a summons for the hearing. The accused refused to accept the notice, abused the process-server and went inside his house. The process-server thereupon affixed the notice to the outer door of the house. Held that the conduct of the accused did not disclose an offence under S. 172, I.P.C. (Neave, A. J. C.)

PENAL CODE, S. 179.

BHUJANG v. EMPEROR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 439 :
 11 O. L. J. 332 : 1 O. W. N. 159.

—S. 179—Conviction under—Legality—Panchayat Court—Accused charged before—Declining to plead or to answer question put to him—Conviction for—Procedure before Panchayat Courts—Madras Act, II of 1920, S. 78—Rule 36 of Rules framed under.

S. 179 of the Penal Code has nothing whatever to do with the conduct of accused persons in Court.

An accused who, on being charged before a Village Panchayat Court, says he will not make any reply and remains silent is not liable to prosecution under S. 179 of the Penal Code.

Under Rule 36 of the rules framed in pursuance of S. 78 of Madras Act II of 1920, which regulates the procedure before the Panchayat Court, an accused charged before that Court is not bound to answer any question put to him at all and can if he likes, decline to plead, and, if he declines to plead, the case goes on just the same. (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) TIRUMALA REDDI *in re.
 47 Mad. 396 : 46 M. L. J. 40 : (1924) M. W. N. 141 :
 19 L. W. 292 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 331 :
 77 I. C. 422 : 25 Cr. L. J. 374 : 1924 Mad. 540.

—Ss. 179 and 228—Court witness—Answer to questions by Court—Irrelevant and evasive replies—Offence.

In a case involving a charge of murder the Court sent for a witness under S. 540, Cr. P. Code, as being one who was near the scene of murder immediately after the event, and on being asked as to what the other prosecution witnesses said to him, he replied irrelevantly and evasively with the result that the Court was partially frustrated in its attempt to get at the truth. Held, that the witness was guilty of an offence under S. 179, I.P.C., and not under S. 228, I.P.C. (Mukerji, J.)
HAR NARAIN v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 1100.

—S. 179—Refusal to answer question put—Not relevant to case—If an offence.

Where a witness refuses to answer a question which had absolutely no bearing on the facts of the case then being tried, it is injudicious on the part of the Court to direct a prosecution under Sec. 179, Indian Penal Code. The Court can if necessary take action under Sec. 480, Criminal Procedure Code. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.)
CHHEDDI LAL v. EMPEROR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 144 :
 81 I. C. 951 (1) : 11 O. L. J. 358 : 1924 Oudh 402.

—S. 182—Application for transfer of criminal case—Affidavit by third party handed over to pleader and filed by him in Court—If amounts to information to public servant.

In support of an application to transfer a criminal case, a person swore to an affidavit containing allegations which were subsequently found to be false and handed it over to the pleader of the complainant-applicant, who filed it in Court. The deponent was prosecuted therefor under S. 182, I.P. C.

PENAL CODE, S. 182.

Held, the affidavit having been given to the complainant's pleader on his behalf and as it was open to the complainant to instruct his pleader not to file the same, there is no information given to a public servant within the meaning of S. 182. (Ratanlal's unreported Criminal Cases of the Bombay High Court, page, 315 foll.) (Wallace and Madhavan Nair, JJ.) THE PUBLIC PROSECUTOR v. KATTA PRAKASAM. 20 L. W. 624 :
 83 I. C. 343 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1383 :
 1925 Mad. 123 : 47 M. L. J. 658.

—Ss. 182 and 211—Complaint—Report or false charge—Prosecution of some person other than the person originally charged—Liability.

The distinction between a charge under S. 211 and a mere report under S. 182, I. P. Code may be put thus : If the complainant confines himself to reporting what he knows of the facts, stating his suspicions, and leaving the matter to be further investigated by the police or leaving the police to take such course as they might think right in the performance of their duty; he may be making a report, but he is not making a charge. But if he takes the further step, without waiting for any official investigation, of definitely alleging his belief in the guilt of a specified person, and his desire that the specified person be proceeded against in Court, that act of his, whether verbal or written, if made to an officer of the law authorised to initiate proceedings based upon the complainant's statement, whether amounting to an expression of the complainant's belief in the guilt of the specified person or his desire that Court proceedings be taken against him amounts to making a charge. Though proceedings in Court are taken against a person different from the person originally charged, that cannot affect what was done when the original charge was made, if it was a charge. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.)
KASI RAM v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 829 :
 L. R. 5 A. 137 (Cr.) : 10 O. & A. L. R. 918 :
 82 I. C. 167 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1239 :
 1924 All 779.

—Ss. 182, 211—Difference between offences under.

S. 182 deals with giving information to a public servant as opposed to lodging a complaint in Court and requires the information given by the accused should not only be false in fact but it must be false to the knowledge or belief of the informant. S. 211 however does not require that the accused should know or believe his complaint to be false. It is sufficient if he makes his complaint without any just grounds and when he acts without due care or caution he comes within the section. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) X v. EMPEROR.
 82 I. C. 718 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1358.

—S. 182—False information given to the police—Conviction—Sentence—Enhancement of.

A magistrate convicted the accused of an offence under S. 182, I. P. C. in respect of his having given false information to the police and sentenced him to a fine of Rs. 25. At the instance of the District Magistrate a revision was filed in the Sessions Court requesting a reference to the High Court for getting an enhancement of sentence. The Sessions Judge referred the case to the High Court with the remark that the sentence was inadequate and that it might be enhanced. Held by the High Court that the sentence was inadequate and that the person against whom the false information was given was a person of some position and respectability, and that a fine of Rs. 150 would be quite sufficient to meet the ends of justice. (Moti Sagar, J.) EMPEROR v. CHUNI LAL, 6 Lah. L. J. 363.

PENAL CODE, S. 182.

— S. 182—Giving false information to public servant—Public servant not entitled to take action—Liability.

A prosecution under S. 182, I. P. C., will lie quite irrespective of whether the action which a public servant is asked to take on information given to him is a legal one or not. To take the view that if he is not legally entitled to take action a prosecution will not lie will reduce S. 182, I. P. C. to a reductio ad absurdum. (Pipon, J.C.) SANT RAM v. DIWAN CHAND, 75 I. C. 289 : 24 Cr. L. J. 913.

— Ss. 186, 189—Execution of decree—Arrest—Obstruction and threat of violence to peon—Offence.

Where a court peon seeks to execute a decree by arresting the judgment debtor and the latter obstructs him and threatens to use violence, he is guilty under S. 189, I. P. C. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) JAGANNATH SINGH v. EMPEROR, 82 I. C. 165 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1237.

— S. 186 — Offence under — Process for attachment of moveables outside jurisdiction — Resistance.

Where a process for the attachment of moveables situate outside the jurisdiction of a Munsif's Court is issued and the process server who executes the process is resisted, the warrant of attachment is irregular and no offence is committed under S. 186, I. P. C. (Walmsley and Suhrawardy, JJ.) SARBESWAR NATH NATH v. EMPEROR, 39 C. L. J. 33 : 1924 Cal. 501.

— S. 186—Offence under—Obstruction to public servant.

A police head-constable entered the house of a person and found in a room three of the articles alleged to have been stolen. Before the constable could remove them the accused caused the door of the room to be shut. The accused also threatened to kill the constable if he removed the articles. Held, that the accused was guilty of an offence under S. 186, I. P. C. (Venkatashubba Rao, J.) GOTTUMUKKULA NARAYANA RAJA v. EMPEROR, (1924) M. W. N. 438 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 126 : 83 I. C. 657 : 20 L. W. 717 : 1924 Mad. 760.

— S. 186—Public servant—Obstruction to—Assault on persons helping public servant.

1924 Lah. 238 (1).

— S. 186 — Voluntarily—Meaning of—Public function—What is.

The use of the word "voluntarily" in S. 186 indicates the commission of some overt act of obstruction and does not render mere passive conduct penal. Refusing to open a closed door does not amount to voluntary obstruction.

PENAL CODE, S. 213.

The public functions contemplated by S. 186 are not intended to cover any act that a public functionary may take upon himself to perform, even if he believes he is acting in the discharge of his duties. (Moti Sagar, J.) JASWANT SINGH v. EMPEROR, 25 Cr. L. J. 721 : 81 I. C. 209 : 1925 Lah. 139.

— S. 193—Correcting a previous statement is not perjury.

A witness is not guilty of perjury if he corrects a statement of his, previously made in the same deposition. (Wazir Hasan, J.C.) CHEDI LAL v. EMPEROR, 11 O. L. J. 309 : 81 I. C. 951 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1127 : 83 I. C. 490 : 1924 Oudh 373.

— S. 193—Evidence—Nature of.

25 Cr. L. J. 185 : 76 I. C. 425 : 1924 Rang. 17.

— S. 193—Judicial proceedings—Investigation by magistrate as regards sufficiency of ground for taking action under S. 11 of the Frontier Crimes Regulations—Oath not administered—Conviction for giving false evidence.

An application was made to the District Magistrate that action should be taken under S. 11 of the Frontier Crimes Regulations. With a view to ascertain whether there were sufficient grounds for taking action upon the application, the magistrate directed a subordinate magistrate to make a summary enquiry. In the course of the enquiry the magistrate recorded the appellant's evidence on oath. Held, that though the statements of the appellants were taken by the magistrate, they were not taken by him in the course of any judicial proceedings and that the magistrate had no authority to administer an oath. Consequently the appellants cannot be convicted of giving false evidence under S. 193, I. P. C. (Scott-Smith, A. C. J. and Malan, J.) JAHANGIR v. EMPEROR, 6 Lah. L. J. 375 : 82 I. C. 710 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1350 : 1924 Lah. 729 (2).

— S. 193—Perjury—Proof of—False statement—Contradiction between two depositions.

1924 P. 276.

— S. 211—Complainant—Who is—Application to district authority for enquiry.

An application to the Police not being enquired into, the applicant addressed a petition to the Deputy Commissioner for enquiry into the matter. Held, the petition was not a complaint and action cannot be taken under S. 211, I. P. C. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) MAHADU v. EMPEROR, 24 Cr. L. J. 959 : 75 I. C. 543 : 1924 Nag. 115 (1).

— Ss. 213 and 214—Offences under—Elements of—Concealment or screening for a short time—Sufficiency of.

The offences constituted by S. 213 or S. 214, I. P. C., consists in the corrupt motive which is brought into play as much as in the delay to criminal justice. It consists in the compounding of an offence by some agreement not to bring the criminal to justice, and these sections intend to punish those who make a profit out of public wrong. If the facts found in the case prove that there has been an actual compounding of an offence and there is superadded to it an acceptance or attempt to obtain or agreement to accept a gratification or restitution as a consideration for the compounding, the offence is made out. Actual concealment or screening even for a short time may be sufficient, but there must be some concealment or screening actually proved. If such is proved, and there is further the acceptance of or attempt to obtain or agreement to accept the gratification or restitution as a consideration for the same, the offence is complete. The fact that the very same person subsequently did prosecute even to conviction would not purge the offence. (Newbould and Mukerjee, JJ.) HEM CHANDRA MUKERJEE v. EMPEROR. 40 C. L. J. 278 : 1923 Cal. 85.

PENAL CODE, S. 215.

—Ss. 215 and 511—Stolen property—Promise of recovery in lieu of payment of money—Theft not detected. 76 I. C. 191 : 25 Cr. L. J. 127.

—S. 215—Theft of animals—Restoration on receipt of gratification—Offence.

It cannot be a defence to a charge of accepting money for returning stolen property that the person who takes the money was himself the thief. When it was found that certain bullocks had been missing from the grazing field and the accused promised to recover the animals if he was paid a certain sum and on receiving the money the accused produced the animals in a short time, it is open to the court to infer that the accused was the thief or one among many thieves and that he was guilty of an offence under S. 215, I. P. C. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) EMPEROR v. MUKH TARA 22 A. L. J. 838 : L. R. 5 A. 145 (Cr.) : 1924 A. 783.

—S. 216—Essentials of offence.

For a conviction under S. 216, I. P. C. it must be proved that the accused knew the person harboured to be a person for whose apprehension an order had been made by competent authority. (Campbell, J.) HARNAM SINGH v. THE CROWN. 6 Lah. L. J. 478 : 1925 Lah. 103.

—S. 216—Giving food to proclaimed offenders—If an offence.

The mere giving of a meal to two proclaimed offenders is not an offence under S. 216, I. P. C. (Scott-Smith, O. C. J.) HUKAM SINGH v. THE CROWN. 6 Lah. L. J. 481.

—S. 216 A—“Harbour”—Meaning of—Loan of a pony to dacoits to carry loot.

Lending a pony to certain dacoits to enable them to carry their loot away is not “harbouring” under S. 216 A, I. P. C. (Ryves, J.) DAMRI v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 496 : L. R. 5 A. 90 (Cr.) : 80 I. C. 711 : 1924 A. 676 (1).

—S. 225-B—Arrest by police constable without warrant—Resistance—No offence. See CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, Ss. 54 AND 55. 46 M. L. J. 447.

—S. 225 B—Proceedings under S. 109, Cr. P. C.—Escape from Police custody—Offence.

A person against whom proceedings under S. 109, Cr. P. C., are pending, if he escapes from

PENAL CODE, S. 290.

Police custody commits an offence under S. 225 B, Penal Code. (Kinaid, J. C. and Kennedy, A. J. C.) EMPEROR v. KHANU KORI. 77 I. C. 814 : 25 Cr. L. J. 462.

—Ss. 225 B and 353—Warrant—Name of person to be arrested not given—Obstruction to arrest—No offence.

Where a warrant does not contain the name of the person who was to be apprehended thereunder except in a heading where he was described as a party to a suit which was non-existent, the warrant is bad and obstruction to the arrest is not an offence. (Greaves and Duwal, JJ.) JOGENDRA NATH LASKAR v. HIRALAL CHOUDHURY. 39 C. L. J. 452 : 83 I. C. 481 (2) : 51 Cal. 902 : 1924 Cal. 959.

—S. 230—Removal of goods—Dishonesty. 76 I. C. 654 : 25 Cr. L. J. 222.

—S. 235—Goldsmith—Possession of instruments used in the trade—Incomplete dies—Counterfeiting coin—Offence.

Three incomplete dies and some instruments for the purpose counterfeiting coin were found in the possession of the accused, a goldsmith by occupation. So far as the instruments were concerned, they were such as would be usually required by goldsmiths for the purposes of their trade. The dies were so deficient that no complete counterfeit coin could be struck from them. It was not proved that the accused used those instruments or dies for the purpose of counterfeiting. Held that the accused had not committed any offence under S. 235, I. P. C. The mere possession of instruments and materials capable of counterfeiting coins is no offence. The possession of such instruments must be shown to have been with the intention of counterfeiting coins. Such intention is essential to sustain a charge under S. 235, I. P. C. The mere possession of dies incapable of striking a complete coin does not necessarily lead to the inference that the accused intended to manufacture coins. (Zafar Ali, J.) KHADIM HUSSAIN v. CROWN. 5 Lah. 392 : 1925 Lah. 22.

—S. 268—Necessity to prove annoyance. 25 Cr. L. J. 382 : 77 I. C. 188 : 1924 A. 194.

—S. 273—Knowing or having reason to believe—Noxious food or drink—Presumption if to be made MUKAND RAM v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 537 : 77 I. C. 1001 : 1922 O. C. 893.

—S. 283—Essentials of offence.

To constitute an offence under S. 283, I. P. C. it must be proved not only that the accused obstructed the road but that it caused danger or injury to persons using the road. (Moti Sagar, J.) EMPEROR v. GHULAM RAZA. 25 Cr. L. J. 707 : 81 I. C. 195 : 1925 Lah. 153.

—S. 283—Obstruction in public road by contractor—Liability of owner. 76 I. C. 975 (2) : 25 Cr. L. J. 303 (2).

—S. 290—Nuisance—Collection of a Crowd in front of a shop—Liability of person responsible for.

PENAL CODE, S. 294.

If a crowd collects and obstructs the traffic in front of a shop so as to cause a nuisance, the person who is directly responsible for the crowd collecting is obviously not less but more guilty than the other persons who form the crowd and this would equally be the case whether he were inside or outside his shop at the precise moment. No one is allowed to make use of his premises in such a way as to interfere with the rights of the public. (Daniels, J.) HAPPOO MAL v. EMPEROR.

L. R. 5 A. 98 (Cr.) : 83 I. C. 695 :
22 A. L. J. 662 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 773 :
1924 A. 568.

—S. 294—Offence—Trial by village headman—Conviction—Bar. NGA E. v. EMPEROR.
76 I. C. 697 : 25 Cr. L. J. 233 : 1924 Rang. 23.

—S. 294-A.—Unauthorised Lottery—Advertisement of—Offence.

The accused owned a cloth shop at Bijapur. To advertise his wares he issued a printed leaflet indicating a general reduction in prices. He published handbills relating to his shop and on the margin of the leaflet he advertised Goa Lottery tickets, which had not been sanctioned by the Government. Held, that the accused had not committed any offence under S. 294-A. I. P. C. inasmuch as all that he did was to state that the lottery tickets could be had at a particular place. It was not a publication of a proposal to pay any sum on any event or contingency relative or applicable to the drawing of any ticket in any lottery not authorised by government as provided in Para. 2 of S. 294 (A). I. P. C. (Shah, A.C.J. and Fawcett, J.) EMPEROR v. RACHAPPA.

26 Bom. L. R. 968 : 1925 Bom. 26.

—Ss. 295 and 447—Mahomedans entering a Hindu temple—Consecutive sentences—Propriety of.

When a band of Mahomedans entered a Hindu temple and damaged property therein they are guilty under Ss. 295 and 447, I. P. C. but the offence is really one and the sentences passed should be concurrent and not consecutive. (Pullan, A.J.C.) BAHRA v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 1173 : 82 I. C. 37 : 1925 Oudh 50.

—S. 295—Untouchable entering Hindu Shrine—Offence.

Where, by custom, an untouchable by entering an enclosure round a Hindu Shrine would pollute the temple and with that knowledge an untouchable deliberately enters and defiles it, he commits an offence under Sec. 295, Indian Penal Code. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) ATMA RAM v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 155 : 76 I. C. 299 :
1924 Nag. 121 (1).

—S. 297—Having sexual connection in a Mosque—Offence. MAQSUD HUSAIN v. EMPEROR.
1924 All. 9.

—Ss. 297, 441 and 504—Offences under—Trespass—Mosque—Entry for worship—Unlawful conduct—Finding and conviction under S. 297 altered into one under S. 504, I. P. C. MUSTAN v. EMPEROR.
1924 Rang. 106.

—Ss. 299 and 300—Reckless administration of dhatura—Death—Offence committed. NANHU v. EMPEROR.
75 I. C. 361.

PENAL CODE, S. 300.

—S. 300—Exception—Nature of—Considerations.

Provocation which is neither grave nor sudden enough to deprive even an ordinarily hot-tempered person of self-control cannot operate to create an exception to S. 300, Indian Penal Code, if the offender can show that, though not insane he has a temperament outside the normal course of human development. It is a question of fact as to whether the provocation was grave and sudden enough to prevent the offence from amounting to murder. (Pipon, J. C.) BODHRAJ v. EMPEROR.

76 I. C. 105 : 25 Cr. L. J. 105.

—S. 300—Grave and sudden provocation—Onus of proof.

The burden of proving that an accused who committed an offence acted under the influence of grave and sudden provocation which deprived him of the power of self-control is upon him. (Scott Smith and Zafar Ali, JJ.) PIRTHI v. THE CROWN.
6 Lah. L. J. 323 : 1924 Lah. 654 (2).

—Ss. 300, and 304—Husband killing wife—Discovery in the act of intercourse with stranger—Offence—Plea of exception not taken—Effect.

A husband actually saw his wife having sexual intercourse with another and killed her then and there with an axe. Held, the fact brought him within Exception 1 to S. 300 and even if the plea was not taken by the accused, it was the duty of the court to give him the benefit of it and convict him only under S. 304, I. P. C. (Hallifax and Kotval, A.J.Cs.) MANGAL GANDA v. EMPEROR,
25 Cr. L. J. 1077 : 81 I. C. 901 : 1925 Nag. 37.

—S. 300—Murder—Conviction for—Death of victim—Proof of.

Before a conviction of murder can be obtained the Court must be satisfied that the person alleged to have been murdered is actually dead. Where the court is unable to arrive at the conclusion that the victim of an offence is dead, though it is exceedingly unlikely that he is alive, the Court cannot uphold the conviction for murder. (Stuart and Sulaiman, JJ.) BANDHU v. EMPEROR.

22 A. L. J. 340 : L. R. 5 A. 59 (Cr.) :
10 O. & A. L. R. 456 : 81 I. C. 436 :
25 Cr. L. J. 900 : 1924 All. 662.

—S. 300—Shooting under illegal orders of superior officer, is no excuse.

A police party with six prisoners went to a village and demanded water and food and when they did not receive the attention to which they thought themselves entitled, the Head Constable lost his temper and struck one of the villagers. Other villagers also joined them; the Head Constable asked one constable to fire. He hesitated but later on fired at a man S, who died of the shot.

Held that they were both equally guilty. The command of the Head Constable cannot of itself justify the subordinate in firing, if the command was illegal, for he and the Head Constable had the same opportunity of observing what the danger was, and judging what action the necessities of the case required. The order, the second accused obeyed, was manifestly illegal, and the second accused must suffer the consequences of his illegal act, 21 M. 249 Foll.

PENAL CODE, S. 300.

Held however, that there should be a difference in the sentence awarded to the Head constable and the constable. (Kincaid, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) ALLAHRAKHIO v. EMPEROR.

17 S. L. R. 182 : 83 I. C. 702 (2) : 1924 S. 33.

— S. 300—Exception—Burden of proof.

The burden of proving circumstances bringing the case within S. 300 Exception 1 lies on the accused and under S. 105 Evidence Act a court is bound to presume the absence of any such circumstances. (Broadway and Campbell, JJ.) KAKAR SINGH v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1005 (2) : 81 I. C. 717 (2) : 1924 Lah. 733.

— S. 300—First exception—Mere remonstrance with the accused's father for diverting the course of old water channel—If a grave and sudden provocation.

Where the deceased remonstrated with the accused's father for diverting the course of the old water channel which led to a quarrel, and then the accused came to support his father and assaulted the deceased. Held, there was no grave and sudden provocation within the meaning of Exception 1. (Martineau, J.) GULAB SINGH v. THE CROWN. 1924 Lah. 742.

— S. 300 (Exc. I)—Murder—Culpable homicide—Provocation—Mitigation of offence.

To attract the operation of S. 300, Exception I of the Indian Penal Code there must exist such an amount of provocation as would be excited by the circumstances in the mind of a reasonable man and so as to lead the jury to ascribe the act to the influence of that passion. The provocation must be such as will upset, not merely a hasty and hot-tempered person, but one of ordinary sense and calmness. (Shadi Lal, C.J. and Eforde, J.) SOHRAB v. EMPEROR. 5 Lah. 67 : 81 I. C. 826 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1050 : 1924 Lah. 450.

— Ss. 302, 304, 320 and 323—Causing death of wife—Kicking—Murder—Hurt. MARI-MUTHU, In re.

1924 Mad 41.

— S. 302—Circumstantial evidence—Conviction on sentence.

A conviction based on purely circumstantial evidence must be treated with the greatest caution and subjected to the closest scrutiny. The existence of a motive, an opportunity and the exclusions of any alternative motive would not be sufficient to support a conviction without at least some other evidence. In such cases a sentence which is irrevocable should not be passed. (Pipon, J. C.) ABDUL WAHAB v. EMPEROR. 76 I. C. 97 : 25 Cr. L. J. 97.

— Ss. 302 and 325—Culpable homicide—Intention to cause death—Blow with lathi—Rupture of the liver.

Where the accused swinging sideways struck a blow with his lathi and as a result thereof the liver of the deceased was ruptured and he died, held that the accused was not guilty of culpable homicide but of causing grievous hurt. Culpable homicide is not committed unless the agent either has the intention of causing such bodily injury as is likely to cause death or has the knowledge that he is likely by such act to cause death. (Kendall, A.J.C.) KARAN SINGH v. EMPEROR.

PENAL CODE, S. 302.

10 O. & A. L. R. 693 : 21 Cr. L. J. 1145 :

11 O. L. J. 563 : 81 I. C. 969 : 1925 Oudh 135.

— Ss. 302 and 304—Death due to septic poisoning—Long interval after injuries were inflicted. NGA PO CHET v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 489 : 77 I. C. 889 : 1924 Rang. 212.

— S. 302—Doubt as to the guilt of appellant. MT. DAULAT RAI v. EMPEROR.

77 I. C. 600 : 25 Cr. L. J. 424.

— S. 302—Identification not clear—Benefit of doubt.

25 Cr. L. J. 173 :

76 I. C. 397 : 1924 Lah. 168.

— S. 302—Information of eye-witness—Want of. NAWAB v. EMPEROR.

76 I. C. 824 : 25 Cr. L. J. 264.

— S. 302—Intention or knowledge—Nature of.

The offence of culpable homicide pre-supposes an intention or knowledge of likelihood of causing death. The intention must be directed either deliberately to putting an end to human life or to some act which to the knowledge of the accused is likely to eventuate in the putting an end to human life—The knowledge must have reference to the particular circumstances in which the accused is placed and the intention demanded by the section must stand in some relation to the person who is alive. (Kinkhede, A.J.C.) GANPAT v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 356 : 77 I. C. 292 : 1924 Nag. 281.

— S. 302—Murder—Exceptions to the section—Intention and motive—Absence of Sentence.

76 I. C. 575 : 25 Cr. L. J. 207,

— S. 302—Murder—Intention to cause death—Administration of love potion—Conviction under S. 304-A., I. P. C.

Where the intention to cause death cannot be clearly found without any other possible explanation of the act of the person giving poison, a conviction for murder cannot stand. The mere administration of a love potion or drug which a person thinks might be beneficial is not in itself an offence ; but when it is supposed to have effect on persons with whom the paramour of the accused had ill feeling, and when she administers it without due care and caution or any enquiry as to what it really is, her act falls within S. 304-A. I. P. C. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) PHULMANI MUNDAIN v. EMPEROR. 1924 Pat. 13 : 77 I. C. 801 : 25 Cr. L. J. 449 : 1924 P. 635.

— S. 302—Murder—Presence of accused—Moral support to the crime—Witnesses resisting from statements made before Magistrate—Preference of former statements to testimony in the Sessions Court.

Even though there is no evidence to suggest that the accused physically assisted the actual murderer in killing the deceased, but there is evidence that the accused went all the way from their house to the scene of murder and were present at the time when and the place where the murder was committed and gave moral support to the crime which was committed in their interests, the accused are guilty under S. 302, I. P. C. Where the Sessions Court is satisfied that the previous statements made by witnesses before the committing magistrate were true and their subsequent statements before the Sessions Court are false, it is open to the Court to rely on the previous statements. (Sulaiman and Mookerjee, JJ.) S. TULLI v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 1075.

PENAL CODE, S. 302.

—SS. 302 and 86—Murder—Sentence—Actions of motive—Action under influence of ganja.

Where the accused, a habitual ganja smoker while under the influence of that drug dashed a child to the ground and killed it and there was no motive for the offence, the accused must be held to have committed the act while he was under some mental derangement and that his case came within S. 86, I. P. C. (Ghose and Cumming, JJ.) AMRITA v. EMPEROR 39 C. L. J. 34.

—S. 302—Murder—Sentence—Female.

A Court of Sessions undoubtedly possesses a discretion in the matter of passing sentence under Sec. 302, Indian Penal Code, but this discretion must be exercised judicially. An accused person is entitled to the benefit of any reasonable doubt in the matter of sentence as in the matter of conviction. But before passing the lighter sentence a judge must satisfy himself that his reasons for so doing are adequate and covered by authority. Mere absence of pre-meditation or deliberate intent to kill, has been held to be an inadequate reason for not passing the sentence of death. That the accused is a woman is not a conclusive reason for not passing the sentence of death especially where she was armed with a dangerous weapon and did not hesitate to use it for a very slight cause. (Young, O. C. J. and May Oung, J.) MA SHWE YI v. EMPEROR. 1 Rang. 751.

—S. 302—Murder—Death caused by gunshot in a struggle—Benefit of doubt.

In the course of a fight between two parties one of the men in the first party was shot by a gun from the second party and died. It was not found whether the shot had been fired by any person of the second party or whether the death was due to the gun going off itself during the struggle for its possession. Held, that the accused must be given the benefit of the doubt and they were not guilty of murder. (Scott Smith and Harrison, JJ.) KUNDAN SINGH v. EMPEROR. 6 Lah. L. J. 271 : 1924 Lah. 720.

—S. 302—Murdering newly born illegitimate child—Sentence—Mitigating circumstances.

It has invariably been held in all the courts in India that in the murder of her newly born illegitimate child by a woman there are mitigating circumstances sufficient to redeem the appropriate penalty very much below a sentence of transportation. Most of such circumstances apply, though in a lesser degree to the case of the father of such a child. (Baker, O. J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) DHANIA KUNBI v. EMPEROR. 75 I. C. 767 : 25 Cr. L. J. 63 : 1924 Nag. 119.

PENAL CODE, S. 304.

—S. 302—Murder—Sentence—Youth of offender.

The extreme youth of the offender is an extenuating circumstance which may properly be taken into consideration in imposing the lesser penalty of transportation for life on the offender in a case of murder. (Baker, J. C. and Kotwal, A. J. C.) CHUNILAL v. EMPEROR. 7 N. L. J. 144 : 1924 Nag. 115 (2).

—S. 302—Sentence—Lesser penalty because of confessions—Propriety.

Where a Court held the offence of murder was committed but sentenced the accused to transportation solely on the ground that their confessions alone made the convictions possible, the reason was not sufficient for not awarding the extreme penalty of the law. (Scott Smith and Zafar Ali, JJ.) NEKI v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 116 : 76 I. C. 180 : 1924 Lah. 624.

—S. 302—Sudden and Grave Provocation. (Broadway and Fforde, JJ.) MALLA v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 519 : 77 I. C. 983 : 5 Lah. L. J. 528.

—S. 302—Youth and absence of premeditated motive—Is sufficient for refusing to pass capital sentences.

Where there was no motive for a premeditated murder and the probability was that there was a violent quarrel when the accused a young man of 20 was taking his wife and child from a neighbouring village to his own village and he killed them on the way.

Held, that capital sentence in such a case should not be passed. (Scott Smith and Zafar Ali, JJ.) PIRTHI v. EMPEROR. 6 Lah. L. J. 323 : 1924 Lah. 654 (2).

—S. 304—Affray—Sudden and unpremeditated—Death—Private defence—Extent of.

During a sudden and unpremeditated affray, a person was killed. The evidence showed that even after he fell down incapacitated, the accused continued striking him. Held a plea of self-defence was not sustainable and they were guilty under S. 304.

When the deceased himself is the aggressor and the quarrel was sudden, it is a mitigating circumstance for purposes of sentence. (Fforde, J.) PHUMAN SINGH v. THE CROWN. 6 Lah. L. J. 483.

—Ss. 304 and 325—Applicability—Grievous hurt causing death owing to a single blow on the head—Conviction of all the assailants under S. 325 but not under S. 304—Person who gave the blow unknown.

Where the skull of the deceased was fractured as the result of a blow on the head in an attack upon one man by four persons who beat him with lathis but there was no other grievous hurt and it was not known which of the accused struck the blow which fractured the skull and resulted in his death.

Held, the accused did not know that death was likely to be caused but they must have known that grievous hurt was likely to be caused, and that they committed therefore the offence of causing grievous hurt. (Scott Smith and Zafar Ali, JJ.) DATTA RAM v. DAYA RAM. 6 Lah. L. J. 317 : 1924 Lah. 654 (1).

PENAL CODE, S. 304.

—Ss. 304 and 323—Attack by several accused—Common intention—Simple hurt—Injuries likely to cause death—Offence.

1924 Lah. 61.

—Ss. 304 and 325—Attack by three men—Death caused by one blow—Offence—Liability.

Where three men armed with dangs attacked another and caused two grievous hurts, it can be presumed that they all intended to cause or knew that they were likely to cause grievous hurt. Where only one blow was struck on the head which resulted in death and there was no evidence to show which of the three accused struck that blow, none of them can be convicted of culpable homicide. (Scott Smith, J.) JHANDU v. EMPEROR. 6 Lah. L. J. 268 : 1924 Lah. 555.

—Ss. 304 and 325—Blow aimed at one—Cause death of another—Offence. 1924 Lah. 47.

—S. 304—Common intention—Sudden fight with deadly weapons.

76 I. C. 692 : 25 Cr. L. J. 228.

—S. 304—Conviction under. NGA Po SAW v. EMPEROR. 1924 Rang. 33.

—S. 304—Death caused—Rape—Rupture—Shock—Sentence.

Where the accused, a youth of about 18 years forcibly committed rape on a girl of 12 and the girl's vagina was ruptured and as a result of shock the girl died. Held that the accused was not guilty under S. 304, I. P. C. of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, as death was not the natural consequence of the simple sexual offence but he was guilty of rape only. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) SHAMBHUKHATRI v. EMPEROR. 3 Pat. 410 : 83 I. C. 651 : 1924 P. 553.

—S. 304—Dispute about drawing water—Sudden fight—Slab with knife resulting in death—Offence.

In a course of a dispute about drawing water from a tap, the accused drew a knife and stabbed the deceased piercing the chest wall and cutting the heart. Held, the below though struck in a sudden fight without premeditation, the accused must have known that striking in the chest with a dangerous weapon might prove fatal and was therefore guilty under S. 304 (2). (Zafar Ali, J.) KHAN MIR v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 1289 : 82 I. C. 361 : 1925 Lah. 148.

—Ss. 304 & 304-A—Murder charge—Offence under S. 304-A.

Where on a charge of murder the Sessions Judge disagrees with the verdict of the jury in favour of the accused, it is open to him to convict the accused under S. 304-A, I. P. C. (Macleod, C. J. and Fawcett, J.) EMPEROR v. CHARLES JOHN WALKER. 26 Bom. L. R. 610.

—S. 304—Property—Trespass—Private defence—Excessive injury—Death—Offence.

On the 23rd of March, 1923, an attempt had been made to saw the tree on behalf of the Zamindar but as after protest the carpenters came away, the accused persons, the owners of the tree, did not go to any Court. Held, that when a fresh attack on their right was intended on the

PENAL CODE, S. 323.

2nd of April, they also had a fresh right to defend their property. The police station was admittedly situated some 15 miles from the place and it is hardly conceivable that there was time to send a man to the police station and bring help before the tree could be cut or removed. Consequently the owners of the tree had a right of private defence. At the same time no right of private defence could extend to the inflicting of more harm than was necessary to inflict for the purpose of defence. Held that on the evidence the accused should be convicted under S. 304, Indian Penal Code. (Sulainan, J.) UMRAO v. EMPEROR. L. R. 5 A. 43 (Cr.) : 83 I. C. 181 : 25 Cr. L. J. 693 : 1924 A. 441.

—S. 304—Quarrel—Abuse followed by striking with stone—Offence.

In the midst of a quarrel, a man was abused by his sister-in-law and he struck her with a stone. Her skull was fractured and she died. Held he acted on the impulse of the moment and could be convicted only under S. 304, I. P. C. (Mukerji and Daniels, JJ.) GANESHA v. EMPEROR. L. R. 5 A. 175 (Cr.) : 25 Cr. L. J. 800 : 81 I. C. 320 : 1925 A. 4.

—Ss. 307 and 326—Mutual fight—Infliction of severe bodily injury—Offence—Conviction—Self-defence.

On a certain night the two appellants fought with each other, each using a knife. There were no other witnesses to the occurrence. Each appellant was convicted under S. 307, I. P. C., on the evidence of his opponent, and the corroborative evidence of the wounds caused to the opponent and the admissions of the appellant that he was himself wounded in the occurrence. Each appellant received five or six serious wounds and would have died if he had not received early medical attendance. In each case the condition of the wounded man was so serious that his dying deposition was taken. Held, that neither of the appellants could be legally convicted under S. 307, I. P. C., but that they were both guilty under S. 326, I. P. C. Neither appellant could claim the right of self defence inasmuch as under S. 105 of the Evidence Act, the burden of proof of self defence or provocation lay on the accused in each instance. (Lentaigne, J.) NGA PO THAIK v. EMPEROR. 2 Rang. 558.

—Ss. 323 and 299—Accused in loco parentis continuously ill-treating an infant leading to her death—Death caused by beating—Whether to be convicted under S. 299 or 323—Effect of absence of intention.

Omission of the husband to prevent beating—Whether constitutes abetment.

Where an innocent girl by the merciless acts of brutality of her father-in-law, and continuous starvation, was one day beaten with a stick for having done some household work improperly, in the presence of a number of persons, she collapsed and died, and it was proved in medical examination that she died of shock from several blows inflicted on her ill nourished frame. The father-in-law, and husband, were committed to Sessions under S. 304, I. P. C. and the District Judge after amending the charge under S. 302 acquitted both the accused. Held on appeal by the Government.

PENAL CODE, S. 323.

Per Ryves and Daniels, JJ. that taking into consideration the fact that the father-in-law and the husband administered blows to the deceased in the presence of a number of persons they could not be imputed with the knowledge required under S. 299 (culpable homicide of the Code) and that they were guilty of only assault (S. 323).

Per Daniels, J. omission of the husband to prevent his father from beating his wife was not sufficient to constitute an abetment of the offence of beating.

Walsh, A. C. J. dissenting. (1) A Judge should not enlarge a charge, and then acquit the accused without considering the alternative minor charge on which he may be properly committed when the facts in both the cases are the same. (2) That the accused were responsible to a continuous and severe course of ill-treatment and starvation which would have terminated in her death from natural causes, if they had not accelerated it by beating her. And that the accused should be convicted under S. 304, I. P. C. (Walsh, A. C. J., Ryves and Daniels, JJ.) EMPEROR v. CHANDA.
L. R. 5 A. 161 (Cr.): 1925 A. 123.

———S. 323—Prosecution under—Death of complainant—Abatement.

A criminal prosecution under S. 323, I. P. C. does not abate by reason of the death of the person injured. 44 M. 417 Ref. (Dalal, J.) MUSA v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 520:

L. R. 5 A. 96 (Cr.): 81 I. C. 719 (1):
25 Cr. L. J. 1007 (1): 1924 A. 666 (2).

———S. 325—Grievous hurt—Right of private defence.

Where it is proved that the deceased and his party attacked the accused who acted in the exercise of his right of private defence and it is not shown that the accused in causing grievous hurt had not exceeded the right of private defence, he ought to be acquitted of any offence under S. 325, I. P. C. (Daniels, J. C.) PAHLAD v. EMPEROR.

11 O. L. J. 50 : 83 I. C. 589 : 1924 Oudh 334.

———Ss. 326 and 149—Charge under—Conviction under S. 326 alone—Illegality—Irregularity coming under S. 537, Cr. P. Code—S. 149, I. P. Code—Object of—If creates an offence—Conviction under section without a charge—Illegality—Irregularity—Ss. 148 and 326—Rioting—Conviction for—Legality—Injunction restraining accused from interfering with complainant's possession—Entering upon land in disobedience of—Remonstrance by complainant—Attack by accused and injuries caused thereby—Conviction in case of.

Held by the Full Bench : When a charge has been framed under Ss. 326 and 149, I. P. Code, a conviction under S. 326, I. P. Code is not necessarily bad. Whether the conviction is bad or not depends upon whether the accused has or has not been materially prejudiced by the form of the charge.

S. 149, I. P. Code creates no offence, but is like S. 34 merely declaratory of principle of the common law, and its object is to make it clear that an accused who comes within that section cannot put forward as a defence that it was not his hand which inflicted the grievous hurt. A person cannot be tried and sentenced under S. 149, I. P. Code alone. The omission of Section 149 from a charge does not create an illegality by reason of S. 233, Cr. P. Code. It is only an irregularity coming under S. 537, Cr. P. Code.

PENAL CODE, S. 353.

Held, by the Division Bench : When in disobedience of an order of the Civil Court restraining them from interfering with possession of P. W. 6 the accused entered upon the land in his possession and began cutting the crop, and attacked and caused injuries to P. W. 6 and others who remonstrated with them and did nothing else beyond remonstrating, held that the use of force towards those persons in prosecution of the common object of retaining the land which was in itself an unlawful object, undoubtedly constituted the accused into an unlawful assembly guilty of rioting. (Spencer, Krishnan and Ramesam, JJ.) THEETHUMALAI GOUNDAR, In re.

47 Mad. 746: 20 L. W. 261:

35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 21: 82 I. C. 465:

1925 Mad. 1: 25 Cr. L. J. 1297 : 47 M. L. J. 221.

———S. 331—“Demand” Meaning of. MAULA BAKSH v. EMPEROR. 1924 Lah. 167.

———Ss. 332 and 333—Essentials of offence—Knowledge that person confined or obstructed is a public servant—Necessary.

Both Ss. 332 and 333, I. P. C. require as an ingredient of the offence, the presence of an intention on the part of the accused persons, namely, to prevent or deter a public servant from discharging his duty. If the accused persons were unaware of the fact that the persons confined were public servants, the offence has not been committed. (Mukerjee, J.) KISHEN LAL v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 501:

L. R. 5 A. 177 (Cr.): 1924 A. 645.

———S. 353—Attachment of property under time-expired warrant—Resistance—Offence. NAND LAL v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 223:

76 I. C. 655 : 1924 Nag. 68.

———S. 353—Illegal warrant—Resistance to bailiff and party—Offence.

Where in obstructing the execution of an illegal warrant by the bailiff and his party, the obstructors did not exceed their right of private defence and no hurt was caused to the bailiff or criminal force used against him, an offence under S. 353, I. P. C. is not made out. (Zafar Ali, J.) ALLAH DAD v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 43 : 75 I. C. 731: 1924 Lah. 667 (2).

———S. 353—Offence under—Revenue Inspector—Distraint for arrears of Revenue by—Resistance to—Offence committed by—Warrant of distraint addressed only to village headman, his subordinate—Effect.

A Revenue Inspector, who was supervising the work of a village headman, as it was his duty to do, and who had been specially enjoined by his superior, the Tahsildar, to attend the work of distraint was resisted, while distraining property of the accused for arrears of revenue. Held, that the accused thereby committed an offence under

PENAL CODE, S. 353.

S. 353 of the Penal Code, notwithstanding that the warrant of distraint was addressed to the village headman and not to the Revenue Inspector. (Spencer, J.) KANDASWAMI GOUNDAN, In re.

25 Cr. L. J. 290:
1924 Mad. 539 : 76 I. C. 962 : 46 M. L. J. 45.

—S. 353—Public servant acting in discharge of duty—Distraint warrant authorising distraint of property of defaulter—Attempt to distraint property of lessee of defaulter—Assault of person entrusted with warrant by lessee—Conviction of lessee for—Legality.

Where, under a warrant authorising distraint of the property of a person who had defaulted to pay water-tax, the person executing the warrant attempted to distraint the property of the lessee of the defaulter and was assaulted by the lessee. Held, that the lessee could not be convicted for assaulting a public servant in the discharge of his duty. (Spencer, J.) MALLAMPATI NARASIMHAM v. SUB-INSPECTOR OF POLICE PRATTIPAD
20 L. W. 669 : 1924 Mad. 895 (2) : 47 M. L. J. 447.

—S. 353—Resistance to public-officer acting in good faith—Act illegal or irregular—If offence.

Where two bailiffs went together to the house of the petitioner who knew that they were bailiffs and had come to attach his property in execution of a warrant and where the Civil Nazir stated that his instructions to the bailiffs were that they both should work together in executing the warrant and the accused whose property was to be attached under the warrant, assaulted one of the bailiffs whose name in the warrant, was not endorsed and prevented him from attaching his property.

Held, that the bailiff was acting in good faith as a public servant and the accused was therefore guilty of an offence under S. 354, 21 M. 296 Foll. (Zafar Ali, J.) ABDUL GHANI v. EMPEROR.
25 Cr. L. J. 122 : 76 I. C. 186 : 1924 Lab. 632.

—S. 353—Warrant—Execution by Amin—Resistance—Expiry of time for return of warrant—Effect,
75 I. C. 768 : 25 Cr. L. J. 64.

—S. 362—Abduction when an offence.

Abduction in itself constitutes no offence and only becomes an offence when certain criminal intents are proved. (Pipon, J.C.) GHULAM YUSAF v. EMPEROR.
75 I. C. 297 : 24 Cr. L. J. 921.

—Ss. 363 and 366—Age of girl—Finding—Magistrate should consider what other offence was committed.

Where the Magistrate finds in a case under S. 363, I. P. C., that there is prima facie sufficient evidence that the girl was enticed away; the Magistrate should examine and decide whether an offence under S. 366 or some other cognate offence against a female of over 16 was committed and should not remain content with finding that the girl was not proved to be under 16. (Campbell, J.) GOKAL v. PHUMON SINGH.
1924 Lah. 718 (1).

—S. 366—Essentials of—Guardianship—Knowledge.
27 O. C. 32 : 81 I. C. 529:
25 Cr. L. J. 913.

PENAL CODE, S. 379.

—S. 366—Kidnapping—If a continuing offence—Abetment of offence.

The offence of kidnapping is not a continuing offence. When it is once complete, abetment cannot be proved against persons who have taken a subsequent part in the proceedings. (Pipon, J.C.) GHULAM YUSAF v. EMPEROR.
75 I. C. 297 :
24 Cr. L. J. 921.

—S. 376—Conviction on uncorroborated testimony of complainant.

Conviction for the offence of rape on the uncorroborated testimony of the complainant would be most dangerous. The question being whether there was consent or not, evidence of resistance on the woman's part should be forthcoming in the form of tearing of clothes, infliction of personal injuries or even injuries on her private parts. (Moti Sagar, J.) MAHLA RAM v. EMPEROR.
25 Cr. L. J. 74 : 75 I. C. 986 :
1924 Lah. 669.

—S. 376—Evidence. 1924 Lah. 669.

—S. 376—Punishment—Basis of.

In cases of rape, the punishment depends on the atrocity of the crime, the conduct of the criminal, and the defenceless state of the female. If has nothing to do with her status or nationality. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) SOOSALAL BANIA v. EMPEROR.
25 Cr. L. J. 1214 : 82 I. C. 142 :
1925 Nag. 74.

—S. 379—Abandoned property—Removal of—Bricks—Conviction for theft

The accused was found to have removed certain bricks from a heap that had been lying untouched for 8 years by their owner held that the accused might well have supposed that the bricks had been abandoned by the owner. (Baguley, J.) TAKIT TUNI v. EMPEROR.
3 Bur. L. J. 197 :
1925 Rang. 113 (2).

—S. 379—Crops removed by accused thinking them to be his—No offence.

Where accused removed crops on land which had passed to another under a Civil Court decree against the landlord of accused, thinking that crops had not passed under the decree.

Held, the removal of crops was not dishonest and a conviction for theft cannot be sustained. 3 L. B. R. 128 Dist. (Heald, J.) SIT PEIN v. EMPEROR.
25 Cr. L. J. 809 : 81 I. C. 345.
1924 Rang. 72.

—S. 379—Minor's lands in the possession of tenants—Guardian taking forcible possession of crops—Offence.

Where the lands of a minor are in the possession of tenant who have sown crops thereon, if the guardian goes and takes forcible possession of the crops he is guilty of theft as he dishonestly removes property knowing it belonged to another. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) TUKARAM v. EMPEROR.
25 Cr. L. J. 349 : 77 I. C. 237 :
1924 Nag. 311.

—Ss. 379 and 429—Theft of an animal and subsequent skinning—Separate convictions for theft and mischief whether legal.

PENAL CODE, S. 379.

Where accused Nos. 2 and 3, were convicted under S. 379 for theft of a cow, and for mischief under S. 429 for having killed it afterwards, and a double sentence in respect of each offence was imposed.

Held, that the killing of a cow, cannot be indicated separately as constituting mischief and that the convictions recorded cannot stand :

1. In the case of Madar Sahib 1902 1 Weir 497.
2. Bichuk Ahar v. Auchhuck, 6 W. R. A. 5.
3. Emperor v. Ram Lal Ratanji, 5 Bom. L. R. 460, followed. (Adami and Bucknil, JJ.) HUSSAIN BAKSHMIAN v. EMPEROR, 3 Pat. 804 : 1925 P. 34.

———S. 379—Theft—Running water—Water in the possession of cantonment authorities, 75 I. C. 159.

———S. 379—Trespass—Preparation for theft. NAURANGA v. EMPEROR. 1924 Lah. 223 (1).

———S. 380—Removal of goods by creditor to enforce payment—If theft.

When a creditor by force takes the goods of his debtor out of his possession against his will in order to compel him to discharge his debt he is guilty of theft. (Moti Sagar, J.) BAKHTAWAR v. EMPEROR, 25 Cr. L. J. 650 : 81 I. C. 138 : 1925 Lah. 131 (2).

———S. 381—Offence if triable by 3rd class Magistrate. 1924 Rang. 12.

———S. 381—Theft—Bona fide claim of right—Removal of property—When an offence.

The removal of property in the assertion of a bona fide claim of right though unfounded in law and fact does not constitute theft but a mere colourable pretence to obtain or keep possession of property does not avail as a defence. 41 C. 433 ; 41 C. 66 Ref. (Moti Sagar, J.) HARNAM SINGH v. EMPEROR, 5 Lah. 56 : 81 I. C. 185 : 25 Cr. L. J. 697 : 1924 Lah. 453.

———S. 382—Scope, 77 I. C. 434 (2) : 25 Cr. L. J. 386 (2).

———S. 383—Extortion—Nikah Khawan—Refusal to perform marriage in the absence of fee. NIZAM DIN v. EMPEROR 1924 Lah. 162.

———Ss. 383 and 44—Injury—What is—Extortion. 25 Cr. L. J. 961 : 81 I. C. 609 : 1954 A. 197.

———S. 383—Realising fine by picketing—If extortion.

Realising fines by means of picketing is extortion within the meaning of S. 383. Penal Code (Kotval, A. J. C.) THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT v. HANMANTRAO, 25 Cr. L. J. 60 : 75 I. C. 764 : 1924 Nag. 19.

———Ss. 395 and 149—Dacoity—Common object—Found against—Conviction for dacoity.

A conviction for dacoity, based either on a finding of a common object not charged, or on evidence which does not prove the essential ingredients of the offence cannot be sustained. Where a conviction for dacoity is based on the application of S. 34 or 149, I. P. C. and there was no charge that the assembly as a whole had for its common object the committing of dacoity, the conviction is bad. (Odgers and Wallace, JJ.) KOTTOORA THEVEN, In re.

PENAL CODE, S. 397.

1924 M. W. N. 238 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 307 : 1924 Mad. 584 : 77 I. C. 444 : 25 Cr. L. J. 396 : 19 L. W. 211 : 46 M. L. J. 311.

———S. 395—Dacoity—Proof for Conviction.

Where in a charge under S. 395, Indian Penal Code, the evidence was the accused's admission that a gang of 13 persons assembled at his hut at night, that he was aware of their purpose, that he did not give information to the Police till the next morning and after the dacoity the gang came and told him what had happened, the evidence does not prove he took part in the dacoity. (Neave, A. J. C.) UMRAO KHAN v. EMPEROR, 10 O. & A. L. R. 187 : 11 O. L. J. 356 : 81 I. C. 597 : 25 Cr. L. J. 949 : 1924 Oudh 367 (1).

———Ss. 395 and 397—Mode of judgment. NGA MU v. EMPEROR, 25 Cr. L. J. 205 : 76 I. C. 573 : 1924 Rang. 67.

———S. 395—Robbery—Fear caused to owner of house before loot—Offence.

In order that the offence of robbery be committed it is not necessary that fear should be caused to the owner of the house after the robbers have entered the house. If the robbers scared away the owner on account of the fear caused in his mind before they had been able to make an entry in his house the offence of robbery would be complete. If the owner of a house had been scared away by one gang of thieves and another gang looted the house, the act of the second gang would amount to theft in a dwelling house and not robbery. (Sulaiman, J.) YAMIN v. EMPEROR, L. R. 5 A. 81 (Cr.) : 83 I. C. 705 : 1924 A. 701.

———S. 396—Dacoity—Murder committed "in the commission of dacoity."

Murder committed by dacoits while retreating or carrying away stolen property is "committed in the commission of dacoity" within the meaning of S. 396, I. P. C. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Fforde, J.) SUNDAR v. EMPEROR, 25 Cr. L. J. 700 : 81 I. C. 188 : 1925 Lah. 142 (2).

———S. 396—Scope, 76 I. C. 109 (1) : 25 Cr. L. J. 319 (1).

———S. 396—Scope.

The fact that the murder was committed in the compound of the house raided, at a time when the dacoits were making good their escape is not sufficient to take the case out of S. 396. (Scott-Smith and Moti Sagar, JJ.) KARIM BAKHSI v. EMPEROR, 1923 Lah. 329 (1).

———S. 397—Applicability—If exclude operation of Ss. 34 and 114—Stick—If deadly weapon.

A stick is a deadly weapon within the meaning of S. 397 and merely brandishing it without verbal threats of using it amounts to using it, as distinguished to merely carrying it. The words of S. 397 do not exclude the operation of Ss. 34 and 114, I. P. Code. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) GHASSA v. EMPEROR, 82 I. C. 45 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1181.

PENAL CODE, S. 397.

—Ss. 397 and 398—Dacoity—Offender armed with deadly weapon—Grievous hurt—Liability of offender—Maximum punishment.

The words "the offender" and "such offender" in Ss. 397 and 398, I. P. C. refer to those persons only who are proved to have actually "used" or to have been "armed with" deadly weapons and not to all persons who combine to commit the specified offences. Neither S. 397 nor S. 398, I. P. C. creates an offence. The effect of these sections is merely to limit the minimum of punishment which may be awarded if certain facts are proved. S. 34, I. P. C. has no materiality in construing the meaning of Ss. 397 and 398, I. P. C. The intention of the legislature in framing Ss. 397 and 398, I. P. C. was that while all persons who combine to commit robbery or dacoity are liable in respect of the substantive offence, any particular offender who is proved to have used or carried a deadly weapon shall receive a punishment not less than that specified in those two sections. 21 A 263 not foll; 28 A 404; 22 M. L. J. 186 foll. (Page, J.) EMPEROR v. ALI MIRZA.

51 C. 265 :

81 I. C. 800; 25 Cr. L. J. 1024; 1924 Cal. 643.

—Ss. 399 and 402—If distinct offences—Sentence.

Where a person is convicted of dacoity and also of assembling along with others for the purpose, separate sentences can be awarded for each of the offences proved. But in practice the sentences should be concurrent. (Fforde, J.) GHULAM RASAL v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 680.

81 I. C. 168; 1925 Lah. 119.

—S. 399—Dacoity—Proof—Presumption—Inference from conduct.

The accused were convicted of an offence under S. 402, I. P. C. of assembling for the purpose of committing dacoity. They were found in a village to which they were strangers and one of them had a pistol tied up round his neck and concealed under his coat. One of them was caught while three others ran away. Two were captured after a chase. It was found that the accused on entering the village had divided themselves into batches and entered the village in different directions. Different portions of a book on bayonet training were found in the possession of different batches of the accused. Held, that the circumstances could legitimately give rise to the inference that the object of the accused was the commission of a dacoity. (Daniels, J.) BHOLA v. EMPEROR.

L. R. 5 A 156 (Cr.) :

22 A. L. J. 1028; 1925 A. 62.

—S. 400—Dacoity—Membership of a gang—Proof of—Receiving stolen property—Harbouring gang of dacoits—Effect of.

One of the chief points to establish in a case of gang dacoity is association in crime, and if it can be proved that certain persons have joined together to commit burglaries as well as dacoities the former fact is strong evidence of criminal association and is therefore relevant to show that they are members of the gang, and if that gang can also be shown to have been associated for the habitual commission of dacoities, evidence as to these burglaries may very well be relevant against the accused. Generally speaking only those persons can be convicted of dacoity who have either taken an active part in the crime or been employed for the purpose of scouting or in other ways facilitating the commission of the crime. A receiver of the property stolen or a person harbouring a gang is not necessarily a member of the gang within the meaning of S. 400, I. P. C. (Kendall and Pullan, A. J. Cs.) NIDHI v. EMPEROR.

PENAL CODE, S. 403.

10 O. & A. L. R. 639:

11 O. L. J. 632; 83 I. C. 683; 1 O. W. N. 660;

1925 Oudh 144 (2).

—S. 401—Offence under—Prior conviction for dacoity—Admissibility of

On a charge under S. 401, I. P. C. against an accused, a judgment in a prior Sessions case under which he was convicted of dacoity under S. 395, I. P. C. is admissible in evidence. 14 Bom. L. R. 373; 38 C. 408 foll. As regards the weight due to that evidence, if the conviction is not recent, it is useless except for showing that the accused is a person of criminal tendencies to theft. (Marten and Fawcett, JJ.) EMPEROR v. MOTIRAM HAI.

26 Bom. L. R. 1223.

—S. 403—Co-owners—Removal of property by one—If offence

It is not criminal misappropriation for one of several co-owners to take property belonging to them all unless it is also found that he appropriated it to his sole use. (Newbould and Suhrawardy, JJ.) KRISHNA CHANDRA BANIK v. HAR KISHORE MADAK. 25 Cr. L. J. 669 (1); 81 I. C. 157 (1);

1925 Cal. 154.

—Ss. 403 and 411—Criminal misappropriation—Receiving stolen property—Offence—Stolen articles contained in a single parcel—Single offence.

Where jewels were contained in a single parcel which was stolen and the jewels were afterwards retained by the accused, he should be convicted of a single offence in respect of all the articles in the parcel and not of separate offences in respect of the different articles.

Though usually a Court is not justified in drawing the presumption of guilty knowledge from a possession of property such as jewelry, which is not shown to have commenced until eighteen months or nearly two years after the property had been stolen or otherwise lost to the real owner, the Court is always entitled to ask the possessor to disclose the name of the person from whom he had obtained the articles and the particulars as to the origin of the possession and the Court is entitled to draw unfavourable inferences, if the person refuses to disclose such facts or gives an explanation which can be shown to be false. The weight to be attached to such unfavourable inferences must depend on the circumstances of each particular case. Where two years after the loss of a jewel by its owner the accused is found to be retaining possession of the same knowing it to be stolen property but there is no evidence as to when he first acquired such possession he is guilty under S. 411, I. P. C. and not under S. 403, I. P. C. (Lentaigne, J.) KAM PERSHAD v. EMPEROR.

2 B. 80:

81 I. C. 443; 25 Cr. L. J. 907; 1924 R. 256.

PENAL CODE, S. 405.

———S. 405—Criminal breach of trust—Retention of money by pleader. 1924 Nag. 47.

———S. 405—Trust essential.
75 I. C. 79 : 6 Lah. L. J. 125.

———S. 406—Criminal Breach of Trust—Sale of goods taken from a firm for approval—Dominion over property.

The accused took from a firm of jewellers goods for approval on 31-5-'23, and 1-6-'24 on the understanding that payment would be made in full in respect of approved articles taken on the 31st of May, and part payment in cash for the lot taken on 1-6-'24. Whilst this arrangement was in force, the accused sold the articles on 2-6-'24 before any payment was made to the firm.

Held, on appeal that the trust continued until the option to take the goods was exercised and the cash payment was made and the property did not pass from the firm of jewellers to the accused until both these conditions were fulfilled. The offence under S. 406 was therefore established. (Greaves and Panton, JJ.) KHITISH CHANDRADEB RAY v. EMPEROR. 51 Cal. 796 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1235 : 82 I. C. 163 : 1924 Cal. 816.

———S. 406—Forum of trial—Money received in District A—False promise to pay within District B. See CR. P. CODE S. 181 (3).
6 Lah. L. J. 471.

———S. 406—Offence under—Place of trial. See CR. P. CODE, S. 177. 77 I. C. 425.

———S. 408—Criminal Breach of trust by a servant.

Where property is entrusted to a servant and such servant fails to return the property or to account or gives an account which is shown to be false and incredible it is ordinarily a reasonable inference that he has criminally misappropriated the property so entrusted to him and dishonestly converted it to his own use. In such cases the courts are entitled to draw hostile inferences and presumptions from the action and statement of the servant. The provisions of Ss 106, and 114 of the Indian Evidence Act, can be relied upon in support of the above proportions. (Lentaigne, J.) SONAMEAH v. KING EMPEROR. 2 Rang. 476 : 1925 Rang. 47.

———S. 408—Essentials of.

To convict for an offence under S. 408, I. P. C., there must be a definite finding of a certain definite sum traced to the accused. Where the jury gave a qualified verdict that the amount misappropriated was much less than that mentioned in the charge, but was not able to say definitely what it was, a conviction could not be based on such verdict. (Walmsley and Mukerjee, JJ.) KHIRODE KUMAR MUKERJI v. EMPEROR. 29 C. W. N. 54 : 40 C. L. J. 555 : 1925 Cal. 260.

———S. 409—Offence under—Accused retaining control over property—bona fide claim of right—Benami transaction—Civil dispute.

An investigation into whether a transaction was benami or not should not ordinarily be undertaken by a Criminal Court and where a person bona fide asserts a claim to property which he had transferred but over which he had dominion even if it turns out to be unsustainable in law, there is no offence under S. 409, I. P. C. unless the claim is a mere pretence. Usually in a case under S. 409, I. P. C. the property is no longer existent or has passed from the dominion of the accused. (Greaves and Panton, JJ.) HARRY JONES v. EMPEROR. 28 C. W. N. 831 : 81 I. C. 829 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1053 : 1924 Cal. 908.

PENAL CODE, S. 415.

———S. 409—Offence under—Place of trial—Dispute of civil nature—Not to be tried by Criminal Court.

Accused was the commission agent at Calcutta of a limited company carrying on business at Ahmedabad and he was charged under S. 409, I. P. C., with criminal breach of trust in respect of goods sent to him. The accused was arrested in Calcutta under S. 54, Cr. P. Code and produced before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Calcutta, in order that he might be sent to Ahmedabad for trial. Held that the offence, if any, was committed in Calcutta and the accused was triable on charge under S. 409, I. P. C. only at Calcutta. Criminal Courts should not be invoked in respect of matters which should be investigated in a civil suit. (Greaves and Duval, JJ.) DWARKADAS HARIDAS v. AMBALAL GANPATRAM. 28 C. W. N. 850 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1203 : 82 I. C. 131 : 1924 Cal. 893.

———Ss. 411 and 457—Receiving stolen property—Circumstantial evidence. 1924 Lah. 241.

———S. 411—Stolen property—Presumption as to date of receipt.

Where the evidence in a case of receiving stolen properties does not show whether the properties were all received on one day or on different dates, no presumption can be drawn as to the date of receipt either way. (Adam and Bucknill, JJ.) EMPEROR v. BISHUN SINGH. 3 Pat. 503 : 2 Pat. L. R. 131 (Cr.) : 5 Pat. L. T. 319 : (1924) P. H. C. C. 126 : 81 I. C. 226 : 25 Cr. L. J. 738 : 1925 P. 20.

———Ss 415 and 420—Cheating—Damage or harm—Deceit—Contingent and remote consequences to be ignored—Direct and proximate result to be considered.

In a case of cheating the court as to see the intention of the accused at the time of the offence and judge of the consequences of the act or omission itself. The damage or harm caused or likely to be caused must be the necessary consequence of the act done by reason of the deceit practised or must be necessarily likely to follow therefrom and the law does not take into account remote possibilities that may flow from the act. The proximate and natural result only of the act has to be judged and not any vague and contingent injury that may possibly arise. To bring a case within S. 420, I. P. C. dishonesty in the transaction must be proved. (Walmsley and Mukerjee, JJ.) HARENDRA NATH DASS v. JOTISH CHANDRA DUTT. 40 C. L. J. 283 : 1925 A. 100.

———Ss. 415 and 420—Charge—Deceiving Courts and judges by institution of false cases—Decree—If a valuable security—Misdirection to jury.

PENAL CODE, S. 415.

The accused were charged under Section 420 read with Section 120-B, I. P. C., as being members of a criminal conspiracy with one another to commit offences punishable under S. 420, I. P. C., to wit, to deceive unsuspecting Judges of Civil Courts who tried the suits and also Judges who had ordered execution of the decrees therein and inducing or attempting to induce the said Judges, so deceived, to make valuable securities, to wit decrees, declaring that the accused persons were entitled to get properties or moneys from the victims of the said conspiracy and thereby deceiving such Judges to order execution of the decrees, to attach or seize properties of the victims of the conspiracy and to sell or cause to be sold properties so attached and thereby dishonestly inducing them to deliver or cause to be delivered possession of properties so sold and so on. Held that in order to sustain a charge under S. 420, I. P. C. ingredients required by S. 415, I. P. C. must be present. A decree does not come within the definition of a valuable security. A decree merely declares the existence of legal rights or extinguishment, extension, transfer or restriction of legal rights, etc.; the rights are there and all that the decree does is that it formally expresses the adjudication by the Court on the rights of the parties. Therefore a "decree" is not a "valuable security", but even if a "decree" did satisfy the definition of a "valuable security," there was no delivery of property within the meaning of S. 415, I. P. C. When the Court passes a decree, it does not deliver any property, because the original decree remains in Court and the term "valuable security" assuming that the term is wide enough to include a decree can only apply to the original document and not to any copy of the decree which may be supplied on application to the parties. The same arguments would apply to orders in execution. On no conceivable view of the matter could the case of the prosecution be brought within the four corners of S. 415, I. P. C. and therefore, also of S. 420 of the Indian Penal Code. (Ghose and Cuming, JJ.) CHARU CHANDRA GHOSE v. EMPEROR. 28 C. W. N. 414 : 39 C. L. J. 122 : 81 I. C. 810 : 1924 Cal. 502 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1034.

—Ss. 415, 417 and 420—Cheating—Delivery of railway wagons in excess of allotted number owing to fraud of servants of the railway company—Delivery of property—Injury to reputation of the railway company.

A corporation, such as a railway company, is an artificial person, and its acts are those of the agents who act for it and in its name. 22 C.W.N. 821 Ref.

Railway wagons are no doubt "property" of the Railway company. But they are not as property delivered to a colliery merely by being taken to the colliery siding. No doubt the colliery are entitled to load the wagons but the amount of control exercised for that purpose is of a very limited character. Consequently where a servant of the Railway Company sends more wagons than have been allotted, for loading to a colliery is not guilty of cheating within S. 415 (1), I.P.C. Nor does such unauthorised allotment of more wagons through the fraud or dishonesty of Railway servants cause or is likely to cause any appreciable damage to the reputation of the railway company within S. 415 (ii) of the I.P.C. To constitute cheating within S. 415 cl. (ii), I.P.C. it is necessary (1) that the person deceived must have acted under the influence of the deceit (2) that the facts must establish damage or likelihood of damage and (3) that the damage must not be too remote. 2 C.L.J. 524; 22 C.W.N. 1001 : 32 C. 775 : 17 C. 606 ; 9 C.W.N. 764 ; 12 C.W.N. 751 Ref. (Richardson and Suhrawardy, JJ.) LEGAL REMEMBRANCE v. MANMATHA BHUSAN CHATTERJEE. 51 C. 250.

PENAL CODE, S. 419.

—Ss. 415 and 420—Cheating—Essentials of offence—Abetment—Saccharine—Adulteration with bicarbonate of soda.

In order to prove the offence of cheating it is necessary to establish (1) that some one was deceived (2) fraudulently or dishonestly or intentionally; and (3) by means of such deceit he was induced to change his position either by parting with property or by doing something to his own injury. Adulteration of saccharine with a mixture of soda bicarbonate and passing off the stuff as saccharine and getting money therefor is an offence under S. 420, I. P. C. (MacLeod, C.J. and Shah, J.) EMPEROR v. BHOLA SING AMEER SING. 26 Bom. L. R. 211 : 81 I. C. 928 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1102 : 1924 Bom. 303.

—S. 417—Cheating—Cheque dishonoured—Jurisdiction—Power of High Court to transfer.

A cheque issued at Gaya was dishonoured by the Bank of Calcutta and the fact of such dishonouring reached the complainant at Butan, Held, a prosecution could be initiated at Gaya, Butan, or Calcutta. It is open to the High Court to transfer a complaint for cheating filed at one of the places to another, if under the circumstances such a step is necessary in the interests of justice. (Bucknill, J.) METCALFE v. WATSON.

25 Cr. L. J. 81 : 76 I. C. 17 : 1924 P. 708.

—Ss. 417 and 420—Offences under—Distinction between—Trial and conviction by second class Magistrate—Legality of.

The facts as set forth in the charge against the accused constituted an offence under S. 420, I. P. C. Objection to the jurisdiction of the second class Magistrate who took cognisance of the case was taken by the accused on the ground that it was not triable by him. The objection was again pressed on appeal from the conviction by the second class Magistrate, but the appellate court did not give effect to it. On revision to the High Court. Held that it was not open to the Magistrate to clutch at jurisdiction by ignoring the aggravating circumstances which make the offence really cognizable by a higher tribunal. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) SETTI RANGAYYA v. SOMAPPA.

25 Cr. L. J. 1193 : 82 I. C. 57 : 20 L. W. 919.

—S. 419—Mahomedan pretending to be Hindu for getting job—Offence.

A Mahomedan who pretends to be a Hindu in order to get a job under a Hindu who would not employ a Mahomedan is guilty under S. 418, I.P.C. (Kennedy, A. J. C.) SHARFAZ v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 789 : 81 I. C. 309 : 1925 S. 57.

PENAL CODE, S. 420.

——— Ss. 420 and 511—Attempt at cheating—If offence.

An attempt to commit the offence described in S. 420, Penal Code and thereby induce delivery of property is known to the law. (Kotval, A. J. C.) SAMUEL ILQANAH v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 475 : 77 I. C. 827 : 1924 Nag. 120.

——— S. 420—Cheating — Broker — Advance secured by promote—Supply of paddy.

1924 Rang. 31 : 75 I. C. 700 : 25 Cr. L. J. 236.

——— Ss. 420 and 511—Cheating — Insurance — False claim.

Where a person whose godown had been insured against fire made a claim against the company for much more than he actually lost, he is guilty of the offence of attempting to cheat, (May Oung, J.) MG. PO HMYIN v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 1175 : 82 I. C. 39 : 1924 R. 241 : 2 R. 53 : 3 Bur. L. J. 1.

——— Ss. 420 and 464—Offence under—Elements of—Intention to deceive—Forging cheque—Cheating.

The accused having no account at a bank drew a cheque in a favour of a vendor of goods as if in payment of the price and signed the cheque with a name other than his real name. The cheque was dishonoured and it was found that the accused had drawn a cheque with a view to induce the vendor to deliver the goods. The accused was charged with offences under Ss. 420 and 464, I. P. C. Held, that the accused was not proved to have been guilty of an offence under S. 464, I. P. C. but that he was guilty under S. 420, I. P. C. To constitute an offence under S. 464, I. P. C. the intention must be proved to be to cause it to be believed that such document was made or signed or executed by, or by the authority of, a person by whom or by whose authority it was not made or signed. (Walmsley and Mukerjee, JJ.) MARTINDALE v. KING EMPEROR.

1925 Cal. 14 : 40 C. L. J. 256.

——— S. 426—Removal of dead tree—Mischiefs.

The cutting and removal of dead jack-fruit tree standing on the homestead of the tenant, by a servant of the landlord does not constitute the offence of mischief. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) SARAT CHANDRA SEN v. YAKUB TALUQDAR.

1924 Cal. 805 : 28 C. W. N. 736.

——— Ss. 426 and 451—House trespass—Mischief—Party Wall—Raising height of—Demolition by neighbour—Bona fide claim of right.

There was a dispute between two neighbours over what was alleged by the accused to be a party wall belonging to himself and the complainant. The complainant in spite of a notice to the contrary had proposed to erect an addition to this wall. The accused gave notice on 11-3-1924 warning him not to erect an addition to the wall but on 12-3-'24 the complainant proceeded to add to the wall in order to support a staircase he was putting up. The same evening the accused pulled down that addition which consisted of an added or raised brickwall. The accused instituted a civil suit and obtained an interim injunction restraining the complainant from proceeding with the construction of the wall. Held that the accused had pulled down the addition to the wall under a bona fide claim of right and that he was not guilty of the offences under Ss. 426 and 451, I. P. C. with which he was charged. (Marien and Fawcett, JJ.) EMPEROR v. BALAKRISHNA NARHAR.

PENAL CODE, S. 441.

26 Bom. L. R. 978 : 1924 Bom. 486.

——— S. 427—Charge under—Acquittal—Compounding of case by complainant—Sanction of master of complainant not obtained—Effect.

The complainant compounded a case which he had instituted against the accused and the accused were acquitted. Subsequently the complainant's master alleged that the complaint had been filed under his authority and that he had not given sanction for withdrawal of the case or for compounding it. Held, that the acquittal of the accused was quite legal and proper and so long as the order stood, it was a bar to a further trial of the accused on the same charge. (Boys, J.) HARBANS v. EMPEROR.

22 A. L. J. 820 : L. R. 5 A 143 (Cr.) : 1924 A. 778 : 83 I. C. 658 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 944.

——— S. 430—Mischief—No finding as to ownership of property.

1924 Oudh 132 (1).

——— S. 436—Mischief by fire—Essentials of offence—Setting fire to building—Death of child.

It is absolutely necessary in order to convict the accused under S. 436, I. P. C. to prove that the building which he destroyed came within the category of a building ordinarily used as a place of worship, as a human dwelling or as a place for the custody of property. The words "ordinarily used" in S. 436, I. P. C. do not mean that other buildings are from time to time used for such purposes, but they mean that the particular building which is the subject of the offence was itself used. It was found that the accused had set fire a chaupal as a result of which a child was burnt to death. It was not proved that the accused new that the chaupal had been used as a place of dwelling or that there was a child inside the chaupal. Held, that the accused was not guilty under S. 304, I. P. C. but under S. 426, I. P. C. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) KHANJAN v. EMPEROR.

L. R. 5 A. 140 Cr. : 82 I. C. 54 : 1924 A. 781 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1190.

——— S. 441—Criminal trespass—Offence of—Intention essential.

The offence of criminal trespass is not complete unless there is an intent to commit an offence or to intimidate, insult or annoy some one in possession of property. It is not enough that the accused should know that his act is likely to have such effect. 41 M. 156 (F. B.) Ref. (Spencer, J.) NARAYANA, In re.

20 L. W. 239 : 82 I. C. 149 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1221.

——— Ss. 441, 448 and 452—Criminal trespass—Essentials of offence—Search after young girl kidnapped away.

A young girl who was about to be married disappeared from her parents' house. Shortly after she was reported to be living with the complainant in his house. The parents and their relations (who were the accused) went to the house of the complainant and in his absence forcibly removed the girl to their house. The complainant alleged some sort of a marriage but there was no proof of that. Held that the accused had not committed any offence under S. 441, I.P.C.

PENAL CODE, S. 441.

The essence of an offence under S. 441, I.P.C. is the intent in committing the trespass and merely to trespass is not ordinarily an offence. It must be proved that some criminal intent was present in the mind of the accused and it does not at all follow that because an act is unlawful and is one that the civil law will restrain or for which it will compensate the injured party in damages, it is necessarily criminal. (Motisar, J.) REHANA v. EMPEROR. 5 Lah. 20 : 81 I. C. 351 : 1924 Lah. 449 : 25 Cr. L. J. 815

— S. 441—Essentials of offence—Invitation by inmate of house—Presumption.

The accused at the invitation of a lady in the house entered the house at night for carrying on an intrigue with her. He did not expect that his intercourse would be interrupted or that his presence would be noted by others. Held, he had no intention of causing annoyance and that no offence was committed. (Martineau, J.) ASA RAM v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 751 : 81 I. C. 239 : 1925 Lah. 23.

— S. 442—"Building" meaning of—Wehra used for custody of property.

A "wehra" used for custody of property is a building within the meaning of S. 442 of the Penal Code, 35 P. R. 1879 followed. (Malan, J.) NIAMAT v. EMPEROR.

1925 Lah. 117 : 6 Lah. L. J. 385.

— S. 442—Courtyard bounded by walls—No door—If a building.

A courtyard bounded by walls on all the sides without a door opening out anywhere, is not a building for the purposes of S. 442, I. P. C. (Martineau, J.) BUTA v. EMPEROR. 77 I. C. 809 : 9 Lah. 623 : 25 Cr. L. J. 457.

— S. 442—Entry, meaning of.

77 I. C. 446 : 25 Cr. L. J. 398.

— S. 447—Criminal trespass—Intention—Vacant land—Assertion of right.

Where certain vacant land was in the possession of the complainant, the accused who were the headmen of the village and looking after the affairs of the village temple entered upon the land alleging that it was the property of the temple, and put up a water pandal in the place. Held that the accused having acted bona fide there was no question of criminal trespass. (Krishnan, J.) JAMBULINGA CHETTY v. EMPEROR.

1924 M. W. N. 546 : 1924 Mad. 862 : 47 M. L. J. 437.

— S. 447—Intention to annoy—Question of inference.

The essence of an offence for which a man may be convicted under S. 447, I. P. C. lies in the intention of the accused to commit an offence or to intimidate, insult or annoy any person in possession of the property with reference to which the trespass is made. A distinction should be made between the civil wrong and the criminal offence. There may be an intent to annoy without any primary desire to annoy, as a man is in law presumed to intend the natural consequences of his act. It is a matter of inference to be drawn from the circumstances of a case. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) EMPEROR v. JAG MOHAN DAS.

PENAL CODE, S. 465.

1924 Oudh 297 : 75 I. C. 292 : 24 Cr. L. J. 916.

— S. 448—Criminal Trespass—Thandika property—Entry by member of the public. MAUNG SHEVE KU v. EMPEROR. 75 I. C. 353 (2).

— Ss. 448 and 452—Elements of offence—House trespass. 76 I. C. 392 : 25 Cr. L. J. 168.

— 448—Entry with bona fide claim of right—Offence.

An entry into a house in assertion of a bona fide claim of right cannot constitute criminal trespass, which requires an intent to commit an offence or to intimidate, insult or annoy any person in possession. (Ross, J.) DEBI DAYAL v. EMPEROR. 1925 P. 167 : 61 I. C. 823 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1047.

— S. 448—Intention—Proof of.

In the case of a conviction for criminal trespass, there must be a clear finding as to intention. From the antecedent circumstances and conduct of the parties, if the court thinks the trespasser knows that his act would cause insult or annoyance, it can infer such an intent. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) BHAGWANTRAO v. CHAMPAT RAO.

1925 Nag. 50 : 81 I. C. 716 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1004.

— S. 456—Non-production of house owner.

The mere non-production of the owner or person in actual possession of house does not vitiate conviction under S. 456 (12 A, L. J. 151 Dist.) BOYS, J.) MANNI v. EMPEROR.

1924 A. 764 : L. R. 5. A. 127 (Cr.).

— Ss. 457 and 497—Essentials of.

Before convicting a person of an offence under S. 457 when the offence charged is house trespass with intent to commit adultery, the Court has to be satisfied there is no consent or connivance by the husband. (Greaves and Duval, JJ.) BALARAM KUNDU v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 1186 (2) : 82 I. C. 50 (2) : 1925 Cal. 160.

— S. 458—Scope of.

1924 A. 78.

— Ss. 463 to 467—Scope of.

S. 195 (1) C. of the Criminal Procedure Code refers to an offence described in S. 463, I. P. C. and the latter is used there in a comprehensive sense so as to embrace all species of forgery and includes a case falling under S. 467, I. P. C. (Martineau, J.) KHAINATH RAM v. MALAWA RAM. 5 Lah. 550.

— S. 464—Expert evidence—Not Corroborated—Expert not called as witness.

77 I. C. 423 : 25 Cr. L. J. 375.

— Ss. 465 and 471—Application for appointment—Forged certificate affixed—Offence.

An applicant for an appointment appended to his application a forged certificate. Held, his object was to obtain wrongful gain and he was guilty of offences under Ss. 467 and 471, I. P. C. (Mac Cott, J. C.) NGA BA THEIN v. EMPEROR.

PENAL CODE, S. 466.

1925 Rang. 9: 76 I. C. 225 : 25 Cr. L. J. 129

—Ss. 466 and 468—Conviction for forgery and using as genuine a forged instrument—Legality of.

There is nothing illegal in a person being convicted for forgery and also for using a forged instrument as a genuine one. The offences are separate and if both are committed separate convictions are legal. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) GAJANAN SAKHARAM v. EMPEROR.

1925 Nag. 162 (1) : 77 I. C. 825 : 25 Cr. L. J. 473.

—S. 467—Forgery of document—No intention to use—Offence.

It is an offence under S. 467, I. P. C. to forge a document, even though there is no intention to use the same. (Wazir Hasan, J. C. and Pullan, A. J. C.) SURAT BAHADUR v. EMPEROR.

11 O. L. J. 640 : 1 O. W. N. 362 :
25 Cr. L. J. 1162 : 81 I. C. 986 : 1925 Oudh 158.

—S. 467—Forged receipt—Writer—When can be convicted.

A person who wrote a forged receipt cannot be convicted under S. 467, I. P. C. in the absence of evidence that he was present at its execution or that he helped any person to use it. (Graves and Duval, JJ.) MAZHER AHMED v. EMPEROR.

82 I. C. 261 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1253.

—Ss. 467 and 471—Misappropriation—Making false receipt for fine paid into Court.

Where the bench clerk of a Sub-Divisional Magistrate's Court received a sum of money, being the amount of fine levied on the payer, and misappropriated it and with a view to screen the misappropriation made a false receipt he is guilty of offences under Ss. 467 and 471, I. P. C. (Heald, J.) NGA BA SEIN v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 1378 : 83 I. C. 338 : 1924 R. 331 :
3 Bur. L. J. 113.

—S. 471—Guilty intention necessary.

A finding that the articles were possessed by the accused dishonestly with the knowledge or with reason to believe that they were stolen property is necessary for conviction. Mere possession of stolen property is no offence. To retain valuable property which does not belong to the accused does not in itself prove that a man's possession is dishonest. (Campbell, J.) ARIAN DAS v. THE CROWN.
1923 Lah. 340.

—S. 471—Use of a forged document—What constitutes—Court need not act upon it.

A suit for redemption was decreed over-ruling the plea of the mortgagee that he had purchased the property by a Kobala. The mortgagee filed an appeal and along with his memorandum of appeal filed the Kobala. The appeal was decreed. It was found that the Kobala was a forged document. Held that the accused had committed an offence under S. 471, I. P. C. It is not necessary that the court should have accepted the document to constitute the offence of using a false document. Even if a man uses a false document to support a good title, he is guilty of an offence under S. 471, I. P. C. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) EMPEROR v. BANSI SHEIKH.

PENAL CODE, S. 474.

1924 Cal. 718 : 83 I. C. 504 : 51 C. 469.

—S. 472—Applicability—Taking impression of seal—When offence.

S. 472 covers only the case of a counterfeit of an existing thing. To take the impression of an old seal on a piece of paper is not an offence unless it is proved there was an intent to use it in a dishonest manner. (Wazir Hasan, J. C. and Pullan, A. J. C.) SURAT BAHADUR v. EMPEROR.

11 O. L. J. 640 : 1 O. W. N. 362 :
81 I. C. 986 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1162 :
1925 Oudh 158.

—S. 477-A—Charge under—Amendment of Cr. P. Code—Trial by Magistrate—Legality of

A criminal case was commenced in the Court of First Class Magistrate and resolved charges against the accused under Ss. 408 and 477-A, I. P. C. At the time the case commenced the charge under S. 477-A was exclusively triable by a Court of Sessions. Since the amended Cr. P. Code came into force charges under S. 477-A were triable by a Magistrate with first class powers. Held that the trial by the Magistrate after the amended Code came into force of the charges under Ss. 408 and 477-A, I. P. C. was quite legal and proper. The amendment of the law which enables a Magistrate with first class powers to try charges under S. 477-A, I. P. C. is a matter of procedure only and the amending Act applies notwithstanding that the case was commenced before the amending Act came into force. (Greaves and Duval, JJ.) RAJIB LOCHAN SHAW v. JOGESH CHANDRA.

1924 Cal. 983 : 28 C. W. N. 998.

—S. 482—Mark used for 6 years—If becomes a trade mark—Actual deception—Evidence of—If necessary.

For a conviction under S. 482, evidence of actual deception is not necessary. It is enough if the court finds on a comparison of the two trade marks that the accused was likely to deceive.

Using a mark for a period of 6 years in respect of goods sold, makes such a mark a trade mark. (Greaves and Panton, JJ.) LAKHAN CHANDRA BASAK v. EMPEROR.

1925 Cal. 149 : 81 I. C. 922 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1098.

—S. 489-B—Using forged note as genuine—Knowledge—Proof of.

To convict a man under S. 489 B. for using a forged note as genuine, the possession of the note does not necessitate his explaining his possession, but the prosecution must prove he knew it to be forged when he passed it. (Kennedy, A. J. C.) EMPEROR v. HABU.

81 I. C. 551 : 25 Cr. L. J. 935.

—494—Bigamy—Anand marriage—Mona.

A Mona Sikh can validly perform his marriage under the Anand rites, and in respect of the same, the offence of bigamy can be committed. (Moti Sagar, J.) WALU RAM v. EMPEROR.

82 I. C. 277 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1269.

PENAL CODE, S. 494.

—S. 494—Bigamy—Offence under—Trial for—Forum—Territorial. See CR. P. CODE, S. 177. 3 Pat. 417.

—S. 494—Offence under—If triable by first class Magistrate.

Under the Criminal Procedure Code as amended in 1923 a first class Magistrate can try an offence of bigamy without committing it to the Sessions. (Dalal, J. C.) DAL CHAND v. RAM LAL. 25 Cr. L. J. 39 : 75 I. C. 727 : 1925 Oudh 60.

—S. 498—Complaint by husband—Death of husband—Prosecution if abates. 1924 Lah. 72.

—S. 499—Defamation—Accused if must actually utter defamatory words—Use of such words by another and accused adopting them if enough—Married woman—Imputation of unchastity to—Complaint by husband—Rights of—Penal Code, S. 499—Criminal Procedure Code, S. 198—Effect.

To be guilty of the offence of defamation it is not necessary that the accused should himself have actually uttered the words complained of. Where another person uses defamatory words purporting to report what the accused himself had told him and the accused, who is present at the time, by his conduct and by a few words which he speaks, intends to give and does give the impression that he adopts the words of that other as his own, the accused is guilty of the offence of defamation. By assenting by conduct and suggestion to what he himself is reported to have said, the accused in effect utters the words imputed to him.

Where a married woman is defamed by imputation of unchastity, her husband is a person aggrieved under S. 198, Criminal Procedure Code, and has the right to prefer a complaint of defamation. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) APPANNA v. ARKUNNA. 20 L. W. 921 : 47 M. L. J. 746.

—S. 499—Defamation—Intention—Injury to reputation.

A person commits defamation within the meaning of S. 499, I. P. C., who publishes any imputation concerning any person intending to harm the reputation of that person whether harm is actually caused or not. A person who publishes defamatory matter against another in a case not covered by any of the exceptions cannot escape punishment on the ground that the reputation of the person attacked was so good or that of the person attacking was so bad, that serious injury to the reputation was not in fact caused. (Daniels, J.) RAM NARAIN v. EMPEROR. 1924 A. 566 : 22 A. L. J. 639 : L. R. 5 A. 119 (Cr.) : 83 I. C. 503

—S. 499—Good faith—Discussion of public questions.

Law does not permit a lower standard of good faith in defamatory statements in the discussion of public statements. Any criticism must be justly and reasonably deducible from the public conduct in question. (Kennedy, J. C. and Madgavcar, A. J. C.) HIRANAND v. EMPEROR.

17 S. L. R. 245 : 1924 S. 129 : 76 I. C. 230 : 25 Cr. L. J. 134.

PENAL CODE, S. 499.

—Ss. 499 and 500—Religious controversy—Personal character or respectability not assailed—Violent language—Defamation.

In reply to a book written by the complainant attacking Vaishnavism and its founders, the accused retorted by a similar publication and both books dealt with highly controversial religious matters. Very violent language was used in the latter about the complainant. Held, it did not amount to defamation, as the personal character or respectability of the complainant was not in any way assailed. (Madavan Nair, J.) KUMARAGURUDASA SWAMIGAL v. KRISHNASWAMY MUDALIAR. (1924) M. W. N. 768 : 1924 Mad. 898 (1) : 47 M. L. J. 664.

—S. 499—Exception—Defamatory Statement—Imputation against medical man—Want of due care and attention—Considerations of public good—Acquittal—Interference on appeal.

The accused was charged with an offence under S. 500, I. P. C., in respect of a pamphlet issued by him containing statements that the complainant, a medical practitioner, had in pursuance of conspiracy drugged a patient, made him unconscious and caused him to be removed to the cremation ground. The accused pleaded justification and that he bona fide believed in the truth of his statements. The Magistrate on an investigation of various medical works found that the prescription given by the complainant was not appropriate for bribery colic from which the patient was suffering and that the symptoms of the patient showed signs of arsenical poisoning. The Magistrate found that in those circumstances a prudent and reasonable man would draw the conclusion that the medicine administered to the patient caused his collapse and the conduct of the complainant suggested criminal conspiracy to a prudent mind. Held, (1) that the Magistrate, being untrained in medicine, was not justified in embarking on an enquiry into medicine without expert assistance and that his conclusions were unsound and valueless ; (2) that it was not shown that the accused acted with due care and attention when he published the statements in question ; (3) that the fact that certain evidence was produced at the trial could not be utilised for the purpose of establishing due care and attention attributed to the accused, unless it is also shown that the information was in his possession at the time when he published the statement ; (4) that Exc. 9 to S. 499, I. P. C., did not protect the accused inasmuch as the publication was not made in good faith ; (5) that the absence of good faith was proved by the flimsy materials on which the statement was based and the absence of any evidence that the accused made any enquiries before publication or had at his disposal or in his knowledge any of the evidence produced at the trial ; and (6) that in the absence of good faith, it was not necessary to inquire if the public good was involved in the publication.

Though the High Court hesitates to interfere when an accused has been acquitted and it does not do so unless there has been a miscarriage of justice, yet in the circumstances of the case having regard to the fact that there was no justification for the statements complained of, and that there was no evidence to support them, the High Court interfered in appeal and convicted the accused. (Greaves and Panton, JJ.) EMPEROR v. PURNA CHANDRA GHOSE. 28 C. W. N 579:

PENAL CODE, S. 499.

83 I. C. 631 : 1924 Cal. 64.

———S. 499—Exception to—Panchayat—Statement that person was unchaste—Good faith.

Where the accused made a statement at a caste panchayat that a child was born to a woman of adulterous intercourse, it amounts to defamation unless he proves it was true or that he made it in good faith. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) BAGA MAHAR v. EMPEROR. 1924 Nag. 172 : 76 I. C. 393 :

25 Cr. L. J. 168.

———S. 499—Exception (9)—Defamation—Applicability.

When the complainant charged the accused with having defamed her by certain allegations made in a letter by his vakil, such as her unchastity, and bad conduct, in reply to a notice sent by complainant charging the accused with breach of trust and misappropriation, of her husband's properties, and the Magistrate discharged the accused. Held on revision that the accused is protected by exception 9 to S. 499, and that the statements made in the letter were matters affecting the common interest of the complainant and the accused, and that in the present case, where the accused, being the brother's son of the complainant's husband, had a direct interest in making the allegations of unchastity against his uncle's widow, to deprive her life interest, and was within his rights in causing the letter to be written and the offence of defamation cannot be made out. (Odgers, J.) SANKAMMA v. GOVINDA CHETTY. 20 L. W. 779 : 1925 Mad. 246.

———S. 499, Exception 9 — Defamation — Sectarian disputes—Excommunication of a member of a community — Publication in course of duty—Good faith.

The accused were the executive members of a caste association known as the Sourashtra Sabha. On a representation made to the Sabha that the complainant, one of the members of the community subject to the jurisdiction of the Sabha was liable to be excommunicated for a caste offence, notice was given to him to appear and answer the charge and on his refusal to do so an order of excommunication was passed against him. A report was drawn up of the Sabha's proceedings and was published by the caste head (one of the accused) in accordance with the usual practice, to the heads of the community, in other places. The accused were charged with defamation. It was found that according to the usual procedure of the Sabha in question and other similar institutions a delinquent who refused to appear and answer the charge against him was liable to be excommunicated without further inquiry. Held, (1) that the accused having followed the usual procedure of the Sabha in the proceedings taken by them against the complainant could not be said to have been actuated by malice, however defective that procedure might appear to more judicial minds ; (2) that the accused were acting in good faith and in the interests of the community ; (3) that the publication of the report was made in the usual course of the accused's duty to those who had a right to be acquainted with the matter in question ; and (4) that the accused were fully protected by the ninth exception to S. 499, I. P. C. (Wallace, J.) AYYASWAMI AIYAR v. ANNAN THIRUMALA AIYAR. 19 L. W. 639 : 1924 M. W. N. 541 :

PENAL CODE, S. 504.

1924 Mad 670 : 47 M. L. J. 8.

———S. 499, Exc. 10 — Defamation — Caste ex-communication—Communication of information as to—Privilege.

The complainant was put out of caste at a meeting of his caste fellows for having taken water from an untouchable man. The accused told some of the members of the caste not to take water from the hands of the complainant, as in that event they would incur the penalty of excommunication. Held that the accused was not guilty of any offence and his case fell within exception (10) to S. 499, I. P. C. (Stuart, J.) UMED SINGH v. EMPEROR. 22 A. L. J. 79 :

L. R. 5 A. 55 (Cr.) 77 I. C. 824 :

25 Cr. L. J. 472 : 1924

———S. 500—Report to police.

Statements made in the course of judicial proceedings are absolutely privileged. Information or a report made to the Police does not come within this principle. A report made at a police station though not within the rule of absolute privilege which covers Judicial proceedings, is prima facie privileged, that is to say, the person making it has a right to make it if he honestly believes it, and the person receiving it has a duty to receive it. But qualified privilege as the term indicates, provides only a qualified protection and the person charged with the defamation must prove that he used the privilege honestly, and the onus of establishing that lies upon him. (Walsh, J.) LALA LACHMAN PRASAD v. NAJJU. 1923 All. 167.

———S. 504—Offence under—Essentials of—Intentional insult—Breach of the peace.

An insult is no less intentional because it is "incidental" to another insult or even to another statement or proceedings which is not insulting. But to insult another intentionally is not an offence punishable under S. 504, I. P. C. unless the offender intends by that insult to provoke the other person into breaking the peace by assaulting him or getting him assaulted or reviling him in loud and angry tones or in any other way or at least knows that such a disturbance is a probable result of his insult. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) SIFFLES v. DIXIT. 7 N. L. J. 124. 81 I. C. 903 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1079 : 1924 Nag. 121 (2).

PENSIONS ACT S. 4.

PENSIONS ACT Ss. 4 and 6—Jagir—Right to share—Suit for—Necessity for certificate of collector—Omission to obtain certificate—Effect of.

Where the plaintiff sues for a declaration that he is the sole owner of a certain share in a Jagir, the suit could not proceed in the absence of a certificate granted by the Collector under S. 6 of the Pensions Act but the absence of a certificate is not a ground for a summary rejection of the plaintiff's suit or appeal. The appeal was adjourned for three months to enable the plaintiff to obtain a certificate from the Collector under S. 6 of the Pensions Act. 25 All. 73 ; 27 I. C. 927 followed. (Scott-Smith, A. J. C.) MAHAMMAD BARKAT ULLAH v. FAZIULLAH. 6 Lah. L. J. 343.

—S. 4—Kulkarni services—Commutation into cash allowance—Received by one co-sharer—Suit by other co-sharer—Certificate of Collector—Necessity for.

Three brothers forming a Hindu family owned among other things certain inam, mirasi, patil kis and vatani lands, and also certain cash allowances. At a partition made in the year 1869 between the three brothers, the aforesaid properties were kept, joint and left under the management of eldest brother with a view to collect the income and to divide it in equal shares among all the brothers. Subsequently in 1897 the brothers confirmed the aforesaid arrangement. The eldest brother died in 1889 and was succeeded by his adopted son who died in November 1918. On the death of the adopted son his widow assumed the management of the property. In 1914 a suit was brought for recovery of his share in the income of the properties by the plaintiff's father, who was one of the three brothers, and the suit was compromised. The plaintiff brought a suit for recovery of his share in 1921 in respect of the commuted payments of the kulkarni villages. Held that the plaintiff's claim referred to grants of money made by the British Government within the meaning of S. 4 of the Pensions Act and that so far as those items were concerned a certificate of the Collector was necessary before the plaintiff could obtain a decree. (Shah, A. C. J. and Fawcett, J.) GIRABAI SHIVDEORAO v. NARAYAN RAO. 26 Bom. L. R. 1165.

—S. 4—Motives of party—If can be looked into—Construction of Act.

In determining the application of S. 4, Pensions Act, the Court should not enquire into the motives of the plaintiff. The provisions of the Act being in derogation of the ordinary rights of a citizen must be considered strictly. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) NAQI HUSAIN v. MT. CHHAJI BEGAM. 80 I. C. 606 ; 10 O. & A. L. R. 908.

PLEADER—Rejection of brief—Partisanship for one of the parties—Not a proper ground for rejecting brief, if fee paid. See PRACTICE, PLEADER. 10 O. & A. L. R. 459.

PLEADER AND CLIENT—Appearance for opposite sides—Different stages of the same proceeding.

The judgment-debtor engaged a vakil to object to the execution of a decree under S. 47 of the C. P. Code. The execution application was finally disposed of. Subsequently the same vakil was engaged by the decree-holder for making an application under O. 34, R. 6 of the C. P. Code. Held, that there was nothing improper in the vakil appearing for the decree-holder in the application under O. 34, R. 6. (Mookerjee and Dalal, J. J.) SANTI LAL v. RAJ NARAIN.

PLEADER AND CLIENT.

L. R. 5 A. 565 ; 82 I. C. 65 ; 1924 A. 804.

—Compromise of case—Authority of Counsel—Practice.

In a suit for recovery of the price of goods sold and delivered and for damages in respect of goods not taken delivery of, the plaintiffs valued their claim at Rs. 25,508. Defendants admitted liability to the extent of Rs. 12,611 but had claimed Rs. 58,000 on account of various other transactions between the parties. When the suit came on for hearing defendant's counsel in the absence of his client and without his authority consented to a decree in plaintiff's favour for Rs. 22,177 reserving the defendants' right to proceed with their claim in their own suit. The counsel was neither asked to settle the suit nor was any restriction placed on his discretion in the matter of compromise of the suit. Held that the compromise was within the apparent authority of counsel and was binding on his clients, the defendants.

Per Richardson, J. :—A counsel has in the usual course full authority in the exercise of his judgment and discretion to settle or compromise a case on behalf of the client for whom he appears. The client by retaining counsel has clothed the latter with authority to act for him in the usual course and it would rather appear to be unjust to the opposing party that the compromise should be set aside and that proceedings reopened. There must be some limitation of counsel's authority to compromise, express or otherwise, to enable the client to impeach the compromise as beyond counsel's authority. (Sanderson, C. J. and Richardson, J.) B. N. SEN & BROS. v. CHUNI LAL DUTT & Co. 51 Cal. 385 ;

83 I. C. 611 ; 1924 Cal. 651.

—Negligence—Liability for—Claims allowed to become barred.

Where the pleader was retained generally for all the cases of a Raj and was also paid a monthly salary for conducting all cases, his duty is to conduct the cases entrusted to him by the agents of the Raj. In the absence of any special term in the contract to that effect the pleader is not bound to instruct the plaintiff or his servants that they ought to take certain proceedings. The pleader could not be held responsible for allowing decrees to become time-barred provided he did not neglect to present the application for execution when sent to him for that purpose. (Dawson Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) MAHARAJADHIRAJA SIR RAMESHWAR SINGH v. NARENDRA NATH DAS. 5 Pat. L. T. 355 ; 2 Pat. L. R. 205.

—Relationship between—General authority—Standing Vakil—Agency.

There is no such thing as a standing relation of pleader to a person. A person is a pleader for another only when that other has occasion to employ him as such. That employment may be either to conduct a suit or advise him about some matter in which legal advice is required : but there is no such general relationship as that of pleader and client of a standing and permanent character upon all occasions and for all purposes. An appointment as a standing vakil does not create an agency for a particular case until a vakalat is given. (Phillips, J.) MAHBOOB SIR FRAJVANTU SREE RAJA PARTHASARATHY APPA RAO v. SUBBA RAO. 35 M. L. T. (B.C.) 84 : 1924 Mad. 840 : (1924) M. W. N. 517 : 47. M. L. J. 483.

PLEADER AND CLIENT.

——— Right of audience—Engagement of pleader—Right of client to be heard in support of his case—Default of pleader—Effect.

When a vakil represents his client the right of audience is, for the time being, vested in him. For the purpose of continuing the hearing or commencing the hearing, he is the appellant. If he is absent there is default. Even if the client was physically present in Court, in the eye of law he was not present in such a sense as to prevent the absence of the vakil from being a default. But a Court should not dismiss a case for default owing to the temporary absence of the pleader in a different Court but should give some time for the party to bring his pleader or adjourn it for a short time on terms as to costs. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) SAKALRAI DALU v. MT JADU RANI. L. R. 5 A. 615 : 80 I. C. 950 : 1925 A. 58.

PLEADINGS—Admissions in—Construction of—To be read as a whole. See ADMISSION.

78 I. C. 542.

——— Alternative reliefs—Grant of one—If Plaintiff can claim both in appeal. MT. SARJO KUAR v. ENAIT. 1924 A. 271.

——— Case not specific in plaint—Prejudice. 1924 Mad. 174.

——— Case set up in plaint not proved—Effect. 1924 A. 150.

——— Plaint—False averments—Effect of—Relief awarded.

A suit cannot be dismissed on account of a false averment in the plaint. Courts must apply the law to the facts actually proved, even though they showed the allegations of both parties to be untrue, incorrect or incapable of proof and judicial recognition, and give such relief as the facts warrant. (Raker, O. J. C.) FAIZ MAHOMED v. SHEIKH WAJID. 1924 Nag. 189.

——— Presentation out of office hour—Whether proper. See C. P. CODE, O. 4, R. 1.

20 L. W. 655.

——— Proof—Misrepresentation that sale was a mortgage—Evidence—Attestation—Statement by vendor—Inference.

On an issue as to whether the signature of a vendor to two sale-deeds had been obtained under a misrepresentation that they were really mortgage deeds the vendor gave no evidence as to any misrepresentation of that sort. In the attestation which had to be appended at registration the vendor in respect of the said sale-deeds made a statement that he had signed the documents in question not as sale but as mortgage deeds. The trial Judge held that that statement showed the impression that the vendor was under and that it must be inferred that that impression had been induced by the action of the other party. Held, that it was impossible to draw such inference and that the case set up was not made out. (Lord Dunedin.) MAHARU WALAD LOTU v. KHANDU WALAD. 20 L. W. 107 :

POSSESSORY TITLE.

L. R. 5 P. C. 132 : 80 I. C. 822 : 26 Bom. L. R. 742 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 928 : 1924 M. W. N. 645 : 35 M. L. T. (H.C.) 139 : 1 O. W. N. 530 : 47 M. L. J. 128 (P.C.).

——— Title acquired after filing of suit—Decree if can be given.

Even if a plaintiff had no title at the time of filing the suit, a Court can proceed to give a decree on the basis of a title acquired during the pendency of the suit. (Krishnan and Ramesam, JJ.) PENDEKKALLU THIMMAYYA v. SIDDAPPA. 75 I. C. 112 : 1925 Mad. 63.

——— Title based on ownership—Adverse possession—Decree if can be awarded on—Prejudice.

Where a suit brought for possession is based on ownership, but the Court finds the plaintiff has acquired title by adverse possession and decrees the suit and it is not claimed that the defendant has been prejudiced or taken by surprise, there is nothing illegal in the procedure adopted. (Odgors and Hughes, JJ.) MUKAMBIKA SHETTITHI v. SHID-DAYA SHETTI. 75 I. C. 613.

POSSESSION — Animus Possidendi—Absence of title—Physical control—Effect.

In the absence of title, law will raise from definite physical control of land a presumption of possession of that which the possessor has shown a clear and unambiguous intention to possess. (Dass and Ross, JJ.) TIKAIT THAKUR NARAYAN SINGH v. DILDAR ALI KHAN. 80 I. C. 544 : 3 Pat. 915.

——— Suit for—Absence of title in plaintiff—Ejection by defendant.

A person in possession without title can maintain his possession as against another person without title and if forcibly ejected by the latter can sue for possession. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) AKAL AHIR v. BAIJNATH DAS. 1924 P. 709.

POSSESSORY TITLE—Evidence of payment of revenue and receipt of rent is prima facie evidence of hereditary title to Zemindari but does not prove heirship to the last holder.

The proof of possession or receipt of rent by a person who pays the land revenue immediately to Government is prima facie evidence of an estate of inheritance in the case of an ordinary Zemindari. The evidence is still stronger if it be proved that the estate has passed on one or more occasions from ancestor to heir. 1 I. A. 268. But the mere fact that the plff. is in possession and pays Government revenue for the estate will not prove that he is the nearest heir of the last holder and if the property is not an accretion to the Raj, he cannot succeed only upon his possessory title. (Dawson Miller, C. J. Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD SINGH v. MAHARAJA KESHO PRASAD SINGH. (1925) Pat. 68 : 5 Pat. L. T. Supp. 1.

POST OFFICE ACT (XIV OF 1866) S. 6.

POST OFFICE ACT (XIV OF 1866) Ss. 6 and 34—Goods sent by value payable parcel—Destruction of label—Sale by dead letter office—Liability of Post Office.

A parcel sent by plaintiff by value payable parcel never reached the consignee. The label had become torn and in due time the parcel reached the Dead Letter Office. Eventually as it was impossible to trace the parcel to its owner it was sold for Rs. 15. Plaintiff claimed the value of the goods Rs. 85-8-0 from the Secretary of State. Held, that the defendant was liable and that he could not escape liability under Ss. 6 and 34 of the Post Office Act (Lindsay, J.) SECRETARY OF STATE v. RADEY LAL. L. R. 5 A 384 : 79 I. C. 334 : 46 A. 455 : 1924 A. 692 (1).

PRACTICE—Adjournment—Pending case—Not to be expected as a matter of course—Court entitled to exercise reasonable discretion. See C.P. CODE, O. 47, R. 1. 51 C. 70.

Appeal—New case when open.

The general rule as to grounds of appeal is that a party is not entitled to relief upon facts or documents not referred to or stated in the pleadings, nor on any ground which has never been considered, taken or tried in the Courts below, unless it is a pure point of law going to the question of jurisdiction of the Court below and capable of being determined without the consideration of any other evidence than that on the record. (Baker, J.C.) MT GOWRA v. CHAITRAM. 1924 Nag. 372.

Appeal—New point of law—When allowed.

Although a point of law may be taken in appeal for the first time, yet it is subject to the well-recognised rule that the evidence on the record is complete and no further evidence is necessary to substantiate the point. (Jwala Prasad and Foster, J.J.) NAGESHWAR BUX RAI v. BISESWAR DAYAL SINGH. 3 Pat. 236 : 2 Pat. L. R. 58 : 78 I. C. 889 : 5 Pat. L. T. 576 : 1924 P. 446.

Appeal—Notice of, to be given before party can be adversely affected.

The Commissioner is certainly not entitled to decide an appeal against a respondent who had never been summoned or heard. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) THAKUR RUDRA PRATAP NARAIN SINGH v. MT. RATAN DEI. L. R. 5 O. 46 : 11 O.L.J. 376.

Appeal—Presentation to wrong Court—Disposal by that Court—Appeal to High Court

A decree was passed originally for Rs. 9,000 and odd. A sum of Rs. 8,000 and odd had been paid under the decree and the balance due under the decree together with interest thereon was about Rs. 2,033 for which execution was taken. An objection by the judgment-debtor to the execution of the decree was allowed. The decree-holder preferred an appeal to the District Judge who dismissed it on the ground that no appeal lay to him inasmuch as the order fell within the provisions of O. 21, R. 58. C. P. Code. On second appeal to the High Court Held that the appeal to the District Court was incompetent and that the appeal lay to the High Court. Under the circumstances the High Court discharged the order of the District Judge and directed him to record on the memorandum of appeal presented to that Court an order of return for presentation to the proper Court to be signed by the Registrar in the High Court on the day the case was heard in the High Court. (Chatterjee and Panlon, J.J.) NAGENDRA LAL CHAUDHURI v. ASHRAF ALI CHOWDHURY. 40 C. L. J. 288 : 1925 Cal. 212.

PRACTICE.

Change of case—Suit for possession—Redemption if can be awarded.

In a suit for possession by the mortgagee the mortgagor has no right to elect whether possession shall be delivered or the mortgage redeemed. (Kendall, A. J. C.) THAKUR PRASAD SINGH v. CHANDRIKA PRASAD. 10 O & A. L. E. 212 : 11 O. L. J. 436 : 81 I. C. 742 : 1925 Oudh 150 (2).

Commitment—Procedure to be followed when High Court orders Commitment to Sessions.

Where the appellant was convicted under S. 379, I. P.C., and on a reference by the Sessions Judge for enhancement of sentences, the High Court set aside the conviction and ordered commitment of the accused to Sessions under S. 397, and the committing magistrate took the evidence afresh and wrote a long order, Held the Magistrate should have reopened the original proceedings, frame a fresh charge, and explain to the accused, require him to give in his list of witnesses for Sessions, and then write a short formal order of commitment as under the orders of the High Court. (Carr, J.) NGAMYANG v. EMPEROR. 2 Rang. 447 : 1925 Rang. 82.

Consent order—Party disclaiming consent—Absence of prejudice—Procedure.

A consent order was passed by Court, and thereafter one of the parties stated he did not consent to the order or authorise his pleader to do the same. It appeared that he did not suffer any prejudice by such order. Held, it could be allowed to stand, 47 M.L.J. 164 F. 11. (Madhavan Nair, J.) VEPARI DALEPPADU v. THOTTADI SURANNA. 20 L.W. 900.

Costs—"Costs to be costs in the cause"—Order as to costs in an interlocutory application—Power of Court deciding main case to deal with costs. See COSTS. 26 Bom. L. R. 282.

Costs—Preparation of paper book—Appeal and Memorandum of Objections—Calcutta High Court Rules, Appellate Side, Chap 9, R. 25.

Where there are papers common to the appellant's list and the special list of the respondent with reference to his cross-objection the obvious course to pursue is that the costs of translation and printing of such common papers must to that extent, be apportioned. (Mookerjee and Chatterjee, J.J.) GOBIND DAS NATH v. NRITYA KALI DAS. 39 C.L.J. 342 : 80 I.C. 790 : 1924 Cal. 874.

Counsel—Admissions by—Effect.

An erroneous admission by a Counsel on a point of law is of no effect and does not preclude a party from claiming his legal rights in the appellate Court. (Kendall, A. J. C.) THAKUR PRASAD SINGH v. CHANDRIKA PRASAD.

PRACTICE.

10 O. & A. L. R. 212 :
11 O.L.J. 436 : 81 I.C. 742: 1925 Oudh 150 (2).

—Counsel—Admission on a point of law—Effect.

An admission of Counsel on a point of law will not bind the party and if the opposite party has not in any way been prejudiced by such admission the point can be raised in subsequent proceedings. (Moti Sagar and Martineau, JJ.) NANAK CHAND v. MUHAMMAD KHAN.

1924 Lah. 702.

—Courts—Duty of — Application under wrong provision of law—Not ground to refuse justice

A court in the administration of justice should not refuse an application which on the merits it ought to grant and in law can grant, simply because the applicant asks the Court to exercise its admitted powers under a wrong section. Regard should be had to the substance rather than to the form of proceedings. (Baker, A. J. C.) IBRAHIM v. MR. SUGRABAI.

7 N. L. J. 4 :
20 N. L. R. 158: 75 I. C. 664: 1924 Nag. 77.

—Decree holder whether bound by way of res Judicata or dispendens in previous proceedings where he is not a party. Whether he can rely on favourable findings.

Where the decree holder in attaching the properties of judgment-debtor contended that he was not bound by previous proceedings in which he was not a party which declared judgment-debtor was not the owner but relied on a favourable finding in the previous litigation. Held, a party who is not a party to any of the previous proceedings is not bound by the adverse findings against him nor can he take advantage of findings in his favour in the previous litigation. (Krishnan, J.) ATMAKUR CHINNA CHENCHIAH v. K. KONDAYYA.

20 L. W. 798.

—Decree in futuro—If to be passed.

It is one of the principles of law that a court should not pass a decree which cannot be given effect to. (Suhrawardy and Chotener, JJ.) NEAJUDDIN v. AKAMAT ALI.

79 I. C. 365 :
1925 Cal. 411 (2).

—District Magistrate must give explanation when ordered by High Court to do so.

Where the High Court issued a rule calling upon the District Magistrate to show cause why an appeal summarily dismissed should not be re-heard.

Held, the Magistrate is bound to give reasons and should not merely say "I should not be justified in taking up their Lordships' time over this trumpery case." (Sanderson, C. J. and Pantou, J.) RAM HARI CHAKRAVARTHY v. SANTOSH KUMAR MANNA.

1924 Cal. 642.

—Estoppel—Party accepting benefit under decree cannot appeal but can appeal if benefit is his even if appeal failed.

A party who has adopted an order of the Court and acted under it, cannot, after he has enjoyed a benefit under the order, contend that it is valid for one purpose and invalid for another. But the principle does not apply where the benefit accepted would in any case be his whether the appeal succeeded or failed. Where in a suit on a money bond payable with compound interest the Court awards simple interest only, an appeal against the decree is not rendered incompetent though the decree-holder accepts the costs deposited by the judgment-debtor on the basis of simple interest, subsequent to the filing of the appeal. (Chatterjee and Cumming, JJ.) JOGENDRA NATH BANERJEE v. KHODA BUKSHA BISWAS.

PRACTICE.

1924 Cal. 380.

—Examination of witnesses — Duty of Court—Commission, when to be ordered. See C. P. CODE, O. 26, R. 4.

39 G. L. J. 595.

—Full Bench—Reference to—When to be made.

Where a case was referred to a Full Bench because "It is advisable that the rights of decree-holders against the property of a deceased person in the hands of his legal representative should be clearly defined," Held that the reference was one which ought not to have been made. (Schwabe, C. J., Coutts Trotter and Ramesam, JJ.) KADIRVELU SAMI NAYAKER v. THE EASTERN DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION, LTD.

47 Mad. 411 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 17 :
(1924) M. W. N. 346 : 80 I. C. 163 :
1924 Mad. 530 : 46 M.L.J. 61.

—Government case—Government not entitled to greater indulgence than ordinary private litigants. (See C.P. CODE, O. 47, R. 1)

51 C. 70.

—High Court—Finality of order—Appeal from final order—Company—Winding up—Enforcement of payment of disputed debt—Abuse of process of Court.

With respect to all courts, more especially Courts of record such as the Original Side of the High Court the order of Court is the order that comes to be embodied in the formal order drawn up and issued by the Court. When the first order of the Court is in the nature of a preliminary order, an appeal against the final order would be held to include any points decided for the purpose of the preliminary order. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Srinivasa Aiyangar, JJ.) SATYARAZU v. GUNTUR COTTON JUTE AND PAPER MILLS CO., LTD.

1925 Mad. 199 : 47 M. L. J. 710.

—High Court—Judge of, absent on other service—If ceases to be a Judge of the Court—Full Bench judgment—Validity—One of Judges absent on other duty when judgment was pronounced—Effect.

A Judge of the High Court who does not resign his appointment does not cease to be a Judge of that Court during his temporary absence on other service. A Full Bench judgment of the High Court is not invalid merely because it was pronounced at a time when one of the Judges constituting the Full Bench was absent on other duty. (Spencer and Devadoss, JJ.) MEYYAPPA CHETTIAR v. CHIDAMBARAM CHETTIAR.

(1924) M. W. N. 692 : 1925 Mad. 58 :
21 L. W. 112 : 47 M. L. J. 397.

PRACTICE.

———High Court—Letters Patent appeal—New point—Not to be allowed.

In a second appeal the Judge of the High Court is required by law to express his opinion on the question of law submitted to him, and if counsel chooses to submit to him questions of law based upon a statement of facts which they do not challenge, they cannot afterwards be heard to question it in a Letters Patent appeal. (Walsh, A.C.J. and Ryves, J.) BIJADHAR BHAGAT v. JEAT CHAMAR. 22 A. L. J. 647; L. R. 5 A. 404. 80 I. C. 601; 1924 A. 518.

———Inconsistent pleas—Party when estopped from putting forward—Plaint—Appeal—Different case set up.

In a suit for possession of property the plaintiff specifically set up her title and her right to possession of certain property on the allegation that under an award the person through whom the defendant claimed was a trustee for herself. On appeal she urged that under the award the defendant had only a life interest. Held, that the plaintiff had not really so changed her case that it would be just and proper to estop her from urging what were the positions of the respective parties under the award. (Mukerjee, J.) MT. DURGA KUNWAR v. MT. CHUNNA KUNWAR. L. R. 5 A. 276; 78 I. C. 633; 1924 A. 862.

———Issues—Possession and dispossession—Form of the issue.

An omnibus issue framed by the trial Court, "whether the plaintiff was illegally dispossessed" includes the issue whether the plaintiff was legally in possession and evidence on this point could have been produced. (Fremantle, S. M.) HAZARI v. RAGHUNATH SINGH. L. R. 5 O. 42; 10 O. & A. L. R. 317.

———Issue—Vagueness of—No prejudice.

Where the vagueness of an issue has in no way misled or injured the parties, the objection as to the vagueness cannot be entertained in appeal. (Burn, J. M.) RAM HAKRAH v. UMADAT. L. R. 5 O. 47.

———Legal representative — Application to bring on record put in under wrong provision of law—Power of Court to apply proper provision of law to the cases. See C. P. CODE, O. 22, Rr. 3 AND 10. 46 M. L. J. 341.

———Local investigation — Commissioner—Report of—Weight due to—Duty of Court to accept report of Commissioner unless based on bias or obvious mistake. See C. P. CODE, O. 26, R. 9. 28 C. W. N. 318.

———New pleas.

It is not legitimate to raise in the Privy Council subsidiary points which were apparently neither raised nor canvassed in the Courts below. (Lord Shaw.) SAHU RAM KUMAR v. MAHOMED YAKUB. L. R. 5 P. C. 89; (1924) M. W. N. 431; 1924 P. C. 123; 34 M. L. T. (P.C.) 102; 26 Bom. L. R. 631; 20 L. W. 82; 80 I. C. 203; 47 M. L. J. 180.

———New plea—Question of law for first time in appeal.

PRACTICE.

Per Ramesan, J. (Jackson, J. doubting):—Plaintiffs suing to set aside adoption by widow and defendants supporting it on the ground of consent of agnatic kinsmen, question of law as to necessity of consent of daughter's sons can be raised for the first time in appeal provided opportunity is given to defendant to prove daughter's sons did consent, (Ramesan and Jackson, JJ.) ANNE BRAHMAYYA v. C. RATTAYYA. 47 Mad. 716; (1924) M. W. N. 844; 20 L. W. 503; 1925 Mad. 67.

———Parties—Unnecessary party—Right to contest suit.

A defendant who is not a necessary party to the suit and who has no interest in the subject matter of the suit is not entitled to contest it. (Moti Sagar, J.) SHAMSUDDIN v. ALLAH DADKHAN. 6 Lah. L. J. 351; 1925 Lah. 65.

———Pleader—Rejection of brief—Partisanship with one of the parties.

A lawyer has no right to reject a brief when offered to him on payment of fee agreed upon between the parties, on grounds of partisanship for a party to the litigation. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) ALLAHABAD BANK, LTD. v. BAKHSH SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 459; 11 O. L. J. 337; 80 I. C. 826 (2); 1 O. W. N. 279; 1924 Oudh 372.

———Pleadings—Decree on entirely new case—Procedure.

If a Court is of opinion that a plaintiff has not proved his case as made in the plaint, the suit should be dismissed or if it be of opinion that the plaintiff should be given an opportunity for amending his plaint, the Court should give such leave and give the defendant an opportunity of taking objections in respect of the amendments. (Sukrawardy, J.) GOLAK CHANDRA NANDY v. NISHI CHANDRA SIL. 78 I. C. 162.

———Pleadings—Issues—Issue of fact raised during late stage of the argument.

Where in a suit for damages for breach of contract all the evidence had been taken and during the stage of argument a plea was taken that the plaintiff had not applied for performance of the contract under S. 48 of the Contract Act, Held, that it would be highly unsafe to allow such a plea to be raised during the stage of arguments. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) KANDASAMI NAIDU v. GOKULDAS MADHOUJI & Co. 20 L. W. 564.

———Pleadings—Only where a right that could be decreed exists and is taken away by Act of State, the plea of Act of state need be put.

Where there existed a right either admitted or that could be established by decree of Court, and that right, it was alleged, was taken away by and Act of State, Held, it would be necessary so specifically to plead but the moment that cession is admitted, the subjects necessarily become petitioners and have the onus cast on them of showing the acts of acknowledgment, which give them the right they wish to be declared. (Lord Dunedin.) NAYAK VAJESINGHI v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. (1924) M. W. N. 694; 1924 P. C. 216; 26 Bom. L. R. 1143; 22 A. L. J. 951; L. R. 5 P. C. 199; 40 C. L. J. 473; 82 I. C. 779; 21 L. W. 28; 51 I. A. 357; 48 Bom. 613; 47 M. L. J. 574.

PRACTICE.

———Pleading—Variation between pleading and proof is not always fatal to suit or defence.

It is not every variation between pleading and proof which is fatal to a suit or a defence. Where a custom was alleged in defence but not proved and it was not framed as a distinct issue.

Held, that it did not prejudice the defence. (Daniels, J.) SULTAN HUSSAIN v. JWALA.

1924 All. 831.

———Police recording evidence in investigation must attach papers to diary.

The paper upon which the statement of a person examined by a Police Officer in investigation is written should be attached to the Police diary proper which should contain a narrative of events. (Kotwal and Prideaux, A. J. C.) LAXMAN v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 141 : 76 I. C. 237.

1924 Nag. 33.

———Precedents—Subordinate Courts—Duty to follow rulings of superior Court.

A Court subordinate to a High Court is bound to follow the rulings of the High Court on any particular question and is not entitled to rely up on the decisions of other High Courts which take a different view of the law.

An appellate Court cannot set up for the first time a case of fraud which has not been referred to in the pleadings. (Devadoss and Jackson, JJ.) PERI RAMASWAMI v. CHENDRA KOTTAYYA.

47 M. L. J. 840.

———Precedents—Value of—Ratio decidendi alone to be considered—Judicial Committee of the Privy Council—Decisions of—Weight due to. See MAHOMEDAN LAW, DOWER.

40 C. L. J. 171.

———Privy Council—Appeal pending before—Death of parties—Representatives not impleaded.

Where pending an appeal to the Privy Council some of the respondents died and their legal representatives were not impleaded. Held that the decree of the Privy Council was binding on the respondents' representatives. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) KALYANI PILLAI v. TIRUVENKATASWAMI AIYANGAR.

47 Mad. 618 :

35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 50 : 20 L. W. 99 :

(1924) M. W. N. 439 : 1924 Mad. 695 :

47 M. L. J. 154.

———Privy Council—Concurrent findings on questions of fact—Reasons different.

On an issue as to the fact or validity of an alleged adoption under Hindu Law, concurrent findings of the Trial Judge and the Appeal Court in India, even though based on apparently different and distinct reasons, will not be interferred with. 42 P. R. 147 Ref. (Sir John Edge.) MT. DURGA DEVI v. SHAMBHUNATH. L. R. 5 P. C. 83 : (1924) M. W. N. 434 (P. C.) : 20 L. W. 216 : 1 O. W. N. 569 : 46 M. L. J. 661.

———Privy Council—Concurrent findings of fact.

Under the practice of Privy Council concurrent findings of the lower courts on issues of fact are not open to review by the Board. (Lord Shaw.) CHAUDHURI NUSRAT ALI v. GHULAM SARWAR.

(1924) M. W. N. 429 : 11 O. L. J. 433 :

81 I. C. 1056 : 1 O. W. N. 336 :

10 O. & A. L. R. 885 : 17 L. W. 710 :

1924 P. C. 232.

PRACTICE.

———Privy Council—Criminal Appeal—Interference when justified.

The responsibility for the administration of criminal justice in India is one the Privy Council will neither accept nor share unless there has been some violation of the principles of justice or some disregard of legal principles. (Viscount Haldane Lord Dunedin, Lord Carson, Sir John Edge and Sir Lawrence Jenkins.) EMPEROR v. RUSTAM. 48 Bom. 515 : 26 Bom. L. R. 693 (P. C.).

———Privy Council—Issue of fact—Finding of fact of Trial Judge reversed—Practice of the Privy Council in deciding questions of fact.

In a suit for recovery of possession of certain ancestral property, the defendant contended that he was the adopted son of the last male owner. The trial Judge, on the issue of adoption, upon a review of the evidence, found for the plaintiff, but these findings were reversed by the Court of the Judicial Commissioner on appeal. Held, by the Privy Council that the Court of the Judicial Commissioner was substantially correct in its review of the evidence upon the question of the fact of adoption and that the judgment of that Court ought to be affirmed. In such questions of fact, their Lordships simply announced the decision of the Board, without discussing in detail the views of the inferior Courts. (Lord Shaw.) JUDAWAN PRASAD v. SHATRUHAN PRASAD.

26 Bom. L. R. 568 : 1924 P. C. 208 :

46 M. L. J. 625 (P. C.)

———Privy Council—Objection to jurisdiction must be allowed at any stage if the defect is manifest.

An objection to the jurisdiction, however late in the day it may be raised, must be entertained, if it be that on the facts admitted or proved it is manifest that there is a defect of jurisdiction. (Lord Phillimore.) RAM LAL HARGOPAL v. KISANCHANDRA.

51 Cal. 361 :

7 N. L. J. 62 : 20 N. L. R. 23 :

34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 62 : 19 L. W. 549 :

1924 P. C. 95 : 22 A. L. J. 386 :

26 Bom. L. R. 586 : 51 I. A. 72 :

83 I. C. 531 : L. R. 5 P. C. 216 : 28 C. W. N. 977 :

(1924) M. W. N. 79 : 46 M. J. 628.

———Procedure—Partition—Suit for—Preliminary decree declaring plaintiff's share—Defendant's death subsequent to, and before final decree—Plaintiff becoming entitled to whole of suit property by survivorship—Procedure on—Application to bring deceased's daughter on record as legal representative—Application for amendment of plaint to include share of deceased also—Maintainability.

1924 Mad. 309.

———Relief claimable in prior suit.—Omission—Effect.

It is not permissible to a party to a suit to bring a separate suit to obtain the reliefs which were available to him in the previous suit itself or in execution of the decree in that suit. (Greaves and Chakravarty, JJ.) SAROJ BANDHU BHADURI v. MANIK SHEIKH. 80 I. C. 917 : 1925 Cal. 305.

———Remand by Appellate Court—Note of date for hearing.

PRACTICE.

When a case is remanded by an Appellate Court, the proper procedure is to inform the pleaders of both parties of the date fixed for hearing. (Pearson and Graham, JJ.) DEBENDRA NARAIN SINGH v. NARENDRA NARAIN SINGH.

80 I. C. 678 : 1925 Cal 360.

———Security for costs—Decision of single Judge of the High Court—Appeal—Power of High Court to demand security for costs. See C. P. CODE, O. 41, R. 10. 28 C.W.N. 676.

———Sind Court will respect Bombay decisions—The Court of the Judicial Commissioner, Sind, has always paid great deference to the decisions of the Bombay High Court. (Kincaid, J. C., Aston and Madgavkar, A. J. C.) GUNNIS AND CO. LTD. v. AMANMAL TULSIDAS. 1924 Sind. 75

———Subsequent events—Court if can take note of.

A Court of first instance or an Appellate Court can, under proper circumstances, take note of subsequent events and give relief to parties on the basis of such altered conditions. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) NARAYAN v. MT. TULSHI.

80 I. C. 607: 1925 Nag. 104.

———Subsequent events—Court if can take notice of.

Generally a Court should adjudicate on the rights of the parties as on the date of plaint, but in exceptional circumstances such as to shorten litigation and to meet the ends of justice a court can and must take notice of subsequent events. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) LALA ANANTARAM v. MURLIDHAR. 1924 Nag. 204.

———Subsequent events—Partition suit—If can be basis of decree.

If in a partition suit there is a devolution of interest after the institution of the suit that can be considered in passing the decree and finally adjusting the rights of parties. (Baker, O. J. C. and Hallifax, A. J. C.) MT. RADHABAI v. MT. SONI BAI. 1924 Nag. 188.

———Suspicion if ground for decision.

A Court's decision must rest not upon suspicion but upon legal grounds established by legal testimony. (Kendall, A. J. C.) ZAMIN HUSAIN KHAN v. TASADDUQ ALI KHAN.

80 I. C. 692 : 1925 Oudh 171.

———Trial—Evidence of witnesses—How taken—Consent of parties—Effect.

It is clearly undesirable that where a matter has to be decided on trial the Court should not hold the trial itself and retain the advantage of seeing the witnesses give evidence following the course of the proceedings. But where the parties consent to evidence taken by another tribunal being evidence in the case, the procedure is validated. (Oldfield and Devadoss, JJ.) KRISHNA AIYAR v. THE OFFICIAL RECEIVER, TRICHINOPOLY. 75 I. C. 445.

———Trial of suit—Advancement of hearing—Notice to parties essential.

Where a court fixes a particular date for the hearing of a case but takes it up two days before the date fixed without notice to one of the parties and passes a decree against him, the decree is liable to be set aside on that ground. (Campbell and Broadway, JJ.) ZULFIKAR ALI v. NABI BAKHSI. 80 I. C. 324 : 1924 Lah. 459 : 6 Lah L. J. 155.

PRECEDENTS.

———Trial of suit—Connected cases—Agreement between counsel that one suit should be tried first and the other should follow the result of the first case—Binding nature of.

There were two cross-suits between two parties and counsel for both of them agreed that the first suit should be tried and that the second suit the subject-matter of which was essentially the same, should not be tried except to ascertain the amount due in case the first suit was decided against the plaintiff. The two cases were put down for hearing on the same day and the presiding Judge stated that there was but one issue for trial in the suit and counsel for plaintiff agreed. After decision of the first suit counsel for the defendant in the second suit (who was plaintiff in the first suit) stated that the agreement made prior to the trial was not binding on the defendant in the second suit which should be tried on all the issues. Held, that the parties could not resile from the agreement already come to and that the defendant in the second suit must abide by it. (Meekerjee and Rankin, JJ.) WILLIAM ROWE RAE v. LEWIS PUGH. 1924 Cal. 940 39 C. L. J. 537.

———Valuation of a suit—Discretion of plaintiff—Purposely exaggerated valuation—Not to be allowed.

It is necessary in the interests of the litigant public that a fair valuation should be put upon every suit. Fees on the higher scale are usually given and they are graduated according to the valuation fixed by the plaintiff. Obviously if a plaintiff is permitted to place any fanciful figure of the value of the suit, he subjects the defendant to an unfair burden as regards the costs which he is prima facie liable to pay his counsel and also subjects him to a continuing possible liability to pay the plaintiff an amount by way of costs far in excess of the real value of the case. It is as much the duty of the counsel to protect his client from the liability to pay excessive fees as to protect him from an adverse decree. It is not sufficient for the written statement to allege that the valuation was excessive and to leave it at that. The counsel for the defendant, when first the excessive valuation came to their notice should at once before drafting any written statement, have applied to the court for an order on the plaintiff to deliver particulars in writing of the valuation. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) RAJA UDAIRAJ SINGH v. SECY. OF STATE. 46 A. 553 : 1924 A. 652 : 22 A. L. J. 446.

PRECEDENTS—Value of.

In appreciating decisions of Court, it is necessary to remember that a case is only an authority for the ratio decidendi. But this principle is difficult of application in the case of decisions of the Judicial Committee which in giving its reasons, has always a very scrupulous regard to the inconvenience that may be caused by obiter dicta. (Rankin and Ghose, JJ.) SABUR BIBI v. ISMILE SHEIKH. 40 C. L. J. 171.

PRE-EMPTION.

PRE-EMPTION—Acquiescence—Effect—Presence at the time of registration.

A claim for pre-emption will not be defeated by the mere fact claimant was present at the time of the registration of the sale deed, as it does not amount to acquiescence. But if he took an active part in the negotiations leading to the sale, in collecting money, etc., it amounts to acquiescence. (Harrison and Zafar Ali, JJ.) BHAGAT RAM v. RAGHBAR DIAL, 79 I. C. 132: 1925 Lah. 57.

—Acquiescence—Taking a lease from vendee—Presence during partition proceedings by vendee—Effect.

Taking a lease from the vendee of the suit premises or presence at partition proceedings instituted by the vendee does not amount to an acquiescence in the sale and does not bar a suit for pre-emption. (Broadway and Zafar Ali, JJ.) VIR SINGH v. NIHAL CHAND, 79 I. C. 140.

—Acquisition of title by vendees during suit—Effect

Where at the time a pre-emption suit is filed the vendee defendant is not entitled to pre-empt he cannot by becoming a co-sharer during suit defeat plaintiff's claim. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) SHANKAR LAL v. KIRARI MAL,

1924 All. 81.

—Basis of—Custom in the village.

1924 A. 86.

—Burden of proof—Custom—Nature of.

The burden of proving the custom lies on the plff. The plaintiff pre-emptor cannot succeed by merely proving that a custom of pre-emption exists in the village. He has to show that that particular custom exists which would entitle him to a decree against the defendant vendee. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LAL CHAND v. RAM CHAND,

46 A. 674: L. R. 5 A. 469: 82 I. C. 526: 1924 All. 753.

—Clause in wajib-ul-arz prescribing order of persons to whom vendor is to offer property and clause giving order of classes entitled to pre-empt in case of sale—Difference.

There is no difference in principle between a clause which casts a duty on co-sharer to sell the property to the different classes of persons mentioned in their order, and a clause which defines the classes of persons among whom the right of pre-emption would be enforceable whenever a sale was effected by a co-sharer in respect of his share. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LAL CHAND v. RAMCHAND,

46 A. 674: 82 I. C. 526: L. R. 5 A. 469: 1924 All. 753.

—Compromise decree—Failure to deposit money in time—Power to extend time.

Where the plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption fails to deposit in time the full amount of money fixed by a compromise decree therein, the Court has no power to extend the time.—In this respect, there is no difference between a compromise decree and one passed after contest. (Martineau, J.) RAHMAT KHAN v. NAWAB KHAN,

80 I. C. 1012: 1925 Lah. 91.

PRE-EMPTION.

—Contract—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Record of custom in a village—Period within which right is to be enforced.

The wajib-ul-arz of the "Zemima Khewat" of a village does not embody the contract of pre-emption itself but is merely prima facie evidence that such a contract was entered into by the co-sharers at the time of the settlement. In the absence of anything to the contrary such a contract must be presumed to have been intended to hold good for the whole period of the settlement and not longer. In cases of districts which are not permanently settled such settlements are ordinarily for fixed periods of 30 years. It cannot, therefore, be said that the contract of pre-emption was for such an unknown or indefinite period as to make it void for uncertainty. The intention of the co-sharers obviously was to enter into a contract for the period of the settlement. There is no uncertainty as to their intention.

So far as United Provinces are concerned, it is not possible to contend that a contract of pre-emption is against public policy. It is well-known that for a large number of years suits for pre-emption on the basis of contracts have been decreed by this Court. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) BASDEO RAI v. JHAGRU RAI,

L. R. 5 A. 161: 22 A. L. J. 265: 46 A. 333: 1924 A. 400.

—Contract—If enforceable against representatives of parties—No time fixed for performance—Effect.

A compromise decree was passed in a partition suit under which a pre-emption right was reserved in favour of one party in case of sale by the other. The latter died and his heir sold the estate, whereupon a right of pre-emption was claimed. Held, by Lindsay, J. the contract was enforceable against purchasers with notice.

Sulaiman, J.—The contract was purely personal and being unlimited in time it is too vague and indefinite to be enforced against anybody except the actual parties to it. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MIRZA MAHOMED JAN v. SHAIKH FAZAL UDDIN, 22 A. L. J. 400: 1924 A. 657.

—Costs awarded to pre-emptor—If can be deducted.

Where a pre-emption suit is decreed with costs the pre-emptor can claim to deduct the costs payable to him out of the amount he is directed to pay as pre-emption price. If he does not do so, he must deposit the entire pre-emption amount within the time fixed, failing which the decree cannot be executed. (Broadway, J.) WALI MAHOMED v. KAPURIA MAL, 80 I. C. 416.

—Custom—City of Delhi—Bhojpura Mohalla.

The custom of pre-emption prevails generally in the City of Delhi. Where a house has been the subject of sales and mortgages, this militates against the theory of its being a dharmasala. The Mohalla Bhojpura is not a defined sub-division of Delhi City and the custom of pre-emption prevails there also. (Abdul Raoof and Campbell, JJ.) GOKALCHAND v. SANWAL DAS,

5 Lah. 109: 1924 Lah. 495.

PRE-EMPTION.

———Custom—Division of village—Effect—wajib-ul-arz.

According to the wajib-ul-arz of a village, there was a right of pre-emption in a village in favour of kinsmen and in default to co-sharers. The village was later divided and the wajib-ul-arz provided for a similar right. Held, as it was competent to the parties to abrogate the old custom or maintain it at the time of partition, a suit for pre-emption would still lie. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) BENI PRASAD v. SHEODIN.

22 A. L. J. 289 : 78 I. C. 586 :
L.R. 5 A. 233 : 46 A. 361 : 1924 A. 425.

———Custom — Entry in Wajib-ul-arz—Status of Mohtamims.

There were in a village a class of persons known as Mohtamims who collected rents from tenants, paid Government revenue and were in the habit of selling and partitioning their shares. According to the Settlement Report there were several kinds of proprietary tenure and of these were two classes one of which comprised pattidari Mahals in the possession of these Mohtamims. Reg. VIII of 1793 recognised the liability of the Mohtamims to pay the Government revenue. The wajib-ul-arz of the village recorded a custom of pre-emption and was verified by all the Mohtamims and some of the superior proprietors. Held, that the Mohtamims had some kind of proprietary interest in the village and that the custom of pre-emption recorded in the Wajib-ul-arz applied to them. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) MAHABIR SINGH v. MATABADAL SINGH.

22 A. L. J. 441 : 79 I. C. 327 : L. R. 5 A. 301 :
46 A. 549 : 1924 A. 735.

———Custom—Existence of—Proof wajib-ul-arz—Entries in—Proof of actual instances.

In the absence of any contract proved to the contrary, the presumption would be that the entry in a wajib-ul-arz as regards pre-emption was an entry of a local usage and not of contract to the other co-sharers. From the fact that the entire village had been free from sale or mortgage (i.e.) no sale or mortgage had ever taken place in the village, it could not be contended that no custom of pre-emption could possibly have grown up. It has never been laid down that in order to prove the existence of a custom, it is necessary to establish that sale or transfer had taken place prior to the establishment of that custom. It may well have been that the custom was so strong and so invariably complied with that no co-sharer had the courage of selling the property to a stranger.

In a case where the particulars of a custom are fully set forth and any of these particulars are contrary to or inconsistent with the Mahomedan law, it is apparent that that custom cannot be co-extensive with Mahomedan law. Where there is mention of the existence of a right of pre-emption without specifying how that right is to be enforced or exercised or without laying down the full particulars of that custom, the presumption is that the right of pre-emption is in accordance with the rights allowed by the Mahomedan law. 2 A. L. J. 482 : 13 A. L. J. 704 Ref. Held, on the wajib-ul-arz that a custom of pre-emption existed in the village and that it was part of that custom that two demands would have to be made in order that the plaintiffs should succeed. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) JAGMOHAN PRASAD BRIJENDRA BAHADUR SINGH.

PRE-EMPTION.

22 A. L. J. 572 : L.R. 5 A. 369 : 81 I. C. 10 :
46 A. 627 : 1924 A. 523.

———Custom—Partition—Effect of.

A partition does not abrogate a custom of pre-emption. It persists after partition and is applicable to all, who notwithstanding the partition, continue in the same relation or relations as formerly entitled them to pre-emption, 13 A. L. J. 236 foll. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) MD. NAZEER v. SHEIKH MD. SULAI MAN.

78 I. C. 659 : L. R. 5 A. 273 :
46 A. 424 : 1924 A. 603.

———Custom—Proof—Entry in Wajib-ul-arz—Interpretation.

1924 All. 123.

———Custom of—Proof of — wajib-ul-arz—Clause furnishing internal evidence against custom—Presumption.

In a suit for pre-emption plaintiff produced a wajib-ul-arz which contained a clause furnishing internal evidence negating the existence of a custom. Held, that no custom of pre-emption had been proved to exist 22 A. L. J. 561 foll. In the year 1796 A. D. the villages in question were owned by one proprietor. At the time of the plaintiff's suit for pre-emption it was found that all the co-shares were the descendants of the original proprietor. The wajib-ul-arz relating to the village contained a clear entry of a record of custom. Two sales were proved to have taken place, one in favour of a co-sharer and the other in favour of a stranger but a portion of the property had been re-sold eventually to the vendors. Held, that the presumption arising from the entry in this wajib-ul-arz had not been rebutted. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) BENI MADHO TEWARI v. RAM SUNDAR TEWARI.

22 A. L. J. 785 : L. R. 5 A. 561 :
80 I. C. 902 : 1924 All. 859.

———Custom—Proof of—wajib-ul-arz—Entries in—Value of—Consent of co-shares—Evidence of.

The wajib-ul-arz of a village in Oudh prepared at the first regular settlement provided that a co-sharer was at liberty to transfer his share to any one whom pleased. At a partition of the village in 1886 another wajib-ul-arz was prepared expressly providing for pre-emption. In a suit for pre-emption in respect of sale in the village. Held, that the original wajib-ul-arz impliedly negated the existence of any custom of pre-emption and its terms were inconsistent with the existence of any custom of pre-emption. The custom of excluding the right of pre-emption could be validly superseded by the agreement of the proprietors of the village and such an agreement would bind their successors in title. 22 O. C. 20 foll. An agreement to supersede the custom is one in relation to the right of transfer of the proprietary interest in the soil of the village and such an agreement must therefore run with the land. (Syed Wazir Hasan and Neave, JJ.) MAQBUL UN-NISSA v. BANSIDHAR.

82 I. C. 92 : 11 O. L. J. 319 : 1924 Oudh 382.

PRE-EMPTION.

——— Custom — Town expanding — Rule applicable.

An accretion to or overgrowth of an old sub-division of a town is not to be regarded as a new sub-division. If the custom of pre-emption prevails in the old sub-division, it must be deemed to prevail in the overgrowth or accretion also. (Harrison and Zafar Ali, JJ.) FIAZ AHMAD SHAH v. THE CHURCH MISSIONARY TRUST ASSOCIATION, LONDON. 75 I. C. 910.

——— Custom in U. P.

Per Sulaiman, J.—In U. P. two kinds of custom of pre-emption generally prevail. The first is of a kind where it is the duty of every co-sharer before he sells his property to offer it to the other co-shares in a certain prescribed order. The other kind of custom is that when property has gone out of the hands of the coparcenary body by a sale to a stranger certain classes of pre-emptors have a right to pre-empt the sale in a certain order of priority. Under the second kind there is no right inter se that is to say, no right of pre-emption when a sale takes place in favour of any of the co-sharers but there is a priority of claim when rival suits of pre-emption are instituted against a stranger transferee. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LAL CHAND v. RAM CHAND, 46 A. 674 : 82 I. C. 526 : L. R. 5 A. 469 : 1924 All. 753.

——— Custom—Urban area—Business quarter—Extension of the town

Even if a custom of pre-emption exists generally in an old town it cannot on that account be presumed to exist in an out growth or extension of the town. Held, that the plaintiffs in the case had failed to prove the existence of a custom of pre-emption in a business quarter of recent growth outside the city of Gujranwala. (Abdul Rahim and Martineau, JJ.) GOPAL SINGH v. MOOL RAJ, 5 Lab. 312 : 1924 Lah. 557.

——— Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Entries—Record of custom—Other proof if necessary.

In the Gorakhpur and Basti Settlements rules relating to the Settlements which were made about the year 1885 the Board of Revenue issued special instructions regarding the preparation of a record of custom of pre-emption. Settlement Officers were directed to record a custom of pre-emption when the proprietors expressly demanded that a note of the custom should be made and further proved conclusively that the custom exists. Where therefore in a Wajib-ul-arz prepared under these instructions a statement is found that a custom exists it must be assumed that the necessary proof was forthcoming before the Settlement Officer before that record was made, in other words, that there was proof which conclusively satisfied the Settlement Officer of the existence of the custom. In dealing with the question of existence of custom the Court ought to begin with the last record which was prepared in the present case in 1885. It is not proper to start with the wajib-ul-arz of 1833 to consider whether it was possible that a custom could have grown up by that time and then to proceed to consider subsequent wajib-ul-arz. It is not correct to say that if it is shown that certain property in the course of time becomes the exclusive property of an entire family, any custom relating to pre-emption must necessarily lapse. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) BABBAN PANDAY v. LACHAMAN CHAUDHRI, 46 A. 205 : 79 I. C. 584 : L. R. 5 A. 33 : 22 A. L. J. 62 : 1924 A. 371.

PRE-EMPTION.

——— Custom of—Wajib-ul-arz—Entry in—Rebuttal—Entries to a different effect in other wajib-ul-arzes.

The presumption arising from the entry relating to pre-emption in the wajib-ul-arz of 1870 which was admittedly settlement period is not negated by different entry in another wajib-ul-arz not forming a record of settlement. A comparison of the directions then issued to the Settlement Officer with the previous directions makes it clear that no specific authority was given to settlement officers to make an entry of custom like pre-emption prevailing in the village, other than those covered by certain specified clauses. Accordingly under the new rules no entry was ordinarily to be made by the settlement officers as regards a custom of pre-emption and it is on this account that in the wajib-ul-arzes prepared subsequent to 1897 there is no mention of any such rights either way. If a custom of pre-emption as regards mortgages existed in 1860 there was nothing to prevent the co-shares in 1870 from abrogating that part of the custom. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) CHAUDHRI KHAZAN SINGH v. CHAUDHRI UMRAO SINGH, L. R. 5 A. 609.

——— Custom — Wajib-ul-arz — Value of — Gorakhpur and Basti District—Contract—Right based—Pleadings.

With reference to entries in the records of rights which were prepared in the Basti and Gorakhpur settlements in the year 1885 it has been observed that a peculiar weight must be assigned to entries of custom made in the settlement records of that time because special instructions had been issued by the Board of Revenue to Settlement Officers. Among other directions given was one regarding the record of a right of pre-emption. Such a record was to be made when the proprietors expressly demanded that it should be noticed and proved conclusively that a custom exists.

There can be no doubt that when an entry of this kind is found there is a very strong presumption in favour of the existence of the custom.

Where plaintiffs rely upon a contract in order to succeed in a suit for pre-emption the contract ought to be pleaded, for in such a case it would be necessary for the plaintiff to show that the person through whom he claimed was one of the contracting parties. Assuming that the record in the wajib-ul-arz is a record of contract, the plaintiffs or their predecessors were no parties to the contract, and they ought not to be allowed to enforce it. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) SHEO PRASAD DUBE v. SARJU MAHTO, 78 I. C. 519 : 46 All. 35 : 1924 A. 449.

——— Decree holder—Transfer to another—Right of execution.

PRE-EMPTION.

The holder of a decree for pre-emption who subsequently sells the property to a stranger does not by such conduct debar himself from obtaining possession in execution of the decree. The only right of the judgment-debtor is to receive the money before handing over possession. (Campbell, J.) FAQIR MAHAMMAD KHAN v. PIRDAK KHAN.

1924 Lah. 615.

— Deposit—Full amount not deposited—Effect.

Where the full amount directed to be deposited within a fixed date is not deposited, the pre-emption suit has to be dismissed. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) BHAGWANDIN TIWARI v. RAMADHAR TIWARI.

80 I. C. 540 : 1925 Oudh 98

— Evidence of custom—Ambiguity in Wajib-ul-arz—Burden of proof.

Where the language of a Wajib-ul-arz was ambiguous the Court decided upon the principle that the onus lay upon the plaintiff to establish his right of pre-emption by evidence which would satisfy the Court that the custom was certain. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) NAGESHAR PRASAD v. RAM HARAKH PONDE.

L. R. 5 A. 189 : 22 A. L. J. 342 : 79 I. C. 417 : 46 A. 370 : 1924 A. 541.

— Evidence should not be ambiguous.

If the only evidence which the plaintiff can produce is ambiguous that is to say is capable of two interpretations and if on one such interpretation the suit cannot succeed then the suit must fail and it is not the duty of the Court to give it necessarily the other interpretation which would entitle the plaintiff to a decree. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LALCHAND v. RAM CHAND.

46 A. 674 : L. R. 5 A. 469 : 82 I. C. 526 : 1923 All. 753.

— Exchange—If gives rise to.

When property is exchanged for another, the transaction cannot give rise to a right of pre-emption. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) SAMAR BAHADUR SINGH v. JIT LAL.

46 A. 359 : 79 I. C. 495 : 1924 A. 390 : L. R. 5 A. 254 : 22 A. L. J. 292.

— Existence of common khata—Effect.

Where all the lands belonging to the parent kkatas are held in severalty, the mere existence of a common khata containing certain barren uncultivated or abadi lands which usually remain the property of all the co-sharers of the village till a partition is formally effected, cannot make a person who belongs in other respects to one class or category a joint co-sharer with another who belongs to another class or category as regards any separate interest the latter may sell. No account is taken of the appurtenances in the shamlat khatas for the determination of his right of pre-emption. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LAL CHAND v. RAM CHAND.

46 A. 674 : L. R. 5 A. 569 : 82 I. C. 526 : 1924 All. 753.

— Incidents of.

A claim to a right of pre-emption does not necessarily connote a suit. It may be enforced either by private treaty or by suit.

Y D 1924—63

PRE-EMPTION.

It implies an assertion of a right which may be asserted before a transfer is effected or after it is effected. It may be asserted out of Court or, if the vendee refuses to reconvey the property, by a suit. The right arises from a sale if the order of preference laid down by the wajib-ul-arz is disregarded by the vendor. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LAL CHAND v. RAM CHAND.

46 A. 674 : L. R. 5 A. 469 : 82 I. C. 526 : 1924 All. 753.

— Joint pre-emptor's claim decreed—Appeal by the vendee—Decreed in ignorance of the death of one co-plaintiff—Whether Appellate decree a nullity—Joint payment of consideration money by pre-emptors—Effect of.

Where the appellant in a pre-emption suit failed to implead the legal representative of one of the respondents, and it was contended that the entire appeal is a nullity on account of abatement, against all the plaintiffs (2) and that payment was made by the pre-emptors jointly without specification in terms of the decree in the trial Court before the appeal was heard and it must be presumed to have been paid in equal shares. Held on reference.

Per Daniels, J.—That the whole appeal abated, and the appellate decree was a nullity in its entirety (2) the fact that the consideration money was paid jointly did not affect the rights of the parties and the rights of the parties in pre-emption suits are not affected by their joint payment. 17 All. 478, 16 A. L. J. 327; 21 A. L. J. 291; 1 Lah. 225; 1 Pat. 699, referred. (Daniels, J.) WAJID ALI KHAN v. PURAN SINGH.

22 A. L. J. 994 : 1925 A. 108.

— Limitation—Vendee already in possession.

76 I. C. 202.

— Mahomedan law—Demand—Subsequent sale of property by vendee—Fresh demand if necessary.

Where on a sale of property subject to a right of pre-emption under the Mahomedan law, the pre-emptor has made a demand and subsequently the vendee transfers the property to a third person, the pre-emptor is not bound to make a fresh demand. The right to claim pre-emption is not affected by any intermediate dealings with the property. The proceedings must, in any case, be taken against the original purchaser, but when a decree has been obtained against him, it can be enforced against any person deriving title from him by purchase, gift or otherwise. 32 A. 45, 11 A. L. J. 527 kel. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) MAHOMED ABDUL RAHMAN KHAN v. MAHOMED AYYUB KHAN.

22 A. L. J. 817 : 79 I. C. 1053 : L. R. 5 A. 593 : 1924 A. 806.

— Mortgage in possession—Rights of.

PADAM SINGH v. UMRAO SINGH.

1924 A. 48.

— Nature of right—When takes effect.

A pre-emption sale must be held to take effect from the date of the sale to the vendee. The right of pre-emption is not a mere right of purchase either from the vendor or the vendee involving a new contract of sale but it is simply a right of

PRE-EMPTION.

substitution. (Kendall, A. J. C.) COLLECTOR
SINGH v. MADARI LAL. 78 I. C. 738 :
1925 Oudh 132 (2).

——— No time limited or fixed in the contract—Enforceability against the representatives of the original covenantor—The Transfer of Property Act (Act IV of 1882), S. 40—Contract Act, (Act IX of 1872), Ss. 29, 31 and 32.

Held, by Lindsay, J. (Sulaiman, J. dissenting.) A contract for pre-emption in which no time is limited for performance is not void and is enforceable. 46 All. 333 followed. 45 All. 478 and 492 dissented from. Per Suliman, J. contra. A contract for pre-emption which is unlimited in point of time is so vague and indefinite that it cannot be enforced against the heir of the deceased party. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MUHAMMAD JAN v. FAZALUDDIN. 46 All. 514.

——— Option to purchase—If subject to.

A mere option to re-purchase cannot be said to be immoveable property and as such not subject to pre-emption. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MT. FATIMA BIBI v. ABDUL GHAFUR KHAN.

1924 All. 743.

——— Qualification of pre-emptor at date of suit.

To sustain a claim for pre-emption the plaintiff must prove not only that at the time of the sale he possessed the qualifications which conferred upon him the right to pre-empt the property, but also that those qualifications subsisted at the time when the suit was brought. (Shadilal, C. J. and Le Rossignol, J.) SEWARAM v. AZIMKHAN.

1924 Lah. 613.

——— Right to—Acquiescence—Waiver—Acceptance of mortgage money from vendee.

1924 Lah. 159.

——— Right to—Co-widows and co-sharers—Hissedar karibi—Preference.

The plaintiff and the vendor in a pre-emption case were co-sharers and they admittedly were co-sharers in the plot described as grove which had been sold. The Courts below decreed the suit holding that there was a custom under which a hissedar karibi was entitled to preference as against other co-sharers and that the present plaintiff came within the definition of the expression hissedar karibi of the vendor. The defendant-transferee was also a co-sharer in the same grove but not in any way related to the vendor. Held, that the plaintiff was entitled to succeed in the suit for pre-emption. 14 A.L.J. 449; 33 I. C. 801; 11 A. 41; 5 I. C. 669 Rel. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MANNI LAL v. RANI.

46 A. 327; 22 A. L. J. 247 :
1924 A. 534 : 78 I. C. 382 : L. R. 5 A. 184

——— Right to—Custom—Proof of—Variation of custom.

A right of pre-emption must, in the absence of statute, be based either on contract or custom. Presumably the right must be deemed to be based on customary law where no contract is suggested. In the absence of any statutory enactment or any entry in a public record of right, the custom may be deduced from a long series of decisions. When a rule of custom is deduced from previous judgments, the rule deduced therefrom should in no way be departed from merely on the ground that it is now thought more equitable or convenient that a new rule should prevail. Where the Asl village and the Laga village are held under one revenue engagement the Hissedar of the Laga village is not entitled to pre-empt against the Hissedar of the Asl village. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) AMLA NAND v. NANDU.

PRE-EMPTION.

L. R. 5 A. 50 :
22 A. L. J. 126 : 78 I. C. 145 : 1924 A. 318.

——— Right to—Custom—Wajib-ul-arz—Entries in—Value of—instances of sale.

In a suit by plaintiff for pre-emption he relied in support of his right on a Wajib-ul-arz. It was found as a fact that out of a number of sales which had taken place in the past some were auction-sales, some were cases of sales to co-sharers and others were sales to strangers. Held, that the three instances of sales to strangers would not necessarily negative the existence of the custom of pre-emption. It might well be that these sales were not objectionable to the co-sharers or that the purchaser had offered prices so high as to make it impossible for the co-sharers to outbid them (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) BHAWANI SINGH v. MAKHAN LAL.

22 A. L. J. 766 : L. R. 5 A. 577 : 1924 A. 791.

——— Right to—Plaintiff losing his status as co-sharer subsequent to first Court's decree—Effect on right of pre-emption.

In dealing with suits for pre-emption three dates have to be looked to, namely, the date of the sale sought to be pre-empted, the date of the suit and the date of the first Court's decree.

It is not competent to Courts of appeal to pay regard to any events which may happen subsequent to the date of the first Court's decree; if, on that later date, the plaintiff has a subsisting right to pre-empt, he is entitled to succeed and his suit cannot be defeated because by reason of some event which has happened subsequent to the date of the first Court's decree he has lost the status of a co-sharer. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) UMRAO v. LACHMAN.

22 A. L. J. 234 : 79 I. C. 217 :
L. R. 5 A. 219 : 1924 A. 448.

——— Right to—Position at date of sale—Test.

In deciding on a person's right to pre-empt the situation at the time of the sale is to be the test. (Le Rossignol, J.) AMAR CHAND v. SATYA PAL.

79 I. C. 43 : 1925 Lah. 56.

——— Rights privately given effect to—Effect of.

Pre-emption can be enforced without the intervention of the Courts such as when a vendee in recognition of a pre-emptor's right conveys his bargain to the pre-emptor. Such a transaction does not give rise to fresh rights of pre-emption. (Le Rossignol, J.) FAIZ MUHAMMAD v. MUHAMMAD ISMAIL.

1924 Lah. 651.

——— Right to—Wajib-ul-arz—Existence of custom—Abrogation of—Fresh custom.

In a suit for pre-emption the plaintiff relied on the entries of the wajib-ul-arzes of the years 1833 and 1860. At the last settlement of 1885 the word "nil" was noted against paragraph 4 of the wajib-ul-arz relating to the custom of pre-emption. After reciting a number of the practices and customs prevailing in the village the wajib-ul-arz went on to remark. "With the exception of the aforementioned practices, there are, for the present no other practices or customs; it is, therefore, ordered that the ancient customs shall be 'maintained.' Held, that even if there was a custom of pre-emption prior to 1885 it must be deemed to have been abrogated on that date. There was no evidence of a fresh growth of a custom of pre-emption since that date. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) DEBI PRASAD v. KAMTA PRASAD. 22 All. L. J. 810 : L. R. 5 A 639 : 1924 All. 793.

PRE-EMPTION.

——— Right to—Sale or lease—Construction—Device to defeat the right of pre-emption.

The terms entered in a document were that the lessees shall have heritable and transferable rights under the perpetual lease on payment of Rs 53 as rent, out of which Rs. 52 would be payable to the superior proprietor. The premium paid by the lessees was Rs. 5,000. Provision was made for the recovery of the rent of Re. 1 reserved for himself by the lessor, but in no case were the lessees to be ejected from its terms; there was no evidence to prove that the parties had really agreed upon a sale or that no rent was really payable to the lessor and the payment of Re 1 per annum was fictitiously entered in the deed. Held, the transaction was one of lease and not a sale so as to give rise to pre-emption. It is not forbidden to a person to circumvent the law of pre-emption by taking a transfer which falls short of a sale, but which may eventually have the same effect as a sale.

Where the transfer of under-proprietary interest is made by the superior proprietor in the form of a lease, but the rent reserved for payment to the superior proprietor is equal to or slightly more than the revenue, such a transfer is held to be a sale giving rise to a right of pre-emption.

Where in a lease by a superior proprietor, the rent reserved is equal to or only nominally in excess of the revenue the transfer will be considered to be one of an under-proprietary interest, while in the case where the rent reserved is considerably in excess of the revenue, the transfer would be a lease as it purports to be. (Dalal and Simpson, A. J. Cs.) THAKUR RAM NARAYAN v. RAM SUKH. 10 O. L. J. 399.

——— Right to—Sale or lease—Rent reserved in excess of Government revenue—Oudh Sub-Settlement Act (XXVI of 1866), S. 7 (3).

The payment of rent in excess of the Government revenue is an essential incident of under-proprietary right and the mere existence of a condition for such payment is in no way inconsistent with the sale of such right. A deed of sale of under-proprietary right in which the rent reserved to the superior proprietor is greater than the amount of the Government revenue would be a perfectly possible and legal document. It is impossible to make the existence of such a clause the sole test. In every instance the question whether a document is a sale or permanent lease will depend on a construction of all its terms. (Neave and Kendall, A. J. Cs.) SANT BUX SINGH v. BHAWANI PRASAD. 11 O. L. J. 477 : 1 O. W. N. 133 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 390 : 1924 Oudh 426.

PRE-EMPTION.

——— Right of—Sale of properties by mother left by her deceased husband—Right of Sons to pre-empt.

Where a younger son tried to set aside a sale made by his mother, on the ground that she had no power to sell, and that he had a right of pre-emption, Held, relying on Te Nano v. Aung Myat Son, 8 L. B. R. 501, overruling Mothi v. Thakwe 8 L. B. R. 466. that the right of pre-emption can be enforced only against the persons who inherit the land jointly with the claimants. The right of pre-emption can exist only as amongst co-heirs and not as between son and mother. (Duckworth, J.) MANUG BA CHO AND TWO v. MANUG SAN TIN AND TWO. 2 Rang 437 : 1925 Rang. 63.

——— Right to—Sir lands—Sale of plots within Zamindari of co-parceners—Proprietary interest.

The interest of an owner in sir plots is a proprietary interest and the transfer of sir plots is in fact a transfer of this proprietary interest. Certain sir plots were sold and from the evidence it was found they were within the Zamindari of the co-parceners. Under the wajib-ul-arz a right of pre-emption arose in respect of a sale by a co-sharer of his "haqiat". Held, that there was a right of pre-emption in respect of the sir lands sold. 7 A. 633 ; 12 A. 426 Rel. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) PURAN SINGH v. DAT RAM.

46 A. 165 : 22 A. L. J. 5 : 79 I. C. 645 : L. R. 5 A. 5 : 1924 A. 447.

——— Right to—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of.

In a case of pre-emption, the Wajib-ul-arz relied upon stated that on the occasion of a transfer the first right to take the property was given to a class defined in the Wajib-ul-arz as "Shurkayan Shikni". It was provided that in case the members of the first class declined to accept the offer of the property then the offer is to be made to the second class of persons who are described as "Digar Mahkan Thok O Mahal Ke." Held, on a construction of the Wajib-ul-arz that the persons described as Shurkayan Shikni were persons who being proprietors in the Thok were nearer in relationship than the other proprietors of the Thok by being included in a sub-division of the Thok with the vendor. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MAULVI SHARIF AHMAD ALVEE v. MAHOMED. 76 I. C. 612 : L. R. 5 A. 536 : 1924 A. 375.

——— Right to—Wajib-ul-arz—Construction of—Mortgage by conditional sale—Foreclosure decree—Effect of.

A mortgage by conditional sale was executed in 1861 and a foreclosure decree was made in 1919. The plaintiff subsequently filed a suit for pre-emption and relied in support of his claim on an entry in a Wajib-ul-arz as follows: "If one of the co-sharers desires to make a mortgage or a mortgage by conditional sale, he must do so on the same adequate price as may be offered by other parties in the first instance to a near co-sharer in the same patti, next to the other co-sharer in the patti; if they will not take, then to a near co-sharer in another patti; next to any co-sharer in the mahal, and finally to a stranger." Held, that the plaintiff's cause of action accrued to him on the date of the mortgage and the subsequent foreclosure of the mortgage was not transfer by a co-sharer by way of sale and that the plaintiff's suit was barred. 3 A. 610 dist.; 24 A. 17; 16 A. L. J. 561; 14 A. 405 Ref. (Piggott, Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) AL KHU RAI v. LACHMAN UPADHYA 46 A. 274; L. R. 5 A. 145; 80 I. C. 550; 22 A. L. J. 137; 1924 A. 324 (F. B.).

PRE-EMPTION.

——— Right to—Wajib-ul-arz—Custom—Provision for giving right of pre-emption to strangers—Pre-emption at fixed rate—Effect of entries.

Where a Wajib-ul-arz relied on in a pre-emption suit, in the very same clause in which reference to pre-emption was made, contained reference to other matters which could not possibly be matters of custom, it ought to be held that the record is not one of custom at all.

A provision in a Wajib-ul-arz which confers a right of redemption upon a person who is stranger to a mortgage cannot, in any sense, be treated as being a record of custom.

Where the Wajib-ul-arz professed to lay down the rates at which sales and mortgages were to be made, it is hardly necessary to say that an entry of this nature could not possibly be a record of custom.

It is true that when there is any entry of a right of redemption in a Wajib-ul-arz there is a prima facie presumption that it is an entry of custom. At the same time if that very clause which recites such a right contains other matters relating to the transfer of devolution of property which cannot possibly be a record of custom then that presumption is negated. (Piggott, Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) RANDHIR SINGH v. RAJPAL MISIR. 81 I. C. 25; 46 A. 478; L. R. 5 A. 151; 22 A. L. J. 561; 1924 A. 321.

——— Right to—Wajib-ul-arz—Entry in—Right of pre-emption denied to persons becoming co-sharers by collateral inheritance—Effect of.

Although a Wajib-ul-arz raises a prima facie presumption of the existence of the custom it recites, nevertheless if it contains certain other matters relating to that right which cannot possibly form the subject of a custom, there would be no justification for presuming that the entry is one of custom. It is impossible to conceive of a custom which makes distinctions between persons who inherited by collateral succession and persons who have inherited by direct descent. All such persons become co-sharers in the village and have equal status and rights in the eye of the law. Held, that an entry in the Wajib-ul-arz in the case to the effect that a stranger who had inherited property from an issueless co-sharer was not entitled to the right of pre-emption was one of contract and not of custom. 21 A. L. J. 542 foll. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) KARAMAT v. WAZIR HUSAIN. 46 A. 140; 78 I. C. 587; L. R. 5 A. 7; 1924 A. 542.

PRE-EMPTION.

——— Right to—Wajib-ul-arz—Record of custom—No instances after the date of the Wajib-ul-arz—Effect of—Sherishla Nizam—Record of settlement with single proprietor—Superior and inferior proprietor.

In a suit for pre-emption the question arose whether there was a custom as alleged. The principal piece of evidence on which the plaintiffs took their stand was the Wajib-ul-arz of 1860. There was no evidence as to the Wajib-ul-arz of the settlement of 1833. In the kaifiat sherista nizam it was stated that up till the year 1833 the settlement of the village was made with a single person who was apparently a Rajah. After that time the settlement was made with a numerous body of proprietors, all thakurs, and the Raja was treated as excluded from the settlement. He was allowed a certain malikana allowance as the excluded superior proprietor. Held, that it could not be argued from this material that no custom could possibly have existed prior to 1833 on the ground that the village was the property of a single owner. It seems to have been the policy in the earlier years of the British administration to deal with the superior proprietor and to take the revenue engagement from him, but this policy was reversed and from the year 1833 settlement began to be made with the birtyas who were in fact the real owners of the village. The co-existence of these superior and under-proprietors ought to be assumed in this case. The fact that no evidence of a transfer subsequent to 1860 was forthcoming did not overturn the presumption raised by the wajib-ul-arz about the existence of the custom. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) GANESH SINGH v. JAI MANGAL SINGH. L. R. 5 A. 11; 1924 A. 11723 (2).

——— Right to—Wajib-ul-arz—Zamina L. R. 5 A. 11 khewat—Existence of custom—Gorakhpur District.

In a case of pre-emption from the Gorakhpur District, the two pieces of evidence which were relied upon for the purpose of establishing a custom of pre-emption were the wajib-ul-arz of 1860 and the Zamina Khewat of 1885. The Kaifiat Sherishla was in evidence for the purpose of showing the history of the village. Held, that in coming to a conclusion as regards the custom, the Court was entitled to place reliance on the Zamina khewat which was prepared with great care under the instructions of the Settlement Officer and the Board of Revenue and that the entry therein in favour of the custom was strong evidence.

According to the Wajib-ul-arz the pre-emptors were divided into four categories (1) hissedar kasib, (2) digar hissedar thok, (3) dusre thok, Kehissedar, the Zamina khewat enquired four categories:—(1) rishledar kasil, (2) rishledar bassd, (3) Shuskai bassd, and (4) shuskai thate nambardari. Under the settlement of 1886 preference in matters of pre-emption was given with reference to nearness of degree in relationship. Held, the existence of the custom of pre-emption was amply proved by these documents and that the expression rishledar in the Zamina khewat meant a person who was at the same time a sharer and a relation. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) NANDAN SINGH v. GUPTAR SINGH. 22 A. L. J. 7; 79 I. C. 630; 1924 A. 424.

PRE-EMPTION.

———Right to—Woman succeeding as heir and taking a life estate.

A woman is not precluded from maintaining a suit for pre-emption if she is by law entitled to inherit, even though it may be a life-estate. 212 P. W. R. 1912 : 46 R.R. 1914 Ref. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) MT. ISHAR DEVI v. SHED RAM. 5 Lah. 435 : 1925 Lah. 83.

———Sale—Agreement to reconvey to one of the vendors—Nature of the transaction—Mortgage by conditional sale.

A sale-deed and an agreement by the vendee giving to one out of the two vendors an option to re-purchase the property on payment of a certain sum by a certain time were executed on the same date. In a suit for pre-emption, held, that transactions were distinct and separate from one another and did not amount to a mortgage by conditional sale. The mere option to re-purchase arising out of a contract conveyed no interest, in immovable property and its transfer did not give rise to a right of pre-emption. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MT. WASIFATIMA BIBI v. ABDUL GHAFFAR KHAN. 78 I. C. 171 : L. R. 5 A. 110 ———Strangers associated with suit—Effect.

The effect of a pre-emptor associating with himself in a suit for pre-emption persons who have no right of pre-emption is to disentitle himself to all remedies at law. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) SHANKAR LAL v. KIRARI MAL. 1924 A. 81.

———Subsisting right of pre-emptor.

76 I. C. 891

———Suit for—Portion of the property sold—Maintainability of.

The general rule is that the pre-emptor must take over the bargain as a whole and he is not entitled to sue for a part only, when he is entitled to sue for the whole. The principle of denying the right of pre-emption except as to the whole of the property sold, is that by breaking up the bargain the pre-emptor would be at liberty to take the best portion of the property and leave the worst part of it with the vendee. But where the plaintiff is not seeking to pick and choose part of the property in the possession of the vendee and where the vendee himself having parted with a portion of the property does not suffer in any way whatsoever by plaintiffs suing only in respect of the portion remaining in the vendee's hands the reason for the rule that the pre-emptor must take over the whole of the property sold no longer exists. (Scott Smith and Fforde, JJ.) UDE RAM v. ATMA RAM. 5 Lah. 80 : 80 I. C. 960 : 1924 Lah. 431.

———Suit for—Separate suits by plaintiffs having equal rights—Procedure. 1924 A. 94 ———Suit—Stranger as co-plaintiff along with a co-sharer—Whether amendment can be allowed.

Where a plaintiff having a right to pre-empt joins with himself in a suit for pre-emption a stranger, i.e., a person who has no such right, he thereby forfeits his right to pre-empt and this disability cannot be overcome by amending the plaint by striking out the name of the stranger. 19 All. 334. Foll. (Lindsay and Rafique, JJ.) BADRI SING v. GOBARDHAN. 1923 All. 187.

PRE-EMPTION.

———Suit for—Strangers joined in respect of a portion of the property—Claim in respect of whole fails.

Where plaintiffs associated with them strangers to the property in respect of their claim to a portion of the property,

Held : the claim in respect of the whole property fails as suit for partial pre-emption cannot be allowed. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) SANKAR LAL v. KIRARI MAL. 1924 A. 81.

———Transaction misdescribed in a deed—Test for determining real character—Construction of a deed, whether a sale or a perpetual lease—Presumption of fraud.

Each case in a suit for pre-emption, where the true transaction is in the nature of things misdescribed, must be decided on its own circumstances. A transaction is known by the rights it confers on the transferee and not by the name with which it is labelled by the parties for a fraudulent object. Where a document purporting to transfer under-proprietary rights was described as perpetual lease and Rs. 12,000 was mentioned as paid on account of nazarana zar-i-peshgi and the transferee was directed to pay his share of the revenue and Rupee one malikana to the superior proprietor.

Held, that the transaction was one of a sale of under-proprietary rights which gave rise to the right of pre-emption 1 W. N. 133 followed. 9 O. L. J. 334 referred to.

Where pre-emption was possible but for the devise to circumvent the law of pre-emption fraud would be presumed when on the face of the document it appears that the transfer was mis-called a lease when in reality it was a sale of under-proprietary rights. (Dalal, J.C.) HAR BUX SINGH v. RAM AUTAR. 1 O. W. N. 897.

———(Punjab)—Waiver by father of right to pre-empt—Son is not bound.

Waiver of the right to pre-empt by father does not disentitle son to bring a suit for the pre-emption. (Lumsden and Abdul Raouf, JJ.) SANWAL DAS v. JAIGO MAL. 1924 Lah. 68.

———Wajib-ul-arz—Evidence of custom—Entry of rights of contiguous zamindars.

The right of pre-emption which is recited in a wajib-ul-arz in favour of the owners of the contiguous villages is an extraordinary right and one which it is very unusual to find in the records of custom. While this may be admitted this fact by itself would not be sufficient to render the wajib-ul-arz of no value as evidence of custom.

Any presumption of the existence of a custom which arises from the production of this wajib-ul-arz of 1884 was held to be destroyed by a reference to the earlier document of 1863. On these two documents it was impossible to conclude that there was clear and unambiguous evidence of the existence of the custom of pre-emption in the village in question. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MUTSADDI LAL v. KHARAG BAHADUR SINGH. 78 I. C. 508 : L. R. 5 A. 228 : 1924 A. 925.

PRESY. SM. C. C. ACT, S. 22.

PRESY. SM. C. COURTS ACT, S. 22—Suit triable by Court of Small Cause—Trial before High Court—Dismissal—Courts.

When a suit triable by a Small Cause Court is tried by the High Court and dismissed, the Judge can certify the case was one fit to be tried by the High Court, in which case the provisions of S. 22, Presidency Small Cause Courts Act do not apply and the Court has got power in a proper case to deprive the successful party of his costs. (Marleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) MEHTA & Co. v. JOSEPH HEUREUX. 48 Bom. 531: 26 Bom. L. R. 382. 80 I. C. 766: 1924 Bom. 422.

—S. 48—Ejectment order—Obstruction to carrying out of—Removal—Jurisdiction—O. 21, R. 98, C. P. C. Applicability to proceedings under Chapter VIII of the Act. 1924 Mad. 74.

PRESY. TOWNS INSOLV. ACT (III OF 1909), Ss 7 and 36—Fraudulent transfer by Official Assignee—Power of court to order to reconveyance.

In the case of a fraudulent transfer of property by the Official Assignee, the Insolvency Court has power under Ss. 7 and 36 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act to direct the property to be re-conveyed to a substituted Official Assignee. (Schwabe, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE, RANGOON. 79 I. C. 910: 1925 Mad. 141.

—Ss. 8 and 41—Adjudication—Jurisdiction of Registrar to annul. MEGRAJ PARUSHOT In re: 1924 Cal. 83.

—Ss. 8 and 22—Insolvency Appeal—Order of adjudication annulled—Pendency of proceedings in another Court—Power of Court to review order—"The same debtor"—Meaning of—Two persons adjudicated in one Court and one of them in another—If Court can annul order under S. 22.

Where in an appeal against an order of a Judge of the High Court exercising insolvency jurisdiction, the appellate Court acting under S. 22, Presidency Towns Insolvency Act annulled an order of adjudication on the ground that insolvency proceedings were pending in another British Court, it has also power under S. 8 to review, rescind or vary the same, as the order was made in the exercise of its insolvency jurisdiction. In re Maugham Ex parte Maugham (1888) 21 Q. B. D. 21, 23. Ex parte Perkins (1893) 7 Morr. 78 followed.

Two persons constituting a firm were adjudicated insolvents by the Madras High Court and thereafter insolvency proceedings were instituted in Burma against the same firm but they resulted in the adjudication of only one of them as insolvent. Held, S. 22 cannot apply and the former order of adjudication cannot be annulled as the debtor or debtors in the two Courts are not the same. (Schwabe, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF MADRAS v. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE OF RANGOON. 19 L. W. 316: 1924 Mad 662: 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 99: (1924) M. W. N. 458: 46 M. L. J. 580.

—Ss. 8 and 17—Power of Insolvency Court to rescind or vary its orders—Joint Hindu family—Adjudication of adult sons as insolvents—Minor son's shares if vest in Official Assignee.

PRESY. TOWNS INSOLV. ACT (III OF 1909), S. 15.

In insolvency the jurisdiction to annul a prior order under S. 8 of the Pres. T. Ins. Act, is wider than the power to review under the C. P. Code. Where in a joint Hindu family consisting of a father and his adult and minor sons, the adult sons alone were adjudicated insolvents, there is no vesting of the shares of the minor sons in the Official Assignee and he has no power to deal with their shares under S. 17 of the Pres. T. Ins. Act. (Ramesam, J.) RADHAKRISHNIAH CHETTY In the matter of. 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 335: 19 L. W. 415: 1924 Mad. 791.

—S. 9—Insolvency—Application for adjudication of a firm as insolvent—Departure of partner from place of business—Intention to defeat or delay creditors. 75 I. C. 203 (2).

—S. 13—Insolvency—Adjudication—Act of insolvency—Fraudulent preference—Order of adjudication when to be made—Discretion of Court.

Under S. 13 of the Pres T. Ins Act if the Court is satisfied about the debt of the petitioning creditor and about the particular act or acts of insolvency alleged in the petition of the creditors the Court ought to make an order of adjudication unless there are materials before it showing that the bankruptcy proceedings are being used for the inequitable purpose of extortion or of exercising improper pressure over a debtor or are of such a nature as come within the category of proceedings which are vexatious or oppressive or constitute an abuse of the process of Court. The jurisdiction in bankruptcy is entirely discretionary. And in exercising the discretion the Court is bound to look into the circumstances as a whole. A creditor who takes legitimate steps for enforcing payment of the debt due to him is entitled, if his demands are not satisfied to proceed in bankruptcy; but on the other hand if as a matter of fact indications are not wanting that the proceedings in bankruptcy and the persistence in them are spiteful, that in itself is sufficient cause for refusing on the petition of the creditors to make an adjudication order. After the committal of an act of bankruptcy and pending the period during which such an act is available for adjudication, a creditor who is aware thereof, is under ordinary circumstances justified in declining to receive payment of his debt from the debtor and may proceed to present his petition. The rule however is not an inflexible one because circumstances may exist which would justify the Court in refusing to make an adjudication order after a tender to the petitioning creditor of his debt and costs.

Where there was real and tangible pressure on the part of the creditors by means of attachment of the judgment debtors' moveable properties and which pressure was bound to exercise an appreciable influence on the minds of the judgment debtors and thus would have rendered their principal motive not the view to prefer; the transaction, namely the satisfaction of the debt by the judgment debtors and the receipts of the decretal amount by the creditors could not be considered as a fraudulent preference and could not be set aside at the instance of any other creditor, (Ghose J.) Ex parte HARSUKDAS BALKISSENDAS. 39 C. L. J. 512: 1924 Cal. 964.

PRESY TOWNS INSOLV. ACT (III OF 1909), S. 17.

—S. 17—Joint Hindu family—Adjudication of adult sons as insolvents—Minor son's shares do not vest in Official Assignee. See PRESY. T. INS. ACT, SS. 8 AND 17. 19 L. W. 415.

—S. 17, Proviso and Sch. II, para. 23—Secured creditor—Right to interest—Contract rate.

A secured creditor can claim interest at the contract rate beyond the date of adjudication of the insolvent and up to the time of realisation. (Rutledge, J.) BULALBAT SAGEERMALL In the matter of. 2 Rang. 197 : 83 I. C. 576 : 1924 R. 352. (2).

—S. 18—Jurisdiction of commissioner Insolvency to stay proceedings in Dt. Court—Practice — Procedure. MANEKCHAND VIRCHAND. PATNI In re. 75 I. C. 61.

—S. 27—Public examination of insolvent—Application for discharge.

If a creditor wants a public examination of the insolvent, he should apply before the insolvent applies for discharge. It is too late to apply for the examination of an insolvent when the petition for discharge is on the board for final hearing, except in very special circumstances. (Macleod, C. J.) FARDUNJI DADABHAI In re. 26 Bom. L. R. 627 : 1924 Bom. 512

—S. 30 (2)—Application by creditor against guarantor under composition scheme—Power to vacate order. 1924 Cal. 176.

—S. 49 (a)—Partnership—Insolvency of partners—Right of creditors to proceed against separate assets—Election.

Where persons carrying on business in partnership are adjudicated insolvents it is open to the creditors to elect as to which assets they will go against, the general assets of the two partners or the separate assets of the one against whom they elect; and they could elect, until the very end of the proceedings and only when they have actually received a dividend there is an election. Even after they have received their dividend, they could still pay it back and proceed against the other assets. (Schwabe, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) SUBRAMIAH v BANSILAL ABEER CHAND. 19 L. W. 46 : 79 I. C. 966 : (1924) M. W. N. 164 : 1924 Mad. 595.

—S. 52—Applicability—Floating charges.

S. 52 of the Insolvency Act has no application to cases of floating charges. (Kumarasamy Sastri, J.) In the matter of INDIAN COMPANIES ACT, 1913 AND In the matter of MORRISONS, LTD. 20 L. W. 861.

—S. 52—Insolvency—Hindu Father adjudicated insolvent—Son's shares do not vest in Official Assignee. See HINDU LAW, JOINT FAMILY FATHER. 47 M. L. J. 857 (P. C.)

—S. 52 (2) (c)—Property hypothecated—Possession with insolvent with permission of creditor. If passes to Official Assignee—Withdrawal of consent—Effect. OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE v. MD. E. NAIKWARAH. 1924 Rang. 27.

—Ss. 62 and 66—Tenancy of insolvent—Vesting in Official Assignee—Disclaimer—Right of landlord to obtain possession by order of Insolvency Court.

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.

Under the Bombay Rent Act, II of 1918, a monthly tenant became a statutory tenant of the premises and could not be ejected so long as he paid the standard rent. Consequently where a tenant is adjudicated an insolvent, the statutory tenancy vests in the Official Assignee. If the Official Assignee disclaims all interest in the tenancy, it comes to an end and it is open to the landlord to apply for an order for possession of the premises under S 66 of the Presy. T. Ins. Act. (Macleod, C. J.) ABUBAKER HAJI In re. 26 Bom. L. R. 628 : 48 Bom. 580 : 1924 Bom. 513.

PRESUMPTION—Advancement — Anglo-Indians
—Purchase of property by husband in the name of his wife. See ADVANCEMENT. 3 Bur. L. J. 85.

—Ownership—Possession—Trees.

The presumption of title arising from possession in the case of trees is stronger than the presumption arising from the ownership of the lands. (Simpson, A. J. C.) BHAGWAN v. GANGA BAKHSH. L. R. 5 O. 109 : 1924 Oudh 304 —Possession follows Title—Vacant land not capable of effective physical possession—Ejectment. See ADVERSE POSSESSION. 46 M. L. J. 560.

—Settlement Record—Entries in—Correctness of.

An entry in the Settlement Record shall be presumed to be correct until it is proved by legal evidence to be incorrect. (Morshead, M. C.) BHU KHUL MISSEER v. MAHARANI JANKI KUER. 2 Pat. L. R. 111 (Gr).

PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS ACT (XI OF 1890), S. 6—Bridle leather—Disc studded with nails—Sentence—Revision.

A hackney carriage driver was prosecuted for working a lean pony and using a bridle with a leather disc studded with nails and convicted and fined Rs. 20 under S. 6 of Act XI of 1890. Held, that the sentence was inadequate and that the conviction ought to have been under S. 3 of the Act. Though the High Court has power to interfere in revision with an inadequate sentence, it does not do so ordinarily merely because it would itself have passed a heavier sentence so long as the sentence passed by the lower court involves a substantial punishment. (Hald J.) EMPEROR v. BEJAI. 3 Bur. L. J. 155' 1924 Rang. 373 (1).

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—Accounts—Claims and cross-claims—Business of principal Company transferred to another Company set up by former and closely identified with it—Business conducted as before—Latter Company it may sue without reference to set off. OFFICIAL TRUSTEE OF MADRAS v. SUNDARA MURTHI MUDALIAR. 76 I. C. 944 : 1920 P. C. 811.

—Accounts—Liability of legal representatives of deceased agent to account to principal—Damages caused by neglect or misconduct of deceased agent—Liability of legal representatives. See LIM. ACT, ARTS. 62, 89 AND 90, ETC. 5 Pat. L.T. 355.

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.

———Agent's right to sue for accounts.

An agent cannot maintain a suit for accounts against his principal unless he makes out a special case. The limits of such right as common law discussed. (Aston, A. J. C.) FIRM OF JESSARAM BHAGWANDAS v. RATANCHAND FATCHAND.

78 I. C. 846.

———Commission agent—Despatch of goods by rail—Absence of insurance—Usual course of business—Loss—Liability for—Legal position of parties. See CONTRACT ACT, S. 91.

47 M. L. J. 312.

———Fund of agent—Liability of principal—Tort—Extent of liability.

The principal is not liable for the torts or negligence of his agent in any matters beyond the scope of agency unless he has expressly authorised them to be done, or he has subsequently adopted them for his own use and benefit, 36 C. 647; 43 C. 511 Ref.

The principal is liable for the fraud of his agent acting within the scope of his authority, whether the fraud is committed for the benefit of the principal or for the benefit of the agent. (1912) A. C. 716 Rel. (Baker, J. C.) VARDHMAN BROS. v. JAIKRISHAN.

7 N. L. J. 74:

79 I. C. 139: 1924 Nag. 79.

———Negligence—Liability for—Disregard of instructions by agent—Defalcation by subordinates of agent.

Where it can be shown that a loss sustained by the principal is directly traceable to disregard on the part of the agent of directions issued to him regarding the conduct of business, even though such disregard may have been due to nothing worse than negligence or overconfidence in the honesty of others, such misconduct on the part of an agent is clearly actionable. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) MUKERJI v. THE MUNICIPAL BOARD, BENARES. 46 A. 175: 80 I. C. 241: 22 A.L.J. 26: L. R. 5 A. 113: 1924 A. 467.

———Relationship—What constitutes—Direction to pay money.

A mere direction given by a man to pay money due to him to another does not make the latter an agent of the former. (Newbould and Ghosh, JJ.) HARI CHARAN DAS v. TARAPRASANNA SEN.

79 I. C. 354.

PRINCIPAL AND SURETY—Rights of creditor—Collateral security given by debtor to surety—Liability of surety.

There is no authority for the unqualified proposition that the principal creditor is entitled to the benefit of every collateral security given by the principal debtor to the surety, or that, all securities given by a principal to his surety are held in trust. This theory of trust is rested on the analogy derivable from the class of cases where the remedies of a creditor against the principal debtor are transferred to a surety who has paid the debt.

In the case where the remedies of the creditor are transferred to the surety, who has paid the debt, the payment by the surety extinguishes the creditor's claim, and what he seeks is a substitution to the creditor's remedies against the principal debtor. Where this does not happen, there can be no question of substitution proper, for the receipt of the surety's securities by a creditor does not relieve the surety from liability in case the securities prove insufficient. The relief by substitution is extended on the assumption that the debt has been, or is to be paid in full, so that further detention of the security is against equity. Another objection to the substitution may be found in the fact that the security being for the surety, he has no right to it till he has been indemnified by payment; the creditor's remedies against the principal debtor, on the other hand ripen as soon as there has been a refusal to pay. By subrogating the creditor's remedies against the debtor, the burden is finally placed where it belongs, and therein lies the equity of the transaction. No such object is attained in doing the converse of this, where the result is to place the creditor in a position of advantage which he cannot claim. The burden in the latter case is not always placed where it belongs; if the securities are sufficient in value, the burden will take care of itself; if they are insufficient, the loss will fall, in part at least on the surety. Consequently a creditor can derive no benefit from the securities given by the principal to the surety unless he can show a direct interest in them by contract or under a trust or unless both the principal and surety are insolvent or the debtor has refused to pay. (Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) BANK OF BENGAL v. WILLIAM ARRATON LUCAS.

PRIZE.

51 Cal. 185: 28 C. W. N. 497:

81 I. C. 471: 1924 Cal. 578.

PRISONS ACT (IX of 1894), S. 3—Judicial lock up—If a prison—Person committed to custody—If a prisoner. 25 Cr. L. J. 93: 76 I. C. 29: 1924 Lah. 257 (2).

———S. 42—Carrying newspapers from a prisoner inside gaol to outside people for illegal gratification—Offence. See PENAL CODE, Ss. 161 AND 21. 26 Bom. L. R. 267.

PRIVY COUNCIL—Criminal Trial—Special leave.

Points not properly raised at the trial are not points which in ordinary circumstances deserve much consideration as grounds for special leave. (Lord Sumner.) PARENDRA KUMAR GHOSH v. EMPEROR. 1 O. W. N. 935: 1925 P. C. 1.

———Practice—Issue of fact—Findings of trial Judge reversed on appeal—Practice of the Privy Council to announce their decision without elaborate discussion of the views of inferior Courts. See PRACTICE, PRIVY COUNCIL.

46 M. L. J. 625.

PRIZE—Hague convention—Treaty of Versailles—Priority—Ships of over 1,600 tons—Rights of Allies and Associated powers—Change of nationality after treaty.

A German ship was at the time of the outbreak of the war in Karachi harbour. It was seized as prize and after the Versailles Treaty, the Crown claimed ownership as it was over 1,600 tons, Held according to well-known canons of construction of agreements governed by International or Municipal law, it is the later and not the prior agreement which governs the rights of parties, except where the later one does not abrogate the former. The Treaty of Versailles operates as a transfer of the former owner's rights and the change of nationality after the Treaty is immaterial. The question of the owner's right of compensation against the German Government left open.

PROBATE.

Quære—Whether the owners have no locus standi to open such an application unless they pay court fees under the Court Fees Act? (Kincaid, J. C. Aston and Madgavkar, A. J. C.)
In Re S. S. "BRAUNFELS" 76 I. C. 337:
1925 Sindh 4

PROBATE—Intermeddler.

Obiter: An executor intermeddling with the estate of a deceased is liable to account for his dealings with the estate. Quære:—Should such intermeddling executor be compelled to take out probate. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) BROJO LAL BANERJEE v. SHARAJUBALA DEBI.

51 Cal. 745 : 1924 Cal. 864.

—Procedure.

Application for probate should be dealt with as a suit. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) BROJO LAL BANERJEE v. SHARAJUBALA DEBI.

51 Cal. 745 : 1924 Cal. 864.

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT (V of 1881)—Party interested to oppose—Adverse claim. MOHADEB KUDU v. BENODE LAL PATRA.
77 I. C. 534.

—S. 3—Deed—Construction—Gift or will—No disposal of any immediate interest in property.

A document purported to dispose a part of a house to which the donor was entitled, in these terms:—'You (donee) shall yourself after my life-time use and enjoy two rooms. I shall myself enjoy the rent in respect of the two rooms as long as I may be alive. You shall yourself use and enjoy after my life-time that rent and the two rooms from son to grandson with power of sale, etc. To this effect is the gift deed executed and given in respect of the aforesaid two rooms' Held, that the document, though in the form of a deed of gift, was in fact a will. It was a declaration of the intentions of the donor with respect to her property after her death inasmuch as there was no disposal of any immediate right of possession or any immediate interest in the property. In wills in this country it is not uncommon for the donor to reserve to himself a life interest in the property disposed of and such a reservation is not conclusive against the document being testamentary in its character. (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) VENKATACHALAM CHETTY v. GOVINDASWAMI NAICKER. 78 I. C. 156 : 1924 Mad. 605 : 19 L. W. 434 : 46 M. L. J. 288.

—Ss. 4, 88, 89, 100 and 147—Scope and effect of—Executor—Position of—Representative of the testator and not of the legatees—Limitation against executor—Beneficiaries barred—Liability of executor for devastavit—Limitation Act, Arts.

Y D 1924—64

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, S. 41.

140 and 141 subject to the provisions of the Prob. and Administration Act, See LIMITATION ACT. ARTS. 140 AND 141. 5 Pat. L. T. 513.

—S. 17—Invalid renunciation.

Renunciation by executor is not rendered invalid by his having intermeddled with the estate of the deceased. (1894) A. C. 437, foll. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) BROJO LAL BANERJEE v. SHARAJUBALA DEBI. 51 Cal. 755 : 1924 Cal. 864.

—S. 17—Renouncing of executorship—Withdrawal of. 75 I. C. 218.

—S. 17—Renunciation—Probate and Administration Act, S. 16.

Renunciation of executorship can be made by the executor without issue of citation. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) BROJO LAL BANERJEE v. SHARAJUBALA DEBI. 51 Cal. 745 : 1924 Cal. 864.

—S. 17—Retraction.

A renunciation by an executor cannot be retracted. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) BROJO LAL BANERJEE v. SHARAJUBALA DEBI. 51 Cal. 745 : 1924 Cal. 864.

—S. 23—Joint Hindu family—Death of Co-parcener—Application for letters of administration by son.

Where a member of a joint Hindu family dies, it is not open to his son, not being the sole surviving co-parcener, to apply for letters of administration to the property alleged to have been left by the deceased as such member of the joint family. (Beasley, J.) RAMAGIRI GURUVAYYA NAIDU v. GOVINDAMMAH. 3 Bur L. J. 116 : 82 I. C. 824 : 1924 Rang. 329.

—S. 34—Administrator pendente lite—Appointment of, pending appeal.

The executors under a will applied for probate and on the application of the objectors an administrator pendente lite was appointed. Subsequently judgment was pronounced in favour of the will and probate was issued. On the day on which probate was issued the unsuccessful caveators applied to the District Court to stay proceedings to enable them to file an appeal to the High Court. The District Judge held that possession having been already delivered by the administrator to the executors nothing further could be done by him. On appeal to the High Court Held, that though possession had been taken by the executors, it did not take away the High Court's authority to appoint an administrator pendente lite in the High Court. (Mookerjee and Chotzner, JJ.) PRAMILA BALA DEVI v. JYOTINDRA NATH BANERJEE. 28 C. W. N. 576 : 83 I. C. 597 : 1924 Cal. 631.

—S. 41—Appointment of administrator—Considerations to be taken into account.

In appointing an administrator for the estate of deceased person, one of the elements to be taken into consideration is consanguinity; there are however, other elements which must be taken into consideration, such as the safety of the estate and the probability that it will be properly administered. The primary concern is the interest of the property and the court would not force administration on an unwilling person. (Mookerjee and Cuming, JJ.) SIVADAS MOOKERJEE v. SURENDRA NATH CHATTERJEE, 40 C. L. J. 24 : 82 I. C. 382 : 1925 Cal. 178.

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, S. 50.

———S. 50—Probate—Revocation of grant—Just cause—Non-citation of necessary party—Effect of—Reversioner—Locus standi to contest will—Genuineness of will—Proof of.

It is an elementary principle that no question of the genuineness of a will arises for consideration till the court has decided that the grant of probate or letters of administration must be revoked on one or more of the grounds specified in S. 50 of the Prob. and Admn. Act. The only matter for consideration upon an application for revocation is whether the applicant has made out a just cause for revocation. The application cannot be thrown out at this stage on the ground that the applicant has not adduced evidence sufficient to throw doubt upon the genuineness of the will. 19 C. W. N. 1108 ; 33 C. 1001 Ref. At that stage the only question that could be properly considered is whether the proceedings to obtain the grant were defective in substance because the grant was made without citing parties who ought to have been cited. Reversionary heirs who but for the will would have been entitled to the estate of the deceased are entitled to special citation. The object of issue of citation is that all persons whose interests are or may be adversely affected by the decrees of the probate court shall have notice of the proceedings and an opportunity of intervening for the protection of their interests. This purpose is not achieved by issue of citation to infants and the propounder should take steps for the appointment of a guardian-ad-litem. 10 C. L. J. 263 Ref. (Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) AKHILESWARI DAS v. HARICHARAN MIRDHA. 40 C. L. J. 297 : 1925 Cal. 223.

———S. 50—Probate—Order granting—Effect of—Revocation—"Just cause"—Meaning of—Right to apply for revocation.

An order passed after contest in a probate proceedings is res judicata in any subsequent proceeding of any sort against the caveators who contested it. The grant of probate by a competent Court is, on the general principle of the Probate and Administration Act, binding on all persons who had an opportunity of putting forward their objection before it was passed unless they can make out a good cause under S. 50 of the Act for setting it aside.

There is no period of limitation for putting forward a "just cause" under S. 50 of the Probate and Administration Act but where a party has had an opportunity to put forward a particular just cause and has not chosen to put it forward, he cannot be heard to agitate the same cause later. There is no difference in principle between disallowing an application to revoke a grant for a "just cause" on the ground of res judicata and disallowing it on the ground that the party already had a full opportunity of putting forward his just cause and omitted to do so.

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, S. 73.

The mere absence of a special citation in proceedings in which probate of a will is granted is not, where the person to whom a citation has not been issued is otherwise aware of the proceedings, a "just cause" for revocation.

S. 50 of Probate and Administration Act, in certain circumstances, no doubt allows one party after another to attack in turn the grant of probate but nothing in it supports the contention that each of such attacks in turn reopens all previous attacks and enables parties already defeated to press their attacks anew.

Per Wallace, J.—A decree cannot be set aside by a mere petition on the ground of fraud. (Odgers and Wallace, JJ.) RALLABANDY VENKATARATNAM v. YANAMANDRA SATYAVATI.

34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 141 : 1924 Mad. 578 : 79 I. C. 44 : 46 M. L. J. 383.

———S. 51—Revocation of probate—Power of Additional District Judge in Bengal.

An Additional District Judge appointed under S. 8 of the Bengal, N. W. P. and Assam Civil Courts Act, to whom a probate case has been transferred has all the powers of a District Judge with respect to it and hence he can revoke a probate granted. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) DAHO KUER v. TURAL DEI.

78 I. C. 701 : 3 Pat. 609 : 1924 P. 593.

———Ss. 71 and 83—Object—Necessity for filing caveat—Non-observance of rules relating to pleadings—Remand.

In contentious proceeding under the Probate and Administration Act, 1881, a caveat in accordance with S. 71 of that Act should be filed, and the grounds of objection, as well as any petition in reply, should take the form of pleadings and should be verified in accordance with the provisions of O. 6, R. 15. The further proceedings thereafter should be conducted in the same way as a suit according to the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code.

Their Lordships remanded the application for hearing owing to neglect to observe the prescribed form and procedure. (Lentaigne and Carr, JJ.) U. SHWE MIN v. MAUNG MAUNG GYL. 3 Bur. L. J. 68 : 82 I. C. 973 : 1924 R. 273.

———Ss. 73 and 83—Contentious proceeding—Meaning of—Objector's pleader withdrawing from case—Effect of—Probate in solemn form.

A probate proceeding becomes contentious when there is an appearance with a view to oppose the proceedings. The subsequent withdrawal from the case of the pleader for the objector does not have the effect of transforming it into a non-contentious proceeding. Its effect is merely to make it an undefended suit. Consequently probate cannot be granted even in such a case in common form. A probate in common form is issued where the validity of the will is not contested or questioned. The executor proves the will either before the District Judge or the District Delegate competent to grant it in the absence of the parties interested upon his oath or upon such further evidence as may be required. Probate in solemn form is obtained by the executor in an action in which the persons prejudiced by it have been made parties and the court upon hearing the evidence pronounces for the validity of the will. The mere fact that the pleader for the objector withdraws from the proceeding does not mean the withdrawal of the opposition to the grant of probate. (Mookerjee and Chotzner, JJ.) PHANENDRA CHANDRA SETT v. NAGENDRA CHANDRA SETT. 39 C. L. J. 569 : 1925 Cal. 75.

PROBATE AND ADMINISTRATION ACT, S. 76.

—S. 76—Date of grant—Which is.
75 I. C. 218.

—S. 86—Appeal—Order granting permission to administrator to sell property—Considerations to be taken into account in giving permission to sell.

An order of a District Judge granting permission to an administrator to sell immovable property is appealable. It is not desirable that permission should be given to sell immovable properties not in the possession of the administrator, to some of which third parties claim an absolute title, and others of which were subject to ostensible encumbrances, unless it was proved that other properties, not the subject of contention were unavailable for sale. The Court ought to satisfy itself that the sales were necessary and in the interests of the estate as a whole. (Pratt and Mac Coll, JJ.) HAI PU v. TIN TIN. 2 R. 117 : 80 I. C. 746 : 1924 Rang. 237.

—S. 90—Lease by administratrix without permission of court—Void or voidable—Setting aside—Compensation.

S. 90 of the Pro. and Admn. Act no doubt, makes it obligatory upon the administratrix to obtain the sanction of the Court if a lease for more than five years is granted, but noncompliance with this provision does not invalidate the transaction, which becomes merely voidable and not void. If the party prejudicially affected thereby seeks relief, the Court will assist him only on equitable terms of reimbursement.

An alienation by an executor or administrator without leave of the Court where such leave is necessary under S. 90 of the Probate and Administration Act, is not void but voidable: This attracts the operation of the elementary rule that no person can be allowed to avoid a transaction in such a manner as to enable him to recover property which would otherwise be lost to him and at the same time keep the money or other advantages which he has obtained thereunder. The maxim that "he who seeks equity must do equity" is applicable to a defendant as well as to a plaintiff and a party who seeks to avail himself of an equitable defence must stand the test as well as one who appears as plaintiff in such a case as the present. (Mookerjee and Walmsley, JJ.) SITA SUNDARI BARMANI v. BARADA PROSAD ROY. 28 C. W. N. 444 : 1924 Cal. 636.

—Ss. 128 and 130—Demonstrative legacy—Interest on.

Even where the will is silent as regards interest on demonstrative legacies and no provision is made for the same, the legatee is entitled to be paid interest from one year after the death of the testator. (Phillips and Venatasubba Rao, JJ.) KUDITHIPUDI VENKATARAMAYYA v. PITCHAMMA, 78 I. C. 274.

PROVIDENT FUND ACT (IX OF 1897), S. 4.

PROBATE PROCEEDINGS—Title to property—Adjudication—If binding.

A probate court has no jurisdiction to deal with title to property covered by a testamentary instrument. Hence an abandonment of title to property by means of a compromise decree in a probate court does not destroy title or vest it in another in the absence of a registered deed where the property in dispute exceeds Rs. 100 in value. (Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) SRI MATI HARIDAS DEBI v. PRAMATHA BHUSAN. 1924 Cal 905.

PROMISSORY NOTE—Consideration—Burden of proof. See BURDEN OF PROOF. 79 I. C. 1055.

—Consideration—Want of—Taking of accounts—Permissibility of

It is a common thing for a borrower from a banker giving a promissory note to cover overdrawing from the banker by himself or by another. Consequently in a suit upon a pronote it is open to the defendant to plead want of consideration for the pronote wholly or in part and to insist on an account being taken to determine the liability of the defendant. 45 B. 1155 ; 44 A 521 ; (1921) M. W. N. 636 Ref. (Ramesam, J.) SUNDARAM CHETTY v. DAMODARAM CHETTY. (1924) M. W. N. 529 : 1924 Mad. 850.

—Partnership—Suit on pronote executed by one partner in favour of another—Maintainability of, without taking accounts. See PARTNERSHIP. 2 Mys. L. J. 90.

—Suit on—Decree on original claim when can be granted.

Where money is lent and at the same time a promissory note is given therefor, the creditor can sue for the money due as on the original contract of loan, if the pronote cannot be proved. It is impossible in one and the same suit to sue some of the defendants on the note and the rest on the original cause of action. (Young, J.) MAUNG LEE GALE v. PROHTADO BARICKAN. 3 Bur. L. J. 127 : 1925 Rang. 37.

—Suit on—Note inadmissible for want of Stamp—Decree on original consideration.

Where a suit is based on a promissory note which is inadmissible in evidence for want of stamp the suit must fail and it is not open to the court to give a decree on the debt evidenced by the note. 38 M. 660 foll. 40 M. 727 ; 34 I. C. 417 Ref. (Madhavan Nair, J.) PULUGURTA SOMARAJU v. M. VENKATA SUBBARAYADU. 20 L.W. 943.

PROVIDENT FUND—Rights of subscribers—Bank employees subscribing to Provident Fund Started by the Bank—Liquidation of the Bank—Priority of Provident Fund subscribers to shareholders and simple creditors. See COMPANY, LIQUIDATION. 23 C. W. N. 721.

PROVIDENT FUND ACT (IX OF 1897) S. 4—Optional subscriber—Deposit made by—Attachment—Legality of—C. P. Code, S. 60—Provident Fund Rules.

Where the judgment debtor who was a Nazir in the Civil Court was an optional subscriber to a General Provident Fund within the meaning of PROVIDENT FUND RULES, R. 14.

Rule 3 of the Rules regulating the fund but the deposits were not capable of withdrawal except under Rules 10, 15 and 18. Held, that the deposits were compulsory deposits within the meaning of S. 2 of Act IX of 1897 as amended by Act IV of 1903, the test being whether the money was repayable on demand or at the option of the subscriber or depositor. Under S. 4 of the Act the deposit is exempt from attachment and S. 60, C.P. Code does not stand in the way. The Act does not empower the Government to prescribe by rules the procedure which shall be followed for the recovery of debts due by depositors for which a decree has been obtained in the Civil Court. 29 B. 259; 46 C. 952; 27 C.W.N. 472 Ref. (Miller, C.J. and Bucknill, J.) JAGANNATH THIRANI v. TARAPRASANNA GANGULI.

3 Pat. 74 : 6 Pat. L. T. 129 : 80 I. C. 424 :
1924 F. C. 524 (2).

PROVIDENT FUND RULES, R. 14—Nomination of person to receive fund—If takes absolutely.

Where a person is nominated under the rules framed under the Provident Funds Act to receive the fund on the death of the employer, the nominee does not take the fund absolutely, but only on behalf of the estate. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) AIMAI v. AWABAI DHANJISHAW JAMSETHI. 1924 Sindh 57.

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907). Ss. 2 (e) and 16—Joint Hindu family—Father and sons—Insolvency of father—What vests in Official Receiver—Property or power of disposal—Sons' right to impeach—Binding nature of debts—Adverse finding—Decree in favour of party—Res judicata.

Where in a joint Hindu family consisting of a father and his sons the father is adjudicated insolvent, what vests in the Official Receiver under S. 16 read along with S. 2 (e) of the Provincial Insolvency Act is the entire property inclusive of the shares of the sons therein and not merely the power of disposal which the father has under the Hindu Law. The vesting of the property is not dependent on the nature of the debts incurred or conditional on the debts being for a binding purpose. In a suit by the sons for partition after the father's adjudication, it is open to them to prove that the debts were for an illegal or immoral purpose and as such not binding on them. Case-law referred to. Where a suit is dismissed against a defendant but the judgment contains a finding adverse to him, such finding does not operate as res judicata, 48 C. 460 followed.

Per Srinivasa Aiyangar, J.—The proper way of regarding the vesting so far as the sons are concerned would be to regard it as in the nature of a trust for the exercise of the father's power of disposal of the family property for his antecedent debts on the one hand and on the other for the ascertainment and delivery over to the sons of the remainder of the property, if any.

Quære :—Whether the mere making of a vesting order by a court as regards the father or other co-parcener does not bring about in Law the status of division. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Srinivasa Aiyangar, J.) KUPPUSWAMI GOUNDAN v. MARIMUTHU GOUNDAN. (1924) M. W. N. 807 :

1925 Mad. 52 : 20 L. W. 783 : 82 I. C. 438 :
47 M. L. J. 487.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (IX OF 1897), S. 18.

—Ss. 4 and 80—Insolvency—Sale of properties by Official Receiver—Objection by claimant—Procedure—Power of Official Receiver to inquire.

Where in the course of an insolvency proceeding the Official Receiver either at his own instance or at the instance of a creditor proposes to sell properties claimed by a third person the claimant may apply to the District Judge under S. 4 of the Provincial Insolvency Act for an order to prevent the sale of the properties. It is not competent to the claimant to apply to the Official Receiver or for the Official Receiver to adjudicate on the claim. (Krishnan and Waller, JJ.) SAVANNA VENKA ANA RUNA, VELLAPPA CHETTIAR v. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR. 47 Mad. 446 : 78 I. C. 1017 :

1924 Mad. 529 : 19 L. W. 251 :
(1924) M. W. N. 163 : 33 M. L. T. (H. C.) 279 :
46 M. L. J. 80.

—S. 16 (6)—Payment to creditor of insolvent—Liability to Receiver.

A payment by a debtor of the insolvent after an insolvency petition has been presented of the debt due to a creditor of the insolvent is not valid against the Official Receiver. The property of the insolvent by reason of the principle of relation back, on the date the insolvency petition was presented, became the property of the Official Receiver and as such payment to the creditor is not sufficient satisfaction of the debt. (Oldfield and Devadoss, JJ.) JANAKI RAM VILAS NIDHI, LTD. v. OFFICIAL RECEIVER, COIMBATORE. 78 I. C. 16.

—S. 18 (1)—Receiver—Vesting of property in—What amounts to—Sale by Receiver—As agent of Court—Hindu Joint family—Father and Son—Adjudication of father—Power of Official Receiver to sell family property.

Defendants 1 and 2 and 3rd defendant, who were carrying on business together, were adjudicated insolvents. At the same time, the plaintiffs, who were the sons of defendants 1 and 2, and who were made parties to the insolvency petition were also adjudicated. The order of the District Judge on the insolvency petition was:—Petitioner 1 examined. No opposition. Adjudication order passed. Referred to Official Receiver for further proceedings.—The family properties of defendants 1 and 2 were sold by the Official Receiver, the sale deeds showing that the Official Receiver purported to convey his entire interest in the properties. The deeds further showed that the Official Receiver professed to act as the assignee of the adult as well as the minor insolvents and that he did not purport to exercise the power possessed by a Hindu father to dispose of his son's interest for causes which are recognised as just and proper.

In a suit brought by the plaintiffs to recover their 4/9ths share in the properties sold by the Official Receiver on the grounds (1) that, as they were minors at the time, their adjudication was illegal, the Official Receiver had no authority to sell their shares, and his sale of the properties was therefore void as against them; and (2) that the property of the insolvents did not vest in the Official Receiver, held, (1) that the order on the insolvency petition, by implication, appointed the Official Receiver, the Receiver for the property of the insolvents and vests the property in him, (2) that even otherwise, the property of the insolvent vested in the Court, the Official Receiver could have acted as its agent, and, as his proceedings were ratified by the Court, the sales effected by him were valid; (3) that, on the insolvency of defendants 1 and 2, their right to dispose of their son's interest in ancestral immovable property for the payment of their debts not tainted with illegality or immorality vested in the Official Receiver; and (4) that, even if the adjudication of the minor plaintiffs as insolvents was illegal, the sales by the Official Receiver must, on the authority of the decisions in 42 C. 56 and 25 A. 407, be held to have passed the entire properties sold, including the interest of the minor plaintiffs therein. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) SANKARANARAYANA PILLAI v. RAJAMANI. 47 Mad. 462 : 20 L. W. 357 : 1924 Mad. 550 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 152 : 46 M. L. J. 314.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (III OF 1907), S. 24

—SS. 24 and 27, (7)—Composition deed—Effect—Creditor whose name is not in Schedule—If can proceed against insolvent after discharge.

A creditor who does not prove his debt or get his name entered in the list of creditors and who is not a party to a composition deed is not debarred from proceeding against his debtor after he is discharged. (Raymond and Bilaram, A. J. C.) FIRM OF MENGHRAJ—NEVANDRAM v. FIRM OF VIRBHANDAS—SIRUMAL. 1924 Sindh 122.

—S. 34—Execution sale before adjudication—Sale proceeds—Right of Receiver.

Prior to an adjudication in insolvency, property of an insolvent had been sold in execution of a decree and the sale proceeds deposited in Court. Held, the amount was exempted from the General provision of S. 34 of Act III of 1907 and can be claimed by the attaching decree-holder as against the receiver. (Oldfield and Devadoss, JJ.) SRINIVASA NAICKER v. OFFICIAL RECEIVER, SOUTH CANARA. 75 I. C. 172 : 1925 Mad. 224.

—S. 37—Burden of proof—Fraudulent preference—Intention—Mortgage for paying off creditors.

Where the Official Receiver wants to challenge an alienation as a fraudulent preference, the onus is on him that the intention was to prefer and there must be evidence to show this, apart from the mere fact he was insolvent.

Where money is raised by pledging property for the purpose of paying creditors, whatever may be the view of the mortgagor in paying creditors, if the mortgagee acts bona fide the transaction would be valid against the Receiver. (Oldfield and Devadoss, JJ.) JANAKI RAM VILAS NIDHI, LTD v. OFFICIAL RECEIVER, COIMBATORE. 78 I. C. 16.

PROVINCIAL INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920)—Suit against Receiver—Civil Court. MT. MAHARANA KUNWAR v. E. V. DAVID. 1924 A. 40.

—Ss. 2 and 27—Joint Hindu Family—Father adjudged insolvent—Sons' interest if vests in Official Receiver—Suit for partition by son—Maintainability of—Sale of property by Official Receiver prior to passing of vesting order by court—Rights of purchaser—Order vesting property in Official Receiver—Ratification—Title by Estoppel—Transfer of property Act. S. 43.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 2.

Where a father in a joint Hindu family consisting of himself and his sons is adjudicated an insolvent it is not merely the share of the father but the share of his undivided sons also that vests in the Official Receiver. That does not prevent a son from bringing a suit for partition of his share as against the Official Receiver or persons claiming under him, on the ground that the father's debts were illegal or immoral and that the father could not convey his share validly for such debts. 46 M. 54 not followed, 47 M. L. J. 487 foll. In the absence of an order by the District court vesting the property of the insolvent in the Official Receiver, the property vests in the court and not in the Receiver 40 M. L. J. 184 ; 41 M. L. J. 78 Ref. Where the official Receiver purported to sell the property of an insolvent before the passing of such a vesting order and subsequently the District court on being apprised of the fact, passed an order vesting the property in the Receiver the title of the vendee becomes complete either on the principle of ratification by the court or the act of its agent or on the principle embodied in S. 43 of the Transfer of Property Act. 40 M. L. J. 209, 46 M. L. J. 314 relied on. (Devadoss, J.) NARASIMUDU v. BASAVA SANKARAM. 1925 Mad. 249 : 20 L. W. 946 : 47 M. L. J. 749.

—Ss. 2 (1) d—Meaning of Property—Power of father and major sons to dispose of minors' shares.

Where the father and his major sons are adjudicated insolvents on account of trade losses and when the Receiver attempted to sell the joint family property, the minors objected that their shares are not property within the meaning of S. 2 (d) of the Act. Held overruling their contention that the son's share is the property of the insolvent within the meaning of the section. (Doss and Ross, JJ.) AMOLAK CHAND v. MANSULLA RAI MANGAN LAL. 3 Pat. 857 : 1925 P. 127.

—S. 2 (d)—Property of insolvent—Share in a Joint Hindu family—Vesting in Official Receiver.

The word used in defining the term property is 'includes' and not 'means,' and therefore the definition in S. 2 (d) of the Prov. Ins. Act (V of 1920) is not exhaustive. The definition was inserted to make it clear that certain kinds of property which do not actually belong to the insolvent are to be treated as his property for the purposes of the Insolvency Act, e. g. property over which he may have a power of appointment which he may exercise for his own benefit. A share in joint family property is not saved from such attachment and sale and is therefore not outside the jurisdiction of the Insolvency Court. It will vest in the Official Receiver. (Daniels and Dalal, A. J. C.) MUNSHI LAL BAHADUR v. PASPAT PRASAD. 26 O. C. 384.

—S. 2 (d)—Property—What it includes—Partner's share—If property.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 2.

The definition of "property" in S. 2 (d) is very comprehensive and includes any property over which or the profits of which any person has a disposing power which he may exercise for his own profit. It includes all rights of action which relate directly to the bankrupt's property and can be turned into assets for the payment of debts including claims in the nature of damages except such as arise from bodily or mental suffering or personal inconvenience.

A partner's share in the partnership is "property" within the meaning of S. 2 (d) (Kennedy and Bilaram, A. J. Cs.) SETH VISHINDAS NIHALCHAND v. THAWERDAS. 80 I. C. 642 : 1925 Sindh 18.

—Ss. 2 (d) and 28—Partner—Insolvency—Right to sue for accounts—If vests in Official Receiver.

Where a partner becomes insolvent, the rights of the partner to sue for an account in a partnership that has been dissolved is property within the meaning of S. 2 (d) and vests in the Official Receiver. (Raymond, A. J. C.) THAWERDAS JETHANAND v. SETH VISHENDAS NIHALCHAND. 79 I. C. 384 : 1925 Sindh 72.

—S 2 (1) (e)—Rent due to landlord—If a secured creditor.

A Zemindar in Oudh to whom rent is due from the tenant is a secured creditor within the meaning of S. 2 (1) (e) of the Prov. Insolvency Act, as under S. 72, Oudh Rent Act the produce of every part of the holding is security for the rent payable. (Datal, J. C.) BISHAMBAR NATH v. RUKKHA. 10 O. & A. L. R 183 : 10 O. L. J. 442 : I. R. 5 O. 98 : 81 I. C. 647 : 27 O. C. 99 : 1924 Oudh 296.

—S. 4—Conveyance shortly before adjudication—Creditor if can move for annulment.

Where a person effected a conveyance shortly before he was adjudicated an insolvent, proceedings to have the conveyance annulled can be instituted only by the Official Receiver and not by any creditor. S. 4 of Act V of 1920 cannot be taken to authorise action by a creditor. (Walmsley and Mukerji, JJ.) RAM SUNDER RAM v. RAM CHARIT BHAKAT. 51 Cal. 663 : 79 I. C. 326 : 1924 Cal. 827.

—S. 4—Question of title—If to be raised only in insolvency court. MT. MAHARANA KUNWAR v. E. V. DAVID. 1924 A. 40.

—S. 4—Question of title—Right to decide—When not to be exercised. Official Receiver, SOUTH ARCOT v. PERUMAL PILLAY. 1924 Mad. 387 (1).

—Ss. 4, 5 and 28—Equity of redemption—Insolvency of Mortgagor—Compulsory acquisition of lands—Rights of mortgagee.

Where a mortgagor becomes insolvent, it is only the equity of redemption that vests in the Official Receiver. If the lands are acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, the mortgagee is entitled to be paid the amount of his mortgage from the compensation paid by the Government for the acquisition. (Wallace and Madhavan Nair, JJ.) PURUSHOTHAMA NAIDU v. RAMASWAMI AIYAR. 20 L. W. 667 : 1925 Mad. 245.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 10.

—S. 5—Interim protection to person who has applied to be adjudicated insolvent—Grant of—District Judge—Power of—Order declining to grant protection—Interference with, in appeal—Conditions.

Under S. 5 of the Provincial Insolvency Act, the District Judge has inherent power to grant interim protection to a person who has applied for being adjudicated an insolvent. Where, in the exercise of his discretion, the District Judge has declined to grant interim protection, the High Court will not interfere with his discretion unless it has been wrongly exercised (Madhavan Nair and Jackson, JJ.) NALLAGATTI GOUNDAN v. RAMANA GOUNDAN. 1925 Mad. 170 : 20 L. W. 879 : 47 M. L. J. 783.

—S. 9—Act of bankruptcy—Deed of arrangement for benefit of creditors—Person party to deed—Petition for adjudication.

A creditor who has assented to a deed of arrangement by a debtor for the benefit of all his creditor cannot file a petition for adjudicating the debtor an insolvent treating the deed as an act of bankruptcy. (Spencer and Rameasam, JJ.) RUKMANI AMMAL v. RAJAGOPALA AIYAR. (1924) M. W. N. 813 : 1924 Mad. 839 : 20 L. W. 681 : 47 M. L. J. 494.

—S. 9—Application for adjudication—Act of insolvency—Presentation of petition without deposit—Return of petition—Limitation—Bombay Rules, R. 27 (4).

A creditor presented a petition for adjudicating a debtor an insolvent. The petition was presented within three months of an alleged fraudulent transfer under R. 27 (4) of the Rules framed by the Bombay High Court. The petitioner had to deposit Rs. 150 with the petition but he omitted to do so. The petition was returned to the petitioner in order that it might be re-presented with the necessary deposit. As the Court was closed for the vacation, the petition was represented on the re-opening day with the necessary deposit. Held, that the petition was in time and that the order of adjudication was valid. The petition should not have been returned but the petitioner should have been called upon to make the proper deposit within a given time. (MacLeod, C.J. and Shah, J.) CHHOTUBHAI BHIMBHAI v. DAJI BHAIVKABHAI. 26 Bom. L. R. 432 : 80 I. C. 482 : 1924 Bom. 472.

—S. 10—Prima facie inability to pay debts—If ground for order.

Where a debtor is unable to pay his debts and the assets are less than the liabilities an order of adjudication should be made. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, JJ.) MUL SINGH v. RAM SINGH JAIMAT SINGH. 1924 Lah. 724 (1).

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 10.

———Ss. 10 and 25—Scope of.

Ss. 10 and 25 were intended to prevent the abuse of debtors filing their applications as a method of evading liability of arrest and getting out of payment of their debts. A finding by the court that a petitioner is unable to pay his debts must be one arrived at judicially with reasons given therefor which can be checked with reference to the evidence. The matter must be considered from the point of liquid assets. (Walsh and Ryves, JJ.) MATHURA RAM v. BALDEO RAM.

L. R. 5 A. 645 : 80 I. C. 21 :
1924 A. 800 (2).

———S. 14—Withdrawal of petition—When allowed.

A petition for adjudicating a person insolvent cannot be withdrawn without the permission of the court. (Venkalasubba Rao and Jackson, JJ.) GADGI MUDAPPA v. PARAMESWARAN BHAT.

20 L. W. 880.

———Ss. 15, 18 and 79—Husband and wife jointly indebted—Single petition for adjudication—Legality of.

Where a Burmese Buddhist husband and wife were alleged to be jointly indebted to the petitioning creditor, a single petition for adjudicating them as insolvents is maintainable, 44 M. 810 Foll. 2 C.L.J. 318 not foll. (Young and Lentaigne JJ.) MAUNG KYI OH v. ARUNACHALAM CHETTY.

2 Rang. 309 : 1925 Rang. 36.

———S. 16—Insolvency—Receiver—Appointment of.

The mere fact that seven years had passed since the date of adjudication is not a sufficient reason for refusing to appoint a Receiver. (Walmsley and Mukerji, JJ.) HORO MOHUN PRAMANICK v. MOHAN DAS PALI.

39 C. L. J. 432 : 1924 Cal. 849.

———S. 16—Order of adjudication—Execution proceedings—Effect on.

The mere presentation of an insolvency application does not prevent the execution of the decree. This is all the more the case where no order for adjudication is made after the presentation of the insolvency petition. (Daniels, J.) RAM BHAROSEY v. SOHAN LAL.

L. R. 5 A. 408 :
82 I. C. 1 : 1924 A. 707.

———S. 16 (5) and 31—Insolvency of mortgagor—Sale by official receiver free of incumbrance—No actual consent by mortgagees—Application to set aside sale dismissed—Suit to enforce mortgage—Maintainability.

On a mortgagor becoming insolvent, his properties vested in the Official Receiver and he gave notice to all the mortgagees that he proposed to sell the properties free of incumbrances giving them the same charge on the sale proceeds as they had on the properties. He called upon them to consent to it and added that if he did not hear to the contrary within a certain time, he would take it that they consented. No reply was received and the properties were sold. The mortgagees then applied to have the sale set aside on the ground that no notice was served upon them, and that they did not consent to the sale, and also of inadequacy of price. The petition was dismissed as out of time, whereupon they brought a suit for recovering the amount due under the bond. Held that the sale was not binding on the mortgagees and the suit was maintainable. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) KANNIAPPA MUDALI v. RAJU CHETTIAR.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 25.

20 L. W. 45 : 47 Mad. 605 :
1924 Mad. 761 : (1924) M. W. N. 520 :
79 I. C. 850 : 47 M. L. J. 16.

———S. 20—Insolvency of landholder—Effect of—Ejectment—Notice.

The insolvency of a landholder does not render him incompetent to issue a notice of ejectment to tenants. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RANGAI v. DEOKINANDAN PANDEY.

L. R. 5 O. 77.

———S. 23—Arrest of judgment-debtor—Insolvency court—Protection order.

Under S. 23 of the Prov. Ins. Act, it is discretionary with a judge on admitting a petition for insolvency to release the petitioner from arrest in execution of a money decree. Where the court refuses to release the petitioner on giving security it must record its reasons. (Adami and Bucknill, JJ.) NAND LAL v. NATH MULL SRINIWAS.

3 Pat. 543 : 1924 P. 559.

———Ss. 23 and 31—Insolvency—Right to apply for protection before adjudication.

Under the Provincial Insolvency Act an insolvent is not entitled to apply for protection before adjudication, unless he has been actually arrested in execution of a decree (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) SINNASAMI CHETTIAR v. ALIGI GOONDAN.

1924 M. W. N. 836 :
80 I. C. 938 : 1924 Mad. 893 (1) :
20 L. W. 870 : 47 M. L. J. 530.

———S. 25—Petition by creditor—Dismissal of—Procedure—Grounds for—Payment of debt—"Other sufficient cause"—Meaning of.

Where on an application by a creditor to have his debtor adjudged an insolvent, an act of insolvency is alleged, the court must first satisfy itself whether the creditor is a creditor for the amount alleged or for a sufficient amount to justify a petition under the Act, or in other words, that the creditor has a right to present the petition. The Court must then be satisfied of the service on the debtor of the order admitting the petition. It must then be satisfied or express its dissatisfaction, for adequate reasons, with the alleged act or acts of insolvency. It must then consider whether it has been satisfied by the debtor that he is able to pay his debts. When the court has come to all the necessary findings on the above issues and still finds that there is prima facie ground for making an order against the insolvents, he must consider whether there is any sufficient cause why no order should be made. If the court finds the above issues not made out against the insolvents, it should dismiss the petition without considering any other sufficient cause. Meaning of "other sufficient cause" in S. 25 explained. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) TARA CHAND v. JUGUL KISHORE.

22 A.L. J. 684 : 46 A. 713 L. R. 5 A. 498 :
1924 A. 686.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 27.

—Ss. 27 and 43—Insolvency petition—Transfer to Official Receiver for adjudication—Period fixed for discharge—Application for annulment—Extension of time—Power of Court, C. P. Code, S. 148.

Where an insolvency petition is transferred to the Official Receiver for adjudication he has the power to fix the period for applying for discharge as part of the order of adjudication.

Per Krishnan, J. and Waller, J. (dissenting) under S. 27 (2) of the Prov. Ins. Act the power to extend time is not exhausted by the period originally fixed in the order of discharge having expired. Even after the expiry of the period, the Court has power to extend the period, 17 C. 512; 16 B 263 Ref. (Krishnan and Waller, JJ.) ARUNAGIRI MUDALIAR v. KANDASWAMI MUDALIAR.

19 L. W. 418 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 170 : (1924) M. W. N. 331 : 1924 Mad. 635.

—Ss. 27 (2) and 43—Discharge—Time for—Power of Court to extend.

Under S. 27 (2) of the Prov. Ins. Act the court has power to extend the time for discharge even after the expiry of the period of the order for discharge. (Chatterjee and Panton, JJ.) ABRAHIM v. SOOKIAS. 51 C. 337 : 81 I. C. 584 : 1924 Cal 777.

—S. 28—After-acquired property—Suit for recovery—If insolvent can maintain—Share in partnership—If vests. 76 I. C. 805.

—S. 28—Co-sharers—Adjudication of one sharer as insolvent—Suit for share of profits by assignee from co-sharer against lambardar—Defence that plaintiff has no title to sue by reason of his assignor's insolvency—Jurisdiction of Revenue Court. See AGRA TEN. ACT, S. 193. 22 A. L. J. 217.

—S. 28—Debt incurred after adjudication—Civil Court—Jurisdiction to entertain suit.

Creditors who lend money to a debtor after the date of his adjudication as insolvent cannot prove the debt in insolvency, but there is nothing in law to prevent their suing on the Civil Courts in their debt. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) HIRALAL v. TULSIRAM. 80 I. C. 946 : 1925 Nag. 77.

—S. 28—Insolvency of Hindu father—Receiver—Sons' share in family property if vests.

The claim of the receiver, in whom a Hindu father's rights and interests have vested under S. 28 of the Prov. Ins. Act is based on the principle of Hindu law. As soon as the sons received joint family property at partition the right became vested in the receiver of taking that property to pay the Hindu father's debts. The receiver does not become entitled to this right subsequent to the partition. The sons are liable to contribute towards the payment of any such debts of the father as are not tainted with immorality and they must be given an opportunity to prove the immoral or illegal character of the debts. (Walsh, A. J. C. and Daial, J.) SITA RAM v. BENI PRASAD. 22 A. L. J. 1097.

—S. 28—Malguzar becoming insolvent—Sir rights—Sale of occupancy rights.

When a malguzar is adjudicated insolvent, his proprietary rights in the sir land are vested in the insolvency court but not so the occupancy rights in the land, as under the C. P. Tenancy Act no one but the proprietor could divest himself of the occupancy rights. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) SHRI KISHAN v. NAGOBA. 1924 Nag. 158.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 28.

—S. 28—Remedy of creditor.

Where after an insolvency, the property of the insolvent is vested in the Court, the creditor has no remedy against the property in respect of the debt other than that provided under S. 28. (Baker, J. C.) SETH SHEOLAL v. GIRDHARILAL. 1924 Nag. 361.

—S. 28, Cl. 4—Insolvent Debtors' Act (1848), S. 7—After-acquired property of insolvent—Bona fide transaction—Disposal of property—Right of Receiver in insolvency.

In spite of the fact that by order passed under S. 7 of the Insolvent Debtors' Act, 1848, the property of the insolvent was to vest in the Official Assignee, he was left free to dispose of any property that he might acquire after being declared an insolvent and all persons dealing with him bona fide and for a consideration were to be discharged from making a further payment, to the Official Assignee, provided the transaction took place before the Official Assignee intervened and claimed the property on behalf of the insolvent's estate, 43 Bom. 890 ; 30 M. 145 ; 47 Cal. 696, referred to. (Daniels and Mukerjee, JJ.) CHHOTE LAL v. KEDAR NATH. 22 A. L. J. 455 : L. R. 5 A. 329 : 46 A. 565 : 1924 A. 703.

—S. 28 (5)—Damages for breach of contract—Vesting prior to insolvency—Deed of arrangement—If passes to trustees—T. P. Act, Sec. 6 (a).

Prior to a person becoming insolvent, he became entitled to sue for damages for breach of certain contracts. Subsequently by a deed of arrangement, he transferred his rights to certain trustees who sued to enforce the same. Held, there was nothing in law to prevent the vesting of the right in the trustees and they could sue to enforce their rights. T. P. Act, S. 6 (a) and (e) considered. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) FIRM of MOTHARAM DOWLATRAM v. GOPALDAS. 80 I. C. 141.

—S. 28 (5)—Partner's share in assets—If can be attached and sold.

S. 28 (5) cannot be construed to mean that it is not the whole property but only the property which is liable to attachment and sale under S. 60, C.P. Code, which vests in the official Receiver. An insolvent partner's share of assets in a partnership vests in the Receiver and can be attached and sold. (Kennedy and Bilaram, A. J. C.) SETH VISHINDAS NIHALCHAND v. THAWERDAS. 80 I. C. 642 : 1925 Sindh 18.

—S. 28 (6)—Second creditor—Charge—Rights of. MOTI RAM v. RODWALL. 76 I. C. 749.

—S. 29—Suit against insolvent—Adjudication, not known to plaintiff—Permission of Insolvency Court not obtained—Effect.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 28.

S. 29 of Act V of 1920 contemplates not only a suit filed before an order of adjudication but also one filed after the order but in real ignorance of it. In such a case the procedure is not to obtain permission under S. 28 from the Insolvency Court but the civil court can under S. 29 either stay the suit or continue it under such terms as it thinks fit. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) UMAR SHARIF v. JWALA PRASAD. 1924 Nag. 800.

—S. 39 (4)—Rules framed by the Madras High Court—R. 21 (b)—Creditor—Claim for final dividend—Notice—Form of—Strict compliance necessary.

Under R. 21 (b) of the Rules framed by the Madras High Court under the Provincial Insolvency Act (III of 1907), the notice to be sent by the Receiver under S. 39 (4) of the Act should be in the form of a registered letter addressed to each creditor. If the Receiver proposing to declare a final dividend does not strictly comply with the provisions of the Rule and a creditor as a result of not getting such a notice fails to prove his claim and is therefore not given his dividend, he should be allowed to reopen the matter and be given an opportunity to prove his claim within a time to be fixed by the Court. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) VENKATANARAYANA CHETTY v. SEVUGAN CHETTY. 20 L. W. 163 : 80 I. C. 620 : 47 Mad. 916 : 47 M. L. J. 240.

—S. 41—Order refusing discharge—Insolvent obstructing—Receiver.

Where an insolvent's assets were not of a value equal to 8 annas in the rupee and he obstructed the Receiver in paying debts, an order refusing to discharge him is proper. (Kendall, A. J. C.) JAGMOHAM SINGH v. DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, FYZABAD. 80 I. C. 54 : 1925 Oudh 112.

—Ss. 43 and 75—Application by creditor—Wrongful refusal of order of annulment—Appeal—"Aggrieved person"

An order of adjudication prevents an unsecured creditor from realising his debt except by receiving a dividend under the Act. Consequently an unsecured creditor would undoubtedly be a person aggrieved by the refusal to annul the order of adjudication. A creditor who is affected by the adjudication is certainly a person entitled to apply to the Court under S. 43 and if his claim is dismissed without proper reason for it, he will certainly be a person aggrieved under S. 75 and can appeal against the order. Ex parte Sidebotham. In re Sidebotham. (Krishnan and Waller, JJ.) ARUNAGIRI MUDALIAR v. KANDASWAMI MUDALIAR. 19 L. W. 418 : 34 M. L. T. (H.C.) 170 : (1924) M. W. N. 331 : 1924 Mad. 685

—S. 43—Creditor applying—If a person aggrieved—Appeal

1924 Mad. 185.

—S. 51 (1)—Assets realised after the date of the admission of the insolvency petition—Sale held before such date—Rights of execution creditor.

The expression "date of the admission of the petition" occurring in S. 51 (1) of the Provincial Insolvency Act qualifies "assets realised" and therefore only assets realised before the date of the admission of the petition will enure to the benefit of the execution creditor.

Y D 1924—65

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 53.

Meaning of the expression "assets realised in the course of execution" considered. (Wallace and Madhavan Nair, JJ.) K. M. K. R. K. R. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR v. P. L. V. R. SUBRAMANIA CHETTIAR.

1925 Mad. 248 : 20 L. W. 872 : 47 M. L. J. 759.

—S. 52—Execution—Sale of judgment-debtor's property—Pendency of insolvency petition.

There is no provision in the Provincial Ins. Act, which prohibits a court executing a decree from selling the judgment-debtor's property merely by reason of its having been given notice that an insolvency petition by him has been admitted. It is only when an application is made to the executing court for the delivery of the property that the court is required by S. 52 to direct the property if in its possession, to be delivered to the Receiver. Where no such application is made the court is at liberty to sell the property and the sale being legal, cannot be impeached by the Receiver or the creditors. (Martineau, J.) RALLA RAM v. RAM LABHAYA MAL. 6 Lah. L. J. 232. 80 I. C. 509 : 1925 Lah. 158.

—S. 52—Scope of—Property—Attachment under O. 21, R. 54—If can be directed to be handed over—Receiver—Who is—Costs of arbitration proceedings.

Where an attachment of immoveable property has been made under O. 21, R. 54, such property cannot be said to be in the possession of the Court so as to entitle a Receiver to apply for its possession under S. 52 of the Prov. Ins. Act. The section contemplates both moveable and immoveable properties in the possession of the Court.

The Receiver referred to in the section is the Receiver who is appointed after adjudication, and not an interim Receiver appointed under S. 20.

The costs of an arbitration cannot be treated as costs of the suit within the meaning of S. 52. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) FIRM OF LYON LORD & CO. v. FIRM OF VIRBHANDAS RATTANCHAND.

1924 S. 69.

—S. 53—Creditor—If can take action—Limitation.

S. 53 contemplates that action should be taken by the Official Receiver to set aside a fraudulent transfer, but this does not mean that no one else can set the law in motion even when the Receiver refuses or neglects to act. In such cases creditors can apply. Action can be taken at any time during the pendency of the insolvency proceedings and Art. 181, Lim. Act does not govern such an application. (Moti Sagar, J.) DARYAI SINGH v. KUNJ LAL. 1924 Lah. 553.

—S. 53—Order under—Second appeal—Question of law. See PROV. INS. ACT, S. 75.

78 I. C. 140.

—Ss. 53 and 55—Purchaser in good faith—Transfer of property to trustees—If protected.

Ss. 53 and 55 of the Prov. Ins. Act are taken verbatim from the English Bankruptcy Act and the expression "purchaser" in S. 53 is used in the wider sense commonly given to that term in

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 53.

English Law and not in the mercantile sense of a person who has bought something by a contract of purchase and sale. Where a debtor made over his whole property to trustees in order that the residue after paying his debts should go to his son, with an annuity for himself and his wife, the transfer is not avoided by S. 53 of the Act. 30 M. L. J. 415 foll. (Wazir Hasan and Pullan, A. J. C.) SHARF-UZ-ZAMAN v. DEPUTY COMMISSIONER, BARA BANKI. 10 O. & A. L. R. 514.

11 O. L. J. 599 : 79 I. C. 888 : 1 O. W. N. 201
1925 Oudh 28.

S. 53—Receiver not appointed—Remedy.

Where no Receiver has been appointed, an application under S. 53 can be maintained by a creditor based on which the Court can take the necessary action. (Baker, J. C.) SETH SHEOLAL v. GIRDHARILAL. 1924 Nag. 361.

S. 53—Sale set aside—Consideration for redeeming Mortgage—Vendee a scheduled creditor.

When a sale of property to pay off a mortgage is annulled under S. 53, the vendee is entitled to stand in the shoes of the mortgagee and is a secured creditor to that extent. The maxim in pari delicto will not apply to a case where the object was frustrated. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) RAM PRASAD v. JASKARAN. 82 I. C. 489.

S. 53—Transfer prior to insolvency—Absence of consideration—Transferee paying part of consideration to mortgagee—Effect.

76 I. C. 1006.

S. 53—Voluntary transfer—Release deed by extravagant son in favour of father—Consideration.

It is not necessary that a man should actually be indebted at the time he enters into a voluntary settlement to make it fraudulent; for if a man does it with a view to his being indebted at a future time, it is equally fraudulent and ought to be set aside. A man can commit what may be compendiously called "anticipatory fraud" and effect a transfer of his properties with a view to get into debt and prevent his creditors getting at his property. 33 M. 205 : 5 Bom. L. R. 255. In cases of settlements by a son on his father in consideration of the former and his wife and children being maintained by the father, the question that has to be considered is the bona fides of the transaction. If the consideration is inadequate or is such that it was not a real consideration it may be taken as one item for deciding whether the transaction itself was bona fide or not. Under S. 53 of the Prov. Ins. Act what has to be proved is that the transfer was in good faith and for valuable consideration if the transfer is within 2 years of the insolvency, the burden being on the person asserting it to prove it. Both good faith and valuable consideration have to be proved by the alienor or by the person who supports the transfer. The circumstances under which the deed came to be executed, the covenants made in the deed and the conduct of the parties both at the time and subsequently have all to be taken into consideration and if it can be held that the transfer at the time was really intended to be carried out and was made bona fide for saving the insolvent from incurring debts and ruining himself it may be that the transfer will not be interfered with. But if on the other hand there are circumstances to show that the transfer was actually screening his properties from the reach of his future creditors, there will be good ground for holding that the transfer is a fraudulent one. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) OFFICIAL RECEIVER, TANJORE v. VEDAPPA MUDALIAR.

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 58.

(1924) M. W. N. 506 : 82 I. C. 450 :
1924 Mad. 865 : 20 L. W. 683 : 47 M. L. J. 431.

S. 54—Fraudulent preference—What is—Creditor giving fresh loan only as security being given for all debts—If preferred.

Before a transfer can be avoided under S. 54 of the Prov. Ins. Act, it must be definitely proved that in making the transfer in favour of a creditor, the debtor acted with the view of giving him preference over other creditors and the onus of proving that such fraud was intended is on the person who impugns the transfer. If the transaction was to obtain some advantage to himself it is not a case of preference.

Where a debtor could secure a loan from an old creditor of his only by giving security for all the debts due and he effected mortgage, it is not a fraudulent preference. (Moti Sagar, J.) DAULAT RAM v. DEOKI NANDAN.

1924 Lah. 686.

S. 54—Fraudulent preference of creditor—What constitutes—Dominant intention—Motives of insolvent.

In deciding whether an insolvent is guilty of a fraudulent preference in favour of a particular creditor, it has to be ascertained what was the dominant intention in the mind of the insolvent at the time when the act was done. It might result in a preference in favour of one creditor, but if the act was done by the insolvent not as a free agent but under pressure, or to avoid certain legal consequences with a view to benefiting himself as the primary consideration, then there can be no fraudulent preference. The mere fact that the act was done very shortly before the insolvent filed his petition to be adjudicated, no doubt raises the presumption that the act was intended as a fraudulent preference. But it is necessary to consider all the facts in the case and arrive at a decision as to what was the principal object of the insolvent in so acting. (Rabinson, C. J., and May Oung, J.) RAEBURN COMPANY v. ZOLLI KOFER & Co.

2 Rang. 193 : 83 I. C. 440 :
1924 Rang. 308.

Ss. 58, 59 (c) and (e), 68 and 80—Transfer of insolvency petition to Official Receiver for disposal of—Vesting order—Sale of properties by Official Receiver—Setting aside—Limitation.

On a petition by a debtor to be adjudicated an insolvent the District Court made an order transferring it for disposal to the Official Receiver. The Official Receiver made an order of adjudication. There was no order of the District Court vesting the properties of the insolvent in the Official Receiver. Nevertheless the Official Receiver purported to sell the properties of the insolvent in the course of administration. A creditor of the insolvent applied to set aside the sale more than 21 days after the date of the sale and it was contended that the application was barred by S. 68 of the Provincial Insolvency Act. Held, (1) that the Official Receiver had no right to deal with the properties of the insolvent without an express vesting order of the District Judge; (2) that the indorsement made by the Judge on the insolvency petition was not tantamount to vesting the property of the insolvent in the Official Receiver; (3) that a vesting order could validly be made only after adjudication; (4) that the sale in the present case was made by a person not authorized by law and was therefore void; and (5) that S. 68 of the Provincial Insolvency Act which pre-supposed a decision by a Receiver properly appointed did not bar the present application. 41 M. L. J. 78; 39 M. L. J. 438; 43 M. 869; 30 M. L. J. 415 followed; 44 M. 547; 40 M. L. J. 209 distinguished. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) KAVALI SANKARA RAO v. RAMA KRISHNAYYA. 19 L. W. 450 :

PROV. INSOLVENCY ACT (V OF 1920), S. 58.

34 M. L. T. (H.C.) 2 : (1924) M. W. N. 198 : 1924 Mad. 461 : 78 I. C. 294 : 46 M. L. J. 184.

S. 60—Sale of insolvent's property by Receiver—Legality of.

A sale of immoveable property of the kind specified in S. 60 of the Prov. Ins. Act by the Official Receiver is invalid and inoperative. (Kendal and Pullan, A. J. Cs.) NAZIR HASAN v. MOULVI MATINUZZAMAN. 10 O. & A. L. R. 730 : 1 O. W. N. 337 : 11 O. L. J. 672.

S. 68—Application by creditor to District Court under—Parties—Official Receiver—Non-joinder of—Effect—Evidence taken by Official Receiver—Use of, at hearing of application—Permissibility—Evidence, additional—Admission of—Power of District Court.

A creditor whose claim had been disallowed in part by the Official Receiver applied to the District Judge under S. 68 of the Insolvency Act against the order of the Official Receiver. All the other creditors of the insolvent were made parties to that application, and opposed the same; but the Official Receiver was not made a party. The District Judge allowed the entire claim of the applicant. On appeal preferred by one of the opposing creditors against the order of the District Judge, held, (1) that his order was not vitiated by the fact that Official Receiver was not made a formal party respondent to the application before him, and (2) that he was entitled to act on the evidence given before the Official Receiver.

There is no provision in the Act obliging the District Judge in such a case to take fresh evidence, though it is open to him to do so if he thinks fit.

The fact that a creditor gives up his security and agrees to treat himself as an unsecured creditor for the amount due to him is not conclusive on the question that the money was not due as a personal debt. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) KUMARASWAMI NADAR v. VENKATASAMI KOUNDAN. 19 L. W. 193 : (1924) M. W. N. 212 : 1924 Mad. 830 : 34 M. L. T. (H.C.) 337 : 78 I. C. 857 : 46 M. L. J. 242.

S. 68 — Scope of. MT. MAHARANA KUNWAR v. DAVID. 1924 A. 40

PROV. SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (IX OF 1887), S. 16.

S. 75—Appeal—Order of adjudication—Insolvent necessary party.

Where a creditor appeals from an order of adjudication, the insolvent is a necessary party to the appeal. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) CHHOTUBHAI BHIMBHAI v. DAIJI BHAI UKABHAI. 26 Bom. L. R. 432 : 80 I. C. 482 : 1924 Bom. 472.

S. 75—Deputy Commissioner with powers of Sub-Judge—Appeal—To whom lies—Procedure.

In insolvency matters, appeals from orders of Deputy Commissioners who have been invested with the powers of Subordinate Judges lie to the District Court and not the High Court. Such an appeal if presented to the High Court should be dismissed.

Quære if the High Court has power under Act V of 1920 to return a memorandum of appeal to be presented to the proper Court. (Suhrawardy and Graham, JJ.) CHATTURBHUI MAHESRI v. HARLALL AGARWALLA. 80 I. C. 858 : 1925 Cal. 335.

S. 75—Second appeal—Order under S 53—Question of law.

A second appeal will lie under S. 75, Pro. Ins. Act against an order passed under S. 53, but only on a point of law as provided by S. 100, C. P. Code. (Baker, J.C.) SETH SHEOLAL v. GIRDHARILAL. 1924 Nag. 361.

S. 75 (2) and 53—Aggrieved person—insolvent—Appeal by—Order annulling alienation by insolvent.

It is not open to the insolvent to appeal against an order of the Court annulling a transfer as a fraudulent preference without notice to the alienee for the insolvent is not a person aggrieved thereby. (C. C. Watson.) MASTAN KHAN v. SYED MAHOMED KHASIM. 2 Mys. L. J. (B and C) 15.

S. 78—Scope of to excuse delay. 1924 Mad. 400 (1).

PROVINCIAL SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, Ss. 16 and 35—Suit instituted in the Court of a Munsiff with small cause powers—Suit decided by successor without small cause powers—Effect of.

A suit of a nature cognizable by a Court of Small Causes was instituted before a Munsiff invested with small cause powers. The Munsiff was transferred before deciding the suit and his successor was not invested with small cause powers. The District Court directed him to try the suit under his original jurisdiction even though there was a subordinate court having small cause jurisdiction in the locality. Held that the suit should not have been tried by the Munsiff on the Original Side and that the decree was ultra vires. (Wazir Hasan, J.C.) RAM LAKHAN v. MT JANKA. 10 O. & A. L. R. 741 : 1 O. W. N. 381 : 11 O. L. J. 662 : 80 I. C. 268 : 1925 Oudh 101.

S. 17—Attachment of immoveable property before judgment—Powers of Small Cause Courts—C. P. Code, Ss. 94 and 95.

It is competent to a court acting in the exercise of its jurisdiction as a court of small causes to make an order for the attachment of immoveable properties before judgment under O. 38 of

PROV. SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT (IX OF 1877),
S. 25.

the C. P. C. but if the Small Cause Court passes an order for attachment before judgment of immoveable property it would have to send the order for execution to an ordinary Civil Court having jurisdiction. There is a difference between attaching property and making an order for attachment of property. (Sanderson, C. J. Walmsley, Newbould, Mukerji and Chotener, JJ.)
BARADA KANTA RAY v. SHAIKH MAJUDDI.

23 C. W. N. 1056 : 82 I. C. 109 :
40 C. L. J. 199 : 1925 Cal. 1.

—S. 25—Decree obtained on mis-representation as to jurisdiction—Interference.

Where by false recitals in a plaint a court gets clothed with jurisdiction and passes a decree, it can be set aside in revision. (Pullan, A. J. C.). G. I. P. RV. COY. v. MATHURA DAS 80 I. C. 569 : 1925 Ouch 103.

—S. 25—Error of law.

Gross errors of law are not revisable under S. 115 Civil P. C. though they are revisible under S. 25 Sm. C. C. Act. (Sulaiman, J.) MATHURA PRASAD v. B. B. AND C. I. RAILWAY.

L. R. 5 A. 252 : 78 I. C. 434 : 1924 All. 691.

—S. 25—Finding of fact—High Court's power of revision.

Where a Small Cause Court records a finding that the alteration in a pronote was not made subsequent to its execution and further holds that the suit should be decreed even if the alteration is subsequent, its finding does not amount to a clear finding of fact and the High Court is entitled to interfere under S. 25 of the Small Cause Courts Act (Dalal, J. C.) ZULFIQUAR AHMAD v. ROBERT ELLIOT.

1 O. W. N. 605 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1008

—S. 25—Interference—Mistake of law.

If a mistake of law committed by the Court below is such as is not shown to have affected the result of the suit, it is not sufficient to justify interference in revision. (Macpherson, J.) LUTHER SAHU v. DOMAN RAM 1924 Pat. 793. (1).

—S. 25—Return of plaint for want of jurisdiction—Order, whether open to revision.

An order returning a plaint on the ground that the Court has no jurisdiction amounts to the Court having 'decided' the case within the meaning of section 25 Prov. Small Cause Courts Act and is open to revision. 13 C. W. N. 403 dissented from. 15 C. W. N. 666 referred to and 41 A. 42 followed. (Dalal, J. C.) DHANI RAM v. MAIKOO LAL.

1 O. W. N. 957.

—Sch. II, Cl. 4—Suit for price of manure—Interest in immoveable property.

A suit by a Zemindar for the recovery of the price of the manure which he alleged belonged to him because of his interest in the village is for the recovery of an interest in immoveable property and as such exempted from the cognizance of a Small Cause Court under Sch. II, cl. 4 of the Prov. S. C. C. Act. (Dalal, A. J. C.) SRI RAGHU-NATH v. ANTIOO.

10 O. & A. L. R. 208 :
80 I. C. 740 (2) : L. R. 5 O. 87.

PROV. SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT Sch. II
Art. 8.

—Arts. 4 and 11—Suit of Small Cause nature—Suit for sum of money payable under a covenant in a sale deed.

Plaintiff's predecessor in title sold certain lands to the defendant's predecessor-in-title and the latter agreed to pay the former and his descendants a sum of Rs. 20 annually for worship of God. The defendant purchased the lands from a purchaser from the original vendee. In a suit by the plaintiff to recover the amount due on the covenant, Held, that the suit was of a nature cognizable by the Small Cause Court. (Runkin and Ghose, JJ.) MOHINI MOHAN RAI v. KAMDAS.

28 C. W. N. 271 : 80 I. C. 210 : 1924 Cal. 487 :
39 C. L. J. 532.

—Sch. II, Art. 8—Bhagdar—Suit for paddy and straw or their value—Suit if cognizable by Small Cause Court.

Plaintiff sued for the recovery of a sum of Rs. 49 alleged to be due as price of bhag paddy and straw. The plaintiff alleged that the land had been settled with the defendant and that the latter had stipulated to deliver to the plaintiff in Falgun month every year a half share of the paddy that would be grown on the land and in case of default would be liable to deliver 25 per cent. more as bridhi or interest in accordance with usage; that the debt, in accordance with the aforesaid promise or stipulation, after having taken settlement of the land, cultivated the land and grew paddy and straw of which the quantities were stated and the price of half thereof was claimed with interest. Held that the suit was cognizable by a small cause court, there being nothing in the contract showing a tenancy conclusively. (Mukerji, J.) JADAB CHANDRA SANTRA v. GOPAL CHANDRA DEB NATH.

28 C. W. N. 848 : 82 I. C. 94 :
1924 Cal. 837.

—Sch. II, Art. 8—Grazing land—fixed rate for cattle—Suit to recover rent if cognizable.

The plaintiff obtained a lease of some grass-land situated in the Cawnpore Cantonment from the Cantonment Committee. He sub-let that land for grazing purposes to another person at a fixed rate per cattle. The present suit was filed by him for the recovery of the rent payable by the latter. Held, that the suit was clearly one for the rent of the grazing area let to the defendant; and it was excluded from the cognizance of the Small Cause Court by Clause 8 of Schedule 2 of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act (No. IX of 1887) (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) AUSERI LAL v. MULL-HAN.

L. R. 5 A. 217 : 22 A. L. J. 339 :
78 I. C. 345 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 454 :
46 All. 369 : 1924 A. 557.

—Sch. II, Art. 8—Rent—what is—Damages for use and occupation—If excluded.

Rent in Art. 8 is used in the ordinary sense of a return in money or kind for the enjoyment of specific property held by one person from or under another. A suit for damages for use and occupation of land held by defendant as trespasser is not a suit for rent and is not excluded from the cognizance of the Court of Small Causes. (Moti Sagar, J.) GAJJAR v. GURU SURDUL SINGH.

78 I. C. 383 : 1925 Jah 196 (1).

PROV. SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, Sch. II,
Art. 8.

—Sch. II, Art. 8—Suit for rent—Suit for recovery of a share of the produce payable by Bhargdar.

A suit for recovery of a share of the produce payable by a Bhargdar or its price is not rent "Bhargdar" would ordinary mean a cultivator who is a servant or labourer under the holder of land 14 C W. N. 629 Ref (N. R. Chatterjea, J.) RAHIMUDDIN MOLLAH v. NIROD BARANI DEBI. 40 C. L. J. 197 : 1924 Cal. 1036 (1).

—Sch. II, Art. 8—Suit for rent—Homestead land—Second appeal.

A suit for rent of homestead land is excepted under Art. 8 of Sch. II from the cognizance of a Small Cause Court and even if the value is less than Rs. 500, there is a right of second appeal. (Suhrawardy and Cholsner, JJ.) SHEBAITS OF IDOL SRIDHAR JIN v. NALINAKSHA RAI

79 I. C. 557.

—Sch. II, Art. 11—Questions of title—Decision on—How far binding.

A Small Cause Court has no jurisdiction to decide question of title and any decision thereon is not a binding adjudication. (Baker, J. C.) RAMBUX v. MOTI. 20 N. L. R. 70 : 78 I. C. 872 : 1924 Nag. 256.

—Sch. II, Art. 15—Suit for recovery of purchase money on refusal to perform the contract—Jurisdiction of Small Cause Court.

A suit for the recovery of purchase money on the defendant's failure to fulfil the performance of a contract is cognisable by a Court of Small Causes.

Held also, that if there was a contract and defendants refused to perform it, plaintiff was at liberty under S. 39 of the Indian Contract Act to put an end to it and in his doing so defendants were bound to restore the sum paid to him. Held also, that the Plaintiff is not entitled to interest, on the purchase money paid, either under the Interest Act or under any other principle which can be applied 5 M. L. T. 296 not relied upon. (Reilly, J.) SUNDARA THEVAN v. ANANTHAN KALADI. 35 M. L. T. 116 (H. C.) : 20 L. W. 656 : 1924 Mad. 903.

—Sch. II (15)—Suit for specific performance—Suit on awards.

Where a plaintiff sues for compensation in pursuance of an award of arbitrators made without reference by a Court is in substance a suit for specific performance of a contract and is therefore exempt from the jurisdiction of a Small Cause Court. 29 C. W. N. 66 Foll. (Pratt, J.) MA HAL GYI v. MAUNG SEIK PO. 1 R. 700 : 79 I. C. 718 (1) : 1924 Rang. 192.

—Sch. II, Art. 19—Suit to recover articles from stake holder—If of a small cause nature.

A suit to recover articles in the possession of a stake holder who does not set up title in himself but is willing to hand them over to the true owner, and the other rival claimants are also defendants in the suit is one of a declaratory nature which is expressly exempted under Art. 19 (Sulaiman, J.) SITAL PRASAD v. DUKHI LAL.

80 I. C. 409.

PROV. SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, Sch. II,
Art. 35.

—Sch. II, Art. 28—Scope of.

Art. 28 contemplates a suit between rival claimants when the relief claimed is to recover a share of the estate and not only an item of the estate as against a third party. (Sulaiman, J.) SITAL PRASAD v. DUKHI LAL. 80 I. C. 409.

—Sch. II, Arts. 35 and 43—Landlord and tenant—Trees—Dispute as to—Suit for value of trees appropriated by tenant—Suit if triable by Small Cause Court.

A landlord sued for the recovery of a mango tree or its value alleging that the defendants (tenants) had no right to sell the fallen wood and appropriate its price.

Held, that the allegation of the plaintiff amounted to a charge of criminal misappropriation of the wood and Cl. 35 of Sch. II of the Prov. Sm. C. C. Act excluded it from the jurisdiction of a Small Cause Court Cl. 43 (A) of the Schedule would be similarly applicable. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MAN SINGH v. MADHO SINGH.

22 A L.J. 70 : L. R. 5 A. 34 (Rev),
79 I. C. 599 : 1924 All. 430.

—Art. 35—Suit for compensation for wrongful removal of trees—Not exempted from cognizance of Small Cause Court MIRZA DILBAR HOSSAIN v. SADARUDDIN CHOUDHURI. 77 I. C. 77.

—Sch. II, Art. 35 (2)—Detention of property by borrower—Suit to recover.

A borrower who merely detains property lent to him beyond the period within which he was expected to return it, cannot be held to be guilty of the offence of criminal breach of trust. Consequently a suit for the recovery of the property or its price is not excluded from the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Neave, J.) LALA MAKHAN LAL v. LALA BIHARI LAL. L. R. 5 A. 422 : 46 A. 688 : 80 I. C. 627 : 1924 A. 571.

—Sch. II, Art. 35 (ii)—Dispute as to crops Possession of trustee—Removal of crops from trustee—Suit for compensation.

On a dispute arising as to the title to certain crops, they were placed with a trustee. One of the disputants took them away and the other sued him for the price. Held, the act of removal would not amount to theft and hence the suit would not fall within Art. 35 (ii) and the court of Small Causes had jurisdiction to try the case. (Dalal, J.) SHIAM SUNDAR RAM v. RAM HET.

81 I. C. 1029 (1) : L. R. 5 A. 648.

—Sch. II, Art. 35 (ii)—Misappropriation of silver—Suit for value—If maintainable in Small Cause Court.

Where silver given for making into ornaments is mis-appropriated, a suit for recovering its value is not cognizable by a Small Cause Court as it is exempted under Sch. II Art. 35 (ii) of the Pro. Sm. Cause Courts Act. (Lumsden, J.) RAGHBIR SINGH v. SINGH RAM. 1924 Lah. 668.

—Sch. II, Art. 35 (ii)—Trees cut and removed—Suit for damages—If cognizable by Small Cause Court.

Where defendant cuts and removes trees belonging to another it amounts to mischief or theft and hence a suit for damages falls under Sch. II, Art. 35 (ii) and is outside the cognizance of a Court of Small Causes. (Martineau J.) SUNDAR MAL v. KAMAL LAL. 79 I. C. 138.

PROV. SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, Sch. II, Art. 35.

—Sch. II, Art. 35 (g)—Suit for return of money and ornaments given in anticipation of marriage—If maintainable.

A suit for return of ornaments and moneys expended in consequence of a marriage which had been arranged but which fell though is not cognisable by a Court of Small Cause. (Boys, J.) RAGHURAJ SINGH v. MT. SHAM DEI.

81 I. C. 870 (1) : L. R. 5 A. 685; 1925 A. 51.

—Sch. II, Art. 35 (j)—Suit for value of trees cut and removed—If cognisable by Small Cause Court.

Where in execution of a decree against a tenant trees belonging to the landlord are sold in auction and the purchaser cuts and removes the trees, a suit by the landlord for the value of such trees is excluded from the cognizance of the Small Cause Court. (Lindsay, J.) GANESH DAS v. RAJA SURAJ PAL SINGH.

1924 A. 537 : 78 I. C. 371 : 46 A. 233.

—Sch. II, Art. 41—Payment of Government Revenue in excess of his share by one co-sharer—Suit for contribution—Jurisdiction of Small Cause Court.

Plaintiff and defendants were joint co-sharers of property in certain villages. Imperfect partition was effected and a jamaphant of the revenue allotting separate liability to each of the co-sharers was prepared. The plaintiff paid more of the revenue than was due for his share and sued to recover the excess payment from the other sharers. Held, that the suit was not one for contribution but for re-imbursement and that the suit was maintainable in the Small Cause Court. (Neave, A. J. C.) MOULA BAKHSH SINGH v. AHBARAN SINGH. 10 O. & A. L. R. 1056.

—Sch. II, Art. 41—Suit for contribution—Jurisdiction of Small Cause Court.

A joint owner of joint property sued his co-owners for contribution in respect of a sum that he had paid to the proprietor on their account. The suit was tried by a Small Cause Court without any objection to jurisdiction. The Court dismissed the suit because the respective specific liabilities of the defendants could not be determined. Held, on revision that the suit was not cognizable by a Small Cause Court, being excluded by Art. 41 of Sch. II of the Prov. Sm. Cause Courts Act. Under the circumstances of the case the High Court was justified in interfering under S. 25 of the Act. (Kendall, A. J. C.) SHIAM NARAIN PANDE v. HUBBAR KHAN.

81 I. C. 566 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 364 ; 1925 Oudh 88.

PUBLIC GAMBLING ACT, Ss. 4, 5 and 8—Forfeiture—Money found in possession of person in a gaming house.

25 Cr. L. J. 321 : 71 I. C. 177 : 1924 P. 42.

—S. 5—Powers of Superintendent—Warrant for search of house—Omissions corrected by sub-Inspector—Legality of arrest. 1924 A. 128.

PUNJAB COURTS ACT, S. 41.

PUNJAB ALIENATION OF LAND ACT (XIII OF 1900)—Notification under—Kureshi tribe—Notification if retrospective. MIRAN BAKSH v. MILKHI RAM. 76 I. C. 135.

—Ss. 2, Cl. 3 and 15—Sale of trees growing on agricultural land—Whether a sale of land—Burden of proof.

Trees growing on agricultural land are not "land" within the meaning of S. 2, Cl. 3, of the Punjab Alienation of Land Act and it is for those who assert it to prove that the Act prohibits the sale of trees. Where an agreement is made under which standing trees are sold with a covenant entitling the purchaser to cut them at any time within ten years, there is nothing in S. 15 of the Act which prohibits such a transfer. S. 15 applies to the sale of trees which might be produced on the vendor's land for a period of more than one year. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, JJ.) ACHHRU MAL v. MAULA BAKHSH.

5 Lah. 385 : 1925 Lah. 29.

PUNJAB COURTS ACT—Sale of land—Duty of Civil Court to enforce sale—Benefit of third person.

A Civil Court has no power to decline to enforce a contract which is legal and binding in every respect and on the face of it as between the parties, on a mere assumption that in reality it is intended for the benefit of a third person against whom a statutory prohibition to enter into such a contract exists under the Punjab Land Alienation Act. (Moti Sagar, J.) SHAMS-UD-DIN v. ALLAHA DAD KHAN.

6 Lah. L. J. 351 : 1925 Lah. 29.

—S. 41 (3)—Custom—Right of respondent to question—Certificate. 1924 Lah. 368.

—S. 44—No revision lies from interlocutory orders.

An interlocutory order cannot constitute a "case" within the meaning of S. 44, Punjab Courts Act and C. P. Code, S. 115. The High Court has no jurisdiction to entertain an application for the revision of an interlocutory order. 60 P. R. 1897 Dissented from. (Shadi Lal, C. J., Le Rossignol, Broadway, Abdul Raoof and Martineau, JJ.) FIRM OF LAL CHAND MANGAL SAIN v. FIRM OF BEHARI LAL MEHRCHAND.

5 Lah. L. J. 288 : 1924 Lah. 425.

—(VI OF 1918), S. 39—Pre-emption suit—Valuation for jurisdiction less than Rs. 5,000—Decree for more—Appeal—Forum.

Where a pre-emption suit was valued at less than Rs. 5,000, being 30 times the land revenue, but a decree was given on paying a sum larger than Rs. 5,000, the appeal lies to the District Court and not the High Court. (Scott-Smith and Moti Sagar, JJ.) MALHA v. BISHAN SINGH.

76 I. C. 196 : 1925 Lah. 41.

—Ss. 41 and 44—Custom—Question of—Certificate.

Where a question of custom is involved in a case in appeal, the court should consider if a certificate should be granted for purposes of appeal. (Abdul Raoof and Harrison, JJ.) HAR PHUL v. BHAGMAL.

79 I. C. 488 : 1925 Lah. 82.

PUNJAB COURTS ACT, S. 41.

—S. 41, Cls. (1), (a), (b), (c) and (3)—Custom—Finding as to—Certificate—Necessity for.

Whether, rightly or wrongly, the lower appellate court has held that a custom exists, applicable to the parties, by which collaterals, no matter how remote, succeed in preference to a sister's son, the decision about the existence of a custom cannot be attacked in second appeal on any of the ground set forth in S. 41 (1) (a) (b) (c) of the Punjab Courts Act without the Lower Appellate Court's certificate in terms laid down in S. 4 (3) of the Act. (Campbell and Zafar Ali, JJ.) UTTAM SINGH v. MUNSHI.

6 Lah. L. J. 261 : 80 I. C. 527 :
1925 Lah. 145.

—S. 41 (3)—Appeal without certificate—Question of custom.

The question raised in appeal was the existence of a custom by which a Jat could contract a valid marriage with a Chhimbi woman whose first husband though alive, had repudiated her. Held, the words "notwithstanding anything in sub-section (1) of this section", with which sub-section (3) of S. 41 of the Punjab Courts Act commences preclude a Court of second appeal in the absence of a certificate from going into the question of whether the first appellate Court had erred in law or procedure. (Campbell, J.) LEHNA SINGH v. JAGAT RAM.

1923 Lah. 377.

—S. 41 (3)—Custom—Finding as to—Objections in second appeal—Certificate.

All that is laid down in S. 41 of the Punjab Courts Act is that no appeal lies to the High Court regarding the validity or existence of any custom without a certificate by the Judge of the Lower Appellate Court. There is no provision that when once an appeal has been properly filed, a certificate should be required at any subsequent stage of the hearing. The proviso to sub-sec. (3) lays down that an application under sub-sec. (3) shall not be received after the expiration of thirty days from the date on which the decree of the Lower Appellate Court was passed and this proviso, clearly shows that the provision as to a certificate was only intended to apply as a condition precedent to the filing of an appeal and not as a condition precedent to the challenging of a finding on a question of custom remanded to the Lower Appellate Court. Once an appeal has been legally instituted in the High Court the appellant can contest at the hearing any findings of the Lower Appellate Court as regards custom which are against him so long as he has taken exception to them in his grounds of appeal. This is his right and we do not think that it should be taken away from him unless there is a clear provision of the law to this effect. (Scott-Smith and Harrison, JJ.) RAM MEHR v. PALI RAM.

78 I. C. 404 : 6 Lah. L. J. 145 :
5 Lah. 268 : 1924 Lah. 455.

—S. 41 (3)—Order of District Judge granting certificate—Separate certificate not necessary.

A separate certificate is not required by S. 41 (3) of the Punjab Courts Act apart from the order granting the same. To meet the requirements of the section the application for the certificate can be read along with the order. (Martineau and Motisagar, JJ.) BASHU RAM v. PIARA CHAND.

PUNJAB LAND REV. ACT, S. 44.

75 I. C. 938.

—S. 44—'Case' meaning of.

The word case, as was held in 60 P.R. 1897, does not necessarily mean the whole case, but it must at least mean a particular branch of a case for which an independent remedy or different procedure is provided by the Code. An order that the suit can be brought in its present form, i.e., as a suit for administration and rendition of accounts is not open for revision, (Brasher, J.) ABDUL HAFIZ v. MT. RASHIDA KHATUM.

75 I. C. 662 : 1923 Lah. 288 (1).

PUNJAB CUSTOM ACT (II OF 1920), Ss. 5, 6—Scope of—Appointment of heir—Suit contesting.

Under S. 5 of Punjab Act II of 1920, nothing in the Act is to apply to any appointment of an heir by a female. S. 6 deals only with the case of an allegation that the appointment of an heir is contrary to custom. (Campbell, J.) RICHPAL v. MULA.

1924 Lah. 675 (1).

PUNJAB EXCISE ACT (I of 1914)—Possession of country liquor—Terms of the license.

1924 Lah. 73.

PUNJAB LAND ALIENATION ACT—Applicability.

The Land Alienation Act does apply to a case where the service of notice of foreclosure is effected within one year before the Act came into operation. The proceedings for the enforcement of foreclosure of mortgage comprising a stipulation of conditional sale remain pending until the year of grace has expired. (Le Rossignol and Harrison, JJ.) BAJRANGDAS v. GHANI RAM.

1923 Lah. 299 (2).

PUNJAB LAND REVENUE ACT (XVII OF 1887) S. 31 (2)—History of District—If part of, Record of Rights.

The History of a district attached to a Settlement Record does not form part of the Record of Rights as it is not one of the documents specified in S. 31 (2) Punjab Land Revenue Act. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) MUHAMMAD KHAN v. SULTAN AZAM.

1924 Lah. 639.

—S. 44—Record of Rights—Entries—Weight due to—Extraneous matter—Pedigree—Record of.

An entry in a Record of Rights is not necessarily conclusive. It is an entry to which the presumption of correctness attaches under S. 44 of the Punjab Land Rev. Act until the contrary is proved by legal evidence. If the entries themselves are inconclusive or appear on the face of them to be erroneous, a Court would be justified in not accepting them. Where the lower appellate Court has held on evidence that the presumption of correctness attaching where entries in the Record of Rights has been relied on this is a question of fact which cannot be examined in second appeal. It is doubtful whether the presumption of correctness extends to entries in a pedigree and with reference to an extraneous matter, (Broadway and Fforde, JJ.) WALI MAHOMED v. MAHOMED BAKHSH.

5 Lah. 84 :
80 I. C. 998 : 1924 Lah. 444.

PUNJAB LAND REV. ACT, S. 117.

—S. 117—Revenue officer's order on title—Appeal—Forums.

An appeal from an order by a Revenue officer under S. 117 (2) of the Punjab Land Revenue Act lies to the District Court or High Court according to the value of the subject matter. Where the value is Rs. 1500 the appeal lies to the District Court. (Broadway and Abdul Raoof, JJ.) MT. BHAGWANI v. NET RAM.

82 I. C. 243 (1).

—S. 158—Suit for declaration that lands are Shamilat—If cognisable by Civil Court.

A suit for declaring that certain lands were Shamilat and were liable to partition on that basis is cognisable by a Civil Court. (Martineau and Zafar Ali, JJ.) GELA LAM v. SOHNA RAM.

78 I. C. 68.

—S. 158—Civil Court—Jurisdiction—Partition—Excess area allotted—Suit for.

Where on a partition of shamilat, more than the proper share is allotted to the defendant, a suit for recovery of the excess is not excluded from the jurisdiction of a civil court. (Moti Sagar, J.) KHANU v. RAJA. 78 I. C. 1029: 1925 Lah. 97.

—S. 158 (2) (xviii)—Civil Court—Jurisdiction—Suit for land wrongly allotted to defendant on partition.

Where a suit is filed for possession of land which is alleged to have been wrongly allotted to the defendant in partition proceedings, it falls within S. 158 (2) (xviii) of the Punjab Land Revenue Act and is not cognisable by a civil court. (Abdul Raoof and Moti Sagar, JJ.) AMIR KHAN v. HOWNA RAM. 76 I. C. 6: 1925 Lah. 37.

PUNJAB LIMITATION ANCESTRAL LAND ALIENATION ACT (I OF 1900), Sch. 1—Heir—Meaning of—Suit by remote reversioner for possession.

77 I. C. 274.

PUNJAB LIMITATION CUSTOM ACT, (I OF 1920)—Suit on behalf of minor reversioner instituted at date when suit by major reversioner would be barred. See CUSTOM. 6 L. J. 339.

PUNJAB MUNICIPAL ACT (III OF 1911), S. 3 (2)—Definition of building—Moveable wooden shed on wheels—Whether a "building"

The petitioner constructed on his own land, a wooden shed, which was not fixed to the ground, but was mounted on wheels. No notice of an intention to erect was given to the Municipality under S. 189 of the Punjab Municipal Act. The petitioner was prosecuted for having disobeyed the notice of the committee to demolish the shed under S. 195 of the Act. Held on revision, (1) That the shed in question was intended to be a permanent fixture to his site and would come within the wide definition of a 'building' in S. 3 (2) of the Act. The fact that its structure permitted it to be moved from one place to another did not render it inapplicable to the description "of hut or shed" (2) That structures not affixed to the soil should be held to be buildings in spite of the fact that they were not let into the ground. Stevens v. Guntay 1859 L. J. C. P. 1. and Richardson v. Brown. 49 J. P. 661 followed. (Campbell, J.) NANDU MAL v. MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE SIMLA. 5 Lah. 543.

PUNJAB MUN. ACT (III OF 1911), S. 175.

—S. 3 (13)(a)—Scope.

'Accessible to the public' means open to all the public in fact, whether by right or permission. (Shadilat, C. J. and Fforde, J.) ABDUL HUSSAN KHAN v. THE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, DELHI. 1923 Lah. 417.

—Ss. 33, 152 and 428—Powers of Municipal Committee—Delegation to President—Prosecution for offences under the Municipal Act. MT. GULZAR JAN v. EMPEROR. 1924 Lah. 80.

—Ss. 56 (4), 131—Private well—User by public—If vests in Municipality—Powers of latter.

The mere fact that the owner of a well allows the public to draw water from his well does not make it a public well and vest it in the Municipality. If it is kept in a state which would be injurious to the health or offensive to the neighbours, the Municipality can ask the owner to clear it or repair it. (Abdul Raoof and Lumsden, JJ.) NUR AHMAD KHAN v. MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, AMRITSAR. 1924 Lah. 511.

—Ss. 84 and 86—Scope of—Appeal against taxation—Right to contest legality—Jurisdiction of civil court

Sec. 84, Punjab Municipal Act, lays down the procedure to be adopted when a person wishes to contest the levy of any tax. Sec. 86 does not deprive persons of their ordinary remedies under Common Law such as by testing the legality of the action in a court of law. (Broadway, J.) THE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, PIND DADAN KHAN v. BHAGWAN SINGH. 1924 Lah. 619.

—S. 152—Keeping a brothel—Inmate of house committing prostitution—Owner if brothel keeper.

Where a person who lives in the house of another commits prostitution, the owner cannot be called a brothel keeper or the house a brothel. (Martineau, J.) MT. RAHTO v. EMPEROR. 25 Cr. L. J. 634: 81 I. C. 122: 1925 Lah. 146.

—S. 155—Scope of—Notice under.

No notice is necessary as a condition precedent for prosecuting those who violate ordinary rules of sanitation, but S. 155 contemplates only recent and temporary breach of the rules and the person prosecuted thereunder can successfully plead that he had been using the premises for the purpose objected to for a long period. (Zafar Ali, J.) ALLAH BAKSH v. EMPEROR. 77 I. C. 495. 25 Cr. L. J. 415: 1924 Lah. 670.

—S. 175—Encroachment—Order for removal—When court can question.

Where a municipal committee acting intra vires and without malice or dishonesty orders the removal of a structure as being an encroachment in a street, a civil court cannot question the same. (Harrison and Moti Sagar, JJ.) MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, JHANG v. DEVI DAL. 1924 Lah. 699.

—S. 175—Notice of removal of projection—Tender of compensation.

1924 Lah. 89.

PUNJAB MUNICIPAL ACT (III OF 1911), S. 189.

—Ss. 189 (3) & 193—Building not abutting a road—No conditions enforceable

The committee has no power to enforce conditions regulating the line of frontage unless the intended building abuts on a street. S. 193 empowers the committee to refuse sanction to build or grant sanction either absolutely or subject to such modification as it may deem fit in respect of all or any of the matters specified in sub-section 3 of S. 189. That is to say, the Committee may refuse permission to build at all, but if permission is granted it can only impose such conditions as are provided for in the sub-section. (Shadi Lal, C.J. and Fforde, J.) ABDUL HASSAN KHAN v. THE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, DELHI.

1923 Lah. 417.

—S. 214—Prohibiting prostitution being carried on within a specific area—No time fixed—Order of Secretary fixing time—Ultra vires.

A Municipal Committee passed a resolution prohibiting prostitution within a certain area, but did not fix a specific time after which it would be carried out. The Secretary fixed a period of 7 days for the coming into force of the prohibition. Held it was invalid. (Martineau J.) MT. RAHTO v. EMPEROR.

25 Cr. L. J. 634 : 81 I. C. 122 : 1925 Lah. 146.

—Ss. 219, 172 and 195—Composition order. THE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE, MULTAN v. MOTI RAM,

25 Cr. L. J. 373 : 77 I. C. 421.

—S. 242—Powers of Local Government—Imposition of taxes—Notified Areas. NOTIFIED AREA COMMITTEE, UNA v. AMAR SINGH.

1924 Lah. 361.

—S. 242 (1) (a)—Notification under—Profession tax—Naib Tahsildar liable to pay. PALA RAM v. THE NOTIFIED AREA COMMITTEE KOT-TADU.

1924 Lah. 147.

PUNJAB PRE-EMPTION ACT (II OF 1905), S. 3.

—Gopalpur Tea gardens are agricultural lands.

Tea gardens of Gopalpur Tea Estate are agricultural lands within the meaning of S. 3, Sub-S. 1 of the Pre-emption Act. (Lord Sharn) KARU MAL v. SALIG RAM.

5 Lah. 50 :

3 M. L. T. (P.C.) 470 : (1924) M. W. N. 172 :

1924 P. C. 1 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 261 : L. R. 5 P.C. 55 :

51 I. A. 11 : 79 I. C. 946 : 1 O. W. N. 242 :

22 A. L. J. 40 : 46 M. L. J. 536.

—S. 15 (b)—Widow—If can pre-empt—Co sharer—Shamilat land. MT. AMER NISHAN v. KANSHI RAM.

1924 Lah. 333.

—S. 16 (2)—Scope of—Building or structure—What is—Owner's right of pre-emption.

1924 Lah. 172 : 5 L. J. 548.

—S. 22—Market value—Determination of

In a suit for pre-emption where the plaintiff impugns the price mentioned in the sale deed the onus is on the vendee to prove the price stated in the sale deed was actually paid apart from a mere public transfer before the sub-registrar. The price actually proved to have been paid is the best test of market value; but failing that, capitalisation of the rent fixed in a year affords a good basis. Records and rules do not afford a good test. (Pipon, J. C.) AHMADJI KHAN v. GULMIR.

75 I. C. 271.

PUNJAB PRE-EMPTION ACT (I OF 1913), S. 16.

—(I OF 1913) S. 3 (1)—Agricultural land—What is.

The question whether land is agricultural land for the purposes of the Punjab Pre-emption Act is one of law. The test to be applied is the use to which the land is put at the time of the sale. When it has not been used for agricultural purposes for more than 6 years preceding the sale, it is not agricultural. (Shadi Lal, C.J. and Le Rossignol, J.) GOPI MAL v. MUHAMMAD YASIN.

1924 Lah. 657 (1).

—S. 3 (2)—Village—What is.

The expression 'village' connotes ordinarily an area occupied by a body of men mainly dependant on agriculture or occupations subservient thereto. (Shadi Lal, C.J. and Le Rossignol, J.) DIWAN CHAND v. NIZAM DIN.

1924 Lah. 662 (1).

—S. 5 cl. (a)—Sale of a shop and a house—Right of pre-emption.

A property consisting of a shop and a house was sold for 2,700 Rupees. The question arose whether the property sold consisted of two units a shop and a house, or of one unit comprising both the shop and the house. The sale deed covered both properties but the properties were regarded as separate by the municipal committee who had given separate numbers to the two properties. They were also regarded as separate properties by the vendor inasmuch as a separate price was fixed in the deed for each property. There was a door of communication between the shop and the house but each property had a separate entrance. There was a common staircase leading to the roof of both properties and a common latrine on the roof of the shop. Held, that the properties consisted of two units and that the plaintiff's suit for pre-emption was maintainable only in respect of the house and not in respect of the shop. (Le Rossignol and Harrison, JJ.) NARAIN SINGH v. MUL SINGH.

6 Lah. L. J. 845 : 82 I. C. 596 :

1925 Lah. 126.

—S. 16—Applicability of—Sale of undivided share in joint urban property—Co-sharer—Ownership of joint wall.

There is no definition of co-sharer in the Punjab Pre-emption Act and it is not a term ordinarily used in statutes. Looking to the context of its appearance in other portions of the Act the intention of the Legislature was that the 1st clause of S. 16 should apply only to the sale of an undivided share or sharers in joint urban immoveable property and that the expression "co-sharer" should signify person owning a share or shares in the whole of the property or properties of which another share or other shares were the subject of sale. There is no authority for the proposition that a person who is a part owner of a small portion of one of the walls of a house, but has no rights of any kind in any other part whatsoever either of the building or of the site is entitled to call himself a co-sharer in the whole property within the meaning of S. 16 of the Act. The framers of the Act did not contemplate that when a house with a stair in a common stair-case was sold, the other owners of the stair-case should be regarded as co-sharers in the property sold and there is no reason for supposing that they intended ownership rights in a common wall to confer a higher status upon a pre-emptor than such rights in a common stair-case. (Broadway and Campbell, JJ.) RAJENDRA SINGH v. UMRAO SINGH. 5 Lah. 298.

PUNJAB PRE-EMPTION ACT (I OF 1913), S. 22.

—S. 22, Sub-S. (4)—Time fixed for payment—Default—Security—Acceptance of—Extension of time—C. P. Code, S. 99.

In a suit for pre-emption instituted on 3-11-1919 the court ordered on 11-11-1919 the deposit of 1/5th of the purchase money into Court by 2-12-1919. On 2-12-1919 the case was adjourned because it was found that the process fee for summoning the defendants had not been paid. The purchase money was not paid till 23-2-1920 when the plff. put in a security bond which the Court ordered to be put on record. Subsequently the defendant applied to reject the plaint but the trial Court refused to do so and decreed the suit. Held, though the court had received and placed on record the security bond on 23-2-1920, that did not raise any inference that the Court had altered its previous order or extended the time within the meaning of S. 22 Sub-S (4) of the Punjab Pre-emption Act. The provisions of the section requiring the rejection of the plaint are mandatory and the trial Court's omission to comply with the terms is not an irregularity which could be cured by S. 99, C.P. Code. Consequently the plaint was rejected on second appeal by the High Court. (Scott Smith and Eforde, JJ.) BAHADUR SHAH v. AHMAD SHAH. 5 Lah. 492.

—S. 22, Sub-S. (5), Cl. (a) and Sub-Ss. (2) and (1)—Deposit withdrawn after decree—Pre-emptor's claim is not liable to dismissal.

The word "so" in clause (a) refers to the preceding section and in the case of an appeal obviously relates to an action taken by an appellate Court under Sub-S (2). The object of an order under S. 22 (1) is to guarantee vendees against frivolous proceedings on the part of possible pre-emptors. The deposit is a token of good faith and once the pre-emptor has obtained a decree the need for a deposit no longer exists so far as the trial Court is concerned. No doubt such deposits are available for the discharge of costs [S 22 (3)] but such satisfaction is not the raison d'être of the deposit and there is nothing to suggest that a vendee appellant is entitled to any advantage of the kind. (Lumsden and Abdul Raoof, JJ.) SANWAL DAS v. JAIGO MAL. 1924 Lah. 68.

—S. 25—Debt—Meaning of.

Where the sale price represents mainly old debts which greatly exceed the market value of the property the Courts should fix the market value as the price and may put the vendee to the option specified in the proviso. The word "debt" in the proviso includes a mortgage debt. (Scott-Smith, J.) JUG LAL v. GANGA RAM. 1924 Lah. 716.

—S. 30—Report to patwari—If amounts to physical possession—Cultivated land—Nature of possession necessary.

In the case of uncultivated land physical possession can be taken even symbolically but there must be evidence of the same. Where lands sold were in the possession of a mortgagee and in the cultivating possession of tenant, they are incapable of being taken into physical possession. In such a case the mere reporting to the patwari that the vendor has relinquished possession and that the vendee has assumed it is no proof of the giving and taking of physical possession within the meaning of S. 30 of the Punjab Pre-emption Act. (Le Rossignol, J.) THAKUR SINGH v. KARAM SINGH. 82 I. C. 203 (2).

PUNJAB TENANCY ACT, S. 59.

—S. 30—Sale to lessee in possession—Suit for pre-emption—Physical possession.

It is impossible for a person to take physical possession of property of which he has already got physical possession e. g. as a lessee and limitation for a pre-emption suit when the land is sold to the lessee runs from the date of mutation under S. 30 pre-emption Act. (Moti Sagar, J.) SHEO RAM v. INDIRAJ. 78 I. C. 57 : 1925 Lah. 152 (2).

—S. 30—Vendee in possession as lessee—Suit for pre-emption—Limitation—Mutation.

Where land in the physical possession of a lessee is sold to him, limitation for a pre-emption suit will run not from the date of sale but from the date of mutation under S. 30 of the Punjab Pre-emption Act. (Martineau, J.) DHANNA v. LEKH RAM. 1924 Lah. 690.

PUNJAB REDEMPTION OF MORTGAGES ACT (II of 1913), Ss. 9 and 12—Dismissal of application for redemption—Effect.

Where an application for redemption is rejected by a Collector under Punjab Act II of 1913, the order becomes final unless it is challenged in the civil court. (Moti Sagar, J.) RAM CHAND v. KAURA. 1924 Lah. 690.

PUNJAB TENANCY ACT (XVI OF 1887), S. 5 (1) (d) —Jagirdar if includes muafidar—Occupancy rights.

A muafidar is included in the term Jagirdar in S. 5 (1) (d) of the Punjab Tenancy Act and when he has occupied the land for more than 20 years, he cannot be ejected at the mere pleasure of the proprietors. (Campbell, J.) DESU v. CHUHAN SINGH. 1924 Lah. 606.

—Ss. 50 (b) and 77 (3) (g)—Suit by tenant—Ejectment by Landlord—Revenue or Civil Court.

An occupancy tenant who is wrongly dispossessed by his landlord can maintain a suit or possession only in a Revenue Court even if he sues after the period of one year fixed in S. 50 (b) of the Punjab Tenancy Act. The Civil Court has no jurisdiction to try such a case. (Abdul Raoof and Campbell, JJ.) MAHINDAR SINGH v. ALLAH DITTA. 1924 Lah. 539.

—S. 59—Succession to occupancy tenancy—Collaterals—Whole blood and half blood.

Succession to an occupancy tenancy is governed by S. 50, Punjab Tenancy Act, but the rights of collaterals inter se is governed by custom and the whole blood relations exclude the half blood ones. (Broadway and Zafar Ali, JJ.) PHOLO RAM v. SURJAN. 78 I. C. 450.

PUNJAB TENANCY ACT, S. 77.

—Ss. 77 and 98—Revenue Court—Suit by mortgagee for ejectment—Relationship of landlord and tenant.

Where a mortgage with possession is followed by a lease in favour of the mortgagor, a suit in ejectment by the mortgagee is cognisable by a Revenue Court. In such cases the court has to see from the plaint, the mortgage and the plaintiff's evidence if he is actually a landlord. If it comes to the conclusion he is not a landlord and dismisses the suit, it does not bar the plaintiff from suing in a Civil Court on the mortgage, as the finding does not operate as res judicata. (Pipon, J. C.) MIAN FEROZE SHAH v. SOHBAT KHAN. 78 I. C. 423.

—S. 77 (3) Proviso 1—Suit for ejectment—Trespasser—Occupancy rights set up—Suit triable by Revenue Court.

In a suit in ejectment on the ground the defendants were trespassers, the plea of occupancy rights was set up in defence. Held, under proviso 1 to S. 77 (3) of the Punjab Tenancy Act the suit was cognizable only by a Revenue Court. (Abdul Raouf, J.) PARABH DAYAL v. MT. RADHO.

1924 Lah. 636.

PARDANASHIN—Deed by—Burden of proof.

In the case of deeds executed by pardanashin ladies, law casts the onus of proof on the person taking under the deed to show that the deed was not only executed but explained to them and that they understood the same. (Kinkaid, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) MT. BHAGBHARI v. MT. KHATUN. 80 I. C. 118.

PARDANASHIN LADY—Gift to her nephew—Suit to set aside—Undue influence—Burden of proof.

Where a lady was in the habit of transacting business, conducting monetary transactions and appearing in the public before strangers, the rule as to the presumptive incapacity of pardanashin woman does not apply to her. If she sues to set aside a gift deed executed by her in favour of her nephew, the burden of proving that she was in a weak state of intellect and subject to undue influence is upon her. Even if the onus was on the donee, it was amply proved by the evidence in the case that the donor was perfectly aware of the nature and consequences of her act when she executed the deed of gift and that it was a gift made by her of her own initiative and not in any way induced by undue influence or pressure from the donee or persons acting on his behalf. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, JJ.) SRI RAM v. NAND KISHORE. 5 Lah. 465 : 1925 Lah. 196 (2).

—Settlement—Independent advice—Proof of—Person in fiduciary position.

Where it is sought to rely on a settlement deed executed by an old pardanashin lady, the presence or absence of independent advice is a very important element to be taken into consideration in determining whether or not the court ought to countenance the execution of such a document. The possession of independent advice or the absence of it is a fact to be taken into consideration and well-weighed on a review of the whole circumstances relevant to the issue of whether the grantor thoroughly comprehended and deliberately and of her own free will, carried out the transaction. The burden of proof in such a case rests not with those who attack, but those who found upon, the deed, and the proof must go so far as to show affirmatively and conclusively that the deed was not only not executed by, but was explained to and was really understood by the party. Where there is a fiduciary relationship between the parties to the document, it is essential that there should have been independent advice or that at the time when the deed was executed, the lady should have been emancipated from the influence which attached to the position of special confidence which was possessed by the other party to the deed. (Saunderson, C. J. and Walmsley, J.) BHOLA NATH SEAL v. BHUTH NATH SEN. 40 C. L. J. 393 : 1925 Cal. 239.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 3.

RAILWAY—Liability of Railway Company—Package booked under Risk Note Form B—Loss of consignment—Wilful neglect of or theft by Company's servants—Finding based on absence of evidence—Second Appeal.

It is extremely difficult, nay, impossible for a consignor to prove wilful neglect or theft by the Railway Company's servants and the evidence afforded by the Company's servants must always be received in favour of the consignor.

Where a package booked under the Risk Note Form B. was put into a wagon at a certain station and a seal was fixed on that wagon before starting which was found broken at an intermediate station and another seal was discovered at the destination where the package was found missing.

Held, that the loss of the package was due either to the wilful neglect of duty by the Company's servants or to theft by one of them.

If there is an absence of evidence, the finding can be set aside in second appeal as defective on a ground of law. (Dalal, J. C.) SHIV NARAYAN v. G. I. P. Ry. Co. 1 O. W. N 763 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1069.

—Negligence—Duty to ensure safety of passengers and property—Extent of. See DAMAGES. 51 C. 861.

—Risk note Form B.—Damages for unreasonable delay. 1924 A. 8.

—Risk-note B—Liability for loss

Where a consignment of goods sent under Risk-Note B is lost, the Railway Company is liable only for the loss of a complete consignment or of one or more complete packages and not for damage due to exposure to rain. (Suhrawardy, J.) EAST INDIAN RAILWAY CO. v. KUSHABRAM GOPIRAM. 78 I. C. 413.

—Risk rates and ordinary rates—Destruction of goods—Liability—Burden of proof.

22 A. L. J. 1 : 46 A. 161 : 78 I. C. 892 : 1924 A. 254.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 3 (7)—Railway servant—Person employed to pass sleepers—Position of.

Where a person is engaged by a Railway Company for passing sleepers and he is paid by results partly by the Railway Company and partly by a private contractor who supplies the sleepers, he is an employee of the Railway within S. 3 of

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 42.

the Railways Act. (Carr. J.) A. V. JOSEPH v. J. L. LAMMOND. 3 Bur. L.J. 147 : 1924 Rang. 373 (2)

—S. 42 (2)—Delivery of railway wagons to a colliery—Allotment of excess wagons by a Railway company's servant—Injury to reputation of the Railway Company—No offence. See PENAL CODE, Ss. 415, 417 and 420. 51 Cal. 250.

—Ss. 42 (2), 47 and 109—Railway compartment—Reservation of, for Europeans—Legality of—Refusal to vacate—Offence—Conviction.

It cannot be said that the act of the Railway Company in reserving a compartment in trains carrying passengers for Europeans only is illegal, unauthorised and ultra vires of the statutory power conferred on the railway company by law. The accused was found seated in a compartment of a third class Railway carriage marked for Europeans with some other passengers all of whom were attired in Indian dress. A ticket examiner asked the accused to vacate the compartment but he refused saying that he had a right to occupy the compartment. He was convicted and fined Rs. 5. On revision. Held that the conviction was legal and valid.

A railway company has an inherent right to regulate its own traffic in its own way and the reservation of a compartment for a particular class of persons or passengers is not undue preference. 45 B. 1324 : 47 B. 465 : 45 M. 215 : 42 A 327 Ref. (Suhrawardy and Cuming, JJ.) BHUPENDRA KUMAR DUTT v. EMPEROR 51 Cal. 168 : 81 I. C. 788 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1012 : 1924 Cal. 687 : 39 C. L. J. 107 : 28 C. W. N. 388.

—S. 72—Burden of proof. 1924 P. 315.

—Ss. 72 and 76—Consignment of goods—Risk note—Suit for compensation for loss—Onus NARAYANA AIYAR v. SOUTH INDIAN RAILWAY CO. 1924 Mad. 388.

—Ss. 72 and 76—Consignment—Risk Note B—Loss of—Suit for damages—Loss by theft admitted—Negligence.

In a suit for compensation for loss of goods consigned to a Railway Company under Risk Note B, it is enough if the latter pleads loss and not let in evidence that the goods are not in its possession. An admission by the Company that goods were lost by theft does not amount to proof of wilful neglect. (Macpherson, J.) SRI NEWAS SITARAM v. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY. 78 I. C. 479.

—Ss. 72 and 76—Delay in delivery—Damages—Liability for—Risk Note B.

Where goods consigned under Risk Note B are unreasonably delayed in delivery, the consignor is entitled to damages for such delay and the company is not exempted by anything in the Risk Note. What is unreasonable delay would depend on the circumstances of each case. (Kinkhede, A.J.C.) EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY v. MURADALI. 1924 Nag. 425.

—S. 72—Endorsee can sue for short delivery.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 72.

Title of the consignor can be conveyed to another person by an endorsement on the railway receipt. The endorsee of such a receipt has sufficient interest in the goods covered by it to maintain an action for damages against the Railway Company, the carrier of the goods. 38 Bom. 659. Dist. (Dalal, J.) PEARE LAL GOPI NATH v. THE E. I. R. COMPANY. 46 A. 691 :

22 A. L. J. 663 : 82 I. C. 351 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 883 : 1924 A. 574 : L. R. 5 A. 483.

—Ss. 72, 77 and 140—Goods consigned by railway—Loss—Liability of Railway—Notice of suit—Notice to agent.

In a suit for the value of a consignment of ghee sent by the defendant railway and lost, it was found that the wagon containing the ghee was sealed but not locked. The train halted for several hours at a particular station and there were no chaukidars keeping watch on the train during the period. Held that under these circumstances the loss must be attributed to the wilful neglect of the Railway Co. & that it was therefore liable in damages under the risk-note. The loss was not due to theft from a running train within the meaning of the risk-note and therefore the Railway company could not escape liability. Where notice of the claim is addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India, Railway Department, instead of the Agent of the Railway but the addressee acknowledged receipt of the notice and informed the claimant that it had been sent to the Agent of the Railway. Held that there was a sufficient notice under Ss. 77 and 140 of the Railways Act. 26 B. 669 Rel. (Martineau, J.) SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. CHARANJIT LAL. 6 Lah. L. J. 237 : 79 I. C. 428 : 1924 Lah. 594.

—S. 72—Liability of company.

The liability of a Railway Company under S. 72 of the Railways Act is that of a bailee under Ss. 151, 152 and 161 of the Contract Act. The company is bound to take such care of the goods bailed to them as a man of ordinary prudence would of his own goods and in the absence of any special contract they are not under an obligation to do more. (Baker, J. C.) THE ROHILKHUND AND KUMAON RY. CO. v. ZIHRUS SYED ALVI. 1924 Nag. 358.

—S. 72—Loss of goods—Liability of Railway—Risk Note Form B—Loss in ware-house.

A railway company, when entrusted to carry goods from one station to another had, under S. 72 of the Railways Act, the liability of a Bailee. The company however can contract itself out of that liability by a special contract in one of the forms recognised by Government. Under Risk Note (B) the consignor holds the company harmless and free from all responsibility for any loss, destruction, or deterioration of, or damage to the said consignment, from any cause whatever, except for the loss of a complete consignment or of one or more complete packages forming part of a consignment, due either to the wilful neglect of the railway administration or to theft by or to the wilful neglect of its servants during and after transit over the said railway for the carriage of the whole or any part of the said consignment, provided the term "wilful neglect" be not held to include fire, robbery, from a running train or other unforeseen events or accidents. Where therefore all the bags consigned under a risk-note in that from arrived at the station of destination and none of the bags were missing, the railway company cannot be held liable even though it is found that some of the bags had become damaged owing to the wilful neglect of the railway company or its servants. Till the delivery of the consignment to the consignee the liability of the railway company continues to exist and in the interval between the arrival of the consignment at the station of destination and its delivery to the consignee, the liability of the railway company is not that of a warehouse man. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) EAST INDIAN RY. CO. v. LAL JANKI PRASAD. L. R. 5 A. 586 : 80 I. C. 737 : 1924 A. 603.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 72.

———S. 72—Loss of goods—Suit for damages—Risk Note Form B—Onus of proof.

46 A. 125 : 79 I. C. 341 : 1924 A. 177.

———S. 72—Loss of goods—Risk Note B—Suit for damages—Burden of proof.

Where goods consigned under Risk Note B are not delivered and a suit for damages is filed, the plaintiff has to prove how the loss occurred. He must prove wilful neglect or theft by Railway servants and the mere fact the Company sets out to prove a case of robbery from a running train does not shift the onus from the plaintiff. (Odgers, J.) MADRAS AND SOUTHERN MAHRATTA RY. CO. v. KRISHNASWAMI CHETTY.

79 I. C. 137 : 1925 Mad. 133.

———S. 72—Loss of goods—Wilful neglect—Burden of proof.

In a suit for a damages for loss of goods consigned for carriage, the burden is on the plaintiff to prove wilful neglect on the part of the Railway. Where in spite of frequent thefts on its lines, the company did not lock the van in which the goods were placed and they were lost, it is sufficient proof of wilful neglect. (Sulaiman and Mukerjee JJ.) B. N. W. RAILWAY v. MANORATH BHAGAT DHIAN RAM.

22 A. L. J. 1035 : 1925 A. 172.

———S. 72—Loss—What is—Onus of proof.

The loss referred to in S. 72 and other sections of Chapter VII Railways Act is the loss suffered by the consignor or the true owner where such loss occurred by reason of misdelivery or non-delivery. The word "loss" in a Risk-note is not confined to the case of involuntary or unwilling parting with the things with reference to which the word is used. Where loss of packages consigned is admitted by the plaintiffs, the onus is on them to prove wilful neglect on the part of the railway or theft or negligence on the part of the servants or agents. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) EAST INDIAN RAILWAY CO. v. NETRAM GANESH LAL.

1924 Pat. 812.

———S. 72—Loss—Meaning of—Risk Note B—Onus of proof of loss.

The term "loss" as used in the Risk Note Form B and Chapter VII of the Railways Act does not mean pecuniary or other loss suffered by the owner of the goods though being wrongfully deprived of the possession, use and enjoyment thereof, but means loss of the goods by the Railway Company while in transit, and such "loss" occurs whenever the Railway Company to which the goods have been consigned for conveyance, involuntarily, or through inadvertence, loses possession of goods, and for the time being is unable to trace them. The term denotes a fact and not a cause of action. It is inaccurate to affirm that goods, which are not duly delivered or misdelivered are lost or are not lost. The true view is that in either case the goods may or may not be lost and proof of non-delivery or misdelivery is by no means conclusive evidence as to whether or not a loss has occurred; from such evidence alone an inference cannot reasonably be drawn that goods have been lost. (Suhrawardy and Page, JJ.) EAST INDIAN RY. CO. v. JAGPAT SINGH.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 72.

51 Cal. 615 : 28 C. W. N. 1001 : 79 I. C. 126 : 1924 Cal. 725.

———S. 72—Railway—Consignment of goods—Risk Note Form B—Protection under when available to Railway Company—Liability of consignor—Ratification. 1924 P. 25.

———S. 72—Railway—Risk Note Form B—Loss of goods—Meaning of. 1924 A. 7.

———S. 72—Risk Note Form B—Agreement limiting liability of railway—Form of—Estoppel—Representation.

S. 72 of the Railways Act requires that an agreement limiting the responsibility of the railway shall be in writing. To sign a blank paper on which an agreement is afterwards written is not the same thing as executing an agreement in writing. Neither is it sufficient to sign a printed form in which no details relating to the particular consignment are recorded. Where the consignor's agent represented to the railway that he was booking the goods at owner's risk subject to the conditions embodied in the contract in Risk Note Form B and the railway accepted the goods on the strength of that representation and conveyed them at a lower rate than it would have charged otherwise. Held that the consignor was thereafter estopped from denying that he agreed that the goods should be conveyed under the condition contained in the risk-note. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) FIRM OF RAGHUNANDAN RAM GOPI RAM v. G. I. P. RAILWAY. L. R. 5 A. 396 : 22 A. L. J. 645 :

81 I. C. 1 : 46 A. 649 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 718 : 1924 A. 692 (2).

———Ss. 72 and 76—Risk Note B—Goods despatched diverted off the ordinary track—Suit for damages.

Goods were sent under Risk Note B Form from one station to another. By a mistake the goods were taken entirely off the route expressly or impliedly indicated and reached the consignee late. In a suit for damages for delay and deterioration, held, the company was not protected by the Risk Note B, as the diversion from the route was not "in transit" as contemplated by the note. (Boys, J.) JANKI DAS GOVIND RAM v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

22 A. L. J. 1020 : 1925 A. 10.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 72.

—S. 72—'Risk note'.—Scope of—Whether delay in transit and consequent fall in price constitutes 'deterioration' or 'loss'.

Owing the misdirection in transit 125 bags of sugar booked on 28-10-1920 were delivered to the plaintiffs three months after the due date. Owing to fall in the price of sugar in the meantime, plaintiff sued the Railway Company for damages for late delivery. The Ry. Company contended that it was exempt from liability under the Risk Note Form B under which the goods were booked. Under the Risk Note, the company was to be free from responsibility for any loss or deterioration of the consignment.

Held, on appeal, that the fall in the market price of goods was not a 'deterioration' of the consignment. That the term 'loss' was not meant to include delay in delivery.

Wilson v. The Lancashire and Yorkshire Ry. Com. (1861) 3 O. L. J. C. 232. Hill, Sanyas & Co. v. Secy. of State referred to Madras Ry. Coy. v. Govinda Rao, 21 M. 172 dissented from. Held, also that S. 72 of the Railways Act would not be a bar to suit for damages. (Martineau and Moti Sagar, JJ.) E. I. Ry. Company v. Diano Mal Gulab Singh. 5 Lah. 523.

—S. 72—Railway—Risk Note Form B—Compensation for non-delivery—Refusal to reweigh. 1924 P. 39.

—S. 72—Risknote—Signature by agent—Consignor if bound. 1924 P. 315.

—S. 72—Scope and object of.

Per Page, J.—The object and effect of S. 72 of the Railways Act was to limit the liability of Railway Companies during the transit of goods consigned to them for carriage and to substitute the obligations of a bailee for the obligations of an insurer of such goods, which, prior to the passing of that Act, were imposed upon them under the common law. The section was enacted to confer a benefit on Railway Companies and except in cases where the plaintiff admits that the goods have been lost, a Railway Company is not entitled to rely upon the provisions of the Risk Note which pro tanto exempt it from liability unless and until evidence has been adduced which satisfies the Court that a loss has occurred. The object and effect of the section was not to provide compensation for pecuniary losses suffered by the owners of goods consigned for conveyance to a Railway Company but to lessen the burden of the obligation which, prior to the passing of S. 72, had laid on Railway Companies as insurers of such goods. (Suhrawardy and Page JJ.) THE EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY v. JAGPAT SINGH. 51 Cal. 615; 28 C. W. N. 1001; 79 I. C. 126; 1924 Cal. 725.

—S. 72—Suit for damages for loss of goods—Strike of Railway employees—If exonerates from liability—Risk-note.

In a suit for damages for loss of goods consigned, it is an unjustified inference to draw from the fact that there was a strike on the railway then that loss must have been due to that.

Where a risk-note is relied upon to exonerate the company from liability, it must have been signed by the consignor or some person on his behalf. (Foster, J.) ARJUN DAS GULAB RAI v. E. I. RAILWAY CO. 1924 P. 811.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 76.

—S. 72 (2) (a)—Protection from liability—Agreement signed by person who delivers goods.

Under S. 72 (2) the Railway Company is protected by an agreement signed either by the person sending the goods or the person delivering the same to the company. (Greaves and Chakravarty, JJ.) HARI SHANKAR RAJ CHANDRA DALAL v. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY. 80 I. C. 705 (2); 1925 Cal. 308.

—S. 72 (2) (a)—Risk Note B—Agreement signed by broker employed by the consignor's servant, whether valid—Suit for damages for loss of package in transit—Burden of proof.

S. 72 (a) of the Indian Railways Act (IX of 1890) provides for the signing of the agreement by the person actually delivering the package to the Railway Administration. Therefore a Risk Note B signed by a broker who had been employed by the servant of the consignor to deliver the package would be valid and binding on the consignor and the consignee.

In a suit for damages against a Railway Company for loss of the consignment despatched under Risk Note B, the burden of proof that the loss was caused by the wilful negligence of the Railway Administration or the wilful negligence of or theft by its servants lies on the consignee. (Dalal, J. C.) BADRI NARAYAN v. AGENT B. N. W. Ry. 1 O.W. N. 760.

—S. 75—Gold and silver—Mixed in medicine—Declaration.

Where gold and silver were used in their metallic form in making certain pills used as medicine, it cannot be said that they are "gold and silver coined or uncoined manufactured or unmanufactured" within the meaning of S. 75 of the Railways Act. Consequently the omission of a consignor of the medicines to declare that the consignment contained gold and silver did not disentitle him from suing the Railway Company for damages for loss of the consignment. (Page, J.) NARENDRA NATH SEW v. EAST INDIAN RY. CO., LTD. 51 I. C. 929; 1925 Cal. 115.

—Ss 76 and 72—Applicability—Risk Note Form B—Loss of goods—Suit for damages—Burden of proof.

S. 76 of the Railways Act does not apply to contracts limiting the liability of the Railway Company under S. 72 of the Act. Where goods are consigned under Risk Note B and are lost, in a suit for damages the plaintiff has to prove the loss was due to wilful negligence of the Company. (Suhrawardy, J.) EAST INDIAN RAILWAY CO. v. SIB PROSAD DUTT RAI. 78 I. C. 449; 1925 Cal. 306.

—S. 76—Risk Note Form B—Consignment of goods by railway—Deviation from prescribed route—Shortage—Liability for.

The plaintiff delivered seven bags of miscellaneous goods to the defendant Railway Company for carriage from Bombay to Dhulia via Chaisgaon. He signed Risk Note in Form B. Six bags were correctly delivered at Dhulia. One bag, instead of being taken out at Chalisgaon, was carried on to Jalgaon, and some days afterwards was brought back and delivered to the plaintiff. Plaintiff complained of a shortage in the contents. The defendant Railway Company admitted the shortage, but claimed exemption from liability on the strength of the risk note. Held, that there was a clear deviation from the route originally intended when the goods were delivered for transit and that in these circumstances the onus would lie upon the Railway Company, if they claimed exemption under the Risk Note, to prove that the shortage had not occurred during the deviation. 33 M. 120 Dist., 24 Bom. L. R. 316 followed. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) LAXMI-NARAYAN BIJRAM v. G.I.P. RY. CO.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 76.

26 Bom. L. R. 285 : 80 I. C. 256 : 1924 Bom. 386.

S. 76—Risk Note—Liability under.

The ordinary liability under S. 76 Railways Act. is limited by the special agreement entered into by and between the parties under a Risk Note in Form B. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY v. NETRAM GANESH LAL.

1924 F. 812.

S. 76—Suit for damages—Risk Note B—Plaintiff's admission of loss—Plaintiff to prove neglect.

In a suit for damages for non-delivery of goods consigned under Risk Note B, where the plaintiff itself admits the loss, the onus is on the plaintiff to prove that the loss is due to the neglect of the Railway Administration, etc. Where loss is not admitted, the Railway Company has to prove the same. (Suhrawardy and Choizner, JJ.) GANESH LAL v. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY.

80 I. C. 426 : 1925 Cal. 299 (1).

Ss. 77 and 140—Claim for — Compensation—Loss of goods—Notice to Traffic Manager—If sufficient.

In the case of a claim for compensation for goods lost in transit, notice of the claim must be sent to the Agent of the company within six months of the delivery. Service on a subordinate official is not service upon the Agent, unless it is shown on evidence that the Agent had invested the subordinate with authority to receive service on his account. (Moti Sagar, J.) PARAS DAS MANU LAL v. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY.

1924 Lah. 504.

S. 77—Consignments of different dates—One notice and one suit—If sufficient.

In respect of different consignments made on various dates which were all lost in transit, it is open to the consignor to issue one notice in respect of all the claims. In such a case he cannot maintain separate suits in respect of the several claims. (Das and Ross, JJ.) EAST INDIAN RAILWAY CO. v. AHMADI KHAN.

78 I. C. 415 : 1924 Pat. 175 : 1924 P. 596.

S. 77—Goods consigned to railway not delivered to consignee—Remedy of Consignor—Notice to Railway Company.

A cask of methylated spirit was consigned from Cawnpore to the plaintiff at Roorkee on 25-7-1921. The consignment never reached its destination and was perhaps lost in transit. In June 1922

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 77.

the plaintiff was given delivery of a cask which on being opened was found to contain water. He thereupon brought a suit for damages against the Railway Company and the latter pleaded S. 77 of the Railways Act in bar of the claim. Held, that the plaintiff's remedy was when the six months were about to expire and the goods had not been delivered to him, to give notice to the agent under S. 77 and so preserve his right of suit. Not having done so, plaintiff's claim was barred. (Dalal, J.C.) MOTI LAL v. AGENT O. R. RAILWAY.

L. R. 5 A. 334 : 79 I. C. 893 : 1924 A. 617.

S. 77—Loss of goods—Carried by railway—Risk Note form B—Liability of—Railway company—Burden of proof.

Where in a suit for damages for loss of goods conveyed by a railway under the terms of a risk-note in form B, the plaintiff depends for his cause of action on wilful neglect on the part of either the railway administration or any of its servants, he cannot succeed if it is shown that the loss of the goods was due to theft from a running train. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) FIRM OF GOPAL RAI PHUL CHAND v. G. I. P. RY.

L. R. 5 A. 575 : 82 I. C. 313 : 1924 A. 621.

S. 77—Loss—Meaning of—Notice—When necessary—Period of limitation.

The term "loss" in S. 77 means loss to the Company and not simply loss to the consignor. When the burden of the notice is laid on the consignor, the words of the section must be construed strictly. Unless the company alleges and proves the article has been lost, no notice is necessary in a case where the defence of the company is that no such article was given for carriage.

In cases where notice is necessary, such notice must be given within 6 months of the date of consignment. (Dalal, J.) BADRI PRASAD v. G. I. P. RAILWAY.

22 A. L. J. 897 : L. R. 5 A. 665 : 80 I. C. 725 : 1925 A. 144.

S. 77—Notice of claim—Nature of proof.

It is not necessary that the claimant against a Railway Company should give the notice of claim personally to the Agent. If he gives it to any subordinate official, he must prove that the notice reached the proper authority in time. (Kennedy, A. J. C.) FIRM OF BIRDICHAND POONAMCHAND v. SECRETARY OF STATE AND B. B. C. I. RY.

78 I. C. 735 : 1925 Sindh 62.

S. 77—Notice—Suit for compensation for non-delivery.

1924 P. 315.

S. 77—Railway—Consignment of goods Risk Note Form A—Loss of goods—Delay in transit—Liability of Railway in damages.

In a risk-note in Form A in respect of goods consigned by a railway, the special contract contained in the document is merely intended to protect the railway from responsibility for any loss or damage that may result to the goods from defective packing and consequent leakage or wastage in transit. A railway company is bound to deliver goods within a reasonable time and is liable to pay compensation for loss caused by delay which it is unable to explain. A risk-note in Form A does not protect the railway company against the consequences of delay in transit. 20 A. L. J. 114; 20 A. L. J. 973; 21 A. L. J. 220; 21 A. L. J. 448, referred to. (Neave, J.) B. N. W. RAILWAY v. MUNNA LAL BISHAMBHAR NATH.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 77.

22 A. L. J. 769; L. R. 5 A. 579; 80 I. C. 19; 1924 A. 760.

—Ss. 77 and 140—Railway—Goods entrusted for transport—Loss in transit—Damages for—Suit for—Limitation—Starting point—Limitation Act, Art. 31—Applicability—Onus of proof in such suit—Entrustment under Owner's risk note—Effect—Theft from running train—Meaning Subordinate officer like District Traffic Superintendent—Notice to—Validity—Conditions.

Where goods are entrusted for transport to a Railway Company under an agreement providing that, in consideration of the carriage of the goods at a lower rate, the consignee has no right to compensation for loss of the goods except in the event of wilful neglect of the railway administration or theft by or wilful neglect of its servants during transit, and that a robbery from a running train does not constitute wilful neglect, the consignee suing the Company for damages for the loss of the goods in transit is under a duty to prove neglect on the part of the Company. It will be open to the Company to say that the goods were lost by theft while the train was running, in which case, they will, as a matter of course, be exempted from liability but the burden of proof on this point lies on the Railway Company. Theft of goods from a wagon during transit is theft from a running train even if the theft got into the wagon before the train started.

The article of Limitation Act applicable to a suit by a consignee for damages for the loss of goods in transit is Art. 31, the starting point being the date when the Railway Company finally says that the goods cannot be delivered.

A notice under Ss. 77 and 140 of the Railways Act of 1890, given to a Subordinate officer like the District Traffic Superintendent, is not valid unless there is evidence (1) either that the power of the Agent to receive notices under S. 140 had been delegated to the subordinate officer who actually received the notice, or (2) that the Company by its rules or course of business, had held out to the public that notices might be given to such an officer instead of to the Agent and thus estopped itself from raising a technical defence. (Waller, J.) THE SOUTH INDIAN RAILWAY COMPANY v. NARAYANA IYER 34 M. T. T. (H.C.) 303.

1924 Mad. 567; 77 I. C. 511; 46 M. L. J. 302.

—S. 77—Risk Note B—Loss of consignment—Negligence—Liability of Railway.

Risk Note in Form B protects the Railway Company in case of loss of goods even if the loss of goods was due to their negligence unless there was loss of a complete consignment or one or more complete packages. (Daniels, J.) JAGANNATH PRASAD v. EAST INDIAN RAILWAY CO.

L. R. 5 A. 355; 1924 A. 521.

—S. 77—Suit for damages for short delivery—Notice if necessary.

S. 77, Railways Act, does not require a notice of claim to be served on the Railway Company in cases of suits for damages for short delivery of goods. (Kinkhede A.J.C.) SETH MULCHAND v. G. I. P. RY. 1924 Nag. 288.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 120.

—S. 77—Suit for damages—Short delivery—Onus of proof of loss—Wilful neglect—Risk note.

In a suit for damages for short delivery of goods, the Company must prove loss before relying on the exemption clause in a Risk note and then the plaintiff should prove wilful neglect in order to hold the company liable. (Kinkhede, A. J.C.) SETH MULCHAND v. G. I. P. RY.

1924 Nag. 288.

—S. 80—Goods carried over two railways—Right of suit for loss of goods.

Where goods are consigned to one Railway company for transit, but loss occurs while it is being actually carried over the lines of another Railway Administration, the latter is the agent of the former for the purpose of transit and a suit for damages will be against either. (Foster, J.) ARJUN DAS GULAB RAI v. E. I. RAILWAY CO. 1924 P. 811.

—S. 101—Railway servant—Breach of rule—Offence—Proof of.

The accused was convicted by a Magistrate of an offence under S. 101 in that while on duty he endangered the safety of railway passengers by disobeying a General Rule 247 (vii) made by the Company and sanctioned, published and notified as required by the Railways Act IX of 1890. Held setting aside the conviction, that it was incumbent on the prosecution before it could obtain a conviction to prove (1) that the accused committed a breach of the rule and (2) that he endangered the safety of passengers thereby. A mere breach of rule is not sufficient to support a conviction under S. 101 of the Railways Act but it must be shown that the breach of this particular rule actually endangered the safety of passengers (Dalal, A. J. C.) PARBHU DAYAL v. EMPEROR. 26 O. C. 363; 81 I. C. 917; 25 Cr. L. J. 1093; 1924 Oudh 250.

—S. 101—Station-master—Omission endangering human safety—Liability of station master.

Where a station master after giving a signal that the railway line was clear for a train to pass omitted to set the points, a precaution which would prevent the train from running into another train he must be deemed guilty of an act which endangered the safety of the persons in the trains. The station master is not merely bound to give the proper orders but also to see that they are properly carried out. (Waish and Kyves, JJ.) EMPEROR v. SHEO BARAN SINGH 22 A. L. J. 20; L. R. 5 A. 105 (Cr.); 81 I. C. 705; 25 Cr. L. J. 993; 1924 All. 438.

—S. 120 (b)—Conviction under—Words of abuse not in evidence—Effect.

A conviction under S. 120 (b) cannot be sustained when the particular words used are not in evidence. A mere statement of witnesses that words of abuse were used cannot be the basis of a conviction. (Campbell, J.) BUDHA SINGH v. THE CROWN. 6 Lah. L. J. 459; 1925 Lah. 151.

RAILWAYS ACT, S. 140.

—S. 140—Notice to Traffic Manager—If notice to Agent—Proof of authorisation to receive notice. See RAILWAYS ACT, SS. 77. AND 140.

76 I. C. 1.

RANGOON MUNICIPAL ACT (VI OF 1922), S. 80 (3)
—Gross annual rent—What it includes.

For the purpose of municipal assessment the gross annual rent does not include what are known as occupier's taxes such as lighting, water or conservancy charges and as such the latter must be excluded. (Young and Baguley, JJ.) THE SURATEE BARA BAZAR CO v. MUNICIPAL CORPORATION OF RANGOON.

3 Bur. L. J. 221 : 1925 Rang. 115.

—S. 2—Requirements of business—Landlord's motive—Materiality of—Determination of tenancy.

1924 Rang. 64.

RANGOON RENT ACT (BURMA ACT II OF 1920), S. 10—Partnership business—Removal of—Premises not required for personal use—Mainly required for partner's separate business and landlord's own business.

Where the premises sought to be recovered in ejectment are not required for the residence of the landlord or any other member of his family but for the landlord's and the separate business of his managing partner and his family and partly for the partnership business of the landlord the premises cannot be said to be reasonably and bona fide required by the landlord within the meaning of S. 10 of the Rangoon Rent Act. (Heald and May Oung, JJ.) LIM. CHWE HTAW v. LU TYAW TAT.

3 Bur. L. J. 67 : 1924 Rang. 277.

—S. 10—Requiring property for purposes of supervision—If sufficient.

1924 Rang. 164.

—S. 10—Guardian of minor—If can sue in ejectment. MAUNG PE THEIN v. S. BOON KYAN.

1924 Rang. 163 : 79 I. C. 505 : 1 Rang. 772.

—(Amended) S. 10—Tenant on daily rent letting to sub-tenant—Whether tenant is landlord and entitled to recover premises in ejectment from sub-tenant.

A tenant on daily rent is a transferee for valuable consideration within the meaning of amended S. 10 of the Rangoon Rent Act, 20, and may maintain a suit to recover the demised premises in ejectment from his sub-tenant. Where such premises are required for the use of the tenant's workmen for the purpose of his business it is equivalent to an occupation by himself. (Lentaigne and Carr, JJ.) AZEE MEAH v. JEEWA.

3 Bur. L. J. 36 : 82 I. C. 381 : 1924 Rang. 278.

—S. 18—References under—Limitation Act, S. 5—Applicability of.

References from the order of the Rent Controller to the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court under S. 18 of the Rangoon Rent Act are not governed by S. 5 of the Lim. Act; such references are not in the nature of appeals. (Young and Baguley, JJ.) MIERS v. R. R. KHAN.

3 Bur. L. J. 157 : 1924 Rang. 377.

RECEIVER—Appointment of—Execution against property—Leave of court—Necessity for—Omission to obtain leave.

76 I. C. 241.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 2.

—Discharge of—Receiver appointed in pursuance of decree in scheme suit—Appeal against decree—Affirmance of decree on appeal—Effect on receivership.

A suit brought on the original side for a scheme to be framed in relation to a temple was decreed and a scheme framed. An appeal was lodged against that decree; but before the case came on in appeal, an application was made to a Judge sitting on the original side for the appointment of a receiver, and an order was made appointing a receiver. The appellate Court affirmed the decree of the Court below with slight modifications, with the result that the scheme framed by the trial Judge stood in operation as from the date fixed by his order with the modifications decreed by the Court of appeal. After the order in appeal, a Judge's summons was taken out on the original side for the discharge of the receiver on the sole ground that the effect of the order of the Court of appeal was to put an end to the receivership. Held, that the effect of the order of the Court of appeal was not ipso facto to discharge the receiver, and that the summons was therefore taken out on entirely wrong ground and must be dismissed. (Schwabe, C. J. and Waller, J.) DORAIVELU MUDALIAR v. AUDIKESAVALU NAIDU.

19 L. W. 388 : 1924 Mad. 557:

(1924) M. W. N. 235 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 90 :

78 I. C. 133 : 46 M. L. J. 343 :

—Mortgage suit—Final decree—Subsequent appointment of receiver of the properties of the mortgagors—Receiver proper party to execution proceedings—Refusal to add—Revision—C.P. CODE, S. 115.

47 Mad. 47

RECORDS—Re-construction of—Evidence necessary. See DECREE.

77 I. C. 258.

RECORD OF RIGHTS—Entries in—Correctness of—Suit challenging—Parties.

In a suit wherein the correctness of entries in the Record of Rights is challenged and for possession of lands, persons recorded therein as being in possession are necessary parties. (Jwala Prasad and Macpherson, JJ.) GOPAL OJHA v. RAMADHAR SINGH.

82 I. C. 204 : 1925 P. 228.

—Entries in—Presumption of correctness.

A plaintiff who wants to challenge the correctness of entries on the Record of Rights has the onus heavily on him. (Jwala Prasad and Macpherson, JJ.) GOPAL OJHA v. RAMADHAR SINGH.

82 I. C. 204 : 1925 P. 228.

REFORMATORY SCHOOLS ACT, S. 4—Applicability.

1924 Rang. 16.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 2 (7)—Agreement to execute lease—Conditional—If requires registration.

It is only when a present demise is contemplated that an agreement to execute a lease would amount to an agreement to lease within the meaning of S. 2 (7) Registration Act. An agreement to execute a lease under certain circumstances does not fall within this category and is not compulsorily registrable. (Kennedy, J. C. and Raymond, A. J. C.) AMIRBUX v. JANIMAL.

78 I. C. 71 : 1925 Sindh 54.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 3.

—Ss. 3 and 49—Lease Amalnamah—Unregistered—Admissibility in evidence.

An amalnamah is neither a lease nor an agreement to lease within the meaning of S. 3 of the Registration Act and it is consequently admissible in evidence without registration. 33 C. 502; 7 C. 703 Rel. But an amalnamah authorising the grantee to take possession of property and intended to be followed by a formal kabuliyat, if unregistered, is inadmissible under S. 49 of the Regn. Act as evidence of a transaction affecting the immoveable property comprised therein. (Mookerjee and Suhrawardy, JJ.) LAKSHAN CHANDRA MANDAL v. TAKHIM DHALI.

39 C.L.J. 90 : 28 C.W. N. 1033 : 1924 Cal. 558.

—S. 7 (2)—Sub-Registrar—If authorised can exercise powers of District Registrar.

Where the office of Sub-Registrar has been amalgamated with that of the Registrar, the Sub-Registrar may be authorised to exercise and perform, in addition to his own powers and duties, all or any of the powers and duties of the registrar to whom he is subordinate. But the mere fact that the Sub-Registrar had in fact authority to register the document, does not necessarily justify the inference that the document was validly registered by him as District Registrar. The Sub-Registrar must be given the opportunity to exercise the discretion which it would be incumbent upon him to exercise under S. 30 if he were called upon to register a document in respect of land not situated in his sub-district. (18 Cal. 556, Foll.) Mookerjee and Chotzner, JJ. KEDAR NATH DAS v. BIDHU BHUSHAN GUHA.

1924 Cal. 348.

—S. 17—Amalnamah—Registration.

An amalnamah which is neither a lease nor an agreement to lease which authorises the grantee to take possession and is intended to be followed by a formal Kabuliat is not compulsorily registrable and is admissible in evidence. (Mukerjee and Suhrawardy, JJ.) LUKHAN CHANDRA MONDAL v. TAKIM DHALI.

80 I. C. 357.

—S. 17—Award—If compulsorily registrable.

An award is not compulsorily registrable. (Baker, J. C.) KHETSINGH v. MANMODSINGH.

1924 Nag. 383.

—S. 17—Bahi—Entry as to family settlement. NARSINGH DAS v. UTTAM CHAND.

76 I. C. 852.

—S. 17—Co-mortgagors—Redemption by one—Assignment of right to recover contribution.

Where one co-mortgagor redeems the whole property, and assigns his right to recover contribution from his co-mortgagor, it is in law an assignment of a charge on immoveable property and if it is above Rs. 100, the deed requires registration. (Baker, O. J. C.) PARASHRAM v. BONDRUSA.

1924 Nag. 238.

—S. 17—Partition deed—Registration—Status of parties.

A document recited that up to that date properties were joint, that with the consent of parties before panchas they were divided and items allotted to each and that it would be registered after being stamped. There was no provision to execute another document. Held it was a partition deed and required registration. Even if unregistered, it was admissible to prove the status of the parties. (Kotval, A. J. C.) BHANGAJI v. PANDURANG.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 17.

1924 Nag. 395.

—Ss. 17 and 49—Usufructuary mortgage for over R. 100—Absence of registration—Nature of possession. NADAPENA APPANNA v. SARIPALLI VENKATASAMI.

47 Mad. 203 : 19 L. W. 37 : 79 I. C. 510 : (1924) M. W. N. 292.

—S. 17 (1) (a)—Gratuitous surrender of immoveable property—If requires registration.

Where immoveable property is surrendered without consideration, it is in effect a deed of gift which under S. 17 (1) (a) of the Registration Act requires registration. (Campbell, J.) HIRA SINGH v. PUNJAB SINGH.

78 I. C. 113.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Mortgage money—Receipt of not compulsorily registrable.

Receipts showing that the whole of the Mortgage money was paid do not require registration. If however it had been mentioned that thereby the mortgage had been extinguished then the receipts would have required registration under S. 17 (b) of the Regn. Act. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) SHRIDHAR SHABAYA v. JANAK SHANKAR.

26 Bom. L. R. 486 : 80 I. C. 415 : 1924 Bom. 447.

—S. 17 (1) (b) and (2)—Compromise suit—Document not registered—Decree—Effect.

75 I. C. 461.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Endorsement—Receipt of payment—Necessity for registration.

1924 Cal. 379.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Family arrangement—Relinquishment of share—If requires registration—Acting of parties—Effect.

If a family arrangement is a mere admission or acknowledgment of title already in existence it does not require registration. But if it purports to limit or extinguish the rights of any one and vest them in others it is compulsorily registrable.

Where a document requiring registration is not registered, if it is not admissible in evidence. But where it has been acted upon, the agreement embodied therein may still be valid. (Pullan, A. J. C.) NAND KUMAR v. BABU RAM.

1 O. W. N. 397 : 10 O & A. L. R. 775 :

11 O. L. J. 574 : 1925 Oudh 168.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Mere acknowledgment of antecedent title need not be registered.

Where petitions are clearly of a nature which purports or operates neither to create, assign or extinguish any right, title or interest in present or in future in immoveable property nor had they "declared" any such right, title or interest.

Held the true nature of such a settlement was an acknowledgment of an antecedent title. Where all the parties were entitled to inherit the disputed estate and the only question in controversy was as to their respective shares.

Held that the petitions of compromise defining the shares need not be registered. 3 Agra H. C.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 17.

R. 84: 33 All. 356; Foll. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.)
 SWAMI DAYAL v. TRIBHUWAN. 11 O. L. J. 213;
 78 L. C. 878: 1924 Oudh 397.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Agreement to transfer—If requires registration.

Where a person agrees to transfer a certain land to another in case he succeeded in a certain pre-emption suit it is a document of title and falls within the purview of S. 17 (i) (b) and requires registration before it can be admitted into evidence. (Moti Sagar, J.) IDA v. MAHAMMAD DIN. 1924 Lah. 78.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Petition of compromise—Registration.

A petition of compromise purporting to declare the rights of the parties to property worth more than Rs. 100, is compulsorily registrable. (Mukerji, J.) BISHUNATH OJHA v. SHEOPRAGASH OJHA. 1924 A. 842.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Registration—Necessity for—Order issued to village officers directing them to continue lands in inam in lieu of service.

An order issued by an inamdar to his village officers directing them to continue certain lands to be enjoyed by the grantees in lieu of their rendering some service, is not compulsorily registrable and can be received in evidence though unregistered. (Shah, A. C. J. and Fawcett, J.) RAM CHANDRA PANDURANG v. YELLANA. 26 Bom. L. R. 1203.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Styling petitions of compromise as family settlements—If exempt from registration.

Merely describing compromise petitions as family settlement or merely holding that in their nature they are family settlement would not exempt them from the provisions of Section 17 (1) (b) if they fall within the terms of that section. 33 All. 344, Foll. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) SWAMI DAYAL v. TRIBHUWAN. 11 O. L. J. 213: 78 L. C. 878. 1924 Oudh 397.

—S. 17 (1) (b)—Surrender of reversionary rights—If requires registration.

Where reversionary rights in immoveable property of more than Rs. 100 is given up in writing, the document is compulsorily registrable under S. 17 (1) (b) of the Registration Act. (Abdul Raouf, J.) GURBHAI v. LACHMAN. 1924 Lah. 641.

—S. 17 (1) (b) & (c) and 2 (xi)—Mortgage—Receipt given in full discharge—Registration—Necessity for.

Where in full satisfaction of the amount due under a mortgage a certain sum of money is received and a receipt is given therefor, the receipt does not require registration inasmuch as it does not extinguish the mortgage. 7 L. W. 229 dist. (Venkatasubba Rao and Sriniaasa Aiyangar, JJ.) GOPALASWAMI IYER v. KACHI KALYANA RENGAPPA. 20 L. W. 931.

—S. 17 (2)—Agricultural lease—Lease reduced to writing—Registration necessary—Other evidence if admissible—Evidence Act, S. 91.

Though a lease for agricultural purposes for more than a year can be made orally, still if the lease is in fact reduced to writing, it cannot be received in evidence under S. 17 of the Registration Act unless registered. The document itself being inadmissible, S. 91 of the Evidence Act shuts out other evidence of the transaction. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) MAHARANI JANKI KUER v. BIRJ BHIKHAN OJHA.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 17.

3 Pat. 349: 79 I.C. 26: 1924 P. H. C. C. 185;
 5 Pat. L. T. 541: 1924 P. 641.

—S. 17 (2) and 49—Mortgage of trees—Necessity for registration.

Where an usufructuary mortgage of palmirah trees worth Rs. 100 merely created a mortgage in respect of the trees and did not impose any limitation on the right of the owner to enjoy the land on which the trees were standing held that the mortgage did not require registration. 38 M. 883 foll: 20 M. 58. dist. (Odgers and Hughes, JJ.) GNANAMUTHU NADAN v. VEILUKANDA NADATHI. 19 L. W. 494: (1924) M.W.N. 451: 79 I.C. 2: 1924 Mad. 542.

—S. 17 (2) and 49—Partition lists—Allotment of properties to various sharers—List not registered—Admissibility in evidence.

At a partition among the members of a joint Hindu family certain properties were allotted to each of the sharers and lists were prepared of the properties so allotted. The lists however, were not registered but they were signed by all the sharers and attested. The lists themselves did not contain any provision whereby a division of status was created among the members of the family. Held that the lists were admissible in evidence without registration. 16 L. W. 714 followed. (Odgers and Hughes, JJ.) GNANAMUTHU NADAN v. VEILUKANDA NADATHI. (1924) M.W.N. 451: 79 I.C. 2: 19 L.W. 494: 1924 Mad. 542.

—S. 17 (2) (vi)—Compromise—Disputed claims—Registration if necessary.

Where a compromise of disputes between parties litigating before a Revenue Court does not itself purport to convey or to create or declare any interest in immoveable property, but merely recognises or confirms an antecedent title, which was till then involved in dispute, it at best amounts only to an intimation to the Revenue Court of the settlement of disputes and does not require registration. (Kanhaya Lal, J.) GANGA RAM v. LACHMAN SINGH.

L. R. 5 A 736: 1925 A. 176.

—Ss. 17 (2) (vi) and 49—Compromise—Registration—Withdrawal of criminal prosecution—Exchange of rooms—Rights of parties.

Two of the rooms or buildings in an enclosure were the subject-matter of a suit. In a portion of this enclosure, the defendants and their predecessors were living. The parties, quarrelled and fought over the possession of the defendants and one of the parties on the side of the defendants sustained grievous hurt. There was a criminal case and a compromise was arrived at on the 5th of June 1918. It was embodied on a paper bearing stamp duty of eight annas and was not registered. It was stated in the compromise deed, that room No. 126 was given up by the defendants and that they were given room No. 129 in lieu of the same. It was further stated and agreed that the defendants would continue in possession of room No. 128 as before. Held that the compromise was really a document by which the plaintiff transferred his title to the property in favour of the defendants. The value of the property having been found roughly by the Court below, to be about Rs. 500, such a transfer could only be effected by means of a registered document under the provisions of S. 17 of the Registration Act, and S. 54 of the Transfer of Property Act. The document being unregistered it really conveyed no title to the defendants and, therefore, the plaintiff was entitled to get back what was really his own property.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 27.

But the plff. must also put the defendants in the same position in which they would have been if there had been no compromise. The compromise was to the effect that they would have a certain consideration for dropping the prosecution. If the consideration had been a certain sum of money there would have been no difficulty in putting the plaintiff to terms. He could have got his decree for possession on payment of the sum of money which was the consideration. In this case the prosecution was dropped in consideration of the two houses which have been found to have been the absolute property of the plaintiff. The plaintiff would therefore be entitled to recover the houses only on payment of an equivalent in money of the same. (Mukerji, J.) RAM SARUP v. HARDEO.

L. R. 5 A. 186 : 10 O. & A.L.R. 431:
79 I. C. 429 : 1924 A. 396.

— S. 27—Legality of registration—Inclusion of property not intended to be conveyed—Effect of.

Where a certain property existing and belonging to the vendor is included in a sale deed with a view to give jurisdiction to the Registrar to register the document, the registration of the document is perfectly valid even though the property in question was not intended to be conveyed. (Mukerjee and Dalal, JJ.) DURGA PRASAD SAHU v. TAMESHAR PRASAD NAIK.

L. R. 5 A. 509 : 82 I. C. 243 (2):
46 A. 754 : 1924 A. 897:

— S. 28—Mortgage—Item of property within registration district not belonging to mortgagor.

The fact that the item of property within the jurisdiction of a registration district where a document of a mortgage was registered did not belong to the mortgagor would invalidate the registration of the mortgage as a fraud on the registration law, unless it is shown that the mortgagor and the mortgagee colluded to insert the item in the mortgage deed with the knowledge that the mortgagor had no title to it. (Odgers and Hughes, JJ.) SRI RAJAH DANTULURI DEVI PRASADA SATYANARAYANA VEERABHADRA VENKATALAKSHMIKANTARAJUGARU v. PEDDA VENKATA JAGANNATH RAJU GARU.

(1924) M.W.N. 125 : 33 M. L. T. (H.C.) 243 :
1924 Mad. 281 : 77 I. C. 464 : 46 M. L. J. 12.

— S. 28—Place of registration—Small area included to give jurisdiction to Registrar—Effect

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 28.

Where in a sale deed a small bit of property is included to give jurisdiction to the Registrar to register the document, but there was no doubt about the land having been purchased, there is no fraud on the registration law and the document is valid. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) UCHIT KOPRI v. ADHIK MANDAL.

78 I. C. 492 : 1925 P. 194.

— S. 28—Property not belonging to mortgagor included by him in mortgage deed—No collusion on the part of mortgagee—Effect.

Where a mortgagor intentionally includes in the deed for purposes of registration property which does not belong to him, but there is no collusion by the mortgagee to assist the fraud on registration law, the registration is not invalid, at least so far as the interests of the mortgagee are concerned. (Wallace, J.) MAMMILLAPALLI VEERASALINGHAM v. KONDAYYA.

79 I. C. 869.

— S. 28—Property not existing or not belonging to mortgagor—If included to get registrations done—If invalidates registration.

If a property which has either no existence or does not belong to the mortgagor has been introduced in a mortgage bond, with a view to secure registration of the document in a particular office the registration must be deemed to be futile. (Mookerjee and Chotzner, JJ.) KEDAR NATH DAS. v. BIDHU BHUSHAN GUHA.

1924 Cal. 348.

— S. 28—Property within jurisdiction—Duty of Registrar—Question of title.

If any portion of the property to which the document relates is situate within the jurisdiction of the Sub-Registrar where the deed is registered, that is sufficient to give him jurisdiction. It is not his province to enquire if the mortgagor or vendor had title and to refuse registration on the ground of want of title. Even where both parties knew of the defect of title, the validity of the deed is not affected, and such title as the mortgagor or vendor has will pass. (Kinkhede A.J.C.) TULSIRAM v. TUKARAM, 1924 Nag. 363.

— S. 28—Registration—Inclusion of land not belonging to mortgagor—Effect of.

Where a piece of grove land included in a mortgage deed, did exist and both the mortgagor and the mortgagee had reason to believe that it belonged to the mortgagor and there was no collusion between the mortgagor and the mortgagee the mere fact that the grove did not actually and legally belong to the mortgagor does not invalidate the registration. It is not a case of a fictitious property being entered with a view to obtain registration in an office where it would otherwise not have been possible. 41 C. 972 dist. (Mukerjee and Dalal, JJ.) MD. ABDUL HASAN v. FIDA HUSSAIN.

L. R. 5 A. 419 : 82 I. C. 736 :
1924 A. 473.

— S. 28—Registration—Validity of—Inclusion of property which did not exist—Ignorance of mortgagee—Legality of registration.

To give the Sub-Registrar jurisdiction, the property included in a deed of mortgage or a part of it, must be situated within the jurisdiction of that officer. No question of fraud by one party or the other enters into the language of the law. The question of fraud may be pleaded only to stop a party from raising a plea, but the jurisdiction of a registering officer cannot come into play simply because one of the parties to a transaction has been guilty of fraud. Where there was no property within the jurisdiction of the Sub-Registrar who registered a particular mortgage it follows as clearly as possible that he had no jurisdiction to register the deed.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 32.

Even though the mortgagee was absolutely innocent in the matter, that fact would not give the Sub-Registrar jurisdiction to register the deed, nor make the deed operative. (Mukerji, J.) BISAL SINGH v. ROSHAN LAL. 22 A.L.J. 241 : L. R. 5 A. 182 : 73 I. C. 265 : 1924 A. 373.

———Ss. 32 and 33—Presentation of document—Pardanashin lady—Document handed over to Sub-Registrar by husband—Registration at the house of the lady.

Where the husband of a pardanashin lady who had executed a document took it to the office of the Registrar and handed it over to him and asked the Registrar to go to the house of the lady to get it registered and the Registrar did accordingly: Held that the handing over of the document by the husband to the Registrar did not amount to presentation and that the deed must be deemed to have been presented at the house. The registration was therefore valid. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) YASIN BIBI v. SYED MUNAWAR HUSAIN. 22 A. L. J. 700: L. R. 5 A. 524 : 46 A. 743 : 1924 A. 799.

———Ss. 32 (b) and 35 (1) (c)—Executant of document—Death of—Presentation by some or one of the heirs at law—Validity of.

In so far as the provisions of S. 32 (b) of the Registration Act can be applied at all to the case of a deceased executant, it is sufficient if the document is presented for registration by a person who is a representative of the estate of the deceased and it is not necessary for the entire body of persons, who between them represent the whole estate, to join in making the presentation. Even if there is an irregularity in the registration owing to the omission of the other executants to join in the registration, it is cured by S. 87 of the Registration Act. (Mears, C. J. and Piggott, J.) RAFAT-UN-NISSA BEGAM v. HUSAINI BEGAM. 22 A. L. J. 1112.

———S. 33—Execution of document by person having power of attorney—Presentation for registration. MT. AISHA BIBI v. CHHAJU MAL. 1924 A. 148.

———S. 35—Signature of agent—Registrar's endorsement—Contradictory statements—Presumption.

Where the writing at the foot of a document showed that the person who presented the document was only an agent and was directly opposed to the official statement signed by the Registering officer that the document was presented for registration by the mortgagee. Held that there was no provision in the Regulation or Rules that requires the signature of the person presenting the document for registration. The correctness of this Official endorsement is to be presumed and the signature for which there was no legal sanction, cannot operate to contradict it. Where any party to a document is unable or refuses to appear, Rule 5 of Burma Regulation (II of 1897) requires a note of the circumstances to be made, but the omission is one for which the person presenting the document cannot be held responsible. It is at most a defect in procedure which did not vitiate the registration made as it was on a proper presentation. (Sir Lawrence Jenkins.) BAUNATH SINGH v. JAMAL BROTHERS. 51 Cal. 354 : 19 L.W. 345 : 34 M.L.T. (P.C.) 50 : (1924) M.W.N. 196 : 10 O. & A.L.R. 288 : L. R. 5 P.C. 73 : 2 R. 99 : 51 I.A. 18 : 79 I. C. 940 : 28 C. W. N. 1029 : 22 A. L. J. 42 : 1924 P. C. 48 (P. C.).

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 49.

———S. 49—Admissibility of unregistered document to prove final discharge of mortgage.

When the defendant (mortgagor) pleaded that a portion of the mortgage amount had been remitted, by virtue of an agreement between the mortgagee and co-mortgagor, which was unregistered Held, that the agreement embodied an writing is inadmissible as it would require registration under the T. P. Act, and that the fact that it also purported to be a discharge would not render it admissible as evidence of the agreement and if it is not evidence of the agreement in which case it will be admissible as a receipt 7 L. W. 1229 relied on. (Phillips, J.) VISHNU CHOTLA KULLATUSUBBIAH v. TALLAPRAGADU LAKSHMIPATHI. 20 L. W. 801.

———S. 49—Lease unregistered—Admissibility in evidence for collateral purpose.

A lease which is unregistered and therefore inadmissible under S. 49 of the Registration Act may nevertheless be admitted for a collateral purpose, to explain the character of a person's possession of the property. 42 C. 801 : 26 C. W. N. 605 : 39 A. 696. 43 M. 244 Ref. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) MAHARANI JANKI KUER v. BIRJ BHIKHAN OJHA. 1924 P. 641 : 3 Pat. 349 : 79 I.C. 26 : 5 Pat. L. T. 541 : 1924 P. H. C. C. 185.

———S. 49—Unregistered document—Inadmissible in evidence—Estoppel.

Even though an unregistered mortgage is invalid for the purpose of creating a charge on the land, it is obviously inequitable that the person who has benefited by it should be helped by the court to repudiate that transaction. Where it was admitted that the plaintiff was in possession on account of money advanced by him to the defendant the latter is estopped from ejecting him until the money is re-paid. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAM NARAIN v. FANGREY. L. R. 5 O. 131 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 903.

———S. 49—Unregistered document—When admissible in evidence.

An instrument which is compulsorily registrable may be used in evidence to prove a collateral fact; but to be collateral, the fact must be independent of or divisible from the purpose to effect which the law requires registration. (Baker, J. C.) JANARDHAN v. WASUDEO. 1924 Nag. 315

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 49.

—S. 49—Unregistered usufructuary mortgage—Personal Covenant—Failure to give possession.

In a usufructuary mortgage deed there was a clause providing that the mortgagee in the event of his losing possession of the mortgaged property could require the mortgagor to repay the loan out of his assets. The deed was unregistered and therefore inoperative as mortgage. In a suit to recover the money held that the deed was inadmissible in evidence and the plaintiff was not entitled to recover the money in the absence of a distinct personal covenant by the mortgagor to repay. (Ashworth, A. J. C.) JAFAR KHAN v. MT. QUADIRAN.

10 O. & A. L. R. 1193.

—S. 49 (c)—Scope of—Partition to document—Absence of registration.

Where a document which requires registration is not registered, it is inadmissible only as evidence affecting immovable property comprised therein, but it can be used as evidence as to the parties between whom it was executed. (Mookerjee and Suhravarday, JJ.) LUKHAN CHANDRA MONDAL v. TAKIM DHALI.

80 I. C. 357.

—S. 52—Sale of land—Presentation for registration by vendee—Refusal of vendee to sign registration endorsement.

The refusal of a vendor to sign the registration endorsement does not affect the validity of the registration where the document is presented for registration by the vendee and he has conformed to the provisions of S. 52, Registration Act. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MT. ISLAM FATIMA v. TAMIZ ALI.

1924 A 938.

—Ss. 73 and 77—Suit under—Preliminaries for—Enquiry before Registrar—Technical defects in application—Effect of.

In a suit under S. 77 of the Registration Act to compel registration the Court has simply to determine the fact of execution and, if a prima facie case of execution is made out and the requirements of the law complied with to order registration of the document. It cannot go into other considerations. An enquiry by the Registrar under S. 73 of the Registration Act is a necessary preliminary to a suit under S. 77 of the Act and no suit will lie unless the provisions of S. 73 are substantially complied with. A technical defect in describing the application as an appeal would not affect the rights of parties. (Baker, O. J. C.) IBRAHIM v. MT. SUGRABAI.

7 N. L. J. 4 :

20 A. L. R. 158 : 75 I.C. 664 : 1924 Nag. 77.

—S. 77—Scope of enquiry by Court—Duty of Registration Officer when documents are presented.

Where a document is presented to a Registrar of Assurances for registration and it bears on its face signs of having been tampered with, he has only to see whether the document is in the state in which it was executed by the parties to it. He would be exceeding his functions if he went into a roving enquiry to guess at the probabilities of its provisions, and in a suit under S. 77 of the Registration Act, the same considerations should guide the Court which should guide the Registrar in considering his duty to Register or to refuse registration. (Coutts Trotter, C. J. Ramesam and Wallace, JJ.) BOLLA GURUVAYYA v. C. VENKATARATNAM.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 77.

47 Mad. 833 : 1924 Mad. 310 : 82 I. C. 483 :

20 L. W. 977 : 47 M. L. J. 271.

—S. 77—Scope of suit under—Claim for possession and mesne profits—Effect of.

A claim for possession and mesne profits cannot be joined with a prayer to enforce registration of a document in a suit under S. 77 of the Registration Act. 9 M. L. J. 107 Ref. Although the scope of an enquiry in a suit under S. 77 of the Regn. Act may be of a restricted character and the court is concerned not with the validity but with the genuineness of the document sought to be registered, still the findings in the suit would operate as res judicata. (Mookerjee and Suhravarday, JJ.) DWIJENDRA NARAYAN ROY v. JOGES CHANDRA.

39 C. L. J. 40.

79 I. C. 520 : 1924 Cal. 600.

—S. 77—Suit for compulsory registration—Decree in—Appeal—Power of Appellate Court to direct stay of registration.

Where in a suit under S. 77 Registration Act, the plaintiff gets a decree directing the Registrar to register a particular document within 30 days after the passing of such decree, the section does not prevent a Civil Court which has power to hear an appeal against the same from staying the execution of the decree under the Civil Procedure Code. In such case if the appeal ultimately fails the document can be presented for registration within 30 days from the disposal of the appeal. 33 C. 1021. followed. (Devadoss, J.) RAMASUBBA NAYAKAR v. DORAI RAI.

20 L. W. 966 : 47 M. L. J. 735.

—S. 77—Suit under—What court has to determine—Application—Essentials of—Scope of suit.

It is settled law that in a suit to compel registration under the Registration Act, the Court has simply to determine the fact of execution and if a prima facie case of execution is made out and the requirements of law complied with, to order the registration of the document. It cannot go into other considerations.

Where registration is refused on a document being presented before the Sub-Registrar, the aggrieved party is bound to make an application to the Registrar under S. 73 in order to establish his right to have the document registered. Such an application must be in writing and must be accompanied by a copy of the reasons recorded under S. 71 and the statements in the application should be verified by the applicant in the manner required by law for the verification of plaints.

Where an appeal is wrongly filed under S. 72, it can be treated as an application under S. 73 in order to give the basis for a suit for compulsory registration. (Baker, A. J. C.) IBRAHIM v. MT. SUGRABAI. 7 N. L. J. 4 : 75 I.C. 664 : 1924 Nag. 77 : 20 N. L. R. 158.

—S. 77, 72 and 21—Suit to compel registration—Maintainability of—Refusal to accept document for registration—Refusal to register—Difference between—Description of property—Sufficiency of.

REGISTRATION ACT, S. 82.

The expression "Refusing to admit a document to registration" in S. 72 of the Registration Act includes not merely a refusal to register but also to accept a document for registration. The latter in effect amounts to a refusal to register the document and a party aggrieved may institute a suit under S. 77 of the Registration Act. Under the terms of a lease the property demised was described in these terms. "We have taken from you on rent a godown bearing No. 3. The Port Trust No. of which is in the New Rice Market at Carnac Bunder Port Trust, Bombay. We have taken the same on rent by fixing the rent thereof at Rs. (601) six hundred and one per month." Held that this was a sufficient description of the property for the purposes of S. 21 of the Registration Act. (Shah, A. J. C. and Kincaid, J.) HUSSAIN ABDUL REHMAN & CO. v. LAKMICHAND KHETSEY.
26 Bom. L. R. 934 : 1925 B. 34

— S. 82 (a)—Enquiry before sub-registrar—Truth or falsity of the recitals in the deed—No jurisdiction.

The proceeding or enquiry referred to in S. 82 of the Registration Act must be a proceeding or enquiry as prescribed by the Act. The Act nowhere prescribes any enquiry by the Registration officer as regards the truth or falsity of any recital in a deed. All that the Registering Officer is required to enquire into is as to whether the document presented before him for registration was or was not executed by the person by whom it purports to have been executed. The enquiries are those provided for in Ss. 34 and 35 of the Act and the Sub-Registrar has no jurisdiction to enquire as regards the truth or falsity of any recital in the deed. Consequently no offence is committed under S. 82 of the Act if an incorrect statement is made regarding the recitals in the deed. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) MT. GOBINDIA v. EMPEROR.
5 Pat. L. T. 372:

2 Pat. L. R. 162 (Gr.). : 1924 P. H. C. C. 199 :
81 I. C. 124 : 25 Gr. L. J. 636 : 1924 P. 754.

RELEASE—Effect of—Not a conveyance. MUNSHI GOBIND PRASAD v. LALA JUGDIP SAHAI.
1924 Pat. 185.

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS—Debutter property Family trust—Right of beneficiaries to put an end to the trust. MONMOHAN GHOSE v. SIDDHESWAR DUBEY.
76 I. C. 213.

—Dedication to idol—Registration and writing unnecessary.

A dedication of a small plot of lands to an idol is valid if made orally, and writing and registration are unnecessary. 42 M. 440 Ref. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) VITHALDAS v. GOMA. 20 N. L. R. 60 :
79 I. C. 173 : 1924 Nag. 254.

—Dedication—Essentials of—Divesting of donor's right—Registration of deed.

The dedication to a deity and the creation of a trust for religious purposes no doubt find favour in Hindu law just in the same way as it does in other communities and the essential ingredient that constitutes gift whether of moveable or immoveable property in the Hindu law is the San-

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT.

kalp and the Samarpan whereby the property is completely given away and the owner completely divests himself of the ownership in the property. There must be a real Sankalp and Samarpan. The registration of a deed of gift will only affect the onus so far as the execution thereof is concerned but will in itself be no proof of the real dedication of the property or the divesting of the ownership therein by the donor. The onus of proving real dedication viz., the Sankalp and the Samarpan of the properties in favour of the donee rests upon those who claim under the gift. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) DEO SARAN BHARTI v. DEOKI BHARTI
5 Pat. L. T. 305 : 3 Pat. 842 : 83 I. C. 980 :
1924 P. 657.

—Dedication—Idol—Family idol—Not installed—Dedication of properties.

Certain properties were purchased in the name of a deity. The family had obtained idols to be set up bearing the name borne in the sale-deed, and the income derived from the village purchased in its name was used for the purposes of worship of the idol and other charitable purposes. No temple was however built. Held that the actual installation of idols or the construction of temple is not absolutely necessary for validating a deed of dedication made for such purpose. There was a good dedication of the properties to the idol in the present case.

The principle of Hindu Law which invalidates a gift other than to a sentient being capable of accepting it, does not apply to a bequest to trustees for the establishment of an image and the worship of Hindu deity after the testator's death, nor does it make such a bequest void. The name given to a deity is only a sacred convention. The deity is supposed or believed to exist from eternity. The idol is virtually treated as a visible symbol of the deity in whose favour the dedication is made or by whom the purchase is to be effected; and the mere fact that the installation takes place afterwards, does not affect the validity of the dedication or of the purpose for which the purchase is made. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) SARAB SUKH DAS v. RAM PRASAD.
46 All. 130 : 78 I. C. 1018 :
1924 All. 357.

—Mahant—Powers of alienation—Duty of alienee—Sradh of deceased mahant—If necessity.

In order to perform the sradh of a deceased mahant, it is within the power of a mahant to alienate trust property, if he has no funds with him. But if a portion of the income is sufficient for the purpose, he cannot alienate. In a case of alienation, the duty is cast on the alienee to inquire and satisfy himself that there are no funds available for the purpose. (Miller, C. J. and Kulwant Sahay, J.) RAM NARAZAN DASS v. OPAL DAS.
5 Pat. L. T. 339 : 76 I. C. 68 : 1924 P. 611.

—Public temple—Legal position of—Shrabbat—Powers of.

A public temple is a religious institution and is recognized in law as a juridical person, but it can act only through persons who have authority to act for it and they can act for the temple only within the scope of their authority. The position of the manager or trustee is analogous to that of the Mahant of a Mutt. He can sell or mortgage temple lands if there is an actual, special and unavoidable necessity which must be proved to have existed by those who allege it. He cannot impair the endowed property by creating or granting in favour of any one rights of occupancy in the same, (Sir John Edge.) NAINA PILLAI MARAKAYAR v. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR,

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT.

47 Mad. 337 :

34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 10 : 1924 M. W. N. 293 :

L. R. 5 P. C. 33 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 464 :

28 C. W. N. 809 : 51 I. A. 83 :

19 L. W. 259 : 1924 P. C. 65 :

82 I. C. 226 : 22 A. L. J. 130 : 46 M. L. J. 546.

—Public temple in Madras—Sudras may be pujarees.

There is no rule that unless a person belongs to a particular class (caste) he should not perform worship in a temple. Even Sudras may be Pujaries. (Sir John Edge.) PUJARI LAKSHMANA GOUNDAN v. SUBRAMANIA AYYAR,

33 M. L. T. (P. C.) 466 : (1924) M. W. N. 278 :

22 A. L. J. 169 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 606 :

L. R. 5 P. C. 125 : 81 I. C. 518 :

29 C. W. N. 112 : 19 L. W. 253 : 1924 P. C. 44.

—Public temple—Teste of.

The facts as found were that the founder of the temple dreamt that he should instal at his house an idol of the God Subramaniaswami and that the god would come to his house and enable him to foretell events. He did instal that idol at his house, and allowed Brahmins and other Hindus of various castes to worship the idol as if it was a public idol. He acted as the pujari of the idol, and received as the pujari offerings made to the idol by worshippers and fees which he charged in respect of processions and other religious services. The number of Hindu worshippers increased and with the offerings and fees he purchased some jewels for the idol, built for himself another house in the village to which he and his family removed, and he extended the house in which the idol was and added to it covered rooms for the accommodation of the worshippers during the ceremonies of worship. He also built in the village a rest house for the use of worshippers of the idol. On certain days in each week the Hindu public were admitted by him free of charge to worship in the greater part of the temple, to one part only on payment of fees, and to the inner shrine apparently not at all. With the income which he derived from offerings and fees at the temple he efficiently maintained the temple as if it were a public temple and discharged all the expenses connected with the temple and the worship of the idol there. He applied the balance of the income he so obtained to the support of himself and his family and in acquiring for his own benefit and that of his family some immoveable property which he possessed before he died.

Held, that the founder held out and represented to the Hindu public that the temple was a public temple at which all Hindus might worship and that the inference is that he had dedicated

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT.

the temple to the public. (Sir John Edge.) PUJARI LAKSHMANA GOUNDAN v. SUBRAMANIA AYYAR,

33 M. L. T. (P. C.) 466 : (1924) M. W. N. 278 :

22 A. L. J. 169 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 606 :

L. R. 5 P. C. 125 : 81 I. C. 518 :

29 C. W. N. 112 : 19 L. W. 253 :

1924 P. C. 44.

—Public trust — Inam — Devadayam — Meaning of—Inam register—Entries in—Value of. See C. P. CODE, S. 92. 46 M. L. J. 245.

—Shebait — Appointment of successor— Formalities for—Deed and seal.

Where under a will an executor was given power to appoint a successor to the shebaitship under his hand and seal, the appointment of a shebait otherwise duly made (though not under seal) is a valid appointment. (Page, J.) ADMINISTRATOR GENERAL OF BENGAL v. BALKISSEN MISHRA, 51 Cal. 953 : 1925 Cal. 140.

—Shebait—Gift to unborn persons—Rule i applies.

The principle of law enunciated in Tagore v Tagore and extended to hereditary officers in 27 I. A. 69 i. e., that a gift to an unborn person is invalid and contrary to Hindu Law applies to the office of Shebaitship. For this purpose there is no difference between a bare trusteeship and one carrying emoluments.

A Hindu by his will appointed certain persons shebait and after their death said that the seniormost among their heirs was to be shebait. Held the provision in favour of the seniormost of the heirs, after the death of the last of the persons born before the testator's death would fail and the shebaitship would revert to the heirs of the founder. (Suhrawardy and Duval, JJ.) PROMOTHO NATH MUKERJEE v. ANUKUL CHANDRA BANERJEE, 29 C. W. N. 17 : 40 C. L. J. 564 : 1925 Cal. 225.

—Shebaitship—Right to.

It is well settled that when worship of an idol, has been founded, the shebaitship is vested in the founder and his heirs, unless he has disposed of it otherwise or there has been some usage or course of dealing which points to a different conclusion. (Das and Macpherson, JJ.) DEOKINANDAN v. BRIJ NANDAN JHA, 5 Pat. L. T. 231 : 76 I. C. 89 : 1924 F. 502.

—Succession to Guru—Presumption as to dedication. 75 I. C. 94 : 6 Lah. L. J. 89.

—Succession—Chela—Right to succeed.

The constitution of the particular shrine in question must govern the succession and the mere fact that a certain Chela has succeeded to one of the shrines enjoyed by his Guru does not ipso facto entitle him to succeed to another. The history of this particular shrine showed that the proprietary body were entitled to nominate the Mahant, this being established by their having done so on the last two occasions without any challenge or objection during a period of 20 years. (Harrison and Jafar Ali, JJ.) KESHWANAND v. MOHAN PURI, 5 Lah. L. J. 543 : 80 I. C. 496 : 1924 Lah. 170.

—Temple Committee—Vacancy not filled up—Notice—Order if appealable.

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENT.

Where a vacancy in a Temple Committee remained unfilled for a period contemplated by the scheme, and thereafter some worshippers issued a notice to the Committee that they would apply to Court to have the same filled up the notice is valid even if it does not state the consequences of non-compliance.

An order filling up the vacancy is not appealable. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) SETU AIYAR v. SUNDARAM PILLAI. 80 I. C. 615 : 1925 Mad. 175.

— Temple—Right of trusteeship—Usage. NARAYANAN CHETTI v. ELAYAPERUMAL.

19 L. W. 221 : (1924) M. W. N. 281 : 1924 Mad. 400 (2).

— Trustee—Lease for 21 years—Option to renew at enhanced rates of rent—Legality of the transaction.

Where the trustee of a temple grants a lease of temple lands for building purposes for a term of 21 years with an option to the tenant to renew it for a like period at an enhanced rent it is a transaction which any prudent man is entitled to enter and as such the lease with the option to renew is valid. The position under the Indian Trusts Act considered. (Schwabe, C. J. and Wallace, J.) KANNIAPPA CHETTIAR v. RAMACHANDRA AIYAR. 19 L. W. 587 : (1922) M. W. N. 386 : 1924 Mad. 731 : 79 I. C. 92 : 46 M. L. J. 407.

RELIGIOUS ENDOWMENTS ACT, S. 18—Leave to sue—Allegations to be specific—Choice of defendants—Judge if can delegate powers.

Leave to sue under S. 18, Religious Endowments Act, should not be granted on the basis of vague and indefinite allegations nor should sanction be given against all or any of the respondents without specifically mentioning the party against whom the right to sue is sanctioned. The District Judge cannot delegate to another the function of reporting on the allegations, unless it be to make a local investigation as Commissioner. (Spencer and Devadoss, JJ.) SUBRAMANIA MUDALIAR v. PARASURAMIER. 1924 Mad. 644.

— S. 18—Refusal to grant leave to sue—Appeal—If lies.

The order of a District Judge refusing to grant leave to sue under S. 18 of the Religious Endowments Act is not appealable. (Miller, C. J. and Foster, J.) BIBI WASHIKHAN v. MIR NAWAB ALI. 3 Pat. 1018 : 1925 P. 138.

RES-JUDICATA—Unnecessary finding in a previous suit whether operates as.

Where a previous suit is decided on a finding that a certain property was bequeathed to a female by a will, a finding in that suit to the effect that females were not excluded from succession being a finding not necessary for the determination of that suit cannot operate as res-judicata, in a subsequent suit between the parties. (Pullan and Kendall, A. J. Cs.) ABADI BEGAM v. AHMAD MIRZA BEG. 1 O. W. N. 433 :

82 I. C. 691 : 11 O. L. J. 757 : 1925 Oudh 190.

RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS—Refusal of relief—Grounds for—Reasonable apprehension of bodily injury—Order for maintenance.

Y D 1924—68

REVISION.

In a suit for restitution of conjugal rights it was found that the plaintiff, a Brahmin, turned his wife out of doors many years ago stating that he suspected her chastity. The woman went to live with her uncle who supported her. She then applied to the Criminal Court for a maintenance order and obtained an order awarding her sufficient maintenance. It was found that when the maintenance proceedings were in progress before the Magistrate the plaintiff even then refused to take his wife back stating that at the time he suspected her chastity. When the woman endeavoured to obtain the money that was due to her the husband refused to pay it and she had to attach his property and to arrest him and place him in custody to execute the order. At the end of this the husband applied for restitution of conjugal rights with the object, if he succeeded, of going to the Criminal Court and saying that the wife was refusing to live with him without sufficient reason and getting the order of maintenance cancelled. Held, that in the circumstances the wife had a reasonable apprehension of bodily injury if she returned to her husband and that the suit for restitution should be dismissed. (Stuart and Mukerjee, JJ.) BABU RAM v. MR. KOKLA. 46 A 210 : 10 O & A. L. R. 204 :

22 A L. J. 68 : L. R. 5 A. 43 : 79 I. C. 634 : 1924 A. 391.

— Suit by husband—Defence to the suit—Cruelty—What is—English Law—Applicability of. 1924 Mad. 49.

— Confirmation of— Authority of Collector—Final—Deputy Collector exercises only delegated authority. See TRUSTS ACT, S. 90. 47 M. L. J. 755.

REVISION—Interference by High Court on a technical ground when substantial justice done to parties—Discretion to be exercised.

The plaintiff having stood surety for M, deposited the amount of the decree, on behalf of the judgment-debtor under S. 17, Provincial Small Cause Courts, Act in order to obtain a review of the decree. The review was dismissed and the creditor withdrew the money on 21st April 1920. Subsequently on 20th April 1923, the plaintiff (surety) sued the judgment-debtor and a plea of limitation was raised by the latter under Article 81 of the Limitation Act.

Held, relying on, (Ragunath Sahai v. The Liquidator of Himalayan Bank, Ltd.) 15 A 139, (1) that the High Court should not interfere in Civil Revision on a technical point, where substantial justice has been done between the parties in the proceedings of the lower Court, (2) that the debt sued for was undoubtedly due from the principal to the surety, and that the High Court would not interfere with the lower court's decision, whether the period of limitation began to run from the date of the rejection of the review petition, or from the date when the creditor withdrew the money. (Boys, J.) MOHAMMAD NAQI v. HARGU LAL. L. R. 5 All. 694 (Civil) :

82 I. C. 1011 : 1925 A. 164.

RIPARIAN RIGHTS PORAMBOKE.

RIPARIAN RIGHTS PORAMBOKE—Jungle stream passing through survey field—Patta granted—If includes water channel—Liability of pattadar to pay water-cess—Riparian rights—Mixed question of fact and law.

A jungle stream passed through a certain survey held which were the patta lands of the plaintiff and then emptied itself into a Government irrigation source. The stream was Government property prior to the grant of the patta but in the patta channel was not separately demarcated and specified as Government poramboke. The plaintiff dammed the stream and used the water for raising wet crops on his dry lands, and the Government levied water cess for the same. Held, the grant of the patta for the fields did not automatically carry with it the grant of any Government poramboke already existing within the fields and the Government was justified in levying water-cess. 31 C. 982 distinguished: Madras Act 111 of 1905 and case-law thereunder referred to.

Per Odgers, J.—Where a party claims to have riparian rights, it is a mixed question of fact and law which cannot be raised for the first time in Second Appeal.

Per Wallace, J.—A patta is not a document of title or deed of grant but merely a record of demand by Government of a certain amount as land revenue on a certain area. (Odgers and Wallace, JJ.) SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. RAGHAVACHARIAR. 47 Mad. 861:

20 L. W. 815; 1924 Mad. 913;
(1924) M. W. N. 820; 47 M. L. J. 503.

RIWAJ-I-AM—Entries in—Value of—Mother—If includes grandmother.

Entries in the Riwaj-i-am even when unsupported by instances are an important piece of evidence on which courts can act. The term mother does not include "grandmother". (Abdul Raouf and Campbell, JJ.) MT. TABI v. SAUDAGAR SINGH. 1924 Lah. 693.

SALE WITH AGREEMENT FOR RE-PURCHASE—Registered deed—Amount of purchase price omitted—Suit for rectification of deed or cancellation—Evidence as to purchase price admissible under S. 92 (4), Evidence Act.

Where a deed of sale had been executed and registered containing an agreement for re-purchase but leaving the amount of purchase money blank, and the respondent brought a suit for specific performance and rectification of the deed or in the alternative for cancellation thereof.

Held, that under the provision of S. 92 (1), Evidence Act oral evidence was admissible as to the amount agreed upon on the ground of fraud or mistake of law or fact, that the omission to enter the price was either due to the fraud of the appellant or to a mutual mistake and that the document could be rectified by the Courts under S. 31, Specific Relief Act, so as to bring it into accord with the real intention of the parties.

Held, also that the respondent was entitled to treat the document as a mortgage by conditional sale as defined in S. 58 (e), Transfer of Property Act, and could therefore redeem the Property on payment of the mortgage money under S. 60 of the Act. (Lentaigne and Carr, JJ.) MAUNG PE GYI v. HAKIM ALLY.

SETTLEMENT ENTRIES.

2 R. 113; 3 Bur. L. J. 44; 80 I. C. 759;
1924 R. 235.

SALE OF GOODS—Contract for—Numbers on packages—Description—Numbers not material or of the essence of the contract unless descriptive of the quality of the contents. See CONTRACT ACT, Ss. 106 AND 118. 46 M. L. J. 655.

——— Duty to give notice of arrival of goods—Failure—Effect.

Where under a contract of sale there was a duty on the part of the vendor to give notice to the vendee of the arrival of the goods and it was not done it amounts to a breach of the contract (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) ALAGIRISAMY AIYAR v. RUNA CHEENA MANA NAVANNA ONA & BROS. 78 I. C. 326 (2); 19 L. W. 654.

SALT ACT, Ss. 15, 18 and 118—Information not recorded by Salt Inspector—Search—Failure to call policemen or neighbours to witness—Effect of.

Before searching the premises of the accused the Salt Inspector made no record of the information received. He did not summon respectable neighbours as search witnesses and no police officer was obtained to attend the search. Held, the search was illegal as the provisions of S. 118 of the Salt Act had not been complied with.

Section 15 of the Salt Act is confined to the search of a place in which any article is manufactured or refined under the license or any rule made under the Act. Where salt is unlawfully manufactured at an authorised place the proper section applicable to a search of the place is S. 18 and not S. 15. (Sulaiman, J.) RAMDIN v. EMPEROR. L. R. 5 A. 88 (Cr.); 77 I. C. 815;
25 Cr. L. J. 463; 1924 A. 437.

SECOND APPEAL—Issue as to non-joinder framed, but not pressed—No mention in the grounds of appeal—Effect of.

Where in an ejectment suit, two issues were framed, as to whether the land was Sir or not, and whether the plaintiff had the right to sue alone, the lower Court without passing orders on the second issue decided against the plaintiff on the first issue, the appellant on second appeal insisted on the second issue to the decided.

Held, that it was too late to take the plea in second appeal before the Board of Revenue. (Fremantle, S. M.) HAKIM SINGH v. MO ALU JAFAR. L. R. 5 All. 285 (Rev.).

SETTLEMENT ENTRIES—Compromise proceedings Recorded by Settlement Court—If amounts to a mortgage.

In a suit for redemption of mortgage, and no deed of mortgage was exhibited in support of the case, the plaintiff prayed for an alternative relief in the event of mortgage not being proved, that a decree for redemption might be given from the date of a fresh contract of mortgage. The mortgagor relied upon certain compromise proceedings which were entered in the Settlement Records, on the application of the mortgagee for entering the terms of a compromise between the mortgagor and mortgagee.

SETTLEMENT ENTRIES.

Held, that the compromise amounted to a fresh contract of mortgage between the parties and that the Plaintiff is entitled to redeem the properties. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) BALAK DASA-UNDRI v. DEPUTY COMM. OF FYZABAD

10 O & A. L. R. 886 : 12 O. L. J. 60 :
L. R. 5 O. 161 (Rev.).

SETTLEMENT RECORD.

See also (1) EVIDENCE.

(2) EVIDENCE ACT, S. 35.

SHAMILAT—Rights of proprietor—Nature of.

The rights of a proprietor in the shamilat of a village are not a mere accessory to the land separately held by him and a sale of the latter does not ipso facto convey any rights in the former to the purchaser. (Martineau and Zafar Ali, JJ.) SHAHADAT v. GANESH DAS.

78 I. C. 368 :
1925 Lah 105.

SHIPPING—Jettisoning goods carried on the deck—Right to contribution for general average.

It is a general rule that a jettison of goods which were on deck does not entitle their owner for contribution. But this rule does not apply on voyages where the carrying of goods on deck is permitted by the established custom of navigation or where the other cargo owners have consented that the goods jettisoned should be carried on the deck of the ship. (Aston, A. J. C.) DHARAMDAS THAWERDAS v. PERSIAN GULF STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. 78 I. C. 972 : 1925 S. 76.

SIND COURTS' ACT (BOM. XII OF 1886), S. 93—Judges differing in revision—Reference should be made to Full Bench—Sind, J. C. Courts Rules, R. 4.

On a difference of opinion between two Judges differing in a revisional application the matter cannot be referred to a third Judge. S. 93 only confers that power in appeals and not in revision applications. The matter in such cases should be referred to a Full Bench under R. 4. (Kincaid, J. C., Aston and Madgavkar, A. J. Cs.) GUNNIS & CO., LTD. v. AMANMAL TULSIDAS.

1924 S. 75.

SIND ENCUMBERED ESTATES ACT (XX OF 1896), S. 19—Applicability—Execution proceedings.

The Sind Encumbered Estates Act applies to execution proceedings as well as suits. (Raymond and Madgavkar, A. J. Cs.) MURAD v. DAYARAN.

78 I. C. 49 : 1925 S. 156.

SIND J. C. COURTS' RULES, R. 4—Judges differing in revision—Reference to be made to the Full Bench.

When a revision application has been heard by a Bench of two Judges and judgments delivered but no final order passed in application because of difference of opinion the Judicial Commissioner has the power to refer the matter to a Full Bench under Rule 4. (Kincaid, J. C., Aston and Madgavkar, A. J. Cs.) GUNNIS & CO., LTD. v. AMANMAL TULSIDAS.

1924 S. 75.

—R. 28—Execution—Judgment debtor if can set up to be agriculturist—Procedure.

Under R. 28 of the Rules of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, Sind, it is open to a judgment debtor to raise a plea of his being an agriculturist in execution proceedings even if no such plea had been raised at any earlier stage. The executing court is bound to enquire into the status of the judgment debtor and if found to be an agriculturist, transfer the decree for sale of the property to the collector for execution. (Kennedy, J. C., Raymond and Bilaram, A. J. Cs.) HIRIOMAL v. HAZARISINGH.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

78 I. C. 53 : 1925 S. 49.

SIR LAND.

See CO-SHARER.

LOCAL ACTS.

SOCIETIES REGISTRATION ACT (XXI OF 1860), Ss. 9, 10 and 18—Rules framed before registration—Penalty—If recoverable.

Where certain rules were framed by a society before it was registered under Act XXI of 1860, but a copy of the same was lodged with the Registrar, they do not get legal force. A penalty for contravening the provisions of such rules cannot be recovered in a court of law. (Daniels, J. C.) THE PRESIDENT, ZARDOZI UNION, LUCKNOW v. BASHIR KHAN.

80 I. C. 556 :
10 O. & A. L. R. 117.

SOUTH CANARA—Waste lands—Presumption of ownership.

There is an undoubted presumption that forest tracts and old wastes in South Canara belong to the Government unless that presumption is displaced by positive evidence that the right has in any particular tract or piece of land, been granted by the sovereign power to any individual or bodies of individuals or rights have been consciously allowed to grow up adversely to the Government. 3 Bom. 452 and 28 Mad. 257 Affirmed. (Mr. Ameer Ali.) KODOTH AMBU NAIR v. SECY. OF STATE.

47 Mad. 572 :
26 Bom. L. R. 639 : 20 L. W. 49 :
35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 128 : (1924) M. W. N. 572 :
1924 P. C. 150 : 80 I. C. 835 :
47 M. L. J. 35.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—Agreement to grant lease—Sanction of Board to be obtained—Time not fixed—Effect.

In the case of an agreement to grant a lease, where both parties intended the contract to be concluded only after the sanction of the Revenue Board was obtained, a suit for specific performance will not lie unless the sanction was given concluding the contract.

In the case of an agreement to lease for 2 years, where no time is fixed for the commencement of the lease, a suit for specific performance will lie. Even where time is of the essence of the contract, but conditions are not fulfilled within the time fixed, a court of equity can direct specific performance. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) RUDRAS DAS CHAKRAVARTHY v. KUMAR KAMAKHYA NARAYAN SINGH.

3 Pat. 968.

—Bankruptcy of plaintiff—Effect of.

In a suit for specific performance, if the plaintiff becomes bankrupt before the institution of the suit he cannot enforce the contract. But where the bankruptcy takes place after the suit is decreed and the money deposited by the purchaser that principle does not apply. (Chatterjee and Cuming, JJ.) KAMAL KRISHNA KUNDU CHOWDHURY v. CHATOORBHUI DASSA.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.

78 I. C. 962 : 1925 Cal. 324.

———Contract of sale—Contract by Manager of a Joint Hindu family to sell property—Specific performance of Contract against minor members after death of manager.

A contract by a manager of a Joint Hindu family to sell immoveable properties which is entered into by him on behalf of the family and for purposes binding on the family, can be specifically enforced against the surviving members of the family after his death, even though some of them may be minors, 23 M. L. J. 610 : 44 M. L. J. 226 at p. 228 approved, 39 Cal. 232, 21 M. L. J. 1156 (P. C.) distinguished. (Ramesam and Jackson, JJ.) NARAYANAN CHETTY v. MUTHIAH CHETTY.

34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 350 : (1924) M. W. N. 482 :

20 L. W. 103 : 80 I. C. 658 : 47 Mad. 692 : 1924 Mad. 680 : 46 M. L. J. 575.

———Damages—Assignment of decree—Agreement to take—Insolvency of judgment-debtor—Effect of.

Where the defendant has agreed to take an assignment of a decree for a particular amount, the subsequent insolvency of the judgment-debtor does not exonerate him from taking the assignment, 43 Cal. 999 dist. The insolvency of the judgment-debtor did not render the decree unenforceable and the plaintiff is entitled to recover the price agreed upon for the assignment. The remedy of the plff. is not confined to a mere claim for damages. 42 C. 612 dist. (Krishnan, J.) KRISHNAN AIYAR v. NYNADIKKAM PILLAI.

20 L. W. 328 : (1924) M. W. N. 693 : 82 I. C. 78 : 1924 Mad. 801.

———Decree for—Appeal—Extension of time to deposit money—Withdrawal of deposit—Effect.

In an appeal against a decree directing specific performance the court cannot go into the question whether the court below had power to extend the time for depositing money or as to the effect of withdrawing the money deposited. (Chatterjee and Cuming, JJ.) KAMAL KRISHNA KUNDU CHOWDHURY v. CHATOORBHUI DASSA.

78 I. C. 962 : 1925 Cal. 324.

———Delay—If a good defence.

Delay by itself is no defence to a suit for specific performance unless it amounts to waiver or abandonment of the contract or to laches on the part of the person seeking relief. It does not by itself amount to waiver or abandonment. Short of limitation, it does not disentitle a person from enforcing his rights. Ordinarily a plea of delay is discouraged if the circumstances are such that the parties have not by words or conduct or express stipulation made time of the essence of the contract. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) ABDUL MAJID KHAN v. BALAPPA. 82 I. C. 105 : 1925 Nag. 58.

———Grave delay in answering requisition—Relief.

Where vendor took too much time in answering defendant's requisitions.

Held, he was not entitled to specific relief but he was entitled to costs of agreement of sale and forfeiture of vendee's earnest money. (Fawcett, J.) SHAMSUDDIN TAJBHAI v. DAHYABAL MAGANLAL.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 19.

48 Bom. 368 : 26 Bom. L. R. 105 : 1924 Bom. 357.

———Suit for—Laches—Effect.

75 I. C. 743 (2).

———Time when essence of the contract.

75 I. C. 421.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 9—Suit on title—Converted into one for possession—Legality of.

A mortgagee of an occupancy holding executed after the passing of the Agra Ten. Act was dispossessed by the mortgagor. The mortgagee sued for possession on the strength of the title, Held, that the mortgage being illegal, the mortgagee, had no title and that the suit for possession based on title could not be converted into a suit under S. 9 of the Sp. Rel. Act. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) GANESH RAI v. BHUSI RAI.

L. R. 5 A. 273 (Rev.) : 82 I. C. 324 : 1925 A. 69.

———Ss. 12 and 21—Contract for sale of land—Breach—Specific performance—Damages.

The word "adequate" in section 21 of the Sp. Rel. Act must be adequate in the mind of the Court, for some reason found as a fact and stated by the Court for holding it to be adequate, in spite of the opinion of the plaintiffs that it is inadequate.

The Legislature did not intend that persons who entered into contracts to transfer or lease immoveable property should be allowed to escape from them to suit their own convenience by alleging that the person in whose favour the contract was made, could be compensated in money, because that explanation requires the Court to presume that such compensation cannot be adequate unless and until the contrary is proved. (Walsh and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) BEJI BALLABH DAS v. MAHABIR PRASAD.

L. R. 5 A. 180 : 10 O & A. L. R. 394 : 78 I. C. 167 : 1924 A. 529.

———S. 16—Contract if divisible—Specific Performance as to part.

75 I. C. 421.

———S. 18—Contract to sell land—Suit for specific performance—Vendee imposing new terms—Time if of the essence of contract.

The vendee under a contract to sell, knowing that what he agreed to buy was a share of joint property in the hands of tenants, gave a notice to the vendor to get a partition by metes and bounds within 24 hours and complete the sale deed. Thereafter when this impossible condition was not fulfilled, he failed to pay the balance of the purchase money. Held, in a suit for specific performance, the default was on the part of the vendee. In the case of contracts for sale of land time as a rule is not of the essence of the contract, but it is open to parties to make time of the essence of the contract. (Devadoss, J.) KANCHINADAM SURYANARAYANAMURTHI v. SATYANARYANAMURTHI. 20 L. W. 832 : 48 M. L. J. 150

———S. 19—Damages not prayed for can be granted even along with specific performance—Specific performance.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 19.

Court can award damages in a suit for specific performance though not specifically prayed for. It ought to award damages when it thinks that damages should be awarded. This principle applies even in cases where specific performance is decreed. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Malan, J.) THE ARYA PRADISHAK PRATINIDHI SABHA THROUGH LALA HANS RAJ v. CHAUDHRI RAM CHAND. 5 Lah. 509 : 1924 Lah. 713.

—Ss. 19, and 21—Suit for specific performance—Damages if can be awarded.

A plaintiff is not obliged in a suit for specific performance to pray specifically for damages whether in addition or in substitution. He has a choice of remedies open to him to apply for and the Court has always a discretion to award damages if it is of opinion that damages are the appropriate remedy. (Harrison and Moti Sagar, JJ.) SKINNER v. SKINNER. 80 I. C. 712 : 1925 Lah. 132 (2).

—S. 20—Contract for sale of land—Agreement by one of two persons entitled to the land—Provision for other sharers joining in conveyance—Sale by both the persons to a stranger—Specific performance.

Two brothers who were jointly entitled to a particular property were anxious to sell the same. The elder of the two brothers acting with the authority of the younger agreed to sell the property to the plaintiff, stipulating among other things—the younger brother was to join in the conveyance and that if he defaulted to do so, the advance of Rs. 200 paid under the agreement should be returned with interest and also that a sum of Rs. 200 should be paid as damages. After this agreement the brothers sold the property to a stranger who purchased with notice of the agreement. In a suit for specific performance by the plaintiff the subsequent purchaser set up that the agreement in favour of the plaintiff was an incomplete one for want of the concurrence of the younger brother and that the plaintiff was only entitled to damages. Held, that elder brother had authority from the younger to negotiate for the sale of the properties and that the agreement in favour of the plaintiff was perfectly valid. The mere fact that the contract contained a provision for payment of damages did not disentitle the plaintiff to specific performance. (Krishnan, J.) SANYALI SOLAGAN v. NAGAMUTHU MULANADI. 20 L. W. 523 : (1924) M. W. N. 857 : 1925 Mad. 227.

—S. 20—Minor—Contract for sale of property by guardian—Subsequent sale to a third person for higher price—Specific performance of contract.

Where for the purpose of discharging debts binding on a minor's estate his guardian contracts to sell the minor's property for a reasonable price, it is open to the court to decree specific performance of the contract of the sale as against the subsequent purchaser of the sale property even though such purchaser has paid a higher price 42 M. 185 F : 29 All. 213 Ref. 16 C W. N. 297 R. (Devadoss, J.) KASIVASA CHIDAMBARA SWAMIGAL v. RAMAKRISHNA REDDIAR.

20 L. W. 559 : (1924) M. W. N. 878 : 35 M. L. T. (H.C.) 110 : 82 I. C. 926 : 1924 Mad. 863 : 47 M. L. J. 683.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 22.

—S. 21—Specific performance—Mortgage—Agreement to lend money.

A suit to enforce an agreement to lend money on a mortgage does not lie. The plaintiff may obtain compensation or damages against the defendant but such a right is not transferable. 34 M. L. J. 342 : 43 C. 59 foll. (Venkatasubba Rao, J.) YADAVENDRA BHATTA v. SRINIVASA BABU.

20 L. W. 17 : 47 Mad. 698 : 80 I. C. 5 : 1925 Mad. 62 : 20 L. W. 548 : 47 M. L. J. 435.

—S. 22—Contract—Specific performance—Non-disclosure of material facts—Effect of—Restrictive covenant on property sold—Breach of covenant by vendor—Right of purchaser to rescind contract.

On 8-9-1922 plaintiff and two others agreed to sell their house in a street in Bombay to the first defendant for Rs. 66,000. At the same time, an adjoining house was sold to the father of the first defendant. The two houses stood on plots of land which lay contiguous to each other. Of the two houses, the house in dispute stood on a plot of land marked C. This plot C formed part of a large estate belonging to R and K. To the south-west of plot C was another plot, described as plot No. 12, which also belonged to the same owners. When plot C was sold on 24-9-1918 the buyer agreed to keep free a strip of land 7½ feet in depth all along the 40 feet facing the south-west of the plot. No building permanent or temporary was to be built on the said strip of land for a distance of 7½ feet. The above covenant was repeated in another document of 14-6-1920 with the following additions:—"It is hereby agreed between the vendors and the purchasers so as not to bind or impose on themselves any personal liability under this covenant after they have parted with the said plot but so as to bind all persons in whom the said plot of land shall for the time being be vested and we do hereby covenant with the vendors as follows." Notwithstanding the covenant, the owners of Plot C built in 1921 the present house which encroached upon the covenanted piece of land to a depth of five feet all along the south-west boundary. Neither the restrictive covenant nor its breach was disclosed to the buyer. Held, that omission of the vendors to disclose the existence of the covenant or of its breach was a serious breach of their duty as vendors and entitled the purchaser to repudiate the contract on discovering the true facts. The existence of the restrictive covenant and its breach constituted a material defect in their title. The mere fact that the purchaser gave a chance to his vendors to procure the consent of their original vendors to the erection of the building does not operate as a waiver of the purchaser's right of rescission. A purchaser's right to repudiate the contract is an equitable right arising from want of mutuality and may be a defence to an action for specific performance, but in order to avail himself of that defence he must repudiate the contract as soon as he finds that the vendor cannot make a good title. If the purchaser continues in negotiation as to the title, and thus treats the contract as subsisting, he cannot repudiate at any subsequent moment he may choose, but must give the vendor a reasonable time to remedy the defect. (Marten and Kinkaid, JJ.) BAI DOSIBAI v. BAI DHANBAI.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 22.

26 Bom L. R. 107 1 : 1925 Bom. 85.

———S. 22 — Co-sharers — Partition — Land given on perpetual lease falling to a co-sharer other than the lessor—Suit for possession of other land—Executory contract.

A co-sharer in possession of specific plots of land granted a perpetual lease of them to plaintiff and one of the conditions of the lease was that if the lands leased were allotted to the share of any co-sharer other than the lessor, the plaintiff was entitled to take possession of land similar to the land leased in any other village allowed to the lessor. The contingency contemplated having happened, the plaintiff sued for possession of the substituted properties. Held, that the suit was not one for the specific performance of an executory contract but one for possession. S. 22 of the Specific Rel. Act did not apply to the case. (Dalal, J. C.) BIBI BATUL KHANAM v. SULTAN BAHADUR KHAN. 26 C. C. 393 : 10 O. L. J. 420; 80 I. C. 796 : 1924 Oudh 165.

———S. 22—Delay in completing sale—Right to make time essence of contract—Earnest money—Return of. 1924 Bom 232.

———S. 22—Discretion of Court—Abandonment of claim for specific performance—If allowed—Time if essential. 48 Bom. 259 : 77 I. C. 275 : 1924 Bom. 119.

———S. 24—Promisee's default not going to root of contract—If disentitles him to right to specific performance.

Where the promisor had no right to independent possession for beyond 9 days after the contract after which the right was in another person and such person made no complaint on the subject and there was no default on the part of the promisee going to the root of the contract or any omission that could not have been amply compensated by directing him, on repurchase and by way of addition to the stipulated purchase price, to account for any rents and profits received by him from the properties.

Held, that the promisee was entitled to specific performance of the promisor's agreement to reconvey the property to him though he (the promisee) might have failed to deliver possession of the property to the promisor according to his (promisee's) covenant to do so. (Lord Blanesburgh.) MA SA BON v. MA DA TWE.

20 L. W. 884 : 1924 P. C. 233.

———S. 27—Specific performance—Contract by guardian to sell minor's property—Transferee with notice of Contract—Specific performance—Mutuality—Compensation—Specific performance of part of the contract.

There is no distinction between a contract for the sale and a contract for the purchase of property on behalf of a minor. In either case it is not possible to decree specific performance against a minor. Where the de facto guardian of a minor has entered into a contract with a third party for the sale of the minor's property, to direct the contract to be carried into effect as against the minors is to sanction a plain breach of trust on the part of the de facto guardian and this the Court will not do.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 39.

The operation of S. 27 (b) of the Sp. Rel. Act is confined to cases where the contracts are in the first instance enforceable as against the parties to the contract. The liability of a person claiming under a party to the contract rests upon the antecedent liability of a party to the contract and arises by reason of the fact that as such transferee he takes subject to the transferor's pre-existing contractual obligation; and where there is no pre-existing contractual obligation, the case entirely fails against the transferee. Notice of the original contract must mean notice of an existing obligation under the contract; and where the contract itself is unenforceable it is impossible to hold that it can be enforced against the subsequent transferee.

The Court will not, as a general rule, compel specific performance of a contract unless it can execute the whole contract. A contract for sale of property in one lot will generally be considered indivisible for the reason that there is obvious injustice in compelling the purchaser of the property in its entirety to take undivided parts or shares of the estate. (Das and Foster, JJ.) ABDUL HAQ v. MAHOMED YEHIA KHAN.

2 Pat. L. R. 181.

———S. 27—Suit for specific performance—Contract for sale—Subsequent purchase from vendor—Bona fide purchase without notice—Burden of proof on subsequent purchaser. See BURDEN OF PROOF. 40 C. L. J. 184.

———S. 35—"In the same case"—Meaning of—Object of Legislature.

The words "In the same case" in the last para. of S. 35 are not happily chosen. They are not restricted to the previous para alone, but apply to cases of both vendor or vendee being in possession. The object of the Legislature was to legalise in India the English practice under which the party not in default can obtain rescission not merely by a separate suit but also by application in the suit. (Madgavkar, A. J. C.) RAMJI HANSRAJ v. CHINAI. 82 I. C. 73 (2) : 1925 S. 40.

———Ss. 36 and 42—Private award—Suit to set aside—Law applicable.

A suit to set aside a private award is entertainable under S. 39 of the Sp. Rel. Act. If the suit in the present case, comes under Section 39, there is obviously no warrant for engrafting on it a proviso on the lines of that annexed by the Legislature to section 42, and for insisting on the plaintiff combining other reliefs with the prayer for cancellation. The Court has of course, a discretion to grant or to refuse to grant that prayer; but that discretion has to be exercised in the light of the circumstances of each case. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) SHA MOGANLAL VELCHAND SAIT v. SINGRI NANJAPPA. 2 Mys. L. J. 55.

———S. 39—Suit to stay arbitration because of there being no contract at all—If maintainable—Specific Relief Act, S. 56—Arbitration Act, S. 14.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 41.

A suit for a declaration that a certain contract entered into between plaintiffs and defendants is not binding on the plaintiff inasmuch as they did not enter into such contract and for an injunction to restrain arbitration in respect of breach of the alleged contract, is maintainable if the plaintiff reasonably apprehends serious injury to result from the arbitration. In such a case the remedy under S. 14 of the Arbitration Act is not his sole remedy and does not take away the remedy open to him under the provisions of S. 9, Civil Procedure Code, of bringing an action to set aside the award on the ground that no contract providing for a reference to arbitration was made or that the contract if made was not enforceable by reason of fraud or misrepresentation. S. 39 of the Specific Relief Act confers the right of suit in such cases and Ss. 42 and 56 are no bar to the suit. 1922 P. C. 374, 1922 Lah. 369 Foll. (1920) 47 Cal. 733 Dist. (Raymond, A. J. C.) TYEBALLY ABDUL HUSSAIN v. MRS. JAMES, FINLAY & CO.

17 S. L. R. 15 : 80 I. C. 969 : 1924 S. 105 (2).

———S. 41—Lease by minor—Cancellation—Compensation to lessee.

A minor, purporting to act as manager of a family, granted a perpetual lease of certain land to the defendants who erected houses and raised fruit gardens thereon. Subsequently at a partition the lands fell to the predecessors-in-title of the plaintiffs who sued for cancellation of the lease and ejectment of the defendants. Held, that the lease must be cancelled and that under S. 41 of the Specific Relief Act, the defendants were entitled to revenue or have the houses created by them on the land valued and also to have any bunds erected by them and any fruit garden raised by them valued and the proceeds paid to them, such value in all cases being the estimated value at the time of eviction. Further if they have planted or sown on the property crops which are growing at the time of eviction, they are entitled to such crops when ripe and free ingress and egress to gather, and carry them. (Young, J.) DOO DOO MEAH v. KASIM ALI.

3 Bur. L. J. 76 : 80 I. C. 250 : 1924 Rang. 288.

———S. 41—Minor—Sale—Refund of purchase money.

75 I. C. 261.

———S. 42—Consequential relief—Nature of—Plaintiffs in physical possession—Nature of possession.

L. R. 5 A. 324.

———S. 42—Consequential relief—Status of tenant—Record of rights—Entry as thekadar—Suit for declaration that tenant was a yearly tenant—No prayer for ejectment.

In the record of rights an entry was made to the effect that the defendants were holding the suit village as permanent thekaders not liable to ejectment. The plaintiff (landlord) thereon sued for a declaration that the defendants were in possession of the village as temporary thekaders on a yearly tenancy and liable to ejectment on proper notice to quit. There was no prayer for ejectment or any other relief. Defendants pleaded S. 42 of the Sp. Rel. Act as a bar. Held, that the suit was maintainable as laid and no consequential relief by way of ejectment could be asked for at the time when the plaint was filed. (Mullick and Jwala Prasad, JJ.) TEKAIT HAR-NARAYAN SINGH v. DARSHAN DEO. 3 Pat. 403 : 1924 P. 560.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 42.

———S. 42—Declaration of title to property—Unknown and uncertain share in property.

A Court will not grant a declaration of plaintiff's right to an unknown and uncertain share in joint property. (Mookerjee and Rankin, JJ.) HASIM ALI v. ABJAL KHAN. 40 C. L. J. 30 : 82 I. C. 392 : 1924 Cal. 1046.

———S. 42—Declaration—Discretionary relief—Grant of.

The relief of declaration is more or less a discretionary relief and Courts are not ordinarily prepared to grant such relief where it would only be by way of anticipation or where the main heads of complaint have failed. (Prideaux and Kinkhede, A.J.Cs.) JUMILAL v. MT. HALKI. 1924 Nag. 387.

———S. 42—Hindu female—Limited interest in property—Alienation by certificated guardian of female without permission of Court—Suit by reversioners for declaration of the invalidity of alienation See GUARDIAN AND WARDS ACT, Ss. 18 AND 30.

51 C. 101.

———S. 42—Possession with Receiver appointed under S. 146, Cr. P. C.—If prayer for possession necessary.

Where a court acting under S. 146, Cr. P. C., appoints a Receiver for the suit properties and refers parties to a Civil suit to establish title, a suit for mere declaration of title is not vitiated by the fact there is no relief claimed regarding possession. (Krishnan, J.) DEVARAJULU NAIDU v. KONDAMMAL. 80 I. C. 929 : 20 L. W. 754.

———S. 42—Subsisting interest, proof of.

In a suit for a declaration the court ought to be satisfied that the plaintiff has a valid and subsisting interest in the property in respect of which the declaration is asked for, even though the defendant may have no locus standi to call it in question. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) BHUKARI BEHERA v. SITAMONI DEVI. 1924 P. 706.

———S. 42—Suit for declaration—Cause of action—Person not a party to litigation and not affected thereby—Suit to declare decree fraudulent—Parties—Injunction—Consequential relief.

MOHESH CHANDRA MISRA v. NISTARINI DASSYA. 77 I. C. 576.

———S. 42—Suit for declaration—Consequential relief—Necessity for.

Plaintiff was the widow of a deceased Mahomedan and was in possession of his estate. She was also the administratrix of the estate as such widow. No probate had been taken of the will of the deceased Mahomedan. She sued for a declaration that the properties of which she was in possession were not liable to be sold in execution of a mortgage decree obtained by the defendants against third persons. The defendants set up the plea that the plaintiff's deceased husband had validly bequeathed the properties in his life-time to their mortgagors. The court below dismissed the suit holding that in a suit for a mere declaration the validity of the alleged will and its existence at the death of the testator could not be questioned. Held, that it was not incumbent on the plaintiff to ask for any further relief beyond the declaration asked and the court was bound to try the question as to the existence of the will. (Duckworth and Godfrey, II.) MA NYUN v. CHITHAMBARAM CHETTIAR.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 42.

1925 Rang, 132 : 2 Rang, 572.

—S. 42—Suit for declaration with consequential relief—Refusal of consequential relief—Form of decree. See C. P. CODE, S. 11.

20 L. W. 63.

—S. 42—Suit for declaration—Consequential relief—Nature of—Suit when liable to be dismissed for want of consequent relief.

While the proviso to S. 42 of the Sp. Rel. Act forbids the making of a declaration where the plaintiff omits to seek the further relief if any available, it does not require the Court to dismiss the suit where the prayer is not limited to a mere declaration but embraces some relief to which the plaintiff can make out a claim. Nor, does it compel a plaintiff to sue for all the reliefs which could possibly be granted, or debar him from obtaining a relief which he wants unless at the same time he asks for a relief which he does not want. It is further material to note that the relief which the plaintiff must ask for if available is, not other relief, that is, additional relief or relief independent of the cause of action on which the suit for declaration is based, but further relief: that is to say relief in relation to the legal character or right as to property involved in the suit, arising out of the cause of action on which the suit is based, and flowing directly and necessarily from the declaration sought. (Chandrasekhara Aiyar, C. J. and Subbanna, J.) SHA MOGANLAL VELCHAND SAIT v. SINGRI NANIAPPA.

2 Mys. L. J. 55.

—S. 42—Suit for declaration—Plaintiff out of possession—Bar.

Where a person is out of possession of property a suit for a bare declaration of title is incompetent under S. 42, Specific Relief Act. (Doss and Ross, JJ.) TIKAIT THAKUR NARAYAN SINGH v. DILDAR ALI KHAN.

80 I. C. 544 : 3 Pat. 915.

—S. 42—Suit for declaration of status—No reference to property—Maintainability.

A suit wherein the relief claimed is a declaration of status is one for a substantial relief and is maintainable though the claim has no reference to any right as to any property. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) NAQI HUSAIN v. MT. CHHAJI BEGAM.

80 I. C. 408 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 908.

—S. 42—Suit for declaration—Future right of indemnity—Cause of action.

Where the plaintiff has made certain payment which the defendants were liable to pay and brings a suit for reimbursement and for a declaration of his right to reimbursement in the future. Held, that there was no cause of action for a declaration in respect of a future right of indemnity under S. 42 of the Sp. Rel. Act. (Pratt and Fawcett, JJ.) ACHAL SINGH v. DALAT SINGH.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 45.

26 Bom. L. R. 678 : 1924 Bom. 470.

—S. 42—Transferee—Suit for possession—Requisites of gift—Cause of action.

A plaintiff suing under S. 42 of the Sp. Rel. Act must be entitled to some legal character or to some right as to the property. A person claiming under an invalid gift is not entitled to a declaration of his title. (Foster, J.) RAM PRAGSH LAL v. MT. BHIKHNA KUER.

2 Pat. L. R. 273.

—S. 42—Will—Invalidity of bequest—Possession if to be asked.

A suit for declaration that the bequests under a will are void and for an injunction restraining the expenditure of money on such bequests is maintainable, without possession being claimed in the plaint. S. 42 does not compel a plaintiff to sue for all the reliefs which could possibly be granted or debar him from obtaining a relief which he wants, unless at the same time he asks for a relief which he does not want. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) SHAMBAI v. GOVERDHAN,
78 I. C. 249.

—S. 42—Proviso—Consequential relief—Suit for declaration of plaintiff's right as trustees of a Hindu temple and for injunction—Prayer for possession of temple and its properties, if necessary.

A suit by the plaintiffs for a declaration that they are lawful trustees of a Hindu temple and its endowments, for a direction that defendants who claimed to be trustees should be made to restore the office of trustee to them, and for an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with the exercise by the plaintiffs of their duties as trustees does not offend against the proviso to S. 42 of the Specific Relief Act and the plaintiffs are not bound to sue for possession of the temple and its properties especially where the tenants of the properties are willing to pay the rents to whomsoever is the proper trustee. 28 Bom. 567, 36 Mad. 364 followed; 33 M. 452 distinguished. (Spencer and Srinivasa, Aiyangar, JJ.) SWAMINADHA AIYAR v. RAMIER.
20 L. W. 893 :
80 I. C. 1053 : 47 M. L. J. 671.

—S. 42—Proviso—Scope of.

The proviso to S. 42 does not compel a plaintiff to sue for all the reliefs which could possibly be granted or debar him from obtaining a relief which he wants unless at the same time he asks for a relief which he does not want. The section does not authorise the dismissal of the suit but only forbids the court to make the declaration the prayer for which is not coupled with a prayer for consequential relief. (Mukerjee, J.) RAM SADHAN BISWAS v. MATHURA MOHAN HAZRA.

80 I. C. 2 : 1925 Cal. 233.

—S. 45—Mandamus—Election—Returning officer—Functions of—Quasi Judicial—Eligibility of candidate for election.

Where an application is made to the High Court for a mandamus under S. 45 of the Sp. Rel. Act to compel a returning officer to declare that a candidate had been validly nominated, and it is proved that the returning officer had assumed a jurisdiction which he did not possess, the High

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 45.

Court would interfere by mandamus. Where however the returning officer did not usurp a jurisdiction which he did not possess or refuse to exercise a jurisdiction vested in him by law and it was not suggested that he was actuated by any malafides or extraneous circumstances, the mere fact that the returning officer might have committed an error of law in exercising his function does not justify the issue of mandamus. Moreover the fact that the applicant has another remedy is a ground for refusing a Mandamus. (Sanderson, C. J. and Richardson, J.) MAHARAJAH SIR MANINDRA CHANDRA NANDI v. PROVAS CHANDRA MITTER. 51 Cal. 279: 39 C. L. J. 58: 79 I. C. 1042: 1924 Cal. 761.

—S. 45—Mandamus—Writ of—Jurisdiction of High Court—Conditions to be fulfilled by applicant—Injury—Nature of—Franchise—Supplementary grant—Voting in Legislative Council—Ultra vires act—Denial of justice—Government of India Act, Ss. 52 and 72.

In dealing with applications under S. 45 of the Sp. Rel. Act, the principles applicable to a writ of mandamus should generally speaking be followed. It is a high prerogative writ and is granted to do justice and preserve a right where there is no specific legal remedy. The court, in the exercise of this authority to grant the writ of mandamus, will render it so far as it can be the supplementary means of substantial justice in every case where there is no other specific legal remedy for a legal right and will provide as effectively as it can that others exercise their duty wherever the subject matter is properly within its control. The writ being a high prerogative writ, it cannot be demanded ex debito justitiæ but it issues only in the discretion of the Court. The rights to be enforced must be of a public nature and also those which although of a public nature, specially affect the rights of individuals. The person applying must show that he has a real and special interest in the subject matter and a specific legal right to enforce. There must also be a sufficient demand to perform the act sought to be enforced and a refusal to perform it. There must also be the possibility of effective enforcement of the writ and the writ will not issue if alternative remedies are open to the applicant. These principles are laid down in S. 45 of the Sp. Rel. Act. The five conditions laid down in clauses (a) to (e) of S. 45 of the Sp. Rel. Act are cumulative and all of them must be fulfilled. The court is invested with very large powers and the remedy is of a summary nature and coercive in character. The wider the power, the greater must be the caution with which this power is exercised.

Where a member of the Bengal Legislative Council applied under S. 45 of the Sp. Rel. Act for issue of writ of mandamus praying for an order "directing the President of the Council to decide on the admissibility of a motion for minister's salaries contained in the agenda of business and to disallow the said motion and to forbear putting the same at the next Session of the Bengal Legislative Council." Held (1) that the applicant had not shown that his property or franchise or personal right would in any way be injured: (2) that there was no refusal of justice by

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 54.

President: and (3) that the application should be rejected. (C. C. Ghose, J.) JATINDRA MOHAN SEN GUPTA In re. 51 Cal. 874: 40 C. L. J. 44: 82 I. C. 374: 1925 Cal. 48.

—S. 45—Municipal corporation—Right of councillor to move resolution for reduction of tax—Motion postponed at the request of the President—Subsequent resolution ruled out—Application for Mandamus—Madras City Municipal Act, Ss. 99, 155 and 157.

At a meeting of the Municipal Corporation of the City of Madras for consideration of the annual budget, a municipal councillor wanted to move a resolution for the reduction of the property tax by 1 per cent. On the suggestion of the President that the resolution might be considered after discussion of the items of expenditure, the member did not move the resolution. Subsequently after the items of expenditure had been discussed and voted upon, the member moved a resolution for reduction of the property tax. The president however ruled the resolution as out of order on the ground that if allowed it would reduce the income so much that the balance of one lakh of rupees required to be maintained by S. 155, Cl. 2, of the Madras City Municipal Act, 1920, could not be maintained. Thereupon the member moved a resolution for reduction of the property tax by $\frac{1}{2}$ the original rate and to suspend proposals for increase of the tax, which also was ruled out by the President. On application for Mandamus against the president directing him to put the resolution before the meeting of the council, held that the writ should issue against the president. The resolution was in order inasmuch as it was the statutory duty of the councillors to fix what the rates of tax were to be, whether the same as the previous year or not. The postponement of the resolution at the instance of the President was on the footing that though expenditure was voted upon, it was not final and a reduction might have to be made therein, if the income was to be reduced. Even if the grant of the estimates of the expenditure was final it did not necessarily negative the reduction of tax inasmuch as there might be other modes of taxation resorted to, to make up the deficiency. There was a denial to the applicant of his right as a municipal councillor by the President and the applicant had no other adequate remedy. Consequently the Writ of Mandamus should issue against the president. (Kumarswami Sastri, J.) THE CITY MUNICIPAL ACT, THANIKACHALLAM CHETTIAR, PETITIONER, In the matter of. 20 L. W. 589: 1924 Mad. 868.

—S. 54—Injunction—When to be granted—Deprivation of property.

Plaintiffs, one a Hindu and the other a Mahomedan, jointly purchased the building in suit and they were obstructed in the attempt to open a door in the eastern wall of the building which would lead to a courtyard common to them and defendants respondents. They therefore prayed for an injunction restraining the respondent from interfering with their rights. Held, if the injunction is withheld it would be tantamount to depriving the appellants of the user of the property which they own for it is not to be expected that a Hindu and a Mahomedan family could occupy one room jointly. The house can be brought into use only by means of a partition wall, and to make both the apartments habitable the door proposed to be opened by the appellants was indispensable, and therefore the injunction ought to be granted. Per Madgavkar, A. J. C.—The joint ownership of the courtyard entitles the plaintiff to the injunction and the question of the creed of the parties is immaterial. (Raymond and Madgavkar, A. J. C.) AZIZULIAH KHAN v. GULAM HASSAIN. 17 S. L. R. 63 : 1924 S. 97 : 80 I. C. 994.

SPECIFIC RELIEF ACT, S. 55.

—S. 55—Mandatory injunction—Granting of.

A mandatory injunction is a most exceptional remedy and one which is never to be applied except with the greatest safeguard for the prevention of waste as well as injustice, (Rankin and Mukherjee, JJ.) JAGABANDHU KUNDU v. RAJMOHAN PAL. 78 I. C. 599.

—S. 56—Scope of.

Perpetual injunctions are governed by the Specific Relief Act and an injunction cannot be issued by a Court to stay proceedings in a Court not subordinate to that from which the injunction is issued. The prohibition in clause 6 operates only in respect of Courts which are not subordinate in the sense that they are co-ordinate or superior and not in respect of the Court itself which must always be taken as competent to regulate its own proceedings. (Mukherjee, J.) RAM SADHAN BISWAS v. MATHURA MOHAN HAZRA. 81 I. C. 2 : 1925 Cal. 233.

STAMP ACT, (II OF 1899) S. 24—Sale deed—Purchase-money—Sale of property subject to mortgages—Vendee agreeing to pay off encumbrance—Stamp duty payable on sale-deed.

The question in the case related to the stamp duty payable upon a sale deed executed by the vendors for a net consideration of Rs. 10,000. The property sold was along with another property subject to a mortgage of Rs. 13,858 and odd inclusive of interest at the date of sale. The property was also subject to attachment in respect whereof rupees 1,500 were payable. The sale deed made clear that the net consideration for the sale was Rs. 10,000. The liability for the mortgage charges and for the amount payable in respect of the attachment was accepted by the vendors under the terms of the document. The stamp duty actually paid was on Rs. 10,000. The collector demanded the duty on that amount as well as the amount of the encumbrances. On a reference to the High Court held, that the proper stamp duty payable on the deed of sale was in respect of Rs. 10,000 only. (Shah, A. J. C. and Fawcett, J.) WAMAN v. COMMISSIONER, CENTRAL DIVISION. 26 Bom. L. R. 942 : 1924 Bom. 524.

—Ss. 26 and 35—Mining lease—Claim for royalty exceeding amount covered by stamp on lease—Payment of deficient duty and penalty.

By the combined operations of Ss. 26 and 35 of the Stamp Act (II of 1899), a lessee under a mining lease is entitled, upon payment of the proper penalty, to recover the royalty provided for in the lease, even though the amount thereof should prove to be in excess of that covered by the stamp originally affixed to the lease. (Lord Dunedin.) NARAYAN AGARWALA v. RAMESHWAR PRASAD SINGH. 5 Pat. L. T. 570 : 26 Bom. L. R. 1140 : 20 L. W. 811 : 40 C. L. J. 443 : 1924 P. C. 22 (2) : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1272 : 10 W. N. 704 : 82 I. C. 789 (2) : 51 I. A. 332 : 47 M. L. J. 300.

STAMP ACT.

—S. 26 and 35—Relation between.
S. 26 of the Stamp Act is subject to S. 35 of the same. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) NILKANTH v. KESHERAO. 1924 Nag. 408 (2).

—Ss. 35, 45, 50 and 56—Deed of trust—Settlement—Penalty.

A declaration of trust is not defined by the Stamp Act I of 1879. The term implies a declaration by the executant that he holds certain property in trust : The executant of a document announced that he holds the property and intended to hold it for his life and thereafter it was to go to his son if one be born, in which case the son would become the permanent proprietor, and, as against him the document subject to a certain provision for maintenance would be void ; if daughters be born and no son, the property would be distributed between the daughters and nieces ; if daughters be not born an existing daughter and niece would become the permanent proprietresses. Held, that the document was a settlement and not a declaration of trust and should be stamped as such. Having regard to the bona fides of the parties, there was no reason for exacting a penalty. (Morshead, M.C.) MT. LILAWATI DEBI v. SECRETARY OF STATE. 2 Pat. L. R. 18 (Cr.)

—Ss. 35 (a) and 36—Arbitrator—Power to act under—Jurisdiction of Court—Document substituting one arbitrator for another—Stamp.

The parties to a submission to arbitration replaced one arbitrator by another and the document to appointing a new arbitrator was not stamped. But this defect was not brought to their notice and they admitted the document. Subsequently in a suit on the award, held that the arbitrators having admitted the document, the admission of the reference by them could no longer be called in question before them but the Court could, on ascertaining the true facts, proceed under S. 35 (a) of the Stamp Act. 27 C. W. N. 513 Ref. Per Suhrawardy, J. :—A subsequent variation in the names of the arbitrators will not be a reference to arbitration but would only be a substitution of the name of an arbitrator in the place of another and the document does not require to be stamped (Walmsley and Suhrawardy, JJ.) KALI CHARAN BANIK v. MANI MOHAN SAHA BANIK.

23 C. W. N. 871 : 82 I. C. 416 : 1924 Cal. 794.

—S. 62 (2)—Award—Partition—Liability to stamp—Signature by arbitrator—Offence.

46 A. 54.

—Sch. I, Arts. 5 (c) 57 (b)—Security bond and agreement of service—Limit not defined—Duty payable—Penalty.

A document which is an agreement of service and a security bond, but in which no limit is fixed falls under Arts. 5 (c) and 57 (b), Stamp Act—Any deficiency in stamp can be remedied by payment of the difference and a penalty. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) NILKANTH v. KESHERAO. 1924 Nag. 408 (2).

STAMP ACT, ART. 53.

—Art. 53, Cl. 1 (b)—Receipt of article—Failure to affix stamp—Conviction.

There was a theft at the house of the applicant and Rs. 150 were recovered by the police from the house of the accused who was tried and convicted for the offence. The Tahsildar who tried the theft case ordered that the money be returned to the applicant as it was part of the property stolen from his house. The sum of Rs. 150 was accordingly paid to the applicant who executed a receipt for the same without fixing any stamp on it. He was subsequently convicted under S 62 Cl. 1 (b) of the Stamp Act Held, that the receipt came under exemption (b) Art. 53 of the Stamp Act and that the accused was not guilty of the offence. (Stuart, J.) KANHAILAL v. EMPEROR, 46 A. 354 : 22 A. L. J. 288 : L. R. 5 A. 78 : 81 I. C. 720 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1008 : 1924 A. 578.

SUCCESSION—Ancestral property—Competition between daughter and collaterals in the tenth degree—Special custom—Khera Jats—Onus of proof—Entry in Riwaji-i-am—Evidentiary value.

The onus is heavily upon persons who allege that by custom among the Khera Jats, the collaterals even of the tenth degree exclude the daughter from succession to the father's ancestral property, to strictly prove the particular custom. Value of an entry in Riwaji-i-am considered. (Scott-Smith and Harrison, JJ.) GURDIT SINGH v. MT. MALAN, 5 Lah. 364 : 1925 Lah. 35.

SUCCESSION ACT (X OF 1865) Ss. 3 and 46—Married woman—Guardian appointed by Court—Age of majority—Power to make a will.

A married woman who died before attaining the age of 21 years and of whose person and property a guardian has been appointed is not competent to make a will disposing of her property (Buckland, J.) EFFIE JESSIE CAROLINE MIRANDA in the goods of, 28 C. W. N. 527 : 81 I. C. 1008 : 1924 Cal. 644.

S. 48—Foolish and unnatural provisions—Undue influence may not be presumed.

By his will the deceased appointed his wife as the sole executrix. But the evidence that the deceased signed the will with full comprehension of its meaning and contents was overwhelming and explicit, and it was in evidence that the deceased had not been for some time on good terms with his eldest son. It appeared also that he has adequately provided for him (son) and it was proved that the deceased had full confidence in his wife.

Held, the evidence excluded the hypothesis of the will having been obtained by undue influence (Tyrell v. Pinson) (1894) P. 151, Dist. 11 M. I. A. 44. Ref. A man may act foolishly and even heartlessly; if he acts with full comprehension of what he is doing the Court will not interfere with the exercise of his volition. (Mr. Ameer Ali.) MOTIBAI HORMUSJEE KANGA v. JAMSETJEE HORMUSJEE KANGA, (1924) M. W. N. 173 : 2 Mys. L. J. (B. & C.) 1 : 19 L. W. 437 : 34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 4 : 26 Bom. L. R. 579 : 22 A. L. J. 98 : 80 I. C. 777 : L. R. 5 P. C. 165 : 29 C. W. N. 45 : 1924 P. C. 28.

SUCCESSION ACT, S. 187.

—Ss. 54 and 55—Will—Attesting witnesses—Meaning of—Forfeiture of legacy.

Where the names of certain persons appear on the face of a will governed by the Sessions Act oral evidence is admissible to prove whether or not such persons are really attesting witnesses or not. Where the testator expressly obtained the signature of his sons as a token of their consent to its provisions this is sufficient indication to put the court on enquiry and to permit the sons to lead oral evidence to prove that they did not sign as attesting witnesses. The mere fact that the scribe put the term "witnesses" below which certain persons signed their names, cannot make them attesting witnesses. (Datal, J. C. and Neave A. J. C.) SHIAM SUNDAR SINGH v. THAKUR JAGANNATH SINGH, 10 O. & A. L. R. 1261 : 1 O. W. N. 881.

S. 84, Illus. (A)—Bequest to daughter and children—Nature of estate.

Where an Indian Christian by his will gives his property to his daughter and her children, the former takes an absolute estate, and the case falls under S. 84 (a) Illustration of the Indian Succession Act. (Wazir Hasan and Kendall, A. J. C.) AGNES HARRIET DAVID v. MURRAY AND Co., 11 O. L. J. 459 : 79 I. C. 1026 : 1925 Oudh 24.

S. 107—Will—Bequest of residuary estate to posthumous son—Vested or contingent.

Where the will of a Parsi testator contained the following disposition relative to a posthumous son—"should a son be born he shall also be cherished and maintained and educated and brought up. And when he comes of age my executor or after his death his executors or executrices shall make over the whole of my remaining properties to the said son. Should the child (whether) daughter or son born of the womb of my wife die in tender age (i.e.) a minor and should my wife for any reason whatever be unwilling to live as a member of the family with my executor, then my executor, shall out of my property purchase bonds for Rs. 5,000 bearing interest at 4 per cent. at the market rate and shall transfer the same to the name of my said wife Ratanbai. Held that the bequest to the son was contingent within the meaning of the initial clause of S. 107 of the Succession Act and not vested and did not fall within the Exception at the end of the section. (Lord Carson.) COWASJI EDALJI DADACHANJI v. RATAN BAI, 1 O. W. N. 863 : 27 Bom. L. R. 1 : 47 M. L. J. 850 (P. C.)

S. 133—Meaning of 'Article'.

To construe the word 'article' as referring to both moveable and immoveable properties is opposed to rules of interpretation of statutes. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Srinivasa Aiyangar, J.) JULIA MARY MARGARET FERNANDEZ v. SEVERINA SOBINA COELHO, 20 L. W. 748.

S. 179—Executor—Title of, not derived from probate but from the will—Right to represent estate for all purposes. See EXECUTOR. 22 A. L. J. 193.

S. 187—Mahomedan will—Probate—Application for.

SUCCN. CERTIFICATE ACT (IX OF 1887), S. 4.

Though it is not obligatory in the case of a will of a Mahomedan to take out probate, yet probate can be granted of such a will. 8 B. 241 Ref. (Mookerjee and Chotzner, JJ.) SYED ABDUL ALIM v. BADARUDDIN. 28 C. W. N. 295 : 1924 Cal. 757.

SUCCESSION CERTIFICATE ACT (IX OF 1887), S. 4—Minor—Succession certificate—Attainment of majority—Payment to certificate holder.

The position of a holder of a succession certificate who has to collect the debts due to the estate of a minor cannot be compared to that of a certificated guardian. Such a succession certificate holds good until the minor takes steps to revoke it on coming of age. So it does not follow that the moment the minor becomes eighteen years of age the succession certificate is no longer valid and that if any payment is made to the holder, it is made to an unauthorised person. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) GANPAYA NARNAPPA v. KRISHNAPPA ANNAYA. 26 Bom. L. R. 491 : 80 I. C. 423 : 1924 Bom. 394.

—S. 4—Debt—Meaning of—Paddy rent due from tenant. 1924 Rang. 139 (1)

—S. 4—Objection to non-production of certificate raised on appeal—Procedure.

Sec. 4 of the Succession Certificate Act lays down that no Court shall pass a decree against a debtor of a deceased person for payment of his debt except on the production of a succession certificate.

It is well-established that the production of a succession certificate is not a condition precedent to the institution of a suit and that it is sufficient if it is produced at any time before the decree is made.

Where an objection is taken for the first time in appeal that the suit should not have been decreed inasmuch as the plaintiff had not produced the succession certificate, the suit should not be dismissed but opportunity should be given to the plaintiff to produce the certificate. (Das and Ross, JJ.) ZAHUR MIAN v. PURAN SINGH. 1924 P. H. C. C. 103 : 78 I. C. 307 : 5 Pat. L. T. 504 : 1924 P. 525.

—S. 18 (B)—Revocation of certificate—Concealment of material particulars.

Where a succession certificate had been issued without issuing notice to a party preferentially entitled and where material particulars had been concealed from the Court. Held, that the court acted rightly in revoking the succession certificate (Das and Ross, JJ.) DAMINI DASI v. FATUMANI DASI. 2 Pat. L. R. 34 : 78 I. C. 639 : 5 Pat. L. T. 564 : 1924 P. 520.

—Ss. 19 (3) and 26 (3)—Proceedings under the Act for certificate—Appointment of Receiver.

The Succession Certificate Act cannot be treated as analogous to the other Acts, like the Guardian and Wards Act and the Bengal Tenancy Act, to which the general provisions of the Civil Procedure Code have been held to apply. Section 141 cannot be made applicable to the Succession Certificate Act except in so far as it is expressly introduced by section 19 (3) and also, as a corollary by section 26 (3). The result is that it is not competent for a Court sitting as a Succession

SUITS VALUATION ACT, S. 8.

Certificate Court, working the provisions of the Succession Certificate Act, to entertain an application for the appointment of a Receiver and if the Court does so it acts without jurisdiction. (Walsh and Ryves, JJ.) KANHAIYA LAL v. KANHAIYA LAL. L. R. 5 A. 238 : 22 A. L. J. 345 : 79 I. C. 363 : 46 A. 372 : 1924 A. 376.

—S. 25—Decision in succession certificate proceeding—Not res judicata.

No decision given in proceedings under the Succession Certificate Act upon any question of right between any parties bars the trial of the same question in any suit between the same parties. (Scott-Smith and Fford, JJ.) MURLI DAS v. ACHUT DAS. 5 Lah. 105 : 1924 Lah. 493.

SUCCESSION (PROPERTY PROTECTION) ACT (XIX OF 1841)—Applicability of—Administration suit—Order for making inventory and appointing Curator.

Act XIX of 1841 is really out of date and there is no necessity whatever for parties claiming the estate of a deceased person to have recourse to it. The relief which is properly open to them is to file an administration suit and apply for the appointment of a Receiver in which case the question will be, who should be given possession until the dispute between the parties has been decided in the suit; then the Court can by an interlocutory order either appoint a receiver and so take the property into its own possession or it can allow any of the disputing parties to have possession on such terms as it may think fit. The scheme of Act XIX of 1841 is as follows. First a person must have died possessed of moveable and immoveable property; and the same must have been taken or alleged to have been taken upon some pretended claim of right by gift or succession. Then the Act contemplates that it shall be open to any person claiming a right by succession to the property of the deceased to make application to the judge of the court of the district where any part of the property is found or situate for relief, and that application for relief must clearly take the nature of a plaint in a summary suit. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) MAHMAD-BHAI v. BAI HAVABAI. 26 Bom. L. R. 145 : 80 I. C. 269 : 1924 Bom. 507.

SUITS VALUATION ACT, S. 8—Partition suit—Jurisdiction—Test.

In a partition suit, jurisdiction is determined by the value of the whole property and not merely plaintiff's share in it. The fact that plaintiff's title is disputed does not make it any the less a partition suit. (Greaves and Chakravarty, JJ.) RAJANI KANTA BAG v. RAJABALA DASI. 29 C. W. N. 76 : 1925 Cal. 320.

—S. 8—Suit for declaration and injunction against waste—Valuation for purposes of court fees and jurisdiction.

In all cases falling under the operation of Section 8 of the Suits Valuation Act, parties should first value their suits for the purposes of Court-fees and when this has been done, the valuation for purposes of Court fee will be the same for purposes of jurisdiction. In a suit by Hindu reversioners for a declaration and injunction to restrain the widow from wasting the estate the plaintiffs are entitled to state the value to them of the reliefs claimed, and the Court fee payable must be calculated according to the amount at which the relief sought is thus valued. These provisions, however, must be read subject to Section 8 of the Suits Valuation Act. The plaintiffs cannot put a high valuation on the plaint for purposes of jurisdiction, and thus obtain an adjudication on the matter from a Court of superior grade putting at the same time a different and a much lower valuation for purposes of Court-fees (Piggott, J.) KANDHAIYA OJHA v. JAGRANI KUER. 46 A. 419 : 22 A. L. J. 349 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 485 : 79 I. C. 358 : 1924 A. 597.

SUITS VALUATION ACT, S. 2.

—S. 8—Suit for redemption—Valuation for purposes of jurisdiction—Court Fees Act, S. 7 (ix).

S. 8 of the Suits Valuation Act does not cover redemption suits so that the valuation for the purpose of jurisdiction does not necessarily follow the valuation for the purpose of court fees. In redemption suits jurisdiction will depend not on the amount assured but on the amount ultimately found to be due. A suit should be instituted in the Court of the lowest grade competent to try it. Competency means jurisdiction and the competency of a court depends on the nature of the suit and upon its own pecuniary jurisdiction. That jurisdiction must be determined with reference to the various Acts constituting the courts and the question of valuation by reference to the Court Fees Act and Suits Valuation Act. (Suhrawardy and Chotzner, JJ.) SARODA SUNDARI BOSU v. AKRAMANNESSAKHATUN. 51 Cal. 737 : 28 C. W. N. 710 : 78 I. C. 747 : 1924 Cal. 783.

—S. 8—Valuation of—Set off for purposes of jurisdiction. See JURISDICTION.

2 Rang. 462.

—S. 11—Jurisdiction—Question as to—When can be raised.

All questions of jurisdiction should be raised in the court of first instance at the earliest stage and should be given effect to by a Court of Appeal only if there has been prejudice caused by the trial in the first court. It is not the policy of the law to allow such objection to be raised in appeal by the parties except under very restricted conditions. (Krishnan and Waller, JJ.) ADURI CHELLAMAYYA v. LAKSHMI DEVAMMA. 79 I. C. 857.

—S. 11—Suit beyond pecuniary jurisdiction of a court—Trial and decision without objection by any of the parties—Decree—Not to be set aside by fresh suit. See DECREE SETTING ASIDE. 22 A. L. J. 122.

—S. 11 (a) and (b)—Scope of—Valuation reduced by plaintiff without objection by defendant—Appeal—Decree not a nullity. 75 I. C. 305.

—S. 11 (2)—Undervaluation—Right of appeal affected—Prejudice. 1924 Mad. 6.

TORTS—False imprisonment—Wrongful arrest—Decree against a person as heir—Liability.

A money decree was passed against a person as the legal representative of the deceased debtor to the extent of his assets in his hands. In execution the heir was arrested and kept in restraint for a few days. Held, he was entitled to damages for wrongful arrest as the decree holder must have known he was not entitled to arrest under the decree. (Macleod, C.J., Kajiji and Kemp, JJ.) VELJI BHIMSEY & Co. v. BACHOO BHAIKAS. 48 Bom. 691 : 26 Bom. L. R. 349 : 1925 Bom. 118.

TORTS.

—Fire—Negligence—Liability of master for acts of servant—Injury to neighbouring property.

The lighting of a fire on open bush land, where it may readily spread to adjoining property and cause serious damage, is an operation necessarily attended with great danger, and a proprietor who executes such an operation is bound to use all reasonable precautions to prevent the fire extending to his neighbour's property. And if he authorises another to act for him he is bound not only to stipulate that such precautions shall be taken, but also to see that these are observed. Otherwise he will be responsible for the consequences. The person owning property whereon such a dangerous operation is performed cannot get rid of responsibility by delegating the performance to a third person and is liable for the injury to the adjoining owner. (Lentaigu, J.) MAUNG PEIN v. MA THE NGWA. 2 Rang. 549 : 1925 Rang. 143.

—Joint tortfeasors—Death of one—Suit for contribution. MT. PHILLO v. GOPI. 1924 Lah. 348.

—Malicious house search,—What plaintiff has to prove.

In a suit for damages for malicious house search, the plaintiff has to establish to the satisfaction of the court that the defendants or some of them were responsible for the search which was held in the house. If he relies on circumstantial evidence to prove this, that evidence must not only be consistent with the guilt of the defendants but incapable of explanation on any other hypothesis. (Das and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) SHYAMANANDAN SAHAY v. RAM JIVAN LAL. 1924 P. 817.

—Negligence—Dog—Feroocious animal—Injury due to dog bite—Invitation. MARY LENNON v. PERCY FISHER. 1924 Bom. 207.

—Nuisance on a public thoroughfare—Suit to remove.

The general rule is that any one who sues to remove nuisance on a public thoroughfare must prove special injury. (31 All. 444). The facts in 10 All. 553 are an exception to the general rule. (Gokul Prasad, J.) KALIDIN v. CHANDRIKA PARSAD. 1923 All. 182.

—Nuisance—Overflow of water—Noncultivable land—Damages.

According to the principles laid down in Ryland v. Fletcher a person who stores quantities of water in his land does so at his risk and if it escapes and causes damages to the neighbours, he is liable in damages for the loss caused. In the case of uncultivable land which is submerged the damages cannot be based on the basis of loss of cultivation (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) GOPALA BAPU v. DOMA BAPU.

TORTS.

1924 Nag. 229.

———Trees—Damage Caused by over hanging trees—Rights to have them removed. MAUNG PO THAUNG v. MA GYI.

76 I. C. 812.

———Trespass—Damages—Assessment of—Considerations for court.

In an action for trespass, the damages awarded against a wilful trespasser ought in no case to be less than the amount, for which having regard to all the circumstances, a prudent and reasonable landlord would have agreed to let the land, or less than the amount which the trespasser would have had to pay as the result of reasonable negotiations for the use and occupation of the land. Over and above this minimum amount, the animus with which a trespasser commits the wrong may be taken into consideration for the purpose of awarding higher damages than would otherwise have been. But a plaintiff who stands by and virtually encourages the wrong is not entitled to damages on the same scale, (Srinivasa Iyengar, J.) RAMASAMI NAYAKAR v. MEENAKSHI SUNDARAM CHETTIAR.

1925 Mad. 222 : 20 L. W. 836 :
47 M. L. J. 922.

———Joint tort-feasors—Contribution—Liability for. See CONTRIBUTION.

47 M. L. J. 305.

———Trade mark—Infringement—Importer of goods manufactured by another—Reputation of—If can be acquired—Infringement of the right of the importer—Suit for—Maintainability—Manufacturer being sole importer—Sale in competition with—If and when actionable—Trade-mark—Passing off of goods—Applicability to India.

In 1901, W. D. & H. O. Wills (manufacturers of "Gold Flake" cigarettes) amalgamated with similar other companies and formed into one company known as "The Imperial Tobacco Company, Ltd." to whom it assigned its good will and trade-marks. In 1902, the new company agreed with the "American Tobacco Company" that the latter should confine its trade to the U. S. A. and certain islands, and the former to Great Britain and Ireland, and that the two companies together should form a third "The British American Tobacco Co., Ltd." which should confine its trade to the rest of the world not included in the territories of the first companies. The "British-American Tobacco Co. Ltd." was then incorporated, the other two companies assigned to it their business, good-will and trade-marks outside their respective territories and mutual respective covenants to the afore-said effect were entered into by the three companies. Subsequently the British-American Tobacco Co. (India), Ltd. was incorporated to act as distributors in India of "The British American Tobacco Co., Ltd." and by an agreement (which was not, however, followed by a proper assignment) made the 1st September 1910, between the British-American Tobacco Company, Ltd. of the first part, the British American Tobacco Co. (India), Ltd. of the Second part and the Imperial Tobacco Co. of India, Ltd. (the appellant Company) of the third part, the last named Company agreed to buy the goodwill, business, rights trade-marks and other assests of the "British American Tobacco Company, Ltd." in inter alia India and of "The British-American Tobacco Company (India), Ltd." together with the sole right to use their name or names and the names of all firms and companies which they had acquired.

TRADE MARK.

Packets of "Gold Flake" cigarettes having the distinctive appearance and trade-marks of W. D. & H. O. Wills were manufactured by "The British American Tobacco Co Ltd", and between 1902 and 1910 imported and distributed in India by "The British American Tobacco Co. (India) Ltd." and Since 1910 by the appellant company. In 1921 the respondent purchased about 21 millions of such cigarettes (made by the "British-American Tobacco Co. Ltd" and sold to the Government of the United Kingdom) from the Surplus war stores liquidated by the British Army Canteen authorities in England, subject only to a stipulation that they were not to be resold in the United Kingdom, and they despatched and sold part of these in India.

In an action by the appellant company for an injunction restraining the respondents from so selling these cigarettes which were an alleged infringement of their trade-mark as importers and sole vendors thereof. Held that (1) neither by assignment nor by reputation had the appellant company any title to the trade-marks in India as alleged. Performing Right Society Ltd v. London Theatre of Varieties, Ltd. (1924) A. C. I. Ref. (2) there being no covenant by the respondents against selling the cigarettes outside the United Kingdom, nor any conduct on their part showing that they represented the cigarettes to be other than they genuinely were, no action lay for infringement or passing off.

It is possible for an importer to get a valuable reputation for himself and his wares by his care in selection or his precautions as to transit and storage or because his local character is such that the article acquires a value by his testimony to its genuineness, and if therefore goods, though of the same make, are passed off by competitors as being imported by him, he will have a right of action. There is nothing to prevent a tradesman acquiring goods from a manufacturer and selling them in competition with him even in a country into which hitherto the manufacturer or his agent has been the sole importer. The ordinary principles of jurisprudence with regard to trade marks and those forbidding the passing off of goods apply to India, (Lord Phillimore.) THE IMPERIAL TOBACCO COMPANY v. ALBERT BONNAN AND BONNAN CO.

20 L. W. 495 : 80 I. C. 1013 : 51 Cal. 892 :
(1924) M. W. N. 602 : 35 M. L. T. (P. C.) 156 :
51 I. A. 269 : 29 C. W. N. 81 : 1924 P. C. 187 :
26 Bom. L. R. 683 : 2 Pat. L. R. 230 :
47 M. L. J. 69 (P. C.).

TRADE MARK—Infringement—Prior user by manufacturer in Scotland—Commission to examine witnesses.

TRADE.

It is open to a person in British India to acquire an exclusive user in British India of a trade-mark even though it had been previously used by a manufacturer in Scotland. Consequently in a suit by a person in British India for infringement of his trade mark, the question of its prior user in Scotland is irrelevant. (Beasley, J.) C. R. COWIE & Co. v. E. M. H. PATEL BROS.
2 Rang. 278. : 82 I. C. 723 : 1924 R. 333.

—Infringement—Similarity in design—Resemblance of names—Injunction—Duty of Court.

In an action for an injunction restraining the defendant from advertising, offering for sale, selling or otherwise dealing in articles contained in packets or other receptacles which were a colourable imitation of those owned and used by plaintiff, the whole question turns upon this as to whether or not the court will believe that there is any probability of deception and instances of actual deception need not be proved if the court is otherwise satisfied of the probability of deception. The true view is that while the Judge must not surrender his own independent judgment to any witness whatsoever, he must, at the same time, in order to arrive at a proper conclusion, not disregard the evidence in the particular case before him. The court has to consider whether the degree of resemblance between the two names and between the two designs of get up is such as is likely to deceive. In considering the matter the court must pay attention at the same time to the question as to who were likely to purchase the goods (i. e.) the ultimate purchasers in the market, many of whom are unacquainted with English language and most of whom are illiterate. In finding out the amount of resemblance between the two designs not only must the court look at the distinguishing features, i. e., dissimilarities, but it must look at the whole and come to a decision. Each resemblance is not to be taken by itself and a conclusion based thereon. (C. C. Ghose, J.) IMPERIAL TOBACCO CO., LTD v. ATLANTIC TOBACCO CO.
40 C. L. J. 230 : 1925 Cal. 220.

TRADE NAME—Right of action—Claim to exclusive user,
1924 Cal. 216.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY—Covenant against alienation—If applies to alienation by operation of law.

A general restriction on assignment does not apply to an assignment by operation of law taking effect in invitum, as a sale under an execution. (Baker, J. C.) MT. KASTURI v. BALIRAM.
1924 Nag. 222.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT—If exhaustive.

The Transfer of Property Act is not exhaustive and does not profess to be a complete Code. (Mukerjee, J.) JATINDRA CHANDRA CHOWDHURY v. RANGPOOR TOBACCO COY.
1924 Cal. 990.

—Not exhaustive regarding mortgages.

The Transfer of Property Act is not exhaustive on the law of mortgages. (Kennedy, C. J. and Madgavkar, A. J. C.) HOTCHAND BALCHAND v. KISHIN CHAND.
1934 S. 23 : 83 I. C. 548 (2) : 17 S. L. R. 178.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 3.

—Two mortgages as regards some items—Third mortgage as regards same items, and some additional items. Framing a consolidated decree.

Where a decree on a suit for enforcement of mortgages on three bonds, was passed, by consolidating all the debts. Held, that the consolidation of all the debts would impede the right of redemption of the mortgagors and contrary to O. 34, R. 2, C. P. C. and S. 61 of the T. P. Act, and that in the absence of a specific contract to the contrary, the consolidation is illegal. (Per Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) PARMESWARA PANDEY v. RAJKISHORE PRASAD NARAYAN SINGH.
3 Pat. 829 : 5 Pat. L. T. 646 : 1925 P. 59.

—S. 3—Applicability—Punjab.

The Transfer of Property Act is not in force in the Punjab. Its provisions are useful guides in deciding points of equity and are frequently so applied, but there is no obligation on the courts to use the Act as if every detail was the law of the Province. (Campbell, J.) DULA SINGH v. BELA SINGH.
78 I. C. 374 : 1925 Lah. 92.

—S. 3—Immoveable property—Mahua trees—Nature of.

Mahua trees so long as they are attached to the earth are not standing timber and as such are immoveable property within the meaning of the Transfer of Property Act. (Wazir Hussain, A. J. C.) CHANDI v. SAT NARAIN.
10 O. & A. L. R. 186 : 81 I. C. 650 :
1925 Oudh 108 (2).

—S. 3—Notice—What amounts to—Abstinence from enquiry—Equitable mortgage.

—28 C. W. N. 470 : 39 C. L. J. 186 :
79 I. C. 910 : 51 Cal. 86.

—S. 3—Registration—If amounts to notice.

Registration of a document does not of itself amount to notice in all cases. Whether registration of a document is sufficient to impute notice or not has to be decided on the merits of the particular case. 18 A. L. J. 1074 foll. (Stuart, J.) KALI DIN v. MADHO.
77 I. C. 882 : 1923 A. 169.

—S. 3 (c)—Building for sheltering Machinery—Immoveable property—Permanent beneficial enjoyment.

If there was a building in existence inside which the machinery was sheltered, it cannot be said that this machinery was attached to the building for the permanent beneficial enjoyment of the building itself as is contemplated in Cl. (c) of the definition in Sec. 3 of the Transfer of Property Act.

It would be difficult, in a case of this kind, to speak of the machinery being attached to a building embedded in the earth for the beneficial enjoyment of the building. On the other hand, it would seem more natural to suppose that the building is really put up for the purpose of sheltering the machinery and protecting it from the weather. Nor again with reference to the definition of the immoveable property contained in the General Clauses Act it is possible to say that this machinery was permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MEGRAJ v. KRISHNA CHANDRA.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 5.

46 A. 286 : 22 A. L. J. 193 : L. R. 5 A. 193 :
78 I. C. 243 : 1924 A. 365.

———S. 5—Transfer of property—Definition not applicable to Presy. Towns Ins. Act.

75 I. C. 203 (2).

———S. 6—Interest of a person's holding on which he has planted grove is transferable.

The interest of a person's holding on which he has planted a grove is property and is transferable under S. 6. (Sulaiman and Mukerji, JJ.) BAJUNATH SINGH v. CHANDRAPAL SINGH.

L. R. 5 A. 255 (Rev) : 1924 A. 795.

———S. 6—Mesne profits—Right to—Assignment of.

A right to mesne profits accrued due is merely a right to sue and cannot be validly transferred. (Das and Ross, JJ.) JAI NARAYAN PANDEY v. KISHAN DATT MISRA.

5 Pat. L. T. 581 :
2 Pat. L. R. 306 : 1924 P. 551.

———S. 6—Right to sue—Assignment of—Rights of assignee.

The sale of a right to sue for immoveable property does not confer on the vendee any title to the immoveable property and the vendee cannot sue for possession. (Kendall and Pullan, A. J. C.) NAZIR HASAN v. MOULVI MATINUZZAMAN.

10 O. and A. L. R. 730 : 1 O. W. N. 337 :
11 O. L. J. 672.

———S. 6 (a)—Sale of reversionary rights—What passes.

The sale of a reversionary right is null and void. It creates no right in praesenti, but as against the vendor if the title opens in his favour, the vendee can proceed under S. 18, Specific Relief Act and claim specific performance. (Pipon, J. C.) ZABTA KHAN v. SAID HABIB.

75 I. C. 246.

———S. 6 (a)—Spes, successionis—Transfer of—Validity.

The transfer of the bare chance of surviving another and succeeding to his inheritance is forbidden by S. 6 (a), T. P. Act. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. C.) DWARKA PRASAD v. NASIR AHMED.

78 I. C. 850 :

11 O. L. J. 219 : 1925 Oudh 16.

———S. 5 (e)—Contract to sell—Transfer of rights under—If a mere right to sue.

Where the vendee in a contract to sell land transfers his rights under the contract, the transfer is not of a mere right to sue, although a right to sue is involved in it on breach of its conditions. The transferee can sue for specific performance or if it is refused sue for damages. (Campbell and Moti Sagar, JJ.) AKHTAR BEG v. HAQ NAWAZ.

1924 Lah. 709.

———S. 6 (e)—Co-sharer—Assignment of right to profits.

The assignment by a co-sharer of his right to profits is an assignment of a mere right to sue and is invalid. (Baker, J. C.) CHOONILAL v. NANI SINGH.

1924 Nag. 284.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 6.

———S. 6 (e)—Mesne profits—Nature of—Accrued profits—Assignment of—Validity.

Mesne profits are unliquidated damages. A claim to mesne profits is not a claim to any debt or to any beneficial interest in moveable property and where mesne profits accrued due are assigned the assignment is not of an actionable claim but of a mere right to sue and is hence invalid. (Das and Ross, JJ.) JAY NARAIN PANDEY v. KISHUN DUTT MISRA.

78 I. C. 705 (2) : 3 Pat. 575.

———S. 6 (e)—Partner's right to sue for accounts—If a mere right to sue—If assignable.

A partner's right to call upon the other partners to account is not a mere right to sue within S. 6 (e), T. P. Act and is assignable. (Raymond, A. J. C.) THAWERDAS JETHANAND v. SETH VISHENDAS NIHALCHAND.

79 I. C. 384 : 1925 Sindh 7

———S. 6 (e)—Past profits of partnership—Right to recover, if transferable.

The right to recover past profits in a partnership is not a mere right to sue but an actionable claim which can be validly transferred and on which an action can be brought. (Baker, O. J. C.) SRINATH v. KANHAIYALAL.

75 I. C. 817.

———S. 6. (e)—Right to sue agent for accounts—Assignment of—Rights of transferee.

A right to sue an agent for accounts and to recover such sums of money as might be found payable by the agent is not assignable. (Suhrawardy and Graham, JJ.) KHETTRA MOHAN DAS v. BISWA NATH BERA.

28 C. W. N. 894 :

51 Cal. 972 : 1924 Cal. 1047.

———S. 6 (e)—Right to sue—Transfer of—Amount found due on the taking of accounts.

Rights arising out of torts are unassignable but there may also be rights arising out of contracts which offend against the rule in S. 6 of the T. P. Act. A right to sue for accounts and for the recovery of money found due on the taking of accounts is not assignable. One useful test for determining the transferability or otherwise of an inchoate right is whether it can be attached in execution of a decree. The right to demand accounts or to an indefinite sum which may or may not be found due on the taking of accounts cannot be attached. (Suhrawardy and Graham, JJ.) PROHALAD CHANDRA DAS v. BISWAS NATH BERA.

82 I. C. 411 : 40 C. L. J. 79.

———S. 6 (e)—Share in partnership—If a mere right to sue.

The assignment of a share in a partnership is not bare right to sue. When a question arises whether an assignment is of a bare right to sue, it has to be determined on the facts of each particular case. (Kennedy and Bilaram, A. J. C.) SETH VISHINDAS NIHALCHAND v. THAWARDAS.

80 I. C. 642 : 1925 Sindh 18.

———S. 6 (e)—Title in dispute—Effect.

1924 Oudh 62.

———S. 6 (h)—Sale deed—Champerious nature—Legality.

Where a transaction which purports to be a sale deed is of a champerious nature it is immoral and opposed to public policy and hence invalid. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) HEMRAJ v. TRIMBAK KUNBI.

1924 Mad. 146.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 8.

—S. 8—Sale of house—What passes—Fixtures if pass—English law if applicable. NARAYANA SA v. BALAGURUSAMI NADAR.

(1924) M. W. N. 43 : 75 I. C. 838 : 1924 Mad. 187.

—S. 10—If applies to the Punjab.

S. 10. Transfer of Property Act embodies a sound and equitable principle which should be applied to the Punjab. An absolute restriction in perpetuity on every sort of alienation for any purpose by a donee of land should not be recognized and enforced. (Harrison, J.) NAND SINGH v. PARTAP DAS.

1924 Lah. 674.

—Ss. 10, 14—Covenant in sale deed—Restraint an alienation—Remoteness.

The vendee of a house covenanted to live in the house himself, not to sell it piecemeal and if he wanted to sell it to give the option of first refusal to the vendor and his heirs at a certain fixed price. Held, the covenant was not void for remoteness or as a restraint on alienation. (Kincaid, J. C. and Kennedy, A. J. C.) KHENCHAND RAMDAS v. MOHSON SHAH.

80 I. C. 962.

—S. 10—Grant of absolute estate—Restraint on alienation.

Where in a grant of an absolute estate, there is a clause restraining alienation except to a specific class of persons, the restraint is void. (Wazir Hasan, J. C.) TEJA SINGH v. MOTI SINGH.

1 O. W. N. 423 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1004 : 80 I. C. 918 : 1925 Oudh 125.

—S. 10—Restraint on alienation of estate—Term embodied in a compromise—If void.

Restrictions on the power to alienate land with full proprietary rights is a derogation from the full proprietary rights and is consequently void though it is the result of compromise. (Shadi Lal, C. J. and Rossignol, J.) PARTAP DAS v. NAND SINGH

(1924) Lah. 729 (1).

—S. 14—Contract of pre-emption—If offends rule against perpetuities.

When a contract of pre-emption is entered into by the proprietors of a village there is no transfer of any property effected at all. S. 14 of the Transfer of Property Act, therefore, in terms cannot apply to it. If it be conceded that a contract of pre-emption does not create any interest in land it would be very difficult to contend that such a contract comes within the rule against perpetuities. Such a rule cannot apply unless an interest in land purports to have been created. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) BASDEO RAI v. JHAGRU RAI.

66 A. 333 : 1924 A. 400 : 22 A. L. J. 265 : L. R. 5 A. 31.

—S. 14—Rule against perpetuities—Reservation of interest in property sold for benefit of himself and his descendants—Legality of.

There is nothing to prevent a vendor from reserving a certain interest in the property comprised in the sale for the benefit of himself and his lineal male descendants without any power of alienation subject to the reversion of that interest in case there were no male descendants left to enjoy the benefit of that reservation. The reservation of such an interest does not offend against the rule of perpetuity or involve the laying down of a rule of succession varying the ordinary law. On the other hand it merely amounts to the cutting of a certain interest out of the property sold for a limited purpose and the vendee becomes fully entitled to the whole, when the interest so created dies out. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) SUKHDEO v. RAM NEWAZ.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 41.

L. R. 5 A. 727 : 82 I. C. 326 : 1925 A. 65.

—S. 35—Grant of permanent lease by prior holder—Receipt of rent—If amounts to election.

Where a permanent lease is granted by a prior holder of an estate and the successor receives rent without knowing of the circumstances in which the lease was granted or of the terms on which it was held, he does not know of his duty to elect and the acceptance of rent does not amount to an estoppel or waiver. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) GOPI KOERI v. MT. RAJ ROOP KOER.

78 I. C. 191.

—S. 39—Apportionment of rent—Agricultural lease—Acquisition of proprietary interest by Patnidar—Effect of.

Under the terms of Patni, rent was payable in ten monthly instalments and the last kist was payable before the end of the agricultural year, i. e., to say in Magh. In Falgoun 1326 B. S. there was a partition between the co-sharers under which the whole of the proprietary interest passed to the patnidar. Held, that the patnidar was bound to pay the whole rent for the year though he became the proprietor before the end of year as there was no contract between the parties for apportionment of rent. Rent does not accrue from day to day but is payable according to the terms of the contract. (Greaves and Chakravarti, JJ.) SATYA BHUPAL BANERJEE v. RAJNANDINI DEBI.

28 C. W. N. 1039 : 1924 Cal. 1069.

—S. 40—Contract of pre-emption—Enforceability against purchaser.

A contract of pre-emption though not amounting to an interest in or easement of land, certainly creates a benefit of an application in favour of the other parties and is attached to their proprietorship. Such a contract, therefore, under the law can be enforced against all gratuitous transferees and even against transferee for consideration with notice. A fortiori such a contract could not be held to be unenforceable against the heirs of the contracting parties.

A contract of pre-emption can be enforced against the personal representatives as well as transferees of the original parties in the same manner and to the same extent as the restrictive covenants mentioned in the earlier part of Section 40 of the Transfer of Property Act. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) BASDEO RAI v. JHAGRU RAI.

L. R. 5 A. 161 : 22 A. L. J. 265 : 46 A. 333 : 1924 A. 400.

—S. 41—Co-sharer entered as owner in revenue records—Mortgagee—Title of.

Where some alone of several co-sharers are entered in the revenue records as owners and on the basis of that a mortgagee entered into a mortgage with them, his title is protected under S. 41,

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 41.

T. P. Act. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.)
 MUBARAK-UN-NISSA v. MUHAMMAD RAZA KHAN.
 L. R. 5 A. 257 : 22 A. L. J. 307 : 79 I. C. 174 :
 46 A. 377 : 1924 A. 384.

—S. 41—Notice of dispute about title—If transferee can be said to have good faith—Effect of.

A person who purchases property from another knowing that with respect to it a suit had been filed by a third party against his vendor cannot be said to have acted in good faith within the meaning of S. 41, T. P. Act. (Abdul Raoof and Abdul Qadir, JJ.) RAGHO v. DWARKA DAS.

1924 Lah. 738.

—S. 41—Transferee from Hindu widow—Not entitled to the benefit of the section.

A transferee from a Hindu widow who takes the property from her before the reversioner's right has accrued cannot successfully plead the bar of S. 41 of the T. P. Act. It cannot be said that the transferee has taken from an ostensible owner who was in possession with the consent express or implied, of the reversioners. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) SHIB DEO MISRA v. RAM PRASAD.

22 A. L. J. 690 : 46 A. 637 :
 1925 A. 79.

—S. 43—Applicability—Absence of title known—Subsequent acquisition of title—Effect.

The principle of S. 43, T. P. Act will not apply to a case where the transferee knew of the absence of title in his transferor. In such a case even if the transferor acquires title subsequently it will not enure to the benefit of the transferee. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. C.) DWARKA PRASAD v. NASIR AHMED.

11 O. L. J. 219 : 78 I. C. 850 : 1925 Oudh 16.

—S. 43—Applicability of sale by Official Receiver prior to order vesting property in him—Subsequent order of court vesting property in him—Effect of—Sale valid. See PROV. INS. ACT, Ss. 2 and 27.

47 M. L. J. 749.

—S. 43—Estoppel—Transfer by unauthorised person—Acquisition of title subsequently.

The owners of certain property which had been mortgaged sold the equity of redemption to one Anant. In execution of a decree on the mortgage the property was sold and purchased by Anant. In the meantime the original owners of the property sold it to the plaintiff who obtained possession. The original owners disputed the execution sale but eventually compromised it in 1913 whereby the property was sold with the assent of the plaintiff to the first defendant and Anant was paid off from the sale proceeds. Subsequently the plaintiff who was dispossessed by defendants sued for possession. Held, that the suit was not sustainable and that there was no estoppel of which the plff. could take advantage. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) RAMKRISHNA MARTOBA v. ANUSUYABAI NARAYAN.

26 Bom. L. R. 173 : 1924 Bom. 300.

—S. 43—Mortgage of wife's property by husband as agent—Death of wife—Husband succeeding to a share of the property—Mortgage if can be enforced against husband.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 51.

Plff. was the mortgagee of certain properties belonging to a Mahomedan lady, the document having been executed by her husband as her agent. The plff. sued both the husband and the wife on the mortgage and the wife pleaded that the mortgage was unauthorised and not binding on her. The husband did not deny execution of the deed but put forward other pleas. The court below dismissed plaintiff's suit holding that the power of attorney in favour of the husband was not explained to the wife and that the mortgage was not binding on her. Pending an appeal by plaintiff, the wife died leaving the husband as heir to one-fourth of the estate. Held that the plaintiff could at his option seek a remedy against the property which had come by inheritance in the hands of the husband from the wife, inasmuch as the husband actually received the money paid by the plaintiff on the mortgage and had further acknowledged that the debt was valid and subsisting. 34 A. 455 : 99 C. 749 : 7 C. 245 Ref. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) AISHA BIBI v. MAHFUZ-UN-NISSA BIBI.

46 A. 310 : 22 A. L. J. 205 :
 78 I. C. 180 : L. R. 5 A. 97 : 1924 A. 362.

—S. 43—Principle of—If exhaustive of the doctrine of equitable estoppel in India—Void contracts.

The principle of S. 43, T. P. Act is a principle of law generally known as feeding the grant by estoppel. If an assignor with defective title purports and intends to make an assignment for value and thereafter acquires an interest in the property such interest is available in equity to make the assignment effectual. There is nothing in the provisions of S. 43 or any other law in force in India which would preclude a court from giving effect to this principle.

But a contract which is void ab initio cannot be validated by the provisions of S. 43. If the contract purports to transfer property which the law makes inalienable that contract cannot be given effect to on this principle. (Cuming and Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MOHAN SINGH v. SEWA RAM.

10 O & A. L. R. 217 : 10 O. L. J. 424 :
 75 I. C. 579 : 1924 Oudh 209.

—S. 43—Title by estoppel—Sale by official Receiver—No vesting order—Subsequent passing of vesting order—Effect of. See PROV. INS. ACT, Ss. 2 & 27.

47 M. L. J. 749.

—S. 43—Transfer of share by co-owner—Transferee not affected by acts subsequent to transfer

A transferee of the share of a co-owner, is only subject to the liabilities existing at the time of his transfer and cannot be saddled with incumbrances created subsequent to his transfer. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) CHANDRASEKHAR v. ABIDALLI.

80 I. C. 920 : 1925 Nag. 68.

—S. 51—Knowledge of absence of title—Effect.

A person who plants trees on another's land, knowing he has no valid title to it, cannot claim compensation for loss suffered. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) MT. MUNNA v. SUKLAL.

1924 Nag. 142.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 52.

———S. 52—Alienee after preliminary but before final decree—Lis Pendens.

An alienee pendente lite (after preliminary decree but before final decree) is bound by the decree and cannot be allowed to re-open questions already decided in the suit nor can he sue for the establishment of his title. (Baker, J. C.) LACHIRAM v. BHOLU.

82 I. C. 452; 1925 Nag. 132.

———S. 52—Lease pendente lite—Validity

Leases pendente lite cannot be avoided if the granting of them was an ordinary and reasonable incident of interim beneficial enjoyment. If it can be shown they are of such a nature that the lessor would have granted them even if he had known that he was to continue indefinitely as owner of the property, the same are valid. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) KARU v. PANDIA.

1924 Nag. 226

———S. 52—Lis pendens—Administration suit—Mortgage during pendency of.

A creditor of a deceased person sued his heirs for recovery of money due from him, for sale of certain pledged goods and if necessary for administration of his estate. The heirs executed a mortgage of immoveable property which had belonged to the deceased for a debt due by him. Subsequently an order was made in the suit for administration of the estate. Held that the mortgage was not affected by the doctrine of lis pendens. (Sanderson, C. J. and Walmsley, J.) BEPIN KRISHNA GHOSE v. BYOM KESH DEBI.

1925 Cal. 395 (2) : 51 C. 1033.

———S. 52—Lis pendens—Administration—Suit—Sale by administrator—Not affected.

The executor's or administrator's power of disposal over the assets is not at all controlled or suspended by the mere commencement of an action on the part of a creditor of the deceased for the administration of the estate; for the power of the personal representative to alienate and make a good title to any part of the assets continues until there has been judgment in the action. Where a creditor or one of the next of kin institutes an administration action against an executor or administrator, the mere institution of the action or obtaining of a mere administration decree does not ordinarily deprive the executor or administrator of the general power to dispose of assets, unless and until the plaintiff has obtained an order appointing a receiver of the estate or at least an injunction restraining the executor or administrator from exercising the powers vested in him. (Heald and Lentaigne, JJ.) LEE LIM. MA HOOK v. SAW MAH HONE.

2 Rang. 4 : 79 I. C. 729 : 1924 R. 221.

———S. 52—Lis pendens—Court sales—Doctrine if applicable to—Suit for specific performance.

It might be taken as settled law that the rule of lis pendens applies to Court sales. Consequently pending a suit for specific performance of a contract for the sale of immoveable property the vendor could not transfer the property to a third person so as to defeat the plaintiff's claim. What the vendor could not do could not be done by the court by selling the property which was the subject-matter of litigation. 27 B 266 : 25 C. 179 P. C. Ref. (Macleod, C. J. and Shah, J.) BHASKAR MAHADEV v. SHANKER VITHAL.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 53.

26 Bom. L. R. 418 : 80 I. C. 453; 1924 Bom. 467.

———S. 52—Mortgage—Lease after mortgage suit was filed—Liability of lessee to mortgagee—Pre-payment of rent—Effect.

Where after the institution of a suit on a mortgage, the mortgagor leases the property and receives the rent for a certain period as advance, such payment is not binding on the mortgagee as the lease is affected by lis pendens. The payment to be valid must have been of rent accrued due at that time and without notice of the mortgage or where the lease was before the mortgage if the mortgagee has failed to make enquiries about the title of the lessee in possession. After a mortgage is created, the mortgagor's powers of leasing are limited. (C. C. Ghosh, J.) KIRAN CHANDRA BOSE v. DUTT AND CO.

29 C. W. N. 94 : 40 C. L. J. 500; 1925 Cal. 251.

———S. 52—Mortgage suit—Pendency of—Lease—Effect.

A lease granted by the mortgagor during the pendency of a mortgage suit takes effect only subject to the result of the litigation and cannot affect the rights of the true owner. (Prideaux, A. J. C.) MOTILAL GULABSAO v. GANPAT RAO.

1924 Nag. 211.

———S. 52—Suit for maintenance—Declaration of charge—Execution sale of properties—Lis pendens. See MORTGAGE, PRIOR SUBSEQUENT. 46 M. L. J. 258.

———S. 52—Suit to set aside mortgage decree—Pendency of—Purchaser at execution sale—If affected.

Where a mortgage decree obtained against a Hindu widow is being challenged by way of suit by the reversioners, the purchaser at the sale during the pendency of the suit is affected by lis pendens and cannot be said to have acted in good faith. (Neave, A. J. C.) BASAWAN v. NATHA.

1 O. W. N. 319; 10 O & A. L. R. 857; 82 I. C. 747; 1925 Oudh 30 : 11 O. L. J. 452.

———S. 53—Applicability to the Punjab—Test for judging validity of transfer—Intention—Purchaser in good faith—Rights of.

The Transfer of Property Act though not applicable in terms to the Punjab, the principles contained therein apply.

The knowledge and intention of the transferee are the determining factors in these cases. If he buys in good faith and for valid consideration, his purchase cannot be set aside by reason of the transferor having sold the property for the express purpose of defeating or delaying creditors. It is question of fact in each case if the transferee purchased in good faith without knowledge of the transferor's object for selling. (Abdu Raouf and Fforde, JJ.) IBRAHIM v. JIVAN DAS.

1924 Lah. 707.

———S. 53—Covers transfer for defeating future creditors—Transfer due to natural love may yet be fraudulent—Question depends on circumstances of each case.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 53.

It is not necessary under S. 53 that the creditor impugning the alienation should have been a creditor at the time of the alienation. If a person makes a transfer of his property in view of his becoming a debtor, or of getting a decree passed against him in the future, and if the object of the transfer is shown to have been to defeat the claims of such creditors, S.53 will cover the case. That the deed of the transfer was not executed gratuitously but on account of natural love and affection does not necessarily imply that the intention was not to defeat creditors. A man may make a transfer to his wife or a near relation of his to defeat creditors. The question has to be decided on evidence, as to the circumstances under which the transfer was made. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) RAJAGOPALA CHETTY v. SIVAGAMI AMMAL. 20 L. W. 538 :

35 M. L. T. 100 (H.C.); 82 I. C. 945 :
(1924) M. W. N. 869; 1924 Mad. 779.

———S. 53—Debtor preferring one creditor to another—Effect of.

In a case in which no consideration of the law of bankruptcy or insolvency applies there is nothing to prevent a debtor paying one creditor in full and leaving others unpaid although the result may be that the rest of his assets will be insufficient to provide payment of the rest of his debts. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MT. ZOHRA BIBI v. GANESA PRASAD. 78 I. C. 106.

———S. 53—Execution of decree—Attachment in—Property attached subject of contract for sale prior to attachment—Decree in suit for specific performance of contract for sale brought after attachment or delivery of possession to vendee—Attachment creditor not made a party to the suit—Rights of vendee of attaching creditor—Vendee's title prevails. See C. P. CODE; S. 64.

46 M. L. J. 361.

———S. 53—Fraudulent transfer—Avoidance of—Mortgage in part supported by consideration—Transaction intended to defeat creditors—Mortgage not wholly void—Debts discharged by transfer intended to defeat creditors—Proof of—Onus on transferee.

Where a part of the money advanced under a mortgage is applied for the discharge of the debts of the mortgagor, the mortgage cannot be held to be wholly void, under S. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act even where it appears that the transaction was intended to defeat creditors of the mortgagor.

Converting immoveable property into cash is the most obvious and effective method of defeating and delaying creditors.

Where a mortgage document has been executed under circumstances which show that the object of the transaction was to defeat creditors of the mortgagors, the onus lies heavily on the mortgagee to prove the existence of the debts alleged to have been discharged from and out of the amount advanced under the mortgage. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) LOORTHY ODAYAR v. GOPALASWAMI AIYAR. (1924) M. W. N. 117 :

19 L. W. 135; 1924 Mad. 450; 80 I. C. 147;
46 M. L. J. 125.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 54.

———S. 53—Fraudulent intent to prefer one creditor—No bona fides—If enforceable.

Where a transfer is not made in good faith but with the intention of preferring some creditors and to defeat others, the same is unenforceable. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) SHEIKH GANI v. SITARAM.

1924 Nag. 318.

———S. 53—Fraudulent transfer—Benami sale—Fraud on creditors—Right of transferor to recover property.

So long as a benami transaction does not contravene the provision of the law, the Courts are bound to give effect to it. But where the object of the transaction is to defraud third persons and the fraudulent purpose has been effected, the maxim in pari delicto potior est conditio possidentis applies and the Court will help neither party. On the other hand, where the purpose of the fraud is not carried into execution, the mere intention to defraud will not deprive the true owner of his right of recovering his property. 33 Cal. 967; 35 I.A. 98 followed. (Wazir Hasan, J.C. and Pullan, A. J. C.) BANSIDHAR v. LALA AJODHIYA PRASAD. 10 O. & A. L. R. 701.

11 O. L. J. 619; 82 I. C. 333; 27 O. C. 175;
1 O. W. N. 248; 1925 Oudh 120.

———S. 53—Inadequacy of consideration—Fraud.

Mere inadequacy of consideration does not raise a presumption of fraud under S. 53, T. P. Act and is not a ground for refusing to enforce possession under the transfer. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) DOMA v. GOVIND. 1924 Nag. 124.

———S. 53—Transfer in fraud of creditors—Future creditors—Transfer with a view to becoming a debtor.

It is not necessary under S. 53 of the Transfer of Property Act that the creditor impugning the alienation as a fraud on creditors should have himself been a creditor at the time of alienation. If a person makes a transfer of his property in view of his becoming a debtor or of getting a decree passed against him in the future and if the object of the transfer is shown to have been to defeat the claims of such creditors S. 53 will cover the case. The mere fact that a deed of settlement was executed on account of natural love and affection does not necessarily show that the intention of the transferor was not to defeat his creditors. A man may make a transfer to his wife or any other near relation of his so as to defeat creditors. Where a father transfers all his properties to his second wife after his son by the first wife had brought a suit for account and for the delivery of his share of the family property, the transfer is prima facie fraudulent. (Krishnan and Odgers, JJ.) RAJAGOPALA CHETTY v. SIVAGAMI AMMAL. 20 L. W. 538 : (1924) M. W. N. 869 : 82 I. C. 945 : 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 100 : 1924 Mad. 779.

———S. 54—Agreement to sell—Interest in land—Right of pre-emption.

An agreement to sell land does not create an interest in the property and a pre-emption suit cannot be maintained with respect to it. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) TUKARAM v. UKARDA. 1924 Nag. 327.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 54.

—Ss. 54 and 14—Contract of sale—Rule against perpetuities—Contract when repugnant to—Contract Act. S. 37. L. R. 5 A. 17.

—S. 54—Ejectment suit—Agreement to sell—If can be pleaded in defence—Specific performance—Barred—Effect.

Though S. 54, T. P. Act is mandatory as to the acquisition of title in a contract of sale, a person in possession of property under an agreement of sale and who has performed his part of the contract can set it up in defence even though at that time a suit by him for specific performance would be barred. In a suit in ejectment, what plaintiff has to show is not only his title but his right to immediate possession—Case law discussed. (Brown, J.C.) MAUNG PO THA v. MAUNG BA DIN. 76 I. C. 141.

—S. 54—Essentials of valid sale.

In a real sale, there must be transfer of ownership and the payment or promise of price. If either of these is absent, it is not a sale.

Where a sale deed recites the vendee has already spent a sum of money for the vendor's litigation and that the vendor receives another sum which he deposits with the vendee for further costs of litigation, it does not amount to a valid sale. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) HEMRAJ v. TRIMBAK KUNBI. 1924 Nag. 146.

—S. 54—Non-payment of purchase money—Effect of entering higher consideration in sale deed.

In a sale of immoveable property, where non-payment of the purchase money or the fact that the consideration shown is higher than what actually passed does not prevent title passing. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) MT. ISLAM FATIMA v. TAMIZ ALI. 75 I. C. 111.

—S. 54—Sale of land—Agreement for sale—Delivery of possession—No registered conveyance—Suit in ejectment—Defence—Evidence Act S. 91.

Proof of a valid agreement for sale is a good defence to a suit for possession brought by the seller against the purchaser in a case where owing to failure to execute and register an instrument there has been no legal conveyance of title from the seller to the purchaser and where a suit for specific performance of the agreement for sale would not be barred by limitation. Evidence of a prior contract of sale is admissible where the sale has failed to take effect for want of a registered conveyance. 46 M. 919; 24 M. 377; 42 C. 801 (P.C.) foll. (Robinson, C.J. Heald, May Oung Lentaigne and Carr, JJ.) MG. MYAT THA ZAN v. MA DUN. 2 R. 285; 3 Bur. L. J. 78; 81 I. C. 857; 1924 Rang. 214.

—S. 54—Oral sale—Land worth more than Rs. 100—Possession given—Subsequent registered sale to another—Effect. 77 I. C. 305; 1924 Bom. 150.

—S. 54—Sale of lands—Contract for—Duty of vendor to make out a marketable title—Payment of earnest money—Title subsequently discovered to be defective—Refund of purchase money—Estoppel—Waiver—Right to rescind contract.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 54.

The moneys in dispute were paid by the plaintiff as earnest money and as part payment of the purchase money for the purchase of a house in Bombay from the defendant. The latter had contracted to try the property for Rs. 1,28,000. The contract was made on 29-11-19. The vendor agreed to make out a marketable title free from all reasonable doubts subject to a lease of 1901. The owner of the land on which the house stood had granted a lease of the property on 29th September 1860 for a period of 99 years with a covenant for renewal for a like period to the vendor. On 7-3-1901 the land has been sublet with the same conditions and stipulations as those contained in the head lease by the vendor. The defendant purchaser in his turn agreed to sell the property to the plaintiff for Rs. 1,72,000 on 20-1-1920. It was agreed that the vendor was duly to make out his title marketable and that the sale was to be completed in two months. A sum of Rs. 10,000 was paid as earnest money under the contract. On 21-2-1920 the plaintiff agreed to sell the house to certain third persons at a profit of Rs. 18,000 on the same conditions subject to which he had purchased. The sale was to be completed on 31st May 1920. Both the plaintiff as well as the defendant engaged the same solicitors and at the time of the contract they were not aware of the leasehold character of the property. The solicitors investigated the title under the first contract and advised the purchase. The plaintiff paid Rs. 1,20,000 on account of the purchase money on 14-4-1920. The owner of the house, the plaintiff's solicitors and the defendant all met on 20-4-20 and the owner was paid Rs. 1,16,000 by the solicitors being the balance of the purchase money and he passed an assignment of the property direct to the plaintiff. The defendant not having received Rs. 46,000 the balance of his purchase money from the plaintiff refused to sign the assignment in token of his assent. The solicitors of the plaintiff's vendees when called upon to complete the sale, refused to do so on the ground that the property was leasehold property and that the lessee might or might not exercise his option to renew. The plaintiff answered the requisition by saying that there was a covenant for renewal of the lease in perpetuity and that there was therefore no defect in title. On an originating summons taken out by plaintiff the court held that the title was not marketable and on the same day the plaintiff's solicitors wrote back putting an end to the contract. The plaintiff thereupon sued for recovery of the earnest money and the purchase money paid by him to the common solicitors and also for costs and expenses incurred. The defendant resisted the suit on various grounds and counter-claimed that he was ready and willing to execute the assignment on receipt of Rs. 46,000 from the plaintiff. Held that the defendant was not in a position to make out a marketable title and that there was no waiver by the plaintiff of the stipulation in the contract of sale that the vendor was to make out a marketable title. The purchase money having been paid on account of an honest error of judgment on the part of the plaintiff's solicitors the plaintiff was entitled to a refund of the same. Though there may be an effectual waiver of any stipulation in an agreement & must be intentional and based upon a full knowledge of the circumstances. If the purchaser enters into possession or pays the whole or part of the purchase money or does other acts, which a purchaser is not bound to do, till a good title has been made, he may be deemed to have waived objections to the title. The question as to whether objection as to title has been waived is one of fact and it may be that under certain circumstances the payment of purchase money may indicate a waiver on his part. But action induced by an honest mistake on the part of the solicitors does not amount to a waiver or give rise to an estoppel. (Shah, A. C. J. and Kincaid, J.) MEGHJI MOORJI v. TYEBALLI KAMRUDDIN. 26 Bom. L. R. 1019. 1925 Bom. 64.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 54.

—S. 54—Transfer of undivided share of immoveable property—Tangible immoveable property—Oral sale under Rs. 100 to be accompanied by delivery of possession.

A share in undivided immoveable property is "tangible immoveable property" within the meaning of S. 54. Transfer of Property Act and if the purchase price of such share is under Rs. 100 the agreement for sale must be accompanied by delivery of possession. (1911) 11 I. C. 673 followed. (Carr, J.) MAUNG HOE KYIN v. PE HLA GYI.

3 Bur. L. J. 63 : 1924 R. 267.

—S. 54—Unregistered sale—Delivery of possession—Document admissible to prove nature of vendee's possession.

Where there has been a sale with delivery of possession the effect of the transaction is not destroyed by reason of an unregistered sale deed having been executed at the time. The sale deed can be referred to, to show the nature of the vendee's possession. (Daniels, J.) DAYA RAM v. SITA RAM. L. R. 5 A. 317 : 79 I. C. 394.

—S. 55—Contract for sale of land and building—Duty of vendor to produce a marketable title—Property mortgaged to a firm—Release by one of the partners—Effect of.

On 21-10-1919 the owner of a building had agreed to sell it to defendant for Rs. 2,45,000. The sale was to be completed in six months. The vendor agreed to make out a marketable title free from all reasonable doubts. The defendant agreed to resell the building to the plaintiff for Rs. 2,95,000 and received Rs. 20,000 as earnest money. The agreement of sale was made subject to the conditions of the prior sale. In May 1918 and September 1918 the owner had mortgaged it by deposit of title deeds and by a registered mortgage respectively the said building for Rs. 70,000 and 30,000 to two firms of bankers. Both these mortgages were paid off on 23-12-1918. At that time the first mortgagee passed a release which was signed "Jayantilal Mothilal and Co. by their partner Harilal Mothilal". The legal mortgagee also executed a reconveyance of the mortgage to him. It was signed "Venilal Bhaichandba & Co by partner Venilal Bhaichandba". On the same day the owner took from each of the executors a declaration that the declarant was a partner duly authorised to accept a discharge of the mortgage. Title deeds of the house were in due course submitted to the vendee's attorneys who on 21-4-1920 required proof that the executors of the two release deeds were partners of the firms of the mortgagees and also that they were authorised to receive payment of the mortgage amount on behalf of the firm. The vendor's attorneys did not comply with the requisition but stated that the production of the release deeds and the original title deeds were sufficient to satisfy the vendee. Eventually on 7-10-1920 the purchaser's attorneys alleging that the vendor was not "willing to comply with the said requisitions and to make out a marketable title to the property" demanded return of the earnest money. The vendor's attorney responded on 12-10-1920 that the purchaser would not complete the sale on the frivolous excuse that the title was not marketable and intimating that the vendor had forfeited the earnest money. In a suit by the purchaser to recover the amount of the purchase money. Held that the requisitions of the vendee's attorneys were reasonable and had not been complied with. The vendor ought to have shown who the individual partners of the two firms who took the mortgages were and that the person who purported to give a discharge had been duly authorised to execute a release of the properties from the mortgage. On the facts stated to the purchaser the title was not free from reasonable doubt and he was right in refusing to complete the purchase. The suit was therefore decreed.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 55.

Quære : Whether it is competent to a partner in the absence of express authority, to mortgage partnership property either by deposit of title deeds or by legal mortgage. 16 B. 568 ; 19 M. 471 ; 31 M. 206 ; 4 A. 437 Ref. (Marlon and Kincaid, JJ.) HIRACHAND v. JAYAGOPAL.

26 Bom. L. R. 1049 : 1925 Bom. 69.

—S. 55—Sale of land—Covenant to pay an annual sum by vendee—Rights of purchaser from vendee.

Plaintiff's predecessor-in-title sold certain lands to the defendant's predecessor-in-title and the latter agreed to pay the former and his defendant a sum of Rs. 20 annually for worship of God. The defendant purchased the lands from a purchaser from the original vendee. Held, that the covenant did not run with the land and bind the defendant. There is no such thing as between a vendor and purchaser as a covenant to pay money running with the land. (Rankin and Ghose, JJ.) MOHINI MOHAN ROY v. RAMDAS.

28 C. W. N. 271 : 80 I. C. 210 :

39 C. L. J. 532 : 1924 Cal. 487.

—S. 55—Sale of land—Vendor and purchaser—Unpaid purchase money left with vendee till minor attained majority—Lien not lost. See HINDU LAW—MINOR. 47 M. L. J. 737.

—S. 55 (1) (g)—Covenant for title—Contract to the contrary—Statutory covenant excluded.

The plaintiff obtained a sale-deed from the defendants for a sum of Rs. 6,500. It was stated in the sale deed that the property was subject to only one incumbrance of Rs. 4,000. It was further stated that there was no other incumbrance, and if any party either as a co-sharer or as an encumbrancer laid a claim and if, as the result of such a claim, any portion of the property was lost, the vendors would indemnify the vendees to the extent of the whole of the purchase money in case the whole of the property was lost, or in the case of a partial loss, to the extent of a proportionate amount of the purchase money. Subsequently a mortgagee of the year 1882 sued and obtained a decree for sale for Rs. 13,000 and odd. The plaintiff paid up the amount and sued for its recovery with interest from the defendant. Held that the express covenant excluded the statutory covenant and the parties having substituted an express contract in the case of an incumbrance being found out cannot throw it out and rely on a statutory contract. Consequently in the circumstances that happened the plaintiff was not entitled to any relief. (Mukerji and Dalal, JJ.) RAM CHANDER v. BHAGWATI. 22 A. L. J. 576 : L. R. 5 A. 382 : 79 I. C. 590 : 1924 A. 937.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 55.

—S. 55 (1) (g)—Leasehold property—Sale of—Liability of seller to pay rent accrued due up to date of sale.

Where leaseholder property is sold, the seller is bound to pay under S. 55 (1) (g), T. P. Act, all rent accrued due in respect of the property up to the date of sale, during his tenancy or that of a person through whom he claims otherwise than by purchase. (Das and Ross, JJ.) MT. PAUL KUER v. RAMBAJAN SINGH. 1924 P. 822.

—S. 55 (2)—Covenant for title—Presumption of—Punjab—Vendor purchasing at insolvency sale—Vendee's knowledge—Effect.

The question whether the principle underlying S. 55 (2) T. P. Act, should be applied to a case arising in the Punjab must depend on the facts of the particular case.

Where a person purchases property at an insolvency sale and another person with full knowledge of this fact buys it from him but is later on dispossessed of a portion by a person possessing legal title, equity does not require that the Court should presume an implied covenant for title in favour of the vendee. (Lindsay, J.) DULA SINGH v. BELA SINGH. 78 I. C. 374 : 1925 Lah. 92.

—S. 55 (2)—Covenant as to title—When exists.

Where in a deed of sale the vendor describes himself as the owner of property sold there is an implied warranty under S. 55 (2) that he has full proprietary title and the purchaser will be entitled to the benefit of it in the absence of fraud, notice, waiver or an express or implied contract. (Stuart, J.) KALI DIN v. MADHO. 77 I. C. 862 : 1923. All. 169

—S. 55 (2)—Scope of.

Vendor described himself as the owner (malik) in possession of the property transferred. He nowhere suggested that he had obtained his title from Hindu women. The deed was silent on the subject.

Held, the interest which he professed to transfer was clearly full proprietary title. Under S. 55 (2) he must have been deemed to have contracted with the buyers that he had full proprietary title in the property. (Stuart, J.) KALI DIN v. MADHO. 77 I. C. 862 : 1923 All. 169.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 58.

—S. 55 (5) (b)—Mortgagor selling property—Vendee undertaking to redeem—Mortgagee if can sue under the mortgage.

Where after executing a mortgage, the mortgagor sells away the property leaving with the vendee money to redeem the mortgage and the vendee agrees to do the same, the mortgagee cannot sue the vendee on the mortgage as there is no privity between them. (Roe and Coultis, JJ.) KAMTA PRASAD SINGH v. NANKU PRASAD SINGH. 78 I. C. 545.

—Ss. 56 and 82—Mortgage—Assignment free of incumbrances—Assignee if liable to contribution.

Where a property is mortgaged and a portion of the same is afterwards assigned to a third party free of incumbrances, the assignee cannot be asked to contribute towards the mortgage debt in respect of his portion of the mortgaged property, (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) VISVANATHA AIYAR v. VENGAMA NAIDU. 19 L. W. 567 : 78 I. C. 52 : 1924 Mad. 749.

—S. 58—Contingent liability—Mortgage if can be created to discharge.

A mortgage of immovable property for the discharge of a contingent liability is perfectly valid. (Milner, C. J. and Kulwant Sahay, J.) NAND LAL v. DHARAMDEO SINGH. 78 I. C. 457.

—S. 58—English mortgage—Essentials of—Covenant for entry—Rights of mortgagee—Possession of property obtained at an invalid sale—Effect of.

The three essentials of an English mortgage are (1) that the mortgagor binds himself to repay the mortgage money on a certain day : (2) that the property mortgaged is transferred absolutely to the mortgagee and (3) that such absolute transfer is made subject to a proviso that the mortgagee will reconvey the property to the mortgagor upon payment by him of the mortgage money on the day on which the mortgagor bound himself to repay the same. Though the mortgage does not contain in so many words a covenant for possession, a right of entry on the part of the mortgagee may be implied from the terms of the deed. Even though the mortgagee enters into possession of the property by reason of a purchase at an execution sale under his decree, which subsequently turns out to be invalid, he cannot be ousted from possession either by the mortgagor or by a person claiming under him without the mortgage being redeemed. (Pearson and Graham, JJ.) RUKMINI KANTA CHAKRAVARTI v. BALDEO DAS. 28 C. W. N. 920 : 81 I. C. 1025 : 1925 Cal. 77.

—Ss. 58 and 76—English mortgage—Redemption—Foreclosure or sale—Interest—Post diem—Right to.

Unless the terms of a mortgage document show that it was the intention of the parties that no interest should be paid subsequent to the date when the mortgage money falls due post diem interest is payable till the date when the money is actually realised by the mortgagee. But the mortgagee is not entitled to compound interest. The period of limitation for a suit for sale or foreclosure under an English mortgage is 60 years under Art. 147 of the Limitation Act and the period for redemption is that prescribed by Art. 148. Even though the mortgage confers a power of private sale on the mortgagee on default of payment of principal on the due date still the mortgagee will be entitled to post diem interest and the mortgagee is not bound to exercise the power of sale under penalty of losing his right to subsequent interest. (Kumaraswami Sastri, J.) AGNES ISABELLA CAMPBELL v. ADIKESAVALU NAIDU, 20 L. W. 153 : 82 I. C. 399 : 1924 Mad. 736.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 58.

S. 58—Mortgage of a charge—Validity.

The mortgage of a charge is perfectly valid in law. (Cuming and Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MOHAN SINGH v. SEWA RAM.

10 O. & A. L. R. 217 : 10 O. L. J. 424 : 75 I. C. 579 : 1924 Oudh 299.

S. 58—Mortgage by conditional sale.

A transaction ostensibly a sale with right of repurchase in the vendor was held to be only mortgage by conditional sale, where time fixed for re-purchase was not of the essence of the contract, the price was extremely inadequate, vendor's right in mines were not sold and other circumstances indicated a mortgage. (Lord Blanesburgh.) RAJA BAHADUR NARASINGERJI GYANAGERJI v. RAJA PANUGANTI PARTHASARATHI RAYANIM GARU, 47 Mad. 729 : 20 L. W. 701 : 1 O. W. N. 684 : 51 I. A. 305 :

10 O. & A. L. R. 1172 : 1924 P. C. 226 : 82 I. C. 993 : 40 C. L. J. 481 : 27 Bom. L. R. 4 : 47 M. L. J. 809.

Ss. 58 and 60—Mortgage—Conditional sale—Sale and agreement to reconvey—Construction of the deed.

In construing whether two documents, one of sale and another of an agreement to reconvey, constitute a mortgage by conditional sale, the intention of the parties is the deciding factor. It lies on the party who contends that a document prima facie connoting an absolute sale is really a mortgage to prove his contention. Where there is no intention in the parties to keep alive the relationship of debtor and creditor between them, the transaction is one of sale and not of mortgage, 14 M. 170 : 5 L. W. 141; 42 M. 407 foll. (Wallace, J.) GANESA MUDALIAR v. GNANASIKHAMANI MUDALIAR, 35 M. L. T. (H. C.) 87 :

1924 M. W. N. 643 : 20 L. W. 338 : 1925 Mad. 37 : 47 M. L. J. 385.

S. 58—Mortgage—Covenant to pay—Implication.

In every mortgage there is a personal covenant to pay the mortgage-debt unless the contrary is expressly stated in the terms of the bond or appears by necessary implication from them. It is not express or even implied affirmation of the personal liability in the terms of the bond that is required. It arises out of the fact of the loan itself, and all that is wanted is the absence of any express or necessarily implied negation of it, of which there is no trace in the bond in this case. (Halifax, A. J. C.) SETH GOPIKISAN v. MT. MANKUARBAL, 20 N. L. R. 46 :

78 I. C. 239 : 1924 Nag. 97.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 58.

S. 58—Mortgage—Palmyra trees—Usufructuary mortgage of palmyra trees—Registration unnecessary. See REGISTRATION ACT, Ss. 17 AND 49. 19 L. W. 494.

S. 58—Usufructuary mortgage—Oral mortgage—Delivery of possession—Rights of mortgage—Part performance—Rights of mortgagor—Redemption.

Where there is an oral usufructuary mortgage under which the mortgagee has paid money and obtained possession, though the mortgage is invalid and the mortgagee does not obtain a charge on the land, he can resist a suit for possession by the mortgagor. The doctrine of part performance applies to the case of incomplete mortgages where the agreement to mortgage is specifically enforceable. Where a mortgagor has given possession under an invalid oral mortgage, though he cannot sue for redemption he can maintain a suit for recovery of possession and the Court will decree the suit conditional on his repaying the amount of the loan advanced. (Lentaigne and Carr, JJ.) MAUNG TUN YA v. MAUNG AUNG DUN, 3 Bur. L. J. 130 : 2 Rang. 313 : 1925 Rang. 1.

S. 58 (c)—Mortgage by conditional sale—Agreement to reconvey—Intention of the parties—Pre-emption.

On 1st Dec. 1919 two sale deeds of two separate properties were executed in favour of the same vendee and on the same date two agreements were executed by the vendee in favour of the vendors promising to retransfer the properties conveyed for the amounts of the purchase money if they were paid between the years 1340 and 1345 Fasli. The plaintiffs treated both these transactions as separate and brought a suit for pre-emption on the footing that there was a sale. Held that the transactions were mortgages by way of conditional sale as defined in S. 58 of the T. P. Act and a suit for pre-emption in respect thereof was not maintainable. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) RAM CHARAN LAL v. DHARAM SINGH, 46 A. 173 : 22 A. L. J. 10 : L. R. 5 A. 16 : 79 I. C. 626 : 1924 A. 444 (1).

S. 58 (e)—Mortgage or sale—Test.

A document of sale contained a provision that if the money was returned in a certain time the property should be reconveyed, and in default the sale was to become absolute. There was liability to pay interest till redemption. Held it was a mortgage by conditional sale.

In deciding whether a document is a sale or a mortgage, the language used and the surrounding circumstances are to be the sole guide. Precedents are of no use except in so far as they lay down the general law. If mutual rights and remedies are provided in the document, it is a mortgage. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. C.) GULZAR SINGH v. SHEO NATH, 11 O. L. J. 275 : 78 I. C. 547 : 1925 Oudh 11.

S. 58 (c)—Sale—Agreement to reconvey in favour of one of the vendors if mortgage by conditional sale.

Where there was a deed of sale by two vendors and a mere agreement by the vendee in favour of one of the vendors only, held that the transaction was not one of mortgage by conditional sale, though both these documents were executed on one and the same date because the property which was transferred on that date was worth the sale consideration and the agreement to reconvey was in favour of one vendor only (Lindsay and Sulainan, JJ.) MT. FATIMA BIBI v. ABDUL GHAFFAR KHAN. 1924 All. 748.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 58.

——— S. 58 (c)—Transfer—Agreement to reconvey—Provision to deposit in Court—Nature of transaction.

Where a simultaneously with a deed of transfer, the transferee undertook to reconvey in case the money was paid at a certain time and there was a provision for depositing the money in Court in case the reconveyance was not effected, the transactions amount to a mortgage by conditional sale. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) MAHAHIR v. BHARATH BIHANI. 78 I. C. 426 : 11 O. L. J. 312. 1924 Ouch 417 (2).

——— S. 59—Attestation—Proof of. 1924 P. 317.

——— S. 59—Deposit of title deeds—Promissory note—Equitable mortgage.

Where title deeds are deposited with the creditor to secure moneys due under an account or a promissory note it amounts to an equitable mortgage as soon as the title deeds are handed over to him. (Newbould and Ghose, JJ.) v. GALSTAN SONA THAN PAL. 78 I. C. 668.

——— S. 59—English and Indian Law—Difference. 28 C. W. N. 470 : 39 C. L. J. 186 : 76 I. C. 910 : 51 Cal. 86.

——— S. 59—Equitable mortgage—Document creating or document merely recording already completed transaction of—Test—Registration—Necessity—Document creating equitable mortgage unregistered—Proof of mortgage by proof of fact of deposit of title deeds—Permissibility.

The test to find out whether a document is in itself an equitable mortgage and requires to be registered, is, does the document constitute the bargain between the parties, or is merely the record of an already completed transaction. In the former case, the document must be registered and is, if it affects immoveable property, of the value of Rs. 100 or upwards, inadmissible in evidence unless registered; in the latter case, the document need not be registered. The easiest guide is the question whether or not the money was paid before the making of the document, because, if the money is handed over contemporaneously with, or in exchange for, the document, or after the document it will be very difficult to establish that the document did not contain the terms of the bargain between the parties. The terms of the document itself are a better guide to the truth than the verbal evidence given afterwards by persons either trying to escape from the liability or to establish it.

Held that the document in the question in the case did not itself create the charge, but was merely the record of a charge which was already been created. Where the document is in itself the equitable mortgage and is inadmissible,

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 60.

because unregistered, the mortgagee cannot prove the equitable mortgage by proof of the fact of the deposit of the title deeds with him. After the decision of the Privy Council in Subramanyam v. Lachman in 50 C. 338, the decision in Elumalai Chetty v. Balakrishna Mudali 41 M. L. J. 297 on this point can no longer be taken to be the law. (Schwabe, C. J. and Ramesam, J.) VELAMA KANYA v. PONNUSWAMI AIYAR

47 Mad. 398 : 19 L. W. 384 : 34 M. L. T. (H. C.) 298 : 1924 Mad. 547 : 46 M. L. J. 295.

——— S. 59—One partner redeeming mortgage by another—If charge is created.

Where one partner redeems a mortgage of partnership property entered into by another partner and takes back the title deeds, it is only an advance from the one to the other to be paid off out of the profits and no equitable charge is created (Viscount Haldane.) HENG MOH & Co. v. LIM SAW YEAN. 29 C. W. N. 12.

——— S. 60—Clog on the equity—Long period fixed—Mortgagees at liberty to make any improvements and charge for same—Effect.

1924 Lah. 129.

——— Ss. 60 and 98—Clog on equity—Provision of T.P. Act not extended—Effect. (Robinson, C. J. and May Oung, J.) MA MIN BYU v. MAUNG CHIT PE. 1924 Rang. 83.

——— S. 60—Clog—Period of 60 years—Prior redemption if allowed.

Stipulation which are likely to nullify the right of redemption are treated as clog on redemption. When the period fixed for the mortgage is 60 years, it cannot by itself be treated as a clog and hence redemption cannot be claimed before the expiry of the term fixed. (Mukerji, J.) NARAIN v. JAGAN. 80 I. C. 728 : I. E. 5 A. 632.

——— S. 60—Default in payment as agreed—Suit for possession—Redemption if to be allowed.

Under a mortgage deed, if money was not paid after 10 years, the mortgagee was to get possession for 20 years. In a suit by the mortgagee for possession as per the terms of the clause, held the proper decree to pass is one for redemption and if not redeemed within a time to be fixed by Court to direct possession to be given to the mortgagees till redemption. (Wazir Hasan and Neave, A. J. Cs.) BAKHTAWAR SINGH v. BAKHTAWAR SINGH. 78 I. C. 232.

——— S. 60—Equity of redemption—Right of some only of the co-sharers to redeem the whole.

Where some only of several co-sharer landlords, as representatives of an occupancy tenant who mortgaged his occupancy holding and died without heirs, claimed as part owners of the mortgagor, to redeem the mortgage, and it was contended that plaintiffs are not entitled to redeem the whole, against the wish of the mortgagee,

Held relying on Mirzayad Ali Bag v. Tuka Ram 48 Cal. 82 that there is nothing in S. 60 to debar the owner of a part of the equity of redemption from offering to redeem the whole mortgage. There can be no objection to a suit by a part-owner of the equity of redemption for the redemption of whole. (Dawson Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) SRIKANTA PRASAD v. JAG SAH.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 60.

3 Pat. 818 : 1925 P. 57.

—S. 60—Mortgage—Forfeiture clause—Redemption—Transfer of ownership—Possession
76 I. C. 624 (2).

—S. 60—Mortgage—Redemption and acquisition of portion of mortgaged property by mortgagee—Possession—Liability to surrender—Mesne profits

The appellant obtained two mortgages of certain shares in a patti of 4 annas. Subsequently, whether after the redemption or the mortgages or before the redemption, the mortgagees purchased a small share (6 ps) out of the patti. The mortgages were redeemed. After the mortgage the appellants obtained possession over certain parts of land. Presumably this possession was obtained as mortgagees and on behalf of the mortgagors. The dispute arose when the mortgage was redeemed. The mortgagees refused to give up the lands over which they were in possession as mortgagees. Their contention was that they had become co-sharers in the lands and they were entitled to keep possession as co-sharers. Held, that the appellants (mortgagees) were bound to hand over the lands of which they got possession in the capacity of mortgagees and in no other capacity. Where the share was redeemed the whole quantity of land should have been handed back to the mortgagors. After that act had been performed it was for the parties to settle between themselves, if possible, what lands out of the land should be handed back to the mortgagors as representing a fair share of theirs. The mortgagees were not at all entitled to keep possession simply because they had become co-sharers in the patti. In this view the possession of the mortgagees over the lands which they have got in the capacity of the mortgagees was unlawful and after redemption the mortgagees were bound to hand over the entire quantity of land they had taken possession of as mortgagees or to pay mesne profits for their occupation. (Stuart and Mookerji, JJ.) DILDAH v. SHUKER-ULLAH.

46 All. 152 : 78 I. C. 1023 :
1924 A. 444 (2).

—S. 60—Mortgage—Redemption clog on—Mortgage for 82 years—Single day's time allowed for redemption.

A mortgage whose term was 82 years allowed only one day for redemption at the end of the period falling which the mortgage was to be treated as a sale. There was also a further clause that the mortgagor should redeem with his own money and not with borrowed funds. Held that the conditions in the deed constituted a clog on redemption and were invalid. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) RAM GANESH RAI v. RUP NARAIN RAI.

80 I. C. 944 : L. R. 5 A 542 (Civ.).

—S. 60—Mortgage taking possession of part of property—Integrity of mortgage if broken.

Where a mortgagee who was entitled to possession of the properties got possession of only a moiety, and then brought a suit for the other half the integrity of the mortgage is not broken and the mortgagors cannot claim to redeem a portion only. (Kendall, A. J. C.) THAKUR PRASAD SINGH v. CHANDRIKA PRASAD.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 61.

10 O. & A. L. R. 212 :
11 C. L. J. 436 : 81 I. C. 742 : 1925 Oudh 150 (2).

—S. 60—Partial redemption—Purchase by mortgagee—Splitting up integrity—Apportionment.

Where the mortgagee by his own act in acquiring one of the mortgaged properties has split up the integrity of the mortgage, any person interested in a share of the mortgaged properties may redeem that share on payment of the proportionate amount of the balance of the mortgage debt. The mortgage debt should be apportioned in proportion to the share held. (Dass and Ross, JJ.) RAGHUNATH PRASAD SINGH v. SADHU SARAN PRASAD SINGH.
5 Pat. L. T. 312 : 75 I. C. 821 :
1925 P. 31.

—S. 60—Redemption—Purchase by one out of several mortgagees of a portion of mortgaged property—Indivisibility of mortgage—Piecemeal redemption whether permissible.

Where one only out of several mortgagees has acquired by purchase a part of the mortgaged property, the mortgage does not merge in the sale. It remains one and undivided and must be redeemed in its entirety and not piecemeal. 6 O. C. 223 and 9 O. C. 63 distinguished. (Neave, A. J. C.) JAGMOHAN SINGH v. HARBANS SINGH.

1 O. W. N. 637 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 970

—S. 60—Suit by mortgagee for his share of the mortgage money—Decree—Form of—Merger—Acquisition of interest, MOHAN LAL v. PRASADI LAL.
1924 A. 11.

—S. 60—Usufructuary mortgage—Subsequent contract to sell equity of redemption—No sale deed executed—Right to redeem, if lost.

Some time after the execution of an usufructuary mortgage, the mortgagor entered into a registered contract to sell the equity of redemption and received some earnest money. The sale deed was never executed nor the balance of consideration paid. Held there was no transfer of the equity of redemption but only a contract for such a transfer and the right to redeem was not lost. (Kendall and Pullan, A. J. C.) SITLA SAHAI v. DHUM SINGH.

10 O. & A. L. R. 655 : 82 I. C. 408 :
1925 Oudh 114.

—S. 60—Usufructuary mortgage—Term fixed—Redemption before time—If allowed.

If under the terms of a usufructuary mortgage, the mortgagee is to remain in possession for fixed term and there is no specific provision for redeeming earlier, the mortgagor cannot in the absence of fraud or undue influence claim to redeem before the expiry of the term fixed. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) RAMA v. WAMANRAO.

79 I. C. 870 : 1925 Nag. 11.

—S. 61—Consolidation of several mortgages—Validity.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 63.

Consolidation of several mortgage amounts against different properties is illegal in the absence of a contract to that effect. (Jwala Prasad and Culwant Sahay, JJ.) PARMESHWAR PANDEY v. RAKISHORE PRASAD NARAYAN SINGH.

3 Pat. 829 : 80 I. C. 34 : 5 Pat. L. T. 646 ; 1925 P. 59.

— S. 63—Acquisition of tenancy lands by mortgagee—If an accession—Rights of mortgagor.

Tenancy lands acquired by a mortgagee in possession by virtue of an ejectment decree form an accession to the mortgaged property and the mortgagor is entitled to such lands on redemption, provided he pays to the mortgagee the expenses of acquiring it. (Das and Ross, JJ.) BABU RAM RAI v. MAHESWAR PRASAD SINGH.

78 I. C. 466.

— S. 65 (a)—Mortgagee purchaser—Defect in title—Covenant—Enforcement

The purchaser at a sale under a mortgage decree acquires the interest of both mortgagor and mortgagee and when the mortgagee after purchasing the property finds a portion of the property does not belong to the mortgagor, he can enforce the implied covenant under S. 65 (a) and sue for loss. (Lentaigne, J.) MA GUN v. MG. LU GALE.

3 Bur. L. J. 282 : 1925 Rang. 130.

— Ss. 67, 68 & 98—Anomalous mortgage—Power of sale—Provision empowering mortgagee to sell in case possession was not given—Rights of mortgagee.

Plaintiffs as sons of the original mortgagee, instituted a suit for recovery of the mortgaged money by sale of the hypothecated properties. The mortgage was an anomalous one. It provided inter alia (1) that the mortgagee would be put in possession of the mortgaged properties and appropriate the usufruct, after paying the landlord's rent, towards payment of interest, (2) that the mortgagor would pay up the debt within eight years and take back the properties, (3) that in case of default, the mortgagee would be entitled to recover his dues by suit, by sale of the mortgaged properties as well as other properties of the mortgagor, and (4) that in case any hindrance or obstruction was offered to the possession of the mortgagee, he would be entitled forthwith to sue for a decree to recover the amount of the bond. Plaintiffs alleged that they had not been put in possession of the mortgaged properties as agreed and were thus entitled to recover the amount of the bond by a sale of the mortgaged properties although the due date had not expired. The material defence taken was that a suit for sale on the basis of the mortgage bond was not maintainable as the due date had not expired.

Held, that this mortgage while it is not a usufructuary mortgage is also not a mere combination of a simple and usufructuary mortgage. It is not what is sometimes called a simple mortgage usufructuary, but it is an anomalous mortgage within the meaning of Sec. 98 of the Transfer of Property Act, that is to say, there are elements in the bargain which cannot be brought under either of those two conceptions. How far the rights of the parties in the circumstances are intended to extend must in any possible case, apart from Sec. 98, be controlled by the construction of the document. The mortgage deed did not empower the mortgagee to sue for sale of the property in the contingency which happened. (Rankin and Page, JJ.) GAJADHAR AGARWALLA v. SIBANANDA PRADHAN.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 72.

28 C. W. N. 532 : 39 C. L. J. 269 : 81 I. C. 768 : 1924 Cal. 592.

— S. 67—Execution of decree—Immoveable property given as security for stay of execution realisable in execution without a suit under S. 67 of the T. P. Act. See C. P. CODE, Ss. 47 AND 145. 51 C. 150.

— S. 68—Diminution in rent—If security diminished—Inclusion of plots not belonging to mortgagor. L. R. 5 A. 29.

— S. 68—Mortgage—Mortgagee dispossessed by stranger—Suit for recovery of mortgage money. MAUNG PO KIN v. MAUNG KYANKYE. 1924 Rang. 143.

— S. 68—Mortgagee's right to recover money by sale—Retention of possession of a portion of the mortgaged property—Effect of—Transferee from mortgagor—Liability of.

Where in a mortgage deed there is a covenant entitling the mortgagee in the event of dispossession from the whole or any part of the property to recover his mortgage-money from any moveable or immoveable property belonging to the mortgagor whether forming part of the mortgage property or not the covenant is binding on any person claiming title from mortgagor and stands on an entirely different footing from the right to personal decree. The mere fact that the mortgagee still retains possession of some part of the hypothecated property is no ground for refusing him his remedy for recovery of the mortgage-money. (Daniels, J.) RAM KARAN SINGH v. RAJA RAM. L. R. 5 A. 225 (Rev.) : 1924 A. 877.

— S. 68—Prayer in plaint for charge as well as personal decree—Charge decreed—Effect.

Where in an action on a usufructuary mortgage bond under S. 68, T. P. Act, the plaintiff asked for a charge on certain moneys and also a personal decree against the defendant and the court decreed the charge, the latter portion of the relief claimed must be deemed disallowed. (Jwala Prasad and Foster, JJ.) KISHUNDEO SINGH v. JAGLAL SAHU. 78 I. C. 774 : 5 Pat. L. J. 603.

— S. 68 (A)—Mortgage—Foreclosure—Agreement to pay within fixed period—Default—Rights of mortgagor. 1924 Nag. 53.

— S. 69—Power of sale—Outside Court—Validity. 75 I. C. 7.

— S. 72—Mortgagee paying revenue—Right to claim on redemption—Interest.

A mortgagee paying revenue assessed on the land and which he is compelled to pay can add it on to the amount due under the mortgage. But he cannot claim interest thereon unless the mortgage deed provides for it. (Abdul Raof and Moti Sagar, JJ.) RAJA RAM v. GAHI.

78 I. C. 1033 (2) : 1925 Lah. 76.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 72.

— Ss. 72 and 76 - Mortgagee in possession—Right to settle lands with tenants—Acquisition of non-occupancy rights.

A mortgagee in possession can settle lands with tenants and the latter can acquire non-occupancy rights thereby. (Kulwant Sahay, J.) MAHADEO LAL v. SRI GOBIND LAL SAHU.

78 I. C. 943 : 1925 P. 198.

— S. 72—Puisne mortgagee—Redemption—Right to be paid moneys due under prior mortgage.

1924 Lah. 154.

— S. 73—Sale for arrears of Government revenue—Existence of charge—Remedy of mortgagee.

A mortgagee has a charge on the surplus sale proceeds after the sale of the mortgaged property for arrears of Government revenue. But he is not bound to follow the surplus sale-proceeds of the property and the existence of the statutory charge is no bar to his seeking a decree against the successors of the mortgagor. (Dis and Russ, JJ.) BENARSI PRASAD v. MOHIUDDIN AHMAD.

3 Pat. 581.

— S. 74—Suit by prior mortgagee Puisne mortgagee paying money under decree—Rights of—if can be worked out in the same proceedings.

In a mortgage suit by a prior mortgagee impleading the puisne mortgagee and mortgagor as defendants the usual preliminary decree was passed in Form 6 of Appx. D. C. P. Code. The puisne mortgagee paid the money due and applied to be transferred as plaintiff and for a final decree in his favour. Held under S. 74, T. P. Act, he acquired all the rights of the prior mortgagee and could work out his rights in the same proceedings. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) SHANKAR RAO v. GANPATRAO.

80 I. C. 283 : 1925 Nag. 15.

— S. 76—Mortgagee in possession—Surplus collections—Liability to pay interest.

A mortgagee in possession of mortgaged property and in receipt of the profits of the property is not liable to pay interest on the surplus collections till the date of the institution of a suit for redemption by the mortgagor. Under S. 73 of the Contract Act interest by way of damages can be given only where there is a breach of contract and a mortgagee who keeps the surplus collections in his hand cannot be said to be guilty of any breach of contract so as to make him liable for interest by way of damages. (Mukerji and Dalal, JJ.) ISMAIL HASAN v. MADHI HASAN.

22 A. L. J. 833 : L. R. 5 A. 625 : 10 I. C. 63 : 1924 A. 881.

— S. 76 (c)—Mortgagee must pay Govt. revenue though increased when he was in possession and cannot add the increment to the principal money—Mortgages before T. P. Act—Law applicable.

In British India a mortgagee in possession of immoveable property under a mortgage made before T. P. Act of 1882 came into force, was under the ordinary law then in force, bound to manage it as a person with ordinary prudence would manage if it were his own, and unless there was an agreement to the contrary with the mortgagor, he was bound to pay out of the income of the property the Government land revenue which might during his possession be assessed upon it and such charges of a public nature as might accrue due in respect of the property and be payable by the person in possession of the rents and profits, and was not entitled to charge such payments against his mortgagor in the accounts. (Sir John Edge) ABID HUSAIN v. KANIZ FATIMA.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 77.

46 A. 269 :

22 A. L. J. 284 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 281 :

19 L. W. 703 : 34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 78 :

(1924) M. W. N. 657 : 50 I. C. 1019 :

1 O. W. N. 33 : 11 O. L. J. 427 :

27 O. C. 72 : 29 C. W. N. 214 :

1924 P. C. 102.

— Ss. 76 and 77—Usufructuary mortgage—Profits in lieu of interest—Liability to render accounts—Interest.

Where under the terms of an usufructuary mortgage, the mortgagee after meeting certain specified expenses was to appropriate the balance towards interest and no rate of interest was fixed, in a suit for redemption there is no liability on the mortgagee to account nor on the mortgagor to pay interest. (Kendall and Pullan, A. J. C.) SITLA SAHAI v. DHUM SINGH.

10 O. & A. L. R. 655 : 32 I. C. 406 :

11 O. L. J. 543 : 1925 Oudh 114.

— S. 76 (3)—Mortgage of fixed-rate holding—Liability for rent—Contract between the parties.

Part of a fixed-rate holding had been mortgaged but the mortgagor as well as the mortgagee both defaulted to pay the rent. The zemindar ejected both the mortgagor and the mortgagee under S. 35 of the Rent Act and recovered the decretal amount by levying execution against the mortgagee. The mortgagee brought the other property of the mortgagor to sale in satisfaction of the amount recovered from him by the zemindar and purchased it himself. Held, that in the absence of a contract to the contrary, the mortgagee was bound under S. 76 (3) of the T. P. Act to pay the rent falling due in respect of the portion of the holding covered by his mortgage. The zemindar made him a party to the sui for recovery of the arrears of rent and he was equally justified in ejecting him from the mortgaged land and recovering the decretal amount by his arrest. The mortgagee was not liable for arrears of rent due in respect of the portion of the holding not covered by his mortgage and was entitled to recover from the mortgagor and his successors interested any sums paid by him on that account and to effect a valid sale of the mortgagor's property in satisfaction thereof. The liability to pay arrears of rent could not be treated as a personal liability so as to pass merely the life interest of the mortgagors in the property sold in satisfaction. (Kannaiya Lal, J.) RAM DULARE v. SAHDEO.

L. R. 5 A. 374 (Rev.).

— S. 76 (g)—Duty to keep accounts—If can be contracted against.

1924 Oudh 92 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 328 :

11 O. L. J. 362.

— S. 77—Usufructuary mortgage—Malkana payable to mortgagor—Redemption—Accounts.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 79.

Under a usufructuary mortgage the mortgagees had to pay the mortgagors an annual sum as malikana in lieu of all claims to accounts against the mortgagees. In a subsequent suit for redemption by the mortgagors held that that being usufructuary there was a liability to account and that the mortgagees were entitled to a decree on payment of the mortgage money less the amount of malikana remaining unpaid to them. The remedy of the mortgagor was not confined to a suit for recovery of arrears of malikana by a separate suit (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) BEHARI LAL v. SHIBLAL.

46 A. 633 : 22 A. L. J. 579 :
L. R. 5 A. 414 : 82 I. C. 25 :
1924 A. 591.

—Ss. 79 and 80—Scope of.

28 C. W. N. 470 : 39 C. L. J. 186 :
76 I. C. 910 : 51 Cal. 86.

—S. 81—Marshalling—Right of—Puisne mortgagee purchasing a portion of the equity of redemption—Right not lost.

The object of Section 81 is to protect the subsequent mortgagee from the properties mortgaged to him being sold to satisfy the dues of a prior mortgagee who has the additional security of some other properties also. It will be dangerous and in many cases will make the provision nugatory, if it were held that the moment the subsequent mortgagee purchases in execution of his mortgage his rights of marshalling are extinguished. A mortgagee is a transferee of property and the mortgagee acquires certain rights and incurs certain obligations in the property mortgaged from the time he takes his mortgage. One of those rights is the right of marshalling. The right acquired by him passes to the purchaser in execution of the mortgage decree whether he or a third person is the purchaser. Execution sale does not extinguish the rights or obligations already acquired or incurred by the mortgagee at the time when the mortgage was executed. His rights and obligations against the mortgagor are thus not extinguished. Hence the purchaser of the property in execution of his mortgage decree is entitled to enforce the rights of marshalling against a prior mortgagee so long as that prior mortgage is not extinguished. (Jwala Prasad, and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) RAJKESHWAR PRASAD NARAIN SINGH v. MAHOMED KHALIL-UL RAHMAN.

3 Pat. 522 : 5 Pat. L. T. 223 :
78 I. C. 796 : 1924 P. 459.

—S. 82—Applicability—Co-mortgagors—Suit for contribution.

S. 82, T. P. Act obviously deals primarily with the relations between mortgagor and mortgagee and has nothing to do with co-mortgagors, and a suit for contribution as between them will be governed by S. 95. (Halifax, A. J. C.) PUNDALIK v. KADTAI BAI.

82 I. C. 2.

—S. 82—Construction—Several properties subject to same mortgage—Liability—Extent of

Where several properties whether of one or several owners are mortgaged to secure one debt, such properties are, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, liable to contribute rateably to the debt secured by the mortgage after deducting from the value of each property the amount of any other encumbrance to which it is subject at the date of the mortgage. 36 A. 372 Ref. (Lindsay and Sulaiman, JJ.) MEGRAJ v. KRISHNA CHANDRA.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 83.

46 A. 286 : 22 A. L. J. 193 :
L. R. 5 A. 193 : 78 I. C. 243 :
1924 A. 365.

—S. 82—Principle of contribution, application of.

It is doubtful whether the principle of contribution as stated in S. 82 to the effect that where several properties are mortgaged to secure one debt they are liable to contribute rateably to the debt secured by the mortgage, is applicable where (1) the property is not mortgaged to secure the debt paid off by the party claiming contribution and is in no way involved in the decree for that debt, (2) the party claiming contribution acquiesces in the sale of other property and does not claim the property to be sold in execution of the decree for that debt, and, (3) the property is sold in good faith to another party and the claim to contribution is an equitable claim. 33 A. 708 distinguished (Wazir Hasan and Pullan, A. J. C.) MURT CHANDYA KUNWAR v. SHFO DAYAL.

1 O. W. N. 372 : 11 O. L. J. 707.

—S. 83—Deposit of mortgage money—Money paid to the account of legal representatives of mortgagee and sub-mortgagee—Validity of deposit.

The expression "Mortgagee" in S. 83 of the Transfer of Property Act includes the legal representatives and assigns of the mortgagee. A sub-mortgage is in substance an assignment of the mortgage. Consequently a deposit by the mortgagor of the mortgage moneys payable both to the legal representatives of the deceased mortgagee and his sub-mortgagee is valid. (Kumara-swami Sastri and Waller, JJ.) SUBBA RAO v. PONNAMMAI NADATHI.

19 T. W. 294 :
80 I. C. 363 : 1924 Mad 453 : 46 M. L. J. 74.

—S. 83—Deposit under—Validity—Effect—Death of mortgagee—Dispute as to who is legal representative—Deposit in case of.

On receiving a petition under S. 83 of the Transfer of Property Act it is the statutory duty of the Court to give notice to the mortgagee, and it is the mortgagee's duty upon receiving such notice to state the amount due on the mortgage and his willingness to accept the money deposited in full discharge of that mortgage and to deposit the mortgage deed in Court and receive the money. The expression "mortgagee" in S. 83 includes the legal representatives of the mortgagee, and where there are disputes among the heirs of the mortgagee and money is deposited in Court but the money not drawn owing to those disputes interest will cease to run from the date of the deposit.

On the death of a simple mortgagee, there was a dispute between his widow and his adopted son as to who was entitled to his estate. Each gave notice to the mortgagor not to pay interest to the other claimant. The appellants, who were the purchasers of the equity of redemption, paid the money up to date into Court under S. 83 of the Transfer of Property Act. The petition prayed for the issue of notice to the widow and the adopted son of the mortgagee, for cancellation of the hypothecation deed and the return of the title deeds and for a direction that they should take the amount due from the amount deposited in Court and pay the Petitioner's costs. In the body of the petition there was a statement that it was just that an order should be passed directing either of the two counter petitioners or anybody who might be entitled, to receive the whole of the said amount or the amount that might be found due. The widow and the adopted son each asked for the payment of the whole amount to the exclusion of the other; but neither stated what amount was due at that time or questioned the sufficiency of the amount deposited. In a suit for sale on foot of the mortgage instituted by the adopted son who was ultimately found to be entitled to the estate, held, that the deposit under S. 83 was a proper deposit and that interest ceased to run from the date thereof. (Spencer, O. C. J. and Kumaraswami Sasri, J.) BATHAI BALUSWAMI AIYAR v KRISHNASWAMI AIYAR.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 84.

19 L. W. 541 : 1924 Mad. 559 :
1924 M. W. N. 535 : 46 M. L. J. 497.

—S. 84—Deposit of amount prior to redemption suit—Mesne profits—Accountability—separate suit if lies.

Where a mortgagor makes a valid deposit of the amount due but as it was not accepted a redemption suit was filed, the court should take into account the mesne profits realised by the mortgagee from the date of deposit up to at least the filing of the redemption suit and reduce the price of redemption by the amount of the profits. No separate suit would lie ordinarily for the recovery of that amount. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) SAVITRI v. MADHORA.

1924 Nag. 285.

—T. P. Act, S. 88—Application for execution.

Where the preliminary decree in a mortgage suit was passed before and the final decree after the new Civil Procedure Code, held, that an application for execution beyond 12 years after the date of the final decree is barred since the new Civil Procedure Code governed the case, final decree being the only executable decree. (Ryves and Mukherji, JJ.) TARA CHAND v. MURTAZA HUSSAIN.

1924 All. 696 (1)

—S. 90—Hindu reversioner—If can redeem during widows' life.

A Hindu reversioner has such an interest in the property as entitles him to redeem even in the life time of the widow. (Neave, A. J. C.) BASAVAN v. NATHA.

1 O. W. N. 319 : 82 I. C. 747 :
11 O. L. J. 452 : 10 O & A. L. R. 30 :
1925 Oudh 30.

—S. 91—Tenant from year to year—Right to redeem.

78 I. C. 47 (2).

—S. 91 (f)—Judgment creditor of the Mortgagor's right to redeem—Decree on mortgage pending attachment—Subsequent purchase.

The statutory right given by S. 91 (f) can be exercised only by a person who answers to that description in that clause, and the Plaintiff in the suit having purchased the properties of the judgment debtor, and then applied to redeem the properties from the original mortgagee, he shed his character as judgment creditor, and that therefore no right of redemption could be claimed by him, following. Chmuyappa Tharagar v. Rama Aiyar. 44 Mad 232. (Srinivasa Iyengar, J.) SUBRAMANIYA CHETTIAR v. CHINNAMMAL.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 101.

20 L. W. 761.

—S. 91—Co-mortgagors—Suit for contribution.

A suit for contribution as between co-mortgagors is governed by S. 95 and not by S. 82. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) PUNDALIK v. KADTABAIBAI.

82 I. C. 2.

—S. 95—Possession—How far necessary.

The acquisition of possession, constructive or actual, is a condition precedent for the creation of a charge under S. 95, T. P. Act. As a general rule, there is no lien at law without possession and this rule of Common Law has been adopted for the purpose of S. 95. (Cuming and Wazir Hasan, A.J.Cs.) MOHAN SINGH v. SEWA RAM.

10 O. & A. L. R. 217 : 10 O. L. J. 424 :
75 I. C. 579 : 1924 Oudh 209.

—S. 100—Applicability of—Charge—Mortgage security, when amounts to a charge.

S. 100 does not enable a security to be converted into a charge if the transaction intended to be a mortgage is not reduced to writing or registered. (Duckworth and Godfrey, JJ.) P. R. P. A. SOMASUNDRA CHETTIAR v. Y. R. N. NACHIAPPA CHETTIAR.

2 Rang. 429 : 1925 Rang. 55.

—S. 100—Charge holder—Rights against subsequent transferee without notice.

A charge which does not amount to a mortgage can be enforced against a subsequent transferee for value without notice of the charge. The position is not affected by S. 40, T. P. Act, which applies only to contractual rights. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) MAHADEO PRASAD v. ANANDI LAL.

22 A. L. J. 887 : L. R. 5 A. 749 : 1925 A. 60.

—S. 100—Charge—Creation of—General words—Intention.

A covenant in a document that the obligee could recover the debt from the estate and heirs of the debtor does not amount to a charge on the property. To create a charge the property or fund must be specifically indicated. There must also be the expression of a present intention coupled with the necessary words of hypothecation to constitute it. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) TULSIRAM v. ANUSUYA.

1924 Nag. 360.

—S. 101—Mortgagee—Keeping alive—Owner of property paying off a prior charge—Subrogation—Composite security—Purchase of a portion of the property.

Certain lands were sold in execution of a money decree, subject to three mortgages. The second of the mortgages comprised not only the land but also the crops raised thereon from time to time. The second mortgagee obtained a decree on his mortgage and realised part of the decree by actual sale of crops and the rest was discharged by the auction-purchaser. The third mortgagee instituted a suit on his mortgage and obtained a decree, in execution of which he brought the properties to sale. After paying off the first mortgagee, there remained a balance of about Rs 1,300 to the credit of the suit. On the question whether the appellant or the respondents were entitled to the money in Court.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 101.

Held, that the auction-purchaser and his assignees (respondents) were entitled to subrogation of the rights of the second mortgagee to the extent they discharged his mortgage apart from the amount realised by him by the sale of crops, 11 I. A. 126; 29 I. A. 9; 39 I. A. 68; 22 M. L. J. 468 (P. C.) followed. (Lord Phillimore) MALIREDDI AYYA REDDI v. ADUSUMILLI GOPALA-KRISHNAYYA.

22 A. L. J. 45; 47 Mad. 190; 19 L. W. 215;

26 Bom. L. R. 204; 34 M. L. T. (P. C.) 1;

(1924) M. W. N. 290;

2 Pat. L. R. 99; L. R. 5 P. C. 49;

10 O. & A. L. R. 269; 39 C. L. J. 204;

28 C. W. N. 1025; 79 I. C. 592; 1 O. W. N. 27;

51 I. A. 140 (P. C.); 1924 P. C. 36; 46 M. L. J. 164.

— S. 101—Mortgage decree—Purchase of property pending suit—Mortgage if kept alive.

Where pending a mortgage suit a stranger purchases the property and deposits the decree amount in court after notice to the mortgagee of his purchase, mortgage which was redeemed thereby is kept alive for the benefit of the purchaser. (Lentaigne, J.) HLA BAN v. RAMANATHAN CHETTIAR.

3 Bur. L. J. 287; 1925 Rang. 89.

— S. 101—Mortgage—Acquisition of portion of the mortgaged property by prior mortgagee—Redemption—Election to keep alive mortgage.

A prior mortgage acquired a portion of the equity of redemption of the property mortgaged in full satisfaction of the mortgage. Subsequently an intermediate mortgagee sued for partial redemption and in that suit the prior mortgagee disclaimed all rights as owner of the equity of redemption and elected to treat his mortgage as existing. Held, that the prior mortgagee having elected to stand by his rights as mortgagee, he was entitled to demand the entire debt due to him from a person claiming to redeem.

So long as the fusion of the rights of the prior mortgagee and of the mortgagor's equity of redemption lasted, the intermediate mortgagee could have relied on the application of the last para of S. 101 of the T. P. Act but the moment the prior mortgagee made his election and separated his two capacities, the last para of S. 60 of the T. P. Act ceased automatically to be applicable to the case. 44 A. 659; 15 C. P. L. R. 188; 16 Nag. L. R. 154. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) LAXMAN SINGH v. JANARDAN.

20 N. L. R. 115; 1924 Nag. 266.

— S. 101—Mortgage—Keeping alive—Sale in discharge of prior mortgage—Mortgagee entitled to possession.

Where under a mortgage the mortgagee is in possession and the mortgage is discharged by means of a sale, if the sale subsequently turns out to be invalid, the mortgage revives and the mortgagee is entitled to remain in possession. (Dalal and Simpson, A. J. Cs.) AMBIKA PRASAD v. LAL BAHADUR.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 105.

11 O. L. J. 164; 1924 Oudh 353.

— S. 101—Mortgage—Subrogation—Payment by puisne mortgagee or by purchaser of mortgaged property—Payment made to save property—Right to a charge.

Subrogation is by redemption and there can be no subrogation where there has been no redemption. A partial payment of the debt on an earlier mortgage by a subsequent mortgagee does not give a claim for subrogation. Similarly where a purchaser of mortgaged property has only paid off a portion of the mortgage debt, he is not entitled to the benefit of the doctrine of subrogation. Where a person purchased an oil-well subject to the rights of a prior mortgagee and also to a right of pre-emption in favour of another person and in order to satisfy a decree for sale which had been made on foot of the mortgage made certain payments to the decree holder with a view to avert the sale, held that the purchaser had a right to be subrogated to the rights of the prior mortgagee. (Prait and Macgregor, JJ.) MA LON v. MA NYO.

1 R. 714; 79 I. C. 766; 1924 R. 204.

— S. 101—Prior mortgagee—Purchasing property—Agreement to pay subsequent mortgage—Priority if can be pleaded in suit by latter.

75 I. C. 1016

— S. 101—Subsequent mortgagee—Paying off prior mortgage—Charge if kept alive.

Where the amount of a prior charge is left with a subsequent mortgagee for payment to the prior mortgagee and he pays it accordingly, he is subrogated to the rights of the prior mortgagee; as it is to his interest to keep the prior charge alive it must be presumed in the absence of proof to the contrary that he did what was to his interest to do. The intention to keep a prior mortgage alive in India is never formally expressed in the latter deed. (Daniels, J. C.) GOKUL PRASAD v. SUKRU.

10 O. & A. L. R. 129; 81 I. C. 581;

11 O. L. J. 269; 1924 Oudh 374.

— S. 105—Kabuliyat executed by lessee—If a lease.

A registered Kabuliyat executed by the lessee and accepted by the lessor is not a lease within S. 105, T. P. Act. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) AHMED KHAN v. SADASHAO.

80 I. C. 736; 1925 Nag. 121.

— S. 105—Person occupying premises executing registered kabuliat—Acceptance by an owner—If a lease.

A registered kabuliyat executed by the person occupying the premises and accepted by the person owning the premises is not sufficient to bestow title upon the person occupying the premises and can in no way be considered a lease as defined in Section 105 of Act IV of 1882, 39 C. 1316; 35 M. 95; 31 A. 276; 27 A. 136, Rel. (Stuart and Mukerjee, JJ.) KEDAR NATH v. SHANKER LAL.

46 A. 303; 22 A. L. J. 185; L. R. 5 A. 80;

78 I. C. 934; 1924 A. 514.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 106.

———S. 106—Agreement to vacate at a certain date—Notice to quit—If necessary.

Where the tenant had expressly agreed to give up possession at a certain fixed date he need not be given a formal notice to quit. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) DINA SINGH v. JAMALSINGH

78 I. C. 446 : 1925 Nag 48.

———S. 106—Applicability—Agreement to vacate house whenever wanted—Notice.

Where the lessee of a house agrees to vacate the same whenever wanted, S. 106, T. P. Act can not be made applicable and the omission to give notice cannot be regarded as fatal to a suit in ejectment. (Kanhaya Lal, J.) MUKAT SINGH v. MISRA PARAS RAM.

1924 A. 726.

———S. 106—Applicability—Contract to the contrary—No specification as to when notice is to expire.

S. 106, T.P. Act applies only where there is no contract to the contrary. A contract for a month's notice without any specification of the time when the notice is to expire is a contract to the contrary of the rule in S. 106 and the notice need not expire with the end of the tenancy. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) SAIK KASIM v. HAJI YUSUF KARIM ABU

1924 Nag. 220 (1).

———S. 106—Notice to quit—Legality of—Suit for ejectment in case tenant did not quit—Notice of ejectment issued by Manager of Temple.

A notice given by a landlord to his tenant requiring him to quit a shop on the 1st of the following month and informing him that if he did not so quit, a suit for ejectment and damages would be brought against the tenant is not invalid. This is quite distinguishable from a case where the person giving the notice says that if premises were not vacated he would sue for ejectment and for recovery of rent at an enhanced rate. A notice to quit certain premises belonging to a temple is not invalid simply because it is signed by the authorised agent of manager and not by the manager himself. (Daniels, J.) BHAGWANA v. SHIB SAVITRI PRASAD.

78 I. C. 651 : L. B. 5 A. 294.

———S. 107—Lease for a year—Hindu Sanbut year—If registrable.

Though a Hindu Sanbut year is more than one year according to the British Calendar, a lease for one Sanbut year is not compulsorily registrable. (Baker, J.C.) MOTI RAM v. SETH LAKSHMI CHAND.

1924 Nag. 216 (1).

———S. 108, Cl. 1—Lessee—Transfer of interest to third person—Liability to pay rent. MANMATHANATH CHUKERBUTTY v. BALAI CHANDRA BAG.

1924 Cal. 309 (1).

———S. 108 B-(j)—Permanent leases for purposes of habitation created before the Act are not transferable—Case-law fully discussed.

A permanent tenancy created before the passing of the Transfer of Property Act for the purpose of habitation cannot be transferred when pucca buildings have not been erected on the land leased, when the document creating the tenancy does not confer upon the lessee the right to transfer and when there is no evidence of a local custom in favour of such a transfer. (Walmsley and Mukerji, JJ.) SAFAR ALI MIA v. ABDUL RASID KHAN.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 119.

39 C. L. J. 585 : 1924 Cal. 1012.

———S. 108 (j)—Transfer of lease—Liability to pay rent—If extinguished—Agricultural land.

Where a lessee signs his lease, his own liability to pay rent is not extinguished. The lessor has a remedy for realizing rent both against the lessee and against the assignee but he can take out only one execution.

This principle does not apply to agricultural lands or to the Bengal Tenancy Act. (Suhrawardy and Chotzur, JJ.) SHEBAIT OF IDOL SRIDHAR JIN v. NALINAKSHA RAI

79 I. C. 557.

———S. 111—Surrender of lease—Acceptance of new lease implied—Surrender—Subsequent lease invalid—Effect of.

1924 Cal. 355.

———S. 111—Transfer of property—Infringement of terms of devise—Effect of—Forfeiture.

S. 111 of the Transfer of Property Act does not apply to a forfeiture claimed by reason of an infringement of the provisions of a devise. Where the will does not provide for a right of re-entry in case of a transfer or sub-lease in contravention of the terms thereof, no right of forfeiture can be exercised so long as the plaintiff is willing to use the house for the purposes for which it was assigned to him and does nothing inconsistent with the terms of the will. (Kunhaiyalal, J. C.) SHANKARDAYAL v. BINAYAK PRASAD.

27 O. C. 1 : 79 I. C. 695 : 1924 Oudh 305.

———Ss. 111(g) and 114—Lease—Non-payment of rents—Forfeiture—Covenant for re-entry—Relief against.

1924 Lah. 49.

———S. 116—Lessor and lessee—Expiry of lease—Lessee continuing in possession—Renewal of lease—Option of the lessor—Notice to quit—Liability to pay rent.

Where after the expiry of the period of a lease the lessee remains in possession with the assent of the lessor to his continuing in possession, the lease is renewed from month to month or year to year terminable by a proper notice to quit. The option of giving an assent which will convert the holding over into a tenancy is one that is conferred on the lessor and not on the lessee. 31 M. 163 Kel. Consequently where a tenant after the expiry of his lease continues in possession of a ground with the consent of his lessor but without giving notice of his intention to quit on a specified day, he is liable to pay a full month's rent as well as the rent due for the prescribed period of a notice to quit even though his occupation of the premises was for a very short time. (Fawcett, J.) MEGHJI VALLABHDAS v. DAYALJI AND CO.

48 B. 341 : 26 Bom. L. R. 231 : 80 I. C. 507 : 1924 Bom 322.

———S. 119—Exchange by guardian of minor—Subsequent dispossession—Remedy.

Where the guardian of a minor exchanges his property for another and he is subsequently dispossessed of it, his remedy is not to sue to set aside the alienation but under S. 119, T. P. Act for compensation or for getting back his land. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) IRANGAUDA v. NINGAPPA.

1924 Bom. 517.

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY ACT, S. 120,

—S. 120—Exchange—Right of parties—Third persons if can claim pre-emption.

An exchange implies an interchange of property with another and except in so far as the price may not be payable in money, the rights and obligations attaching to an exchange are analogous to those of a sale, so far as the parties thereto are concerned. Third parties cannot be substituted in the place of either of them and as such cannot claim pre-emption. (Lindsay and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) SAMAR BAHADUR SINGH v JIT LAL.

22 A. L. J. 292 : L. R. 5 A. 254 : 76 I. C. 495 : 46 A. 359 : 1924 A. 390.

—Ss. 122 and 123—Gift—Essentials of—Hindu Law—Acceptance—Divesting of donor's ownership in property—Registration of deed—Effect of—Gift and dedication—Law applicable.

S. 123 of the T. P. Act does not purport to legislate that the registration of a deed of gift of an immoveable property is sufficient transfer of the property. It follows S. 122 of the Act which lays down the requisite essentials of a complete gift. There must be a voluntary giving by the donor and an acceptance by or on behalf of the donee. In the case of the donee, being incapable of signifying his acceptance by reason of age or of his being an impersonal being, recognised by law as capable of being a donee, such as a deity, the acceptance required by the section may be done on his behalf by somebody else competent to act as an agent. The acceptance may again be signified by an overt act such as the actual taking possession of the property or such act by the donee as would in law amount to taking possession of the property where the property is not capable of physical possession. Thus actual delivery of possession is not essential in all cases for it is only one of the modes of indicating acceptance. There must be something shown to indicate an acceptance on the part of the donee and as to whether there has been an acceptance and what constitutes acceptance depends on the circumstances of each case. On behalf of the donor the essential ingredient is that he should voluntarily and without consideration transfer the property to the donee. This implies a complete divesting of the ownership in the property by the donor. A registered deed of gift cannot take the place of these essential ingredients among which is the complete divesting of the ownership by the donor. In each case it must be proved, that apart from the registration of the document, there was a complete divesting of the ownership. A registered deed of gift or any other document, may be merely a nominal transaction without any intention on the part of the executant to give effect to the terms fictitiously set forth in the document. There is no real distinction in principle between the essential ingredients requisite for a valid gift on dedication in Hindu Law and those laid down in the T. P. Act. (Jwala Prasad and Kulwant Sahay, JJ.) DEO SARAN BHARTI v DEOKI BHARTI.

5 Pat. L. T. 305 : 3 Pat. 842 : 80 I. C. 980 : 1924 P. 657.

—Ss. 123 and 129—Buddhist law—Gift—Delivery of possession—Necessity for.

If a rule of Buddhist law requires delivery of possession to validate a gift of immoveable property,

TRUST.

such a rule must be held to be abrogated by Ss 123 and 129 of the T. P. Act. (Lentaigne and Carr, JJ.) U. PANDAWUN v. SANDIMA.

2 Rang. 131 : 83 I. C. 557 : 1924 Rang 309.

—S. 123—Gift of immoveable property—Delivery of possession if necessary—Registration of deed.

To constitute a valid gift of immoveable property in places where the Transfer of Property Act is in force execution and registration of a gift deed would be sufficient. Delivery of possession need not be made. (Heald, J.) MIHLA ZAN v. PA PA YE. 3 Bur. L. J. 111 : 1924 R. 353.

—S. 123—Gift—Incomplete gift—Rights of donor and donee—Relationship of trustee. NATHA GULAB & Co. v. W. C. SELLER

1924 Bom. 88.

—S. 123—Gift—Revocation.

Donor's right to revoke gift before registration of the deed. See INJUNCTION.

26 Bom L. R. 427.

—S. 123—Gift unregistered—Actings of parties—Possession given—Estoppel. MA SHIN v. MAUNG HMAN.

79 I. C. 579 (2) : 1924 Rang. 102.

—S. 130—Mode of transfer—Mortgage of an actionable claim—Assignment of mortgage—Payment to mortgagor.

S. 130 does not prescribe any mode for assignments. A mortgage of immoveable property not being an actionable claim, the provisions of S. 130 do not apply to assignments by the mortgagee. Where the assignee of a mortgagee does not notify the fact of assignment to the mortgagor and the latter makes a payment to the mortgagee without notice or collusion, he is entitled to get credit for the payment. But the assignee in an action against the mortgagor can join the mortgagee as defendant and claim relief against him also. (Kinkhede, A.J.C.) BASANT RAO v. NARAYAN.

1924 Nag 401.

TREE PATTAS—Tope poramboke—Grants of—Title.

In the case of tope poramboke prima facie the title is with Government and the fact that a tree patta is granted to a person shows he is not owner of the land, because tree pattas are not issued to owners of the land on which trees stand. (Wallace, J.) RAMASWAMI THEVAR v. ALAGA PILLAI.

79 I. C. 881 : 1925 Mad. 143.

TRESPASS—Effect of—On rights of owner.

The occasional user by a trespasser of land cannot extinguish the title of the rightful owner unless the possession of the trespasser is open, adequate in extent and continuity and such as to amount to adverse possession. (Chakravarti, J.) HARISADHAN PATARI v. DINANATH BANERJEE.

82 I. C. 318 : 1925 Cal. 316.

TRUST—Co-trustees—Notice to quit given by some without consulting the others—Legality of. See LANDLORD AND TENANT. 46 M. L. J. 122.

—Object of—Family ceremonials.

1924 Nag. 63.

TRUST.

— Repudiation of, by trustee—Possession if to be surrendered first.

A trustee acting under a trust which he knows or subsequently discovers to be void or invalid is not bound to surrender possession of the trust property before he can be allowed to repudiate the trust. (Pridetux and Kinkhede, A. J. Cs.) KRISHNABAI v. DHONDO RAMACHANDRA.

20 N. L. R. 63 : 78 I. C. 542 : 1924 Nag. 129.

— Trustee—Incapacity to sell to himself.

75 I. C. 7.

TRUSTEE—Transfer of office—Validity.

A transfer of the office of trustee is invalid. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) VISVANATHA AIYAR v. VENGAMA NAIDU.

19 L. W. 567 : 78 I. C. 52 : 1924 Mad. 749.

TRUSTS ACT, S. 5—Mode of creating trust—Certainty of object.

A trust relating to immoveable property must be in writing, signed and registered or by will. The objects of the trust should not be of a nebulous character, but of such a nature that a court can administer it. (Dalal and Cuming, JJ.) ANANT RAM v. ISHRI PRASAD.

78 I. C. 320 : 1925 Oudh 202.

— S. 5—Trust for the purpose of acquiring property for the benefit of the settlor—Settlor allotting certain sum of money for the purpose—Trust reserving power to settlor, to revoke trust after the money is spent—Trust is valid and the refusal to further finance the work is valid revocation—If afterwards the trustee by his own exertions acquires the property, no trust attaches to it and the beneficiary can't claim it—Trust Act, S. 78—Evidence Act, S. 115.

Per Mullick, J.—Where a person asks another to acquire a certain property for his benefit i. e. for benefit of the settlor and allots a sum of money for the purpose but reserves to himself the power of revoking the trust after the amount is spent, the trust is a valid one and his refusal after the amount is spent, to further finance the work is a valid revocation of the trust; and where, without any lack of good faith, the trustee relying on the abandonment by the beneficiary acquires the property for his own benefit, no trust attaches to it. Keech v. Sandford (1726) Case Temp King 61 Dist. 1 Yn. C. 98. 11 Irish Equity 2 Referred.

Per Foster, J.—A authorises B his agent to take up a speculative business project, and allots a sum of money for an experimental trial thereof. When after four years the money is exhausted. A refuses to furnish further expenses. B, instead of relinquishing the project as he might, without consequent loss to himself or further loss to A, proceeds with it. After 12 years of heavy expenditure of money with a great risk of loss B, and after his death his son, attain success, and the adventure becomes profitable. Twelve years after this, during which the profits have been increasing year by year, A's heir comes into Court and claims the whole property with all past profits minus B's capital outlay. In such a case the agency ceases on the principal's implied determination thereof by refusing to furnish further expenses. After a principal has refused to indemnify an agent in the future in a speculative business committed to that agent, that principal cannot say that the agency subsisted. Keech v. Sandford and Ch. L. C. 635 and 19 Beavon 356. 19 Ves 144. 13 L. J. Ch. 238 De Gm. and Cr. 787 Dist. Mc Naughten's Select cases in Ch. 29. 1900 A. C. 293 and 2 H and T. W. 224 Foll. (Dawson Miller, C. J., Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHO PRASAD.

TRUST ACT, S. 88.

5 Pat. L. T. Supp. 1 : 1925 Pat. 68.

— S. 6—Gift of property—Maintenance charge in favour of third party—Implied trust—Enforceability

Where property is gifted to a person subject to a maintenance charge in favour of a third party such third party though not a party to the deed can enforce the charge, as there is an implied trust in his favour. (Baker, J.) MT. JANKI v. MOHANLAL.

80 I. C. 405 : 1925 Nag. 29.

— S. 48—Co-trustees—Suit in ejectment—One refusing to join—Suit if maintainable.

Where one of two trustees refuses to join as plaintiff in a suit for ejectment relating to trust property, one alone can sue, impleading the other as co defendant. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) SHUKOR v. JAGAIYY.

1924 Nag. 335.

— Ss. 63 and 64—Knowledge of nature of money—Effect. MEENAKSHI NETHIAR AMMA v. PARVATI NETHIAR.

1924 Mad. 174.

— S. 82—Burden whether altered after the passing of the Act—Position as regards burden of proof before the Act.

S. 82 of the Indian Trusts Act appears to throw the burden of proving that a transaction is benami on the party alleging it, whereas previously to that enactment the position may well have been that plaintiff who came into Court with the proof that he had paid the consideration money himself would have been able to throw the burden of proving that the transaction was not benami on the other side 29 B. 306 dist fol. 53 I. C. 54 P. C. ref. to. (Kendall and Pullan, A.J.Cs.) MT. RAJ KUNWARI v. MT. RANI MALRAJ KUNWAR

82 I. C. 832 : 1 O. W. N. 710.

— S. 88—Applicability.

Per Mullick and Foster, JJ.—A trustee who relies on abandonment of the trust by the beneficiary and acquires property by his own exertions need not hold it as a trustee but may hold it for his own benefit. Keech v. Sandford Dist. (Dawson Miller, C. J., Mullick and Foster, JJ.) HARIHAR PRASAD v. KESHO PRASAD.

5 Pat. L. T. Supp. 1 : 1925 Pat. 68.

— S. 88—Pleader and client—Pleader purchasing client's property in execution sale in his wife's name after his ceasing to be client's pleader—Sale if vitiated.

There is no more certain way of taking advantage than the way of concealment and if an attorney or agent can show he is entitled to purchase yet if instead of openly purchasing he purchases in the name of a trustee or agent without disclosing the facts, no such purchase as that can stand for a single moment and the advantage he has acquired by concealing the name of the real purchaser must be given up. Even where the Trusts Act does not apply the above principles hold good. Lewis v. Himan, 3 H. L. C. 630 and McPherson v. Watt: 3 A. C. 254, Ref. (Lord Dunedin). NAGENDRABALA DAS v. DINANATH MAHISH. 51 Cal. 299 :

TRUST ACT, S. 90.

1924 P. C. 84 : 19 L. W. 349 :
33 M. L. T. (P. C.) 472 : 22 A. L. J. 177 :
2 Pat. L. R. 96 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 408 :
26 Bom. L. R. 575 : L. R. 5 P. C. 110 :
1 O. W. N. 752 : 81 I. C. 752 : 51 I. A. 24 :
(1924) M. W. N. 155 : 46 M. L. J. 532.

— S. 90—Co-owners—Joint patta land—Default in payment of Government revenue by owner of one plot—Purchase at revenue sale by joint pattadar—Purchaser as a trustee for defaulter—Collector—Powers of, with reference to revenue sales—Notice to persons affected by order—Necessity for.

Plaintiff and defendant were owners of separate plots of land comprised in a joint patta. Owing to their default in the payment of Government revenue, the plaintiff's land was sold in public auction and purchased by the defendant. Though there was nothing fraudulent in the conduct of the defendant, the plaintiff claimed the benefit of the defendant's purchase under S. 90 of the Trusts Act; Held that the plaintiff and defendant were not co-owners within the meaning of S. 90 of the Trusts Act; that it could not be said that the defendant, in his capacity as co-sharer, contrived to bring the property of the plaintiff to sale; and that the plaintiff's suit was not maintainable. The Collector is the final authority in the matter of confirming sales held for arrears of Government revenue and the Deputy Collector has only a delegated authority in the matter. Though the Collector is ordinarily bound to give notice to the party affected before confirming a revenue sale overruling the order of the Deputy Collector to the contrary, the omission to give such notice is not fatal especially when it is not shown that the aggrieved party had any valid grounds to urge before the Collector. (Devadoss J.) NAGASAMI AIYAR v. RAMASWAMI AIYAR, 47 M. L. J. 755 : 1925 Mad. 288.

— S. 90—Co-tenants—Renewal of lease in favour of one—Benefit of renewal if accrues to all.

A house was erected on a plot of land belonging to a lessee who died before the expiry of the term of the lease. The lessee died and his interest was inherited by his son and daughter in the proportion of 2/3 and 1/3 respectively according to Mahomedan Law. On the expiry of the term of the lease, the lessor renewed it in favour of the son alone and refused to associate with the daughter in spite of her request. She thereupon filed a suit against the defendant because it was stated that as the lessor had deliberately and repeatedly refused to associate the plaintiff with the defendant in the benefits of the lease, the plaintiff was not entitled to such benefit.

Held, that the action of the lessor would not affect the equity existing between the tenants in common. As between the lessor and the lessee the defendant held the legal title but by so doing he could not relieve himself, from equitable obligations which had arisen in favour of his co-tenant. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) ABDUL GHAFUR KHAN v. MT. BUTABIBI.

U. P. DIST. MUNICIPALITIES ACT, S. 23.

10 O. & A. L. R. 359 : 11 O. L. J. 558 :
1 O. W. N. 326 : 1925 Oudh 200 (2).

TRUST PROPERTY—Succession to—Hindu widow—Right of.

In the absence of a custom to the contrary, succession to a trusteeship follows the ordinary methods of devolution and a Hindu widow can succeed as the heir of her husband. (Phillips and Odgers, JJ.) KOTHANDARAMASAMI NAIDU v. PAPPAMMAL. 79 I. C. 891 : 1925 Mad. 218.

U. P. COURT OF WARDS ACT (III of 1889), Ss. 3, 4, 8, 10, 34 and 41—Disqualified proprietor—Part of the estate not taken in charge by Court of Wards—Effect of—Representation by disqualified proprietor—Estoppel.

It is only with the sanction of the Local Government that the Court of Wards can either assume or abandon the superintendence of any person or property. The mere fact that the Court of Wards does not take over the management in the manner laid down in Chs. IV and V of the Act cannot affect the legal character of the ward and of his property. These must remain under the Court's superintendence with all the consequences arising therefrom until a further notification is published in the Gazette under S. 46 of the Act. There is no distinction between the case of proprietors disqualified under S. 8 of the Act and the case of proprietors whose estates are taken over on their own application under S. 9 of the Act and in both cases the proprietors are under the disabilities imposed on wards. A mortgage by a disqualified proprietor executed while the estate was under the management of the Court of Wards is void ab initio. There is nothing in the Court of Wards Act to prevent a ward from being allowed to carry on the duties of a manager though normally such managers are specially qualified persons. The mere fact that a disqualified proprietor represents himself as competent to enter into a contract with reference to his estate does not estop him from subsequently impeaching the transaction. (Neave and Kendall, A. J. C.) HARI KISHUN DAS v. CHOUDHURI MAHOMED SAFI JIN.

10 O. & A. L. R. 491 : 11 O. L. J. 502 :
80 I. C. 800 : 1 O. W. N. 182 : 1924 Oudh 438.

— (IV OF 1912) S. 54—Notice—Transferee, if gets the benefit of. 1924 A. 98.

U. P. DISTRICT MUNICIPALITIES ACT, S. 23 (3)—Election dispute—Decision of Commissioner—Offence under S. 463, I. P. C.—Direction to prosecute—Interference by High Court in revision.

Having regard to the language of S. 23 (3) of the U. P. District Municipalities Act, it is not competent to the High Court to interfere either under S. 115, C. P. Code or S. 107 of the Govt. of India Act with an order of an Election Commissioner directing the prosecution of the petitioner for an offence under S. 463, I. P. C. by the commissioner which was disclosed during the course of an enquiry into an election dispute.

Elections are certainly civil matters, an election dispute is certainly a civil dispute and an election tribunal is not a revenue or criminal court but a civil court. (Walsh and Ryves, JJ.) RAM NATH v. EMPEROR.

U. P. DIST. MUNICIPALITIES ACT, S. 116.

22 A. L. J. 497 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 581 :
L. R. 5 A. 109 (Cr.) : 83 I. C. 634 : 46 A. 611 :
1924 A. 684.

— S. 116—Municipal rubbish and night-soil—Property in—Municipal servant selling night soil and rubbish and appropriating proceeds—Breach of trust—Penal Code, S. 420.

76 I. C. 971 : 25 Cr. L. J. 299.

— S. 162—Residence within notified area—Liability to taxation of traders.

On a reference to the High Court as regards the liability of certain persons to tax by reason of their residence within a notified area, it was found that the area was no doubt their native town but that they were carrying on business at Calcutta. Held, that in every case residence is a question of fact, and it must depend upon the particular circumstances. The general practice is to accept as the person's residence the place where throughout the year one would ordinarily expect him to be found. The term residence is naturally a flexible one, but in the case of traders carrying on business outside their native place their place of residence is manifestly the place where they earn a living and do their daily work nor does that place cease to be their residence because for purposes of rest or recreation or family ties, they occasionally return to the family home where they and their families have been brought up. (Mears, C. J. and Pigott, J.) THE MUNICIPAL BOARD OF BARIELLY v. HAFIZ ALA BAKSH.

22 A. L. J. 457 : L. R. 5 A. 363 :
79 I. C. 567 (2) : 1924 A. 669.

U. P. EXCISE ACT, S. 60, Cl. A—Discovery of cocaine in a shop—Conviction of habitual attendance in the shop—Legality of.

Cocaine was found in certain parts containing grain in a bania's shop. The applicants were brothers and were serving habitually in the shop. Held, that the conviction of the applicants under S. 60 of Act IV of 1910 was not illegal. (Boys, J.) GANESHI v. EMPEROR.

L. R. 5 A. 136 (Cr.) : 1924 A. 776.

— S. 60-A—Offence of possessing excisable article except cocaine is not summarily triable.

Under the U. P. Excise Amendment Act (II of 1923), Section 13 the punishment for an offence under Section 6 in respect of excisable articles other than cocaine is imprisonment for one year. The offence is therefore not triable summarily. (Ryves, J.) KING EMPEROR v. RAM NARAIN.

46 A. 446 : L. R. 5 A. 69 (Cr.) : 81 I. C. 342 :
25 Cr. L. J. 806 : 1924 A. 675 (1).

— S. 64 (c)—Partnership—Liability of all for wilful breach by one. 1924 A. 101.

— S. 71 (a)—Report by Police Sub-Inspector—Magistrate if can take cognisance.

10 O. & A. L. R. 293 : 46 A. 158 :
L. R. 5 A. 40 (Cr.) : 1924 A. 267.

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901), S. 4.

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901)—Binding nature of proceedings in revenue courts, or Revenue courts—Evidence recorded before completion of proceedings for appointment of guardian—Effect of acquiescence—Proceedings if irregular.

Where in certain proceedings in a court of record, to which certain minors were parties, and were represented by a guardian-ad litem, and the evidence was recorded before the proceedings for appointing the guardians had been completed, and no objection on this score was raised in the lower courts.

Held, that the Court of Record had proceeded in a regular manner as laid down on S. 54 of Act II of 1901, and that under S. 57 their decisions are binding on the Revenue Courts, and that the proceedings were not irregular, in view of the fact that no objections were raised. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) RAHMAT ILAHI KHAN v. WAZIRA.
L. R. 5 All. 323 (Rev.).

— Partial partition—Civil Courts finding the family joint—One member claiming individual ownership of some items on the strength of entry as Khadakast in his name for 2 years—Validity of.

In a case of partial partition, it was agreed that the 'sir' and Khadakast of each co-sharer should be left with him. In a suit for partition in the civil courts, it was found that the family was joint. The appellant claimed four plots of land, as his separate property, on the strength of the four plots having been recorded as the Khadakast of the appellant alone, with a period of only two years's at the time when the proceedings began. Held, that under S. 123 of the Land Revenue Act, the appellant could not claim as a right to have Khadakast of 2 years included in his patti. There could be no doubt from the decision of the civil court that the appellant owned some property acquired from his own funds, and there was nothing to show that he claimed separate ownership of the 4 plots. (Burn, J. M.) HAZARI LAL v. RAM LAL.
L. R. 5 All. 326 (Rev.).

— S. 4, Cl. 12 (A)—Recorded as "sir"—Use of the expression "sir" unnecessary.

In considering whether a particular plot of land is 'sir' the absence of the word 'sir' in the entry against the land in the last settlement is not conclusive. There were other ways in former times of recording land as "sir" without calling it "sir." In every case therefore the question will be not if the word "sir" is used, but if the land recorded at the last settlement in the manner in which "sir" was customarily recorded in that locality and at that period. As a rule a careful study of the settlement papers of the particular village and of half a dozen neighbouring ones, settled at the same time and by the same officer, will furnish a conclusive reply to this question. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) BISHUN NATH SINGH v. GULKI.

L. R. 5 A. 135 (Rev.).

— S. 4 (12) (b)—'Sir' land—Entry as 'sir' in the settlement records—Onus on the person alleging entry to be incorrect.

In an ejectment suit, the defendants contended, that they became tenants in chief, on account of the surrender of proprietary rights by their landlords, and that the land was never 'sir' and that they had completed 12 years continuous possession, but the settlement papers of 1893 and 1894 showed the land as 'sir' of certain persons, preceding the passing of the Land Revenue Act. Held, (1) that the land was 'sir' within the meaning of S. 4 (12) (a) of the Act, unless it could be proved that the entries in the settlement registers were incorrect that the onus was on the tenants to prove that the entries were incorrect on the settlement registers (2) and although the land was sublet in 1892, (a year before the settlement) to was not sufficient to prove the incorrectness of the entry. (Freemantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) DURGA PRASAD v. SUCHA. L. R. 5 All. 327 (Rev.).

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901), S. 10.

—Ss. 10 and 36—Expropriatory tenancy—Rent not fixed by Collector—Right of parties to fix rent.

The duty of fixing the rent under S. 36 of the Land Revenue Act is laid in the first instance not on the parties but on the Mutation Court, though a right is reserved to the parties to apply subsequently, if the Revenue Court omits to make an order. There is nothing to prevent the parties agreeing upon a rent which is not above the legal maximum nor is there any reason why such rent if agreed upon by the parties should not be recoverable in the Court. (Daniels, J.) SRI KANTOO SINGH v. IMDAD ALI.

L. R. 5 A. 136 (Rev.) : 79 I. C. 665 : 1924 A. 944.

—S. 34 (5)—Notice of ejectment—Legality of—Person not recorded proprietor—Ejectment—Suit to contest.

S. 34 (5) of the U. P. Land Rev. Act debars a person who is not the recorded proprietor from issuing a notice of ejectment. In a suit to contest a notice of ejectment on the ground that the rent was fixed at a favourable rate the chief point to be considered is whether the rent was deliberately favourable when it was fixed and not at the date of suit. (Freemantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) CHUNNI PANDE v. CHANDRA CHAN DUTT.

L. R. 5 O. 145.

—S. 34 (5)—Successions—Duty to report—Scope of the section—Outh Rent Act, S. 108 (15)—Scope of.

Under S. 34 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act it is not only transfers but successions that have to be reported and what the plaintiff should have reported in the case in question was that he had succeeded to his father in whose favour the property had been transferred. The fact that his father was not bound to report the transfers in his own favour simply because the Act was not then in force cannot be held to relieve the plaintiff and his successors for all time from the necessity of complying with the Act. S. 34 (5) of the U. P. Land Revenue Act lays down a general proposition and is not only confined to cases under the Land Revenue Act. It must therefore be held to apply to cases under the Oudh Rent Act and the fact that S. 108, sub-s. (15) refers to a sharer and not to a recorded sharer is of no importance. S. 108 is a list of suits that can be filed in the Revenue courts and conveys no authority to any person referred to therein to break the law as laid down in the Land Revenue Act. (Kendall, A. J. C.) UDAI BHAN PARTAB SINGH v. DARGAHI TEWAN. 10 O & A. L. R. 482 : L. R. 5 O. 106 (2) 11 O. L. J. 520: 1924 Oudh 329.

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901), S. 42.

—S. 35—Mutation proceedings—Application after 14 days—Discretion.

Proceedings in mutation are essentially of a summary nature and S. 35 of the U. P. Land Revenue Act undoubtedly contemplates that the Tahsildar should enquire into disputed cases before referring them to the Sub-divisional Officer. It does not contemplate objections by parties who have hitherto remained silent being made in the Sub-divisional Officer's Court. The Sub-divisional Officer has power to entertain such applications and should do so if good cause is shown. But it cannot be laid down as a general rule that such applications should be entertained if presented before the case is decided. (Freemantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MT. INDRANI v. MATHURA. L. R. 5 O. 9 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 158: 10 O. L. J. 705: L. R. 5 O. 113.

—S. 36—Expropriatory tenancy—Agreement to accept less than standard rent—Effect of.

10 O. L. J. 638.

—S. 36—Expropriatory tenant—Order fixing rent—If binding on heirs.

In the absence of fraud or want of jurisdiction, an order of Court fixing rent to be paid by an expropriatory tenant based on an agreement of parties, is binding on the heirs of the tenant. (Mukerjee, J.) MUSADDI LAL v. CHHOTU.

78 I. C. 349: L. R. 5 A. 171 (Rev.).

—S. 36, Sub-S. (4)—Initiation of proceedings—Application for claim of expropriatory right.

Action can only be taken under S. 36 of the U. P. Land Rev. Act on application by the Zamindar or tenant concerned. If expropriatory rights are so claimed within 6 months they are extinguished and can no longer be the subject of proceedings under S. 36. (Freemantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) LALJI SAHAI v. BADRI PANDEY.

L. R. 5 A. 55 (Rev.).

—Ss 40 and 44—Proceedings for correction of papers—Question of possession—Duty of Revenue Court—Question of title—Determination of.

Under S. 40 of U. P. Land Revenue Act where the Revenue Authorities can find that a certain person is in possession the entry must be made on the basis of possession and the question can be reopened on the basis of title in either a Civil or a Revenue Court. The decision of the Collector in a case relating to the correction of papers is no more than a decision as to possession, and the determination of the question of title in a subsequent suit for ejectment is not barred either under S. 44 or the U. P. Land Revenue Act or by the rule of res judicata. (Stuart, J.) LAL MAN v. FAZAL MAHOMED. 78 I. C. 115: L. R. 5 A. 132 (Rev.).

—S. 42—Correction of papers—Procedure

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901), S. 44.

In a case of correction of papers the Assistant Collector recorded that the partners produced no more evidence than that produced before the Naib Tahsildar and decided the case thereon without framing issues. Held, that the provisions of section 42 of the Land Revenue Act had not been complied with since the proper procedure laid down in that section had not been observed. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) KAMLA PRASAD PANDEY v. SURAJ BALI PANDEY.

L. R. 5 A. 108 (Rev.).

— S. 44—Mutation—Relation of landlord and tenant—Defendant getting recorded as thekadar—Lessor.

Where defendant applied for mutation of the plaintiff as lessor names and got himself recorded as thekadar and the plaintiff was entitled to rely on the presumption raised by S. 49 of the Land Revenue Act that the relation of landlord and tenant existed between the parties. (Daniels and Neave, JJ.) NAND RAM SINGH v. HARISARAN DAS. L. R. 5 All. 235 (Rev.) : 82 I. C. 296 : 1925 A. 100.

— Ss. 44 and 57—Settlement entries—Presumption of correctness—Rebuttal—Entries in previous Khasra or Khatanni.

Production of inconsistent entries in previous Khasra of Khatanni does not disprove the correctness of a settlement entry. (Hopkins, S. M.) BACHI v. MANGAL. L. R. 5 A. 16 (Rev.) : 10 O. & A. L. R. 107.

— Ss. 56 and 86—Cesses—Recording of, by Assistant Record Officer—No special sanction by Local Government—Recovery of.

Cesses recorded by an Assistant Record Officer when no record officer had been appointed to supervise his work, and those which had not been generally or specially sanctioned by the Local Government cannot be recovered in a court of law. (Mukerjee and Dalal, JJ.) SUKURVA v. NAZIR AHMAD. 21 A. L. J. 900 : L. R. 5 A. 333 (Rev.) : 82 I. C. 1026 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 1155 : 1925 A. 121.

— S. 57—Entries in settlement records—Correctness—Presumption—Rebuttal. MURLI PRASAD AVASTHI v. SARAN CHAMAR. 10 O. & A. L. R. 125.

— S. 57—Record Court—Decision of, how far binding—Omission to frame issue—Effect of.

A decision based on proceedings properly conducted in the Court of an Assistant Record Officer is binding in regard to the same subject-matter in all Revenue Courts. Where though no express issue is raised, still the matter was raised in the pleadings and evidence of the parties, it operates as res judicata. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) JHANDU SINGH v. AHMAD HASAN. L. R. 5 A. 342 (Rev.).

— S. 57—Settlement record—Entries in—Disproof of.

Where land has been recorded as sir at the last settlement and has been continuously so recorded since, the correctness of the entry of the land as sir at the settlement is open to disproof. (Stuart, J.) LAL MAN v. FAZAL MAHOMED. 78 I. C. 115 : L. R. 5 A. 132 (Rev.).

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901), S. 87.

— Ss. 87 and 90—Admission of tenancy—Proof—Attestation at settlement—Inclusion of name of tenant in general list of expropriatory tenants liable to enhancement of rent.

The mere attestation at settlement is not such a formal admission of the defendant's status as can bind the zamindar. The inclusion of the defendant in the general list of tenants recorded as expropriatory or occupancy who were sued for enhancement under Ss. 87 and 90 of the Land Revenue Act, cannot possibly determine his status. Nor can the fact he is shown in the rent receipts in accordance with the records as expropriatory or occupancy tenant be considered to bind the zamindar. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MT. JHAMOLA KUAR v. MT. SUKHO. L. R. 5 A. 233 (Rev.).

— S. 87—Enhancement of rent—List of occupancy plots—Inclusion in the list—Effect of.

Where a plot was included in the list of occupancy plots of which the rent was enhanced by the Settlement Officer under S. 87 of the Land Revenue Act, it does not make the status of the tenant of the plot res judicata, so as to bar its decision in subsequent litigation. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) MAHESH PRASAD v. PARTHI SELI. L. R. 5 A. 332 (Rev.).

— Ss. 87 and 88—Rent suit between landlord and tenant—Rate of rent—Determination of—Order of Settlement Officer—When final.

In rent suits in the Revenue Courts against occupancy tenants the Courts must award rent at the rates which are fixed upon in the papers unless those rates are entered erroneously by a clerical mistake, and where there is binding order of competent authority such as an order by the Settlement Officer under Ss. 87 and 88, Local Act III of 1901 or under Ss. 43 to 46, Local Act II of 1901, the Court has no discretion but must allow the rent at the rates directed. If further the landlord of the tenant has any objection to those rates, he must apply to the proper authorities to have those rates altered, but the Court trying a suit for arrears of rent has no authority in the matter.

S. 88 of the Act lays down that an occupancy tenant among other tenants may apply for commutation of rent. S. 89 says that when such an application is made, it would be the duty of the Settlement Officer to commute the rent. Unless he has been specially authorised to refuse any such application, he cannot refuse it. He has to proceed as directed by S. 87 of the Revenue Act. That section authorises the Settlement Officer to fix rent even on his own motion. Nowhere is it laid down that a tenant making an application should name any person as the opposite party to whom notice has to be formally sent. It would be the duty of the Settlement Officer or his assistant officer to issue notice to the parties concerned and to hear those who according to him may be interested in the matter. In the circumstances the order of the Settlement Officer or his assistant unless reversed in appeal, is final although no person whatsoever may have been informed of the proceedings. (Stuart and Mukerjee, JJ.) Yaqub Ali v. Dhan Singh.

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901), S. 109.

46 A. 316: 22 A. L. J. 212:

1924 A. 429: 78 I. C. 663: L. R. 5 A. 22 (Rev.).

—S. 109—Collector—Partition—Appeal to Commissioner—Summary rejection of.

An appeal against an order of a Collector quashing a partition under S. 109 of the U. P. Land Rev. Act could not be summarily rejected by the Commissioner. He should hear the parties and then dispose of the matter. (Burn, J. M.) Jha Clea Singh v. Chhatju Singh.

L. R. 5 O. 179.

—S. 111—Partition—Objection to—Proprietary title—Question of.

An objection made to an application for partition on the ground that the village has been already partitioned and the shares of the objector are not liable to be broken up by a new partition, raises a question of proprietary title. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) Shiva Nandan Chand v. Narain Prasad.

L. R. 5 A. 230 (Rev.).

—S. 111—Partition Proceedings—Civil and Revenue Court.

Mt. Kusam Dei v. Har Datt.

1924 Oudh 129.

—S. 111—Partition—Question of proprietary title—Appeal—Jurisdiction.

In a suit for perfect partition of a village, some of the co-sharers objected on the ground that the village had already been partitioned and that each pattidar was not in separate and exclusive possession of the land in his patti and that there was nothing to divide except a few patties of common land. Held, that a question of proprietary title was not raised and decided by the Asst. Collector and an appeal lay to the Dist. Court. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) Mt. Chhab Kuar v. Raja Sir Md. Ali Md. Khan.

L. R. 5 O. 125: 10 O. & A. L. R. 600:
11 O. L. J. 667.

—Ss. 111, and 112—Partition by Revenue Court—Finality of.

L. R. 5 O. 33: 1924 Oudh 224.

—Ss. 111—(c), 114 and 132 (2)—Talukdari Mahal—Number of mahals—Jurisdiction of Civil and Revenue Court—Objection to partition proceedings—Confirmation by Collector.

On an application by a Talukdar for partition of a talukdari mahal the Local Govt. ordered that his share only be partitioned and formed into a separate mahal. Some of the defendants also desired to have their shares separated but the others objected. The Assistant Collector overruled the objection and holding that the defendants had proprietary title ordered a partition into more mahals than one. On appeal the District Judge agreed with the Assistant Collector in ordering a partition into more mahals than one but remanded the case for further consideration of the question of title. On second appeal held that the question as to how many mahals are to be formed out of the estate is one entirely within the jurisdiction of the Revenue Court and not of the Civil Court. The District Judge has power to remand the case on the question of title to the Assistant Collector who was sitting as a Civil Court under S. 111 (c) of the Land Rev. Act to decide the matter of title. Under Ss. 114 and 132 (2) of the U. P. Land Rev. Act objections to the carving out of a number of mahals should be taken before the Collector at the time when the scheme of partition was prepared before the Assistant Collector and came up before the Collector for confirmation. (Dalal, A. J. C.) Jagmohan Singh v. Rudra Pratap Singh.

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901), S. 233.

83 I. C. 610:
1924 Oudh 315: 11 O. L. J. 8.

—S. 117—Partition—Re-distribution—Custom against shamlat—Apportionment of.

In spite of the provisions of S. 117 of the U. P. Land Rev. Act where there has been previously a deliberate partition between parties, village custom must be considered to be against any re-distribution which would undo a partition previously made and sanctioned and the shamlat area could not be used to make up alleged deficiency but must be divided up according to shares. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) Sahebzada Lal v. Ramdas.

L. R. 5 A. 205 (Rev.).

—S. 126—Provisions of—Surrender of expropriary rights.

S. 126 (Land Revenue Act) provides that when land held as Sir by any co-sharer is included at partition in the portion allotted to another co-sharer, it is only when the former continues to cultivate it after partition, that he becomes its expropriary tenant. Where the plaintiff came up into Court on the allegation that the land was in his possession, and no attempt was made by the defendant mortgagee to assert his expropriary right held that the defendant must be deemed to have surrendered his right in the holding. (Neave, J.) Dericharan v. Ragubir.

L. R. 5 All 294 (Rev.).

—S. 138, Sub-Ss. (3) and (4)—Applicability of—Responsibility for rent payable to Talukdar.

L. R. 5 O. 25.

—S. 195—Service of summons—Affixure—Legality of—Temporary absence of person.

Where the person to be served is merely temporarily absent, affixion is not sufficient. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) Raj Narain v. Basant Singh.

L. R. 5 O. 198.

—S. 233 (k)—Partition—Co-sharers agreeing to partition—Confirmation—Suit for possession—Civil Court—Jurisdiction of.

In 1913 the plaintiffs were recorded as co-sharers of a particular extent of land and the defendants of the remainder. Partition proceedings were instituted in 1913 at the instance of another co-sharer, but the plaintiffs and the defendants applied to have their shares made into separate pattis. In drawing up the partition proceedings a mistake was made and the share of the plaintiff was wrongly diminished by 6 Biswas which were added to the defendants' share. The partition was confirmed in 1914 and a new khewat prepared in accordance with it. The defendants had disposed of their share including the 6 Biswanis wrongly added to it. The present suit was brought by the plaintiffs in 1921 after the defendants had obtained mutation, on the allegation that owing to a fraud committed by the patwari and defendants and others, the fard takasm had been wrongly drawn up. Held, that the present suit was an attempt to set aside the partition and was barred by S. 233 (k) of the Agra Ten. Act. The partition record is analogous to a decree defining the rights of the parties given inter parties. (Neave, J.) KEDAR NATH v. JAGANATH SINGH.

U. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (III OF 1901). S. 233.

1924 A. 879 : 80 I. C. 380 : L. R. 5 A. 227 (Rev.).

— S. 233 K—Partition—Duty of Revenue Court—Suit by one co-sharer for exclusive possession of plot included in partition—Jurisdiction of Civil Court.

One of the matters which the Revenue Court has to consider in a partition case is what particular plots should be given to particular co-sharers on partition and it seems to us that where a suit is brought to force the hands as it were of the Revenue Court or to embarrass it in coming to a decision on such a question, such a suit is excluded from the cognizance of a Civil Court. (Walsh and Ryves, JJ.) SHAIKH NAZIR AHMAD v. SHAIKH MAHOMED SHARIF.

L. R. 5 A. 110 (Rev.) : 1924 A. 682 (1) : 79 I. C. 345 : 46 A. 453.

— S. 233 (k)—Partition proceedings—If binding on mortgagee. MT. JANKA v. SHIAM KISHORE LAL. L. R. 5 O. 29.

U. P. LOCAL RATES ACT (1914). S. 14—Jurisdiction of Civil Court—Suit questioning rate of assessment imposed on plaintiff's estate—Substance of the relief.

It is a principle of English Law that a subject from whom any tax is sought to be levied, is entitled to raise before a Court of competent jurisdiction the question whether the authorities levying such tax are or are not acting within their statutory powers. In determining questions, which from time to time arise with regard to cases apparently lying somewhere near the borderline of the jurisdiction of the two sets of courts, (i.e.) Civil and Revenue, one principle has been consistently laid down. It is the substance of the relief sought, and not the mere form in which the case is preferred in the plaint, that must be looked to in order to determine the proper forum for the trial of the action. Where the plaintiff in a suit instituted in a Sub-Court prays inter alia, that the assessment of a rate imposed upon his estate under the N. W. P. Local Rates Act be set aside the suit is not cognisable by the Civil Court having regard to the prohibition enacted in S. 14 of the U. P. Local Rates Act of 1914. (Mears, C. J. and Pigott, J.) RAJA UDAI RAJ SINGH v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

22 A. L. J. 446 : 46 A. 553 : 1924 A. 652.

U. P. MUNICIPALITY ACT, S. 16 (3) (c)—"Place of profit"—Meaning of Election—Municipal contractor.

1924 A. 135.

U. P. MUNICIPALITY ACT, S. 128.

— S. 113—Highway—Dedication of land for public use—Rights of owner of the soil—Injury—Compensation.

Every public road or way must have a history and every piece of land must have had an ownership at some time or other, and lands which were once in private ownership can only be converted to public use in respect of its surface by an act of dedication. Dedication is the usual and almost invariable method by which land which was once in private ownership becomes, as regards its surface, reserved for the use of the public as a highway, and it precedes vesting and control. A dedication means something more than a gift. It involves a setting apart by the donor for a specific purpose. The existence of a prior dedication with regard to an ancient public way, takes very much the nature of what is called a lost grant. It is entirely different in its legal attributes and in its origin, from a private way or easement which may be acquired by prescription following upon continuous user. The public cannot acquire a public way by prescription, and where a public way is found, and no traces are forthcoming of its origin the law presumes a dedication or a lost grant by the owner to whom the land belonged and who alone could dedicate it. In the case of public ways and highways the Courts must be governed by the principles of justice, equity and good conscience which mean the application of English principles, unless there is something in the state of Indian society which makes those principles inapplicable either wholly or in part. In the case of a public way it is the surface and not the soil which constitutes the street. It is the surface along which the public have the right to pass and it is the surface for the purpose of lawful passage which defines the public right. The Legislature did not intend to vest in the Municipalities anything more than what was necessary to constitute the street or passage and did not thereby deprive the owner of the land who made the original dedication, of the soil which he necessarily reserved to himself when he was content to dedicate the surface to the use of the public. Consequently the Courts have confined the right of suit and the right to compensation in the case of a particular individual to a person who can establish special damage. Special damage is not always easy to define or foresee but it may be stated as follows :—"More particular damage by the nuisance than the public in general, as, if any accident occur to him or he be obliged to go a greater distance and be thereby put to extra expense in the conveyance of his goods or otherwise". The plaintiff must prove that he has suffered a more particular kind of obstruction or inconvenience beyond that of the general public by reason of the obstruction of the defendant. (Walsh, A. C. J. and Ryves, J.) MAHOMED RAZA KHAN v. ASKARI KHAN.

46 A. 470 : 22 A. L. J. 729 : 1924 A. 598.

— S. 128 (B)—Breach of sanction—Penalty. 1924 A. 200.

— S. 128 (1) c (9)—"Circumstances and property"—Carrying on trade—Liability to tax.

A person who resides outside a municipality but is employed during business hours as a clerk on a salary within municipal limits is not liable.

U. P. MUNICIPALITY ACT. S. 162.

to be taxed under a tax on circumstances and property imposed under S. 128 (IX) of the Act. Nor could he be said to be carrying on a trade within the municipality. (Daniels and Boys, JJ.) BRIJ BHUSHAN LAL v. THE MUNICIPAL BOARD OF KANAUJI. 46 A. 685 : 22 A. L. J. 599 : L. R. 5 A. 416 : 82 I. C. 89 : 1924 A. 567.

—S. 162—Municipal servant—Tax on salary—Absence on leave—If deduction proper.

A municipal servant cannot get a refund of the tax assessed on his salary under Municipal Bye-laws during the period he is absent on leave. (Pullan, A. J. C.) PURVES v. MUNICIPAL BOARD, SITAPUR. 80 I. C. 48 : 1925 Oudh 108 (1).

—S. 194, Sub-s. (1), Cl. (b) —“Circumstances and property”—Liability to assessment.

The liability to assessment under S. 194, Cl. 1 (b) of the U. P. Municipalities Act arises in virtue of the rule framed by the Local Government under the section regulating the assessment of tax on circumstances and property in the notified area. The tax should be assessed with regard only to the value of the assessee's property or trade within the area. (Wazir Hasan, J.) LOUIS DREYFUS & Co. v. NOTIFIED AREA, RANDANLI. 11 O. L. J. 434 : 80 I. C. 576 : 1924 Oudh 418.

—S. 211—Private land—Overhanging projection—Power to order removal—Public law.

Where a projection does not overhang in a street, but overhangs a private piece of property the municipal Board has no jurisdiction to pass an order for its removal and if an order is passed without any jurisdiction by a municipality, it may be called into question in a Civil Court. The Municipalities Act was never meant to destroy private rights that may exist in property. Where 14 inhabitants reside on either side of a lane in their houses, they constitute a portion of the public and the lane is a street within S. 23 (2) of the U. P. MUN. ACT. (Mukerjee, J.) BANARSI DAS v. THE MUNICIPAL BOARD OF AMROHA. L. R. 5 A. 818.

—S. 233 (k)—Civil Court—Jurisdiction, when ousted. L. R. 5 O. 33 : 1924 Oudh 224.

—S. 247—Proceedings under—Transfer of Magistrate who has heard a case in part—De novo trial demanded—Cr. P. Code if applies. See CR. P. CODE, S. 350. 81 I. C. 139.

—Ss. 271 and 307—Paving by Municipality of a certain enclosure after notices to owner—Suit by the owner against the Municipality for restoration. 75 I. C. 607.

—S. 307—Notice under the section, requisites of—Disobedience to notice issued in contravention of the terms of S. 307, whether punishable.

S. 307 of the U. P. Municipalities Act, 1916, distinctly lays down that notice of which disobedience is punishable should be one issued under the provisions of the Act or under a rule or a bye-law.

Consequently if a notice is not issued as required by the aforesaid section, the person to whom

VENDOR AND PURCHASER.

it is issued may disobey it and yet be not liable to punishment. (Dalal, J. C.) RAM CHARAN v. IMPROVEMENT TRUST, LUCKNOW.

1 O. W. N. 611 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 935.

U. P. TENANCY ACT—Occupancy holding—Sale of tank.

A tenant is entitled to sell tank, house or a well on the holding and having sold cannot claim to redeem it with mortgaged holding. (Mears, C. J. and Banerji, J.) RAM NARAIN v. MUHAMMAD AKBAR. 1923 All. 180.

—S. 57 d)—Ejection—Grove land—S. 25

A tenant of grove holder is not liable to be ejected from a grove land on the ground of having sublet. 17 A. L. J. 971 Dist. (Stuart, J.) LALA SHEO PFASAD v. BABU RAM. 1923 All. 168.

U. P. TOWN IMPROVEMENTS ACT (VIII OF 1919)

S. 49—Offence before trust came into being—If can prosecute.

Where an offence for which the accused was prosecuted by the Improvement Trust was completed before the Trust came into existence, the Trust is still entitled to prosecute as the whole object of S. 49 is to invest the Trust with the powers possessed by the Municipal Board with reference to the offence mentioned therein. (Wazir Hasan, A. J. C.) KUNDAN LAL v. LUCKNOW IMPROVEMENT TRUST. 10 O. & A. L. R. 206 : 11 O. L. J. 201. 81 I. C. 719 (2) : 25 Cr. L. J. 1007 (2) : 1924 Oudh 399.

USURIOUS LOANS ACT (X OF 1918)—Applicability of—Judgment on admissions in pleadings —Power of Court. 1924 Rang. 144.

—S. 3—Hard and unconscionable rate of interest—Ignorance and illiteracy—Relief against

Where an ignorant and illiterate mortgagor agrees to pay interest at 2 per cent per mensem compoundable with monthly rests the stipulation is hard and unconscionable and a court of equity can grant relief. (Kanhaiya Lal, J.) SHYAM LAL v. BADRI. 75 I. C. 784 (2) : 1925 A. 31.

VACANT SITES—Ownership of—Obstruction—Remedy.

Open space in a pole belongs to the owners of the surrounding houses and any obstruction caused thereto gives a cause of action to the owners of the houses to bring an action to safeguard their rights. (Macleod, C. J. and Crump, J.) SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA v. BHATT LAXMISHANKAR. 76 I. C. 591 : 1925 B. 27.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER—Breach of contract—Default of purchaser—Earnest money—If forfeited.

Where a contract for sale of good falls through on account of the vendee's default, he is not thereby precluded from suing for return of the earnest money paid unless there is a stipulation to that effect. In other cases, the vendor must prove special damage. The case would be governed by the contract Act and not English law. (Hallifax, A. J. C.) LACHMI NARAYAN v. DAMODARDAS. 81 I. C. 282 : 1925 Nag. 109.

—Covenant to pay loss—Measure of damages.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER.

Where in a contract of sale of land the vendor covenants to pay compensation in case of eviction and the vendee is evicted from a portion, he is entitled to the value of that portion as damages. Except in cases where the purchase was made in expectation of rise in prices, the rate at the time of sale will govern. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) MAHOMED RAZZAK v. AMRUT RAO.

20 N. L. R. 55 : 76 I. C. 451 : 1924 Nag. 257.

Invalid sale—Agreement to sell—Equities—Defence to suit. MA PYONE v. MA U.

1924 Rang. 89.

Property left in—Vendor's godown—Notice to vendee to take delivery—Re-sale—Loss if can be recovered.

The vendees of goods left them with the vendor and on the vendor writing to them to take delivery asked for grace and were prepared to pay any loss that might occur by a fall in price. The vendors sold the goods at a loss and brought a suit for the loss. Held as vendors, they could not re-sell under S. 107, Contract Act without giving notice: if they held as agents of the vendee they could not sell without express authorisation and without giving notice to them. On either basis the suit was not maintainable. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) DHANRAJ v. FIRM SANEHI RAM PANNA LAL.

1924 P. 687.

Time for payment—Mercantile usage—Proof—Earnest money.

Ordinarily in a contract of sale, the price for goods must be paid at the time of delivery unless there are words to the contrary in the contract or there is a well-known and well-established mercantile usage postponing the date of payment. Where the buyer deposits purchase money in instalments after the agreement of sale, it is not earnest money liable to forfeiture. (Abdul Raouf and Moti Sagar, JJ.) VERMAN & Co. v. FIRM OF GOPAL DAS RAM LAL.

1923 Lah. 363.

WAIVER—Burden of proof—Essentials of.

The person who sets up waiver must prove it. Waiver must be an intentional act with knowledge. Where it is sought to be proved by acts of acquiescence, there is a distinction in law between acquiescence while the act is in progress and after it. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) FIRM OF KISHINDAS PURSUMAL v. FIRM OF MENGHRAJ KHALDAS.

81 I. C. 834 : 1925 Sindh 144.

WAJIB-UL-ARZ—Construction—Abadi right to transfer houses and sites.

Held on a construction, of the Wajib-ul-arz in question in the case that the Qasabes (butchers) not being proprietors in the village but ryots, had no rights to transfer their houses and that they did not fall within the description of "sheikh" in the Wajib-ul-arz. (Daniels, J.) QADIR BAKSH v. ABDUL HAQ.

L. R. 5 A. 187 (Rev) : 1924 A. 509.

Contraction—Inclusion of extraneous matters Effect.

The inclusion of extraneous matters in the same clause which could not possibly be the subject of a custom precludes the possibility of the clause being treated as a record of custom in regard to any of the matters of which that clause forms a part. Where a wajib-ul-arz contains matters which could not properly or possibly be the subject of a custom then the ordinary presumption that the wajib-ul-arz was a prima facie record of a custom is overturned by the internal evidence afforded by the other terms embodied therein though they might be separable from the rest. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LAL CHAND v. RAM CHAND.

WAJIB-UL-ARZ.

46 A. 674 : 82 I. C. 526 : L. R. 5 A. 469 : 1924 All. 753.

Construction—Record of custom of pre-emption—Interpretation.

Where the wajib-ul-arz did not say that the right of pre-emption or a claim to enforce that right would only accrue where a co-sharer has transferred his share to a stranger of a person outside the co-parcenary body and it mentioned the different classes of persons who could enforce the right in their due order whenever a transfer was effected. Held, that in the absence of any terms of limitation the right of pre-emption could be enforced as far as it might be between the persons belonging to the different categories inter se and that each wajib-ul-arz required to be interpreted according to its own terms. Per Sulaiman, J. (contra) Such a wajib-ul-arz should be construed as creating a right of pre-emption only on a sale to a total stranger. The priority of the several categories refers to pre-emption from a stranger vendee and does not refer to any right accruing on sale to any of the co-sharers themselves. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LAL CHAND v. RAM CHAND.

46 A. 674 : 82 I. C. 526 : L. R. 5 A. 469 : 1924 All. 753.

Construction—Right to cut and sell trees—If includes power to transfer.

The wajib-ul-arz of a village stated that the tenants could cut and sell trees planted by them on the fields or ridges of fields. Held, it included a right to transfer standing trees planted on the holding with the consent of the Zamindar. (Stuart, J.) HAR DAYAL SINGH v. GAR DAYAL SINGH.

79 I. C. 542.

Custom—Entry in—Interpretation.

At a time when a village was a unit by itself, the wajib-ul-arz contained an entry that by custom, villagers could manure only the land contained therein. Later by partition the village was split up into 3 mahals, but no new wajib-ul-arz was prepared. Held, the custom should not be whittled down by confining it to a mahal only. (Dalal, A. J. C.) SRI RAGHUNATH v. ANTOO.

10 O. & A. R. 208 : 82 I. C. 740 (2) : L. R. 5 O. 87.

Entries in—Custom.

1924 A. 86.

Entries in—Evidence of custom—Rebuttal of—Onus.

Entries in the wajib-ul-arz are valuable evidence of the custom recorded therein and the onus is on the party who challenges their correctness to rebut the same. (Abdul Raouf and Moti Sagar, JJ.) SHER MAHOMMAD KHAN v. DOST MUHAMMAD KHAN.

78 I. C. 451.

WAJIB-UL-ARZ.

— Entry in—Value of—Grove holders right of planting trees.

In the absence of any contract or condition in the wajib-ul-arz, a grove holder has the power to plant new trees, when the land preserves its character as grove. (Burn, J. M.) MT. INDRA KUAR v. GYAN SINGH. L. R. 5 All. 299 (Rev.).

— Entries in—Value of—Custom—Hindu widow's power to adopt without husband's authority.

In a case, where reliance was placed on the wajib-ul-arz of two villages, to prove the custom of adoption by Hindu widows without their husband's authority, and the document stated, "owners of proprietary rights (in one case, widows being mentioned) had power to adopt."

Held, that the entry was merely a statement of Hindu law, and was not evidence of a custom by which a Hindu widow would be entitled to adopt without her husband's authority. (Fremantle, S. M. and Burn, J. M.) BEHARI LAL v. BABU RAM. L. R. 5 O. 172 (Rev.).

— Evidence of custom but may record contract about some matters—Presumption.

A wajib-ul-arz is in the absence of intrinsic or extrinsic evidence to the contrary prima facie evidence of the custom it records. It may however record a custom about certain matters and a contract as regards others. If it records a custom the incidents of that custom and the occasion which would give an opportunity for its enforcement may be proved by its production or by external evidence or by both. (Sulaiman and Kanhaiya Lal, JJ.) LALCHAND v. RAM CHAND.

46 A. 674 : 82 I. C. 526 :
L. R. 5 A. 469 : 1924 All. 753.

WAJIB-UL-ARZ AND FARD-I-RAWAJ—Entries in—Value to be attached—Custom to transfer materials, whether sufficient to transfer a right of occupation.

Wajib-ul-arz and Fard-i-rawaj cannot be accepted as sufficient proof of the customs recorded therein. An entry therein that tenants have a right to transfer the materials of the houses, even if accepted as a sufficient proof of the custom recorded therein, would not be sufficient to establish the right of a tenant to transfer a right of occupation of a building site where no house existed. 32 A. 363, 4 O. C. 71 and 1 O. L. J. 319 Ref. to. (Kendall, A. J. C.) BHI KHARI LAL v. HADI ALI KHAN. 1 O. W. N. 1520 :

11 O. L. J. 738 : 82 I. C. 810 :
10 O. & A. L. R. 1159.

WASTE LAND—Suit for declaration of possession Land Revenue assessment not conclusive evidence of possession—Rights of trespasser to produce.

In a plaintiff's declaratory suit for possession of Government waste land, which was contested by the defendants, on the ground that plaintiffs' lands were not assessed, held that omission to assess the plaintiff cannot be regarded as conclusive evidence of non-possession and that the assessment in the defendants' name cannot be regarded as Government's recognition of trespasser's possession, and that a trespasser who enters upon another person's land, and plants thereon does not become entitled to the produce. (Carr, J.) MAUNG KYE v. MAUNG THA HAN AND THREE.

WILL.

2 R. 488 : 1925 Rang. 87.

WHIPPING ACT, S. 3—Fine in addition to whipping—If allowed.

In lieu of punishing an offender with imprisonment and fine, a court can punish him with whipping alone. But it cannot add thereto a sentence of fine also. (Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) VARADARAJULU, In re. 25 Cr. L. J. 1185 (1) :

82 I. C. 491 (1) : 20 L. W. 881 : 1925 Mad. 183.

— S. 5—Whipping and fine—If legal.

L. R. 5 A. 54 (Cr.).

WILL—Capacity of testator—Undue influence, etc. in getting will executed—Onus of proof. See BURDEN OF PROOF—WILL. 1924 P. C. 28.

— Charity—Bequests challenged—Advocate-General proper party.

Where the bequests in favour of charity in a will are being challenged, the Advocate-General is a proper though not a necessary party. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) SHAMBAI v. GOVERDHAN.

78 I. C. 249.

— Construction. Mt. SHERA KHATUN v. MAHOMED ALI SHAH. 77 I. C. 538.

— Construction—Earlier and later clauses—Priority.

The principle that where two clauses of a will are inconsistent with each other the later has preference over the earlier does not apply to a case where the earlier clause is clear and unambiguous whereas the later one is ambiguous and can be read in such a manner as not to interfere with the earlier one. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) KUDITHIPUDI VENKATRAMAYYA v. PITCHAMMA. 78 I. C. 274.

— Construction—Estate to daughter—What passes.

Where a Hindu testator gives his estate to his only daughter using the words "malik" and "Kabiz" she takes an absolute estate. (Baker, O. J. C.) BHAYARAM v. NATHU. 1924 Nag. 195.

— Construction—Extraneous evidence—Admissibility of—Intention of testator—Probate and Administration Regulation (VII of 1914) Ss. 9, 61 and 74—Executor—Right to probate.

When the terms of a will have been reduced to writing evidence of oral statements in derogation of those terms ought on principle, to be excluded from consideration or if admitted at all, should only be admitted in those very rare cases in which the evidence tendered is quite unexceptionable in all respects. The question is not one of mere formality but of real substance affecting the integrity of the testamentary intentions of a person who is no longer alive to maintain them.

When such a person has expressed his intentions deliberately and solemnly in writing it is not in the interests of justice to allow those intentions to be set at naught as having been subsequently revoked by him, when he is not shown to have done so in an equally deliberate and solemn manner.

WILL.

The law as to testamentary disposition among Hindus is itself a matter of recent growth, founded on modern usage and custom judicially recognised and sanctioned and it has to a large extent been moulded in British India by decisions of courts based on general principles. Legislation so far has dealt with matters relatively of detail. In Mysore, where there is no specific rule applicable to the question under consideration courts are bound to decide it in accordance with justice, equity and good conscience. Even in British India the Courts seem disposed to act on principles of general application in regard to the revocation of wills irrespective of whether the Hindu Wills Act applies or not, 30 M. 369 Rel. It is in the last degree inconvenient and illogical to apply one rule of revocation to wills governed by the Hindu Wills Act and a different one to wills of Hindus not coming under it.

The Court would not, as a rule, be justified in ignoring the appointment of an executor made by will except for some legal disability. The court has the discretion in a proper case to include in the grant of probate an executor who may not actually have joined in applying for it, if it sees good cause to dispense with a separate application. It is not incumbent on the Court to grant probate to a person who has not only not joined in the application, but whose attitude shows that he does not consider the will propounded to be a valid instrument but maintains that there is an intestacy. (Chandrasekara Aiyar, C. J. and Plumer, J.) SADASIWA RAO v. RUKMANIAMMA
2 Mys. L. J. 125.

— Construction—'Malik' meaning of.

It has been well established that in the absence of anything to the contrary the words of a will, in India are to be taken as having their ordinary meaning. A will provided "if my wife aforesaid should adopt a son in accordance with the authority given by me, the aforesaid adopted son and my wife aforesaid shall succeed to the ownership of the entire properties in equal shares, vested with the power of sale and gift, and no violation of such provision shall be permitted." Further it provided "If the aforesaid adopted son or my wife aforesaid should find it necessary to sell any of the properties left by me, they shall be entitled to sell it to a stranger if my heirs and co-sharers refuse to purchase it for an adequate consideration. If no son is taken in adoption by my wife (which is the event which has occurred) she shall succeed to all the properties left by me after my death, with powers of sale and gift, and my wife aforesaid shall be 'malik', and be in possession and she shall have power of sale and gift in accordance with the provisions in paragraph.

Held in every one of those provisions it is clear that the testator's intention was to give the absolute property to the wife either in the whole of the property, or if there was an adopted son in one half of the property. The word "malik" in itself has considerable force as indicating that the person in reference to whom it is used should take absolute interest in the properties conferred.

WILL.

(Lord Atkinson, Sir John Edge and Mr. Ameer Ali.) SUDHAMANI DAS v. SURAT LAL DAS.

18 L. W. 86 : L. R. 4 P. C. 115 :
28 C. W. N. 541 : 1923 P. C. 65 :
33 M. L. T. (P. C.) 277 : (1923) M. W. N. 601 :
38 C. L. J. 253 : 73 I. C. 530 :
45 M. L. J. 247 (P. C.).

— Construction—Principles of—English rules how far applicable to India—Intention to be gathered from language of will—Other circumstances to be considered as laid down in 37 Mad. 199 (P. C.) See 79 I. C. 1026.

— Construction—Property bequeathed for performance of ceremonies—Stranger—Rights of. MOTILAL v. RAMKHELVAN DAS. 1924 Pat. 171.

— Construction—Testatrix bequeathing half the rents to the plaintiff, and the whole to the executrix—Subsequent litigation which reduced the testatrix' interest to one half—Whether Plaintiff is entitled to one half of the rents of the whole property.

Where under a will, the defendant was given a garden and Bungalow, with other moveable and immoveable properties with a specific direction by the testatrix that half the net income of the garden, should be paid for life to the plaintiff under a mistaken view that the garden was free absolute property and as a result of litigation only half the garden was available for the bequests under the will, and it was contended that the plaintiff was not entitled to anything as the share purported to have been bequeathed to her, was obtained by her father.

Held (1) that the plaintiff was entitled to $\frac{1}{2}$ of the net rents and profits accruing from the moiety left in the hands of the executrix, (2) and that there being no words of residuary disposition the defendant was not a residuary legatee in respect thereof and (3) that under the terms of the will in question the bequest to defendant and plaintiff of the bungalow, and rents respectively, are specific legacies—relying on illustration (c) to S. 159 of the Indian Succession Act, and (4) if there is a redemption of any portion of the legacy by reason of the loss to the estate, there ought to be proportionate reduction to specific legacies carved out of the whole. (Spencer and Srinivasa Aiyangar, JJ.) JULIA MARY MARGARET FERNANDEZ v. SEVERINA SOBINA.
20 L. W. 748.

— Construction—Vested or contingent bequest—Bequest of residuary estate to posthumous son. See SUCCESSION ACT, S. 107.

47 M. L. J. 850 (P. C.).

— Costs—Litigation due to testamentary directions.

It is usual to award costs out of the estate of the testator where the litigation owes its origin to the fault of the testator by reason of the testamentary directions being vague or uncertain in law or in fact. (Bilaram, A. J. C.) SHAMBAI v. GOVERDHAN.
78 I. C. 249.

— Executor—When can renounce office—Liability.

WILL.

An executor who has one acted cannot subsequently evade his liabilities by renouncing his office. Such renouncement is void. (Scott-Smith and Fforde, JJ.) KESAR SINGH v. INDAR SINGH, 1924 Lah. 543 : 76 I. C. 172 : 6 Lah. L. J. 454.

———Legatee—Suit for accounts—Suppression of account books—Burden of proof.

Where a residuary legatee sues the other legatees for accounts, if the latter are found to have suppressed the account books and taken possession of major part of the estate the residuary legatee could make out only a prima facie case. The onus is on the defendants to account for what they had. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) KUDUTHIPUDI VENKATARAMAYYA v. PITCHAMMA, 78 I. C. 274.

———Nuncupative will—Proof of.

As stated by the Privy Council in 12 M. I. A. 1 the party setting up a nuncupative will should be required to prove with the utmost precision the words on which he relies with every circumstance of time and place. (Kotwal, A. J. C.) MANAJI v. SHRI RAMACHANDRA MAHARAJ, 1924 Nag. 175.

———Property belonging to another—Legacy to owner—Election.

Where a testator bequeaths property belonging to another and in the will gives a legacy to the owner the latter must elect either to take under the will the legacy or to retain his own property in which case he cannot get the legacy. (Phillips and Venkatasubba Rao, JJ.) KUDUTHIPUDI VENKATARAMAYYA v. PITCHAMMA, 78 I. C. 274.

———Revocation—Animus revocandi—Oral direction to destroy will.

A will may be revoked by parol and where definite authority is given by the testator to destroy the will with the intention of revoking it, that is in law sufficient revocation although the instrument is not in fact destroyed. There must be very cogent evidence to prove the animus revocandi. (Kinkhede, A. J. C.) BAYA v. BHAAURAO, 1924 Nag. 375.

———Proof.

Where the will was executed twenty-five years before it was disputed and hence there was paucity of evidence but it was acted upon and was natural.

Held, the will was genuine and was sufficiently proved notwithstanding that it was not produced for probate and though residents of the place where the testator lived were not witnesses. (Lord Dunedin.) THAKUR CHANDRIKA BAKSH SINGH v. MADHO SINGH, 1924 P. C. 231 : 20 L. W. 699 : 40 C. L. J. 466 : 10 W. N. 595 : 10 O. & A. L. R. 931.

———Testamentary capacity—Majority—Proof of—Onus on propounder.

It is incumbent on the person propounding a will to prove not only the soundness of the testator's mind but the fact that he was not a minor at the time it was executed. The burden of proof lies on the person who sets up the will, not upon the person who is prepared to impeach it. (Broadway and Campbell, JJ.) RAJINDAR SINGH v. MT. RAMJOWAL, 1924 Lah. 541 : 5 Lah. 263.

WORDS AND PHRASES.

———Testamentary capacity—Requisites of. 1924 Cal. 512.

WITNESS—Omission to read over deposition—Illegality vitiating the trial—Defect not cured by S 537. See CR. P. CODE, S. 360.

28 C. W. N. 968.

———Partly false—No conviction for murder can be based wholly on his testimony

A part of the statement of a witness having been proved to be false, no absolute reliance can be placed on the rest of his statement and it would be unsafe to base a conviction for murder on the uncorroborated testimony of such a witness. (Kotwal and Prideaux, A. J. Cs.) LAXMAN v. EMPEROR, 1924 N. 33.

WORDS—Amaldastak—What is.

An amaldastak is not a lease, but is merely an order to go and take possession. (Jwala Prasad, A. C. J. and Kulkarni Sahay, J.) HARGOVIND RAI v. KESHWAS PRASAD SINGH, 1924 P. H. C. C. 297 : 1925 P. 168.

———'Auladdar aulad'—Meaning of. MIRZA SAHEB v. BAI CHHOTI BEGAM, 1924 Bom. 281.

———Chalhurbhagam—What is.

See 78 I. C. 287.

———Jote. 76 I. C. 324.

———Land—Whether trees growing on agricultural land. 5 Lah. 385.

———Malguzar—Meaning of.

The word malguzar means primarily rent payer. It may equally be applied either to a tenure holder or a raiyat although the word is generally used in North Bihar to mean tenure holder. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) UCHIT KOPRI v. ADHIK MANDAL, 78 I. C. 492 : 1925 P. 194.

———Malik and kabiz—Meaning of.

The words malik and kabiz in a will carry the signification of full ownership. (Baker, O. J. C.) BHAYARAM v. NATHU, 1924 Nag. 195.

———Mokurari—Meaning of.

The use of the word mokurari does not in itself imply any permanent interest but merely fixity of rent. (Miller, C. J. and Mullick, J.) UCHIT KOPRI v. ADHIK MANDAL, 78 I. C. 492 : 1925 P. 194.

———Months—Vernacular document—Calculation of.

See DEED—CONSTRUCTION. 78 I. C. 338.

———"Thavanai"—Meaning of. See LIM. ACT, ART. 53. 47 M. L. J. 844.

WORDS AND PHRASES—Bhai and Beradarzadah—Wazib-ul-arz.

The words Bhai and Beradarzadah are not limited in Urdu language to brother and his son

WORKMAN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT ACT, XIII OF 1859.

but extend to more distant relations. (Rafique and Lindsay, JJ.) SYED FAZAL HAQ v. AZIZ HASAN. 1923 All. 163.

——— On cause shown. See 48 Bom. 471.

WORKMAN'S BREACH OF CONTRACT ACT, XIII OF 1859 - Applicability—Artificer—Contractor. 77 I. C. 233 : 25 Cr. L. J. 345.

——— S. 2—Breach of contract—Complaint made more than 3 months afterwards—Conviction—Conviction by Second-class Magistrate—Repayment of money.

The accused was convicted under S. 2 of Act XIII of 1859 on a complaint made more than three months after his neglect to perform the contract. Held, that the defect vitiated the whole trial and conviction. An offence under S. 2 is triable by a Magistrate of the second class. It is clear that some period of grace, what the period should be is in the discretion of the Magistrate, was intended to be allowed to the accused. (Boys, J.) KHAL BAL v. MAHOMED YUSUF.

ZURIPESHGI LEASE.

L. R. 5 A. 158 (Cr.) : 82 I. C. 366 : 25 Cr. L. J. 1294 : 1924 A. 616.

——— S. 2 - Slavery—Agreement for service—When amounts to—Applicability.

(1924) M. W. N. 41 : 25 Cr. L. J. 209 (1) : 76 I. C. 641 (1) : 1924 Mad. 351.

ZURIPESHGI LEASE—Object of—Occupancy rights—Claim to.

The object of a zuripeshgi lease is not to create the relation of landlord and tenant but to provide a security as between debtor and creditor. The zuripeshgidar's possession is in the capacity of mortgagee and not raiyat and so he is not entitled to occupancy rights. (Das and Ross, JJ.) KHARAE NASHIN v. DWARKA PRASAD SINGH.

78 I. C. 588 : 1924 P. 560 : 3 Pat. 465.

II--SELECT ENGLISH CASES.

ACCRETION.

ACCRETION—Natural and artificial causes—Foreshore—Erection of groynes.

The general law as to accretion i. e., that lands gained from the sea by small and imperceptible degrees belong to the owner adjoining, while sudden and considerable growths belong to the King, applies to cases brought about by natural causes even if it has been assisted by groynes erected for protecting the shore from erosion. The general law applies even where the alteration of the high water mark has been brought about by artificial means or where it has taken place at any time, however distant, after its position has once been clearly ascertained. Case law discussed. BRIGHTON AND HOVE GENERAL GAS COMPANY v. HOVE BUNGALOWS, LTD. (1924) 1 Ch. 372.

ADMINISTRATION — Lunacy—Advances to relations out of income—Directions to deduct at the end—Discretions of court to enforce.

A Receiver was appointed to the property of a lunatic and under the orders of the Master in Lunacy a portion of the income was spent every year as allowances to various relations of the lunatic, the same being considered as advancements and to be finally taken into account if under the will of the lunatic they happened to get any share of the estate. By the time of the death of the lunatic some of the relations who drew allowances were dead, some were given under the will only life interests and still others were not entitled to anything at all. Held, the court in administering the estate of the deceased had a discretion not to enforce the stipulations as regards treating the allowances as advancements and as such the whole of the Master's directions could be ignored in toto, if that would be the most equitable thing under the circumstance. In re MERRALL; GREENER v. MERRALL. (1924) 1 Ch. 45.

ADULTERATION—Milk — Samples how to be taken.

An Inspector of nuisances took samples from three big vessels containing milk sent by the same consignor to the same consignee and after analysing the same preferred one information based on the average result of the analysis of the three samples. Expert evidence was let in that the result would have been the same if all the milk had been mixed together and a sample analysed. Held the method adopted in taking the samples was not only the most convenient one, but quite legal and proceedings could be taken on the basis of the information. WILDRIDGE v. ASHTON. (1924) 1 K. B. 92.

ARBITRATION—Evidence — Difference between arbitrators—Reference to umpire—Arbitrator if can give evidence.

BANKER AND CUSTOMER.

Where disputes arising out of a commercial transaction are referred to arbitration, but on account of differences of opinion among the arbitrators the matter is referred to an umpire for decision, there is no rule of law which prevents one of the arbitrators from being called to give evidence.

An arbitrator can in commercial transactions act as an advocate or agent of the party who appoints him. In this respect there is a difference between arbitrations conducted as legal arbitrations and those conducted as commercial arbitrations. BURGEON v. WEDDELL AND CO (1924) 1 K. B. 539.

—Refusal to appoint arbitrator—Application to Court to appoint—Applicant a foreigner—Power to order security for costs.

A contract with a foreigner contained a clause for reference to arbitration to settle disputes and differences. It provided for a single arbitrator in accordance with the Arbitration Act. Disputes arose and foreigner gave notice to the other party to appoint an arbitrator. As this was not done, he applied to the court, under the Act to have an arbitrator appointed. Held, the applicant being a foreigner, the court had the discretion to refuse an order except on condition that he gave security for costs. In re, BJORNSTAD v. THE OUSE SHIPPING CO., LTD. (1924) 2 K. B. 673.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL—Powers of—Fiat at the instance of relators—Propriety of action—If can be gone into by courts.

A grave and important public duty is cast on the Attorney-General as to whether or not he will grant his fiat and allow an action to be brought either in his own name or at the instance of relators. If he decides it is a right and proper action to bring, he is entitled to bring the matter to court, and the court must accept the discretion which has been exercised by him and not consider if the action was properly laid. ATTORNEY-GENERAL v. WESTMINSTER CITY COUNCIL. (1924) 2 Ch 416.

BANKER AND CUSTOMER — Payment in of cheques not belonging to him—Crediting of amount before cheque is cleared—Bank if a holder in due course.

A person paid into his banking account certain cheques to which he had no title. The cheques were credited to his account even before they were cleared. Held this fact alone does not make the Bank a holder for value. To have such an effect, there must be a contract between banker and customer, express or implied, that the bank will before receipt of the proceeds honour cheques of the customer against that amount. A. L. UNDERWOOD, LTD. v. BARCLAYS BANK. (1924) 1 K. B. 799

BANKER AND CUSTOMER.

—Secrecy of accounts—Implied contract—Extent of.

The plaintiff had accounts in the defendant Bank. A third person who also had accounts in the same Bank drew a cheque in favour of the plaintiff who indorsed it in favour of a stranger who paid it for collection into a different Bank. When the cheque came to the defendant Bank for cashing, the manager inquired of the Bank which had sent it to be cashed as regards the person in whose favour plaintiff had indorsed the cheque and got the information he was a book-maker. This information the defendant disclosed to third persons.

Held, by the majority of the Court of appeal. (Scrutton, L.J. dissenting) the information having been acquired qua banker of plaintiff, the defendant bank ought not to have disclosed it to third parties.

Per Banker, L.J.—The duty on the part of a Bank not to disclose the state of accounts of a customer to third parties is a legal one arising out of contract and is not absolute but qualified. Such qualifications can be classified under four heads: (a) where disclosure is under compulsion by law; (b) where there is a duty to the public to disclose; (c) where the interests of the bank require disclosure; (d) where the disclosure is made by the express or implied consent of the customer.

Per Scrutton, L.J.—It is an implied term of a banker's contract with his customer that the banker shall not disclose the account or transactions relating thereto of his customer except in certain circumstances. Nature of circumstances considered.

Per Atkin, L.J.—The obligation of secrecy goes beyond the state of the account. It must extend at least to all the transactions that go through the account and the securities in respect thereof. It extends beyond the period when the account is closed and includes information obtained from other sources than the customer's actual account, if the occasion upon which the information was obtained arose out of its banking relations. TOURNIER v. NATIONAL PROVINCIAL AND UNION BANK OF ENGLAND. (1924) 1 K. B. 461.

BANKER AND CUSTOMER—Two accounts opened—Bills specifically put in one account—If can be transferred by Banker—Rights of parties—Equitable assignment.

If a Banker agrees with his customer to open two accounts for him and certain bills are specifically appropriated to one the Banker cannot without the assent of the customer transfer their proceeds to the other account. If a person making a payment of money to another states definitely that such payment is for a particular purpose and the person to whom it is made does not dissent, he accepts it for that purpose and must use it only for that purpose; if the purpose is for payment to a third party and he is informed of the same, he can recover the money from the person into whose hands it has been put as money had and received for his benefit. Where two parties have contracted that the money of one in the hands of a third party shall belong to the other, there is an equitable assignment of that money and such assignment is binding upon any third party who takes that money knowing of the equitable right of the party to whom it had been assigned and such third party can only take it subject to the right of the equitable assignee. GREENHALGH & SONS v. UNION BANK OF MANCHESTER. (1924) 2 K. B. 153.

BANKRUPTCY.

BANKRUPTCY—Deed of arrangement—Provision not to register—Validity—Agreement by assenting creditors not to proceed in respect of debts—Estoppel.

A debtor executed a document in the form of a memorandum of agreement by which he transferred his property to trustees for the benefit of his creditors. It contained a clause to the effect that it was not to be registered as a composition deed. On the same day his creditors signed a statement in the form of a letter which recited as a composition or arrangement, and that if the debtor complied with the terms of his undertaking they would abide by the same and not proceed against him. One of the creditors subsequently issued a bankruptcy notice on the ground that one of the terms of the undertaking had not been complied with. Held (1) the memorandum of agreement and the letter were void for want of registration the Deeds of Arrangement Act, 1914, and (2) as all the parties knew it was invalid, the creditor was not estopped from issuing the bankruptcy notice. Case law referred to.

Per Pollock, M.R.—In order to amount to an estoppel, the representation must be of some existing fact and not a statement of promise, something to be done in future.

Per Warrington, L.J. Quaere.—Where the doctrine of estoppel can be made use of to render valid a transaction which the legislature on grounds of public policy has declared invalid? A BANKRUPTCY NOTICE, In re. 1924 2 Ch. 76.

—Money paid to agent on behalf of creditor—Fraudulent preference—If can be recovered from agent—Agent if trustee—English Bankruptcy Act (1914), S. 44.

Where an agent in the ordinary course of his employment receives payment of a debt for the use of his principal and in good faith pays the money over to, or otherwise deals to his detriment with, his principal in the belief that the payment is good and valid payment, then the money cannot be recovered from the agent, although it turns out that, in fact, the payment was a fraudulent preference; in such a case the money must be recovered from the principal. If the agent knows the debtor is insolvent and is making the payment with a view to prefer the creditor, the trustee in bankruptcy can recover it from the agent on the ground he was party or privy to the fraudulent preference.

In the ordinary case of payment to an agent for the use of his principal, the agent is not a person in trust for the creditor within the meaning of S. 44 of the Bankruptcy Act. In re MORANT: EX PARTE THE TRUSTEES.

(1924) 1 Ch. 79.

—Mortgage of shares—Bankrupt selling shares without knowledge of mortgagor—Trustee's action to recover balance from mortgagor—Set off—Date of ascertaining value of shares.

BANKRUPTCY.

A person with whom some shares had been deposited as security for moneys due sold the same improperly without the knowledge of his mortgagor and subsequently became bankrupt. The trustee claimed from the mortgagor the difference between the amounts due on accounts being taken and the amount realised by sale by the bankrupt. Held (by the majority of the Court of Appeal Pollock, M. R. dissenting) the value of the shares ought to be ascertained as on the day on which the Master's certificate was drawn up.

Per Pollock, M. R.—As the bankruptcy put an end to the state of accounts between the parties, the value of shares should be calculated as on the date of the receiving order. The mortgagor has a right of set-off and if after set-off the balance is in his favour, he can prove for it in bankruptcy.

Per Warrington, L. J. The bankruptcy of the mortgagee is an immaterial circumstance, but if it is, and the mortgagee is allowed to prove, his rights must be measured by the state of things at the date of the receiving order.

Per Sargant, L. J.—A mortgagee or his assignee cannot recover his debt from the mortgagor except upon performing his reciprocal obligation of reconveying the mortgaged property to the mortgagor. If through the unauthorised act of the mortgagee it has become impossible to restore the estate at law, the mortgagee loses the right to sue for the debt. ELLIS AND COMPANY'S TRUSTEE v. DIXON JOHNSON. (1924) 2 Ch. 451.

———Practice—Right of Trustee to rely on admissions in affidavit filed by opposite party—Fraudulent preference—Voluntary payment—Essentials of.

Under the practice of the Bankruptcy court, the trustee in bankruptcy cannot rely on admission made in an affidavit filed by the opposite party before the latter elects to make use of it at the hearing of the application.

The trustee in bankruptcy applied to set aside a certain payment made by the bankrupt as a fraudulent preference. The evidence disclosed that the payment was made voluntarily without any provision being exercised at a time when bankruptcy was imminent. Held by the majority of the Court of appeal. (Pollack M. R. dissenting) in the absence of any other reason forthcoming to explain the payment the court could infer it was a case of fraudulent preference. Under S. 44 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1914 the payment must have been made by a person unable to pay his debts as they fall due; the payment must prefer one creditor over others and the dominant motive for the payment must be a motive to prefer the particular creditor to whom the payment was made. Case law discussed. COHEN EX PARTE COHEN, In re. (1924) 2 Ch. 515.

———Proof of creditor accepted by Trustee and dividend paid on that basis—Subsequent reduction of claim by Court—Effect—Adjustment.

The Trustee in Bankruptcy accepted the proof of a creditor as to debts due to him and paid him the first dividend thereon. Subsequently the Bankruptcy Court reduced the amount of his claim, after rejecting a portion of the claim which had been accepted by the trustee. Held, before getting first dividend on the basis of the reduced claim, he must first give credit for the overpayment received on the prior occasion. The mere fact that the trustee cannot recover either payments made to a person whose proof is subsequently expunged or overpayments, made to a creditor whose proof is subsequently reduced does not prevent the operation of the well known principle of equity that a beneficiary who has been overpaid is not entitled to receive any further payments out of the trust fund until the payments to the other beneficiaries are levelled up to the amount received by the overpaid beneficiary. The amount overpaid can be set off against future dividend that may become payable SEARLE HOARE AND COMPANY, In re. (1924) 2 Ch. 325.

BANKRUPTCY.

———Proof of debt—Liability of creditor to give credit for securities held—Separate estates.

Per P. O. Lawrence, J.—The general rule in bankruptcy is that when a creditor proves against the estate he must give up or value any securities which if not retained by him would go to augment the estate against which he seeks to prove. But the rule presupposes that the security held by the creditor is a security for the debt which he is seeking to prove. A creditor is entitled to prove for an unsecured debt without giving up a security he holds on part of the debtor's property for a different debt altogether. So also where the creditor has a claim against the separate estate for an unsecured debt and also a claim against the joint estate for a secured debt he can prove against the separate estate for his unsecured debt without bringing into account the property on which he holds a security in respect of his claim against the joint estate, although part of such property consists of the separate property of the debtors.

View affirmed by the Court of Appeal. In re, DUTTON, MASSEY AND CO EX PARTE MANCHESTER AND LIVERPOOL DISTRICT BANKING CO., LTD. (1924) 2 Ch. 199.

———Property divisible among creditors—"By consent or permission of true owner"—Possession in his trade or business—Motor car under hire purchase—Bankruptcy Act (1914), S. 38 (c).

A person purchased a motor car on the hire purchase system and in the agreement it was stated to be "a pleasure car". During the pendency of the agreement, it was used "in the trade or business" of the purchaser. He became an insolvent and the trustee in bankruptcy claimed ownership under S. 38 (c) of the English Bankruptcy Act, 1914 as being "Goods in the possession of the bankrupt in his trade or business, by the consent or permission of the true owner under such circumstances that he is the reputed owner thereof." Held in order to sustain the claim of the trustee in bankruptcy, the true owner must have consented not only to their being in the possession of the insolvent but also to their being used in his trade or business; also the article must not only be visibly employed in the trade or business but acquired and used for such business. LAMB v. WRIGHT AND CO. (1924) 1 K. B. 857.

BANKRUPTCY.

—Written authority of debtor to creditor to sell goods and apply proceeds pro rata to paying creditors—If an assignment—Deeds of Arrangement Act, 1914.

Where a debtor gives a written authority to a creditor to realize his estate and apply the proceeds in satisfaction of preferential claims and pay the balance to creditors pro rata, the document does not contain any of the essential elements of an assignment property so called, that is of that form of transfer which law recognizes as cessio bonorum and it does not fall within the deeds of Arrangement Act, 1914.

Per Banker, L. J.—There is a well known meaning attached to the term "assignment" in Bankruptcy law. It applies to cases where a debtor had executed a deed which assigned all or substantially all his property to a trustee or trustees for the benefit of his creditors generally. No declaration of trust or mere contract is an act of bankruptcy. In re, Spackman. 24 Q. B. D. 728 and In re, Hughes (1893) 1 Q. B. 595 followed.

Per Atkin, L. J. There is no reason for giving to "assignment" in the Deeds of Arrangement Act a meaning different from the meaning of the same word in the Bankruptcy Act. SUMMARY OF ENGLISH CASES (JUNE 1924) B. LIPTON, LIMITED v. BELL. (1924) 1 K. B. 701.

BILL OF EXCHANGE—Indorsement and delivery to drawer—Subsequent indorsement by drawer to himself—Liability of first indorser—Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, S. 20.

A vendor of goods drew a bill of exchange on the vendee payable six months after date to the order of the vendor. This was indorsed by the defendant who undertook to render help to the vendee and to be liable. At the time of indorsement some space was left blank above the name of the defendant for the indorsement of the name of any person to whom the vendor should direct payment. Shortly before the bill became due, the vendor indorsed his name as payee in the blank space and duly presented the same for payment to the vendee who dishonoured it. He then gave notice of dishonour and claimed payment from the defendant, who denied liability. Held, though at the time of indorsement by the defendant a material particular was wanting under S. 20 of the Bills of Exchange Act by the space being left blank, the bill became enforceable by the subsequent filling up. Case Law discussed. GERALD MC DONALD & Co. v. NASH & Co.

(1924) A. C. 625.

BILLS OF EXCHANGE ACT, 1882, Ss. 20, 29 and 56—Bill of exchange—Indorsement—Delivery to drawer—Subsequent indorsement by drawer—Liability of indorser to drawer.

The appellants sold to A & Co., certain cases of tinned soup, cash against delivery order. A & Co. not being able to find the necessary money applied to the respondents. The three parties meeting together agreed that the appellants should draw a series of eight bills of exchange on A & Co., to be paid to the appellants' order and hand over the delivery orders in consideration of their being duly endorsed by the respondents. The bills were drawn up and endorsed by the respondent's leaving open above their names for the endorsement of the name of the appellant's nominee. The bill having fallen due the appellants endorsed their own name in the blank space and presented them to A & Co., for payment. The bills were dishonoured. Notice of dishonour was given and payment was claimed from the respondents who denied liability.

BROKER.

Held, (1) on the facts the respondents had made themselves liable to the appellants for payment, (2) the bills were wanting in a material particular within the meaning of S. 20 of the Bills of Exchange Act and the appellants held implied authority to fill their names which when done made the bill retrospectively enforceable. 5 A. C. 754 distinguished. (1908) 1 K. B. 263 and (1901) 2 K. B. 593 applied. MC DONALD (GERALD) & Co. v. NASH & Co. (1924) A. C. 625.

BILL OF LADING—Indorsement to pledgee—Pledgee taking delivery after paying freight—Right to sue—Estoppel—"Apparent good order and condition."

Goods were shipped in a wet condition but the shipowners gave a bill of lading that they were shipped in "apparent good order and condition." The bill of lading was indorsed to pledgees who advanced money thereon and when the ship arrived, paid freight, demurrage, etc., and took over the goods. They then brought an action for damages for delay in delivery and for excess taken from them for expenses incurred in order to remove the wet condition of the goods. Held (1) though title to the goods had not passed to the pledgees under the Bills of Lading Act, by the presentation of the bill of lading, payment of freight, etc., and their acceptance by the shipowners, a contract had arisen between them and the latter to abide by the terms of the bill of lading, and on that basis a suit for damages was maintainable, (2) that the statement in the bill of lading that goods were received "in apparent good order and condition" estopped the shipowners from contending that goods were received wet and that the delay was due to making them fit for transit; and (3) as a result of the estoppel the ship owners could not claim the expenses incurred in rendering the goods fit for transit.

Per Banker, L. J. Where the holder of a bill of lading presents it and offers to accept delivery if that offer is accepted by the ship owner, the holder comes under an obligation to pay freight, demurrage, etc., and the contract so made by the offer and acceptance covers so as to include, the terms of the bill of lading.

Per Green, J. (In the court of first instance). The statement in a bill of lading that goods are shipped in good order is addressed to all those persons who in the ordinary course of business acquire an interest in the goods entitling them to obtain delivery under the bill of lading if they chose to do so. Those persons include bankers advancing money and agents financing the transaction. BRANDIT v. LIVERPOOL, BRAZIL AND RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, LTD. (1925) 1 K. B. 575.

BROKER—Right to indemnity—Funds not remitted by principal—Right to close accounts—Sale and purchase by broker—Effect.

BROKER.

A principal while engaged in speculative purchases in cotton through a broker became heavily indebted to him, which entitled the latter under the terms of their contract to close the accounts. The broker sold the cotton which he had purchased for his principal at the market rate which had fallen down considerably and purchased the same simultaneously from the vendee. Held the simultaneous purchase did not vitiate the sale by the broker and the accounts as between him and his principal were correctly closed.

Per Viscount Cave. The well-known equitable rule which forbids an agent for sale from becoming the purchaser himself does not apply to the facts of the case, as he was entitled to protect himself from further loss and to close the account. If he had sold the cotton, at an under value, he would be liable in damages. CHRISTOFORIDES v. TERRY. (1924) A. C. 566.

CERTIORARI—Writ when can issue—Ministerial and Judicial acts.

A writ of certiorari will not lie against an act which is purely ministerial. If the issue of a distress warrant involves a judicial act, it is subject to the procedure by which an excessive exercise of jurisdiction can be challenged; but if it is mere ministerial act following on the exercise of powers possessed by other people, then the writ of certiorari is not the proper remedy to apply. HETHERINGTON v. SECURITY EXPORT COMPANY, LTD (1924) A. C. 988.

CHARITY—Gift for express purpose—Surplus—How to be disposed—Absence of general charitable intention.

A testator gave a certain sum of money to the Cambridge University on trust for publishing a compilation of the testator and one of the executors was the residuary legatee. Out of the amount given a portion remained after the work was published and the University claimed it was beneficially entitled to the surplus or in the alternative the cypres doctrine would apply. Held, (1) the University was only a trustee for an express purpose and that being over, the surplus did not belong to them and (2) there being no general charitable intention except as regards the particular publication, there was no scope for the cypres doctrine to apply; and (3) that therefore there was a resulting trust to the testator and those claiming under him of the surplus. In re, STANFORD: UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE v. ATTORNEY GENERAL. (1924) 1 Ch. 73.

CHOSE IN ACTION—Locality of—Simple contract debts—Company—Residence.

Strictly speaking choses in action have no locality but for some purposes of the law it is necessary to assign to them a locality. Thus judgment debts are assets where the judgment is recorded, leases where the land lies; speciality debts where the instrument happens to be. A simple contract debt is situated in the country where the debtor is for the time being residing even though the debt be expressly payable in another country. Where the debtor is a company, it resides in the place where its administrative business is carried on. Case law discussed. NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY v. PUBLIC TRUSTEE. (1924) 1 Ch. 15.

COMPANY.COMPANY—Directors—Liability of—Infringement of Patent.

Where it is sought to fix a defendant with liability for a tort it must be established either that he is himself the tortfeasor or that he is the employer or principal of the tortfeasor, in relation to the act complained of, or at any rate the person on whose instructions the tort has been committed. Where a Company had infringed patent rights, the directors cannot be made liable simply because of their position as such. BRITISH THOMSON HOUSTON CO., LTD. v. STERLING ACCESSORIES, LTD.

(1924) 2 Ch. 33.

Goodwill written off out of profits—Restoring goodwill as asset—Right to divide profits subsequently earned.

In keeping accounts, a company applied its profits in writing off a corresponding amount of the value of goodwill instead of carrying these profits to a goodwill depreciation fund, in which case they would have been at liberty at any time to distribute the profits. Held the shareholders cannot thereby have intended for all time and in all circumstances to give up their claims to these profits and to treat them as capital only. They can, if they think fit, write back to the profit account so much of the depreciation written off goodwill as has proved to have been in excess of proper requirements. STAPLEY v. READ BROTHERS, LTD.

(1924) 2 Ch. 1.

Life insurance policy—Mortgage of—Winding up—Set off, if allowed—Bankruptcy Act, 1914, S. 31.

A person who had effected life insurance in a certain company mortgaged his policy to the Company and borrowed some money. Prior to his death, the Company was wound up and the policy holder claimed to set off the mortgage debt against the value of his policy. Held he was entitled to do so, as they were both contractual obligations which could be proved under S. 31 of the Bankruptcy Act. Case law discussed. In re NATIONAL BENEFIT ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED. (1924) 2 Ch. 339.

Single director—Payment of company's cheques into private account—Conversion—Bank crediting payment into private account—Absence of inquiry—Liability.

A merchant who had a banking account at the defendant's bank converted himself into a limited company. All the shares were allotted to him and he was the sole director. A large number of cheques drawn in favour of the company were paid by him into his own account, instead of into the company's account which was with another bank and misappropriated by him. The defendants knew that his business had been transferred to a Company, but did not enquire whether the company had a separate banking account, treating him as identical with the company. In an action by the company on behalf of a debenture holder for conversion, held the Bank was guilty of conversion of all the cheques, unless they proved they acted without negligence. In the case of a Bank dealing with a company the former must be taken to have had knowledge of the duties of the directors and the ordinary mode of doing business under the articles. In the case of cheques presented for collection by an agent of the company and put into his own account, they are put on an enquiry as to whether the company had not got its own banking account and the failure to do so amounts to negligence, disentitling them from relying on a defence founded on the ostensible authority of the agent. A. L. UNDERWOOD, LTD v. BANK OF LIVERPOOL AND MARTINS.

COMPANY.

(1924) 1 K. B. 775.

—Voluntary liquidation—Decree against—Stay of execution—Subsequent recovery of damages—If enures to decree holder—Practice.

The manager of a company fraudulently put his employer's name to some bills of exchange for which the company received no consideration and on the basis of the bills an action was brought against the company. Pending the same the company went into voluntary liquidation. The liquidator thereafter submitted to judgment for the amount claimed. Subsequently the company sued a third party for facilitating their manager in committing the fraud in respect of which they had been made liable and obtained a decree for damages, whereupon the decree holder whose judgment against the company had not been satisfied obtained a garnishee order nisi attaching the damages awarded to the company. The liquidator applied for stay of execution of judgment. Held the general practice is to stay execution where a company is in voluntary liquidation, because the execution, if allowed, would necessarily interfere with the distribution of the assets pari passu. The result of the company's obtaining damages did not either in law or in equity enure for the benefit of the judgment creditor solely but was to be divided rateably among all creditors. S. 186 of the Companies Act relied upon. ANGLO BALTIC AND MEDITERRANEAN BANK v. BARBER AND COMPANY.

(1924) 2 K. B. 410.

—Winding up—Promoter making secret profits—Liability to make good to company—Certificate of incorporation—If conclusive as to date—No prospectus issued—Allotment of shares before filing statement—Validity—Companies (consolidation) Act, 1908.

The certificate of incorporation of a company is conclusive as to the date on which it states the company was incorporated and allotment of shares on that day is valid irrespective of whether it was made before the company came into existence.

Where the promoter of a company had been allotted a large number of shares to provide for promotion profits even before a statement in lieu of prospectus was filed but he transferred them to another and realized a considerable sum, he was bound to account to the company or in cases of winding up, to the liquidator, for the profits he had made.

Where no prospectus is issued and before a statement in lieu of the prospectus is filed, allotment of shares is made, held per Lord Sumner (Lord Dunedin holding contra) the allotment is not wholly void. OFFICIAL RECEIVER AND LIQUIDATOR OF JUBILEE COTTON MILLS, LIMITED v. LEWIS. (1924) A. C. 958.

CONFLICT OF LAWS.

CONFLICT OF LAWS—Contract with carrier—Exemption clause—Void by the law of the country where it was entered into—Express provision that English law applied—Validity under English law—Which governs—Injuries sustained—Notice of claim—Absence of—Effect.

A person entered into a contract with a British Steam Navigation Company to be carried from New York to England in one of their ships. The contract contained a clause that the Company would not be liable for the negligence of the servants and also that no claim would be enforceable against the Company unless written notice of it was given within 3 days of the termination of the voyage. It also expressly provided that all questions arising under the contract would be governed by English Law. In a suit for damages for injuries sustained by the negligence of the Company's servants, held, though the exemption clause regarding non-liability for negligence of servants was invalid under the American law, it was valid under the English law. In a case of conflict of laws, the presumed intention of the contracting parties is the governing factor in determining which law applies and where the contract expressly stipulates that English Law would govern, it is the law to be applied.

Where in contravention of the terms of the contract, notice of the claim was not given within 3 days of the termination of the voyage, no action lay. JONES v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, LTD. (1924) 2 K. B. 730.

—English will—French domicile—Law applicable—Personally.

An Englishman who was long resident in France and whose domicile was decided to be French left a will in the English form, appointing an English executor and the legatees to his estate which consisted only of personalty were all Englishmen. The will was proved in England. On the question arising about the construction of the will, held, the domicile of the testator being French, in the case of moveables the will must be construed according to the law of the domicile unless the will contains expressions showing an indication that it should be construed according to English Law. In re, CUNNINGTON HEALING v. WEBB. (1924) 1 Ch. 68.

—Sale of goods—Contract to be performed at place different from that at which it was made—Mode of performance—Law governing—Privy Council practice—New point.

Where a contract is made in one country and is to be performed wholly or partly in another country the law as to the mode of performance may be presumed to be the lex loci solutionis, i. e. of the country where performance is to take place. In a contract for sale the vendee's right to reject the goods falls within the above principle.

Where a party succeeds before the Privy Council on a point not raised in the courts below, he can be deprived of his costs in the courts below. BENIAM AND CO. v. DEBONO.

(1924) A. C. 514.

CONSPIRACY.

CONSPIRACY—Agreement among employers to employ only members of particular union—Action if maintainable by person who is refused employment.

The shipowners in a certain country entered into an agreement with a certain trade union that they would employ no one who was not a member of the union. An employee, who had been offered a job and was fit for the same, was ultimately rejected as he was not a member of the union. In an action for conspiracy, held as the agreement or combination was not against a particular individual but merely operated to exclude such individuals as might not from time to time satisfy a qualification which was within the reach of any one who desired employment, and the motive was not a malicious desire to inflict a loss on any individual or class of individuals but a desire to advance the business interests of employed alike by means of collective bargaining and control, an action would not lie. Moghuil Steamship Co. v. Mc Gregor, Gow and Co. (1892) A. C. 25 foll. REYNOLDS v. SHIPPING FEDERATION, LTD. (1924) 1 Ch. 28.

CONTRACT—Consideration—Police Agreement—to pay for services—If illegal.

During a colliery strike, the manager required some policemen being billeted there. The police authorities proposed to protect them in the ordinary course, but if police men were to be billeted they required the men to be specially paid for and provided with food, etc. The manager agreed to the terms. In an action to recover the amount due, held (by the majority of the Court of Appeal, Atkin, L. J. dissenting) the agreement was quite legal; nor was there want of consideration for the same.

Per Banker, L. J. Though every citizen is entitled to police protection without payment there is nothing unlawful or against public policy in demanding payment for special police services rendered.

Per Atkin, L. J. At common law, it would be plainly contrary to law to charge for the performance of a public duty and the onus is on the persons entrusted with the duty to establish some exception to the general rule, validating such a power. GLAMORGAN COUNTY COUNCIL v. GLASBOOK BROTHERS. (1924) 1 K. B. 879.

———Consideration—Advance of—Impossibility of performance—War—Restitution—If can be claimed—Scottish Law.

Prior to the outbreak of the European war, a Scotch Company agreed to supply to an Austrian firm some marine engines. The price was to be paid in instalments and after the first instalment was paid, war broke out and nothing more was done on either side. Held the contract had been determined by the war, but by the Scottish Law the Austrian firm was entitled to restitution of instalment paid as there was failure of consideration, subject to any counter-claim for work performed in pursuance of the contract.

The Roman Law principle of condictio explained.

Per Lords Dunedin and Shaw Quære whether the coronation cases have laid down the law

CONTRACT—Sale of goods.

correctly? CANTIAVE SAN ROCCO v. CLYDE SHIP BUILDING AND ENGINEERING CO., LTD. (1924) A. C. 226.

———Illegality—Statutory provisions—Failure to comply with—Policy of Statute—Fertilisers and Feeding Stuffs Act, 1906—Contravention of.

Under the Fertilisers and Feeding Stuffs Act, 1906, a person who sells for use certain fertilisers has to give the purchaser an invoice stating the percentage of certain chemicals contained therein and the Act provides that on failure to do so, the vendor is without prejudice to any civil liability, liable to a penalty on conviction. In a suit by the vendor of such a fertiliser to recover the sale price, the ve. dee pleaded non-liability as the statutory invoice had not been given to him. Held, the action was not maintainable, the sale being illegal.

Per Banker, L. J. It is not necessary to show a contract is illegal ab initio in order to avoid it; it is enough to show the vendors failed to perform the contract in the only way in which the statute allows it to be performed, and the vendor in such a case is exactly in the same position as if the contract had been illegal and void ab initio. Nor is the prohibitive expense or physical impossibility of analysis of the substance sold an excuse for the absence of an invoice.

Per Scrutton, L. J. When the policy of an Act is to protect the general public or a class of persons by requiring that a contract shall be accompanied by certain formalities or conditions and a penalty is imposed on the person omitting the same, the contract and its performance without those formalities or conditions is illegal and cannot be sued upon by the person liable to the penalties.

Per Atkin, L. J. The question of illegality in a contract may arise in connection with its formation or its performance. In either case, the contract is unenforceable by either party. ANDERSON, LIMITED v. DANIEL.

(1924) 1 K. B. 138 (C. A.).

———Procuring breach of contract—Justification—Failure to give living wage—Immorality.

The defendants who were members of a protection committee had as one of their objects protection of chorus girls and to prevent their leading a life of immorality they had fixed a minimum living wage for chorus girls. The plaintiff, a theatrical manager used to pay much below the minimum wage and as a result the girls were supplementing their income by leading a life of prostitution. To bring pressure on the plaintiff, the defendants induced theatre proprietors not to lend their theatres and to break existing theatres. In an action for an injunction against defendants, held the latter were justified, considering the nature of the contract broken the position of the parties, the grounds of the breach and the means employed to procure the breach. BRIMELOW v. CASSON. (1924) 1 Ch. 302.

———Sale of goods—Reels of cotton—Condition as to objection regarding goods—Construction—Damages.

COPYRIGHT.

In a contract of sale of 200 yards' reels of sewing cotton there was a condition that unless the buyer within fourteen days after the arrival of the goods ratifies that they are not in accordance with the goods, he would have to pay for the same at the rate fixed. More than a year after delivery it was discovered that the reels were much less than 200 yards in length and an action for damages for breach of contract was filed. Held, by the majority of the House of Lords (Lord Buckmaster dissenting) the condition fixing fourteen days for objections related only to the quality of the goods and not the length of cotton in each reel and the failure to object within such time was not a valid defence to the action. EARNEST BECK AND COMPANY v. SZYMANOWSKI AND COMPANY. (1924) A. C. 43.

COPYRIGHT — Dramatic play founded on novel—Agreement granting rights of production—Construction—Cinematograph rights—Copyright Act, 1911.

The plaintiff was the authoress and owner of the copyright in a novel called "The Scarlett Pimpernel". In 1903 a dramatic version of the same was composed and the plaintiff entered into an agreement with the defendants by which on the fulfilment of certain conditions the entire rights for the United Kingdom, the United States and the Dominion of Canada should become theirs inalienable.

Held, that the entire right in the play became vested in the defendants by the agreement and when the Copyright Act, 1911, came into operation the rights so vested included the right in the cinematograph production of the play. BARSTOW v. TERRY. (1924) 2 Ch. 316 —Future works—Assignment of rights—Infringement—Assignee if can sue for injunction—Assignor necessary party.

A person to whom the performing rights in certain musical works to be composed in future are assigned becomes by the completion of such works merely the equitable owner of the same and he cannot therefore obtain a perpetual injunction against persons who infringe the copyright in such work without joining the legal owner as party to the action. PERFORMING RIGHT SOCIETY, LIMITED v. LONDON THEATRE OF VARIETIES LIMITED. (1924) A. C. 1.

—Infringement—Servant and independent contractor—Distinction between—Liability of master.

The defendants engaged a band of musicians to play in their theatre, but in the agreement it was expressly stipulated they would not be liable for any infringement of copyright by the latter. It was also notified publicly that no music was to be played in the hall which would be an infringement. Without the knowledge of the defendants an infringement took place and in an action for damages held the musicians were the servants of the defendants and as the infringement took place in the course of employment, the latter were liable. Even if the musicians were independent contractors, if the defendants had actively directed, counselled or aided the infringement they would be liable.

CORPORATION.

The question whether a man is a servant or independent contractor is a question of law or at least a mixed question of fact and law. Tests for deciding the question discussed. PERFORMING RIGHT SOCIETY, LTD v. MITCHELL AND BOOKER, LTD. (1924) 1 K. B. 762.

—Infringement of musical work—Company licensee of theatre—Managing Director—Liability of—Authorizing performance—What amounts to.

A company took the lease of a theatre. Its managing director who had been licensed to stage plays entered into an agreement with the Company under which an orchestra was to be engaged by the latter to provide music during the performance. In his absence abroad and without his knowledge the band infringed the musical copyright of the plaintiffs in certain works for which an action was brought against the managing director, in his personal capacity, as apart from the company.

Held, he had not infringed the copyright of the plaintiffs and would not be liable.

Per Banker, L.J.—The musicians being the servants the Company cannot be said to have been authorised by the Director to perform the musical works nor could he be said to have permitted the use of the theatre for such performance.

Per Scrutton, L.J.—The question is one of the liability for infringement by a person not actually taking part in the performance but only more or less interested in it. The obvious remedy would be to sue the performers who infringe the copyright. In law a man cannot be said to permit a performance if he cannot control it; nor can he be said to permit the use of a place for performance, if he does not know the work is being performed.

Per Atkin, L.J.—Prima facie a managing director is not liable for tortious acts done by servants of the company unless he himself is privy to the acts by ordering or procuring them to be done. PERFORMING RIGHT SOCIETY, LTD. v. CYRIL THEATRICAL SYNDICATE, LTD. (1924) 1 K. B. 1.

CORPORATION — Residence — Simple contract debts—Where recoverable.

Debts for choses in action are generally to be looked upon as situate in the country where they are properly recoverable or can be enforced. A corporation being an incorporated company may have more than one residence and may for the purpose of carrying on its business be equally subject to a number of local jurisdictions. Where a company had its central office at New York and a Branch in London and an insurance policy was issued in New York, but the policy moneys and the insurance money were payable in London, the debts were recoverable in London. It was permissible in such a case to look at the terms of the contract and to determine from them what is to be the place at which the debt would be recoverable. Decision of Romer, J in (1924) 1 Ch. 15 reversed; case law discussed. NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY v. PUBLIC TRUSTY.

(1924) 2 Ch. 101.

CORPORATION TAX.

CORPORATION TAX—British Company—Residence in England but business wholly abroad—Liability to pay tax—Finance Act, Ss. 52, 53.

Under S. 52 of the Finance Act, 1920, Corporation Profits Tax is leviable "on the profits of a British Company carrying on any trade or business." Held the words were wide enough to include a British Company which is carrying on business entirely outside the United Kingdom. Held further the fact that the same company was not liable to Income Tax has no bearing on the question. ALLIANZA CO. LTD v. COMMISSIONERS OF INLAND REVENUE. (1924) 1 K. B. 870.

COUNTER CLAIM—Setting up—What amounts to—Rules of Supreme Court, O. 21, R. 16.

The "setting up" of a counter-claim must refer to a setting up in a pleading or in some proceeding which is recognized or directed by the rules and which becomes a part of the record or something which is filed in the court.

Per Sarjant, L. J. A general intimation outside the proceedings of the intention of the defendant to proceed by way of counterclaim is not enough; nor is the filing of an affidavit enough. The setting up of the counterclaim means the delivery of the counterclaim according to the rules. THE SAXICAVA. (1924) P 131.

CRIMINAL TRIAL—Possibility of bias—Course of trial—Presence of Justice's Clerk at consultation—Possessional connection with one of parties—Effect.

As a result of collision between two motor cycles, a civil action ensued, and at the same time a criminal prosecution was launched at the instance of the Police. The person who acted as justice's clerk in the criminal proceedings belonged to a firm of solicitors who were acting on behalf of the plaintiff in the civil action. In the usual course of things the justices after hearing the evidence retired for consultation and according to the usual practice the justice's clerk went along with them with the notes of evidence but it was subsequently proved he did not take any part in the consultation. The trial ended in a conviction and then a writ of certiorari was taken out to quash the proceedings. Held by Lord Hewart, C. J. It is of fundamental importance that justice should not only be done but should manifestly and undoubtedly be seen to be done. Nothing is to be permitted which creates even a suspicion that there has been an improper interference with the course of justice. The position of the clerk's firm in the civil proceedings made it impossible for him to discharge his duties, properly in the criminal proceedings and in the absence of waiver of irregularities, the conviction should be quashed. THE KING v. SUSSEX JUSTICES: Ex parte MC CARTHY. (1924) 1 K. B. 256.

—Habitual criminal—Prior Conviction—If admissible as evidence of character—Function of Jury—Prevention of Crimes Act, 1908 S. 10 (Cr. P. Code, S. 110).

A person who had been found to be a habitual criminal on a prior occasion, was subsequently charged and convicted for certain offences like burglary. At the trial upon proof being given that he had been already sentenced before as a habitual criminal, he was told by the Court that evidence on his part was of no avail, and the jury was simply directed that under the law it had no other alternative except to find he was a habitual criminal. Held by a majority of the Court of Criminal Appeal (Lord Hewart, C. J. Horridge, Lush, Mc Cardie, Roche, Green, Swift and Branson, JJ.) the direction to the jury was wrong in law. Unless the offender makes that admission, it is in each case a question, not of law for the judge, but of fact for the jury whether the offender is or is not a habitual criminal (1920) 2 K. B. 235 overruled.

CRIMINAL TRIAL.

When the language of a statute admits of more than one construction, and one construction leads to obvious injustice, it should be rejected and in penal enactments that which is most favourable to the person affected should be followed. S. 10 of Prevention of Crimes Act, 1908, construed. THE KING v. CHARLES LESLIE NORMAN.

(1924) 2 K. B. 315.

—Indecent Assault—Separate assaults on different persons—Joint trial and general verdict—Propriety of—Corroboration of evidence against each.

A person was charged for indecent assault, and the indictment contained a number of counts, each constituting a separate assault on a different person. The trial was a joint one. Held in such cases a careful distinction should be drawn between each count and every other count, and the jury should be warned as to the source from which evidence came, and to weigh the evidence with care with reference to each particular charge, and not to supplement the evidence on any one charge by helpful evidence upon some other charge. A general verdict cannot be supported. THE KING v. BAILEY.

(1924) 2 K. B. 300.

—Sentence—Absence of prisoner—Prosecution—Right to reply—Evidence put in for the defence.

Where the charge against the accused is one of felony, the court has no jurisdiction to pass sentence in respect to a charge of that nature in the absence of the prisoner.

If any witness other than the accused is called for the defence or a document is put in evidence for the defence, counsel for the prosecution has a right to make a second speech, but not otherwise. Where by leave of the judge the accused read a portion of a document to the jury, but that document was not properly admissible in evidence and was not exhibited, the prosecution has no right to make a second speech. THE KING v. JAMES THOMAS HALES.

(1924) 1 K. B. 602.

—Separate indictments—Joint trial—Consent of counsel—Effect.

It is always the duty of a criminal court, even though no objection is put forward by counsel, to take note of a point which goes to the jurisdiction of the Court of trial. Where two indictments against two different persons were proceeded with at one and the same time, even the consent of counsel for the prosecution and the defence does not give jurisdiction to the Court. THE KING v. DENNIS AND PARKER.

DEBT PAYABLE IN FOREIGN CURRENCY.

(1924) 1 K. B. 867.

DEBT PAYABLE IN FOREIGN CURRENCY—Rate of exchange—Date of conversion.

In actions of damages for breach of contract and in actions for debt for goods sold and delivered the rate of exchange current at the date of the breach or when the debt became due and payable should be taken in calculating the amount. PEYRAE v. WILKINSON.

(1924) 2 K. B. 166.

DEED—Construction—Month—Meaning of—Mortgage transactions.

Under the Common Law, the expression 'month' in a legal document prima facie means a lunar month but there are exceptions to that meaning in the case of mercantile transactions and in the Ecclesiastical courts. In mortgage transactions the word "month" must be taken to mean calendar month. SCHILLER v. PETERSEN AND CO. LTD.

(1924) 1 Ch. 394.

DEFAMATION—Slander—Test of words used—Proof—Question to be put to jury—"Or words to the like effect."

Per Banker, L. J. The strictness of the old rule of the Common Law that there should be absolutely no variance between proof and pleading in actions for libel and slander has long ago disappeared. If the very words pleaded are not proved but only words to a similar effect, plaintiff cannot succeed without an amendment.

Per Scrutton and Atkin, L. J. The old test applied in cases of defamation, i. e., whether the words used tended to expose the plaintiff to "hatred, contempt or ridicule" is not sufficient in all cases, for words may damage the reputation of a man as a business man which no one would connect with hatred, ridicule or contempt.

Per Scrutton, L. J. It is sufficient to prove the substance of the words alleged or of a material and defamatory part of them. So far as the words proved make a materially different allegation, amendment is necessary if that allegation is to be relied on; but the jury should be directed to consider whether or not part of the words proved was a material and defamatory part of the words complained of. TOURNIER v. NATIONAL PROVINCIAL AND UNION BANK OF ENGLAND.

(1924) 1 K. B. 461.

DISCOVERY—Banker's Books—Defendant's objection that they are of an incriminating nature—Procedure—Banker's Books Evidence Act, S. 7.

Before the trial of an action, the plaintiff applied for inspection and to take copies of entries in certain Banker's Books. The defendant objected to the same on the ground the entries would incriminate him. Held by the majority of the Court of Appeal (Scrutton, L. J. dissenting.) the exercise of discretion under S. 7 of the Banker's Books Evidence Act is just the same as in ordinary cases of inspection before trial and leave to inspect ought not to be granted at that stage. (1892) P. 137 and (1895) 2 Q. B. 669 fold. WATERHOUSE v. BARKER.

(1924) 2 K. B. 759.

DIVORCE.DIVORCE—Adultery—Birth of child—Evidence on non-access by husband—Admissibility.

The statute which makes husbands and wives competent witnesses in divorce suits does not affect the common law rule that they should not be allowed to give such evidence as will in effect bastardise a child born in lawful wedlock. RUSSEL v. RUSSEL.

(1924) A. C. 687.

—Adultery—Proof of—Confession of wife—If admissible—Separation order—Presumption of non-access.

In a petition for divorce on the ground of the wife's adultery, the only proof of the adultery was her own confession that the co-respondent was the father of her child. There was a separation order obtained from the magistrates and the child could have been conceived only during the subsistence of the order. Held the presumption of non-access and consequent bastardy arose and a decree nisi could be granted. ANDREWS v. ANDREWS AND CHALMERS.

(1924) P. 255.

—Adultery of petitioner—Court if can grant decree—Discretion—Principles guiding.

As between the parties to a divorce proceeding a petitioner may not claim divorce on account of misconduct to which the petitioner has conduced and on the same principle a respondent may not rely upon misconduct of a petitioner to which the respondent has conduced. The discretion of the court in such cases cannot be regulated by a classified system laid down in advance. TICKNER v. TICKNER.

(1924) P. 118.

—Costs of wife—Prior abortive trial—Right to stay second trial till costs of prior are paid—Waiver—What amounts to.

In petition for divorce against wife, the jury disagreed and thereupon the husband applied for a second trial. Held it is one of the rights of the respondent wife to have the trial stayed till the costs of the first trial have been paid. The mere fact that she accepted an order for payment of costs of the second trial or security for the same without claiming the unpaid costs of the prior abortive trial does not amount to a waiver of her right to stay the proceedings.

Per Warrington, L. J. The option is not a matter of discretion but as of right. SILVER v. SILVER AND GRENFELL.

(1924) P. 163.

—Custody of Child—Adultery of wife—Effect of—Jurisdiction of court to direct access to child.

Where as a result of a wife's adultery a divorce has been effected, it does not follow that she is thereby ipso facto disentitled from access to or having custody of her minor daughter who is below sixteen years of age. In considering the limits of an order granting access to the child, the court should always view the question from the stand point of the child's interests. Case law on the subject reviewed. B v. B. (1924) P. 176.

—Decree for nullity—Refusal by wife of sexual intercourse—Impotency—Repugnance to intercourse—Evidence.

In a petition for a nullity decree on the ground of impotency, it was proved that though the wife had no structural incapacity, she always resisted the frequent attempts of the husband to consummate the marriage even after her finally consenting to render conjugal duties. Held it was a safe inference that the refusal was due to an invincible repugnance to sexual intercourse and that the will of the wife was so paralysed at the time of attempts at consummation as to amount to incapacity and hence a decree of nullity should be passed. G. v. G. (1924) A. C. 349.

DIVORCE.

—Adultery of wife—Husband's denial of intercourse—If admissible—Legitimacy proceedings—Difference.

The husband in a petition for divorce alleged as the ground the adultery of his wife, resulting in the birth of a child. He gave evidence that at the time when conception was normally possible, he occupied the same bed with her, but neither then nor at any time when the child could possibly have been conceived had he sexual connection with her. Held, the question at issue being one of adultery, his evidence was relevant to the issue and perfectly admissible. On a question of legitimacy, the matter might stand on a different footing. The objection to admissibility on the grounds of morality, decency and public policy considered and commented on. RUSSEL v. RUSSEL. (1924) P. 1.

—Desertion—What amounts to—Turning out the wife after acts of cruelty—Subsequent repentance—Effect of.

A husband after many acts of cruelty towards his wife actually turned her out of the house. He repented of his last act the next day and offered to amend his conduct. On a question arising whether the acts amounted to desertion and whether the subsequent repentance did not terminate the desertion, Held though desertion may be put an end to by subsequent cohabitation, a husband cannot obliterate his previous conduct by subsequent offers, as to the genuineness of which the wife may, upon reasonable grounds, entertain doubts.

Per Pollock, M. R.—Desertion is not a single act complete in itself and revocable by a single act of repentance.

Per Warrington, L. J. Quare. Where there is nothing but a turning away of the wife, followed by a genuine expression of a desire on the husband's part for her return, whether the desertion would still continue? THOMAS v. THOMAS.

(1924) P. 194.

—Husband acquiring new domicile—Effect on wife—Absence of notice to wife—Validity of decree.

The domicile of origin can be changed only by the strongest evidence of determination to acquire a fresh one of choice, the onus of proof being on the party who alleges it.

Where an English husband after settling down in the United States obtains a decree of divorce against his wife who remained in England but she had no knowledge or notice of the proceeding the same is not binding on her. RUDD v. RUDD.

(1923) P. 72.

DONATIO MORTIS CAUSA—Possession by donee—Placing it for safe custody with donor—Effect.

For a valid donatio mortis causa the possession of the donee must continue till the death of the donor. Where after receiving possession the donee places them with the donor in order to ensure its safe custody, the donee does not part with possession and the gift remains perfectly valid. In re HAWKINS WATTS v. NASH. (1924) 2 Ch. 47.

EASEMENT.

EASEMENT—Ancient lights—Obstruction threatened by putting up building—Power to award damages in lieu of injunction.

Held by a majority of the House of Lords (Lords Sumner and Carson dissenting) that the Court of Chancery has jurisdiction to award damages in lieu of granting an injunction in the case of an obstruction to ancient lights which is being threatened by the raising of a new building. The fact that no obstruction had as yet taken place does not limit its jurisdiction to the grant of an injunction. 43 Ch. D 316 disapproved and (1923) 1 Ch. 431 reversed. LEEDS INDUSTRIAL CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LTD. v. SLACK.

(1924) A. C. 851.

—Ancient lights—Obstruction threatened—Slight interference with plaintiff's rights—Compensation in damages.

In an action for injunction and damages for obstruction of ancient lights the Court found there would be an infringement of plaintiff's rights, but that it was small in extent. Held, though the general rule is that when a right is invaded, an injunction will be granted, yet if the injury is small and capable of being estimated in money and compensated for by a money payment and at the same time it would be oppressive to the defendant to grant an injunction, the damages in lieu of injunction should be awarded. SLACK v. LEEDS INDUSTRIAL CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LTD. (1924) 2 Ch. 475.

—Right of way—Abandonment—Non-user—If amounts to—Obstruction—Acquiescence in.

Non-user of a private right of way is not by itself conclusive evidence that a right of easement has been abandoned. It must be considered with the surrounding circumstances. The non-user must be the consequence of something which is adverse to the user.

Where even at the time of the grant there were obstructions to the right of user and fresh ones were created later and they were acquiesced in by the plaintiff for more than 40 years, Held by the Court of Appeal. (Pollock, M. R. dissenting) an abandonment could be inferred. SWAN v. SINCLAIR. (1924) 1 Ch. 254.

—Right of way—Level-crossing—Character of user—Change of—Increase of burden.

When constructing a Railway, the Company purchased lands abutting on a highway and thereby affected the access of the rest of the land to the road. To obviate this difficulty, they constructed a level-crossing and granted the owner a general right of way in wide terms for all purposes over the same. For over 80 years it was used only for agricultural purposes and then the owner opened mines on his land and began to cart minerals over the level-crossing. On the Company seeking to restrict the easement right to what it had been throughout the period, held it was an unrestricted grant and was not ultra vires of the Railways Clauses Act. Viewed as a grant of way, the grantee would be entitled to use it for any purpose without reference to the purpose for which the dominant tenement was used at the time of the grant and notwithstanding that the burden on the servient tenement was thereby increased. SOUTH EASTERN RAILWAY COMPANY v. COOPER. (1924) 1 Ch. 211.

EASEMENT

EVIDENCE—Admissibility—Divorce proceedings—Adultery—Birth of child—Evidence by husband of non-access.

Held by the majority of the House of Lords (Lords Sumner and Carson dissenting) reversing the order of the Court of Appeal in (1924) P. 1 it is an old established rule of law that it is not open to a husband or wife to give evidence of non-access or of circumstances tending to prove the same as it would result in bastardising children born in wedlock. The rule is one "founded on decency, morality and policy". Case-law referred to.

Per Lords Sumner and Carson.—The above rule of law is applicable only in cases where the legitimacy of a person is directly in issue but does not apply to proceedings in divorce cases. RUSSELL v. RUSSELL. (1924) A. C. 687.

—Admissibility—Oral testimony in prior action—Admission—Difference between documents and oral evidence.

In a prior litigation, the plaintiff in order to prove a certain contention of his cited certain witnesses who gave evidence in his favour. In another action by the same plaintiff against other defendants the latter claimed to put in oral evidence in the earlier case as amounting to prima facie evidence binding on the plaintiff. Held it was not admissible as evidence. There is a distinction in this respect between oral evidence and written evidence; for in the latter case, a party knows exactly what evidence he is letting in and will be bound by it, while in the former case he does not know exactly what a witness is going to depose to. Case-law referred to. BRITISH THOMPSON-HOUSTON COMPANY, LTD. v. BRITISH INSULATED AND HELSBY CABLES, LTD.

(1924) 1 Ch. 203.

—Admissibility—Prior litigation—Oral evidence on behalf of plaintiff—If admissible against him—Reliance in appeal—Effect.

Held by a majority of the Court of Appeal Sargent, L. J., dissenting, affirming (1924) 1 Ch. 203, where in prior judicial proceedings oral evidence was let in on behalf of the plaintiff to support a certain contention, such oral evidence does not amount to an admission by the plaintiff of the same and is not admissible in other proceedings as evidence against the plaintiff. The case of affidavits or documents which a party knowingly uses as true in a judicial proceeding stands on a different footing. Case-law fully reviewed.

Held also per curiam.—The mere fact that such evidence was used by the plaintiff for purposes of appealing to the Court of Appeal or House of Lords does not affect the question of admissibility. BRITISH THOMPSON-HOUSTON COMPANY, LTD. v. BRITISH INSULATED AND HELSBY CABLES, LTD.

(1924) 2 Ch. 160.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

EXCHANGE—Rate of—Damages—Date of conversion. (1924) 2 K. B. 166.

EXTRADITION—Committal—Evidence disproving identity—Order of committal, if can be reviewed—Extradition Act, S. 11.

An accused was committed to prison by a Magistrate to await extradition to a foreign country. He then applied to the High Court for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that since his committal to prison he had discovered evidence which conclusively proved that he was not the person whose arrest was required. Held, the Magistrate's decision could not be reviewed, but that the matter could be dealt with under the Extradition Act by the Secretary of State. THE KING v. GOVERNOR OF BRIXTON PRISON.

(1924) 1 K. B. 455.

FATAL ACCIDENT—Railway company—Death of passengers—Contract fixing liability—Defendants if bound by—Fatal Accidents Act (1846).

A railway passenger who was holding a workman's ticket was run over by the train and killed. One of the conditions of the ticket was the liability of the company was limited to a sum not exceeding £100. His widow brought an action under the Fatal Accidents Act for compensation. Held her claim was not limited by the agreement entered into by her husband and a Court can grant her more if the facts justify it. The cause of action of the dependents of the deceased is a new and distinct cause of action in respect of which damages are estimated on an entirely different basis. NUNDAN v. SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY.

(1924) 1 K. B. 223.

FOREIGN JUDGMENT—Suit on—Finality of judgment—Test of.

In order that a foreign judgment may be enforceable in an English Court, it must be a final and conclusive judgment of the Court by which it was pronounced. The mere fact that it may be the subject of appeal to a higher Court does not prevent it from being final. The fact that the judgment does not contain in itself the amount sued for, but a simple arithmetical calculation is necessary does not make it any the less final. BEATTY v. BEATTY.

(1924) 1 K. B. 807.

HUSBAND AND WIFE—Agency of necessity—Guilty wife—Divorce proceedings—Wife's costs—Liability of husband.

Under the instructions of a wife, a solicitor commenced divorce proceedings against the husband on the ground of adultery and cruelty. The husband's solicitors admitted adultery but denied cruelty. Subsequently the husband came to know that his wife had committed adultery and communicated the same to her solicitor whereupon the divorce proceedings were dropped. The wife's solicitor then brought an action for the costs incurred in the divorce proceedings against the husband. Held, under the common law a guilty wife has no authority to pledge her husband's right for the service of a solicitor and the action did not lie.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

Quære.—Whether the law is the same in respect of costs incurred by a guilty wife called upon to defend herself against proceedings brought by the husband? DUNFORD v. BAKER.

(1924) 2 K. B. 587.

—Desertion—What amounts to—Refusing sexual intercourse—Effect.

Where a husband and wife live under the same roof the mere fact that the former refuses or abstains from sexual intercourse with the other does not amount in law to desertion. An exhaustive definition of what amounts to desertion is impossible; abandonment amounts to it. So also if one causes the other to live separate and apart.

Case-law on the subject discussed. JACKSON v. JACKSON.

(1924) P. 19.

—Matrimonial proceedings—Solicitor—Suit for costs of wife—Liability of husband—Right to recover—Necessity for proceedings or result thereof.

In an action by the solicitor of a wife against the husband for costs incurred in matrimonial proceedings against him, wherein adultery, cruelty, etc., were alleged it is not necessary for the solicitor to prove that the husband was guilty of cruelty or that he committed adultery. Not is it essential to show the wife had actually procured a decree in her favour. But the solicitor must prove that he acted on reasonable grounds, that he made adequate inquiries and that he showed proper diligence and full care.

Quære.—Whether the action is maintainable if the wife is proved to have separate estate?

Case-law discussed. MICHAEL ABRAHAMS SONS & Co. v. BUCKLEY.

(1924) 1 K. B. 903.

—Separation order—Resumption of cohabitation—Subsequent desertion—If possible in law.

So long as an order of separation between husband and wife remains undischarged, a husband cannot be guilty of desertion in the eye of law. Even if the spouses co-habit after the order, that does not ipso facto result in a discharge of the separation order, and as the husband was not bound to co-habit, he could not be guilty of desertion. JONES v. JONES.

(1924) P. 203.

INCOME TAX—Deductions—Interests paid on Estate duty—If a deduction—Income-tax Act, 1918, Sch. D, Case III, Rr. 1 and 2.

For the purpose of assessment to income-tax under Sch. D, Case III of the Income-tax Act, 1918, the trustee of an estate cannot deduct from the untaxed interests that has accrued to the estate any amount paid as interest or unpaid estate duty to the Crown. LORD INVERLEYD'S TRUSTEES v. MILLAR.

(1924) A. C. 580.

—Deduction—Travelling expenses—Office of Recorder—Income-tax Act, 1918, Sch. E, R. 9.

A man cannot claim a deduction in respect of travelling expenses from his place of residence, which is his own choice, to the place where he exercises his office. Such expenses are not "expenses of travelling in the performance of the duties of the office or employment" within the meaning of R. 9, Sch. E of the Income-tax Act, 1918. RICKETTS v. COLQUHOUN.

(1924) 2 K. B. 347.

INCOME TAX.

—Employment abroad—Possessions out of the United Kingdom—Income-tax Act, 1918, Sch. D, Case V.

Under the terms of a contract of service, an Englishman was to serve most of the year in West Africa, and was to be paid a yearly salary and certain commission, the whole amount being payable into a Bank in England. The Special Commissioners of Income-tax assessed him under Sch. D, Case V of the Income-tax Act, 1918, as in respect of income "arising from possessions out of the United Kingdom." Held affirming the decision in (1923) 2 K. B. 413, the contract of service did not amount to a "possession" within the meaning of Case V which really contemplates some form of "property" as a source of income. Though the contract may be a source of income it was not a "possession". PICKDEO v. FOULSHAM.

(1924) 1 K. B. 323.

—Exercising trade within the United Kingdom—Non-resident persons—Broker arranging business—If taxable.

A firm of cotton merchants in Egypt used to sell cotton in Manchester through a certain person. He used to forward applications to Egypt, and if accepted exchange documents and receive his commission. Goods used to be shipped C. I. F., from Egypt and payments made by bills drawn on the buyers and discounted in Egypt. The firm were under no obligation to do business through that individual nor was he prevented from doing business for others. Held his position was only that of a broker and the Egyptian firm could not be said to be exercising a trade within the United Kingdom in order to be taxable. It cannot be laid down that whenever a contract is made in England, trade is necessarily exercised there. WILCOCK v. PINTO AND COMPANY.

(1924) 1 K. B. 304.

—Foreign possessions—Shares—Income from—Basis of assessment—Income-tax Act, 1918, Sch. D, Case V, R. 1.

A person who possessed shares in a Company in Ceylon received dividends in England in respect thereof for 3 years. For the fourth year no dividend was declared, but he was sought to be assessed under Sch. D, Case V on the average dividend for the three preceding years. Held the liability to pay income-tax depends not on the possession of shares in the year of assessment but upon the receipt of profit in that year. In the absence of such receipt there was no liability to pay income-tax. (1921) 2 A. C. 22 followed. WHELAN v. HENNING.

(1924) 2 K. B. 421.

—Income arising or accruing—Meaning of—Debt accruing but unpaid—Difference between.

The words "income arising or accruing" are not equivalent to the words "debts arising or accruing" as the former means money arising or accruing by way of income. Where the amount has not actually been received, a debt has accrued but income has not. But from this it does not follow that income is confined to what the taxpayer actually receives. ST. LUCIA UNINES AND ESTATES CO., LTD. v. COLONIAL TREASURER OF ST. LUCIA.

(1924) A. C. 508.

INCOME TAX.

———Lands leased to grow potatoes—Occupation of lands—Profits made by lessee by sale of potatoes—Assessment—Basis of—Sch. B or Sch. D, Income-tax Act, 1918.

Certain merchants dealing in potatoes took out on annual lease lands for growing potatoes. The owner was to be paid rent, and in addition was to supply labour for which also so much per acre was paid. Held in respect of profits made by sale of potatoes, the merchants would be assessable under Sch. B as persons in occupation of lands and not under Sch. D of the Income-tax Act, 1918. BACK v. DANIELS.

(1924) 2 K. B. 432.

———Salary of employee—Payment of tax by employer voluntarily—Basis of assessments—8 and 9 George V. C. 40, Sch. E.

Where an employer voluntarily pays the income-tax on the salary of his employee, the amount of such payment should be added to the salary actually received by the latter for ascertaining his income for purpose of income-tax. HARTLAND v. DIGGINES.

(1924) 2 K. B. 168.

———Trustee under a settlement—Provision for remuneration—If an employee—Liability to tax—Income-tax Act, 1918, Sch. V, Case II.

Under the terms of a deed of settlement, a person was appointed trustee and out of the income arising from the trust funds he was to draw out £100 per annum as remuneration. Held he is in no sense an employee and as such it did not represent remuneration in respect of any employment, and he could not be taxed under Sch. D, Case II of the Income-tax Act. The amount was only an annual payment falling within Case III, R. 1. BAXENDALE v. MURPHY.

(1924) 2 K. B. 494.

INDEMNITY—Right to when arises—Trustee and beneficiary—Breach of duty—Third party procedure.

A right to indemnity generally arises from contract, express or implied, but it is not confined to cases of contract. The right exists where the relation between the parties is such that either in law or in equity there is an obligation upon the one party to indemnify the other. A trustee who acts in breach of trust may be liable to indemnify the cestuis que trust if he commits a breach of trust.

A shipping company was allowed by the owners of a wharf permission to berth their ships on payment of the daily charges and they were also liable for the damages caused. The managing director of the shipping company berthed a private ship of his without the Company's authority and caused damage to the wharf. The owners of the wharf sued the company for damages, whereupon the latter served a third party notice on their manager and claimed indemnity. Held the managing director stood in a fiduciary position to the company and law implied a promise on his part to pay all damages caused by berthing a ship just in the same way as the company itself. The company was entitled to join him as a third party and claim indemnity from him. EASTERN SHIPPING COMPANY, LIMITED v. QUAH BENG KEE.

(1924) A. C. 117.

INSURANCE.

INJUNCTION—Interlocutory injunction—Registered design—Infringement of.

In an action for infringement of a registered design, where the registration is recent and there is a genuine dispute about it, the Court will refuse to grant an interlocutory injunction, as a general rule. SMITH v. GRIGG, LIMITED.

(1924) 1 K. B. 655.

INSPECTION—Right of—Books and accounts of Trade Union—Help of assistant—Case of companies and partners.

A member of a Trade Union has a right to inspect the books and accounts of the Union and may in proper case employ an agent such as an accountant to assist him. This principle is not confined to trade unions, but applies to members of companies, partners and others.

The onus of establishing that the help of an assistant is sought for mala fide is upon the persons who resist inspection. (1909) 1 Ch. 561 folld. DODD v. AMALGAMATED MARINE WORKERS UNION.

(1924) 1 Ch. 116.

INSURANCE—Life policy—Money payable to daughter if alive at the end of term of years—Death of policy holder within period—Policy amount is part of the estate of deceased—Trust.

A policy of insurance was taken out by a man and it was stated therein that at the end of the period fixed the amount was to be paid over to his daughter if she was then alive. The assured died before the expiry of the period fixed. Held, the policy amount belonged to the estate of the assured and should be paid to his executors. There was no legal estate vested in the daughter and being no party to the contract she could not sue thereon, nor could the assured be said to have constituted himself a trustee for his daughter. (1892) 1 Q. B. 147 folld. In re ENGELBACH'S ESTATE : TIBBETTS v. ENGELBACH.

(1924) 2 Ch. 348.

———Marine—Affidavit of ship's papers—Order for discovery—Form of.

In an action based on a marine insurance policy, the underwriters are entitled to a much wider discovery than are other litigants in an ordinary commercial case. They can require the production not only of documents in the possession of persons interested in the insurance, but all material documents irrespective of whether they are in the possession of interested persons or not. If the plaintiff satisfies the Court that he has made all reasonable endeavours to get the papers from a person over whom he has no control but has been unable to get them, the Court will usually dispense with their production. TEVERIA MODERIA FRANCO ESPANOLA v. NEW ZEALAND INSURANCE COMPANY.

(1924) 1 K. B. 79.

———Marine—Perils of the sea—Scuttling of ship—Connivance of owner—Effect.

A ship was insured against "perils of the sea and of all other perils, losses, misfortunes that shall come to the hurt, detriment or damage of the ship." She was lost by scuttling through the connivance of the owner. Held by Viscount Cave, Viscount Finlay and Lord Parmoor (Lord Sumner dissenting) the loss was not due to a peril of the sea and hence was not covered by the policy.

INSURANCE.

In all such cases it should first be determined what was the proximate cause of the loss. The term "perils of the sea" refers only to fortuitous accident or casualties of the seas.

Case-law and effect of Statute fully considered.
F. SAMUEL AND CO., LTD. v. DUMAS

(1924) A. C. 431.

INSURANCE POLICY—Mortgage to company—Subsequent assignment to wife—Assignor's Estate—Liability to redeem.

An insurance policy holder borrowed some money from the Insurance Company on a mortgage of the policy and entered into a covenant with them to pay the same himself. He then assigned the policy to his wife without disclosing the existence of the mortgage. On his death the company gave the insurance amount to the widow deducting the amount due under the mortgage. Held, the deceased being also under a personal liability to pay the amount due, the estate of the deceased was bound to pay the widow the amount deducted by the Insurance Company. (1907) 2 Ch. 465 folld. In re BEST: PARKER v. BEST.

(1924) 1 Ch. 42.

INTERROGATORIES—Question of foreign law—When allowed—Practice.

Questions of foreign law are treated in English Courts as questions of fact, but the only evidence which is admissible to prove it is that of experts skilled in such law. It is not enough to show the man in fact knows the law on the point; he must be one who from his training may be expected to know the law. When an interrogatory is sought to be served on the defendant on a question of Dutch Law, the plaintiff must first establish that the person interrogated is a competent witness. PERLAK PETROLEUM MAATSCHAPPIJ v. DEEN.

(1924) 1 K. B. 111.

JUDICIAL SEPARATION—Jurisdiction—Test of domicile or residence.

In proceedings for judicial separation domicile gives jurisdiction to the court; so also where the respondent resides within the jurisdiction of the court, case-law and the history of legislation dealt with. EUSTACE v. EUSTACE.

(1924) P. 45.

JURISDICTION—Objection to—Waiver—Effect.

An action before a Judge was referred for trial to the Official Referee. Under S. 36 of the Rules of the Supreme Court, it was to go to one of the Official Referees in rotation, but it was actually taken up and tried before a Referee who would not come in by rotation. The facts became known to the parties at some stage of the trial or other, but in spite of it, the case was allowed to proceed. Held that the irregularity has been waived by the parties and did not vitiate the trial.

Per Bankes, L. J.—The Rules of the Supreme Court relating to the distribution of business are rules of procedure and do not touch the question of jurisdiction at all. SHRAGER v. BASIL DIGHTON LTD. AND OTHERS.

(1924) 1 K. B. 274 (C. A.)

LANDLORD AND TENANT—Breach of covenant—Mesne profits—Assessment of.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

Where a landlord enforces his right of re-entry for breach of covenant and he is awarded mesne profits in addition to possession, the former is to be calculated as from the date of writ and not from the date of breach of covenant, because until the determination of the lease by the writ, his possession was under the lease and hence not wrongful. (1923) 1 Ch. 422 affirmed. ELLIOT v. BOYNTON

(1924) 1 Ch. 236.

—Covenant against alienation—"Assign or part with"—Meaning of—If includes subletting.

A lease contained a covenant against alienation in the following words:—"The lessee shall not assign or part with this lease or the premises hereby demised". Held by Bankes and Atkinson, L. J. (Scrutton, L. J. not deciding the question) the expression "assign or part with" means parting with the whole interest in the premises or in part thereof but do not include a sub-letting of part of the premises. Courts should put a strict construction on the words of a covenant which if broken entails forfeiture. RUSSEL v. BEECHAM.

(1924) 1 K. B. 525.

—Dwelling house—Alterations in house—First floor not materially altered but improved—Lessee if can claim apportionment.

A dwelling house which had been originally let as a whole was afterwards altered structurally and substantially at an enormous expense by the landlord in order to facilitate its being let out separately to various tenants and the identity of the house was destroyed. One particular floor was not altered structurally but improvements were made adding to the comfort and convenience of the lodgers. The tenant applied for the apportionment of the rent on the basis of what the house fetched when it was let out as a whole in order to determine the standard rent. Held, as the dwelling house taken as a whole had been so materially altered as to lose its identity, the tenant of the first floor was not entitled to the Relief claimed. The policy of the increase of Rent and Mortgage Interest (Restrictions) Act of 1920 was to encourage landlords and not to hamper them in adding to the number of dwelling houses. STOCKHAM v. EASTON.

(1924) 1 K. B. 52.

—Ejectment—Suit for portion only of demised premises—If maintainable.

It is open to the plaintiff in an action in ejectment after expiry of a lease or after valid notice to quit to recover only part of the demised premises, as for example when he has resumed possession of part of the premises already. SALTER v. LASK.

(1924) 1 K. B. 754.

—Forfeiture—Covenant not to sublet without permission—Period of subletting—Breach.

Under the terms of a lease, the lessee was not to sublease the premises without the consent of the lessor, but this clause was not to apply to subleases of the whole or part for terms of less than 3 years. The lessee sublet a portion on a weekly tenancy and then sublet the remainder for a period exceeding 3 years, in both cases without taking the consent of the landlord. The latter brought an action to recover possession of the premises for breach of covenant. Held, so far as the weekly tenancy was concerned, no consent was necessary; while as regards the sublease of the remainder also, no consent was necessary as it was not a sublease of the whole of the premises. Nor does the fact that the two sublettings taken together constituted a subletting of the whole amount to a breach of the covenant. (1923) A. C. 578 distinguished. ROBERTS v. ENLAYDE, LTD. (1924) 1 K. B. 335.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

— Lease of portion of premises to tenant—Remainder in landlord's possession—Roof—Duty to repair—Negligence—Liability.

A landlord who lets out a portion of his house to a tenant and keeps the rest in his possession is under an obligation to take reasonable care that the premises retained in his occupation are not in such a condition as to cause damage to the parts demised to the tenant. Where the roof and guttering attached thereto were in his possession but through defects in the latter the roof became damp and in spite of notices the landlord did not repair the same he is liable in damages for injury caused thereby to the tenant's health. The fact that the landlord has expressly agreed to do certain specific repairs in which the repair of roof is not included does not relieve him of all duty to take reasonable care about the same. Basis of liability and case law referred to. COCKBURN v. SMITH. (1924) 2 K. B. 119.

— Lease for 95 years—Covenant to keep premises well and sufficiently repaired—Damages—Measure of—Test—Commencement of lease to be looked to.

Some newly constructed houses were leased out for a period of 95 years and the lessee covenanted to keep the premises well and sufficiently repaired. At the end of the term an action was brought for damages for breach of this covenant. Held reversing the decision of McCardie, J. in (1923) 2 K. B. 573 that in assessing damages, the lessee's liability should be measured from the standpoint of the requirements of tenants at the commencement of the lease and not the end of it.

Per Bankes, L. J.—The principle laid down in Proudfoot v. Hart, 25 Q. B. D. 42 is not of general application; it applies only to short term leases in which the class of tenants at the end of the tenancy would be the same as at the commencement and hence the standard of repairs required would be the same. In the case of long period leases the age of the buildings is the dominant feature and the locality and class of tenants is only taken into account in relation to or as a consequence of the age of the buildings. The decision in Morgan v. Hardy, 17 Q. B. D. 770 lays down the proper test in such cases.

Per Scrutton, L. J.—The Court in such cases should look to the character of the house and its ordinary uses at the time of the demise. It must then be put in repair and kept in repair. An improvement of its tenants or its neighbourhood will not increase the standard of repair nor will their deterioration lower that standard.

Per Atkin, L. J.—The repairs are such as are needful and necessary for the maintenance of the structure so that it may be expected to last for its normal life if properly kept in repair. ANSTRUTHER GOUGH CALTHORPE v. MCOSCAR.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

(1924) 1 K. B. 716.

— Monthly tenancy—Notice to quit—Validity.

In the case of a monthly tenancy as in the case of a tenancy weekly, the period of the notice to quit must correspond with the length of the tenancy and must determine at the end of a periodic month from the commencement of tenancy. A notice to quit is always strictly construed and cannot be afterwards amended by the party who serves it. PRECIOUS v. REEDIE.

(1924) 2 K. B. 149.

— Notice to quit—What to contain—Months—Lunar or calendar—Legal and business documents—Distinction between.

A notice to quit, though it need not actually name the date for quitting, must indicate with reasonable clearness when possession will be demanded or given, so that the other party may know what is required of him, and the time must be the proper time as provided by the lease. If it is so worded as to mislead the other party or leave him in complete doubt as to when possession must be given, or if it is for a wrong date, it is a bad notice. If the notice is subject to uncertainty, it is bad in law. The term "months" in legal documents, which are not business or commercial documents, refers to lunar months. But the context may show the parties meant calendar months. Slight evidence is sufficient to show that calendar months were meant. The lease of a public house is a business document and the word "months" used therein means calendar months. PHIPPS AND CO., LTD. v. ROGERS. (1924) 2 K. B. 45.

— Property tax—Repairs executed by tenant in lieu of first year's rent—Tax paid by tenant—If can be deducted from next year's rent—Income-tax Act, 1918, Sch. A, No. VIII, R. 1—If recoverable from landlord.

A tenant who under an agreement with his landlord puts the demised premises in repair at his own expense, the agreement with the landlord being that no rent should be payable for the first year cannot deduct from the rent for the second year the property tax levied from him under Sch. A, No. VIII, R. 1 of the Income-tax Act, 1918. That rule applies only to cases where rent is payable for the year in which the tax was paid. Nor could the amount paid as tax be recovered as money paid for the use of the landlord, since the liability to pay the tax is on the tenant and he is statutorily entitled only to deduct it from the rent. DRUGHORN v. MOORE. (1924) A. C. 53.

— Statutory tenant—Who is—Interest if can be assigned.

A person whose tenancy has been determined by notice to quit but who has remained in possession against the will of the landlord on account of the provisions of some statute is known as a "statutory tenant". The term is a misnomer for he is not a tenant at all. His right is purely a personal one and cannot be assigned, under the Increase of Rent Act, 1920. KEEVES v. DEAN.

(1924) 1 K. B. 685.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

—Weekly tenancy—Notice to quit—Duration of notice—When to expire—Possession if can be required on or before a certain date.

A weekly tenancy commenced on a Saturday and a notice to quit was served on a "Friday for the termination of the tenancy one week from Monday next, on or before which vacant possession is required" Held the notice to quit was invalid.

Per Lush, J.—Quære whether a notice to quit can be said to be valid if the landlord mentions a specific date for the termination of the tenancy and adds that "on or before" that date possession will be required?

In the case of a weekly tenancy, a week's notice to quit is what is valid in law. In all periodical tenancies whether they be yearly, quarterly, monthly or weekly, the notice to quit must expire at the end of the current period and not in the middle of it.

Case-law discussed, QUEEN'S CLUB GARDENS ESTATES, LIMITED v. BIGNELL.

(1924) 1 K. B. 117.

LEASE—Construction—Option to buy during currency of lease—Extension of lease—If option extended.

A lease for a period of three years contained an option given to the lessee to purchase the freehold at a named sum during the currency of the lease. Just before the expiry of the term, the parties informally agreed to extend the period of the lease. Held the extension applied to all the provisions of the lease, collateral or otherwise and hence the period for exercising the option to purchase the freehold was also extended, SHERWOOD v. TUCKER.

(1924) 2 Ch. 42.

—Period of three years—Option to purchase within the period of three years—Renewal of lease—If option also renewed.

A tenancy agreement for a period of 3 years gave the lessee an option to purchase the property "during the three years" provided by the lease. The lease was subsequently renewed for a fresh term of 3 years. Held reversing the decision of Astbury, J. in (1924) 2 Ch. D. 42, the period for exercising the option was not thereby extended. In all such cases an essential distinction is to be drawn between the demise and the contract under which the option to purchase is given.

*Per Warrington, L. J.—*An option of purchase is not to be regarded as a provision incident to the relation of landlord and tenant but is a matter collateral and independent of it. SHERWOOD v. TUCKER.

(1924) 2 Ch. 440.

LIBEL—Defence of fair comment—Rolled up plea—What is—Particulars—When to be ordered.

A party is entitled to an order for particulars only for the purpose of ascertaining the nature of the opponent's case that he has to meet and not for the purpose of ascertaining the evidence by which his opponent purposes to prove it.

Where in an action for defamation the defendant has pleaded fair comment in general, i. e. on matters of public interest without indicating what those matters are an order for particulars should be made.

MASTER AND SERVANT.

Where the rolled up plea, i. e., "In so far as the words consist of allegations of fact the said words are in their natural and ordinary meaning true in substance and fact and in so far as the said words consist of expressions of opinion they are fair comment made in good faith and without malice for the benefit of the public upon the said facts which are a matter of public interest?" is set up in an action for libel, particulars are rarely ordered, because it is for the jury to decide to which class the different statements belong. THE AGA KHAN v. TIMES PUBLISHING COMPANY.

(1924) 1 K. B. 675.

MARINE INSURANCE—Loss of goods—Constructive loss followed by actual loss—No notice of abandonment for several years—Liability of underwriter.

Where by a peril insured against, there is a constructive total loss and no notice of abandonment is given, then if in the ordinary course of an unbroken sequence of events following upon the peril insured against the constructive loss becomes an actual total loss, e. g., capture followed by confiscation, the underwriter is liable in respect of the total loss. If, however, the total loss is not the result of a sequence of events following in the ordinary course upon the peril insured against but is the result of some supervening cause, the underwriter is not liable. It is an illustration of the doctrine, proxima causa non remota spectatur.

Goods insured against loss by restraint of princes were being carried in an Austrian ship. Before the voyage was completed on account of the imminence of war, the goods were landed on the way, the voyage being abandoned. No notice of abandonment was given and subsequently the Austrian Government requisitioned the goods for war purposes. Held there was an original constructive total loss when in the middle of the voyage the goods were abandoned, but as no notice was given for an unreasonable period of 5 years, a cause of action against the underwriters could not be based on that loss. The subsequent confiscation was an actual total loss, but it was not the necessary and direct result of the original peril, the restraint of princes and hence would not afford a cause of action against the underwriter. FOOKS v. SMITH.

(1924) 2 K. B. 508.

MASTER AND SERVANT—Mine—Accumulation of inflammable gas—Negligence in inspection—Liability for injury in Common Law and under Employers' Liability Act, 1880.

On account of defects in the ventilation of a mine and the negligence in inspecting, inflammable gas accumulated in a section of the mine to such an extent as to become explosive if light were applied to it. Held (by the majority of the House of Lords, Lords Phillimore and Blanesburgh dissenting) it was a defect within the meaning of the Employers' Liability Act and the master was liable for personal injuries suffered by a workman as the result of an explosion. Per Lord Dunedin (Lord Blanesburgh dubitante) the owner of the mine could not be responsible at Law for the negligence of the fireman in allowing the gas to accumulate. JAMES NIMONS AND COMPANY, LTD. v. CONNELL.

(1924) A. C. 595.

MONEY-LENDER.

MONEY-LENDER—Promissory note—Heavy bonus taken—High rate—Pledge of furniture—Court's power to relieve against terms—Money-lenders' Act, S. 1.

A lady on receiving £300 from a moneylender executed to him a promissory note for £500, the amount being payable in 24 monthly instalments. Interest was 60 p. c. and if default was made in any payment the whole would become payable at once. As security, the moneylender took possession of furniture which had been insured for £500 and which was purchased a year before for £1,750. If payments were duly made the average rate of interest would work out at 82½ p. c. while if there was default in the 1st instalment, rate of interest would work out at something like 1,000 p. c. The lady made default in the first payment and came to Court asking for relief against the terms of the contract. Held in the case of a person heavily in debt resorting to a moneylender, the rate of 82½ p. c. would not be so excessive as of itself to make the contract harsh or unconscionable if the loan had been made purely on personal security. But where it was adequately secured by the goods pledged, a rate of interest which might not have been regarded as excessive for a loan on personal security becomes outrageous and extortionate for an advance upon good security. The transaction was unconscionable and the court directed the contract to stand as a security for £300 with interest at 15 p. c. and the plaintiff was also directed to pay the costs of the storage of furniture and of the insurance. KRUSE v. LEELEY. (1924) 1 Ch. 136.

MORTGAGE—Receiver—Suit for foreclosure—Possession—If can be taken up.

In an action for foreclosure or sale, if a receiver has been appointed to collect rents and profits the Court should direct him to be put in possession of the mortgaged properties if the mortgagor is in possession and if the court thinks in its discretion such an order is necessary. PRATCHETT v. DREW. (1924) 1 Ch. 280.

MORTGAGE OF SHARES—Mortgagee selling part of shares—Breach of contract—Damages—Set off—Basis of accounting

The principle that a mortgagee will not be permitted to sue his mortgagor for the debt, if he has parted with the mortgaged property otherwise than in exercise of the power of sale or with the concurrence of the mortgagor is based on the right which every mortgagor has for a reconveyance of the property on redemption. If a mortgagee, although unable to perform this duty insisted on suing on the covenant to pay, the courts of equity interfered. There is no reason why the principle should not be applied where the mortgaged property consists of investments.

Where a mortgagee of a large number of shares sells away some of the shares without the consent of the mortgagor and thereafter becomes insolvent, the trustee in bankruptcy can sue on the mortgage without offering to replace the shares sold. The Court in taking accounts will set off against the amount due the market value of the shares as on the date on which the shares ought to be restored to the mortgagor. The date on which damages ought to be ascertained is not the date of sale of the shares or when the mortgagor had first notice of the sale or the date of the receiving order. ELLIS AND COMPANY'S TRUSTEE v. DIXON JOHNSON. (1924) 1 Ch. 342.

NEGLIGENCE.

MOTOR CAR—License—Contravention of terms of—Master how far liable for acts of servant.

Under certain Regulations framed for regulating traffic along the roads, a limited trade license was issued to the respondents according to which a motor car used by them was not to contain more than two persons in addition to the driver. Without the knowledge of the respondents and contrary to their express directions, one of their servants drove a car containing more than the fixed number of persons. Held failure to observe the conditions imposed by the license rendered the owners liable to the penalty thereunder. Neither the fact that they had taken precautions to prevent a breach of the Regulations nor the fact that the act was done by their servant contrary to orders affected their liability. GRIFFITHS v. STUDEBAKERS, LIMITED. (1924) 1 K. B. 102.

NEGLIGENCE—Attempt to rescue husband from danger—Injury without impact—Liability—Remoteness of damage.

While a husband and wife were doing some shopping, the skylight of the roof which was then under repair gave way and a pane of glass fell on the husband. The wife who was close to the husband saw the glass fall and clutching his arm tried to pull him. No glass fell on her, but she strained her leg severely. In an action for damages, held both husband and wife were entitled to it. The act of the wife in trying to pull her husband cannot be said to amount to contributory negligence. Where a person sustains injury through combination of acts some done by the defendant and some by himself, it is for the jury to say having regard to all the circumstances, whether (i) the injury is the natural and probable consequence of the defendant's act and (ii) whether the plaintiff is guilty of contributory negligence. BRANDON v. OSBORNE GARRETT & Co. (1924) 1 K. B. 458.

—Contributory negligence—Plea of—What defendant has to establish.

Per Lords Atkinson and Shaw.—In order that a defendant could sustain a plea of contributory negligence he must establish that he himself could not by the exercise of reasonable care and diligence have avoided the consequences of the plaintiff's negligence. This principle applies also to cases of collision on the Admiralty Side. DAVIES v. MANN. 10 M. and W 546 foll. ANGLO-NEWFOUNDLAND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY, LTD. v. PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY. (1924) A. C. 406.

—Motor-car—Friend of owner driving the car—Accident—Liability of owner—Extent of.

The owner of a car was going in it with some of his friends the car being actually driven by one of the latter. Owing to the negligence of the driver, one of the company sustained damages as the result of an accident and died. In an action for damages against the owner under Lord Campbell's Act, held as the owner was in the car and had not abandoned control of the car, he was liable. (1912) A. C. 844 followed. PRATT v. PATRICK AND OTHERS. (1924) 1 K. B. 488.

NEGLIGENCE.

———Owner of flat—Workman repairing and decorating—Defective balcony—Death due to fall—Liability of owner—Licensee and invitee—Difference.

The lessees of a flat employed a firm of contractors to repair and decorate the same. After finishing the work, one of the workmen went to the balcony where the firm's advertisement had been hung up and when removing the board the balustrade gave way and the workman fell down and died. It was found that the balcony was in a dangerous condition and the owners knew of it or ought to have known it. In a suit by the widow of the deceased under the Fatal Accidents Act for compensation, held the workman was in the position of a licensee with an interest whose rights were the same as those of an invitee and hence the defendants were liable as they knew or ought to have known of the defective condition of the balcony.

The responsibility of an occupier of premises to a bare licensee is merely not to set a trap for him, and apart from dangers which the occupier knows and the licensee does not know, the licensee must take the premises as he finds them. There is no material difference between the position of a licensee with an interest and an invitee both of whom stand in a better position than a bare licensee. In their case the occupier is bound to see the premises are reasonably safe and if they are not safe and the owners could know of their dangerous condition and negligently did not know of it, they are liable for damages caused. SUTCLIFFE v. CLIENTS INVESTMENT COMPANY, LTD. (1924) 2 K. B. 746.

———Trespass of animals—Liability of owner.

The general rule of law is that a man is liable for the trespass of his cattle. But this rule does not apply to damage caused by a horse straying off a highway in which it lawfully was and the owner is liable only on proof of negligence.

Where a pony and van, wholly unattended, dash into the plaintiff's shop window adjoining a highway, there is a prima facie proof of negligence and unless the owner satisfactorily explains the situation, he is liable in damages.

Case-law and principles fully discussed. GAYLER AND POPE, LTD. v. B. DAVIES & SON, LTD. (1924) 2 K. B. 75.

NUISANCE—Public and private—Derelict land—Fire arising from rubbish—Liability of owner—Knowledge if essential.

Rubbish which had been heaped on the adjoining lands of plaintiffs and defendants, with the knowledge and consent of the latter but not of the former, went on smouldering for some months. The defendants finding it on fire on the land of the plaintiffs called upon them to extinguish it and later under an agreement with the plaintiffs extinguished the same, leaving the question of legal liability open. In an action brought by the plaintiffs for a declaration they were not liable to pay any part of the costs incurred, held by the majority of the Court of Appeal (Scrutton, L. J. dissenting) it did not amount to a public nuisance and in the absence of evidence that they caused the fire or continued it or were negligent with respect to it, the plaintiffs were entitled to the declaration sought for.

PETITION OF RIGHT.

Per Banks, L. J.—In the case of a public nuisance when once its existence becomes known to the owner or occupier it is his duty to abate it or endeavour to abate it, even though he is entirely innocent of either causing the nuisance or of allowing it to continue. The same standard of duty is not required in the case of injury resulting from a private nuisance on his land. In such a case, the person threatened with injury has the exceptional right to enter upon the land and abate the nuisance.

Per Scrutton, L. J.—A landowner in possession is liable for a nuisance created by a trespasser which causes damage to others, if he could, after he knows or ought to have known of it, prevent by reasonable care its spreading.

Per Astbury, J.—The mere omission by the occupier of premises to abate a nuisance created thereon without his authority and against his will does not amount to a continuance of it by him so as to render him responsible for it. JOB EDWARDS, LTD. v. THE COMPANY OF PROPRIETORS OF THE BIRMINGHAM NAVIGATIONS. (1924) 1 K. B. 341.

PERPETUITIES—Will—Annuity to daughter and then to her husband—Family arrangement—Powers of lease—Life of surviving husband contemplated—Power void.

By means of a will, the testator directed the trustees appointed thereunder to pay annuities for life to his daughters and after the death of the daughters to their husbands (if any) for life. After the death of the testator, a family arrangement was entered into, to which the daughters were parties, according to which power of leasing the estate for periods not exceeding 99 years was given to the lessees and the trust under the will were incorporated in the same, Held as the power of leasing is exercisable at any time during the life of the surviving husband of a daughter, who will not necessarily be a person who was alive at the time of the family arrangement, it was one which would be capable of being exercised so as to create a new interest in the land for the first time after the perpetuity period had expired and hence was void as being contrary to the rule of perpetuities.

Per Warrington, L. J.—If a power of this sort which is inserted in a settlement is capable of being put an end to or of itself comes to an end with the determination of the trust within a period not affected by the rule against perpetuities, then the power is good although there are no express words limiting its execution to such period. In re ALLOTT HANMER v. ALLOTT, (1924) 2 Ch. 498.

PETITION OF RIGHT—Amendment—Powers of—Limits.

PETITION OF RIGHT.

A Court in England has got power to allow an amendment in a Petition of Right provided it does not substantially alter the cause of action.

Per Bankes, L. J.—The amendment of the petition in such a way as substantially to deprive the Crown of the right to refuse the fiat, such as an amendment which introduced an entirely fresh cause of action in respect of which the Crown had never an opportunity of considering whether it would grant a fiat or not, would be inconsistent with the Petition of Right Act, 1860 and therefore not permissible.

Per Atkin, L. J.—The test in every case would be:—Is the Court satisfied by the representatives of the Crown that there is no reasonable probability that if the petition as amended had been presented in the first instance the fiat would not have been granted? There is no authority to support the view that the power of amendment is limited to amendments of the Crown's answer. BADMAN BROTHERS v. THE KING.

(1924) 1 K. B. 64.

POOR LAW—Wilful refusal or neglect to work—Willingness to work but prohibition by Trade Union—Effect—Vagrancy Act.

Under the Vagrancy Act a person "wilfully refusing and neglecting to maintain himself and his family" was liable to be convicted. The evidence in a case showed the person convicted was willing to work and did work at a certain rate of wages, but that his Trade Union informed him not to work for less than the Union rate or otherwise action would be taken against him under the rules. Held on these facts a Court is competent to conclude that there was no wilful refusal or neglect to work within the meaning of the Act. LEWISHAM UNION GUARDIANS v. NICE.

(1924) 1 K. B. 618.

PRINCIPAL AND AGENT—Agency of necessity—Applicability of doctrine—Sale of goods—Impossibility of delivery or communicating with buyer—Resale—When valid.

A firm of merchants in Rumania purchased some furs through their agents in England. On account of the German occupation of Rumania it was not possible for the agent to communicate with the principals or send the goods to them till the war was over. They therefore sold the goods, but the evidence disclosed there was no necessity to sell nor was the act of sale bona fide. In an action for conversion of goods and for damages, held the defendants were not agents of necessity and were liable.

The doctrine of agency of necessity took its rise from maritime adventure and under the doctrine in cases of necessity the master of a ship has power and it is his duty to sell the goods in order to save their value or some part of it. The doctrine is not now confined to shipmaster cases; its basic principle is a good and useful one.

In the case of sale of goods the doctrine cannot apply unless the agent is unable to communicate with the principal. The agent has next to prove that sale was necessary—an actual and definite commercial necessity. Then he must prove that he was acting bona fide in the interests of his principal. PRAGER v. BLATSPIEL STAMP AND HEACOCK, LIMITED.

(1924) 1 K. B. 566.

RESTRICTIVE COVENANTS.

—Extent of agent's authority—Sale of goods—Right to receive payment of price.

There is no hard and fast rule of law that an agent employed to sell has necessarily power to receive the price. In an action by the seller of goods against the buyer for the price, it would be open to the latter who had paid the agent to show either that the agent had actual authority to receive payment, or that he had ostensible authority by reason of the fact that the payment was made to him in the ordinary course of the business of agencies of the kind in question. BUTWICK v. GRANT. (1924) 2 K. B. 483.

—Vendor carrying on business on vendee's account—Indemnity clause—Super-tax paid—Right to reimbursement.

Where under the terms of a contract of sale the vendor is to remain in possession until completion and to carry on the business for the benefit of the vendee and was to be entitled to indemnity he can recover from the latter supertax paid with respect to it. The fact that supertax is imposed only on individuals and not on companies and that the vendee happens to be a company does not affect the agent's right to indemnity. ADAMS v. MORGAN AND COMPANY, LIMITED.

(1924) 1 K. B. 751.

QUO WARRANTO PROCEEDINGS—Nature and incidents of—Relief discretionary.

The grant of quo warranto process is to some extent discretionary. The Crown Office practice requires that an application for quo warranto must be made by a competent relator and the Court will exert inquiry on the point. The application is to be by way of motion and not by means of an action. The relator is to file a verifying affidavit and the defendant who does not want to defend can "enter a disclaimer". As distinguished from an action, a "judgment of ouster" can be given in proper cases. The Court can and will inquire into the conduct and motives of the relator. EVERETT v. GRIFFITHS. (1924) 1 K. B. 941.

RESTITUTION OF CONJUGAL RIGHTS—Suit for—Sincerity of applicant.

In an action for restitution of conjugal rights it is essential that the petitioner should prove a sincere desire for the relief claimed, with a corresponding willingness to render conjugal rights to the other spouse. HARNETT v. HARNETT. (1924) P. 126.

—Suit for—Absence of sincerity on the part of applicant—Effect.

The petitioner for restitution of conjugal rights should satisfy the Court that he or she sincerely desires the relief asked for. Before the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1857, the only defence to such petitions was that the petitioner had committed a matrimonial offence. The sincerity that is required to be proved is not inconsistent with an intention to take further proceedings in the Divorce Court if the course of refusal is persisted in. HARNETT v. HARNETT. (1924) P. 41.

RESTRICTIVE COVENANTS—Enforcement of—Original attachment to road—Subsequent vesting of road in Local Authority—Effect—Damages—Injunction—When granted.

RESTRICTIVE COVENANTS.

The owner of certain premises through which a road ran sold a part thereof to others and one of the conditions of the sale was that buildings erected thereon should only be used as private residences. The road was subsequently taken over by the local authority, and the defendant who became by subsequent purchase the owner of one of the houses fronting the road began to use it as a private nursing home. An action was begun by the representatives of the original covenantor and covenantee to enforce the original restrictive covenants. Held, after the road had become vested in the local authority, the successor in interest of the original owner has not got the surface of the road vested in himself but only an interest in the subsoil and hence has not such an interest in the road as entitles him to enforce the restrictive covenants. The land to which the benefit of a restrictive covenant can be attached must be land, the occupation or enjoyment of which is liable to be affected by the prohibited user.

Essentials of a building scheme discussed.

Per Tomlin, J.—In actions to enforce restrictive covenants, whether or not proof of damage is essential, where there is no priority of contract, the Court has to exercise judicial discretion with regard to granting an injunction and where there is no damages caused, damages in lieu of injunction ought not to be awarded. (Pollock, M. R. and Warrington, L. J. do not give a decision on this point but doubt its correctness.) KELLY v. BARRETT. (1924) 2 Ch. 379.

SHIPPING—Charterparty—Agreement to load alternative cargo—Prohibition of loading a particular cargo—Effect on charterer—Time for arranging alternative cargo.

Under the terms of a charterparty a ship was to be loaded with wheat, maize or rye. The charterers decided to load wheat, and while they were doing it, the export of wheat was prohibited from the particular port. Held, the decision to load wheat did not prevent the charterers from loading one of the other cargoes nor did the embargo on wheat exempt them from their liability to perform the contract by loading one of the other cargoes. Where a particular length of time was fixed for the loading the prohibition of wheat export entitled the charterers to a reasonable extension of time to make arrangements for loading another cargo or to wait and see if the prohibition would not be removed. BRIGHTMAN AND CO. v. BUNGEY BORN LIMITADA SOCIEDAD.

(1924) 2 K. B. 619.

—Collision—Damage due to two vessels—Judgment against one—If bars suit against the other—Joint tort-feasors—Who are.

Where by separate and independent acts of negligence on the part of two vessels, a third ship is sunk, a judgment obtained against one of them for a portion of the liability does not bar an action against the other. The cause of action against each is different and they are not joint tort-feasors simply because one damnum resulted from their acts; who are joint tort-feasors considered.

SHIPPING.

Per Bankes, L. J.—Quaere: How far the defendant in the subsequent action can credit anything obtained in the prior action? THE KOURSK. (1924) P. 140.

—Damage to cargo—Vessel unseaworthy—Defective rivet—Exemption clause in Bill of Lading—How far a defence.

Exceptions in a Bill of Lading do not apply to protect a ship-owner who furnishes an unseaworthy ship where the unseaworthiness causes damage, unless the exceptions are so worded as clearly to exclude or vary the warranty of seaworthiness. One of the exceptions in a Bill of Lading was for "any latent defects in hull". There was a defective rivet and this allowed water to flow in and damage the cargo. In a suit for damages, held the exemption clause did not qualify the implied warranty of seaworthiness and the shipowner was liable for the whole loss. THE CHRISTEL VINNEN. (1924) P. 208.

—Maritime lien—Damages for wrongful dismissal—Extent of lien—Wages.

A seaman has no maritime lien in respect of damages for wrongful dismissal from his service under a special contract of service. The lien in respect of wages under a seaman's simple contract of service is not limited to the wages actually earned on board the ship, but includes wages due after a wrongful dismissal.

The distinction between a claim for wages and a claim for damages under a seaman's contract which is broken is this. If there has been merely a breach of the contract by the employer the contract subsists and can be made the subject of a claim for wages. If the employer has repudiated the contract and it has been accepted by the seaman, the contract is at an end and only a claim for damages will lie. THE BRITISH TRADE.

(1924) P. 104.

—Salvage—Claim of ship repairers—Priority.

In a case of salvage, the claims of a ship repairer rank after the maritime liens already accrued. (1883) 9 P. D. 37: (1903) P. 26 followed. THE RUSSLAND.

(1924) P. 55.

—Salvage—Possession of salvors—Trespass—Jurisdiction to interfere.

Where certain salvors were for some time working on a wreck and had incurred considerable expense in salvage works, and thereafter another salvage company tried to work on the wreck, and interfere with the former's possession, held a suit in respect of injurious acts done upon the high seas was within the undisputed jurisdiction of the Court of Admiralty and the trespassers could be prevented by injunction from interfering with the rights of the first salvors.

The nature of the possession which will be protected by courts of law in such a case discussed. THE TUBANTIA.

(1924) P. 78.

—Writ in rem—Sovereign State—Intervention of—Effect—Writ to be set aside—Immunity from process.

A French Company issued a writ in rem claiming possession of a certain ship. A foreign Sovereign State entered appearance in protest and took out notice of motion to have the writ set aside. Held the writ should be set aside as otherwise it would be contrary to the principles of international comity to make a foreign Sovereign appear in an English Court to defend an action. THE JUPITER. (1924) P. 236.

SOVEREIGNTY.

SOVEREIGNTY—Status—Letter of Secretary of State—If conclusive in a court of law—Waiver—What amounts to—Submission to arbitration—Effect of.

Under an agreement between the Kelantan Government and an English Company, disputes arising thereunder was to be settled by arbitration and one such dispute was referred to arbitration. The Kelantan Government applied to the Chancery Division to have the award set aside, but were unsuccessful there, as well as in the Court of Appeal and the House of Lords. Thereafter the Company applied to the King's Bench to enforce the award, when the Government claimed immunity as a Sovereign State. In a requisition from the Court, the Secretary of State for the Colonies informed the Court that the Kelantan Government was an independent Sovereign State. Held it is the settled practice of English Courts when a question of sovereignty is raised to take judicial cognizance of the status of a foreign State and in cases of uncertainty to seek information from a Secretary of State, which would be conclusive on the matter. Rationale of the rule and tests of sovereignty explained.

Held also by the majority of the House of Lords (Lord Carson dissenting) neither the agreement to submit disputes to arbitration, nor appearing before the arbitrator, nor the attempts made to set aside the award in the English Courts amounted to a submission to the jurisdiction of the Court and as such the objection of Sovereign State could be raised in defence.

History of the law regarding enforcement of awards set out by Viscount Finlay.

The question whether a foreign Sovereign who submits to judgment thereby submits to execution under the judgment upon the property in England left open. DUFF DEVELOPMENT COMPANY, LTD. v. GOVERNMENT OF KELANTAN.

(1924) A. C. 797.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—Mistake—Rectification and specific performance if can be granted together—Effect of—Defeating statute of frauds.

Where a written contract entered into by the two parties does not express the true intention of the parties on account of a mutual mistake, it is open to a Court to rectify the mistake and direct specific performance of the rectified contract in one and the same action, although that would involve a partial variation contravening the statute of frauds. UNITED STATES OF AMERICA v. MOTOR TRUNKS LIMITED. (1924) A. C. 196.

STATUTE—Construction—Landlord and tenant—Excess rent paid—Suit for recovery—"Shall be recoverable within 6 months"—Filing of suit within 6 months if enough.

Under the Rent and Mortgage Interest Restrictions Act excess rent paid by a tenant could be recovered at any time within six months. Held it was sufficient compliance with the law if the action was brought within the six months and it was not necessary that judgment should have been recorded within that period. LEWIS v. MACKAY. (1924) 2 K. B. 136.

SUPER-TAX.

—Presumption of validity—If can be drawn—Illegal acts—Validity.

The Court of Appeal doubted if an Act of Parliament could be presumed to have been made and lost within the last hundred and fifty years in order to give validity to an act otherwise illegal. HARPER v. HEDGES. (1924) 1 K. B. 151.

—Provincial legislation—Conflict with Dominion—Construction—Statute—Effect.

By a treaty between the King of England and the Emperor of Japan the subjects of each were to have full liberty to reside in the territories of the other on the same basis as the citizens of the most favoured nation. That was declared to have the force of law throughout Canada by an Act of the Dominion Legislature. Subsequently the Legislature of British Columbia passed an enactment under which no Japanese were to be employed in connection with certain leases and concessions granted by the Columbian Government. Held the enactment was invalid as it violated the provision of the Dominion Legislation. ATTORNEY-GENERAL OF BRITISH COLUMBIA v. ATTORNEY GENERAL OF CANADA. (1924) A. C. 203.

SUCCESSION DUTY—Rate of payments—Alteration of rate by Finance Act.

The Finance Act of 1910 increasing the succession duty from 5 per cent to 10 per cent provides that increase shall take effect in the case of a succession arising under a disposition only if the first succession under the disposition arises on or after April 30th, 1909. A testator who died in 1900 bequeathed the fee of his heritage to a cousin subject to a life rent to the testator's mother who died in 1910.

Held, that the first succession arose in favour of the cousin at the death of the testator and the duty payable was only the smaller amount. (1921) 1 K. B. 159 considered. LORD ADVOCATE v. MACLISTER. (1924) A. C. 586.

SUPERTAX—Company—Winding up—Undivided profits of prior years—Distribution of—If profits.

Where a Company is wound up voluntarily and undistributed profits which have accumulated during past years is handed over to the shareholders, they cease to be profits because of the winding up and are assets. Hence they are not liable to supertax. INLAND REVENUE COMMISSIONERS v. GEORGE BURRELL. (1924) 2 K. B. 52.

—Non-resident assessee—Liability for—Service by post—Validity—Income-tax Act, 1918, S. 7.

A citizen of the United States resident there is liable to pay supertax in respect of annual profits and gains accruing to him in the United Kingdom. Where the Special Commissioners sent the assessee a notice by registered post requiring him to submit a return and on failure to do so, he was assessed by the Commissioners to the best of their judgment, held the notice was validly served and the assessment was perfectly valid. (1923) 2 K. B. 563 foll.

SUPER-TAX.

Super-tax is only an additional duty of income-tax but it does not follow that all statutory provisions with regard to income-tax or supertax are the same. S. 7 of the Income-tax Act, 1918, considered. There is no prima facie implication that the area within which a notice may be served is the area of territorial jurisdiction as in the case of a writ. WHITNEY v. COMMISSIONERS OF INLAND REVENUE.

(1924) 2 K. B. 602.

—Will—Trustee directed to accumulate surplus income and spend what is proper for minor's benefit—Amounts accumulated if income.

Under the terms of a will, trustees were directed to accumulate the surplus income of an estate and pay the guardian of a minor beneficiary such sums as they thought fit for his maintenance. After attaining majority, the minor was to receive all the amounts in the hands of the trustees. Held, during the period of minority, the surplus income accumulated was not income of the minor and as such not assessable to supertax. INLAND REVENUE COMMISSIONERS v. BLACKWELL.

(1924) 2 K. B. 351.

TORTS—Restraint of trade—Expulsion of member by Medical Association—Propriety of—Professional misconduct—Liability—Privilege.

A doctor of medicine, who was a member of the British Medical Association, was expelled by a Resolution of the Council which was duly confirmed at a general meeting, after being heard in his defence. One of the rules of the Association was that such an expelled member was not to be met in consultation or recognized, and the resolution was communicated to all the members in writing. In a suit for damages, held rules were not in restraint of trade; and the publication of the resolution being made on privileged occasions the Association was not liable.

If any body rightly convened and properly composed is burdened with the discharge of some judicial or quasi judicial duty affecting the rights, liberties or properties of a subject, makes as the result of a just and authorized form of procedure, a decision it has jurisdiction to make, that decision if legal evidence be given in the course of the proceeding adequate to sustain it, cannot in the absence of some fundamental error be impeached or set aside, save on the ground that this body was interested or biased by corruption or otherwise or influenced by malice in deciding as it did. THOMPSON v. NEW SOUTH WALES BRANCH OF THE BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

(1924) A. C. 164.

TRADE COMBINATION—Procuring withdrawal of supplies—Protection of trade interests—When legal—Cause of action to sue.

A union of newsgents in order to ward off certain newsgents who had set up shops in their area without their permission requested the plaintiff, one of their own members to withdraw his custom from the newsgents who supplied papers to the new-comers and transfer it to another. The defendants, a committee of newspaper proprietors thought the action of the union was wrong and threatened to cause a discontinuance of the supply of papers to the persons to whom the plaintiff had transferred his custom: they had not enquired into the merits of the original dispute but bona fide believed the action of the union was injurious to them. In an action by the plaintiff for an injunction restraining the defendants from procuring or attempting to procure a breach of contract, Held per curiam the defendants, even if their action was prima facie unlawful, were justified in adopting a policy which they honestly believed was necessary in the interests of their trade.

ULTRA VIRES.

Per Bankes, L. J.—The defendants had not committed any actionable wrong or done anything more than what the law allowed them to protect their interests. (1921) 3 K. B. 40 foll. SORRELL v. SMITH. (1924) 1 Ch. 506.

TRADE MARK—Goods imported from abroad—Claim to exclusive right of sale—Suit if maintainable.

The plaintiffs obtained from the manufacturers of a certain brand of cigarettes the trade-mark and good-will to sell them in India. The defendants purchased from some foreign purchasers a big stock of the same brand and were in a position to undersell the plaintiffs. Held in the absence of contract, misrepresentation or infringement of any rights, a suit was not maintainable at the instance of the plaintiff. So long as the defendants did nothing to mislead customer or to infringe any covenants, they were not liable. IMPERIAL TOBACCO CO. OF INDIA, LTD. v. BANNAN. (1924) A. C. 755.

TRADE NAME—Infringement—Word signifying brand and size—Seller to clear up ambiguity.

In the cigar market the term "Corona" used to imply cigars manufactured by a particular company; later on it also came to denote cigars of a particular size and shape. A hotel keeper when asked by one of his customers for a "Corona cigar" supplied one of the corona size and shape but of some other brand. In a passing off action for restraining him from doing so the defendants contended that the word being ambiguous in its meaning, it was not for them to clear up the ambiguity. Held, as the evidence showed that customers when they used the word intended to signify the brand and not the size or shape, an injunction should issue. The duty in such a case is on the hotel keeper to ascertain what was actually meant by the order or to indicate by word of mouth or otherwise that what was supplied was not a cigar of the corona brand. HAVANA CIGAR AND TOBACCO FACTORIES, LTD. v. ODDENINO. (1924) 1 Ch. 179.

ULTRA VIRES—Corporation—Statutory powers—Navigation of river—Right to increase tolls—Fettering of.

A Corporation entrusted by statute with the control and management of a river as they deemed necessary entered into an agreement with a firm allowing the latter the sole right to carry cargo across the river on payment of a fixed annual sum. Held as the effect was to bind the Corporation for a period, the duration of which depended on the volition of the firm, not to exercise their statutory powers of increasing the amount under any emergency whatsoever, agreements are ultra vires the Corporation. Such an agreement cannot become intra vires by reason of estoppel, lapse of time, ratification, acquiescence or delay. YORK CORPORATION v. HENRY LEETHAM & SONS, LTD.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER.

(1924) 1 Ch. 557.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER—Abstract of title—Recitals in one of the title deeds when binding—Incomplete abstract—If entitles vendee to rescind.

In the abstract of title furnished by a vendor, the title to the properties was traced to one X and after his death his administrator conveyed the properties to one Y by deed, reciting therein that Y had become entitled to the properties in equity. The vendee wanted to be satisfied how Y became entitled in equity. Held the vendee was entitled to go behind the recital as to Y's title; as the recital by the administrator would not bind the heirs of X but reasonable opportunity should be given to the vendor to supply a complete abstract of title and the vendee was not entitled to rescind the contract then and there on the basis of defect in title.

The principle entitling a vendor to rely upon a recital to the effect that a grantee to whom the property is conveyed is entitled in equity rests on this, that where a grantor is on the face of the abstract entitled legally and beneficially, he can admit and is bound by a recital of the equitable title of his grantee and that a purchaser taking from the grantee or his successor in title is not bound to inquire as to the instruments, acts in the law, and events which found the grantee's equitable title, and getting the legal estate will not be affected with notice of any adverse equitable claim if in fact the grantee's equitable title was defective. In re BALEN AND SHEPHERDS CONTRACT.

(1924) 2 Ch. 365.

—Agreement to pay deposit and the balance in instalments—Forfeiture of deposit in case of default—Rescission by vendor—Instalments if can be recovered.

A contract to sell land provided for an initial deposit and the payment of the balance in three instalments, the last being payable on a certain certificate being produced. There was a clause for forfeiture of the deposit in case of default. The deposit was made and the instalments were duly paid except the last one and the vendor after producing the certificate claimed the last instalment within a certain time. As it was not complied with, he rescinded the contract, whereupon the vendee sued for return of the instalments he had paid. Held the contract made a clear distinction between deposit and instalments and as it was only the former that was made forfeitable, the instalments paid could be recovered. MAYSON v. CLOUET.

(1924) A. C. 980.

—Agreement to sell—Deposit—Purchaser finally refusing to complete sale—Recovery of deposit.

A certain person entered into an agreement with another to purchase freehold land "subject to a proper contract being prepared by the vendor's solicitors." A portion of the consideration fixed was paid as deposit and in part payment. The purchasers finally refused to complete the transaction and claimed back the deposit amount. Held by the Court of Appeal reversing the decision of Astbury, J. in (1923) 1 Ch. 576 that the original agreement was only conditional and until the formal contract was signed the parties were not bound by it, and as such the deposit amount could be recovered.

WILL.

Per Pollock, M. R.—The word "proper" must be given its full meaning and the intention of the parties was that the full conditions should be considered in a further contract and until that further contract was executed there should be no binding contract for the purchase of the property.

Per Warrington, L. J.—Where there is no binding contract and the whole matter is left indefinite, it is impossible to say the purchasers pay the deposit as a guarantee to carry out the bargain, when by the documents they have entered into they have not bound themselves to carry out any bargain; case-law reviewed. CHILLINGWORTH v. ESCHE.

(1924) 1 Ch. 97.

—Onerous clause is lease—Effect of non-disclosure by vendor—Specific performance—If can be claimed.

During the course of negotiations regarding the purchase of a leasehold property, the vendee asked his vendor to see a copy of the lease, but was told it was quite in the ordinary form. Later on, it was seen to contain an onerous clause and the defendant refused to complete the purchase unless the clause was deleted. In a suit for specific performance by the vendor, held the existence of such a covenant ought to have been brought to the notice of the defendant even at the time of negotiations and he could not be compelled to accept the bargain, unless the covenant was deleted. ALLEN v. SMITH.

(1924) 2 Ch. 308.

WILL—Bequest—Assent by executors—Subsequent sale by them—Title—Implied covenant—Notice—What amounts to.

Where after the death of the testator the executors assent to a specific bequest their title as executors comes to an end and thereafter they become trustees and hence cannot effect a sale of the subject-matter of the bequest as executors, (1913) A. C. 85 followed.

Where the purchasers from the executors after such assent knew of the fact that the legatee was in possession under the will, it amounts to actual notice of the executors' assent and their position is not that of purchasers for value without notice. WISE v. WHITBURN.

(1924) 1 Ch. 460.

—Bequest—Legatees to apply property in accordance with memorandum—Express direction that memorandum was not to create trust—Agreement by legatee to carry out wishes—Effect.

Under a will the property was given to two legatees absolutely as joint tenants with the request that they would dispose of it in terms of her memorandum. It further provided that the memorandum was not of a testamentary character nor was it to create any trust. It was in evidence that the legatees who were the solicitors who prepared the will actually advised the testator to include in the will itself the beneficiaries mentioned in the memorandum, but that the advice was rejected. Held the legatees took their interests absolutely for their own benefit.

WILL.

If a gift made absolutely by will is induced by a representation that the donee will apply the same in some special manner indicated by the testator, Courts will impose a trust on the donee binding on his conscience and will give effect to it. Held, on the facts of the case, there was no such agreement creating a trust. 57 L.T. 519 reld. to. In re FALKENER: MEAD v. SMITH.

(1924) 1 Ch. 88.

———Bequest—Portrait—Description inaccurate—Effect on gift—If passes to legatee.

A testator made a bequest of "my portrait of X" to the National Gallery and the executors sent it on, there being no doubt as to the identity of the thing bequeathed. The trustees of the National Gallery expressed doubts as to whether it was a portrait of X, whereupon the executors claimed it back for the residuary legatee. Held even assuming the description was wrong, the gift was valid and the portrait passed to the trustees of the Gallery. In re MILNER GIBSON CULLUM CUST v. ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

(1924) 1 Ch. 456.

———Charity—"Patriotic purposes or objects"—Validity of bequest.

A testator gave a portion of his properties "for such patriotic purposes or objects and such charitable institution or institutions or charitable object or objects in the British Empire as my trustees think proper." Held affirming the decision of the Court of Appeal (1923) 1 Ch. 258 the gift was void for uncertainty. The words of the trust are to be read, not conjunctively but disjunctively. Nor is a patriotic purpose necessarily a charitable one. (1902) A. C. 37 and (1918) A. C. 337 folld. ATTORNEY-GENERAL v. NATIONAL PROVINCIAL AND UNION BANK OF ENGLAND.

(1924) A. C. 262.

———Charitable trust—Test of—Bequest for "New South Wales returned soldiers"—Validity.

To ascertain whether a gift constitutes a valid charitable trust so as to escape being void on the ground of perpetuity the first enquiry must be whether it is public—whether it is for the benefit of the community or of an appreciably important class of the community. It is not necessary that the class should be confined to poor persons to the exclusion of persons not poor.

A gift "Unto the trustees for the time being of the Repatriation Fund or other similar fund for the benefit of New South Wales returned soldiers" is a valid charitable trust. VERGE v. SOMERVILLE.

(1924) A. C. 496.

———Codicil—Construction—Brothers and sisters—Parents living—Legal possibility of after-born brothers and sisters—Gift in codicil void for remoteness—Inconsistent gift in will, if revoked.

A testator by his will devised all his estate to trustees in trust to pay the income thereof to his wife for life and after her life to his children and if there should be no children, the testator gave to his wife a power of appointment among the children of his brothers and sisters.

WILL.

By a codicil he expressly revoked the power of appointment given to his wife and declared that the life interest of his wife should terminate if she married a person who was not a natural born British subject and the trust funds should be held in trust for all or any of the children or child of his brothers and sisters who should be living at the death of his wife or may be born at any time afterwards before any one of such children for the time being in existence attained a vested interest.

The testator left no issue, and his father died after him. His widow remarried a Dutch subject. The testator's brothers and sisters were all over 30 years of age at the time of the will. All had children and one of them was born after the remarriage of the widow.

Held, the gift in the codicil was void for remoteness. 1 Cox, 324 followed.

On the failure of the gift in the codicil, there was no implied revocation of the gift in the will and it therefore took effect.

The persons in whose favour the gift was to take effect should be determined as on the date of distribution, i. e., the remarriage of the testator's wife and the child born after remarriage would not take under the will.

Even though the parents were over sixty years the legal possibility of issue was not extinct. Law Reports 2 H. L. Sc. 397 applied. 43 I. A. 20 referred to. WARD VAN DER LOEFF BURNYEAT v. VAN DER LOEFF.

(1924) A. C. 653.

———Construction—Bequest of "dividends, bonuses and income"—Undistributed profits—Shares in lieu of money—Nature of.

A testator whose property consisted of shares in a company made a direction in his will for the payment of "dividends, bonuses and income" accruing from his shares to a certain person for life and after his death the shares were to go to some charitable institution. The Company had in its hands a large reserve fund and also undistributed profits which had not been carried into the reserve fund. It decided to distribute a large sum as bonus to the shareholders, but instead of paying it as cash distributed it as fully paid-up shares. On the question arising whether the tenant for life was entitled to these shares under the bequest, held it was a distribution of capital and not of income and as such did not pass to the tenant for life. 12 A. C. 385 and (1921) 2 A. C. 171 folld. In re SPIER: HOLT v. SPIER.

(1924) 1 Ch. 359.

———Construction—Codicil inconsistent with will—Perpetuity—Gift in codicil void for remoteness—If revokes gift in will—Gift to children of brothers and sisters—Parents living—Legal possibility of after-born brothers and sisters.

A testator by his will devised and bequeathed his estate to his wife for life and after her death in trust for his children. In the absence of children the wife was to have a power of appointment among the children of his brothers and sisters and in default of exercise of the power the estate was to go to all the children of his brothers and sisters. By a codicil he revoked the appointment and trustees were to hold the estate for all the children of his brothers and sisters who should be living at the death of his wife or born at any time before any one of such children attained the age of 21 years. At the time of death, both parents were living though about 65 years old.

WILL.

Held, reversing the decision of the Court of Appeal in (1923) 2 Ch. 52 the gift in the codicil was void as being against the rule of perpetuities and being inoperative does not impliedly revoke that in the will, the express revocation being confined only to the power of appointment and not to what follows.

Per Viscount Cave.—In considering whether a testamentary gift is void for remoteness, the proper course is first to construe the gift without regard to the rule against perpetuities and then to consider whether the gift as so construed offends against the rule. In determining whether the rule is so infringed possible and not probable or actual events are to be taken into account.

Per Lord Dunedin.—If when a subject has been disposed of in a will and the same subject is again disposed of in a codicil, if there are express or implied words of revocation it will stand whatever the fate of the subsequent disposition; but if the only revocation is what is to be gathered from the inconsistency of the subsequent record disposition with the earlier one, then if the disposition fails from any reason to be efficacious there will be no revocation. WARD AND OTHERS v. VAN DER LOEFF. (1924) A. C. 653.

—Construction—Gift to children—Nomination—Death of one at the time of will—Effect—Mistake as to number of legatees—Rules relating to.

A testator had three children by his first wife and three children by the second wife. He made a general bequest of all his real and personal estate excluding what he had inherited from his second wife to all his six children in equal shares and out of the property inherited from his second wife, he gave small legacies to his children by the first wife and the rest he directed to be divided among the three named children by her. One of these latter had been reported missing during the war, but the testator refused to believe it. It was subsequently proved he had died before the date of the will. Held on a construction of the will the third share of his mother's estate lapsed and fell into the general residue and did not devolve on his two brothers and sisters: distinction between a bequest to a class and a bequest nomination pointed out. (1908) 2 Ch. 190 distd.

As regards the one-sixth share of the testator's real and personal estate of the testator, that must be deemed undisposed of, the real estate going to the testator's heir at law and the personalty to his next of kin.

22 Ch. D. 111 is a decision on a particular will and lays down no principles of general applicability.

Per Sargent, L. J.—Quaere: Whether 22 Ch. D. 111 is correctly decided? In re WHISTON: WHISTON v. WOOLLEY. (1924) 1 Ch. 122.

WILL.

—Construction—Referential trusts—Rule against multiplication of charges—Power of appointment—Incorporation of.

A testator gave a legacy to his daughter for life with remainder in trust for her children and also conferred on her a testamentary power of appointment to confer a life estate on her husband. The residue of the estate was dealt with as regards one moiety "upon the same trusts as hereinafore declared of the legacy to my daughter." The daughter died childless but she had made a testamentary disposition conferring a life estate on her husband. On the question arising whether the power extended only to the legacy or to the legacy as well as the residue, held, it applied to both. Such a construction did not offend the rule against multiplication of charges. The referential trusts declared concerning the residue include the trust which arises in favour of husband upon an exercise of the power of appointment on his behalf. In re ARNELL AND EDWARDS PRICKETT v. PRICKETT. (1924) 1 Ch. 473.

—Construction—Trust in favour of sons of "Brother"—Ultimate trust in favour of "own right heirs"—brother found illegitimate—Daughters of brother—If right heirs.

Under a will, the testatrix demised her estate to the second son of her "brother" X for life, and then to his son in tail male and in default of issue to her own "right heirs". All the prior limitations having failed, the daughters of X claimed as her "right heirs". It was proved that the testatrix and her brother were illegitimate, but there was nothing to show she was aware of it nor that they were children of the same mother. Held the claimants had not proved they were the rightful heirs of the testatrix.

The words "children and brother" and other words indicating relationship when used in a will refer prima facie to a relationship traced through a legitimate tie but a testator can with sufficient clearness show in his will that he meant to include by the use of such word even persons claiming through other than a legitimate tie. (1902) 2 Ch. 542 distinguished. In re CULLUM MERCER v. FLOOD. (1924) 1 Ch. 540.

—Gift subject to a condition—Time if of the essence—Annuity to wife subject to condition—Death of wife without performance—Executors if can perform—Personal nature.

Where a gift in a will is made subject to a condition to be performed within a specified time but it is not so performed then at any rate in the absence of an express gift over the Court has to determine if time was of the essence of the matter. In deciding the question, the Court will have to look to what was presumably the intention of the testator in inserting the condition, what it was he desired to bring about or guard against, and if the Court finds that a performance of the condition at a time subsequent to the time fixed in substance provides for the very thing the testator intended, so that all parties can be put in substantially the same position as they would have been in had the condition been performed in time, time is not regarded as of the essence and such performance is treated as a sufficient compliance with the condition.

WILL.

A husband who had covenanted to pay a certain annuity for his wife, by means of his will bequeathed to her a higher annuity, but the latter was to become void if within 6 months of his death she did not release her claims to the prior annuity. There was no gift over on default. As the solvency of the estate was doubtful, she did nothing to indicate her desire either way for more than 3 years after his death. On her death, her executors proposed to release the first annuity and claim arrears on the basis of the bigger sum. Held the condition was not personal to her and there would be a sufficient compliance with the condition. In re GOODWIN : AINSIE v. GOODWIN. (1924) 2 Ch. 26.

——— Bequest to son—Son predeceasing father—Codicil reciting death and lapse of bequests—Effect—"Contrary intention"—Wills Act, S. 33.

A testator made a provision in his will for a legacy to his son. The son pre-deceased the father leaving children and the testator evidently thinking that the legacy had lapsed, made a codicil reciting the death of his son and the consequent lapse and added further directions giving legacies to the grandchildren. Held a "contrary intention" within the meaning of S. 33 of the Wills Act, 1837, could be inferred from the words of the codicil and the legacy to the son would not operate as if the son died only immediately after the testator. If the codicil had simply recited the fact of the son's death and given a legacy to the grandchildren, such a "contrary intention" could not be inferred. [S. 33 of the Wills Act, 1837, corresponds to S. 96, Indian Succession Act.—Ed.] In re MEREDITH: DAVIES v. DAVIES. (1924) 2 Ch. 552.

——— Interlineation—Declaration of testator before and after execution—If admissible in evidence.

Where a will contains unattested interlineations and additions, declarations by the testator after execution are not admissible to prove such addition or interlineation; but declarations of intention made before execution are admissible to prove that the addition gave effect to such intention. In re JESSOP. (1924) P. 221.

——— Revocation—Intention—Partial tearing of—Burden of proving animus.

Where a will is found carefully folded and put in an envelope among the papers of the testator, but torn across in such a way that even in spite of the tearing the whole will could be read with certainty, the presumption of law is that the testator tore it; but the burden of proof is on the party who alleges revocation to prove the animus revocandi. In re COWLING JINKIN v. COWLING. (1924) P. 113.

——— Tenant for life—Duty cast to repair—Failure to do—Remedy—Nature of—Limitation.

Under the terms of a will, a person became a tenant for life of the suit premises, the will also providing that he should keep the property in good tenable repair. He defaulted in making repairs and the remainderman brought an action against the executors of the tenant for life to which the latter pleaded limitation. Held a person who obtains a benefit under a will must also shoulder the burden, and the cause of action accruing to the remainderman can be regarded as arising (1) out of a tort, or (2) out of an implied contract, or (3) by reason of a Court of Equity compelling the person who has taken the benefit to fulfil the conditions upon which he took it. The true view to take is the last mentioned one and the moment a Court of Equity recognizes the equitable liability, it will enforce it regardless of any statute of limitation. JAY v. JAY. (1924) 1 K. B. 826.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT—Labourer returning from work—Slipping down on platform—Arising out of and in course of employment.

A Railway employee was ordered by the Company to travel to a certain Station and repair a watermain. After finishing his work he was hurrying across the platform to catch his train, when he slipped and fell, as a result of which he died. Held the injuries arose out of and in the course of employment and his widow was entitled to compensation. (1923) 2 K. B. 879 reversed.

Per Viscount Haldane—The interpretation placed on the words "in the course of" in (1918) A. C. 304 and (1920) A. C. 757, i.e., that the workman must be doing something which in contemplation of law is part of his service is the proper test to apply in such cases. UPTON v. GREAT CENTRAL RAILWAY COMPANY. (1924) A. C. 302.

——— "Out of and in the course of employment"—Meaning of—Accident while returning by specially provided train—If amounts to.

The managers of a colliery for the convenience of their workmen had arranged with a Railway Company to run a number of special trains daily to bring their workmen to the colliery and to take them home. The workmen were not under any obligation to use the trains but such of them as wanted it were given a concession rate which the colliery paid to a Railway Company out of the wages due while they on their part agreed to hold the company free from liability in case of accident, etc. A workman was injured as the result of an accident while returning home and he sued the Colliery Company for compensation. Held, by the majority of the House of Lords (Lord Shaw dissenting) the workman could not be said to have been injured while he was in the course of employment and as such no action lay.

Per Lord Atkinson.—The decision must turn on whether the workman was, when the accident which injured him occurred, in the course of performing some duty arising out of his contract of service which he owed to his employer.

Per Lord Wrenbury.—A useful test in many cases is whether, at the moment of the accident, the employer would have been entitled to give the workman an order, and the man would have owed a duty to obey it. ST. HELEN'S COLLIERY COMPANY, LIMITED v. HEWITSON. (1924) A. C. 59.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

—(1923), S 7—Workmen prohibited from going to particular place—Disregard of—Fatal accident—Liability of employer.

The workmen in a certain colliery had been prohibited from going to a part of the premises which was in a dangerous condition and rails had been put up to prevent access. A workman arriving early on a dark morning switched on the electric light and then went into the prohibited area for hanging his coat, but while returning fell through an old machinery and was fatally injured. In a suit for compensation under the Act, held the accident did not arise out of and in the course of the workman's employment. Scope of S. 7 of the Act of 1923 considered. DAVIES v GWAUNCAEGURWEN COLLIERY. (1924) 2 K. B. 651.

WRITS OF PROHIBITION AND CERTIORARI—

When can be issued and to whom—Scheme to come into effect after approval by Parliament—Distinction between the two writs.

Under the Electricity Act, schemes were to be proposed by Commissioners and after confirmation by the Minister of Transport to be laid before both Houses of Parliament and approved by resolution and then only to come into force. One such scheme being proposed certain persons affected by it applied for writs of prohibition and certiorari on the ground the scheme was ultra vires but Divisional Court dismissed the same on the ground the applications were premature, as it could not then be predicted the scheme would be sanctioned by Parliament. The Court of Appeal found the scheme was ultra vires and as such it was never too early for a writ of prohibition to issue, as otherwise much waste of time and money would occur. The fact that the scheme becomes law only on being approved by Parliament does not oust the jurisdiction of Civil Courts in inquiring into the validity of the same.

WRITS OF PROHIBITION AND CERTIORARI.

A writ of prohibition is a judicial writ issuing out of a court of superior jurisdiction and directed to an inferior court for the purpose of preventing the latter from usurping a jurisdiction with which it is not legally vested. As statutory bodies come into existence exercising legal jurisdiction, issue of such writs came to be extended to such bodies.

Per Atkins, L. J.—Prohibition restrains a tribunal from proceeding further in excess of jurisdiction; certiorari requires the record or order of the inferior court to be sent up to the King's Bench Division to have its legality inquired into. There is no difference in principle between the two except that the former may be invoked at an earlier stage. THE KING v. ELECTRICITY COMMISSIONERS; Ex parte LONDON ELECTRICITY COMPANY, LTD.

(1924) 1 K. B. 171.

SUPPLEMENT.

C. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (II OF 1917), S. 49.

ABSOLUTE OCCUPANCY TENANT—Mortgagee obtaining possession of a holding under his mortgage decree ejected by landlord. Tenant seeking reinstatement. See Tenancy Act XI of 1898, S. 41 (d) (8). 2 RAGHUBARDAYAL v. MT. JANKI.

7 N. L. J. ii.

—— Valid transfer by—Prior to 1st May 1920 if the landlord has the right of pre-emption. See Tenancy Act I of 1920, S. 6, cl. (4) (c), 6 GHASIRAM v. RAMJIVAN.

7 N. L. J. vi.

ACT XI OF 1898.—See Tenancy Act XI of 1898.

ADVERSE POSSESSION—By stranger against permanent lessee of sir land—His suit against a trespasser for a portion of his sir plot was dismissed as being barred by limitation. See S. 104 with Sch II, Art. 1 of Tenancy Act I of 1920. Quaeri:—What is the position of this trespasser with reference to S. N. L. R. 163. 12 MD HUSSAIN v. TUKARAM.

7 N. L. J. xii

BERAR INAM RULES—Rule V—The inam holder for the time being of certain fields in the capacity of Madatmash Inamdar cannot mortgage the fields held by him in a way as to bind the successive future inamdars. The transaction may be binding during the life-time of any member, but not beyond that. Held, the particular mortgage in the suit did not bind the newly coming inamdari. 29 BALIRAMSINGH v. RAMCHANDRA.

7 N. L. J. xxxix.

BERAR LAND REVENUE CODE, 1896, S. 101 cl. (5)—Dhura land—Right of passage over. Neither the power given to Tahsildar to impose fine under S. 102 nor the direction by the Commissioner regarding the vacant strip. Dhura constitutes the Government the owner of the land. The contiguous tenants will be entitled to the strip half and half. The contiguous tenants or owners may have a right of passing over this strip; but not a tenant who is not in that position, as a matter of general right. 5 SURAJMAL v. ARJUN.

7 N. L. J. v.

BERAR PATELS AND PATWARIS LAW, 1900, S. 5, cl. (4)—It controlled by cl. (3) (b). Minority is not an absolute bar to the appointment of a patel and patwari. Minor may be appointed if custom demands it. 14 GOPALJI v. NATHU.

7 N. L. J. xi.

—— S. 5, cl. (3), sub-cl. (b) and (c)—A male relative has a preference over a woman; but where the woman belongs to the family of the deceased, and where the male relative does not, e.g. sister's son, the woman has preference. 10 PRAHLAD WAMAN v. JANKIBAI.

7 N. L. J. x.

—— S. 6, cl. (1) read with S. 8, cl. (4)—Educational qualification governs the case of patels in jhagir villages; and where the applicant is a major, he may, for the time being, be declared unfit for personal service. He may also be permitted to give a substitute for the time being. 15 YESHWANT v. TULSIRAM.

7 N. L. J. xvi.

—— S. 7—A man appointed as patel is not bound to do the work though the family may be so bound. Hence an individual of that family can resign if he liked. 9 TUKARAM v. MARUTI.

7 N. L. J. ix.

—— S. 13—Section 21 (a) ibid, applied to jhagir villages. Non-fulfilment of educational qualification is not a defect covered by this section. 15 YESHWANT v. TULSHIRAM.

7 N. L. J. xvi.

—— S. 21, Rules VIII (iii) and IX (i)—Insolvency is a sufficient reason for relieving a patel of his duties. 13 VITHU v. RAJARAM.

7 N. L. J. xiv.

—— S. 21, Rule X—A member of the watandar family took exception to the appointment of an outsider substitute. His application was rejected on the ground that he did not belong to the same sub-division of the family to which the malik belonged. Editor of N. L. J.—Editor doubts the correctness of this decision. See Editor's remarks on page xviii. 16 WAMAN v. NILKANTH.

7 N. L. J. xvii.

C. P. ACT I OF 1914, GENERAL CLAUSES ACT, S. 5—Vested right is not interfered with. See Tenancy Act XI of 1898, S. 41 (8), tenant seeking reinstatement. 2 RAGHUBARDAYAL v. MT. JANKI.

7 N. L. J. ii.

—— II OF 1917—See Land Revenue Act II of 1917.

—— I OF 1920—See Tenancy Act I of 1920.

C. P. LAND REVENUE ACT II OF 1917, S. 24—See S. 182 ibid.

—— S. 47, cl. ii—See S. 49, cls. i and ii.

—— S. 47, cl. iv—See S. 49, cls. i and ii.

—— S. 49, cls. i and ii—Mutation entry of 16 annas took place in favour of one of the many Mohamedan co-heirs. One of them was a widow of the late Uboridar. Litigation on the basis of dower debt followed wherein 14 annas share of the several co-heirs excluding the widow was sold in auction. Mutation entries with respect to these 14 annas were effected as per result of auction sale and the assignments following thereon. The widow claimed mutation with respect to the remaining 2 annas; on the objection of the Uboridar-beir that there was no fresh occasion for a change, Held overruling the contention that the mutation register was rightly altered suitably to the changed circumstances brought about by the auction sale whereby the Ubaridar-heir ceased to represent the widow. 23 JAMAL-BAX v. JAITUNBAI 7 N. L. J. xxvi.

C. P. LAND REVENUE ACT (II OF 1917), S. 49.

—S. 49, cl. iii.—On the death of the proprietor, the obvious heir, according to the law, ought to receive the support of Revenue Courts, but where the successor is indicated by sane action of the last proprietor, e.g., by will, then the latter person ought to receive support where no complicated inquiry is involved. 20 MT. BABI v. MT. CHANDRABHAGA. 7 N. L. J. xxiii.

—S. 181—See S. 182 (a) ibid.

—S. 182—Date of partition taking effect is the date on which agricultural year commences following the date of proclamation. The date of confirmation by the Deputy Commissioner is not the starting point. For mode of proclamation see S. 24 ibid.

The consent of the lambardar on 11—5—21 to the transfer by an absolute occupancy tenant was sufficient; as the same was prior to 1—5—22 in spite of the fact that the partition proceedings were confirmed by D. C. on 27—4—21, as the date of proclamation was later to 20—5—41, 1 MAROTI v. MAHEBUB HUSSEIN. 7 N. L. J. i.

—S. 188—Change in law—Lambardar is the only landlord within the meaning of the Tenancy Act. Hence transfer in favour of a co-sharer is not tantamount to a surrender. Therefore the same is avoidable under S. 13 of the Tenancy Act. 4 N. L. R. 120 and Revenue Rulings in Tansukhdas v. Aheliyabai are no longer applicable in cases arising under the new Land Revenue Act. 3 BALA v. GOPALA. 7 N. L. J. iii.

—S. 189 (a)—Removal of a lambardar—Gumashta is (unlike agent) within the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner. The word 'may' does not in this case create an obligation. Apparently some good reasons must be assigned. 11 DURGA PRASHAD v. MT. SARDARAN BAHOO. 7 N. L. J. xi.

C. P. TENANCY ACT XI OF 1898, S. 41 (8)—Mortgagee ejected under S. 41 by the landlord in accordance with this Act. Vested right of tenant to apply under cl. (8) is not interfered with by Tenancy Act I of 1920. Also see S. 5, C. P. General Clauses Act I of 1914. 2 RAGHUBARDAYAL v. MT. JANKI. 7 N. L. J. ii.

—S. 2, cl. (ii)—Unsatisfactory mortgage with all rights prior to the year 1883—Foreclosure of all rights in favour of mortgagee followed; mesne mortgagee was not a party to it. The first mortgagee after foreclosure in his favour makes a grant of about 70 acres to the previous malguzar; mesne mortgagee sues for redemption and foreclosure but seeks no special remedy with respect to grant of land referred to above; Held the grant of land created tenancy rights only. No relief was sought against that land in his mortgage suit by the mesne mortgagee though he might have (vide Atter v. Lord Vaux). Held further that for the above reason the mesne mortgagee in the capacity of a proprietor could not get possession of the said tenancy fields, the relief having become barred. 24 PYARELAL AND OTHERS v. SARDARSING AND OTHERS. 7 N. L. J. xxxi.

C. P. TENANCY ACT (I OF 1920), S. 13.

—(I OF 1920), S. 6—No right of pre-emption to a landlord where he gives his consent. For consent of the lambardar while partition proceedings are going on, see Land Revenue Act II of 1917, S. 182. 1 MAROTI v. MAHEBUB HUSSEIN. 7 N. L. J. i.

—S. 6, cl. 4 (c)—The clause 4 (c) will not apply to a case where one obtains possession of an absolute occupancy holding in pursuance of a transfer of a date prior to 1st of May 1920. Vide 6 N. L. R. 69; General Clauses Act I of 1914, S. 5; Tenancy Act XI of 1898, S. 41, cl. (5).

Quaeri—If it did apply would the provision have benefited the landlord as he had already consented to it. See Editor's note. 6 GHASIRAM v. RAMJIVAN. 7 N. L. J. vi.

—S. 12, sub-s. 1, cl. (ii)—An occupancy tenant who has his heirs living can now exclude them and transfer his holding to one who comes within seven degrees of kindredship, and is a male member. 7 GAJANAN v. JAYDEO. 7 N. L. J. vii.

—S. 13—Transfer to a co-sharer if avoidable like any other. See Land Revenue Act II of 1917, S. 188. 3 BALA v. GOPALA. 7 N. L. J. ii.

—S. 13—Transfer to a fractional co-sharer avoidable by the Lambardar—Change in old Law. See Land Revenue Act, S. 188.

The Lambardar can now take even in opposition to the wishes of a fractional co-sharer who has taken a transfer of tenancy holding. Change introduced into old theory of law. 21 MT. GIRJABAI v. MT. RUKHMABAI. 7 N. L. J. xxiv.

—S. 13—See Tenant and Trespasser.

An occupancy tenant (widow) got the name of her niece substituted in her place during settlement proceedings, S. O believing that S. 12, cl. (2) of the Tenancy Act (1920) applied to it. The widow and the niece fell out later on, but the widow did not succeed in getting back the possession. The landlord brought a suit against the niece treating her as a trespasser. Held, the landlord need not show that the widow had abandoned the holding. The question that no civil suit lay and that application under S. 13 of the Tenancy Act (I of 1920) was not pressed. 25 MT. MUKTAI v. R. S. RAMCHANDRA. 7 N. L. J. xxxii.

—S. 13—See cognate case, 7 N. L. J. iii.

Transfer to a co-sharer may in cases be equivalent to a surrender, e.g., where all co-proprietors have authorized a particular one to act on behalf of the whole body. The co-proprietors must strictly prove this authority. Where this is not proved, it will be deemed a transfer and not a surrender.

4 N. L. R. 120 and C. P. Revenue Rulings, 41 dist.

(i) S. 188, cl. (ii) does not prohibit a co-proprietor from acting on behalf of the whole proprietary body. In such a case he may be treated as a landlord within the meaning of S. 89 of the Tenancy Act (1921).

C. P. TENANCY ACT (I OF 1920), S. 13.

(ii) The case of a transfer of possession under unregistered instrument (not invalid under Reg. AcI) is governed by Ss. 12 and 13 of the Tenancy Act, 17 C. P. 49 and 8 Nag. 21 not followed. Editor's note.—See also 7 N. L. J. xxxvi. 22 GOPALA v. MT. BALA. 7 N. L. J. xxv.

——S. 13—Whether under S. 47 of Tenancy Act (1898) or under S. 13, C. P. Tenancy Act I of 1920 a sale of an occupancy holding whether for rupees less than 100 or for 100 and more, it was always invalid. No suit could be based on the basis of such a sale. Therefore the landlord in such a case cannot bring a suit on the ground of the defendant being a trespasser. But an application must be made to the Revenue Officer under suitable sections. The civil suit was dismissed. 27 SETH MOHANLAL v. VITHAL LALA. 7 N. L. J. xxxvi.

——Ss. 13 and 89—A lambardar trying to take possession of a widow's holding by obtaining a decree for arrears in execution of which the widow in possession of her tenancy allowed herself to be ejected, is practically obtaining an unregistered surrender deed. Hence a reversioner can treat the transaction as transfer and follow his remedy under S. 13 of the Tenancy Act.

NOTE:—In this case the executing Court accepted the arrears and put the reversioner in possession. 4 PANDURANG v. PANDURANG. 7 N. L. J. iv.

——S. 13 read with Sch II, Act I.—Until a person applying under this section is placed in possession, the person is not a tenant within the words of Sch II, Art 1. Hence two years' rule would begin to operate only from the date on which such an applicant is placed in possession by the Revenue Officer. 8 BARKU v. BHAGIA. 7 N. L. J. vii.

——S. 24—Widow occupancy tenant in arrears—About to be ejected—The reversioner alleges collusion—Pays up arrears. The latter is placed in possession. Held, valid. Where no direct provision equity prevails. 4 PANDURANG v. PANDURANG. 7 N. L. J. iv.

——Ss. 37 and 49—Proprietors of a Mouza gave a mortgage of a village to the plaintiff in 1909. In 1913 the same proprietors issued a lease for twenty years to the same persons. The plaintiffs got a final decree for foreclosure in their mortgage suit on 20th Nov. 1918. In the meantime a suit in 1916 was brought on the basis of the aforesaid lease. Possession was decreed in pursuance thereof on 30-9-1919 for the period of twenty years. Execution of this decree was taken out in Nov. 1921. Held that the lease was not of proprietary rights but it gave cultivating possession to the lessee.

The question whether S. 49 of the C. P. Tenancy Act (I of 1920) applied to the case or not, did not arise. The decree was allowed to be executed treating the D. H.s as sub-tenants of the former proprietors. 28 DURGA PRASAD v. TAKUR PRASAD. 7 N. L. J. xxxvii.

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O. 41, R. 33.

——S. 104, Sch I, Art 1—B who had become the absolute occupancy tenant of a holding in Mouza Rehta Khurda, in place of A, the original tenant, alleged dispossession by the former tenant A, more than three years prior to the suit. Held claim was barred. Art I, Sch. 12 covered the case of a trespasser. In this respect the old law was changed.

Ed. Note :—Page XX reference to C. P. Legislative Council Proceedings at pp. 50-55, dated 28th Nov. 1921. 17 MEGHRAJ vs. RAMGOPAL. 7 N. L. J. xix.

——S. 104 read with Sch. II, Art 1—Scope of that article applied where a permanent tenant of sir land claims possession from one who is apparently a trespasser.

Quaeri : What would be the position of the trespasser with reference to S. N. L. R. 163. 12 MD. HUSSEIN v. TUKARAM. 7 N. L. J. xii.

——S. 104 with Sch II, Art 1—As to when a successor seeking to set aside a surrender is a tenant within the words of the Sch II, Art I. See S. 13 ibid. 8 BARKYA v. BHAGIA. 7 N. L. J. vii.

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O. II, R. 2—Vide Tenancy Act, S. 2, cl. 11, No. 24. 7 N. L. J. xxix.

——O. 21, R. 19—Conditional decree for possession—Payment of costs—Right to set off—Delay in deposit—Treasury closed on the last day—Effect of.

Plaintiff obtained a decree for possession on condition of paying a sum of Rs. 38 and odd to the defendant within thirty days and the parties were ordered to pay and receive proportionate costs. Under the decree as drawn up plaintiff was entitled to get Rs. 70 and odd from the defendant and the defendant to Rs. 15 and odd from the plaintiff. On the thirtieth day the plaintiff tendered Rs. 39 and odd to the Court and was given a chalan to the treasury officer. By the time the plaintiff reached the treasury, it was closed and the deposit was made on the next day. On a question arising as to whether the plaintiff had fulfilled the condition in the decree, Held that the plaintiff must be deemed to be entitled to set off Rs. 38 and odd directed to be paid to the defendant against Rs. 70 and odd awarded to him as costs and that the condition about payment within thirty days must be deemed to have been automatically fulfilled. Apart from this, the plff. had not fulfilled the condition in the decree. (Ryves and Mukerji, JJ.) GULZARI v. LACHHMI DHAR. L. R. 5 A. 59.

——O. 41, R. 33—Scope of—Proper exercise of judicial discretion—Appeal against a portion of decree—No memo of objections—Power of Court to set aside whole.

Per Srinivasa Aiyangar, J.—The terms of R. 33 of O. 41 are wide. By the use of the words 'respondents or parties' the power was intended to be exercised in favour of parties to the litigation, though they may not be represented in the Court of Appeal, and not against them. Under O. 41, R. 33 the Appellate Court has power to set aside the whole decree even though the defendants may not have filed cross-objections and that on the present case, the defendants had valid grounds for not filing the memo of objections since the decision in 37 Mad. 418 was against them, and the fact of 44 M. 232 having overruled the previous decision was not known to them and that the Court can interfere under O. 41, R. 33. (Srinivasa Aiyangar, J.) SUBRAMANIA CHETTIAR v. SINNAMMAL. 20 L. W. 761 : 1925 Mad. 266.

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, O. 41, R. 33.

—S. 110—Suit by adopted son for possession—Widow disputing adoption and claiming maintenance—Rate of maintenance varied in appeal—Leave to appeal.

In a suit by an adopted son for possession of properties more than Rs. 10,000 in value, the widow denied the adoption and claimed an annual maintenance of Rs. 3,000. The trial Court found in favour of the adoption, but gave her Rs. 800 maintenance. In appeal it was enhanced to Rs. 1000. Leave to appeal to the Privy Council was referred on the ground that the appellate decision was one of confirmation except in respect of a small change. Held, on an application for special leave to appeal under S. 110, C. P. Code, the widow had a right of appeal as regard her maintenance allowance. (Lord Dunedin.) ANNAPURNA BAI v. RUPRAO. 51 I. A. 319.

COLLUSIVE EJECTMENT :—See Tenancy Act I of 1920, Ss. 13 and 24. 4 PANDURANG v. PANDURANG. 7 N. L. J. iv.

CONTRACT ACT, S. 65—Tenant and creditor—Suit for refund of consideration. See Contract Act, S. 65.

A tenant and a creditor made certain arrangements between themselves whereby a real sale was given the colour of a mortgage of crops for 16 years. The finding of fact was that this was a device to evade the Tenancy Act. Held by L. A. C.—No cause of action for refund till the lapse of 16 years. Held by H. C. that the transaction violated the provision of S. 23 of the contract. Hence no refund. NARSING AND SEETARAM GUJAR v. NARAYAN AND GOVINDA. 7 N. L. J. xxxiv.

CO-SHAREE—Transfer in favour of—If avoidable See Land Revenue Act II of 1917, S. 188. BALA v. GOPALA. 7 N. L. J. iii.

CUSTOM—Binding force of—Appointment of Patel and Patwari. See Berar Patels and Patwaris Law, 1900, S. 5, cl (3) (b) and (c). 10 PALHAD WAMAN v. JANKIBAI. 7 N. L. J. x.

DHURA LAND.—Right of passage over. See Berar Land Revenue Code, 1896, S. 101, cl 3. 5 SURAJMAL v. ARJUN. 7 N. L. J. v.

EQUITY.—Application of, where no provision of Tenancy Law. See Tenancy Act I of 1920, S. 24. 4 PANDURANG v. PANDURANG. 7 N. L. J. iv.

INSOLVENCY—Patel—Exemption of duties—Substitute. See Berar Patels and Patwaris Law, 1900, S. 21, Rr. VIII (iii) and IX (i). 13 VITHU v. RAJARAM. 7 N. L. J. xiv.

INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES—An instance where the word 'may' is not used in an obligatory sense. See Land Revenue Act II of 1917, S. 189 (a). 11 DURGA PRASHAD v. MT. SARDARAN BAHOO. 7 N. L. J. xi.

JAHGIR VILLAGES.

JAHGIR VILLAGES.—Application of rules made under S. 21 of the Berar Patels and Patwaris Law, 1900. 15 YESHWANT v. TULSHIRAM. 7 N. L. J. xvi.

LAMBARDAR.—See Landlord.

LAMBARDAR GUMASHTA.—Removal of. See Land Revenue Act II of 1917, S. 189 (a). 11 DURGA PRASHAD v. MT. SARDARAN BAHOO. 7 N. L. J. xi.

LAMBARDAR AND CO-SHAREE—Transfer in favour of the latter—If avoidable. See Land Revenue Act, S. 188. 3 BALA v. GOPALA. 7 N. L. J. iii.

LANDLORD AND CREDITOR.—Mortgagee obtaining possession of absolute occupancy holding in execution of decree—Landlord's right. See Tenancy Act XI of 1898, S. 41 (8). 2 RAGHUBAR-DAYAL v. MT. JANKI. 7 N. L. J. ii.

LANDLORD AND STRANGER.—Apparent trespasser holding adversely against tenant. See Tenancy Act I of 1920, S. 104, Sch. I, Art. 1. 12 MD. HUSSEIN v. TUKARAM. 7 N. L. J. xii.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—Who is a tenant within the meaning of Tenancy Act, Sch II, Art 1. See Tenancy Act I of 1920 read with S. 13, Sch. II, Art 1 ibid. 8 BARKYA v. BHAGIA. 7 N. L. J. vi.

MINORITY—Disqualification—Appointment—Patelship. See Berar Patels and Patwaris Law, 1900, S. 5, cl 4. 14 GOPALJI v. NATHU. 7 N. L. J. xv.

PARTITION—Date of taking effect. See Land Revenue Act II of 1917, S. 182. 1 MAROTI v. MAHEBUB HUSSEIN. 7 N. L. J. i.

SUBSTITUTE—An outsider—Person entitled to object to his appointment. See Patels and Patwaris Law, 1900, S. 21, R. X. 16 WAMAN v. NILKANTH. 7 N. L. J. xvii.

TENANT AND TRESPASSER—PROCEDURE—(1) Former tenant dies, leaves five collateral heirs of the same status—One alone sues a trespasser. Held following 39 Mad. 501 that it is competent for one to sue a trespasser. Dist. the case of a lessee. 18 GOPAL v. VITHAL. 7 N. L. J. xxi.

(2) The trespasser as a defendant cannot plead the rights of the alleged tenant by way of jus tertii as against the landlord, the plaintiff. The case of a licence may be different. 11 N. L. R. 124 ; 18 N. L. R. 82 referred to. 19 DEBURAM v. PAHLAD PRASAD. 7 N. L. J. xxii.

TRANSFER TO A CO-SHAREE—Whether avoidable.

(1) See Land Revenue Act II of 1917, S. 188. 3 BALA v. GOPALA. 7 N. L. J. iii, xxv, xxx.

(2) Of a date prior to 1st May 1920—Landlord's consent. See Tenancy Act I of 1920 S. 6, cl. 4 (c). 6 GHASIRAM v. RAMJIVAN. 7 N. L. J. vii.

(3) To person within seven degrees of relationship—Nearer her living. See Tenancy Act I of 1920, S. 12 sub-sec. 1, cl. (ii). 7 GAJANAN v. JAYDEO. 7 N. L. J. vii.

VESTED RIGHT—Mortgagee obtaining possession by operation of land—Ejectment by landlord. Tenants' right to be reinstituted. See Tenancy Act XI of 1898, S. 41 (8). 2 RAGHUBAR-DAYAL v. MT. JANKI. 7 N. L. J. ii.